There seems to be the impression, on the part of many republicans in Congress that our present tariff schedules represent some holy thing which must not, in the slightest, be interfered with; that the "revision" of the schedules would represent, in some indefinable way, that the protection policy of the party would be condemned; that it is necessary to "stand pat" even in favor of rates that simply encumber space and are of no earthly use, and that it is necessary to keep up the bars in favor of certain industries which do not need protection any more than does our coast line need a fence around it.

out proportionate benefit to the many, this is the kind of protection that we do not favor, for it is in the interest of the tariff laws by the friends-the real friends -of the system under which our country has grown powerful, and that there is no more opportune time than the present for such revision to take place. The argument that "the country is prosperous, let it be," is nonsensical, when it is accompanied with the fear that a sensible reduction of the tariff will turn prosperity upside down. Intelligent voters are not deceived by any such argument; rather, unless the republican majority makes good its frequently asserted statement that it will reduce duties as rapidly called protectionist doctrines will be increased from the ranks of those not directly interested in the importation and

If members of the Mormon church are to be debarred from holding public office, because the oath of allegiance to their church seems to nullify any and all other oaths-even of allegiance to the flag-then it is in order pass an amendment to that effect to the Constitution of the United States, which could not be held to affect the present status of Senator Smoot, because of the ex post facto character of such an amendment.

It must also be admitted, we think, that the Mormon church has gained, rather than lost, by the investigation. Even the charge of polygamy, from which everyone revolts, appears to be less generally practiced than formerly, and not a single other characteristic of their religion, or of their dealings with men, has been produced to their discredit in comparison with the many vices of members of other denominations, or of those who make no religious professions whatever. The hinted at horrors, of the prosecutors, and the manufactured sentiment which pharisaically rose up in righteous indignation at the thought that a Mormon should sit in the highest body of the nation, has signally failed to prove its case and to produce the unclean monster.

Let the case be called off for a bad job, for the longer it runs, at the present rate, Mormonism will be benefitted rather than otherwise. Besides, the atand Senatorial morality is a very dangerous business, and, once begun, can hardly be ended with one Smoot, who is possibly what he is, religiously, simply because he was born so, and is not a self-made moral degenerate who may nevertheless pass the scrutiny of our wonderfully constituted gauntlet of public sentiment.

cost of construction required by law. That it would be money in the pockets of the countrymen to avail themselves of the state appropriation for this purpose, is borne out by the experience of other states—like New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts-which have taken the lead in this sort of highway improvement. The New York Assembly has authorized the issue of $50,000,000 worth of bonds, the proceeds to be expended during the next decade for the purpose of making one-tenth of all the state highways modern, permanent roads. The State Highway Commissioners in recommending this bond issue, call attention to the fact that farm property in the state has decreased in value, while all other forms of real estate have advanced enormously. They further declare that eighty-five per cent of the taxable valuation of the state has been concentrated along the lines of steam and water transportation and in the two cities which constitute the eastern and western terminals of these lines—Buffalo By the construction of permanent roads the cost of transporting farm products to the nearest railway station would be greatly reduced, and this ought to prove sufficient inducement to make the farmers of Pennsylvania anxious to secure every dollar of state aid possible for the construction of a better system tent that last year more than $600,000, of highways. reading public In fact, advertising is so highly regarded that it is claimed by many publishers to be the best feature of a newspaper. A newspaper without advertising would soon be a newspaper without circulation. What would a modern newspaper look like if its columns contained no advertising? It would lose much of its brightness and interest to the general public. The people everywhere demand that advertisements be published. The shrewd business manager knows this perhaps, better than anyone else and therefore, largely edits the newspaper with attractive advertisements. The artistic way in which advertisements are placed in the newspaper is having a wonderful influence on business. A man can almost control trade if he advertises wisely in the newspapers. This fact has been clearly proven by the principal merchants in all the leading towns and cities of the United States. The business men of this country believe in newspaper advertising to the ex-000 were spent for it. That is a large amount of money. It is about as muc in value as the annual cotton crop of the important work that has been under-taken by the Commonwealth in many wheat crop of the entire country, and is more than the combined capital of all the National banks of the United States. And now, notwithstanding the foregoing statements, some good men will stand up and say that newspaper advertising will not pay. They are simply behind the times and fail to comprehend the facts as they exist. The truth is they do not know, because they have never tried it. A man whose business is in a sinking condition can move on to the harbor of success if he will only spread his sails to the winds of publicity that are offered in newspaper advertising.

