TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1903.

ELECTION IN TANEYTOWN.

Large Number of Rejected Ballots. Facts and Incidents of the Day.

Election day, in Taneytown, wa possibly the most remarkable event o the kind ever held in the District, ow ing to the uncertainty connected with the possibility of the large vote (714 being cast within the alloted ten hours, and because of the rejected ballots. Voting did not commence un til 11 minutes atter 8 o'clock, but, from that time on, for several hours the room was crowded, and at times uncomfortably so. As the Judges persisted in hunting the names twice on the registry books, voting was much delayed. Shortly before 10 o'clock, E. E. Reindollar protested against this method, when a change was made to hunting each name but once—when the yoter presented his bailot for depositing in the box. After this, voting proceeded more rapidly, and for several hours following there was ample time for all to yote, and also for carrying out the predilection of the judges for their construction of

That burlesque on the free exercise of citizenship, the "instruction" room, was numerously in evidence. The giving of "instruction" to yoters when one simply desires to vote his sentiments straight is one of the hamiliar. ments straight, is one of the humiliat-ing features of the present law, and was not confined to one party. These rooms brought to light many cases which were positively pathetic, as there were shown up the difficulties imposed by the law on many of our most respected citizens, whose right to the easiest possible method of expressing their political sentiments is

The 600th ballot was cast at 3.45. The 600th ballot was cast at 3.45, after which the voting was very slow, there being ample time for many more votes to have been cast, and at 6 p. m., the number was 651. Of these, three were rejected by the judges because of improper folding, while one who applied for assistance could not remember the name of a could not remember the name of a single candidate. That the vote came out so fully, and was cast as easily, was due wholly to the solicitation of the RECORD, and of those who had local management of the campaign.
Out of the 651 votes cast, 189 were rejected, of which, 103 were apparently republican, 79 democratic, and 7 ly republican, 79 democratic, and 7 prohibition. As there are but 13 colored voters in the district, 176 white voters were disfranchised by the ballot, which was aimed at the 13 colored ones. And yet, a few readers have criticized the RECORD for opposing the ballot and election laws.

There is just one other phase of the result, on which Taneytown yoters must place their own construction—the immense number of rejected ballots, as compared with other districts. Is it true that the average of intelligence in Taneytown district is so much below that of other districts in the county? Or, is it true that the Judges in the other districts took account of the clear intent of the lowed the strict letter of the law

Considering the election, locally, it can be said without fear of contradiction, or other construction, that a very deep feeling of resentment has taken hold of hundreds of our voters, not only against the election law, but against individuals, the effect of which will last for years. The criminal ingenuity of some who "boodled" yoters, as well as those who permitted their votes to be bartered away like merchandise, are matters of more or less common notoriety, and merit the contempt of all christian people.

One of the tricks, which developed at the count, was naying voters write on the ballot a name for surveyor and voting for it, thus supplying to the watchers incontestable evidence of having "delivered the goods." The same trick was worked in Middleburg, and probably other districts in the county.

The rejected ballots were due to numerous causes, mostly of a trifling character, the intent of the voter being clearly shown, as a rule. Many were rejected because the yoter evidently counted the number of candidates voted for by placing the point of the pencil opposite each name, leaving a slight dot; others, through pressing too hard, forced the point of the pencil through the paper; some of the marks extended slightly beyond the box, denoting nervousness, or poor eyesight; some of the marks were made by double strokes of the pencil; others voted for too many candidates for a particular office, while a few were clearly marked by illiterate voters who thought themselves too smart to receive instructions. The counting of the ballots continued uninterruptedly during the night, and until Wednesday noon. One of the clerks, Robert V. Arno became quite sick and was unable stay to the end, while the others w on the verge of being worn out und the strain, and would not likely co sent to serve in like positions again

Mrs. Stephen Adams.

