SCHOOL LUNCHES

Well-Balanced Food for Children

The school child's lunch, whether eaten at school or at home should include about one-third of the day's food requirement, Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of Health, emphasized in calling attention to this statement on Maryland's school lunch program just released by the Chief Nutrition-ist of the State Department of Health. Since one-fourth of the week's meals are eaten at noon on school days, it is highly important for both the home and the school to recognize the essentials of a good

"Out of 309,512 children attending Maryland's public school during the academic year 1948-1949, a total of 94,634 boys and girls participated in the National School Lunch Pro-gram," the Nutritionist announced. This number represents about onethird of the school age population in this State.

"The program now in effect is a joint effort of Federal, State, and local agencies. The U. S. Department of Agriculture apportions funds, which Congress appropriates annually, to each state according to the number of its school children and its per capita income. The law requires that the states match the Federal

"In Maryland the State Department of Education administers the program, with the local Board of Education as the local sponsor. Children usually pay 25 cents for a Type A lunch, which includes: 2 oz. protein foods such as meat, poultry, fish, egg, cheese, peanut butter or dried beans; ½ pint of milk; 6 oz. fruit and/or vegetable; 2 teaspoons of butter or oleomargarine; and, 2 slices of enriched or whole grain bread. The school is reimbursed 6 cents for each pupil who receives the Type IA lunch. Schools which serve the Type C lunch (milk only) receive a 1 cent reimbursement for each 1/2 pint of milk served under this type.

"A school lunch offers a basis for teaching good eating habits to today's boys and girls. Parents' closer knowledge of what the school is serving, combined with teachers' knowledge of what the child eats at home as well as his food needs, should enable this generation to ad-vance far in the practice of good nutrition. Directly and indirectly the school lunch program can contribute to the present and future health of the children who will be our adult

TRIP TO NIAGARA FALLS

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fair and Mrs. Margaret Nulton left Sunday at noon on a trip of several days, returning home Wednesday evening. The first place of interest was Pennsylvania's Grand Canyon, near Wellsboro. As we got near Wellsboro, I kept saying "I can't see where there is a ing "I can't see where there is a enrollment of 825 pupils is expected. canyon." I had seen canyons in the west and just could not accept that we were soon to see such a sight.

Next was Niagara Falls. Here we went with four others in a limousine Reverend Charles Francis Rinehart, on a four hour sight-seeing trip— The Board of Education of Carroll son of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Rinehart, Taneytown. The wedding will companions were two newly-wed school centers including an eight couples, very young and loving. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hahn, Walkers-ille, Mr. Thomas Fox, Mrs. Virgie was fun to be with them. Our guide took us to all the places that gave us the best view of the Falls. #### SCHOOLS OPENED TUESDAY MORNING

Enrollment of Pupils in Carroll County over 7000

The Carroll County schools opened on Tuesday morning, September 6, after a preliminary conference held on Thursday morning September 1, for all teachers in the county as well as two days spent by teachers in the schools in preparation for the opening. The total enrollment in the entire county is expected to be 7,087. Of these 2528 will enroll in the white high schools at Taneytown, Sykes-ville, Hampstead, Manchester, Westminster, New Windsor, Union Bridge, Charles Carroll and Mt. Airy. The colored high school in Westminster expects to enroll 127 pupils. The total enrollment for the white elementary schools will be about 4150 with 283 enrolling in the colored elementary schools. Carroll County has nine white senior-junior high schools, fourteen consolidated elementary schools, and three 1-room schools for white pupils. There is 1 county colored consolidated high school and 2 additional colored elementary schools. The number of teachers employed in the county will be 123 in the high schools and 119 in the elementary schools for the year 1949-50. The county also employs seven colored high school teachers and eight colored elementary teachers.

Many of the schools are opening under considerable difficulties due to increased enrollments. The county has occupied during the 1949 school year the new consolidated elementary school at Mechanicsville which accommodates approximately 225 pupils A new elementary school at Sykesville will be occupied for the first time providing new quarters for 210 pupils. The school at Mechanicsville was completed late in 1948. It is a one story building consisting of six classrooms, a library, kitchen, and general purpose room. The Sykesville school now being completed consists of six regular classrooms, locker rooms, teachers' room and toilets. A new elementary addition is under construction at Mt. Airy. This is an 8-room addition with accommodations for 250 elementary school pupils. It is hoped that this building will be occupied by December. An eight room addition is under construction at Manchester to accommodate about 280 elementary school pupils. It is expected that this building will be ready for use by Decem-

The colored high and elementary school in Westminster will be oc-cupied for the first time in new quarters when the Robert Moton high and elementary school built in 1949 will be opened. This building, consisting of ten classrooms, shops, cafeteria, kitchen and general purpose room will accommodate this year 127 high school pupils and 173 ele-

The school will have new improved cafeteria facilities and more adequate gymnasium accommodations made possible by construction during the summer of 1949.

