

THE TANEYTON RECORD.

Vol. 2., No. 28.

TANEYTON, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1896.

$1.00 Per Year.

Locals and Personals.

The pike question will be approved by the Harney end.

Mr. Alfred Anders, of Church St., is seriously ill with rheumatic fever.

The week of prayer services in the protestant churches, have been well attended during the week.

The many students who spent their Christmas vacation at home, have returned to their various places of study.

Harry L. Klein, who has been bartering in New Oxford and Gettysburg for several years, has returned to his home in this place.

Taneytown was not largely represented at the inauguration. The cold weather prevented many from going, who fully intended doing so.

Our skatorists have been executing many fancy figures on nearby streams during the week. The best work was done in the "star" line.

Those who had not filled their ice houses at the last freeze, have now completed the job. The ice is very fine and clear, and of a good thickness.

On Thursday, Mr. E. Irwin Motter of Kansas city, Mrs. A. A. Hack, and Misses Gertrude and Alice Annan of Emmitsburg, were the guests of Dr. G. T. Motter.

Mr. Ernest Angell of this place has purchased the fixtures and good will of Mr. Edward Eckard's Union Bridge barber shop. Mr. Clint Eckard will remain in charge as usual.

Executors and administrators please remember that you can have all necessary legal notices published in the RECORD. Do not take this patronage away from home.

A number of correct solutions to the box problem has been received. G. W. F., Littlestown, says; "my pencil will do 22,627 inches square." Correct, George, but who held the pencil?

The supply of paper on which the RECORD is printed will last several weeks, after which we hope to have a more satisfactory grade. Commissions from far and near have been frequently received.

Thomas D. Thomson has been circulating a petition for appointment as Registrar of Voters for this district, and John T. Fogle is a candidate for Justice of the Peace. There are no other active applicants for these positions, so far as heard from.

On Monday, Messrs Thad Crapner, Frank Lefever, and Matthew Galt, returned to Maryland Agricultural College, and on Tuesday, Miss Virginia R. Motter, to Wilson College, Chambersburg, Pa., and Misses Bessie and Rietta Reinhold, to Irving College, Mechanicsburg, Pa.

The editor would like the ladies, and others, who do not as a rule read editorials, to read the one in this issue on "Two points of view." It may possibly lead to a better appreciation of some of the things one has to think of in making up a paper.

Wm. T. Haugh, of Waynesboro, who recently invented a car fender, has now in course of construction, a combined street sweeper and sprinkler. It is on four wheels, and can be operated by one man and two horses. It sweeps the streets, and dumps the sweepings along the side in piles of about a cartload, and at the same time, sprinkles right after the sweepers, thus keeping the dust from rising. As Mr. Haugh is an old Taneytown boy, we feel interested in his inventions, and wish him great success.

Mr. Joshua Koutz, one of the Board of Town Commissioners, received a severe fall in front of Smith's home on Monday night, while going home from a meeting of the Board, which resulted in a dislocated wrist. Mr. T. D. Thomson also received a hard fall early on Sunday morning. While going down into the cellar under the Presbyterian church, in order to build the furnace fire, he stepped off the side of the steps, and fell to the bottom with great force, fortunately receiving nothing more than severe bruises.

We have received from the Maryland Road League, a pamphlet containing the report of the Legislative committee of the league, and copies of two acts for the improvement of the roads in the state, which will be presented before the present legislature. One provides for the appointment of a state road engineer, at a salary of $4000 a year, and the other for the appointment in each County, of a Board of three or five, which will have entire charge of the construction and maintenance of all highways and bridges in the county. Each of the acts contain many minor provisions and details.

We are indebted to Mr. Harry Eckerde of San Diego, Cal., for copies of the San Diego Union, and the Capital, a high class weekly magazine, published in Los Angeles. The former is an altogether up-to-date daily, while the latter is a beautiful specimen of the printing art, magnificently illustrated with photo-gravures of the leading citizens, male and female. From a critical examination of the many handsome faces, we are led to believe that this section of California is largely peopled by Marylanders. We have also received from Mr. T. B. Reinhold, Santa Rosa, Cal., a copy of The Porcupine, a monthly, published by the Santa Rosa High School; it is a very fair specimen of the College monthy, and contains illustrations of the interior of the various departments of the school.

NOTES FROM EVERYWHERE.

Items of current news boiled down, for busy readers.

The right of way for the Frederick and Middleton electric railway, cost $8000.

The President on Saturday signed the pro-lamation which admits Utah as a state.

The Potomac, at Williamsport, is frozen solid from shore to shore, and for miles in either direction, the ice is about eight inches in thickness.

There are at present in the State of Maryland 294,744 children attending the schools. Of these 78, 275 are in Baltimore and 128,469 in the twenty-three counties in the State.

