The Governor will take up the case for final decision on or after Nov. 8th.—Banner.

The lawful time for shooting rabbits in Pennsylvania began November 1, and will continue until December 15. Many persons are in doubt as to what game can be exposed for sale. According to the new law, rabbits and squirrels are the only game that can be sold. The game which the law forbids the sale of is: Deer, fawn, wild turkey, pheasant, grouse, quail, partridges or woodcock.

Susan Hartman, aged fifty-five years, died at Bellevue Asylum, the Washington county almshouse, of injuries received from burns. She was weak-minded and was allowed to go around the almshouse. While making a fire in the washhouse her clothes caught and she was soon enveloped in flames. John Sneeckenberger, one of the keepers, threw a blanket over the woman, but it was too late. She died in agony six hours afterward.

There is an old dwelling, weather-boarded a few years ago, standing on the old Shepherd Factory farm, now occupied by Milton Haines, that is probably the oldest house in use near Union Bridge, except the Farquhar farm buildings, some of which were built by the first permanent settlers.

The Farquhar family now living on the farm have the original papers patent, written on parchment, conveying the land in and around Union Bridge to their ancestors by the United States Government. The Farquhar family were among the earliest settlers there.—Carroll News.

Rev. Dr. M. F. B. Rice, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Episcopal Church, Cumberland, on Sunday night started his congregation by a few remarks on the prohibition party. He said that the party was a stumbling block and hindrance in the effort to down the liquor traffic.

He claimed that the best way to accomplish that purpose was to vote for the best man on the other tickets; the men that would use their efforts in an abtative evil. Several prohibition members of the congregation took friendly exception to his opinion, and the matter was discussed from pulpit and pew before the close of the services.

Col. Rutherford, the newly elected Clerk of the Court of Appeals, has named J. Guest King, of Annapolis, printer of the court records and briefs. The work has been done for the last six years by Colonel Victor Baughman, of Frederick. The transfer of this work from Frederick to Annapolis is an important item for the compositors and printers of the state capital, as there is no small sum of money involved in the printing.

Mr. King held a position in the government printing office under President Harrison, but was removed when Mr. Benedict was made public printer by President Cleveland.

OUR DISTRICT VOTE.

A Quiet, yet Interesting Contest in Taneytown Dist.

Tuesday was an ideal election day, and the result in this district was the largest vote ever cast, there being but 15 out of the 715 voters in the district who could have made use of their privilege that failed to do so; and, of this number, five are known to have been in town but without voting—a very strange proceeding—one of whom forgot it, and returned too late. About the only surprise in the result is the increase in the prohibition vote from 8 last year, to 31 this year. All the home candidates received considerably increased votes over the heads of their respective tickets, thereby attesting their popularity.

At night, great interest was manifested in the returns, which came in very meagrely, even at a late hour, and were mostly unsatisfactory (?) when received. Mr. James Nickum cast his 63rd ballot, and did it just as he desired, without any trouble or request for assistance. The two oldest voters, Dr. Samuel Swope and Jacob Lambert, were among the missing for the first time in many years, owing to illness. There were no unusual incidents during either day or night.

Birthday Surprise Party.

(For the Record.) Mrs. Mary E. Fleagle, of Mayberry, was given a birthday surprise party by her children, on Tuesday evening, the event being a joyful one. Mrs. Fleagle was taken completely on surprise; being so glad to have her children together with her, she joined heartily in the spirit of the occasion, which represented her arrival at the 50th mile stone. Sixteen years ago Mrs. Fleagle was left a widow with eleven children: she had the pleasure of meeting them all, except the twins, Messrs Edward and Elmer W. Fleagle, who have been in business in New York city for the past seven years, and were unable to be present. In remembrance of her two absent sons, she received from them a large rattan rocking chair which expresses their love to a good, true and sincere mother.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John F. Fleagle, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus L. Morelock, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore N. Stoner, Messrs Levin Fleagle, Walter Fleagle, George Fleagle, Misses Maria, Maggie, Clara and Missouri Fleagle, Messrs George, Walter and Norman Morelock, Misses Clara, Annie and Mary Stoner, Mr. Arthur Stoner, Messrs Benjamin and Raymond Davidson, Miss Clara Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Boring, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rodkey, Mr. and Mrs. E. Winter, Mrs. Jacob Sell, Mrs. John Heltebride, Misses Ida Hesson, Mattie Sell, Annie Heltebride; Mr. Edward Winter.

Mrs. Fleagle was the recipient of a number of handsome presents, given by her children and friends.

Death of Benjamin Jones.

(For the Record.) The subject of this sketch was an honored son of an honored sire. Moses Jones, his father, was a slave who purchased his own freedom and likely his wife's also—at all events the children were free born. He was a blacksmith by trade, and by his industry and good management accumulated some property, and, what was very rare at the time, educated all his children—true it was a limited education confined to reading and writing. Those who are old enough to remember the race prejudice will wonder how an opportunity was afforded them for school facilities. They lived in a Quaker settlement, and Friends had a school nearby their church, that admitted colored children.

There were three sons—Thomas, John and Benjamin—all brought up in their father's shop, and all were good mechanics. Benjamin, the youngest, was born about 1827. From his youth he was honest, truthful and industrious. His morality was exceptionally good, never using vulgar or profane language or indulging in the use of intoxicants of any kind—even the tobacco habit he eschewed. In short, he was an exemplary man—a most worthy citizen, and an honor to the community he lived in. Considering the environment of the black man, such a character sustained through life is praiseworthy in the highest degree.

