CARROLL CO. C. E. CONVENTION.

(Reported for the RECORD.)

The Carroll County C. E. Union opened their ninth semi-annual conwention in the Lutheran church in Westminster, on Wednesday evening, October 16th. The topic for the evening was "Fitness for Service." The services were led by Rev. Chas. A. Oliver, of York, Pa. There was a large extenders and an intense and large attendance and an intense and growing interest in all the services of the convention felt from the very be-

The sunrise prayer meeting Friday held in the Methodist Protestant church. The principal features of the Thursday morning's services were, the convention sermon, a fine address by the Rev. Dr. Dunbar, of Baltimore, and an earnest appeal to Endeavorers by Rev. Mr. Oliver, entitled "Personal work for souls." Even at these opening meetings it was felt that the Holy Spirit was present and that this convention would be a success, not only in point of numbers and interest, but in per-

Carriage Shops; also at 5 o'clock in the even ing at the beautiful chapel of the Western Maryland College. At the jail after the prayer meeting, two Endeavorers went into the cells to have a personal talk with the prisoners, and were locked in. These prayer meetings were all organized by Rev. Chas. A. Oliver, of York, Pa. They added very much to the spiritual tone of the convention, and it was elt that they not only did good to the Endeavorers, but also to unsaved people, several of whom asked for the prayers of the Endeavorers, and promised to lead a better life.

BILLMYER-SMITH. [Special to the RECORD.]

A very pretty wedding took place in the M. P. church, Union Bridge, on Wednesday afternoon. It was the marriage of Miss Josephine, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith, and Mr. C. C. Billmyer, second son of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Billmyer. Promptly at 4 o'clock, the bridal party entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and were met at the altar by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Murray, During the ceremony, "Oh, Promise Me" was layed on the organ by Miss Ethel Billmyer, sister of the groom. As the couple left the altar, Lohengrin March was played. The bride wore an ivory silk trimmed with ribbon and pearl ornaments, and carried Marechal Neil roses. The groom wore the usual black costume. The bride wore as a traveling dress, green novelty with gloves and hat to match.

The church was trimmed with potted plants and autumn leaves and

PIPE ORGAN DEDICATED.

The large pipe organ recently placed in the Reformed church was dedicated last Sunday morning with appropriate ceremonies. A special order of worship for the consecration of an organ, by Rev. Henry Harbaugh, was used by the pastor, Rev. A. Bateman. The church was crowded to the doors, and extra chairs and benches were carried in to accommodate the large assembly.

The first note sounded on the organ, was an "Amen" at the end of the special service, and the next was in 'Gloria in Excelsis." Prof. Edward I. morning was also held in this church.

President Cleveland, and a select party left Washington on Monday night for the Atlanta Exposition. The train is one of the best that ever has been run out of Washington. It consisted of the private car "Wildwood," the car used by President Pullman when his own car is in the shops. It consisted of a very large stateroom, a dining-room and a large compartment at the rear suitable for an observation car. It could be used for making speeches, although it is expected none will be made from the rear of the train. Warehime, executor of tors for five cents per ton advance Sarah Reigel, deceased, settled first, over the present price. This was refused, and last week a general strike was determined upon. The territory affected extends from Cambria to Dubois. The strike leaders counsel a policy of peace, and believe they can win without any resort to violence or intimidation. The miners in the Youghiogheny region are out on strike, and 2,000 men are idle. The strike was precipitated by a reduction by the operators in the scale recently agreed upon of 56 cents a ton. The operators say they cannot pay over 51 cents and the miners say they'll have to if they want any coal taken affected in that region except the Washington coal and coke company's Lynn plant and the Luce and Baugh STULLER.—On the 15th, near Pleasant Valley, John Stuller, aged 59 that a considerable number of persons of money and list of debts and received orders to sell real estate and mines near Uniontown, Pa. CORBETT AND Fitzsimmons are at present engaged in making Govern or's famous. Let us hope that at the same time they are making themselves and their profession infamous.

