Charity Lodge K. of P., of Westminster, celebrates its 25th or silver anniversary, this (Friday) evening, at 8 o'clock, at Odd Fellows Hall.

Don't forget those bundles of old exchanges at 15c. They contain 100 or more copies, and are very cheap for wrapping, or other purposes.

On account of an unusual number of letters from correspondents, a lot of matter has been crowded out which would otherwise have been published.

We acknowledge the receipt of various legislative proceedings of the state of Michigan, from our friend, Mr. G. H. Kullman, who is in the Attorney General's office.

Mr. Willie Sadler, who has been in the employ of E. J. Yontz as a salesman, is visiting among relatives in Pennsylvania. He will not return to his old situation here.

Rev. Theodore D. Mead is off on an extended vacation tour to Niagara Falls, Chicago and other points. He was the guest of Attorney Wm. A. Golden, Pittsburg, on Friday last.

The School Board recently viewed the proposed location for the new school house on the Union Bridge road, and the matter will be decided at the July meeting of the Board.

Linwood Camp begins on July 26th., closing August 25th. The camp opens August 8th, and will continue two weeks. Sunday traffic at Linwood, we understand, will be limited.

Mr. Willard has secured the second floor of the Parochial school building for his select school, which will open this fall with a larger number of pupils than he has had in his summer school.

Mr. Joseph Slonaker, a Baltimore carpenter, and a brother to B. O. Slonaker of this place, had a hip broken by the falling of a scaffold, one day last week. Another workman had both legs broken.

It begins to look as if the improvements on the Lutheran church, which are badly needed, will not be made this year. It is probable that next year will see some considerable changes made in this property.

The barn of Elias Erb, between Linwood and Bark Hill, was destroyed by fire from some unknown cause, early on Monday morning. He had an insurance of $500 in the Granger's Mutual Insurance Company, which will likely cover the loss.

On Thursday, while Mr. S. Adams was driving down Baltimore St., a horse belonging to a Mr. Hawn, became frightened, and ran into his buggy, breaking it up badly. Mr. Adams and his little grand-child, who were in the buggy, escaped without injury.

We have been informed by the Hanover Herald, that the statement in the last issue of the Record that Mr. Ford, Rahter has sued the Herald for libel, is incorrect, and that he has no cause of action against that paper. We cheerfully make the correction. It was taken from an exchange and was supposed to be true.

Mr. J. F. Weant, the Hillen Street, Baltimore, commission merchant, says, in renewing his subscription to the Record, "Your paper is a welcome visitor to our home, as we like to hear the news from old Carroll. My best wishes are with your paper, and hope you may add hundreds of new subscribers."

Although Base ball games in this place seem to have ended—probably that notorious opening event had something to do with it—there is great interest manifested here in the last issue of the Record that Mr. Ford, Rahter has sued the Herald for libel, is incorrect, and that he has no cause of action against that paper. We cheerfully make the correction. It was taken from an exchange and was supposed to be true.

Our combination offer with the New York Morning Advertiser, daily and Sunday, by which we offer it for only $1.50 for every day in a year, or 85c for six months. In addition to the regular subscription price of the Record, is the greatest offer ever made by any paper published in the state, and it is being taken advantage of. The Advertiser is a first-class, morning, republican paper. Tell your friends about it.

Three new buildings are under way here, which does not look as if the town is finished yet. Mr. E. E. Reinhold is building a brick residence for himself, which will likely be the best private residence in the place. He is also building a good frame dwelling on New St., to be occupied by Mr. G. A. Arnold. On Baltimore Street Mr. C. E. H. Shriner is building a large addition to his house, which will make it a practically new building.

Friday 14th, was Flag Day, and Taneytown, practically the birth-place of Francis Scott Key, did not make even a little effort to celebrate the day, nor has any attempt been made to contribute to the Key monument. Come, citizens, this will not do! Let us show our patriotism by contributing to our town the Frederick monument fund. The P. O. S. of A., at least, should not be found wanting where anything in connection with "The Star Spangled Banner" needs assistance.

NOTES HERE AND THERE.

Rev. Samuel J. Derr, of the Hampton Lutheran church, has received a unanimous call to the Lutheran charge at Royville, York county, Pa.

Mr. Abm. E. Null of near Mt. Union caught a nice mess of fish and eels in Pipe creek on last Thursday morning, four carp, which weighed 17 pounds, and 4 eels, 8 pounds.

John Baumgartner, who escaped from Carroll county jail in February last with Joseph Cost and Henry C. Mort, has been captured in Missouri and is now in the county jail, having been brought east by Sheriff Arnold.

Live rattlesnakes are sold for $1 a snake by peddlers in the streets of southern California towns. Buyers are found among persons who want to tan the hides for various uses, and each buyer can kill his snake in the manner that he regards most conducive to the preservation of the skin's color.

A new form of money order is being issued by the P. O. Department, and offices will be supplied as soon as the present form is exhausted. The new order resembles a draft somewhat, and is much the same shape, but larger. The old form was a clumsy affair and almost any new one would be an improvement.

The municipal election in Frederick, which takes place on the 26th, promises to be a lively contest. Mr. A. R. Yeakle, a prominent business man, has received the democratic nomination for mayor, and Hon. Wm. H. Hinks, republican, a lawyer of prominence, is his opponent. Both nominations are strong ones.