In 1869, he moved to his late residence, near McKinstry's Mills, where he plied his calling for 28 years. In all this long period he toiled at his anvil early and late to accommodate his customers, regardless of the reward he might receive. His easy good nature would not allow him to press any one for a claim, and not a few were ungrateful enough to take advantage of his kind indulgence, yet he never cast them off, but forgave past failures, and served them again. But he has passed the threshold of eternity now, and his unrewarded labor will be abundantly rewarded by the just judge.

The small boys held an election Tuesday, which resulted in a democratic victory. The polls were in the Jr. O. M. hall.

With election day came the enthusiasm among the pupils of our public school—Love Academy—to try voting. The girls think it well to have a little experience in that line so as to be fully prepared to cast their votes for a president some day in the future. Of course, the teachers, Mr. Norman Eckard and Miss Mabel W. LeFevre, cast their votes with the pupils. There were judges and all necessary officers filed in order, as for the general elections. The returns are as follows: 2 Republican, 15 Democratic, 24 Prohibition.

Mrs. Jerry J. Garner, who had a severe attack of diphtheria, is convalescent.

Miss Louisa Eckard will go to Baltimore, Saturday, to visit her brother.

The Vote in New York.

Judge Robert A. Van Wyck has been elected mayor of Greater New York. The entire democratic city ticket has also been elected.

The estimated vote of the greater city is as follows: Van Wyck, 233,752; Low, 146,831; Tracy, 100,958; George, 20,386. Van Wyck's plurality, 81,578.

It has been a democratic sweep. The democratic county tickets are elected in New York, Kings, Queens and Richmond. All of the boroughs have apparently been carried by the democracy.

On top of the democratic success in the Greater New York has come sweeping success in New York State. Judge Wallace, the republican candidate for chief judge of the Court of Appeals, has been defeated. Judge Alton B. Parker, the democratic candidate, has been elected by a majority of about 30,000. The republican machine went to pieces in the rural counties, and it was overwhelmed by the plurality of 130,000 which the Greater New York territory gave to Judge Parker.

MARYLAND RETURNS.

The Legislature Republican on Joint Ballot for Senator.

MALSTER MAYOR OF BALTIMORE. The republicans carried Maryland on Tuesday by a plurality of 6655 for Goldsborough, for Comptroller of the Treasury, and have a safe working majority in the legislature in both branches, thereby insuring the retirement of Senator Gorman. The only remarkable change in the vote in the counties, was in Washington, where the democrats made almost a clean sweep. John C. Motter, republican, is elected judge, in the sixth judicial District, by a majority of nearly 1000.

BALTIMORE CITY. The republicans elected their entire city ticket, together with sixteen of the twenty seats on the City Council, and nine of the eleven Second Branch members. They also carried the three legislative districts, electing the following: For Mayor, Malster (Rep.) by a majority of 6655 over Williams. The city services amendment was overwhelmingly defeated.

CARROLL COUNTY. As may be seen in the tabulated returns, the democratic county ticket was elected by varying majorities, except Nicholas W. Steele, for Register of Wills who was defeated by Joseph B. Brooks, by 78 votes, and B. Frank Crouse, for the House of Delegates, who was defeated by Alpheus Stankery, by 20 votes.

The result on the legislative ticket, as well as the exact figures on the whole ticket, was not known until Thursday when the district judges made their official returns, from the fact that in several of the districts the totals were sealed up by the election officers, without making any copy for the immediate information of the public. This omission was no doubt caused by the fact that the ticket was long and considerably scratched, and the clerks carried out very long and laborious, and the officials refrained from doing more than was actually required.

Mr. Evans appears to be placed in the peculiar position of having, through his efforts in Freedom ticket, elected a considerable portion of the ticket, and yet to be personally defeated. The success of the entire democratic ticket seems to have rested almost entirely on gains made in Freedom, and the second precinct of Westminster, where the democrats gained in other districts sufficiently to balance other democratic gains.

In the first precinct of Westminster, the democrats carried the election, and wrote his name on the tickets as he handed them out, but signed the coupons. This delinquency was not discovered until after the voting, when the judges certified to the correctness of the ballots by indorsement, and it is generally supposed that the error will not invalidate the ballots.

FREDERICK COUNTY. Frederick city goes republican solidly by 500 on county officers, and on legislative ticket by 500 or 600. John C. Motter carries the county by a margin of 1,900. All the republican members of the House of Delegates from Frederick county are elected by an average vote of 200.

Intense excitement was created at the polling booth in Emmitsburg by the action of Andrew A. Annan, republican judge, who required every man's name to be found upon the books when he entered the room and then again before he was allowed to hand his ballot to the judge for deposit after having stamped the district had 754 registered voters, and so high did the excitement run that Chief Judge James McSherry, State's Attorney William B. Bell, and supervisors of election and other county and State officials were wired and appealed to notify Mr. Annan what course to pursue. The matter was only necessary to find the names of the voters upon their entering the booth, and the throughout facilitate the election is rapidly as possible to appease the people.

Later reports say that the above is greatly exaggerated and that there was really little or no trouble. The polls, however, seem to have been kept open until about 7 o'clock, which may cause the vote of the district to be thrown out, even if the above is the result will not be affected.