The Board of Education of Carroll County is planning additions at other school centers including an eight room addition at the Union Bridge elementary school, a new twelve room elementary school at Taneytown, a new elementary colored school near Eldersburg, a new elementary school at Westminster to consist of twelve classrooms and other facilities, additions to the elementary schools at Charles Carroll, Sandymount and Winfield. These additions and improvements will be The Board of Education of Carroll ditions and improvements will be contracted for during the year 1949-50. The county also plans to provide more adequate gymnasium and auditorium facilities at Sykesville, Mount Airy, Manchester and Union Bridge,

These improvements in Carroll County are made possible by the favorable action of voters of the county in 1949 when a three million dollar bond issue for schools and roads was approved by an overwhelming majority. The county also expects to take advantage of the State Grant-in-Aid Fund authorized the legislature in 1949 in the financing of the new construction.

The architects and builders of the new county buildings and improvements are as follows: (1) Mechaniesville Elementary School, Architect, Mr. B. E. Starr, Harrisburg, Pa.; Builder, Allen F. Feeser, Taneytown, Md. (2) Robert Moton Colored High and Elementary School, Mr. B. E. Starr, Architect, Harris-burg, Pa.; Builder, Allen F. Feeser, Taneytown, Md. (3) Mt. #### TANEYTOWN LOSES

Deciding Play-Off Game Won by McSherrystown

The Taneytown Baseball Club of the Frederick County and Penn-Md. leagues lost two important games over the weekend and battled to a tie in the third game Tuesday night.
In the battle for a playoff berth,

Union Bridge nosed out Taneytown 1-0 on Saturday afternoon in the Frederick County league tie-off

As a result of the games last Saturday Blue Ridge Summit won the championship when they defeated Middletown 6-2, and Union Bridge copped the third place by the decision over Taneytown. Union Bridge's lone run was an unearned one which came in the third inning, when with two men out and men on first and third, a delayed double-steal, worked with the runner keeping the trap going between first and second until the run had scored. Geo. Null pitched a beautiful game, especially in the pinches, striking out batters and walking only one. Taneytown will play host to Damascus this Saturday to decide who will get the fourth place spot. The winner will be in the Shaughnessy playoffs which will begin next Saturday. The game will be played on the Taneytown H. S. diamond beginning at

Last Sunday Taneytown lost the second straight game of the semi-final playoffs to McSherrystown by the score of 3-0 on the Taneytown H. S. diamond. This eliminated Taneytown from the finals while Hanover was taking the second straight game from Littlestown, 4-0. The game in Taneytown was a very tight and well-played game with no score until the eight inning when McSherrys-town pushed across one run, and then added two in the ninth. Legore pitch-ed for Taneytown, allowing 7 scattered hits but Fritz Staub was too much for the Taneytown batters, yielding only 2 hits for the second straight week. The first game of the finals between Hanover and Mc-Sherrystown will be played in Han-

The game Tuesday night was called at the end of 12 innings at11:50 P. M. by the umpires because of the curfew with the score knotted at 6-6. Taneytown got off to a good start when they scored 5 runs in the first 3 innings. Then they scored 1 more in the seventh after Littlestown had made 4 runs in the sixth and tied it up with two in the seventh. Henry Alexander began on the mound for Taneytown and pitched excellent ball for 5 innings, striking out 11 men, and allowing only 5 scattered hits. After showing signs of weakening he was replaced on the mound by Junior Unger in the beginning of the sixth, who immediately allowed 5 hits for 4 runs. George Null did a beautiful job of relief hurling allowing 5 hits for 2 runs and striking out 7 Littlestown batters in the remaining 7 innings. Everhart pitched for Littlestown, yielding 9 hits and striking out 5 while issuing 11 walks.

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way— help to bring you happiness!