Arrangements have been perfected for the reunion of Grand Army and Confederate veterans on the field of Gettysburg June 16, when a special excursion train will be run from Baltimore. Grand Army department officers from Maryland, Washington and Delaware, beside distinguished guests from Pennsylvania and New York state, will be in attendance.

The Sentinel of last week has the following: Mr. Alfred S. Babylon, of Frizellburg, recently killed a large otter in the yard of his residence at that place. He was sitting under a tree in the yard when the otter entered the yard through the gate and at once attacked Mr. Babylon's dog. The fight between the canine and the otter was sharp and decided in less than a minute. The otter then turned upon Mr. Babylon and attacked him ferociously. He had much ado to prevent the savage animal, which stood up on his hind legs in attacking, from finally conquering it, and by a well directed blow with a club laid it out dead at his feet. It weighed twenty-six pounds, and was the first otter ever seen in Frizellburg.

An Episode.
That we have a lot of festive young ladies in this old town is a good question, and a little incident which occurred about two weeks ago amply demonstrates the fact. We do not propose to describe too closely either the time, place or the parties criminales but an event which is far from ordinary, certainly deserves mention.

The scene shows two commercial tourists wending their way toward our town, bent on doing some business in what is commonly termed the "dilly." They are somewhat averse to giving free advertising, but truth, and a desire to do the subject justice, compels us to say that the special brand which they were booming is called "J. T. P." When not many miles from our corporate limits, they caught up with six female footpads, who, much to the surprise of the two modest gentlemen, formed an impregnable line across the public highway, and in approved highway-woman style, ordered them to "halt."

Considering the rudeness of the latter party's valor, particularly as they were outnumbered three to one, they promptly halted and dismounted, preparatory to "shelling out" their valuables. The fair captors, however, much to the relief of the captives, seemed to have no designs except peaceable ones, plentifully mixed with fun.

The gentlemen "tumbled,"—to use a figure of speech—while one of the ladies cut a "pigeon wing" in the latest approved style. As the possibility of danger vanished, the spirits of the tourists revived, ability for business asserted itself, and very soon each of the fair damsels was decked with the tags and placards of the famous brand. Like all other similar episodes, this episode came to an end, and the travellers were allowed to proceed without further molestation, having added something to their fund of experience. It is hoped that the ladies who participated in this frolic, have satisfied a longing in this direction, and that they will not again indulge in such dangerous and unmaidenly experiments with perfect strangers.

Fainted at the Grave.
A pathetic incident occurred at the funeral of Mrs. Andrew Fowler in Westminster on last Monday. While at the grave, her five daughters who had become very much excited in their grief, fainted one after the other, and were laid out on the grass.

Restoratives were promptly applied, and four of them soon recovered, but the fifth remained unconscious for a long time, and was removed to her home in that condition. The occurrence was particularly affecting, and certainly very unusual. Mrs. Fowler had been stricken with paralysis, and died on Friday night. The funeral was from St. John's Catholic church.

DEMMITT—SHRINER.—On June 5th., by Elder Solomon Stoner, Mr. James H. Demmitt to Miss Elie V. Shriner, both of Taneytown.

Interesting Letter from California.

San Diego, Cal., June 4, 1895.
Editor RECORD.

Some time has passed since I wrote you a letter from sunny California, but if you were here you would not blame me, there being very little difference between summer and winter, nothing marks the seasons, and the times pass so quickly.

The farmers, or ranchmen, as they are called here, are done cutting and hauling in their hay. The grain is nearly ripe and the oats looking well. There are plenty of new potatoes, string beans, cucumbers, and all the summer vegetables, also strawberries, cherries, blackberries and apricots, in market now.

The orange crop is almost gathered, and was very large; fine oranges could be bought at 5 cents per dozen. The green peaches, apples, and plums on the trees are quite large already. Pic-nics to the back country, surfing, bathing, boating on the bay, and bicycling are the order of the day here. I see by the paper that you are having very hot weather there; here it is just lovely. Do not imagine it is hot here; certainly it is not. I have lived here eight years and in all that time, I never found flannels uncomfortable, nor slept without a blanket at night; this is a very healthy place to live. There are several large sanitariums here and they are filled with invalids who seek this balmy climate in search of health.

I will try to tell you something about the inhabitants; there is nearly every race of people represented here—Chinese, Japanese, Negro, Mexican and Indian among the rest. The Chinese are to this country what the Negro is to the South. He cooks, washes, irons, fishes, gardens, and makes the beds for the whites. There is a peaceable race of people, and when they do quarrel, it is among themselves. Their knowledge of our language is very limited; they rarely know more than the names of the vegetables to buy, and the price of them. You can see how they sell this or that, and the answer will always be "heap cheapee to-day."

Here are a few of the names on their laundries: "Gee Wo, first class laundry; Chung-Lung, Lin Wah; Ran Kee," and many others, but they all answer to the name of John in our language.

We have one Chinese tea store here, kept by a Chinaman, and his teas are something fine. There is also a Chinese merchant here; he is with him weathily and he is very rich. He has five children, American born; I saw the baby a few days ago, and it was dressed in green Chinese silk, made pantaloon style, and it looked very odd.