WASHINGTON COUNTY. Hagerstown, Nov. 3.—Complete but unofficial returns from every district in Washington county show that the democrats carried the election by a majority of 100 to 150 majority. The republicans elect Harvey S. Boubarger for the House of Delegates over Cyrus D. Bell by about 72 majority. Elmer E. Piper, republican candidate for surveyor, seems to have defeated the democratic nominee, Eugene A. Brown, by 51 majority. It is impossible to get the accurate vote for the candidates in Hagerstown district 24, in Hagerstown district 25, and in Wilsons district, as the totals were sealed up in the ballot-boxes without copies being taken of them, and the figures given are taken from the memory of the election officers.

An incident of election night here was the ovation given Col. Buchanan Selby the local Governor leader, when it was reported that he had been elected. He had carried the county. The ovation was lifted on the shoulders of his followers and carried around in triumph, and cheer for "the next governor of Maryland."

It once looked as if the republicans would have a majority on joint ballot, yet be unable to organize the legislature, but the vote of a number of contested seats and the unseating of enough republicans to wipe out their majority. Complete returns give a clear majority in both branches, as shown above.

The Vote in other States.

The Ohio Legislature is probably republican by a majority of five on joint ballot, classing all the fusionists as democrats. Bushnell, republican, will have about 20,000 plurality for Governor.

Later returns show that Van Wyck, democrat, is elected mayor of Greater New York by 81,578 plurality, and that Parker, democrat, is chosen chief judge of the Court of Appeals by a plurality of 58,000 in the whole state.

The democratic majority in Virginia on the state ticket will probably reach 60,000. The Legislature is almost unanimously democratic.

Kentucky's democratic majority is more than 25,000. The fusionist ticket in Iowa is claimed by the republicans by more than 30,000 plurality, and the democrats concede it by 15,000.

Later returns confirm the early statements of a fusion victory in Nebraska. The fusionists estimate their plurality at from 20,000 to 25,000.

The result in Colorado is in doubt, and the official count will probably be necessary to decide it.

The republicans elected six of the eight circuit judges voted for in South Dakota.

The indications are that the republicans have elected a majority of their Kansas town tickets.

Penny Vanu's republican plurality is over 124,000.

The estimated plurality of Wolcott, republican, for Governor of Massachusetts is 85,000.

In the New Jersey Legislature the republicans will have a majority of 21 on joint ballot.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 6th, 1897.

RAINY ELECTION days are pretty generally conceded to be favorable to democrats. While this is true, almost beyond a doubt, the reason generally assigned for it—that democrats are more ardent in their desire to vote—is incorrect. The real reason is, that the strength of the republican vote, as a rule, lies in the country, and the democratic, in cities and towns. On disagreeable days, very naturally, the town voter comes out, because the voting place is but a few steps away, while the country resident probably has several miles to travel.

THE TIME is now here for the people to agitate desired legislation, and let the members-elect know what they want, and what they don't want. Any duce can criticize a law after it is passed, but it takes ability to originate, and properly frame, wise legislation; and, as all the wisdom of the state is not supposed to rest within our representatives, it may be very properly in order for those who stay at home, to ventilate their views on certain matters which they have criticised during the past two years, with the object in view of giving us better laws.

The Election.

The result of the election in Carroll was not a surprise. In fact, the situation was such that a surprise was impossible, though there are people who will tell you now that they knew all the time how it would go. Even though one-half of the candidates, and nearly half of the people, naturally feel disappointed, our public affairs will no doubt be satisfactorily administered, or the people will know the reason why, and remedy it when they next get the chance. Political lanes are not so long as they once were, and good travelling is only possible, when deserved.

In Baltimore, the election of Mr. Malster was a tribute to the personal popularity and worth of the man, rather than to the energy of his workers. The campaign against him, headed by the Herald with all sorts of slanderous personalities and the most questionable statements, proved to have but little force, aside from that supplied by the fine personal characteristics of his opponent, Mr. Williams, who would no doubt have succeeded better without some of his helpers. The Sun was a tower of strength on the Malster side of the campaign and has every reason for self-congratulation.

We give the vote in the county and state in our news columns, for our readers to figure on to their own satisfaction. The result in New York, which shows a decided victory for the Tammany candidate, seems, at this distance, almost, if not quite, a national calamity. The voice of the people, both in the city and state, ought to be sufficiently loud for boss Platt to understand.

The civil service amendment received a crushing defeat, as was expected, yet the issue was so much overshadowed by other issues that the true sense of the people may not be shown by the vote. The power of Mr. Gorman, is evidently very strong throughout the state; the county democrats showing a disposition to disagree with their city brethren as to the extent of the sin to be charged against this much criticised Senator.

Wanted—An Idea!

The RECORD is a firm believer in special features for newspapers, and has had abundant evidence that they pay—both paper and people. We are not satisfied with the idea that the patrons of a country weekly expect only the current local news, and do not look for any great improvement over the papers of fifty years ago, except in so far as there may be more news. Neither do we like the idea that a paper is sure to live anyway, whether there is much in it or not, because the people will subscribe for it simply, in order to get the little that is in it, much the same as if it were a necessary evil.

Since the first appearance of our paper, over three years ago, we have produced a number of these "special features" and are not yet half tired of them—only lacking an inspiration. As a newspaper is a co-operative institution, at best, we have always invited ideas from our readers, and have never set up the standard of know-it-all-iveness; and even now, with acquired experience, we still desire assistance and advice from the outside.