Mrs. Stephen Adams (nee Margaret Diffe dal) was a daughter of Peter Diffendal, where we was buried in St. Joseph's Catholic Cemeter more than fifty years ago. She was bon March 16th., 1831, near Liberty, Md., when her childhood days were happily spent, wit father, mother, four brothers and two siters. Samuel Diffendal, of near Smithsbur, Felix Diffendal, of Emmitsburg, and Mr. Mary McDivitt, of Baltimore, survive her. Before carriages were in use, she, wit brothers and sisters rode twenty-five mile on horseback through heat of summer an cold of winter to attend church here in Tar eytown. Missed day by day from its accustomed place
But cleansed and saved and perfected by grace; One more in Heaven!

One less at home! One voice of welcome hushed, and evermore One farewell word spoken; on the shore, Where parting comes not, one soul landed more— One more in Heaven!

One less at home! Chill as the earth-born mist the thought would rise,
And wrap our footsteps round and dim our four legislative districts of Baltimore eyes, But the bright sunbeam darteth from the city and 16 of the 23 counties. The One more in Heaven!

One more at home! This is not home, where, cramped in earthly mold,

Our sight of Christ is dim—our love is cold,
But there, where face to face we shall behold
Is home and Heaven! One less at home! It's pain, it's sorrow, and it's toil to share; One less the pligrim's daily cross to bear, One more the crown of ransomed souls to

At home in Heaven! One more in Heaven!

Another thought to brighten cloudy days, Another theme for thankfulness and praise, Another link on high our souls to raise, To home and Heaven!

One more at home!
That home where separation cannot be,
That home where none are missed eternally.
Lord Jesus, grant us all a place with Thee,
At home in Heaven!
Her daughter, Mrs. D. B. Shaum.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad and Loving Remembrance of my be-loved wife, Rebecca Hawk, who depart-ed this life, Nov. 2, 1902, one year ago. "Gone but not forgotten!"

'Tis hard to break the tender cord When love has bound the heart; 'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word, Must we forever part. Dearest loved one, we have laid thee In the peaceful grave's embrace, But thy mem'ry will be cherished 'Till we see thy heavenly face.

We shall never forget thee, And with future showers O'er thy grave fresh and brightly We will strew the flowers. But is she dead? No, No, she lives! Her happy spirit flies To Heaven above, and there receives The long-expected prize.

Voting in the County.

From every district in the County ome reports of cutting, vote buying and rejected ballots, and a large stay at-home vote. The counting was not completed, in even the smallest distriets, until after midnight, while a number of the larger districts were not counted until daylight, Taneytown not finishing until noon. Everywhere, dissatisfaction with the ballo was emphatic, and both parties lost from improperly marked ballots. The large size of the ballot and the smallness of the shelves in the booths, led to the spoiling of many ballots, because of the pencil punching holes through, there not being sufficient room for the ballot to be spread out flat. Many who thus spoiled their ballots, either did not observe it, or thought they would be counted anyway, with the result that they were rejected at the count in some districts.

The official ballot, for the kind, was as plain and fair as it could be printed, the only objection being to the peculiar plan of folding, which first required a very narrow fold, and then several broader ones. The booths, in many instances, were dark, and, in the distincts where the officials hunted each name twice on the register, voting was extremely slow and trying, especially to old and infirm vot ers who were required to jostle their way into the polling room.

The following table gives the vote of each district, this year, as compared with that of the county election two years ago. We have been unable the entire Republican county ticket, except Walter B. Krantz, for Register to secure the rejected vote in every the yote counted this year is not only considerably less than that of two years ago, but abnormally less than the registered vote, notwithstanding an unusually active campaign. The irresistible conclusion is that hundreds of voters were either paid to stay at home, or exhibited a remarkable lack of interest in the issues.

Harry, who was a member of the last House, by only 16 votes.
Arthur D. Willard, Republican, is elected state's attorney by a majority of over 600 over J. E. R. Wood, and Jacob Rohrback, Democratic nominee tor re-election as state senator, is defeated by Dr. D. M. Devilbiss by a majority of about the same size. Dr. S. T. Haffner also defeats Jacob M. Newman for the clerk of the Circuit Court by an apparent majority of over 600. "There is a rumor in railroad circles here to the effect that the shops of the Western Maryland Railroad will be removed from Union Bridge to this city. The rumor is based on the report that the Wabash has purchased 200 acres of land along the Antietam creek, near the Antietam Paper Mill, east of the city, as a site for the shops It is a fact that the right-of-way purchasing agent for the railroad has been in Hagerstown for several days, and an agreement with the owner o the land was reached as to the price and the company has an option on the land. The railroad officials neither deny nor affirm the rumor."