ONLY TEN days more of the annual agony, then we will know who will be chosen, and who will be left. It is to be hoped, that, after November 5th., and after the display of roosters and big type, that our country exchanges will take off the old strings, and play us a different tune.

Miss Francis Willard, the noted temperance advocate, suggests Theodore Roosevelt for a presidential candidate. She also holds the idea that the Prohibition party should change its name to the Home Protection party, because the word prohibition is distasteful to Americans, and has furnished the pulpit with an excuse to cease advocating the principles of with the campaign fund contributed prohibition. She thinks "Home Pro- probably by people who meant it to tection" popular and attractive, and be legitimately used, shields the gang contains an argument in itself.

GENERAL SHERMAN has written a fraud has been committed, that many book, entitled, "Forty years recollections in the House, Senate and Cabinet." Why not Contribute?

We have repeatedly asked the publie for contributions to our columns, of a character which would be of general interest, and possibly give rise to friendly discussion, but have received very few articles of this kind DR. G. T. MOTTER, so far. It is our aim to make the RECORD popular; to a liberal extent, an organ for ventilating the views of its patrons, and not wholly sacred to the use of the editor and his ideas.

We do not care particularly for either religious or political articles, as they are very apt to be objectionable to many of our readers, nor do we want to advertise the principles of any particular organization of any character; yet there are certainly many topics not within the prohibited bounds, which might appropriately appear in a department set aside for the purpose. This space we will cheerfully give, if the opportunity presents itself.

The evenings are lengthening, and, as amusements and means of passing time are not plentiful in this place, why not write something for publication? One of the disappointments the editor of the RECORD has met in his work, is a marked lack of assistance from the people in the matter of contributions—a fact certainly not necessitated from existing conditions.

There are many persons within the limits of our subscription list, who can, and should, write for us, occasionally at least. It is a mistake to think that a newspaper does not need more than liberal subscription and advertising patronage, to make it a success. It needs this, certainly, but it needs equally as well, the active personal interest of the people expressed in different ways in its columns. If it does not get this, it is apt to become narrow minded and prosy, or "big headed"-which is worse than all.

A very intelligent criticism on our paper was given recently, when one of our subscribers was asked, "How do you like the paper ?" He answered; "very well, only it has not improved much since the first issue,' and this is very nearly true. The management is now considering a move which will be a considerable improvement - increased size - but this alone will not make a better paper. We want more to put in it, and again cordially invite our friends to contribute, to the end that the REC-ORD may in the near future, be spoken of as the best paper published in Carroll county.

The Wedding Crop.

So far, the month of October has produced an unusual number of marriage events, and the months to follow are equally promising, so far as this county is concerned. This is a hopeful sign, in many respects, particularly in the fact that marriage has an elevating effect on young people, and makes them responsible and useful citizens, with permanent objects in view. Every marriage, which is not a failure, is a barrier against evil influences and vice, and, for this reason, early marriage may be said to be very desirable unless there are other more serious objections than youth. Getting married is like a good many other proper things-harder to do, when put off; therefore, don't delay, young people, but get tied together and start out to be of some consequence in the world.

Just one word more; don't run off, or get married on the sly-it isn't want to make a swell splurge at either church or home, you certainly can have a quiet modest ceremony at kinds but find Chamberlain's the either place, and avoid acting like a thief. There are too many important events happening in rapid succession nowadays, for a sly wedding to excite much surprise-they fall flat like a joke at which no one laughs. Get married by all means, but don't experiment with any but regulation methods. Pay the minister and the printer-if possible-particularly the Honest Elections.

Difference in political views, however strongly defined and adhered to. between citizens of a state, should not go a step beyond a desire for an honest expression of the will of the majority at the polls, and to have that verdict honestly counted and returned. Respectable citizens of all parties should demand this, and the certainly unfit to hold a public trust, if they do not oppose in advance, such schemes as colonization, repeating, bribery and false registration.