The month is September. You are at Wildwood Crest by the Sea with your Mother and Father, the summer home which is just two doors from the ocean. You have just wheeled a hired chair on the boardwalk to push your two heigs You walk to push your two babies. You think to yourself as you proudly walk along, "little did you ever think that you would be wheeling your Mother and Father in a chair on the boardwalk just as they did you and the rest of your brothers and sisters in the "City of Brotherly Love". You just came from the Auditorium where the Philadelphia Orchestra had given one of their fine concerts and which you three enjoyed thoroughly.

That night, somehow you did not desire to keep the appointment with a group of your friends but they called at the home and begged so hard that you gave in and consented to go. While with them you had a strange feeling come over you and you recall excusing yourself and fairly ran back to the house. "Oh, you have returned so early, my pet' your father says. "Yes, I somehow wanted to come home. Where is Mama?" "In bed" was the reply.

You then say goodnight but cannot find sleep and toss from side to side. The next morning at an early hour, you rise, quickly reaching for your robe and hurriedly wrap it around you, in quest of your mother whom you find on the back porch, sitting in a porch rocker and instead of facing the ocean as was her custom, she was looking in the opposite direction. You quickly bend over her and whisper, "What is wrong, mama?" You look in the big brown pensive eyes and knew at once there was something very wrong. "Look, Irene, I can't move my left arm!" "Let me see you raise your right one." This was done and then you start rubbing the left arm thinking it was poor circulation. Trying to make yourself believe just that. The next door neighbor comes out on his porch and you ask him to go quickly for the doctor. He grants the request immediately and in the meantime you bring out a cot and lay your mother on it, removing the pins in her hair. She suddenly looks up at you and smiles with an expression in her eyes that you never saw before. Your heart misses a few beats and starts to ache with fright. "Oh, no, it could not be," as you see the lids close over her eyes. Your mother puts her hand to the top of her head as if she was in pain and you begin to massage with gentle movements. The doctor arrives and immediately suggests taking your mother to her bedroom. You and your father carry her and place her on her bed. Suddenly your mother bites down on her lower lip and moans. The lip bleeds. You are in the room with your father who is seated next to the bed, holding her hand and begging your mother to speak to him. No answer comes and you hear, "Jennie, Jennie, this is George. Oh, speak to me." You quickly place your mother's feet in warm water thinking it would be a speak to be a speak to me." bring down the blood from her head. The doctor leaves and tells you that he will return. You ask your father, so as to keep his mind occupied to remain at the front door, that you are expecting a letter. (A very important one). Suddenly, Death has taken a hand and you realize it will mean your mother taken from you. You lie on the bed beside the still warm body, asking God to let you have her just a little while longer, even if she was to be an invalid. You would take care of her the rest of your life and hers. Then you remember that your mother told you so many times that she did not want to be a burden to anyone and that she prayed to die suddenly when it was her time. God was answering that prayer surely. A couple of heavy deep breaths and she was gone. You still lay beside the still body with the prese of the ocean close by with its noise of the ocean close by, with its rough waves slapping together. Somehow, you cannot rise. The doctor returns and the local undertaker is ordered. Your aged father realizes it all, now, and suddenly takes a pocket knife and attempts to place it in his pocket saying, "That will be better than nothing." You quickly better than nothing." You quickly say, "I want to sharpen this pencil, Papa." He hands you the knife. You slip it into your coat pocket. You are so terribly alone. Your one sister is in Chili, S. A. Another sister is in the hospital with a new born baby by her side which the doctor had to brook the sad rows to efter a day or break the sad news to after a day or two. Another sister rushes from her gift shop in Philadelphia after the neighbors phone the sad news. You meet her at the door and neither speaks a word. That night your dear mother's body is at the undertaker, you still hear those waves beating against one another. Somehow, you never heard it so pronounced before as you lay there beside your sister. The next morning, your sister takes your father on ahead in the train to Philadelphia. You remain to

MARYLAND'S DAY

September 12th is particularly Maryland's Day. It was on that day that the British fleet, commanded by Admiral Cockburn, and bearing a large number of soldiers under command of General Ross bombarded Ft. McHenry; it was also while during the bombardment that Francis Scott Key wrote the words of our National Anthem-The Star Spangled Banner, which all Americans honor and love, and not one in a thousand know the words of any but the first verse.

I plead guilty to the indictment, where do you stand on that score? I am proud of the fact that I was privileged to collect the pennies from the school children of Frederick and Carroll County, there the cooperation of the splendid corps of teachers that purchased and paid for the monu-

It was a rare privilege to be present at the breaking of the ground for the monument when our dear good friend the late P. B. Englar wielded the spade that broke the ground, while the late John Ross Key, grandson of Francis Scott Key stood by and admired the deed. It was a real pleasure to meet the present owner of the property, Mr. Peter Baumgardner. A fine upstanding man is he worthy to occupy a home so important.