Rocky Ridge Warehouse Burned.

The large warehouse of Mrs. Phoebe Biggs at Rocky Ridge was destroyed by fire on Monday night. The Western Maryland Railroad ticket office was located in the building, the main part of which was occupied by Eichelberger & Barrick, grain dealers.
The railroad books and most of the office's contents were saved, but Eichelberger & Barrick lost 1400 bushels of wheat, two carloads of hay and other property. Across the track from the warehouse was located the waiting room of the Western Maryland and Emmitsburg Railroad, a frame building, which caught fire and was completely destroyed, together with a long platform. The fire started in the second story of the warehouse, and its

The Battle Ended.

The reading public-except that portion of it which never gets too much of politics-is profoundly glad that the campaign in Maryland is over; and it is to be hoped that the politicians and candidates who felt compelled to lie, directly or indirectly, about "the other side," both through the press and on the stage, are perfeetly willing to give their much abused consciences a rest, and to try, henceforth, to make atonement for their sins and to gradually regain their self-respect.

A great many harsh things have been said between Mason & Dixon's line and the Potomac, during the past month. A great many things, for which, those who uttered them would scorn ownership in any other cause than that of politics; yet, nine out of ten of the guilty ones are members "in good and regular standing" in some church. Politics, as it is played, is as dirty and dishonorable a profession as exists on this planet of ours, be it said to our shame as free Ameri-

Wishing for manufacturing establishments is a habit common to the average small town, as if the whole shops and factory hands. The question is debatable. Undoubtedly, there must be work to do if a town is to grow, and a growing town brings more business-also more business men. Growth and business, however, do not necessarily bring more prosperity; in fact, they are as apt to bring more chances for loss, and dangerous elements to society, neither of which are conducive to real prosperity and happiness.

But, aside from this phase of the general subject, manufacturing is generally considered such a good thing that it must be coaxed with subsidies. We are inclined to the belief that this is all wrong. If a manufacturing plant cannot be placed on a self-supporting basis by its promoters, or later, even with the subsidy, it for their friends. During Jackson's Louis Exposition for its great agriculwould fail, and cause the loss of local investments. We believe in municipal, as well as individual, encouragement, up to a certain point, but not to the extent that newcomers should be met with brass bands, banquets, and more or less speculative stock taking, or by being given valuable franchises, which are often public nuisances. Many a town has lived to regret such foolish scrambles for manufacturing greatness, and even in cases in which enterprises have been permanently secured, their cost has proven a veritable burden.

Manufacturing of the best sort is eyolved from local genius. Civil Service Examinations.

The United States Government is the largest single employer of labor sires. Political platforms, party in this country. When it pays wages, leaders and partisan schemes, when be it the President's salary, or the day's wages of a common laborer, every penny comes from the people. Therefore, when Uncle Sam pays for a day's work, he expects and should get the best service for the money. Often he has received the worst service instead of the best. Formerly, many men who had worked to elect their favorite candidate, thought it just and proper that they should be recompensed by "getting an office." sum of prosperity depended on mills, Many offices in the navy yards and other places, were usually given to numbers of seekers a few days before election, in order to obtain their votes. Having no use for these men after the election, they were turned out. It was yery difficult to stop this, as politicians deemed it to their interest, to thus buy votes. What is true of the national government, is also true of each state, city or town. They have paid the highest wages for the poorest kind of work. Civil Service reform had two things to accomplish; to prevent the government service from being misused by politicians, and to provide for the shoosing of suitable men for the public service, on truly democratic prin-

Separators and Agents.

Eight years' experience with representatives of Cream Separators.

