Orders already given by the rail roads in the United States for steel rails to be delivered in 1904 indicate that improvement work is to be carried on to an even greater extent than during the past year. The placing of orders up to the present time amounts to 1,100,000 tons for delivery next year, which is over one third of the total capacity of all the steel rail mills in the country. Independent of the imported rails the consumption by the various systems throughout the country represents an expenditure this year of $82,600,000. The or ders given for rails to be delivered next year amount in value to $95,200,

The session opened by a presentation of the "keys of the city" by Mayor Smith, and an address of welcome by Hon J. E. R. Wood. Other features of the event were a trolley excursion to Braddock Heights and the placing of a handsome wreath, with appropriate services, on the grave of Francis Scott Key; a large number also visited the grave of Barbara Fritchie.

The most important act of the session was in providing for the issue of the Camp Fire, monthly, to every member of the order in the state, the appropriation to that organ having been increased for the purpose. Important amendments and resolutions, of interest to the order, were adopted. Altogether, the proceedings were of a decidedly lively and interesting character.

Teachers in Demand in Penna.

The imperative demand at present is for good teachers in the public schools. While salaries have been in creased in some counties, with a few exceptions, they have been standing still, if not retrograding. Our last legislature realized this and passed the law fixing salaries to go into effect one year hence. Teachers have been leaving the profession for which they qualified and fitted themselves. They have been entering the employ of railroads and other large corporations, where the salaries are more remunerative and where they find constant employment the year through. These things have created a demand for teachers. You will observe the demand is for No. 1. The reason for this is that it is this class and grade that s receiving calls to other occupations where the salaries are better.

wealth, the directors of the districts must awaken to the situation, or they will fall to the rear of the procession. Some of our Normal Schools have lengthened the term of graduation. It now requires three years for the work formerly completed in two. Naturaly, they are fitting and turning out better prepared teachers. We cannot expect to hold good teachers long, at salaries of $30 and $35 per month, while other sections offer $50 and $60. -Gettysburg News.

Cantaloupes and Fruit.

The peach crop or, rather, the failure of the peach crop, is blamed for the over-production of cantaloupes. When the farmer realized that his fruit trees had been nipped by frost he set out to plant cantaloupes in the Sharrer, of Westminster, are at Mrs. hope of recouping his losses on peach-This he did in such an energet-

Peaches from the south bring $1 a basket, whereas this time last year the price married, and wish them happiness While the average farmer lost this year on peaches, and perhaps on cantaloupes, he may yet wipe out at least a part of his losses with his profits on tomatoes. He planted tomatoes for the same reason that he went into cantaloupes, with the added inducement that canning factories were established at convenient points. canner, of course, encouraged the farmer to plant tomatoes for the canning factory. The crop is a large one, but in quality it is said to be slightly below the standard. The watermelon crop, also, is reported to be a short one, and prices from $8 to $15 per 100 are considered

To Strike Next Year.

It is now reported from the coal regions that there will be no strike this year, but that next year-Presidential election year-will likely see the battle reopened for another settlement of "grievances," and incion the result of the election, that they will compel the operators to grant the demands of the miners.

For a cool exhibition of straight-out blackmail, this sort of calculating would be hard to beat. It is to be hoped that before that time something in the shape of legislation may be accomplished which will prevent labor leaders, with such a stock in trade, from paralyzing business, throwing the whole country into a furore and poor people into suffering. If the grievances (?) of the minersand we have always considered them magnified-are to be brought to the front in a year, because of the helpful agency of a Presidential campaign, rather than because of their honest existence as grievances, the people will have their eyes opened to a danger greater than that, if possible, of the monopoly of coal.

This consummation would serve to wipe away the last vestige of doubt as to the true aim of organized labor in the coal regions. There would be then revealed that it is might, rather than right, which inspires the majority of strikes, and the demands for shorter hours and more pay, irrespective of the loss and suffering which might follow to the rest of the

We hope, for the sake of the honor of organized labor as a whole, that place. there is no such present intention as the one reported. It would represent a degree of inhumanity, and a desire for control, by force, of the price of labor, entirely out of keeping with moters into universal contempt. But, notwithstanding this, we can see in the intimation the chance for the poto an absolute reality.