In honor of the service rendered John Ross Key, the Artist came to Baltimore and gave me several photographs of the home of Francis Scott Key in Georgetown, D. C., which ne had nainted I prize that picture which has written below it by John Ross Key the following: "This is the picture of the reproduction of the original painting of the home of my grandfather, Francis Scott Key.

(Signed) John Ross Key." Yes, Sept. 12th is really Maryland's day to strut. And the flag that floated over the fort on that eventful day was made in Baltimore at what is now the American flag house, by one Mrs. Pickersgill, also a Marylander. Why shouldn't we be proud?

THE 75-CENT MINIMUM

The ideal minimum wage law would relate the basic wage level to the cost of living. Some industries already pursue a policy of moving wages up or down as indicated by the general price index.

The minimum wage law shaping up in Congress is not ideal. It puts the minimum at 75 cents an hour. This is obviously more realistic than the 40-cent rate hitherto prevailing. It is definitely more reasonable than the $1 rate asked for earlier by some sections of organized labor. But even the 75-cent rate may tend to bolster general wage rates, and therefore prices, at a time when efforts should be aimed at keeping both wages and prices down.

Not only the more poorly paid workers are affected by increased minimum wage levels. All along the line, when the "unskilled" rate goes up, skilled workers press for higher wages to preserve the usual differential between their rates and the rates of the unskilled. Moreover, one effect from pushing up minimum wage levels is to bar from employment needy workers who cannot qualify production-wise at the higher rates, and to narrow down the number of potential employers.

The 75-cent level is hardly disastrous in these respects. In accepting it, the Senate has reduced the coverage of the minimum wage law, excepting 200,000 workers previously covered. But the House has plans to exempt 1,000,000 from coverage.

Some compromise may have to be reached on these figures, both of which represent an effort to insulate smaller or less profitable businesses against too harsh an impact from the new rates.

On the rates themselves, Senate and House are already in agreement. We would differ only to the extent of perhaps 10 cents, in the hope of preserving as much flexibility in the price and wage structure as possible in this time of readjustment.

An American Tragedy

Now and then, a sorry scene is staged in the drama of American life. I refer to the tragic denial of basic American principles by misled persons and groups, acting in the name of religion. It grates on my ears when I hear of it. Though some of these persons are sincere, doubtless, I get plenty riled when I read the news that some church group decided that those principles which have so long brought us prosperity and well-being, must be replaced as behind-the-times.

Here are free Americans, citizens of a land that grants them freedom of religion, assembly, speech—citizens whose founding fathers dedicated this nation to truth. They know that in America, the most liberty is found in doing right deeds. Yet—these who receive so many blessings—yet will they deny the heritage which should be theirs to pass on to their children.

In New England last June, a group of ministers met and in unanimous agreement called for "change toward the better society." So far, so good. But then, this group denounced the idea of profit incentives! "Monopolistic capitalism," they said. What blindness! In this frame of mind, would it not be easy for them to embrace Communism?

This same group called for the creation of "community without loss of individual freedom." What contradictions! What impossibilities! Do you know what community is? It is not individual freedom, not the right to your own decisions, not the exercise of self reliance. That shadowy wording means: state control of everything. "Community" is common ownership; it is Communism. This is amazing, for a religious group to call for a state dictatorship system — for Communism itself.

Economic Nonsense

Out in California last year a very large and influential group of churchmen accepted a conference report which lashed out against "the un-Christian motivation of industry by the lust for profit." In simpler terms, this means you are under suspicion if you have ideas about either having or making money. One religious leader present said it was not profit itself, but just the desire for profit, that was opposed. What nonsense for educated men!

To say things like that is to condemn industry in whole and in part. Labor, right along with management, is socked right between the eyes. This kind of thinking denies the basis of America's strength. It would repeal the principles which have made our land the finest ever, anywhere at any time. It calls for the overthrow of the American system. That is exactly what will have to take place if the profit-motive is

Keep Our Freedoms

I cannot help wondering why these churchmen say these things. Is it because they have not read the Parable of the Talents (Matthew 25)? Can they not see they are following right in line with those who long to destroy America? Do they want a Godless nation, like Russia? Are they the unassigned agents of systems foreign to America? I have not the answer. But I do place confidence in the religious people of America. All together, we must preserve this nation.