The Mexican Greasers (the descendants of the Moors and the Indians) are an indolent race of people; they are quite dark in color, rather heavy set and short. I have seen a family of 8 or 10, with nearly as many dogs occupying one or two small rooms. They generally have several half starved horses, and sometimes a goat or cow. They live an easy life in filth and dirt, and reach a good old age too. Two women of this race, one was 104 and the other 116 years old. They use a great many Chili peppers in preparing their food, and their meat, which is chiefly mutton, they cut in slices and dry in the sun, then fix it up some way with peppers. You never pass a Mexican shop but you see first of all a long string (probably 3 yards or more) of Chili peppers. Their favorite dish is called "Chili-con-carne" and is made of beef boiled with a pepper gravy; it is quite popular with both Mexicans and Americans.

I will give you a receipt for Mexican Chili sauce which is a very healthy dish, and a good relish for any kind of meat. Take 3 large sharp Chili peppers (either ripe or green) stick on the end of a fork and toast them in a frying pan over a fire until they are browned, wrap in a moist cloth and peel the skin off them, and cut in fine pieces in a bowl. Skin medium sized potatoes and cut in the same, medium onion, and do the same; stir all well together and add a pinch of salt and 3 tablespoons of vinegar; it is then ready to serve. I am indebted to Mrs. E. for this receipt. If you think this letter worth printing, let me know and I will send you something about the Indians, and other items that may interest some of your readers.

Yours respectfully,
J. C. ECKENRODE.

Rev. Wilhide a Faith Healer.
Rev. J. Thomas Wilhide, of Bruceville, this county, who has heretofore been a member of the Baltimore Conference Methodist Episcopal church, has severed his connection and sent his personal effects to the residence of Rev. Dr. J. St. Clair Neal. Some time ago Mr. Wilhide retired from the active work of the ministry on account of a severe throat affection, and assumed a supernumerary relationship. He has entered the Faith Healing Association of Chicago, whose leader is the Rev. John Dowie. In his letter of resignation the main reason for leaving the M. E. church is given as his belief that the days of miracles are not over. Mr. Wilhide believes that God will cure the blind as well as save the soul. He joined the conference in 1888 and served the church at Glyndon. He was also pastor of the North Avenue M. E. church.

Sabbath Notes.
The second quarterly conference for Littleton circuit, U. B. church, will be held in this place on Saturday 15th., at 2 p. m. There will be preaching Saturday night at 7.30, and on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, followed by communion services. Sunday school at 9 a. m. Rev. J. P. Anthony, presiding elder, will have charge of the entire service.

Cameron, West Virginia, was wiped almost entirely out of existence by fire on Sunday last. The property of the town was probably worth $450,000, and the loss is over $300,000, on which there is an insurance of but $50,000. Fifty-two houses were burned. The homeless families are being taken care of by the more fortunate ones, and some are already making arrangements for rebuilding.

COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

Porters.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Messiah Lutheran church, on Wednesday, June 5th., at 4 o'clock p. m. The contracting parties were Julia R. daughter of the late Capt. M. J. Ways, and Mr. Archibald H. Wallace, of Delta, York county, Pa. Probably the most happy and the happy couple entered the church, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, skillfully rendered by Miss Milly Bushey organist, and were met at the chancel-rail by Rev. Thomas of Springfield Presbyterian church, who in a few well chosen words soon pronounced them man and wife. After the ceremony they paused a few moments to receive congratulations; then amid showers of rice they entered their carriage and were driven to the B. & O. R. R., and boarded the train for a tour to Baltimore, Washington and other points east. The bridal costume consisted of gray Crepon, trimmed in pink China silk, with hat and gloves to match; the groom wore the conventional black (cutaway style) with white tie and gloves to match the bride's. The ushers, Messrs George Flory and David Kiser of Bridgewater, Va., and Herbert Wampler and Mac. Shipley of Porters, also wore white ties and buttons. The church which was packed to its utmost capacity by the many friends of the bride and groom, was beautifully decorated with choice flowers and plants. Directly back of the altar were the letters W. W., the initials of the happy groom. In the center of the altar was a wreath. They were the recipients of many presents, some of which were very costly and beautiful.

Mr. Bayard Dorsey, postmaster at Berret, while bathing in some friends on Saturday last in Anthony's mill pond, got into what is termed a snuck hole, and was with difficulty saved from drowning, by two of his companions, Messrs James Day and Howard Gearhart. On being taken from the water he remained unconscious for some minutes.

Alveta, wife of Mr. L. E. Gorsuch, a former resident of this place, died at her home near Garrison, Baltimore county, Md., on Monday, June 3rd., and was interred at Harmony Grove cemetery, on Wednesday. Mrs. Gorsuch was much beloved by all who knew her, and leaves a husband and four small children to mourn her loss.

The ladies of Brandenburg M. P. church held an ice cream festival in the evening, and the auditorium was crowded to the doors. The chancel and pulpit were almost hidden by a profusion of palms, cut flowers and potted plants. The music was under the direction of Mrs. W. Little, assisted by Miss Susie Wolfe, organist, and Mr. J. E. Lambert, cornetist. The choruses and recitations were admirably given by the primary department under the supervision of Mrs. E. Schafer, and the Intermediate department, under the supervision of Palmer Hartshorn and J. H. Fillmore, the name of which was "Consider the Lilies." The offering taken up was for the benefit of Tressler's Orphan's Home of Louisville, Pa.