Between the heartlessness of combined capital, the monopolistic tendencies of labor unions, and the unscrupulous and dishonest practices in politics, this country seems to be getting into a dangerous sea, and the history of the next twenty years will likely excel that of any other like period, in social changes. After a while, it will be healthy for this country to become involved in a war with some other great nation, in order to distract its attention from its own

Public Sentiment.

As a result of the consideration of the evils, great and small, which beset the country, many become pessimistic and see nothing in the future but disaster, ruin, and complete chaos. The truth is, the country is further from such a possibility than it has ever been in its history, because of a more highly intelligent, and quickerto-act, public sentiment. Was it not would be little real use to picture year ago. future ills, but, "forewarned, forearmed" is a good motte, and, even the pronounced pessimist must be given place as a useful citizen.

When one is thoroughly grounded in his faith in the ultimate good sense of the American people, and in their capacity for helping themselves out of tight places, he may be excused for periodical scolding; there is no more agreeable personage in any community than the optimist, who sees everything at its best, and scouts danger; physician, simply because his medi-

Among the later Presidents there was a crave for a rural retreat. President Cleveland bought a little house on Tennallytown road, just a few miles from the White House, and there he spent the hot nights of summer. President Arthur was the last chief executive to use the President's cottage at the Soldiers' Home, but Hayes made frequent use of it. This is a modest little structure, but it has no advantages of privacy, and because of its public character none of the late Presidents desired to occupy it. New Windsor, Md. A BRIEF HISTORY

In the Empire family we have never been guilty of undue pride of birth. We have not appealed to the world for patronage because we were one of the oldest families of Separators, or because we were the original and "only" Separator, rather seeking public favor strictly on the present day merits of our machine. The Company was organized in America, in 1889, and was first known as the United States Butter Extractor Co. It was the out-growth of a Company organized in Sweden the previous year for the purpose of putting on the market a machine designed to produce butter immediately from new This machine was first put on the market in 1890, and was followed after by a machine we called the "United States Separator," and entered into a contract with the Vermont Farm Machine Co., of Bellows Falls, Vt., to act as our agents. Later on, about the year 1894, we terminated our contract with the Vermont Farm Machine Co., selling them the patent rights of the selling them the patent rights of the old U. S. Separator, and began the manufacture of the Empire machine. Of course, the Empire of 1895 was not the equal of the Emire of 1903; there have been very many improvements.

The original Empire factory was in Newark, N. J., in rented quarters, with not much more equipment than could be set in one corner of our office to-day. In 1900 they went to Bloomfield, N. J., erecting one of the largest factories in the world of its kind; the floor space of the plant, exclusive of floor space of the plant, exclusive of warehouse, being 100,000 square feet.

"He that winneth souls is wise." "Win"

winner is tact.

Paul exemplifies in a large measure the necessity and the successfulness of tact in dealing with men from a religlous standpoint. He was a great soul winner and most successful in developing Christian character. And one of which is about all the time. I never the secrets of his success with all nationalities and classes of people was duck. I shall never want so many his tactfulness. "Unto the Jews," he says, "I became as a Jew that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them under the law; to them that are without law, as withnoble sense become all things to all men. He was not one thing to a Jew and something that was inconsistent with that to a Roman. He studied the dispositions of all classes and adapted Christ. He talked to men in a language they could understand and presented Christ from a viewpoint that they could comprehend, and thus only can any one be successful in dealing with men in their relation to God in Jesus Christ.