During the winter, the RECORD is open for the adoption of some new feature, in connection with the ordinary run of matter, and invites suggestions along this line. The only restriction that we make, is, that it must be useful and educational—not merely new—because new things are not necessarily improvements, and mere notoriety not lasting benefit. Let our friends put on their thinking caps and give us the benefit of their discoveries.

Returns from Advertising.

In the August issue of the National Advertiser, Fitzgerald offers the following timely suggestions with reference to estimating returns: "He is a wise man who can tell, even approximately, what his returns will be from any particular advertisement. At the most it is but guesswork. Experience counts for little, because results are seldom duplicated in any particular. One thousand dollars spent in a certain territory, may bring back $5,000 at one time, and may fail to pay expenses at another. The shrewdest advertiser cannot always guess when it is the right time, and the longer they are in business the more puzzling it gets.

Advertising is very much like fishing, anyhow. You can bait your hook as you like, but you never know for certain when you are going to get a bite, how many fish you are going to land, or whether you will catch one at all. The stream in which you have formerly been successful may now be empty of fish, or the fish may be chary of your bait.

Estimating returns is figuring on an unknown quantity. You may be counting your chickens before they are hatched, or you may be underestimating what the results will prove. It is not a question of averages. There is no basis to go by. Past results afford no key to present or future returns. The experiences of another are no indication what yours may be. Precedents are no guides. And yet there are men who will make an appropriation for certain media in certain territory, and then affect to be able to figure on the approximate returns. Chance favors the guesstimate, because no other element but chance can influence the returns. A thousand unseemly causes may help or hinder sales, and who can figure on the influence of unseemly causes?

It is not possible to correctly estimate the possible profits or losses of an advertising campaign. The only thing to do is to trust to your goods, your mediums, and your style of advertising. Do the best and most conscientious work of which you are capable, and then you may be sure that your efforts have been bent in the right direction. The results will depend upon two things, whether you have a meritorious article that is useful to the people, and whether you have convinced them in your advertising that it is worth the price you are asking them to pay for it."

J. M. Thirswend, of Grosbeck, Tex., says that when he has a spell of indigestion, and feels bad and sluggish he takes two of Dr. Witt's Little Family Pills at night, and he is all right the next morning. Many thousands of others do the same thing. Do you? J. McKelip, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

J. C. Berry, one of the best known citizens of Spencer, Mo., testifies that he cured himself of the worst kind of piles by using a few boxes of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. He had been troubled with piles for over thirty years and had used many different kinds of so-called cures; but DeWitt's was the one that did the work and he writes to advise if any one else wishes to write him. J. McKelip, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

ANNUAL LOSS BY FIRE.
Very much reduced by Improved methods of Fighting Fire.

Mr. Charles T. Hill, the artist, who has been writing a series of papers for St. Nicholas on the New York fire department, has a final paper on "The Fire Patrol." Mr. Hill says: "The annual loss by fire in the United States amounts to one hundred millions of dollars, and fully one-half of this loss is caused by the water used in extinguishing the fires. Before the introduction, in 1873, of controlling or shut-off nozzles used on the fire-hose, the percentage of loss by water was even greater—at least two-thirds of the total loss. Previous to the introduction of this much-needed device, there was used what was known as an "open pipe," a plain open nozzle, with no contrivance for shutting off the water. When it was necessary to shut off, the order had to be passed to the engineer, sometimes a long distance from the fire, and unless the nozzles could be thrust from a convenient window, the water would go pouring out, spreading destruction in all directions. In small fires, especially in "up stairs" fires in private dwellings, or in business houses stocked with perishable goods, such as feathers, silks, etc., the unnecessary destruction of property was very great.

To-day, fires are fought much more scientifically, and with a great deal more system, than were those of ten or twenty years ago; and officers in command of engine companies are usually very careful not to use any more water than is absolutely necessary. Nearly every hose-wagon in the New York Fire Department today carries three sizes of hose—the regulation size, 2½ inch, used at all ordinary fires; 3 inch (known as "third-alarm hose," and only used at fires of considerable magnitude), and a small hose carried on a reel under the wagon. This hose is 1½ inches in diameter, and very easy to handle, and on account of the ease with which any number of lengths of it can be carried about, it is that often used at small fires in dwelling houses, office-buildings, and flats. With a controlling nozzle on the end, the fireman can dash up several flights of stairs and into a bedroom or closet, and extinguish a small fire before it has time to spread, using the water only where it is absolutely needed. To drag the regulation size (it weighs about eighty pounds to the length) up and around winding stairways, etc., would take much longer, and perhaps give a fire time to get just beyond the point of easy control; besides, when the water is finally started, a great deal more is used by this hose than is necessary, especially in the case of a small fire. It has been practically demonstrated that a considerable amount of fire can be extinguished with a small amount of water applied effectively, and the use of the small hose has done much to reduce the damage by water at fires in dwellings and flats."

THE THREE-YEAR-OLD BOY of J. A. Johnson, Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Applications of the "Referendum"
This decision in Philadelphia, about to be made by popular referendum, suggests the growing favor in which the idea is held of a direct decision by the people upon various matters of public interest and concern. Seth Low, for example, has made it evident in his speeches that he would be in favor of referring the question of the Sunday sale of drinks to a direct vote of the citizens of New York. In the two States of Connecticut and New Jersey the voters have within a few weeks taken direct action on important questions submitted for their determination. The voters of Connecticut, by a very large majority, declared themselves on October 3 as in favor of an amendment to the constitution of the State which restricts suffrage to voters able to read in the English language, any article of the constitution or any section of the statutes. The vote against the proposition was very slight, every community, whether urban or rural, voting in the affirmative.