George H. Baer, treasurer of the Western Maryland Railroad, died on Saturday night at his residence near Pikeville. Cause of death, pneumonia and consequent heart failure.

Renner's store and postoffice at New Midway, Frederick county, was totally destroyed by fire on Monday night. Loss from $3500, to $4000, covered by insurance. The postoffice records and nearly all the stamps were saved.

The divorced wife of James J. Corbett, was married quietly last month to Frederick L. Masury, of New York city, a millionaire. On the day of her marriage, she wrote to the legal representative of her former husband, releasing him from the payment of any further alimony.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mehring, of Littlestown, gave a Christmas surprise dinner at the Central Hotel, to their son-in-law, Charles H. Basehoor and his family. After dinner Mr. Mehring presented his daughter, Mrs. Basehoor with the deed to his farm in Mt. Joy township as a Christmas gift. Hanover Record.

The year 1896 will be a leap year. There will be two eclipses of the moon and two of the sun. February 19th, will be Ash Wednesday, and April 5th, Easter Sunday. Decoration Day and Fourth of July will fall on Saturday, two days of rest each time. February will include five Saturdays, which will not occur again until 1936.

The proposed farmers market in Baltimore, is being pushed along and the subject gone into in detail. The object is for the farmer to sell direct to the housekeeper, and secure better prices than under the present system. It is also said that the consumer will thus get fresher goods. It is proposed to erect buildings on the stock plan, and rent stalls to farmers only.

The avowed candidates for the United States Senatorship, are Hon. Geo. L. Wellington, Col. T. C. Mullikin, State Senators Westcott and Dryden, and Mr. Goldsborough. With the exception of Wellington, all are eastern shore men. A caucus will likely be held on Friday night, when the Lyceum at Sandy Springs on Monday, Mr. Charles F. Brooke was elected chairman and Mr. J. J. Shoemaker secretary. The report of the secretary showed that over eleven thousand two hundred policies were in force, representing about $18,000,000 insurance, on which premiums were received amounting to $64,000.

At the regular meeting of the Directors of the Littlestown Savings Institution, on last Thursday, the Cashier of the Bank, Mr. J. Arthur Jones tendered his resignation, the same to go into effect after twenty days. Mr. Jones has been offered a very lucrative position in the bank at Irwin, Pa., in which he worked previous to coming here. Mr. Jones came here several months ago and took charge of our bank, and since that time has proven himself one of the best of bankers, as well as a most courteous gentleman. He has made many friends during his stay here who will see him leave with regret, if he is to leave. But wherever he may go we wish him success.—Independent.

John, Alias "Tag" Wilson, who escaped from the Howard county jail on December 8th, was captured on Tuesday by chance. After breaking out of jail, he wandered into Carroll county, and was taken with pneumonia near Westminster. He went to the Alms House under the name of Wallace, and on his recovery, was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction for vagrancy. On Tuesday, as deputy sheriff Blizard brought him into the B. & O. depot, Baltimore, on his road to the above institution, detective Lilley recognized the prisoner as Wilson, and he was taken back to Westminster jail to wait the action of Howard county authorities.

The three republican members of the sub-committee on pensions of the House committee on appropriations, Messrs Stone, of Pennsylvania, Northway, of Ohio, and Blue, of Kansas, have had a conference with Commissioner Loehren over the pension appropriation bill. Mr. Stone proposes to attach to the bill a clause designed to prevent summary reductions and suspensions of pensions by providing that no pension shall be reduced, suspended or dropped except for fraud in obtaining the pension, established by the verdict of a jury. Commissioner Loehren is opposed to the amendment, believing it would greatly hamper the operations of the bureau and work an injustice to honest pensioners.

LOWNDES INAUGURATED.

The First Republican Governor of Maryland.

Hon. Lloyd Lowndes was inaugurated Governor of Maryland on Wednesday, his official life beginning at 12:22 p. m., when he signed his name in the test book at the end of the prescribed oath, which was administered by Chief Justice Robinson. He left Cumberland on Tuesday, where the day was celebrated as a regular holiday; business was generally suspended, and the people seemed bent on giving their honored citizen a royal demonstration on his departure for Annapolis. He was escorted to the depot by the local authorities, bands of music, and about half the population of the city. At various places at which the train stopped, crowds of people had assembled, and greeted him with enthusiastic cheers. At Washington he held an impromptu reception, and a number of distinguished gentlemen accompanied him to Baltimore.

On the arrival of the train in Baltimore, Mr. Lowndes and wife drove to the Stafford, the other members of the family and party having been taken direct to Annapolis, on the private car which was switched off at Annapolis Junction, where it was met by Governor Brown. After a brief rest, the governor-elect went to the residence of General Thomas J. Shroyok, where a dinner was given in his honor.