Pleasant Valley.

The largest concourse of people ever known to be present at a funeral at this place, was that which gathered on last Sunday to witness the obsequies of ill-fated little Blanche Strubeque. It is estimated that about 200 persons were present; some came for mere curiosity's sake, and others out of pure love and respect for the little unfortunate, and sympathy for the bereaved family. About 700 persons took advantage of the opportunity to view the remains, which occupied about forty-five minutes time. Rev. H. J. McAllister preached the funeral sermon, which was appropriate and affecting.

We are glad to learn that the prospects are favorable for the institution of a camp of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, at Mayberry. It has been reported that the majority of the members of Camp 7 are bitterly opposed to the institution of a camp at Mayberry, and have been somewhat censured therefor, and it is the desire of your correspondent to exonerate those who have been accused. While it is true that when a Camp at Mayberry was first spoken of, a few of the members of Camp 7 were opposed, now, we believe, they think differently. The majority are in favor of a camp at Mayberry, and will give it their support so far as is consistent with the welfare of their own camp.

A considerable amount of work has been done on our public roads, and yet what is most important has been left undone on some of them; especially on the two roads leading from here to Frizellburg, and to Hughes' shop on the Meadow Branch pike. The number of large stones left on these two roads is so great that travel is very much impeded.

Washington Camp No. 7, P. O. S. of A. will have, before many months, a new spacious hall in the building now being erected by Mr. John Seiff. On the ground floor will be erected a large and commodious store-room, which the hall will be built. It will be 26 by 48 feet, which is the size of the main building. There will be several wings, one for the ante room to the hall. The new building will be annexed to a large carpenter shop.

Don't forget the annual festival of the Beneficent and Aid society of the Reformed congregation, which has been in progress since Thursday evening, and will be held this afternoon and night.

Harnoy.

The Children's day exercises held at our churches on last Sunday, were largely attended and the programs unusually good and well rendered; this shows that our young people are possessed of the ability to entertain large audiences, who, if they have a mind to. We rather admire the practice of teaching the children to speak in public and think that it should be encouraged more than it is, because it has a tendency to drive away that man-fearing spirit which causes many persons to appear ignorant, as well as awkward, before the public.

Of course, we do not like boldness, but we are inclined to believe that persons are often accused of being bold, when they are far from being so; we have quite frequently noticed that, just as soon as a child is able to come out before the public, and speak intelligently, then you always hear the cry of—too bold! being talked around over the community. We think that we are justifiable in declaring such accusations wrong at all times, because we believe that intelligence should be cultivated in every phase of life.

Mr. E. K. Stavely and wife spent last Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Menchey. Mr. Stavely is well known in this place and was at one time employed as foreman in the Newcomer cigar factory.

Misses Douglas and Phebe Newcomer are at home for their summer vacation from school—both are looking well. It is unnecessary to say that they are always welcomed home by all who know them. We were certainly pleased to hear that Miss Douglas was awarded the gold medal for valedictory.

Mr. W. E. Myers is making rapid progress with his new house; he has a big force of carpenters at work, with Mr. Chas. Rogers as foreman of the gang. Mr. Rogers is well known in this community; he spent his boyhood days in this place, but for the last 8 or 9 years has been working in Baltimore, Hanover and Gettysburg, and we are pleased to know has become quite a skilled mechanic.

Mrs. Stoner has been on the sick list during the past week.

Mr. Grier Shoemaker has had a new lawn fence put around his magnificent home, which adds greatly to the appearance of the lawn.

Mr. John Bishop, of McSherrystown, paid a short visit to his parents in this place, during the week. Mr. Bishop is the pastor of the M. P. church at McSherrystown, but for some time has been in bad health, and has been spending some time at Emmitsburg, enjoying the pure mountain air; he says that he is somewhat improved.

Uniontown.
The M. P. church will hold an ice cream and strawberry festival this Saturday evening.

Mrs. M. A. Koons of Ladiesburg, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Dr. Kemp.

Luther Hitesheiw is confined to the house with a sprain of the muscles of the back.

We understand that Geo. T. Mering will be removed from his position in the Internal Revenue office on Saturday this week; his place is to be filled by a civil service appointee.

Joseph Slonaker, a carpenter of Baltimore, a son of our venerable citizen Andrew Slonaker, was thrown from a scaffold one day last week in that city and was seriously injured, but at this writing is improved.

Rev. K. O. Spessard of Union Bridge, was the guest of Dr. L. Kemp on last Saturday.

Kentley Routsen of Baltimore, is home on a visit.

The woman "doing up" Taneytown, as a tenant of Thos. H. Routsen of this place, and Uniontown, as the tenant of Mr. Hyde of New Windsor, is a professional mendicant, and all aid given her was unworthily bestowed. These people find our little town a very favorable place for their operations and make their incursions quite frequently, and we think it time that our people exercise some discretion in the matter.

Misses Ida and Bessie Mering of this place, have been attending the sessions of the meeting of the General Synod of the Lutheran church in Hagerstown this week.

Maidensville.
Fifteen pigs and shoats belonging to Mr. Emanuel Fisher, have died of some unknown disease.