Every payday you have the opportunity to do something about those things you want in the future. All it takes is a little slice of that paycheck invested regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds. #### Jesus and the Psalms

Lesson for September 11, 1949

SOME parts of the Old Testament Jesus never once mentioned. Others he quoted again and again. Could this be because some parts were more helpful to him than others? At any rate, the Psalms were one section of his Bible which he often quoted.

ONE Use Jesus made of the Psalms was in public worship. Whenever he went to the Temple he would join in singing or in listening to the great choirs singing these an-cient hymns. Many of our own bestloved hymns, while direct translations, are based on Psalms. For example. "Still, example. "Still Still With Thee" is from Psalm 16; Dr. Foreman "God Is My Strong Salvation" from Psalm 27; "The King of Love" from Psalm 23; "O

Worship the King" from Psalms 104. In private worship also we know Jesus used the Psalms. One of the Hebrew names for them was "The Book of Prayers," and Jesus, like many another who has loved these Psalms, found in them the natural expression of what was deepest in his heart when he turned toward his Father in heaven.

A striking proof of this comes from the story of Calvary. The cry, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" is a quotation from Psalm 22:1, and "Into thy hands I commend my spirit" is from Psalm 31:5.

Thus, two out of three prayers he uttered in his last moments were from the Psalms. So the reader today, pondering in a quiet moment these immortal poems, either from the printed book or better yet, as Jesus did, from the treasures of memory, may often find in them prayers which seem breathed from his own mind and to which he need only say, Amen.

Truth about God

TESUS also found in the Psalms a revelation of truth. It would be too much to say that Jesus derived his ideas of God from the Psalms. But certainly some of the great teachings about God which we hear from Jesus we can read already in the Psalms, Jesus did not use the Psalms stupidly, of course. He would never have supposed that you could take just any sentence about God out of some Psalm or other, and quote it as the last word about God.

For instance, during his temptations the thought was suggested to him that he could jump off a high building and not be hurt; had not God promised just that in a Psalm? Now it is true that Psalm 91:9-12 does say that God will keep you from "dashing your foot against a stone" but Jesus knew that does not mean that God will guarantee to keep you out of trouble or harm no matter how foolish you are!

. . . Christ in the Psalms

TESUS found in the Psalms also prophecies. There is a rather thin line between illustration and prophecy.

For instance, when the Jerusalem boys and girls were making such a noisy welcome for him, and the dignified priests were protesting, Jesus quoted Psalm 8:2 in defense of the children: "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise.'

Did he mean that the Psalmist had predicted that very occasion, or did he mean that the Psalm expressed a truth always good?

At all events, we do know that Jesus often took a Psalm, or a part of one, as a prophetic picture of himself. He knew himself to be the true King of Mankind, "the Lord's Anointed," as his use of Psalm 110:1 plainly shows.

Yet he also knew that he must pass through suffering to his throne (Luke 24:26). When the leaders of his people rejected him he was not surprised, for he thought at once of Psalm 118:22-23. When he hung on the cross, and saw the soldiers gambling for his clothes, Psalm 22:16-18 would surely come into his mind. And can we doubt that in his last agonies, one who knew the Psalms so well would not have remembered also the later lines from the same prophetic Psalm? It begins with the tragic question-Why? But it rises to a song of triumph-"When

'he cried unto him, he heard!" (Copyright by the International Council of Religious Education on behalf of 40 Protestant denominations, Released by WNU Features)

velop in the months just ahead, the National Foundation for In-fantile Paralysis has launched a Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive to provide immediate funds for patient care.

During 1948, when there were 27.908 cases in the country, the 27,908 cases in the country, the highest number since the record total in 1916, the National Foundation and its Chapters spent $17,000,000 in March of Dimes funds to provide epidemic services, he said. With even more cases this year, it looks as though it may cost $25,000,000 in 1949 to pay for that part of medical and hospital care which families cannot pay themselves. lies cannot pay themselves.

Furthermore, it is estimated hat a minimum of $5,000,000 will be required to continue elping 1948 patients who still need clinic or hospital treatment. The National Foundation ment. The National Foundation gives assistance as long as medical care is necessary, regardless of age, race, creed or color. The money raised in the Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive will be used exclusively for services to polio patients in all states. Mr. O'Connor said. Contributions may be mailed to POLIO, care of your local Post Office.