On Wednesday morning, he had as a special escort from the hotel to the depot, the Fifth Regiment Veteran Corps and the Young Men's Republican Club, which also accompanied the party to Annapolis on the same train. On the arrival there, the escort was augmented by the Naval Reserves and many other organizations, which had arrived by steamers and other means. A monster procession was then formed, which marched in review, around State Circle, and past the reviewing stand, after which the Governor-elect accompanied by his special escort, repaired to the State House for the inaugural ceremonies, which took place in the Senate chamber, in the presence of Senators, members of the House, and Judges of the Court of Appeals.

Previous to the inaugural ceremonies Mr. Lowndes and Governor Brown appeared on the east-door stand, and the latter at the request of the former, delivered a brief farewell address, which was largely a resume of his administration. At the close of his remarks, he introduced the Governor-elect, who delivered a clear out address, declaring that so far as he was concerned, campaign pledges should be fully carried out, and appealed to the members of the legislature to assist him in obeying the voice of the people as it was expressed at the polls.

After the oath was administered, the party repaired to the executive chamber where a brief time was spent in making preparation to proceed to the executive mansion. When they were ready to start it was found that the crowd had not dispersed, and the aid of the police was necessary to clear a way for the Governor, who even then was compelled to use both hands in a hand-shaking exhibition with the cheering multitude. This ordeal continued fully twenty minutes before the mansion was reached.

The enthusiasm of the crowds which thronged the streets of the ancient city while these ceremonies were going on was tremendous. The oldest inhabitant said he knew of nothing like it. Long after the ceremonies were over and after the parade which marked their close, was dismissed, men paraded with brass bands and "whooped it up for Lloyd," as one of them expressed it. Houses in every part of the town were decorated, and those along which the parade passed were lavished in their displays of bunting. Pictures of the new Governor, framed in evergreen, were displayed in every part of the old town.

The weather was all that could be wished, and the weather man, who had put a damper on the hopes of many ardent republicans by announcing that it was going to rain, was denounced as a "false prophet." The sun shone brightly all day and the air was crisp and "nipping," without a suggestion of rain or dampness.

Birthday Party.

(Special to the RECORD.)

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Myers of Treverian gave a birthday party to their daughter Miss Fannie Bell on Jan. 3rd. About 7.30 p. m. the invited guests began to arrive and birthday gifts were then presented. It is needless to say that the gifts were useful, as well as ornamental. Crokinole, parachee, etc. were played, and vocal and instrumental music rendered. The refreshments consisted of ice cream cake, confectionery, and fruit. So well entertained were the guests that when the midnight hour approached none were anxious to leave. After bidding the family good night, the guests departed after having spent an enjoyable evening.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Myers, Misses Fannie, Nettie, and Ida Crouse, Julia Lassell, Ann Shaw, Marietta Lassel, and Messrs John Starr, Harry Reese, Wm. R. Zollieffer, James H. Wassel, and T. C. Routson.

A Simple Egg Question.

Tom took to market 85 eggs, Dick 45, and Harry 55. All sold their eggs at the same prices, and each received exactly the same amount of money. How was it done?

HARNEY WANTS THE PIKE.

A good letter from our lively correspondent.

We notice in last week's issue of the RECORD, that there is some talk of extending the pike from Taneytown to Harney. We are confident that this would meet with the most hearty approval of our citizens, and perhaps some of our moneyed men would be willing to take stock in the company if one is organized. We certainly think that it would be a good paying investment, as there is an immense amount of travel on this road, and every person would be willing to pay for the use of a good pike, instead being compelled to haul heavy loads through mud, hub deep, especially in the spring of the year, when the frost is coming out of the ground.

It is altogether probable that there will be several houses left unoccupied again this year. This should not be, but when you take into consideration the fact that our property owners do not have self pride enough, but they too often make an attempt to fix up the side walks, and make at least a few other small improvements, that all know would add very much to the attractiveness of the place, it is not at all surprising that houses are left to stand idle, but it is a great wonder that there are not more idle than there are. We would just say, come together, property owners, fix up your houses so that people need not be afraid of breaking their necks by attempting to go in and out, give us good sidewalks and a few more street lights, make your rents so that people can afford to pay them, and you will find that your property will always be in demand. Every person knows that a property will go down sooner if it is left idle, than it will if it is occupied by some good honest working man, who takes a pride in seeing his home look nice. Therefore every wise property owner will acknowledge at once that it would be far better to get enough rent at least to pay the taxes and insurance, than to get nothing and pay these necessary expenses out of their own pockets. Then of course, all know that if an idle house is destroyed by fire no insurance will be paid for the loss.

