LOCALS AND PERSONALS.

Rev. O. C. Roth has been elected president of the Maryland Synod of the Lutheran church.

The long drought was broken on Saturday morning last, by a steady shower of several hours.

E. C. Saurhammer bonded on Thursday, and will open his new cigar factory in a short time.

D. J. Hesson, of Harney, and P. B. Englar of this place, were in Philadelphia this week completing fal.

Mrs. G. W. Baumgardner, Mrs. Emanuel Ohler and Mrs. Annie Clark, visited friends in Baltimore during the past week.

The Hagerstown fair was well attended from here on Thursday. This has always been a popular fair in this neighborhood.

Joseph M. Thomson possesses a "Barnum" beet, which weighs twelve pounds. So far as heard from, this is the best that Taneytown district can do in the beet line.

At the recent Lutheran Synod, Rev. G. W. McSherry was appointed on the Committee of Minutes of Synod, and Dr. George T. Motter on the Committee of Seminary debt.

Rev. K. G. Murray, pastor of Middleburg Methodist church, is report-ed to have resigned the charge on account of ill health, and gone to his former home at Hampsted, in order to regain his health fully before again attempting ministerial work.

It is our desire to follow the history of Middleburg with that of Uniontown, which will close the series. The Uniontown copy is not in hand yet, but it is expected to be in time to continue the series without a break. Dr. J. J. Weaver Jr., has it in prep-

At the last sitting of the registrar in this district, 37 names were added and 36 erased. For the two sittings 80 were added, and 59 erased. This is the most work ever done by a registrar in this district, and shows the quiet interest of the people in the election this fall.

It is reported that a certain man in this district has been offered $2.00 for his vote. If this is true—and he says it is—there may be more of the same business on hand. This is a dangerous game, both for buyer and seller, as the parties may find out, if they practice it in District No. 1.

The quality of the paper in the RECORD is not as good as it was, and not as good as we want. We have in contemplation some improvements, in the paper, somewhat extensive in character, which will be appreciated by our many subscribers; therefore we ask all to wait patiently for several months, with the paper as it is this performance and athletic sports.

The Presbyterian Synod of Baltimore began its annual session Tuesday night in the First Church, corner of Madison street and Park avenue. The synod embraces all the Presbyterian churches in Maryland, Dela-ware and the District of Columbia, and was attended by about 300 dele-

Rev. George M. Little, of the Presbytery of Washington, delivered the pening sermon, after which officers were elected and the synod was organized for business. Rev. Henry Branch, of Ellicott City, was elected moderator; Rev. E. H. Robbins, of Fulton Avenue Church Baltimore, was re-elected stated clerk for a term of three years and Dr. L. H. Miller and Rey. Howard Ennis, of Newcastle and Washington presbyteries, respectively, were elected temporary clerks. Nearly the whole of Wednesday was consumed in the discussion of the subject of synodical sustentation, which practically means home mission work within the bounds of the meeting was mainly upon the question as to whether or not it would be by advisable to cut loose from the home which the members left for their mission board, so far as asking for contributions for local mission work is concerned, and attempt to care for all such work without assistance from board in New York. It was decided that it would be inadvisable to undertake to do this at present, but contribute a lump sum to make up any deficiency in the amount needed collections. The reports submitted by the presbyteries contained the following igures:

Protracted meeting will begin (D. V.) at the M. P. church, (The Brick,) near Wakefield in this county, on to-morrow, (Sunday, Oct. 29th.) with a love feast at 9 o'clock a. m., conducted by Rev. Wm. A. Crouse, of Westminster. Dr. L. W. Bates, of the Theological Seminary will preach at 10 30 o'clock, a. m. Miss Annie Boteler, of Waynesboro, the morning and evening.

GENERAL AND POLITICAL.

The largest political meeting, probably ever held in Baltimore, was that of the republicans on Tuesday night in Music Hall. Theodore Roosevelt, the head of the New York police department was the star of the occasion. Speeches were also made by ex-Congressman J. V. L. Findlay, and Lloyd Lowndes.

Brewster & Co., the oldest and most celebrated carriage making concern in the United States, made an assignment on the 12th. The works are located on Fifth Avenue, New York, and the "Brewster" vehicles are known all over the world. De-

The President has left Buzzard's Bay and returned to Washington. The President and his family have had one of the pleasantest as well as one of the longest seasons ever spent there, and all of them are in excel-lent health. Mr. Cleveland especially has been greatly benefitted, and de clares that he is fully recuperated and in splendid physical condition. He certainly never looked better.