In New Jersey a great popular contest was waged upon the question of an amendment to the constitution prohibiting gambling—the evil practically aimed at being that of race-track pool-selling, book-making and betting. The country districts of New Jersey were in favor of the amendment, and the large towns were against it. At first the amendment seemed to be lost, but on the final count of votes it was found that this salutary provision had been adopted. The good citizens of New Jersey have found themselves unable to trust their law makers to do their duty as against the powerful influence of the gambling fraternity, and thus it has been deemed best to appeal to the referendum and seek protection under a constitutional clause. The almost complete domination of race-track pool-selling by bosses and corrupt elements will probably drive the people of this country to a constantly increasing use, under one form or another, of what is known as the referendum—that is to say, the direct vote of the people themselves upon questions of general importance.—"From 'The Progress of the World,' in American Monthly Review of Reviews for November.

Stick to Facts and Figures.

Year by year the wheat eaters are increasing and the wheat area is decreasing. The surface of Mother Earth is not expanding, but her children are multiplying. As the wisdom of the early settlers in towns and cities who hold on to corner lots is made manifest as time rolls by, so will the men be accounted wise who hold on to wheat lands for the benefit of their children.

Bad and good wheat years may come and go, but the wheat eater goes on forever. The well-attested facts that wheat-eating nations have been conquering nations, and that in good times there are more wheat eaters than in hard times, may show that wheat eating is a force that makes strength for conquest and prosperity, or, on the other hand, that the strong and able simply prefer to be wheat eaters, but in either case the philosophy of statisticians proves that the demand for wheat will grow with the inevitable increase of the civilized population of the earth, while new areas for wheat will give out and old wheat fields cost more to till.

"Statisticians, like sausages, depend upon what makes them," and, while we do not know whether Mr. C. Wood Davis, of Kansas, can make good sausages or not, we endorse the well digested facts and figures he furnishes in October "Forum," in an article entitled "The Impending Deficiency of Breadstuffs," because they verify the faith the EPITOMIST has held for years regarding the stability of wheat values, in spite of politics or finance.

The bulls and bears may manipulate, but they cannot alter the facts given by Mr. Davis, showing that of the twenty-four million acres of the world's addition to the wheat fields between 1871 and 1883, seventeen million belonged to the United States, while to the eight million acres added by the world since 1882, the United States has not contributed one acre; that Siberia will never be able to produce enough wheat to feed her own people, nor Argentina and Uruguay become over shadowing competitors; that the recent low prices of wheat resulted mostly from the surplus accumulations of over average world's crops, but that even with future crops equal to that of 1894—"the greatest crop ever grown, both in acre yield and in the aggregate"—accumulation of surplus and reserve supplies will be impossible. "That, in short, all reserves will be wiped out this year, and if hereafter current requirements are not met by current production, then hereafter there will be current deficiency.—Agricultural Epitomist.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 4 drops to a teaspoonful, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures Catarrh of the bladder and falls to cure. Ran In the Blood. The ordinary of a Georgia county invited all the war veterans to meet at his office on a certain day. When the day arrived, he was surprised at the number of young men who put in an appearance.

"Gentlemen," he said, "there must be some mistake. I wanted to meet war veterans, and I am here confronted with a majority of the young men of the county."

"Ordinary," spoke up one tall, stockless fellow, "it's true we never done no fighting, but our families did, and if we don't inherit the durned war I'd like to know who does."—Atlanta Constitution.

She Found Out. A Boston lady stood on the deck of the little blue nosed Oklawaha steamer in Florida, and looked long and intently at a young man who was leaning over the side, looking down at a book.

"Is the alligator ambiguous?" was one of her questions. The darkly scratched his head. He was a bit puzzled, as there had been more coral than dictionary in his bringing up, but his quick wit and natural logic did not desert him as he replied:

"I reckon he ain't miss'ed. He done bite yo' shuah of yo' monkey wid him."—New Orleans Picayune.

Sarsaparilla Sense. Any sarsaparilla is sarsaparilla. True. So any tea is tea. So any flour is flour. But grades differ. You want the best. It's so with sarsaparilla. There are grades. You want the best. If you understood sarsaparilla as well as you do tea and flour it would be easy to determine. But you don't. How should you? When you are going to buy a commodity whose value you don't know, you pick out an old established house to trade with, and trust their experience and reputation. Do so when buying sarsaparilla. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been on the market 50 years. Your grandfather used Ayer's. It is a reputable medicine. There are many Sarsaparillas—but only one Ayer's. It cures.

SCIENCE UTILIZES ALL THE OX.

Every part put to use except its dying breath.

In an article on the "Wonders of the World's Waste," William George Jordan, in the October edition of the present day utilizes the ox. "Some many years ago," he says, "when an ox was slaughtered forty per cent of the animal was wasted; at the present time nothing is lost but its dying breath! As but one-third of the weight of the animal consists of produce that can be eaten, the question of utilizing the waste is a serious one. The blood is used in refining sugar and in sizing paper, or manufactured into doorknobs and buttons. The hide goes to the tanner; horns and hoofs are transformed into combs and buttons, thigh-bones, worth eighty dollars per ton, are cut into handles for clothesbrushes; fore-leg bones sold for thirty dollars per ton for collar buttons, parasol handles and jewelry; the water in which bones are boiled is reduced to glue, the dust from sawing the bone is food for cattle, and poultry; the smallest bones are made into boneblack. Each foot yields a quarter of a pint of neat's foot oil; the tail goes to the 'soup'; while the brush of the hair at the end of the tail is sold to the mattress maker. The choice parts of the fat make the basis of butterine; the intestines are used for sausage casings or bought by zoologists. The 'chickens' digested food in the stomach, which formerly cost the packers of Chicago thirty dollars and dollars a year to remove and destroy, is now made into paper. These are but a few of the products of abattoirs. All scraps unfit for any use find welcome in the glue pot, or they do missionary work for farmers by acting as fertilizers."