Miss Catharine Hewson, an aged maiden lady, died on Tuesday morning, at the house of her sister, Mrs. Sell, in the 72nd year of her age. There were four brothers and three sisters in the family; the youngest is 59 years old, the oldest 74 or 75. There were two bachelors, two widows, and one maiden lady. Their grand-father died at the age of 104, and their father at 83. Miss Catharine was formerly a member of the Reformed church at Emmitsburg, but being unable to attend church for a number of years, she failed to keep up her membership. Her remains were interred in Mountain View Cemetery on Thursday morning. Funeral services were conducted in St. Paul's Lutheran church, by Rev. Bateman of Taneytown.

Mr. Charles Eckerde, who has been home spending the Christmas vacation, returned to Rock Hill College on Thursday.

Prof. Henry Meier started his night school in this place, on Tuesday evening, with six pupils. The school will be open every Tuesday and Thursday evening, during the term. This is a grand opportunity for you, young people, and should be highly appreciated. We therefore hope that many more will unite with the class.

The new Cardinal, Satolli.

Cardinal Satolli received the red beretta, the second insignia of the cardinalate, at the hands of Cardinal Gibbons on Sunday in the Baltimore Cathedral. The honor was conferred by orders of the Pope with all the circumstance and grandeur which make such events magnificent. The great building was packed to its utmost, and hundreds were unable to gain admission. Archbishop Keane, of St. Louis, was the orator of the day. Cardinal Gibbons and Monsignor Sharette delivered presentation addresses, to which the new Cardinal made a feeling response. During his brief stay heretofore, in America, Cardinal Satolli has been most frequently mentioned as the "most eligible," or the first American "Delegatus Apostolicus."

A portion of Archbishop Keane's address is as follows: "During his sojourn in the United States he has applied himself to a thorough study of the American church, and familiarized himself with its practical workings under our peculiar form of government. He has observed how it flourishes under the genial skies of a really free country, unshattered in the exercise of all its God-given rights and its divinely conferred powers of development and expansion. He has seen, and seen only to admire, what we Americans are so justly proud of—genuine liberty of worship. When he bids adieu to our shores, he will carry with him the conviction, which he will never lose, that the American church has the church so promising a field for the exercise of her divine mission, because nowhere else is she so free as under the sky of this great republic."

Therefore, in Cardinal Satolli, who knows so well and appreciates so thoroughly our enviable situation, the clergy and laity will ever have a staunch friend and advocate. From his own personal experience, he is equipped with the necessary knowledge to advise the government, and the august person of our Holy Father will enable him to advance such measures as will best insure her continued prosperity, that she may ever wield her full influence for her welfare, no one can doubt who knows how much he has that welfare at heart. There cannot, then, but be some element of self-interest in our tending to him, as we all do most cordially today, our congratulations on his elevation to the cardinalate, and in his heartfelt wish and prayer that God may bless him with many years of life for the good of the church at large, and more especially for the good of the church in the United States.

Correspondence.

Uniontown.

Ice houses are now all filled. Mrs. Dr. Kemp spent Sunday in Double Pipe Creek. Thomas Clyde Routson returned to Baltimore on Monday, after the Christmas vacation.

H. H. and Mrs. Brough are visiting friends in Baltimore, this week. J. Wesley Roulkey has opened a feed store.

John Banner, who for several years past has been in the West, returned home on Monday, this week. Dr. J. J. Weaver was in Baltimore, on Monday. He is looking very well, thank you.

Hezekiah Yingling who came to Uniontown to spend the holidays and incidentally to vote, returned to Baltimore last Saturday. Nevil Hitesher is in Baltimore looking up a position for himself.

Henry Hollingsworth has gone into winter quarters at the Temporary Soldier's Home, Washington, D. C. An exciting runaway occurred at Baust church on Thursday night, last week, as the people were leaving the church. Jacob Bankert backed into John Sell's buggy, as the latter was about to drive away, turning Bankert's buggy over and unloading it. The horse ran into a crowd of people on the road and severely injured Frank Carbaugh, Young Bankert and his girl, who were in the buggy at the time of the collision escaped unhurt, and Bre'er Sell took the girl home, while the other fellow hunted his horse.

Wyoming Tribe, I. O. Red Men 37, installed their officers on last Friday night. They were as follows: James Myers, Prophet; Olen Warner, Sach; Edward Wilhelm, S. Sag; Frank Rumpert, J. Sag; J. Ham, Singer; Chas. R. and Representative to Grand Council; and J. Wesley Gilbert, K. of W. The latter office has been held continuously for a number of years past by Jesse T. H. Davis, who was a most excellent officer but was obliged to decline another election because of impaired health. We believe the Tribe have selected as his successor a most excellent man.

Uniontown.