The ice cream and strawberry festival at Winter's church was largely attended. Excellent music was rendered by the Linwood Band, whom their new uniforms made a fine appearance and finer music. The net proceeds were $41.

On last Tuesday evening while Mrs. Alfred Englar and daughter Florence, were passing a wagon in the woods near Winter's church, their horse became frightened, ran up a bank, nearly upset the wagon and threw Mrs. Englar out. She was not injured except a slight shaking up. The horse ran to the church where the wagon struck a chest tree with such force as to render it a complete wreck. Florence, who had remained in the wagon, was thrown out and injured but not seriously. The horse was slightly injured and the harness somewhat damaged.

The barn on the farm belonging to Elias Erb, lying between Linwood and Bark Hill, was consumed by fire early Monday morning. The stock were saved but a few farming implements were destroyed. Insurance company covers the loss. The fire is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

"Forest Home," owned by Joseph L. Haines, is undergoing extensive repairs, which when finished will render it a fine and imposing residence.

Mrs. Lizzie Ecker, who was the guest of Mrs. Geo. Waltz is visiting Mr. Green Ecker, of near Uniontown.

Robert Davidson is on the sick list.

ENTERED AT TANEYTOWN POSTOFFICE AS SECOND CLASS MATTER

SATURDAY, JUNE 15th., 1895.

NOTICE!

Advertisers, subscribers and all others indebted to the CARROLL RECORD Printing and Publishing Company of Taneytown, are requested to pay all the amounts due the Company, on or before June 22nd, 1895. As the first year of the business of the Company closes with the month of June, it is desired by the Board of Directors that the report which they will make to the stockholders, shall show fully the amounts due the Company for the year. The report will be rendered on the day of the election of a Board of Directors to serve for one year from the first of July, 1895, which will be held at the Manager's office on Saturday afternoon, June 23rd., at 8 o'clock.

By order of THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

GOV. ALTGELD of Illinois is said to have pardoned one hundred and twenty-six convicts in a little over a year. This seems to be a situation where a little of "Judge Lynch" might be pardoned—if there is at any time, or under any circumstances, an excuse for his work.

SENATOR SHERMAN thinks that while both parties are more or less split over free silver, that the democrats are hopelessly divided, while the republicans are solid except in a few small western states. Nevertheless, the effect of the movement for free silver may cause a number of presidential tickets to be in the field, which cannot be forecasted now.

MAYOR STRONG of New York, seems to be impervious to both criticism and threats. He promised to give the city a non-partisan administration, and seems to be doing it in his own even dignified way. Apparently he is not banking on a re-nomination by the republicans, yet it may be that his administration will be so good that non-partisanship will be overlooked, and the honesty of the man be the first and only consideration, which should always entitle an official to a second term. His power of removal after July 1st., will be limited entirely to those convicted of malfeasance in office, therefore the axe must swing very rapidly between now and that time, if there is to be a "clean sweep" which will give the republicans the control of all the departments.

The Telephone and its troubles.

An article in the June Cosmopolitan speaking of some of the troubles of the telephone, says, that the full wire circuit is needful for a complete service. When the earth is used as part of the circuit, there are a multiplicity of hissing and frying sounds produced through the phone caused by other electric currents in the ground, which are sometimes so strong as to destroy articulation.

In using the ground circuit, the electric current does not go in a narrow strip from one ground terminal to the other, but spreads out in a wide sheet. Under favorable conditions its influence may be felt for several miles; consequently contiguous lines are apt to materially interfere with each other.

In the trolley road where the metal track forms a part of the circuit, it is pretty conclusively established that one tenth of the current spreads out from the road, and, this too, would interfere with a nearby telephone.

The telephone is exceedingly sensitive; it is a fact that telegraph signals have been heard over a telephone while separated by miles of ground from the telegraph line from which the sound came. This shows that the two entirely different systems, using the ground as part of each system, interfere with other to a more or less degree. Then too, there are other electric currents in the earth due to natural causes, which have been troublesome, but the wire circuit, when properly built, makes the service very nearly perfect.

The line recently built to this place, while not entirely free from the hissing and frying sounds, is fairly satisfactory, and, it is likely that the defects can be located and remedied. Clear articulation from a telephone depends a great deal on the person using it, and the receiver too, must accustom his ear to the work, otherwise the least confusion of sound may hinder one from securing satisfactory service.

Maryland Politics.

The republican meetings of last week, have had the effect of stirring up politics generally throughout the state, and gossip as to the possible gubernatorial candidate on both sides is being actively circulated. While there can be nothing sure before the conventions, the horizon is clearing up, and, if the wishes of the mass of voters and the leaders are an indication of who the candidates will be, it looks very much as if Lowndes and Hayes will head the tickets.

The republicans seem to be better organized and in better fighting trim than ever before, and an increase in confidence and enthusiasm is very apparent. Judging from expressed sentiment, the candidates most prominently mentioned for the republican nomination, Lowndes, Malster, Westcott and Baker, stand in the order named, for chances of success. Malster is no doubt the candidate with the most strength in the city, but Lowndes has a good city following and has warm friends in every section of the state. Westcott has recently developed a considerable strength, and Baker, who might otherwise be the leading candidate, is handicapped by being a member of congress, in which position a great many think he had better stay.

