GOOD ROADS DISCUSSED.

struction of Stone Roads.

The good roads question, which is being very much discussed just now, deserves the attention of this Club. A Joint committee from Copperville and Union Bridge Farmers' Clubs met at Reuben Sayler's, Dec. 18th., to consider the merits and demerits of the bill on improved mediant. feature of the bill-that requiring the petitioners for opening roads to pay 10 per-cent of the cost—was condemned by the committee unanimous. ly. The county to pay half expense of building the road and after built to keep in repair, was not at all approved; in fact, the bill as a whole was not very heartily endorsed.

was not very heartily endorsed.

We think that very many of our good roads advocates have little idea of the cost of building and repair of macadamized roads. Would it not be well to inquire into the cost? It is characteristic of the American to ask the auditorium of the Westminster have formally declared the aben remarked, that, on resurrection day, when all shall stand before the great white throne, some Yankee will ask, "What did that our good roads will cost. of 9 inches of stone, which is a light covering. There are 5280 ft. in a mile and a perch of stone to every 2 ft. in length will require 2640 perches to the mile, which at 80 cents per perch gives $2112.00 cost per mile for stone, to say nothing for cost of grading, which in many places will add from $200. to

Perhaps you will say, "80 cents per perch for stone is too much." Let us go into details. Quarrying a perch of stone is 25 cents everywhere, hauling is 25 cents, breaking 25 cents, stone in the ground at lowest, 5 cents. The price for hauling is where the stone is close to the road; they will cost much more where the haul is a long one. I think it safe to say the average cost for stone, taking the State or County at large, will be $1.00 per perch, which will make cost of stone alone $2640. per mile. There are about 14,000 miles of County roads in the State, which,

If Uncle Sam would do that way, he could build our roads for us, but, he reverses H. Harris to Miss Mary Bair, both of Rome's policy. After licking Mexico this county. he gave her $15,000,000-a kind of soothing plaster. After spanking Spain, another plaster of $10,000,000 was applied. Death of Mrs. George K. Duttera.

(For the RECORD.) On January 9, Mrs. M. Jane Duttera, nee Myerly, beloved wife of Geo. K. Duttera, of Taneytown district, departed this life. Although Mrs. Duttera had been in ill health for the Action of Linwood Sabbath School, on past 13 months, her death was rather nnexpected. During her long illness and at times suffering intensely, she never forgot the rites of hospitality and always welcomed visitors with a smile and word of good cheer. In the family circle she will be missed, and in her death the church loses a devoted and charitable member. Services prior to interment were held at her late home, on the 13th., Rev. Ditzler, of Mt. Jackson, Va., a former pastor, having charge. A large con-course of sorrowing friends followed her remains to the place of burial, Keysyille cemetery.

Mrs. M. Jane Duttera was born near Westminster, and moved to her present heme 30 years ago this coming spring She was the daughter of Rebecca and Jacob Myerly, and leaves one brother, M. J. the Death of Mrs. Joseph Englar.

The members of the Linwood Union Sabbath School, have heard, with deep regret, of the death of Mrs. Joseph Englar, and desire to place on record this expression of the great sorrow which all feel, and the great loss the school and community has sustained. Mrs. Englar was one of our charter members, and to her example and sound judgment we are all indebted to a greater or less degree. To few of its members, is this school more indebted for the work it has accomplished, than to Mrs. Englar.

As a woman, she was unpretending and sincere, kind and generous of heart, and during her late affliction, exhibiting a patience in suffering, above the average, and at all times displaying a cheerfulness of heart that could not but impress every one of her high christian life. Truly, 'she hath done what she could," and we bow in humble submission to a Divine Providence, knowing—"God's plans like lilies pure and white, unfold The members of the Linwood Union Sa

Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which she has exercised in the aid of our school, by service, contributions and counsel will be held in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That with deep sympathy for the bereaved relations of the deceased, we express our hope, that even so great a loss to us all may be over-ruled for good by Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That the removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this school, and will prove a serious loss to the community and the public.

Yet to reach that realm on the other shore, We must pass through a transient gloom, And must walk, unseen, unhelped, and alone, Through that covered bridge, The Tomb.

But we all pass over on equal terms,
For the universal toll
Is the outer garb, which the hand of God,
Has flung around the soul.

To climb up that golden ridge,
We must all lie down for one night's rest

Governor Smith was the first to face the assemblage, and as he stepped forward he was greeted with applause. He read his address from manuscript and spoke clearly and distinctly. His address was mainly devoted to the legislation passed during his administration, and to the financial condition of the state. His reference to the extra session and the results obtained from the measures then passed elicited loud applause.

When Mr. Warfield arose to begin his speech there was loud hand clapping. It had been announced that he would lay down his doctrines and principles in his inaugural and the politicians that crowded the chamber were eager to hear what he had to say. The first sign of their approval appeared when the Governor-elect referred to the need of a sewerage system in Baltimore city. The Baltine.

The Outlook for Farmers.