Ice houses are now all filled. Mrs. Dr. Kemp spent Sunday in Double Pipe Creek. Thomas Clyde Routson returned to Baltimore on Monday, after the Christmas vacation.

H. H. and Mrs. Brough are visiting friends in Baltimore, this week. J. Wesley Roulkey has opened a feed store.

John Banner, who for several years past has been in the West, returned home on Monday, this week. Dr. J. J. Weaver was in Baltimore, on Monday. He is looking very well, thank you.

Hezekiah Yingling who came to Uniontown to spend the holidays and incidentally to vote, returned to Baltimore last Saturday. Nevil Hitesher is in Baltimore looking up a position for himself.

Henry Hollingsworth has gone into winter quarters at the Temporary Soldier's Home, Washington, D. C. An exciting runaway occurred at Baust church on Thursday night, last week, as the people were leaving the church. Jacob Bankert backed into John Sell's buggy, as the latter was about to drive away, turning Bankert's buggy over and unloading it. The horse ran into a crowd of people on the road and severely injured Frank Carbaugh, Young Bankert and his girl, who were in the buggy at the time of the collision escaped unhurt, and Bre'er Sell took the girl home, while the other fellow hunted his horse.

Wyoming Tribe, I. O. Red Men 37, installed their officers on last Friday night. They were as follows: James Myers, Prophet; Olen Warner, Sach; Edward Wilhelm, S. Sag; Frank Rumpert, J. Sag; J. Ham, Singer; Chas. R think of besides the daily routine of home cares ere they can be their very best. The narrow sphere in which most farmer's wives live and move cannot develop vigor of thought or action.

Random Thoughts.

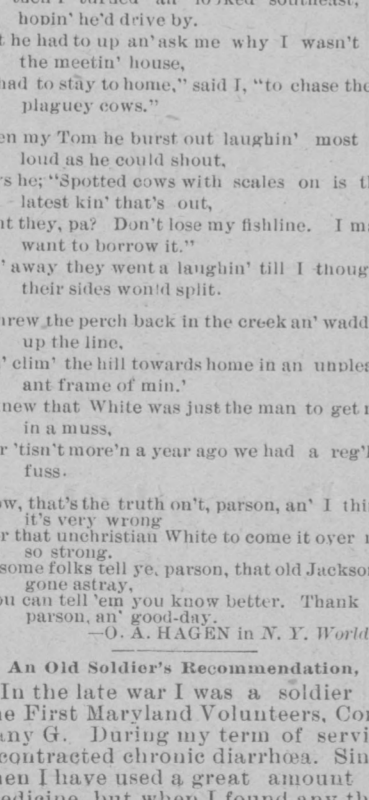

The Fall of G. C. Galt has been gathering the opinions of some of the French revolutionists concerning the new woman. "In woman I see only the mother," says Daudet—and this is exactly what the advanced woman has been complaining of.

DO YOU WANT TO BE SUITED?

There is only one thing to do, viz: Have a suit or overcoat made by a man—youth or old—we suit him to a T. There is a style about our Winter Suits, and Overcoats, that a tailor may equal, but cannot exceed—a quality that only the Best Al. Wool material offers, and a price that no other tailor can think of.

MIDDLEBURG DISTRICT.

(SUPPLEMENTARY.)
By Samuel Weybright, 1895.
PART V.

The Tom Cover of California, said to be one of the largest orange growers of that state, was a son of Daniel Cover, third son of Yost Cover, referred to in Part I. His mother was Lydia Stevenson, daughter of Josiah Stevenson, mentioned in Part II.

The first teachers at Keysville, we are informed, were, William Harris, Jacob Wiekert, Henry Six, David Roop, William Collier, Dr. Jalliet Grove, Andrew Lokes, Samuel Fuss and Andrew McKinney. The latter was the first teacher under the primary system. Our schools were conducted then under quite a different system from now. The desks were placed around the wall, with a bench to sit on, without a back. The charts to look at, were from one to a half dozen switches, lying on nails against the wall to dry, and at the teacher's command to straighten our veered backs, or remind us of our studies, and when we were disobedient.

Our schools were subscription; the teacher served as principal and directors of the school. At Christmas, if the teacher was not inclined to treat the school, the larger boys would lock him out, and if he could not get possession, he would lose his time. One of the teachers served in this style was Dr. Grove, a Thompsonian doctor, who had his home at the Key residence. Finding himself barred out, he loaded a pistol with cayenne pepper, and at a broken shutter, broke a hole in the window pane, and shot the pepper in the room, causing the boys to surrender. We remember seeing him stand four or five boys, larger in stature than himself, in a row, and fog them completely with a hickory rod.