While the situation has so far been rather quiet in the democratic ranks, republican activity has had the effect of livening up the camp. The party fully realizes that its candidate will not have a "walk over," and an earnest and hard fought campaign will be the one held in Maryland in November. Senator Hayes, Treasurer Jones and Governor Brown, are the leading gubernatorial candidates, and their chances too, seem to be in the order in which they are named.

Senator Hayes appears to be in the lead, particularly in the counties, and, as the re-assessment question will come up this winter in a shape probably much the same as provided for in the Hayes bill, the author of it naturally looms up as a prominent possibility because of his known views on the subject. Senator Gorman will likely be shrewd enough to keep "hands off" from attempting to shape public opinion, as the time has about come when the people will insist on making their own nominations. He has said that "whatever the people demand, they must have," and, if they want re-assessment, and Hayes, they will likely get it.

Gorman, however, is a deep player, and will be closely watched. The mass of the party is apparently so distrustful of him, that his endorsement of a candidate would do more to injure his chances than forward them, even if it was prompted by an honest feeling that the candidate was the best man, and was desired by the majority of the party. No matter who the candidates may be on either side, it is likely that as the weather becomes cooler, politics will become hotter, and those who delight in an active campaign will certainly be gratified.

Honest Money.

There is seldom a moment when the currency question is not acute in one phase or another. But perhaps at no time since the war has there been more discussion of monetary problems than during the past two months. Conferences of greater or less pretensions are assembling in various parts of the land, and the opposing elements are beginning missionary movements on a vast scale. The free silver coinage men are the most enthusiastic and aggressive, but the gold standard forces, in close alliance with President Cleveland and the treasury organization, are striking sturdily blows and endeavoring to carry the war into the very southern and western strongholds of the silver men.

In our judgment the defenders of the existing monetary standard are making a serious mistake in organizing their campaign under the one cry of "Honest Money." They use this phrase on all occasions as their watchword, and seem to count upon carrying the day by mere virtue of impugning the motives of their opponents. It is, after all, certain questions of fact and opinion that are in issue. To urge the cry of "honest money" begs the whole question. There are many thousands of American citizens who are declaring that the demonetization of silver was an improper thing, and that the existing gold standard rests upon an international conspiracy of bankers and gold brokers. It is best to assume honest intentions in both camps.

The pretense that in this great monetary contest the virtue and intelligence is all on the gold side, is as dangerous as it is false and irritating. We do not ourselves believe for a moment that the United States could safely attempt on its own unaided account to open the mints to the free coinage of legal tender silver dollars. But we must recognize the great ingenuity of the arguments of many of the leaders of the silver movement, and we must absolutely decline to impugn the sincerity and good faith of that movement as a whole. It would not be formidable if it were not based upon honest convictions.—From "The Progress of the World," Review of Reviews for June.

Literary Notices.

The editor of the Review of Reviews, in his running comment on "The Progress of the World" in the June number, reviews the Cuban situation and England's Nicaraguan relations at some length; he also summarizes the probable results of peace in the far East. politics, France and the Nile, the new Speaker of the British House of Commons, elections in Greece and Denmark, the Pope's Encyclical to England, and the school question in Manitoba. On the side of home politics, considerable space is devoted to the silver controversy, the annualment of the income tax and the prospects of civil service reform.

The Cosmopolitan for June contains among other excellent features, an article on "The Chautauqua Movement," by H. H. Boyesen; "The Pleasant Occupation of Tending Bees," by W. Z. Hutchinson; "Bathing at Continental seaside resorts," by J. Howe Adams, and the usual amount of fiction and other matter found in its various excellent departments.

William Martin Johnson, who illustrated the "Garfield" edition of "Ben Hur" for the Harpers, and also their editions of "The Clotter and the Hearth" and "Hypatia," becomes the art editor of The Ladies' Home Journal on June 1st, leaving New York to reside permanently in Philadelphia. Mr. Barton Cheney, a clever newspaper man who has been attached to the press of Delaware and Pennsylvania is also added to the Journal's editorial staff as one of Mr. Bok's principal associates.

A Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism

WESTMINSTER, Cal., March 21, 1894.—Some time ago, on awakening one morning, I found that I had rheumatism in my knee so badly that, I remarked to my wife, it would be impossible for me to attend to business that day. Remembering that I had some of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in my store I sent for a bottle, and rubbed the afflicted parts thoroughly with it, according to directions, and within an hour I was completely relieved. One application had done the business. It is the best liniment on the market, and I sell it under a positive guarantee. R. T. HARRIS. For sale by R. S. McKinney, druggist, Taneytown, Md.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh of the Bladder. It is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. Have you Five or more Cows?

If so a Hand Cream Separator will earn its cost for you every year. Why continue an inferior system another year at so great a loss?

Dairying is now the only feature of agriculture that is profitable. Properly conducted it always pays well, and must pay you. You need a Separator, and you need the BEST, viz: THE DAVIS HAND SEPARATOR.

