COL. WM. A. MCKELLIP.

His Death in Magdeburg, Germany, caused by a Stroke of Apoplexy.

On Monday, the relatives of Col. Wm. A. McKellip, in this state, received the shocking intelligence of his death in Magdeburg, Germany, of apoplexy, resulting from a paralytic stroke received very recently. The exact date of his death, and length of illness, is not definitely known, as both letters and cablegrams fail to give details. He was in his 69th, year. His brother, John, of this place, received the following telegram, this Friday morning, from Mrs. McKellip, Bremen, Germany: "Will's body consigned to you, by express. When due in Baltimore-23rd. or 24th.—meet body there.

He served as deputy clerk in the Circuit Court for several years, and during the civil war recruited (1862) Company A and portions of Companies C and F of the 6th. Md. Regiment Vol. Infantry. He was offered the Colonelcy of the regiment, but declined, accepting second Lieutenancy, from which position he was promoted to Captain, Major, and finally Lieutenant Colonel of the reg-

His military career was highly honorable, and many unpublished acts of bravery might be mentioned. He was frequently commissioned as the bearer of important dispatches—most dangerous errands—and on one occasion of this kind was sent direct to President Lincoln, from whom he received, as a favor, for his regiment, an equipment of new Springfield rifles, the order for which, written by the President, was retained by the Colonel until his death as a treasured

Col. McKellip was warm hearted and impulsive by nature, which drew to him many strong friends. Possibly no man ever lived in Carroll county who rendered his friends more gratuitous favors, and his broad experience and resourcefulness made him a most valuable man, whether in public or private capacity. He was especially loved by the G. A. R., and in many ways aided in the upbuilding of that organization. No matter how engrossed he was in affairs of importance, the old soldier, and especially his comrades in arms, could always command his time and voice.

He was especially in demand as a Memorial Day orator, and it is probable that as frequently as any other man in the state he responded to such calls. He was brilliant and forceful as a speaker, having the faculty of impressing his hearers with his earnestness, and was especially well posted, not only on the events of the war, but on the issues which preceded and followed it; indeed, he was recognized as authority in such matters, and held close association, not only with those higher in military circles, but enjoyed many friendships among those at various times associated.

with the general government. Before leaving for Germany, and on his last visit to Taneytown, pressed to a number of his old friends his deep-seated attachment for his birth-place, and the hope that on his return he might spend the remainder of his days here. Since his appointment, he has kept in touch with many of his friends here by correspondence, and many an old soldier has been made happy by the receipt of a brief message on a German Post card, while the RECORD has profited

THE LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS.

A Session Remarkable for Partisanship, Appropriations and Expense.

The legislature adjourned by limitation, on Monday night, amid the usual scenes of confusion. Among the last acts was the rushing through of a deficiency bill of $70,000 more for expenses, which will make the approximate cost of the session $200,000, an unusual sum for the purpose. This item, with the bond issue of $1,625,000 and the extremely heavy amounts powerful ship of the United States carried by the general appropriation Navy, was launched, on Tuesday, at bills, makes the session, in all probability, the most costly ever held in the state. The state tax rate has been fixed at 23½ cents—six cents higher than at present. The cost for running expenses—clerkships, etc.,—will be fully $50,000 in excess of the average ses-

A general stock-taking of results will also show that it was the most partisan session eyer held, chiefly through questions purporting to elim inate the Negro yote, but which were really aimed to perpetuate the lease of power of the present dominant party. Aside from political legislation and the making of extensive appropriations, the really meritorious easures applying to the whole state were limited to very few, the educational bill standing almost alone.

There have been passed during the session about 800 bills, of which nearly 300 originated in the Senate. The usual number was introduced in both branches, but lots were killed off. Indeed, nearly half as many died as "In apportioning the blame for the mutilation of the Haman bill, the Democrats, with their two-thirds majority in both branches of the Legislature, must accept the responsibility to a very large extent of the failure to carry out the wishes of the people. They should have been sagacious enough politically and public-spirited enough, so far as the advancement of the State's welfare is concerned, to have defeated the Republican attempt to put the Democratic party "in a hole." attempt to put the Democratic party "in a hole." It is a principle of law that no man can profit by his own wrong-doing. On this principle the Republican party cannot profit politically by the partial success of the efforts of some of its legislators to put the Democratic party "in a hole."

The democratic party will derive no credit from the operations of an emasculated measure. The people of Maryland have been educated to the point at which they will not be satisfied with any law short of the original Haman bill. Senator Robinson, of Harford county, is quoted in an Annapolis dispatch as saying that if the mutilated bill passed by the Legislature does not operate satisfactorily he will make an effort to have "a proper declaration to oyster vinating put in the democratic party in its platform next year." Teachers to be Congratulated.

The teachers are to be congratulated for securing a slight raise in salary. Had it not been for fear of retaliation at the polls, two years hence, it is probable that they would have received nothing; for, notwithstanding all the strong speeches made in fayor and the State Board of Education is of the bill, and to prevent its amendment making the minimum salary $250. in stead of $300., its passage bore the ear-marks of compulsion, rather than free-will.

Increase in Tax Rate. One of the important effects of the Bill, passed the Senate, last Friday, law will be to make the state tax rate larger than it has been for 20 or 3 years. The bill requires the levy of tax of 15 cents on the $100 for schoo irposes, in addition to the levy of cents for free books, making the tal school tax 164 cents. The direct tax for all other purposes—that is, for the public debt, interest and sinking funds-is 44 cents. To this must now be added one cent for 1905 for the new hood being that it could not then state loan and two cents for the new state loan in 1906 and thereafter. This will bring the total state tax up to 22½ cents on the $100 in 1905, and 31 cents thereafter.

How Japanese Get Even.

A Japanese woman, when abandoned by her lover, takes a peculiar and picturesque revenge. When she no longer has any doubt as to his faithlessness she gets up in the middle of the night and puts on a pleasing dress and woodden sandals. Attached to her headdress she carries three lighted candles, and suspended to her neck hangs a small mirror. She takes in her left hand a small straw effigy of the faithless one, and in her right hand hammer and nails. Walking gravely to the sanctuary, she se lects one of the sacred trees and nails the effigy securely to the trunk. She But since the standards of the world thought him dead;