We are informed that among the first to conduct a Sabbath school at Keysville were Francis S. Key and George Mehring, often called "Jordan" from a favorite hymn he would sing at Sunday school and prayer meetings,—"On Jordan's stormy banks I stand."

On the north corner of the Key ladd was the Landers home, later the home of our late David Roop, surveyor and scrivener, at one time County Surveyor of Frederick county, and Justice of the Peace. David Roop married Susan Grimes. After the selling of the timberland between him and the public road, he was compelled to buy a road out, as was the case with many farmers. John Snook, who lived on the north-east end of the Key farm, also bought a road out to the Keysville and Taneytown road. When they were laying off and making the road, he said, "Boys, we must make this road good for the Hagers town people to travel over." He had brought his second wife from near Hagerstown, hence the name, Hagerstown Lane.

John Snook was one of our oldest and well-known citizens, and lived to a good old age. He married Miss Rummy. His children are Mary, married to Samuel Angell; Catharine, to Jesse Anders; Elizabeth, to Valentine Doney; and John, to Davidson and Alice.

The several lots adjacent to the road, owned by Charles F. Roop, Thomas Nelson and James Fox, were sold off the estate after the death of Francis S. Key. North called "Peach Orchard," which had its bounds and locations. Ten lived there, it just commenced back of their beke-o-ven.

From reports of the Cuban rebel lion, it is likely correct that the insurgent forces have invested Havana, and that it will be but a few days before a united attack will be made against the city, in which event it is thought that it will fall into the hands of the insurgents. The Spanish troops themselves are said to be very far from feeling the justice of the cause of their country, and many desertions to the ranks of the opposite forces are reported. The Spanish General Campos has resigned, and it is said that his successor has been named, and that 40,000 more troops will be sent to Cuba. Every day the revolutionists are gaining strength, unless reports are misleading.

Germany, Russia and France, are reported to have formed an alliance against England.

MARYLAND LEGISLATURE.

The Mill begins to Grind. A large number of Bills Introduced.

TUESDAY.

The Senate met at 8 p. m., with twenty-one members present. A message was sent to the House inviting the body to be present on Wednesday at the inauguration ceremonies, also, one proposing to meet in joint session on the 14th, to elect a United States senator. The chief bill presented was one by Senator Smith, providing for free school books in the public schools.

In the House a motion was adopted that the daily sessions begin at noon, until further orders. Leaves were secured by various members to introduce a number of bills of minor importance. Mr. Cook submitted a resolution that a joint committee be appointed to inquire into the question of abolishing certain offices with in the gift of the governor, in the interest of economy in the state government, which, under the rule, was laid over. Mr. Cook also secured leave to introduce a bill providing for the election of county school commissioners by the people, and for minority representation in the county boards.

Among those present were, Miss Allie Diefendal, Danville, Va.; Misses Georgia and Nellie Dutera, Minnie and Maud Hilterbrick; Messrs Dorie Fair, Maurice Dutera, John Koons, and C. Hilterbrick; of Taneytown; Miss Ida Smith, Messrs Vernon and Carroll Smith, Thomas and Herbert Cramer, Walter Zimmerman, John Jamison, Walkersville; Misses Ella Doreus and Dessie Saxten, Woodsboro; Miss Edna Otto, Messrs Clarence Koons, Hayden Lynn, Wilbur Otto, Middleburg; Misses Mamie Eck, Mary Wagner, Hanover, Pa.; Misses Ina Barrick, New Midway; Miss Eliza R. Seasonoy, Linwood; Miss Eliza Crowne, Littlestown, Pa.; Miss Lulu Birely, Master Lewis Birely, Keysville; Messrs Ernest Ogle, Ira Gensel, Rocky Ridge; Mr. George Koons, York Road; Misses Alice and Ella Cash, Vernie Diller, Florence Eyer, Lillie Fogle, Annie and Rhoda Weant, Allie Dern, Vattie Shorb; Messrs Emory Warner, Urza Diller, John Snook, Charlie Eyer, Alva Valentine, Robert Cash, Elvin Dern, E. O. Weant, Samuel Weybright, Marlin Shorb, H. E. Weant, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Shorb, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barriok, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Koons, Double Pipe Creek.

THE FARM JOURNAL.

This is the leading monthly farm paper in the United States with over a million and a half of readers. It is a booted-down hit-the-nail-on-the-head paper that pleases everybody. It circulates everywhere, and is adapted to the needs of rural and village people from Maine to California, and from Montana to Florida, devoted to the live stock, the dairy, poultry, the garden, the orchard, the young folks and pleases the women folks all to pieces. It is practical, earnest, honest, clean and progressive, with no axe to grind, no lobby to ride. It is for the farmer and villager first, last and all the time. No partisan politics and no flattery. If you do not know the paper, and never see it, write to The Farm Journal, Philadelphia, Pa., and a copy will be sent you. No money. Or you can see a copy at our office. Our word for it you ought to take this paper.