No one needs as much of a prophet to foresee that the general adoption of the Cream Separator on the farm will be the next step of progressive dairying. To-day there is but one material facting all dairy operations, and that is greater economy in production, and a higher quality in the manufactured goods. And so it is all through, and so it must always be. If an easier and cheaper way of doing old and familiar work is found, the new plan must be adopted in the name of economy sooner or later. One of the points elaborated by practical men is, that with a Separator used beside the Cooley and other systems, the yield of butter cannot be equalled by the gravity system, even under the most favorable circumstances. The gain over other systems under ordinary circumstances will easily average 15 to 25 per cent. As a result of the purity and perfection of the cream taken immediately from the milk after it comes from the cow, the product is far superior to anything turned out in other ways. Further, the machine takes out minor particles of dirt and sediment that neither straining nor any other method, has been able to remove before.

In the manufacture of Butter upon the farm, the farmer who uses a Separator has every point of vantage, and all the claims of the creamery system are applicable to his work. He draws the milk from the cow's udder in the best of condition, and within a few moments has in his possession the raw material for the manufacture of butter, just at its inception and in its purest form. With skill and cleanliness, the product of his dairy should be Gilt edged and fit for the gods. Thousands of Separators are in use now, and the prejudices with which the machine was first confronted have been overcome. The only question that a dairyman need ask now is, "Will it pay? I answer yes. If any one doubts the above, call on or address D. W. GARNER, Taneytown, Md., who will prove the workings of their machine. 18-9-tf

FARM FIELD AND GARDEN

PROPER SIZE OF BEEHIVES.

A Southern Apiarist Gives His Experience on This Subject of General Interest. Apiculture is like some other professions in the way of progress, which seem to proceed, as it were, by a sort of ebb and flow. At one time it is ten frame hives, then "new idea" hives of a single story of 20, 30 or 40 frames, these to relegate to the rear to give place to hives of eight frames, and now these latter will most likely pass with the ebb for the flood tide to bring forward the ten frame hive again.

For several years past I have been experimenting with the eight frame hive, and these experiments have taught me that there is a limit to hive space, modified somewhat by locality, which must be observed in order to obtain the more favorable results. In my locality the honey flow proper commences about the 1st of April and lasts till the middle of June, after which there is a dearth of nectar till the 1st of September, when the fall flowers appear.

Summing up my experience on the five question, I am satisfied that, for most localities, a hive of nine or ten frames is as small as can be profitably used for either comb or extracted honey. By the way, I use a two story hive. The second story is devoted to either comb or extracted honey, and for my manipulation of hives I want a frame with a closed end top bar so as to be self spacing. For this reason I have long since discarded the old straight seven-eighth inch top bar.

Peas Do Not Vegetate. Most gardeners have been more or less annoyed by the failure of peas to vegetate. The loss of seed is not the greatest vexation, though that is material, but the loss of time. A correspondent in The New England Homestead writes: When we plant our early peas and wait ten days or two weeks for them to put in an appearance, only to find that they will never grow, we cannot get back the time, and so we have no early peas. A part of the trouble comes from the fact that much of the seed is infested by weevils, which have eaten out the germ and ruined it. We are sorry to believe that old seed, so old that it will not vegetate, sometimes gets mixed with fresher seed and thus reduces the number that grow. A still further factor in this trouble is the neglect of the gardener to suitably prepare the ground. In the early spring when it is wet this is often neglected, and the peas are covered with lumps of clay or heavy soil which soon harden and effectually prevent the vines from reaching the surface. The ground must be well mellowed before peas are planted. Lastly, plant thickly. If all come up, they can be thinned if necessary, but this is rarely called for.

Legislation on Tuberculosis. After six days of hearing before the committee of the Massachusetts legislature on tuberculosis in cattle the matter is finally left in the hands of the committee. There seemed to be substantially a unanimous agreement by all parties, veterinarians as well as farmers, that owners should receive full compensation for cattle destroyed. An estimate was made that $650,000 would be needed to carry out the work. This, with $200,000 for the gypsy moth, makes quite an expensive job at house-cleaning, says Maine Farmer.

The Weight of Hay. Compact timothy hay requires about 500 cubic feet to weigh a ton (considerably more, perhaps 700, as it is brought from the field), but the quantity will vary with the pressure caused by the height of the mow and with the age of the grass when cut, ripe and stiff grass yielding less under pressure and requiring more in bulk to weigh a ton. Stiff coarse hay will be found to weigh less than fine and flexible hay, which will pack solid. The quantity we have stated is a fair average for well settled hay, says Country Gentleman.

Soil For the Potato. The American Agriculturist, in considering the best soil for potatoes, tells that in Maine most of the contestants for the prizes for largest yields preferred a gravelly loam soil, the original growth having been of birch, beech, maple and hemlock, while others chose a fine clay soil or a strong rocky loam. In New York state the prize potato crops were grown on a sandy loam with more or less gravel and some stones, though clay loam on a clay subsoil or a strong gravelly loam gave splendid results.

Treatment of Large Bowlders. Many large bowlders may be sunk by digging beside and under them and letting them down. In good digging it is cheaper than blasting and hauling away. Granite and flint may be split by burning the brush on it and throwing a pail of water on the rock while very hot. Dynamite is a last resort, but safer than powder, says The Farm Journal. A special-ist should be obtainable for handling the stuff and rending stones.