Better Farming.

Not only does better farming demand the exercise of better judgment in the application of methods that will increase the income, it also demands the practice of true economy. This may mean a larger as well as a more judicious expenditure of cash than at present; certainly it includes the latter. Too much money is wasted in buying non-productive property. In making purchases the successful man always looks ahead with discerning eye, and asks himself the all-important question: Will it pay? Some men seem to have a mania for attending public vendues and buying up old machinery and plug horses because they "go cheap." As a rule these things belong to the dearest and most expensive class of property that a man—even a cheap man—can buy or own. Ten dollars may seem a low price to pay for a dilapidated wagon, harrow or horse; while the same sum may seem a high price to pay for a thrifty calf, yet exactly the reverse may be true; for while the thrifty calf is a source of constant satisfaction and in due time presents the purchaser with a handsome profit, the old traps constantly deteriorate, and the end is dissatisfaction and loss.

DUTY OF PARENTS.

Wise Guidance Needed For the Youth Who Is Leaving Childhood Behind. "There is something pathetic in the struggle of the child to cast aside its child nature and put on the nature of manhood or womanhood. Writes Florence Hall Winters in the Woman's Home Companion. "He is best internally by misgivings even while he is urged on by ambition. He wants he scarce knows what, but something new and never before possessed. Perhaps, in a nutshell, the great desire of his soul is to be left alone to himself, and with sympathy within call, and to be trusted. It is a great evidence of tact now for the mother or father to say, with a kind smile: 'Do what you think best about this matter, my son. You are old enough to judge what is right.'"

EGGS AS A DAILY DIET.

They should never be served with Beef, Mutton or Fowl. "Eggs, like milk, contain in proper proportion all the elements needed to support life," writes Mrs. S. T. Rorer on "The Cooking of Eggs," in the November Ladies' Home Journal. "Being highly concentrated, however they lack the bulk necessary to keep the excretory organs in perfect condition. Serve with them, then, such food as bread, rice or cereals, but do not serve eggs in any way at the same meal with beef, mutton or fowl. Pork such as bacon, may, in winter, be served with eggs. While one pound of eggs is equal in nourishment to one pound of beef, the latter would be borne for a longer time, and would in the end be a much better food. The mineral matter of the egg is small in quantity but rich in quality, and the albumen is in a form most easily digested. We must bear in mind, however, that the egg albumen coagulates at a lower temperature than that in meat, which teaches us at once that, to be easily digested, eggs must be lightly cooked. A hard-boiled egg, one in which the white is rendered flard, may be digested by a man laboring in the open air, but it is unfit for food for the man who works in an office or shop, or for the person whose digestion is weak, or for children of any age."

How the Famous Dialect Novelist Made His First Hit. AN ANGEL OF MERCY.

Truly, the miraculous cures of rheumatism made by Salvation Oil, justly earned for it the title: an angel of mercy; for many bed-confined rheumatics have experienced the great, curative properties of this modern liniment. "I used Salvation Oil for rheumatism and found it a sure cure. I used three bottles and am now perfectly well, and I would feel myself a benefactor if I could induce every person afflicted with rheumatism to try Salvation Oil." James H. Bryant, Debrulins, N. C. Salvation Oil is sold everywhere for 25 cents, but some dealers may say, "we are out of it," hoping to sell a cheap substitute instead. Insist on getting Salvation Oil, or go to some other dealer who will sell it to you.

THE SUNDAY HERALD.

Union Bridge. Foreman—Brown. WASHINGTON LETTER.

The death of Miss Catharine Farquhar occurred on last Saturday afternoon, from paralysis. She was born and lived all her life at her ancestral home, on the south side of town, the estate of the earliest Farquhar settlers. She and her brothers, Joseph and William, have lived together all their lives. The deceased was in her 70th year. She was always a member of the society of Friends. The pall-bearers were Thos. W. Russell, Wm. O. Hoffman, Reuben Saylor, Jesse Smith, Daniel Wolfe and Pemberton Wood; undertakers were Waltz & Grossnickle. Interment in Friends' grave yard, near town.

Luther day will be observed in the Lutheran church on Sunday evening next.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. White will celebrate their silver wedding, on Saturday evening of this week, at their home on West Broadway.

The election passed off very quietly here on Tuesday, the District going republican by about 70 majority. The Y. P. S. C. E. of St. James' Lutheran church held a Hallow'een soiree at the home of Mr. Samuel Eppley on Saturday evening last. Besides the society there was a number of invited guests present. Messrs Howard Gray and Roy Miller won great applause for the antics they cut, in attempting to take bites from an apple suspended from the ceiling. A number of other games were played, and at half-past ten the party were invited to the supper-room, and shortly after took their leave, voting the affair a grand success.

York Road.