Now we have made arrangements with the publishers of the Farm Journal by which we can place it in the hands of every subscriber to the CARROLL RECORD for the year 1896, and with it a fine portrait of Washington, as follows:
We will send both to every new subscriber to the RECORD and to every present subscriber, who will pay up all arrearages and subscribe for one year in advance, for only $1.15. Please walk right up to the Captain's office and settle.

How to make a Million.
A sprightly little sheet called Results, published in Chicago, devoted to advertising, gives an account of a meeting of prominent business men in St. Louis. It was, in fact, a meeting of commercial clubs of several cities, and among those present were a number of millionaires who were interviewed with the question: "How can a man make a million dollars?" and these are some of the brief replies:
George M. Pullman: "Could not tell you—really, I could not. I did not come down here to be interviewed, and, anyway, this is too short notice to give a comprehensive opinion."

Marshall Field: "Oh, please! What do you ask such a question for? There is no general receipt that I know of, unless it be industry, economy and a cheerful disposition."

P. D. Armour: "Oh, my gracious, what a question! I have lost my patent for making money, and now don't know any more about it than anybody else. Go ask Marshall Field. He is making lots of money now."

Lyman J. Gage: "I did not come here to talk about money making. It occurs to me that men who want to make money will know how and where to proceed."

Charles Fargo: "What do you ask me for? I've got no money. Pullman could tell you, if he would."

N. K. Fairbank: "I could not give you a rule, for there is no such thing in money making."

Marvin Hughtit: "Work like the devil, and hold on to what you make. A man must solve his own problem—nobody can do that for him."

Franklin MacVough: "Well, that is a poser. I will indorse all that Mr. Hughtit has said, however."

B. M. Phelps: "Go talk with those men who know—I don't."

Party at D. P. Creek.

(Special to the Record.)

A grand surprise party was given last Thursday evening, at the new, spacious and beautiful residence of Mr. F. J. Shorb, D. P. Creek. About thirty couples were present. The evening was spent in various games, until about midnight, when all were invited to the dining room, where they enjoyed the elegant cakes, fruits, nuts, ice cream, etc., which were abundantly provided. About 1 o'clock, they began to leave for their homes, all expressing themselves as having spent a very enjoyable evening.

From the top of the house the ice comes down in a most ingenious manner. An elevator is rigged inside the building, and on the ice comes down by gravity. There is a connecting cord in a big weight that goes up when the load comes down, and vice versa. To the casual observer it looks as though the thing worked automatically. Two large blocks of ice are pushed up upon the elevator and they descend. As soon as they slide off, back goes the elevator for another load, and this thing is kept up hour after hour. Careful observation, however, shows a strong wire that leads off some distance, and at the end of it sits a man, and the secret is in the mechanism of the thing itself, but it needs a guiding hand so that it won't stop too fast. The movements of the elevator are controlled by a friction pulley. When the ice reaches the bottom and one cake slides off, the other would take a run up before the other came off were it not that the man on the end of the wire pulls a lever and the friction pulley acts at the top, and the elevator waits until the cargo is all off. Then the man releases the pulley and back goes the carriage, the heavy weight at the other end carrying it rapidly to the top. From the elevator the ice slides into a run. In the center of that is an endless chain that is fitted with pronglike attachments at certain intervals, and as they come along they come up behind the cake of ice and carry it to its destination.

A short distance up the run is a planer, a simple contrivance that removes the small pieces and swears the cake that they will pack nicely in the hold of the vessel. The cakes of ice pass serenely along, and when they come to the planer pass easily under it, but at the same time they lose two or three inches of their height. As a precaution in the contracts that provides for this, and they read that only an inch or inch and a half, or whatever the amount is, of snow ice shall be left on the cake, and therefore the planing.

The second rest that is a man who gives the cake a quick pull that brings it ahead of the prong for a moment. A second look shows why this is done. By this quick movement the cake of ice is brought upon a pair of scales, and in the second rest that it has before the prong on the chain gets along it is weighed and the figures placed upon the record that is being kept of the cargo. It is no small job to weigh the ice, for the cakes come along in rapid succession, and the weight has to be ascertained in the ordinary manner and the result put down before the next cake gets along.

From the scale the journey to the vessel is uninterrupted. The run is arranged so that it extends over the vessel to the highway, and the rise and fall of the tide are provided for by an arrangement that permits of the rising and falling of the run to correspond.