There is no force on earth to-day as powerful in building up and maintain-

By REV. S. H. DOYLE. Topic.—How to win souls for Christ.— John i, 40-46. (Led by the lookout com-

The winning of souls for Christ is the best of all services that we can render for Him, for our fellow men and for ourselves. "They that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the nirmament, and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever." This is the testimony of Daniel, the prophet, and Solomon says, "He that winneth souls is wise." No service rendered for Christ is unimportant or shall go without its reward, but Christ died to save the souls of men, and hence it can be readily seen that this is the supreme service that we can render to Him. It makes His work on the cross effective. The soul is a man's most valuable possession. and if we help save it we do him the greatest possible benefit. And, last of all, we ourselves receive stars in our heavenly crown in proportion as we lead souls to Christ and eternal sal-

The winning of souls being of such tremendous importance, it is well for us to ask how to do it. And this question can be answered in no better way than by studying the methods of those who have won souls for Christ. This is the answer of the topical reference. There we have a picture of two soul winners. Andrew, having found the Christ, sought his brother Peter and led him to Him. And when Jesus found Philip and he had obeyed His command, "Follow me," "Philip findeth Nathanael and saith unto him, We have found Him of whom Moses in the law and the prophets did write." Philip invited Nathanael to "come and see" Christ. He accepted the invitation. He came and saw and heard the Master and accepted Him as "the Son of God and the King of Israel."

The method used in both these instances was a simple yet an effective one. Let us notice its characteristics and follow it in our efforts to win souls for Christ.

1. Andrew and Philip found Christ themselves before they sought to win others to Him. The soul winner must always be one who has found Christ himself. He only can be a true guide who has traveled the way himself. The blind are not good teachers of the blind. We must be saved before we can seek the salvation of others.

2. Andrew and Philip realized that Peter and Nathanael were without the Christ, yet needed Him. Men are lost till Jesus finds them. Let us strive more and more to realize the lost condition of men and their need of Christ; where we can lead them to Christ. 3. Andrew and Nathanael sought Peter and Philip. "He [Andrew] first findeth his own brother Simon." To find he must have sought. "Philip findeth Nathanael." Personal work is the bly find them willing to come. 4. They held Christ before them. "We

Value of a Clean Past.

By living an upright life one cannot scape calumny, but there is this about -if at any time a man or woman gets the law's clutches it will go easier with them if there is no black past to pring up against them. Innocence is not dition of men and their need of Christ; strong enough to stand against shady then we will be coming into a position records. There have been many arrests made upon suspicion and the suspicion was strengthened always when somebody's convenient memory furnished proofs of past blacklisting. I have heard scores of women regret past escapades and thoughtless acts because they could not wholly forget them without a rise of color. It certainly cannot be pleasant to meet, in after years, a man who can boast of sentimental favors. He does boast of them, sometimes, for all men are not born with gentlemanly instincts or trained to a fair imitation of them.

Too Much Wrapping Up.

A young teacher of physical culture in fashionable Connecticut boarding shool has introduced the wearing of ight, easy clothing among the young adies under her charge, even discarding the wearing of hats in midwinter, ersisting in the theory that the fair sex would live longer by having their bodies anhampered by heavy clothing. As a result, the young ladies who fol-ow her instruction have cast aside their linery and wear a loose sweater and a walking skirt. What would happen however, if the man from Affinity should meet a man from Peace, Ala., would indeed be problematical. They might after the fashion of some Westerners, boom the merits of their respective towns with such ardor that at last these representatives of Peace and Affinity would come to blows. ## What Salt Will Do.

Besides being such an essential part of the culinary art salt has many other uses perhaps not generally known. Salt cleanses the palate and a gargle of salt and water is often efficacious. A pinch of salt on the tongue, followed 10 minutes after by a drink of cold water, often cures a sick headache Salt hardens the gums, makes the teeth white and sweetens the breath. Salt added to the water in which cut flowers stand keeps them fresh.

A REAL CURE FOR

It has recently been discovered that the germs that produce Malaria, breed and multiply in the intestines and from there spread throughout the system by means of the blood. This fact explains why Malaria is hard to cure by the old method of treatment. Quinine, Iron, etc., stimulate the nerves and build up the blood, but do not destroy the germs that cause the disease. Rydale's Tonic has a specific effect upon the intestines and bowels, freeing them from all disease breeding microbes. It also kills the germs that infest the veins and arteries. It drives from the blood all poisonous matter and makes it the blood all poisonous matter and makes it rich and healthy.

RYDALE'S TONIC is a blood builder, a nerve restorer, and a Malaria destroyer. Try it; it will not disappoint you.