The secret service division of the Treasury Department has discovered the existence of a counterfeit ten-dollar siver certificate of the series of 1891, check letter D. bearing the portrait of the late Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks. The counterfeit is apparently printed from an etched plate of fair workmanship, and the general appearance of the note is very decep-tive. The note has been "doctored" to give it an aged appearance.

There is every reason to predict an advance in the price of leaf tobacco of all grades, for several reasons. First the war in Cuba, and a succession of floods, has irretrievably damaged this years crop, and there can be no crop next year, because none has been planted. Then again, while domestic tobacco would naturally advance on account of the advance in Havana, early and very heavy frosts in our principal tobacco states has very considerably damaged our own crop. Experienced tobacco men predict a heavy advance in all grades; some

It was the main subject considered at the recent as-sembling of the archbishops of Washington, but the efforts at secrecy were successful in keeping the Pope's letter from publicity. What steps the archbishops took cannot be learned, but with the views of the Pope thus clearly expressed, it is doubtless that the American church will anathemaway that an interdiction was placed on Catholic participation in the Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and other secret societies.

Secretary Carlisle's determination not to go to Kentucky to make speeches in favor of the democratic ticket is due to the action mainly of the democratic candidate for Governor, who refuses absolutely to abide by the pledges of the democratic plat-form, and his defeat, if it is accomplished at all, will be due to the inde-pendence of democrats who think more of party principles than of "regularly" nominated candidates.

Our late Fire.

Taneytown has again had a fire, and again fortune has favored us in the fact that the actual loss in cash will be comparatively slight. The occurrence has demonstrated the certainty of one thing-which some of our good people seem to doubt-that onr town is in danger of serious loss

by fire, and that we are completely at the mercy of "fire bugs" and acci-A great many people are hard to interest in any new undertaking as long as "it isn't their funeral," which means selfishness, pure and simple. This is not the way for good citizens to view any question which relates to others as well as themselves, nor is it right to refuse to help one's self by not taking precautionary measures for the prevention of calamities. Chance is a very unstable thing to depend on wholly.

We ought to have a public water supply. It is criminal neglect to be without it. Other towns of no greater importance than ours, have supplied themselves with water works. Why? For the sake of spending a lot of money for the possession of something to boast of? No! They did it because they love their homes, their lives and their town; because they realize the improvidence and danger of depending on wells and cisterns in closely built up places; because such a supply is likely to become exhausted in a dry spell, as well as become polluted and unfit for use. There are many other considerations, but these are sufficient; and, what others in their intelligence have already done in this direction, we should make up our minds to do next year. This winter will be a good time to lay the plans.

What will Congress do?.

Considerable speculation is afloat as to what the next Congress will do, or attempt to do. With a democratic president, a Senate so equally divided that the populists will have the balance of power, and a House of Representatives so largely republican as to be almost unwieldly, the character of the legislation which may be produced is delightfully uncertain.

The republicans, of course, are in favor of radically different tariff laws from those now in force, and are willing to assume the responsibility for another tariff bill, but, as there can be no such legislation without the President's consent, it is likely that the country must get along for another eighteen months at least, under the present laws.

That the treasury needs relief, is sure, but the democrats will not admit that higher duties is the solution of the trouble, and will likely oppose anything which tends to show that the laws passed by them are not wise. The government needs more money. or less expense; this is a "condition us." The question is, "What are we going to do about it ?"

There is, of course, many ways of increasing our Internal Revenue, but the sentiment of the country is very strong against such taxes, and most people will likely favor some other expedient. Bond issues are no permanent relief, and there is not the slightest necessity for a country as slightest necessity for a country as a mystery. Morphia, for example, great as ours to indulge in them, suspends the activity of the nerve either to raise revenue or keep up centres. But how? What chemical the gold reserve.

This we consider the bewildering scope was the case of 1891.

Again, the yearly products of the mines of the country is so great that if the production never exceeds that of 1894, which was a bad year, it would be more than sufficient, if ap plied to the purpose, to wipe out the net national debt in two years.

In the last calendar year, according to an official report, the value of five hundred and twenty-five millions of G. A. ARNOLD DR. C. BIRNIE, P. B. ENGLAR dollars was dug out of the ground in the United States.

The largest item by far in our mining account is roal. It is much greater than the combined value of all the gold and silver that is mined.

The production of gold in this country has lately increased. More was mined in this country last year than in any year since 1878. It still, than in any year since 1878. It still, nowever, ranks behind silver in value. Sixty-four million dollars' worth of that metal was mined in 1894.