Gas lamps were introduced in the Paris streets in 1819. Their employment caused no little remark among the country people, who got an idea that there was some magic about the matter. To prevent wrinkles, the ladies of the court of Catherine de' Medici wore a forehead cloth tightly bound on their heads. MARKET GARDENING.

How Abandoned Farms Are Being Converted Into Profitable Market Gardens. The time does not appear to be far off when a very large part of the territory in New England supposed to be occupied by so called "abandoned farms" will be converted into market gardens. The neighborhood of the town of Rehoboth, R. I., say ten miles from the city of Providence, Pawtucket or Fall River, is a case in point. According to American Gardening, only a few years ago the town was apparently on the verge of dissolution. Old fashioned farming, the raising of wheat, rye and corn had ceased to afford even a scanty living; the young men had gone to the neighboring factory towns, while the old folks were eking out a meager existence on the old homestead; the buildings were tumbling into decay, fences in many cases had been used to keep warmth in the bodies of the old people, and there was but little left, but more or less picturesque ruin of people, buildings and the former industries of the town.

Now all this is changed, the old places have been patched up, new houses have been built, and rows of greenhouses and celery pits have taken the place of the old fashioned barnyards. The problem of utilizing the abandoned farms has been solved by converting them into market gardens. In many cases the lands have changed hands and have come into possession of foreigners who have shown the native owners of the land what can be done by gardening, the raising of small fruits, vegetables, etc. In the locality mentioned strawberries, asparagus, cabbage and celery are the chief crops, and they are evidently suited to the light but fertile lands. The evidences of prosperity on every side show that there is ample profit in the new gardening.

What has been done in Rhode Island can be done almost anywhere. As lands near the cities become valuable for building lots, and the assessments and taxes become too high for profitable cultivation, the so called abandoned farms will be converted into market gardens and their productive value very largely increased. Intensive farming as it is practiced in Europe will eventually redeem much of the unused land in the eastern states and at the same time furnish our cities with cheap, palatable and healthful food.

Maintaining Pastures on Poor Land. To maintain a pasture in full vigor on poor land two things are necessary. We might say three. First, they must not be overstocked. Second, some clover ought always to be present in order to gather nitrogen for the grasses. The common red clover is best where it will succeed, because it dies in two years and gives up its life to feed the grasses. This being so, it is of the utmost importance that clover seed should be sown on the pastures every two years. Alsike is in some respects better than the red clover, because it is longer lived and can maintain itself in moist places. It should be remembered that scarlet clover is an annual and should be sown in early fall or the latter part of summer. It is doubtful if it will stand the winter farther north than central New York. Third, plant food must be set free continually if the pasture is to be kept at its best, or plant food must be added. Some can be set free by harrowing, and some by the clover roots. If this does not suffice, then fertilizers of some kind should be sown frequently and in small quantities. After the sowing of the seed and the harrowing the roller should follow. We have named these operations in the order in which they should take place, writes a correspondent of Country Gentleman.

Let Your Hens Sit. The best results are obtained from hens that are allowed to sit when they are prevented from incubating. When the hen goes to her nest to sit, she does so for the purpose of using the fat of her body to impart heat to the eggs, and as she seldom leaves the nest to feed she becomes reduced in flesh by the time the eggs are hatched. She also becomes rest and recuperates. As a rule, a sitting hen is nearly always fat, and to prevent her from sitting simply keeps her in a condition unfavorable to laying. There are times, however, when no chicks are desired. In such cases let the hen go to the nest, giving her a few porcelain eggs. Do not break her from sitting, as she will soon become broody again and will lay but few eggs before going on the nest the second time, but if kept on the nest for two or three weeks and then "broken up" she will come off in excellent condition for laying and will lay more eggs than she would have done if prevented from sitting, including the first lost in incubation, and she will not become broody until she is in a fat condition again.—Poultry Keeper.

A Good Grafting Wax. Here is Country Gentleman's recipe for grafting wax: Take 4 pounds rosin, 2 pounds tallow and 1 pound beeswax. Put all into a kettle and melt slowly, and when all are melted and well mixed turn all into a pail of cool water. Then grease your hands well with tallow or oil, and when the wax is cool enough to handle work it and pull it as you would molasses candy, and the wax will be perfect. Use a pail of water to carry the wax to the field for use, and the hands must be kept greased when using it. If it is to be used in quite cool weather, it may contain a little more tallow.

Treatment of Large Bowlders. Many large bowlders may be sunk by digging beside and under them and letting them down. In good digging it is cheaper than blasting and hauling away. Granite and flint may be split by burning the brush on it and throwing a pail of water on the rock while very hot. Dynamite is a last resort, but safer than powder, says The Farm Journal. A specialist should be obtainable for handling the stuff and rending stones.

Famous Words.

One of the greatest physicians in America said to a lady patient the other day: "If you can keep your bowels active you will never need my services."

Constipation is one of the most dangerous complaints. It creates a disorder of the liver, and then follow sick-headaches, biliousness, loss of appetite, etc. A physician would first prescribe a Ramon's Tonic Liver Pill to open the bowels and clean out all the poisonous bile. He would then give you Ramon's Tonic Pellets for purifying the blood, stimulating the appetite, and strengthening the system. The two medicines would cure you completely and make you feel better than you have felt for years. Ask your druggist for Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills. They cost 25c. a box, and you get with them a box of Pellets free.