To be able to adapt himself to the peculiar dispositions of men required thought and study on the part of the apostle. A Jew had to be dealt with in one way and a gentile in another, and to deal with each in the proper way required a certain kind of knowledge which can only come from study and experience. Parents to deal suc-Christian people with the unsaved and irreligious must study their particular dispositions and thus learn how to reach them. Nuts Are Nutritious. Nuts are a most nutritious food. People who eat fruits freely and pronounce them particularly wholesome food product. Even doctors recommend them as not only wholesome, but very nutritious. Nuts are considered by some as very indigestible, but if eaten at proper times and in proper quantities they will not injure the most delicate stomach. It is a good thing to eat them during meals and with salt. The salted peanut is almost as much a factor of the dinner as the salted almond and has in its favor its inexpensiveness and its greater proportion of fatty matter. Nuts need very good mastication, which is important in regard to any food. We are told by scientists that "peanuts are very far ahead of almost all or at least a great many nitrogenous foods. Beefsteak has far less nourishment, and even oatmeal, that is universally considered an almost perfect food, does not furnish the nutriment that peanuts do." Delhi, the Gem Market. Delhi remains the center of all Indian art industries. The most skillful jewelers and gem cutters, painters, carvers, embroiderers and craftsmen whose creations could tempt the purse or minister to the luxury of the greater and lesser Moguls have gathered there for centuries, and trade habits are but slowly broken. Along Chandni Chauk plump merchants in snow white clothes and tiny jewelers' turbans invite one to their whitewashed, felt floored inner rooms, and there, treading catlike in stockinged feet, they unroll gold and silver embroideries, Kashmir shawls and "camel's hair" stuffs

Some of the Kings of Poland. Once upon a time there were four kings named Boleslas who reigned over far away Poland, and, although no one might care to study the history of Poland to find out about them, their history sums up in a word the characteristics of each. The first was the "Lion Hearted," like the famous English Richard; the second was the "Init the best cholera medicine in the trepid," while the third and fourth were entirely different men, being the "Wry Mouth" and the "Curled," and there you have an idea of the four Polish Boleslases. To further learn what other varieties of kings ruled in Poland in bygone days one need but run over the list and find the "Pacific," the "Careless." the "Just." the "White," the "Black" and the "Short." These names are suggestive in many ways, for they afford an insight into the history of the time as well as describing the monarchs.

A Postal Clerk's Feat of Memory. The wonderfully retentive memory of railway postal clerks in the service of Uncle Sam was recently exemplified by Frank J. Thrasher of Roxbury, who sorts the mails between Boston and New York. Mr. Thrasher has been in the railway postal service for about a dozen years. A short time ago he took the "case examination," embracing all of the post offices in New York state and also in the New England district. In New York state there are 37,000 post offices and in the New England states about 5,000, making a total of about 42,000 places to which mail in those districts may be directed and which have to be handled by the railway mail clerks during the quick transit of trains between Boston and

New York or Albany. The "case examination" taken by Mr. Thrasher consisted in the sorting of a series of cards representing the whole number of 42,000 post offices embraced in the above named districts and properly distributing them. His task was accomplished without an error, and his distribution was at the rate of 331/2 cards per minute In performing this wonderful feat of memory Mr. Thrasher has the distinction of having broken the record, and ceived a letter of commendation from

The City of Seville. Seville is today as much a Moorish city as it was 300 years ago at the expulsion of the Saracens. The arrangement and plan of the dwellings are the same as on the Euphrates and Tigris, but they are more beautified and ennobled by art and by the wealth which these Moslems in Spain and Sicily had at their command. Why Should We Work? Work is activity in some phase of our life. Life is manifested in activity, and inactivity would be stagnation, which would be fatal to life. In the universe wherever there is life there is activity. This is true in the vegetable, the animal and the human worlds. This activity is a necessity which runs through all organic life. The life that is not crowned with ennobling work of some kind, either for one's own livelihood or for the good of others, is an empty life-an abnormal

Work is natural; idleness unnatural Work builds up, and inactivity tears down. Idleness is a violation of our being. Hence it is unmoral. There are manifold reasons why we should work and no reason why we choose work of some kind in obedience to the universal law that we see running all creation. He who was of the opinion that "the man who does not work should not eat" realized the demoralizing influence of a life spent in idleness.-American Looked Like Her Father's Work. A certain surgeon had three leg am putation cases in a week. The unusual number of serious and similar opera tions naturally caused talk in the sur geon's household, and his little daugh ter was greatly interested. A few days after the last operation the surgeon's wife and daughter were rummaging in the attic. In a trunk was found a daguerreotype depicting a girl of about eight years of age. The portrait through a peculiarity of pose showed only one leg of the subject, the other being doubled up under her in a manner truly feminine.