For a time the value of the copper product was greater than that of gold; but the account now stands the | Taneytown. other way. In 1894 the value of the gold product surpassed that of copper by six million dollars.

The silver product has been falling off. This is probably not because there is less silver in the earth to be mined, but because the low price for it has led many mines to diminish or suspend their production. Not so much by ten million ounces was mined in 1894 as in 1893.

There is no country in the world so rich in the products of the earth's surface and of the ground below its surface as the United States. Agriculture is still, and happily, our greatest source of wealth: but we have in coal. in gold, in silver, in lead and copper, in petroleum, resources of future wealth far beyond those of any other

Though we do, indeed, owe enornous sums,-much more, no doubt than we ought to owe,-we may con sole ourselves with the reflection that these vast sums have largely been used in developing just such resources of wealth as our mines supply. And the wealth is present which will eventually more than pay the debt.-Youths Companion.

Positive Knowledge in Medicine.

The reproach that medicine is not an exact science, but a mere system of experiments, has often been uttered. That it is largely well-founded is too true, as nobody better knows or more frankly admits than the foremore frankly admits than the foremost practitioners of the healing art. In discussing this topic at the recent meeting of the British Medical Association Sir W. Broadbent declared that even the nature of diseases was not wholly understood. Despite the great advance made in pathology, the physician is still at a loss to tell, for example, how a fever originates, whether at the command of the nerves or because the power of the nerve centres is enfeebled and their authority withdrawn. Diagnosis may In the Orphan's Court for Carroll be wellnigh perfect. But that is mere county, August Term, 1895. be wellnigh perfect. But that is mere recognition of identity. It is not knowledge of cause and character. There has been great progress, too, in therapeutics. New remedies of undoubted value have been discovered, and of the composition and action of all drugs much knowledge has been gained. Hahnemann's theory, that and not a theory, which confronts the effect of every medicine should be accurately ascertained, and that administration of it should be made accordingly, has been universally adopted, and prescribing is therefore done far more intelligently than of

To write up the history of this village, or attempt to give to the public a correct statement of important events extending back into the sixteen or seventeen hundreds, would be an impossibility; in fact, with all I can find from but few records, the balance from the older residents of this vicinity—the limited resources at hand the size of the yillage, and the writer of this article, all about in the same line, the public must not expect much or it will be disappointed.

I will here state that at request of my friend, the Editor of the "Record," to write up the history of Middleburg, I consented, but have found a two-fold difficulty in getting facts sufficient to make up a creditable showing. First, I do not profess to be a writer of history, and second, with but two or three exceptions, no one whom I approached could furnish me with any particulars whatever pertaining to our early history. I shall, therefore, give to my readers what I have collected; a small amount of interesting reading, 'tis true, but I

There are some very old buildings within a half mile of here, owned by Mr. John Bowman who is now (1895) eighty-three years of age; he informs me that his buildings were put up previous to 1800; they were built with round logs and hewed after the building was up, inside and out, and then chinked and mortared; the barn still has on a straw roof, and is the only one in this part of the country-in any in the county llke it.

of 1812, but furnished a substitute. About the year 1800, as near as there can be an account given, a log Union church was built by the people of the neighborhood, and was also used as a school house up to 1860, when it was torn down, and a brick house built by Thos. F. Cover, (contractor) instead, and that one has been replaced by a double room, first-class house in 1889.

One event Middleburg District can ever be proud of, and which will never down or go out of date, even if we are a "small fry" of a town, and that is, the author of "The Star Spangled Banner"—Francis Scott Key-was born near Emmmitsburg, and reared in this district, near Keys-ville, formerly part of Frederick county, to which this part of Carroll be-

The balance of the money was raised by subscription from the general public of the neighborhood of all denominations, in amounts of from fifty cents up to fifty dollars, I find on lists in the hands of Mrs. Isabella Lynn and Charles H. Don't Use Big Words.

In promulgating your asoteric cogi tations, and in articulating your su-perficial sentimentalities, amicable philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your conversational communications possess a clarified conciseness, a compacted comprehensibleness, a coalescent consistency, and a concatenating cogency. Eschev all conglomerations of flatulent gar rulity, jejune babblement and asi-nine affectations. Let your extem-poraneous decantings and unpremed iated expatiations have intelligibility and vernacious vivacity, without rhodomontade or thrasonical bombast. Seduously avoid all polysyllaable profundity, pompous prolixity, psittaceous vacuity, ventrilloqual verbosity, and vaniloquent vapidity.