In all this time it seems that most of them are hot air, with which they are filled before they start operating in the field. I saw at a glance that the hot air worked to perfection with the prospective purchaser, near town as the latter was overcome by the heat, but just as soon as that hot air comes in contact with the EMPIRE pusher, the result is a spontaneous combustion, and after the debris is all cleared away you will find the EMPIRE screwed firmly to the floor near town, and a new member is added to that famous EMPIRE family, and Mr. Farmer near town is heard singing that beautiful song in the "Good Old Winter Time," which is as follows:

We skim our milk cold
With the Empire bowl
In the good old winter time.
And we certainly can see
It's all they claim it to be
In the good old winter time.

It's then we can tell
Why it beats all other Separators
And all in one voice we do yell.
Skimming with the Empire is enjoying,
While with the other Separator its annoying In the good old winter time CHORUS.

In the good old winter time
The Empire is first in line
And strolling down the Scrap Pile lane
The other Separators you'll find.
The Empire's the machine to skim cold milk,
And that's a very sure sign
Why we farmers want the Empire machine,
In the good old winter time. D. W. GARNER, Agent, TANEYTOWN, MD.

Elijah the prophet was a native of Tishbeh, in Gilead. His parentage and early history are unknown, nor have we any systematic account of the life of Elijah such as we have of Joseph, Moses and David. "He bursts upon our view without previous notice and disappears by a miracle." His life and character were noted for their boldness and ruggedness. God used him mightily in the reign of the wicked Ahab and in him has exemplified the sternness of character that should adorn his people in the midst of periods of great moral decline among the people of the world.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modular of the plant of forty we found ourselves numbered with the great mass known as ordinary men. The remarkable boy, who was sure he would become a president of the United States, settles down to become a good book-keeper, or a bank clerk or a farmer. He may be a very useful and honorable man in his calling, but he is only an "ordinary man." But, after all, what would the world do if we were all Napoleons or millionaires? If we were all Napoleons or millionaires? If we were all Vanderbilt do formen to keep his books, or engineers to run his trains? Ordinary men, after all, are very necessary, and the world can not get along without them.

As a rule, the ordinary men are the best husbands and fathers and most hunder of the birds as a wash house for washing clothes. It should also stand as near the water supply as possible and may be a plain, inexpensive building. My father built such a house in which our hogs were scalded, dressed and hung on a cold day. At one end there was a chimney with a large fireplace and trane, in which two big kettles were though a hole in the floor, lying at an angle of about 45 degrees, to make it easier to put a hog in and draw him out. If the hog was large and heavy there was a rope and pulley blocks attached to a rafter overhead, by means of which the hog was easily hoisted and soused in the barrel and, when the hair was removed, drawn up and hung on the joists overhead when the hair was removed, drawn up and hung on the joists overhead was house for washing clothes. Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

world can not get along without them.

As a rule, the ordinary men are the best husbands and fathers and most faithful to their duties to their duties to their church. Napoleons and Vanderbilts live so much in the eye of the world and have so many great undertakings they do not get time to enjoy their family life and they forget their religious duties. It is a blessing to the world, therefore, that most men are ordinary men. The good, honest, intelligent, ordinary men are the bone and sinew of the nation. The so called middle class, those who are neither rich nor very poor, the intelligent, industrious business men, mechanics and farmers, they constitute the bulwark of the nation. There is a better ambition, therefore, than to be great or rich as Charles Kingsley has so beautifully said:

"Be good,my dear, and let who will be clever, being partly cooked, will scrape off the water too hot, for a "cold scald" can be reaedied by an application of hot water, but a scald with the water too hot "sets" the hair so that the skin, being partly cooked, will scrape off the mation. Social Washington.

Ten years have brought a number of changes to Washington society. The dignified old Southerners, who made up the residental set, have been livened and freshened, and, if the truth must be told, somtimes pushed to the rear by an influx of rich young men, who have built or are building palaces around the circles. In addition to this, there are now for the first time adequate apartment-houses and hotels for the man who desires to spend the winter in Washington and he has at home.

The diplomatic society was never more pleasant than it is today. There are more ambassadors and younger great demand. Official society is predicted always on the president; of course. Mr. Roosevelt is the greatest entertainer at the White House since the days of President Arthur. POWER FROM THE HUDSON.