Among the reasons given for the tedly lacking in Carroll. large number of persons retiring from farming each year, the one of "scarcity of help," is probably most prominent. This would be most serious, was it not for the compensating fact that farms are nevertheless still in demand, so that there is, as yet, scarcely any appreciable increase in the acreage of idle, or untilled land. If we are to regard scarcity of help as an actual and present excuse-and we think it is-it is an advance sign of a oath. The charge was that the Senfuture condition, either of idle land, or of a material change in farming person was produced.

These things of themselves count for prosperity, and the visible manifestation has been interesting. Seven years ago, banks were chiefly at the county seats, and large towns. Now scarcely a town of four hundred people exists in the West where there is not a bank. In the county seats where were two banks with small deposits now are four or five, each with more deposits than both the old institutions combined could show. While the number of banks has practically doubled, the deposits last September reached their high-water mark, the surplus and undivided profits likewise showing a most flat-tering condition. The Western bank that pays less than 15 per cent dividends is the exception.

The reduction of indebtedness has come along with the other signs of prosperity. Every mortgage has written in it an agreement on the part of the mortgagee that he will accept part or all of the principal in multiples of $100 at the time of any interest payment-it must have that or the loan cannot be made.

Topic.—How may I overcome my temptations?—I Cor. x, 12, 13; Heb. iv, 14-16. There is great hope and encouragement in this topic in that it suggests that temptations may be overcome. It would be useless to ask how to overcome them unless first convinced that they may be overcome. And this is the glorious truth. Temptations may be overcome. The adversary of the human soul has no supreme power. There is a power above his that has overcome and can still overcome him. We are not therefore to grow discouraged in our struggle against temptation and against sin. We are not engaged in a hopeless conflict. The battle may be won, and, this glorious fact being true. we should prayerfully and earnestly seek the method and, having it, use it. Temptations cannot be overcome in our own strength. This has been the delusion that has wrought the ruin of many in the conflict with temptation. Self confidence caused Samson's downfall. He trusted in himself more than in God, played with the tempter and was finally overcome. Self confidence also led to Simon Peter's overthrow. Trusting in himself, he proudly boasted: "Yea, though all forsake Thee, yet will not I. Though I die with Thee, I will not leave Thee." Yet a few hours after this proud boast Simon denied with an oath that he ever knew his Master. Self confidence is a forerunner of defeat. Man has some power of resistance, and he should use all his power against sin, but the power of Satan is greater than human power; hence that alone cannot save us. For this reason the Bible warns us against trust in self. "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." Since we cannot overcome temptation in our own strength, in whose strength can we? Only in the strength of God and His Son, Jesus Christ. "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to all men. But God is faithful who will not suffer you to be cold day tempted above what ye are able, but way of escape that ye may be able to points as we are, yet without sin," and the right hand of God making continual intercession for us and willing to present our petitions to the Father. "Let us, therefore, come boldly to the throne of grace that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need." God's power through Jesus Christ can save us from being overcome by the temptations and trials of life. God has a purpose in temptation. It is the common lot of all men to be tempted. Concerning temptation we need not complain. No favor is shown. All are tempted alike. But what does temptation matter if with the temptation God provides a way of escape or the power to bear it? This He can do drug store. and will do if we trust him. Realizing our own weakness, let us put all our trust in God, and then we can say with the apostle, "When I am weak, I am

How to Cure Cold Feet.

To cure cold feet, the Philadelphia Record says: "People who write or sew all day, or rather those who take but little exercise, may warm their feet without going to the fire. All that is necessary is to stand erect and very gradually to lift one's self up upon the tip of the toes, so as to put all the tendons of the foot at full strain. This is not to hop or jump up and down, but simply to rise—the slower the better—upon tiptoe, and to remain standing on the points of the toes as long as possible, then grad ually coming to the natural position. Repeat this several time, and by the amount of work the tips of the toes are made to do in sustaining the body's weight a sufficient and lively circulation is set up. Even the half trozen car-driver can carry this plan out. Heavy Loads on Narrow Tires Destructive to Highways. Laws should be passed in all states taxing heavily or prohibiting the running of narrow tired wagons on public roads, for they are a positive injury to all roads of every kind and grade, said a speaker at the national good roads convention. Good Road Notes

Stone, brick and steel tracks have not yet received the attention that they leserve on account of their comparative cheapness and durability. In this connection it is worthy of note that between Albany and Schenectady, N. Y., is a stone track road which is said to be fully as perfect as when it was built some fifty years ago.

A system of nearly 100 miles of excellent roads is found in Jasper county, Mo. The roadbed is first graded up with a considerable crown and with quite large ditches on each side. Conroy, who has come down here to spend the winter, was hunting through grocery and provision stores in search of Oregon desiccated soup vegetables. He was unable to find any, but insisted that he had been using soup made from them in Alaska all the time he had been there. When told that even if this was so there was no use for such here now, as the markets were full of all kinds of vegetables, he said he had become accustomed to the dried vegetables and liked them better than the fresh ones because they afforded a fine variety of seven different kinds and were ready to put in the pot at once. He finally found a man who had heard of the disintegrated, desiccated vegetables he was searching for and said they were put up for shipment to long, four inches broad and taper from Alaska by a man at Dayton, but they had never been introduced in the market here partly because there had been no demand for them, but mostly because there had never been any more