Election day has come and gone, and it seems as some of our big men are very sick over the results, but we think they can still hope.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kuch, of Philadelphia, who spent several days with their niece, Mrs. C. H. Igenfritz, left for Gettysburg last week.

Mr. C. H. Igenfritz, Jr., of York, Pa., came home to vote, but returned without any knowledge if his trip benefited him or not.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frook, of near Keyville, and Mr. Howard Frook, of near Taneytown, spent Sunday last with their brother, Mr. Elsie C. Frook, of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Hammond and daughter, of Virginia, are visiting Mrs. Hammond's father, Mr. George Diehl.

A young lady came to visit the family of Mr. Charles Garber, on Monday last, and he says she was so nice he concluded he would keep her.

Mr. Charles Reindollar, our druggist, has sold out his store to Mr. Robert Galt, of near Taneytown.

The water works at Taneytown must be progressing, as we heard the sound of the hammers this morning, as the air is very calm.

We think there was a mistake in the York Road items last week, as to the yield of corn, as the corn is turning out very good; we think it was 16 barrels instead of 16 bushels to the acre—if it was the latter we would be left on pudding and sausage.

Maryland Health Association.

The semi-annual meeting of the Maryland Public Health Association will be held in Baltimore, on November 18th, and 19th.

The programme includes papers upon school sanitation, upon public and private disinfection, upon pollution of soil and water, upon sewerage, upon some diseases of domestic animals, especially upon the recent fatal epidemic among horses and hogs. An address will be delivered by Dr. C. Wardell Stiles on Thursday at the opening session, upon the relation of slaughter house to human disease.

The Association was organized last February with a membership of about 75 persons. There are now 350 active members, and good results have followed its efforts in many localities. The aims of the Society are thus expressed in their first report recently published.

It seeks to promote the sanitary welfare of Maryland by uniting the influence of all citizens professing an interest in that purpose; by sustaining the authority of the public health officers; by co-operation with other charitable and sanitary organizations by encouraging the study of preventive medicine; by propagating the knowledge of hygiene through popular lectures, demonstrations, and publications.

It favors the registration by the State of correct and full returns of births, deaths, and infectious diseases; strict supervision and control of food and drink supplies, the maintenance of hospitals for infectious diseases, enforced isolation and disinfection at public cost; the regulation of funerals and transportation of the dead; conformity to hygienic principles in the construction of dwellings for man and beast; systematic inspection by experts of all schools, tenements, factories, slaughter houses, jails, hospitals, almshouses and other public buildings, and of steam-boats and railway carriages, the restraint and regulation of offensive trades.

Done with Sausage.

The people of Chicago have lost their appetites for sausage since the Luettger murder trial in that city. The charge that Luettger boiled his wife in the vat where he used to cook sausage meat, and his admission that he used aniline dyes to give the sausage a blood color was too much for most of the saucy to eaters of that city, and they no longer have a hankering after sausage. Commissioner of Public Works, McGann, of Chicago, says: "I'm not exaggerating when I say that the sales of sausage in Chicago—and I might say for all of Illinois—have fallen off 75 per cent since the Luettger case became so famous. Why, half a dozen sausage-makers in Chicago have failed in the last six months, and all on account of the Luettger case. One down in Joliet killed himself because business was so dull."

How to Cure Bilious Colic.

I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in my stomach caused by biliousness and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people. Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. Sold by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Errors of Reporters and the Types.

A correspondent sends us some more reporters' errors, says the Westminster Gazette. Mr. Asquith once referred to the government's "pique of temper"; the reporter wrote "peacock temper." A speaker at Exeter Hall, replying to an attack, said it was "a double lie in the shape of half a truth," which, by the ingenuity of the reporter, appeared as "a double eye in the shape of half a tooth."

The Association was organized last February with a membership of about 75 persons. There are now 350 active members, and good results have followed its efforts in many localities. The aims of the Society are thus expressed in their first report recently published.

It seeks to promote the sanitary welfare of Maryland by uniting the influence of all citizens professing an interest in that purpose; by sustaining the authority of the public health officers; by co-operation with other charitable and sanitary organizations by encouraging the study of preventive medicine; by propagating the knowledge of hygiene through popular lectures, demonstrations, and publications.

It favors the registration by the State of correct and full returns of births, deaths, and infectious diseases; strict supervision and control of food and drink supplies, the maintenance of hospitals for infectious diseases, enforced isolation and disinfection at public cost; the regulation of funerals and transportation of the dead; conformity to hygienic principles in the construction of dwellings for man and beast; systematic inspection by experts of all schools, tenements, factories, slaughter houses, jails, hospitals, almshouses and other public buildings, and of steam-boats and railway carriages, the restraint and regulation of offensive trades.

Done with Sausage.

The people of Chicago have lost their appetites for sausage since the Luettger murder trial in that city. The charge that Luettger boiled his wife in the vat where he used to cook sausage meat, and his admission that he used aniline dyes to give the sausage a blood color was too much for most of the saucy to eaters of that city, and they no longer have a hankering after sausage. Commissioner of Public Works, McGann, of Chicago, says: "I'm not exaggerating when I say that the sales of sausage in Chicago—and I might say for all of Illinois—have fallen off 75 per cent since the Luettger case became so famous. Why, half a dozen sausage-makers in Chicago have failed in the last six months, and all on account of the Luettger case. One down in Joliet killed himself because business was so dull."

Everybody Says So.