Such violations of law are possibly committed chiefly by criminals, bullies and heelers, yet the directing power and the real criminal, is the party boss or organization, which, under its garb of respectability, and which it has set in operation, and denies so loudly and indignantly that good people are pursuaded to believe in the purity of their party organiza- 127 ACRES, NEARLY ALL CLEAR. tion, when the exact opposite is true.

the majority, and "good government". is enlisting the attention of many people, irrespective of party affiliation, all over the country. Last year a change was inaugurated in New York, and Tammany domination was dethroned-partially at least-and it remains to be seen whether it was emporarily, or not. It is said that the same condition exists in our own Baltimore that existed in New York, and that elections there have not been honest, and will not be honest this year. The question of fair elections is not a question of party principles, and no party should have for its motto "success at any cost." Let us hope that repeating, and fraud in whatever form it may appear, may not smirch the result in Maryland in An Unusual Case.

This is some thing novel, and at first sight it seems preposterous to think that the proseeutor has any case at all.

There is, however, a question to be decided, either by the Post-office Department or the courts. In the form of application to the Post-office Department, which every publisher must fill before his paper will be admitted in the mails at pound rates, occurs the following question: "Can any house in good standing advertise in your publication at the regular published rates?" This question must be answered affirmatively before the application is accepted.

This is the point raised in this case, and it will be pushed to a legal decision. The prosecutor claims that the refusal by a publisher to accept a legitimate advertisement at regular rates, subjects said publisher to prosecution for damages, and for viola- which will be open for inspection and tion of the provisions of the law sale on the above date.

The post-office department officials decline to make a ruling until a special case is regularly brought before them but the rule hands of our customers brought before them, but the unofficial opinion seems to be that the question asked publishers, is simply at the Lowest Possible Cost, and if to gain a general idea of the characercise any governmental control over a publisher's business. The case will likely cause a modification of this particular question in publisher's applications for use of mails.

supposition has caused much destruction of fine china. No one can do any work worth doing properly without thought, care and some system. Dishwashing requires a good-sized sink, two dishpans, one of proper size to set in the sink and one to put on a table near by, an abundance of heavy linen towels, some glass towels, dish mops and disheloths. The disheloth should be of strong linen. Stair crash is excellent for this purpose. It soon becomes soft enough to be flexible, and wears better than anything else. Make these cloths about ten or twelve inches long, of narrow crash, and hem them so they will not fray when they are put through the laundry. If dishes are gathered up in order and properly scraped it saves half the trouble of washing. Greasy or fishy dishes ought to be scraped and wiped off with pieces of paper, which should be burned up at once. It takes only a little time to wipe away grease, but saves the presence of this same grease in the dishwater, where it clings to the pan and is likely to get on breadplates and other dishes that are comparatively clean. Fish always infects dishcloths and towels if the dishes that have contained it are not thoroughly wiped with paper before being Presbyterian Church. -Beginning *April | washed. Microbes and Slates. In the good old days, when there were no microbes, it would not have been thought possible that school could be kept at all without slate and slate pencils. The slate, it is not too much to say, has been the cornerstone of the common school system of America, and has stood at the foundation of what that education has accomplished. Now it seems that microbes are going to drive the slate out of our educational system, together with the slate pencil and the sponge. The Board of Health has directed that the use of all three shall be discontinued, as a means of preventing the spread of contagious diseases, and that paper and lead pencils shall take their place. We trust that the Board has considered well this proposed abolishment of one of the most cherished of American institutions, and has taken into account its effect on the development of the American schoolboy's character and intellect. We are unable to say precisely what part the slate and slate pencil (the sponge may be left out of the question, its functions having usually been performed by SURREYS, other methods and agencies that will readily occur to those bred to the use of the slate in infancy) have played in the foundation of character, but we fear that the sudden removal of an element that has been so important and so prominent in the educational activities of a nation cannot be effected without a loss of some kind. We can only hope that the Board's expectations will be justified, and that a stand can be made against the miside and inside, first rubbing off any slate and slate pencil.—New York crobes that will justify the loss of the Doctor Does.