How the River Is Lifted and Then Tumbled at Spiers Falls. New York state has other water power resources besides Niagara. For some years past the stately Hudson has also been in harness, and its energy at Mechanicsville is in daily use, thousands of horse power being transmitted daily to the great General Electric shops at Schenectady, miles away. The St. Lawrence and the Hudson rivers could twist the whole New York Central railroad system around their little backwaters, so to speak, and presumably they will be allowed to do this some day. In the meantime their industrial utility is enormous, and with proper forestry it will not diminish yet awhile.

The latest conquest of Hudson river power is at Spiers falls, at the foot of Mount McGregor, where General Grant died, about sixty miles south of the miles northward of Albany. At this point the river has lately been dammed up by a stone wall over 1,800 feet long, 100 feet high and containing 180,000 cubic feet of masonry. Thus is the good old river lifted fifty feet above its former bed and then made to do a lofty tumble of eighty feet back again, in the course of which it is to deliver over 80,000 horse power for electrical transmission to Albany, Troy, Amsterdam, Schenectady and any other place holding out its little tin cup for a share.

To show how electrical energy can be transmogrified and whipped around the stump it may be noted that the electric motors doing most of the hard work in the Spiers falls construction get their current from the earlier plant at Mechanicsville, nearly twenty-five miles away to the south, so that if the Hudson is not exactly like the siege of Paris in 1870, "fried in its own fat," it is at least being fettered by its own foam.-Review of Reviews.

Measure Your Sleeping Room,

Each person requires 1000 cubic feet of air in the sleeping room. Measure the room you sleep in, and see if you have 1000 cubic feet. Multiply the length by the breadth, and then multiply this product by the height of the room, and if this equals 1000 you have 1000 cubic feet. For instance, suppose your room is 10 feet square, and 10 feet high, then you have exactly 1000 cubic feet in your sleeping miles from Huntsville I will agree to

A room of this size, if it is kept well over 11 feet square.

From these examples anyone can figure up for himself the size of his ble value of the property of Madison sleeping room. Should he discover that he is sleeping in an undersized room, and finds it impossible to secure a larger room, he should then use greater vigilance to keep it constantly ventilated, so as to secure as frequent a change of air in the room as guns. ALABAMA PROGRESS. Plans For Good Roads Exhibits at RESULTS OF BUILDING GOOD ROADS IN MADISON COUNTY.

Improving the Highways of the District Brought Growth and Prosperity-The Taxable Value of Property Greatly Increased.

About twelve years ago in the county of Madison, Ala., paralyzed as it was by the effects of war, about a dozen men, seeing the horrible condition of things, their homes devastated and turned over to ignorance and poverty, saw that something had to be done, said Charles P. Lane in an address delivered before the national good roads convention. We could see nothing else in my country that class which calls crease the interest which is felt in this innovations or changes; they fought life is there. I can remember when I us, and at the first fall they beat us was living on a farm myself. The farm 1,005 votes before the people. That was was not on a turnpike, but three miles in the fall, when the roads were good. We immediately went back to the Alabama legislature and obtained sanction for another election. We tried then in February, and never shall I forget that campaign, made on horseback over hills and bottoms, and before October and November there was a change of sentiment from 1,005 votes against us to

1.855 votes for free pikes. the pikes. We did it in rather a crude superior roadways of that continent. We issued bonds and we put down way at the start, but we learned as we went along and as we gathered experi-It's shameful when youth fails to ence. They cut off from the Tennessee mountains to the from the Tennessee mountains to the parties of three or four vehicles and Tennessee river, demanding another hundred miles of pike, and I believe large amounts of money in the country another $125,000 or $150,000 has been issued to build another hundred miles And now what was the result? You Itself sufficient to pay the interest upof pike. can start from the beautiful and historic city of Huntsville today-then, ple, the county almost depopulated, to have good roads regardless of their scarcely any northern men there at all, and no white people lived in the country-you can start out today from that beautiful little city and go out on a good country road, the Milton pike, and if you can find a brier patch in ten eat the briers. All along that road from Huntsville to Milton, a distance respiration. If it is smaller than this of fifteen miles, there are beautiful it is insufficient. If your sleeping room is only 8 feet high it should be a little and an air of general prosperity and civilization prevails. Not only that, that we paid off those bonds and