Cascarets Candy Cakes are the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and gently and positively on kidneys, and in cleansing the entire system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and biliousness. Please buy and try a box of C. C. C. to-day; 10, 25, 50 cents. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

How to Cure Bilious Colic.

I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in my stomach caused by biliousness and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people. Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. Sold by R. S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

JOKES OF THE JESTERS. The following letter concerning a night in the Klondike, written last winter, has been received in New York:

DEAR MOTHER—The long night set in some time ago, and as I'm tired of sleeping for the present I'll write to you. I sometimes long for day, but I don't know how to get it. I've been here for some time now, and I've had the most wonderful experiences that ever lived. Baby has always had a good time, and I've always got up and walked with her, but Tom said that circumstances altered cases, and so for the past few weeks, or so, I've had the sweetest sleep. Of course before daylight I'll be up, but it is such a comfort to know that he's with me and not staying late at the club. Like Sarah Brown's husband, who went "to a lodge meeting" just after dark and who isn't home yet, although, as I say, it's awfully late at night—nearly a month. She got sick at sitting up for him a week ago and went to sleep.

I do wish the ball that's going on two houses would stop. I just heard them singing "We Won't Go Home This Morning," which is a rather a doleful outlook for me, as they are awfully noisy with their music.

I must take baby now, as Tom looks exhausted. His pedometer registers 600 miles. Your affectionate father, JANE.

Don't Neglect Your Liver. Liver troubles quickly result in serious complications, and the man who neglects his liver has little regard for health. A bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters taken now and then will keep the liver in perfect order. If disease has developed, Brown's Iron Bitters will cure it permanently. Strength and vitality will be restored by its use. Brown's Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

A Summer Tragedy. He scooped into the country side. Up hill and down he flew. Until he reached a brooklet wide, He must be wakened through. He slipped his hose off, shouldered well His hose and crossed the ford. And, tired out, lay down to sleep. And loudly there he snored. A gentle cool passed by that way. Ejected his muddy hose. She ate each Scotch plaid sock. And Frank the scorcher, woke to find His "holers" were both in neglect's clasp. Back to his stopping place he sped, Bereft of his hose, and with eyes half closed. Upon her strides where brooks flow not, While slowly and with eyes half closed. And gives red, green and purple milk— Astonishing, I trow!

—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Fame Hungry. First Soubrette—This is the fifth season that Lettie Kitties has traveled with her husband. Second Soubrette—Oh, some women will do "most anything for notoriety!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Natural History. Teacher—What do you know about a kangaroo? Boy—He has a pouch. Teacher—What does it do with it? Boy—When it is hunted, it gets inside.—Pick Me Up.

Too Forcible. "They say Dumley's wife ruins him with a rod of iron," that's an exaggeration. "Oh, no, that's an exaggeration. Why, she can make him jump by merely crooking her little finger at him."—Cleveland Leader.

The Embryo Humorist. "Who is that dark complexioned boy behind the bar?" "That's Yellow Jack." "Why do you call him that?" "Because he's catching."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sorry For Him. Footpad—Hands up! Citizen—No use, my friend. I'm just back from the seashore. Footpad—Poor chap! Here's a quarter.—Philadelphia North American.

No-To-Bac For Fifty Cents. Guaranteed tobacco habit cure, makes weak men strong, blood pure. 50c. Six weeks.

MACKINTOSHES FOR GENTLEMEN, INVERNESS CLOAKS FOR LADIES.

The recent wet spell causes one to think of garments to keep out the rain and dampness, and also to wonder how and where just what is wanted may be secured. It is out of the question for a country store to keep a stock of these goods on hand, as there are too many styles, grades and sizes; therefore, we have secured a sample outfit from one of the largest Rubber Goods houses in the country, and can furnish, in two or three days, just the size and kind of garment wanted.

Men's Mackintoshes, Ladies' Inverness Cloaks, Overcoats!

We have several specialties in Men's Overcoats—Black and Blue, smooth coats—which cannot be secured later in the season. Storm Coats, also, should be bought now, as prices are advancing. Whether it be Clothing, Hats, or Wearables. We can also furnish the same garments for Boy's and Misses. Call and examine the samples, and leave your order. We not only get just what you want, but get it at a price LOWER than any dealer can offer, who attempts to keep the goods in stock. The greatest advantage in buying in this way is, that you get NEW, FRESH COATS—not some that have been carried for six months or a year, and have already lost their virtue. Rubber becomes damaged by age.

THE NEW STORE! You don't have to strain your eyes to see the BARGAINS we have in our different Departments. We are here for all. Our description can only invite you to come. Illustrations may impart an idea of what we mean to show, but nothing short of a personal visit on your part can let you know how PEERLESS is this New Stock of ours.

Winter is coming, and you need Blankets. 10-4 Gray Blankets, 39c a pair; 10-4 White Blankets, all wool, $1.49. Ask to see our $4.25 Best Blanket. Comforts, yes Comforts, extra fine, 79c.

Novelty Dress Patterns. this Fall, are immense. "Yes, I want a dress, but I don't want one like Maria Jones." We have them in patterns, and no two alike.

CAPE TALK. That is the talk at present. Flush Capes in all the latest styles. Astrachan Capes and Coats, Double Cape, good cloth, $1.39. Children's Coats, all prices from $1.75 up.

OUR SHOE DEPARTMENT is fitted with all the latest and best styles. Ladies' Fine Dongola Button and Lace Shoes, 89c. Men's good Heavy Boots, $1.19.