The one great fault with all Liver Pills is that they act suddenly and sharply instead of quietly and continuously. They produce a violent relief and then leave you weakened, with an empty stomach and no appetite for food. This is not what a doctor does.

Every physician prescribes a powerful remedy for a disordered liver, but he then orders also a strengthening tonic, which acts as a purifier, restoring the appetite, toning up the system, and making you feel like a new creature.

This is exactly what is done by Ramon's Tonic Liver Pilis and Ramon's Tonic Pellets. Two boxes, two separate medicines, and both at the cost of one. A three weeks' treatment for 25c. Ask your druggist about it. Atalldealers, ormail, for 25c., 5 boxes $1.00. BROWN MFG. CO., New York.

In the private grave yard of the Lynn's, near Middleburg, are buried, Abraham Lynn, born in Berks Co., Pa., July 4th., 1771 and died May 9th., 1827; Hannah Lynn, born in 1800 and died in 1857; Joseph, Daniel, and Lewis F. Lynn are also buried there.

Abraham L. Lynn, is buried in the M. E. cemetery, Middleburg, aged 27 years, 7 months and 23 days. He was a son of Joseph Lynn, for many years a hotel keeper of the town, and was murdered by Joseph Davis on April 15th., 1872, at Englar's, or Stoner's mill, near McKinstry's Mills. Davis was also a native of Middleburg neighborhood. The circumstances of the murder are still fresh in the minds of many. Lynn was killed by being knocked into a wheat sink in the mill while in a stooping posture. The trial was first held in Westminster and then removed to Hagerstown, and resulted in the conviction and hanging of Davis. In October 1862, a draft took place in the state of Maryland, ordered by the government at Washington. Car roll county's quota to be furnished was 210. Those who conducted the draft were Commissioner Reese, assisted by Sheriff Babylon and Deputy Sheriff Stem; those drafted from Middleburg district were, Chas. F. Myers, Frederick Mehring, John Stambaugh, Chas. A. Waesche, Valentine Har-man, S. M. McAllister, John A. Mackley, David Mackley, James H. Koons, George Winters, A. S. Zentz, Edward F. Woods, Josiah Sheets, Thomas Forney, Joshua Ohler, Thomas L. Allison and Hezekiah Harman, nearly all of whom furnished substitutes.

There was a second draft made later on, of which I can give no account. On the twenty-ninth of June, 1863, three days before the battle of Gettysburg commenced, the center of the army of the Potomac passed through this place, on and by way of Taneytown. The night of the twenty-

Right here I must not omit one of the most important facts; one too, which I would have been very much tysburg resulted differently. Here on the south bank of Big Pipe Creek would have been fought a desperate battle—a battle—a battle—to cover Washington.

On the marging of the thirtisth of the store of the store of the store. He had not the store of the store. He had not the store of the sto On the morning of the thirtieth of June, 1863, engineers and officers of Head-quarters, together with my father, Peter Koons, (now deceased) went in the rear of the barn on the hill, and examined a large map.

My father gave to the engineers the situation of every hill, ravine and crossing, every turn made in the creek's course for about tour miles, as a battle ground, which map is in the records of the Army of the Potomac on file in Washington, D. C. He was well known as a Union man, and as such, the officers above mentioned could easily make known their business; they told him that a battle would take place north of here, when, they did not know, but if beaten, here on Pipe Creek would be the stand made to cover Washington.

He was cautioned not to disclose what took place on the hill until the war was over, and he never told it to any one until that time; then he said if General Meade would have been whipped at Gettysburg we would likely have had to make a sudden move; he then told his family about the map made on the hill, and the If you want her don't be afraid to say part he had been requested to act in it, as above stated.