Perhaps the most ingenious thing of the whole system is that by which the ice is put in the hold. After the tide of the run and directly over the hatchway is a strong frame, and in that there works a platform that goes up and down something like an elevator at the house. Two blocks of ice are slid up just directly from the run, and the man who controls it releases a friction lever, and down it goes into the hold by its own weight, the speed being controlled by the man with the friction lever. The platform is suspended by four ropes that unwind from a cylinder as it descends, and at the same time another and larger rope that appears from a distance winds upon the cylinder.

When the load is off the platform in the hold, the friction lever is again loosened, and the ropes that come over the side of the hold gets in its way, by turning the drum the other way and quickly bringing the platform into its place. Out on the wharf at the other end of the big rope is another large weight, that does the work of pulling the platform up.

Away down in the hold the work of stowing the ice was progressing rapidly. The ice is simply packed together in as small a space as possible, and nothing is put around it, as many doubtless suppose. At the bottom of the cargo hold is all in, a little hay is thrown, but with the exception of that there is nothing put about the ice to keep it from melting. Under the improved order of packing only from 10 to 15 per cent of the ice is melted in the time not so much as that.—Bangor Commercial.

A Sure Cure.
Mrs. Minks—Doctor, my husband is a terrible sufferer from insomnia, and those nights cannot sleep a wink. Can you do anything for him?
Doctor—Certainly, madam. In the first place, he must go to bed not later than 10 o'clock.

"He does that."
"Very well. Wait until he appears to be in a doze, and then suddenly give him a shake and tell him it is time to go down and fix the kitchen fire. He'll turn over, give a grunt, and sleep like a log till morning."—New York Weekly.

Horse Talk.
Wickwire—There can be no doubt that the horse is rapidly passing.
Midge—Mebbe, but the ones I bet on don't seem to pass anything very much.

The Life Plant.
There is a plant in Jamaica called the life plant because it is almost impossible to kill it or any portion of it. When a leaf is cut off and hung up by a string, it sends out white, threadlike roots, gathers moisture from the air and begins to grow now leaves. Even when pressed and packed away in a botanical herbarium it has been known to outgrow the leaves of the book in which it was placed. The only way to kill it is by the heat of a hot iron or by boiling water.

The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that silver coins are legal tender for their face value, no matter how much defaced or abandoned, so long as they can be recognized as coins. A man was put off a Jersey City street car because he offered a badly abraded 10-cent piece to pay his fare, while the conductor refused. The passenger sued for damages and the State courts gave him $810. The company took the case to the United States Supreme Court on a writ of error, and that court has now affirmed the verdict of the State court.

HOW ICE IS LOADED.

METHOD OF CONVEYING IT FROM HOUSE TO SHIPBOARD.

Engenious Elevators and Rans Employed by the Large Penobscot River Concerns. A Great Deal of Labor Accomplished by a Few Hands.

An interesting operation is the loading of ice from the mammoth houses on the banks of the Penobscot into the large freight carriers that are almost constantly going up and down the river bearing heavy cargoes of frozen Penobscot to faroff ports.

From the top of the house the ice comes down in a most ingenious manner. An elevator is rigged inside the building, and on the ice comes down by gravity. There is a connecting cord in a big weight that goes up when the load comes down, and vice versa. To the casual observer it looks as though the thing worked automatically. ENGLAR'S.

GREAT CLEARING SALE
Ladies' and Children's CLOAKS, AT
M. SCHNEEBERGER'S
Trade Palace,

Red, Black, or Blue,
It makes no difference now about the Color of the mark. Some people are color-blind, but every one knows the size of a dollar, and all try to find the place where they can get the best returns from its investment. It is safe to say that more genuine bargains have been carried out of Englar's Clothing Store during the year 1895, than ever before came out or any store in Carroll county in the same line of business.

Who Killed Cock Robin?
Probably the "Red Mark" did it, or very likely the advertising columns of the CARROLL RECORD had something to do with it; anyway, we sold as many Overcoats up to the 15th of December, as we sold all last season. Think of it! But there are still plenty left. Will they be sold cheap? Don't ask silly questions, but come and find out.

The Little Old Stock on hand—Coats and Suits — you get at a ridiculous price. No matter if goods are as old as Methuselah, when the purchaser gets them at a price at which he is satisfied, it is no one else's business.

The Balance of New Goods, and there is still a fair stock in some lines, will be sold below the "Red Mark"—which was practically cost—because bought at lower prices than other merchants could buy them. The firm (Louis Ash & Son) failed about 60 days ago, from which the majority of our Fall goods came.

Our Clothing Has Gone
From off the shelves. Take a look for yourself. On or about February 20th, it is our annual custom to invoice stock, and from now until that time every effort and inducement that price can offer will be made to further empty shelves and counters. Brag, doesn't sell goods for very long. Backing up advertisements so that people can plainly see for themselves that they are not "bummed," counts in the long run. You always get fair and square dealing at