The Potomac Synod was organized in 1873, and embraces the churches in Southern Pennsylvania, Maryland, bids international and interstate carand West Virginia, also controlling missions in several distant states. It numbers about 160 ministers and congregations, aggregating a member-ship of 36,000. About one hundred and fifty delegates were present.

On Wednesday the standing committees for the ensuing year were appointed, and the Board of Education eported that the work had been successfully carried on during the year, number of young men having been aided in their studies for the ministry In the afternoon, Rev. Dr. Eschbach reported that the Women's College was in good condition, and that 141 pupils were enrolled. The total income was $12,296.12, and expenditures $11,955.74, for the year. The Maryland Classis of the Reformed church met in connection with the synod, and considered the commission of Licentiate Christopher Noss to the missionary work in Japan. A large congregation assembled in the church in the evening to witness the ceremony of his ordination. Rev. W. E. Hoy, missionary to Sendia, Japan, delivered the address, and Rev. James I. Good, president of the Board of Foreign Missions, delivered the charge to the missionary-elect, to which the Rev. Mr. Noss responded. The new missionary, who was recently married, will sail, with his bride, for Japan December 1st.

Thursday was mission day; the secretary of the Foreign Missionary board reported a membership of 2000, a college, theological seminary and girls' school at Sendai, Japan. A debt of $10.000 has been paid, but more money is yet needed. Home mission work to be a section of the sect work was also reported in a satisfac-tory condition, and the general work of Missions was commended to the liberality of the people. One hundred and twenty-six missions are under charge of the home mission board, and $9000. was expended for this branch. For Foreign Missions, $5,100 was assumed toward carrying on the

The Lotteries Dead.

John L. Thomas, assistant attorney general for the Postoffice Depart-ment, has made his annual report to the Postmaster-General. Of the operations of his office, he says that during the year, 278 "fraud" orders were issued, prohibiting the delivery of registered packages and the payment of money orders to certain companies and parties named. The orders were issued against 55 lotteries operated by so-called bond investment companies, 12 avowed lotteries, 21 lotteries of a miscellaneous character, and 130 schemes devised to de-fraud the public. Mr. Thomas says that the act of March 2, 1896, further The annuitants number forty-two, to amending the lottery act, has been whom was disbursed $2,633.42. This department has no jurisdiction, however, to enforce that part of the law and I cannot state definitely the extent is able to the state of the law and I cannot state definitely the extent is able to the state of the law and I cannot state definitely the extent to which the lottery carrying business has been checked by the act, but I am informed that most, if not all, of the express companies yield obedience to it by refusing to carry prohibited lottery matter.

"It may be confidently asserted that the death-knell of the avowed lotteries in this country has been sounded and their business has been vastly crippled, if not ruined. But I am sorry to note the fact that many ousiness men think they must in order to succeed resort to schemes that appeal to the gambling spirit of the people, and they accordingly sugar-coat their legitimate enterprises with lottery advertisements and thus create a desire for other and more pernicious modes of obtaining something for nothing by hazard or chance. These faccinating and apparently innocent schemes reach the boys and girls of the land and tend to make them gamblers."

"Pa, I ought to have a new dress, and I like this very much. Don't you think we could afford to buy it?" "Oh, I suppose so," replied the old man, and he thereupon asked the clerk the price. He was told it was fifty cents a yard. Old Mr. Jones raised his eyes at this, and asked his wife how much it would take. Let me explain once again, why I am still buying goods and at the same time advertising a special 'closing out" sale. Just as soon as I am sure of a purchaser for next Spring, I shall not buy a dollar's worth more; but, suppose I allow my stock to become broken up, and exhausted in certain lines, my customers will buy elsewhere and perhaps become permanant customers; then, next spring if I am compelled to con tinue, I will not only have lost a lot of money, but my trade will have drifted away. I am compelled, therefore, to keep up my whole stock, at the beginning of the season at least, so that the most of my customers may be supplied as usual; but, from now on, very little if any Clothing will be bought, The "Red Mark" is on new, as well as old stock.
