Lewis C. Reaver "Struck Oil."

Lewis C. Reaver, who removed from Taneytown district to Indiana, some fifteen years ago, now owns a farm in the centre of a newly developed oil field, which promises to make him wealthy. A well has just been sunk which runs 75 barrels a day, on which his profit will be about $8.00 a day, and the Compay leasing the farm expects to put till the corn and peas come in.

Our wheat crop is short in the straw but has an unusually fine head and promises a good yield. The grass crop is well set but the wheat is rather short.

We commenced to feed our dairy herd, of about thirty cows, on alfalfa, May 10, and will continue to do so for a few days.

Reformed Synod Notes.

The General Synod of the Reformed church, in session at Allentown, Pa. Monday, considered home missions, its ment of $100,000 per annum in this cause. The second Sunday in November was set aside as Home missionary day. It was reported that the Synod has 108 church building funds amounting to $106,200, with 20 more in proces of formation. The Synod has invested in church property $17,875 and has an income of $172,426.80. Seven missions became sels-supporting during the year and 22 are still maintained. The Ger-Synods maintain 57 missions and have church property valued at $345,920.

The Synod adopted as a provision of its new constitution the rule that "a minister shall not unite in marriage a divorced person who is known to have

Will Memorial Day live in the Future?

Forty years after the war of the rebellion, amidst the many efforts for the purpose of bridging the breaches between North and South caused by the war, one is almost impelled to ask the questions, whether our National Memorial day is not, in a sense, antagonistic to bringing about the "No North, no South" consummation so earnestly hoped for, and whether we do not by our testimony of love and gratitude to the brave who fell that the Union might live, at the same time keep alive and fresh in memory deeds and issues which at this late date might appropriately be left sleep?

It is true that the Blue and the Gray unite, in some sections, in the observeach other in their expressions of praise for the bravery of the sons of both North and South, and eloquently tell us that sectionalism and strife are at an end, and that the common brotherhood of our citizenship has been cemented beyond danger of breaking; and yet, all this seems but polite gush and half truth in the light of our glorification of lives and deeds which cannot help but mean as well the glorification of issues, long since closed.

orial day platitudes; when all the cemeteries, North and South, will be National cemeteries; when the pensioning of the survivors of the one army and not of the other, shall be at an end; when history will be written as it was in fact, and not as it appeared through sectional eyes; when we shall cease saying that the North was eternally right and the South eternally wrong-and we are saying this all the time, notwithstanding the lapse of forty years. Until these things end, there will be no true union of sections and no true forgetfulness of our one great fraternal strife. materialize but slowly, but they do materialize nevertheless, and it is a hopeful weak, in this as well as in other cases, sign that our Nation will yet be fully at and in so doing the whole Nation is peace, in every respect, with all differences forgotten, when we have before us the complete re-establishment of fraternal relations between religious and fraternal organizations, North and South, and the many manifestations of the same general tendency in governmental and political affairs. It is not a rash prediction, therefore, that in the years to come, it will seem perfectly appropriate and in line with the spirit of true American day services, as at present conducted.

Canal and Tariff.

Between the opinions of those who strenuously oppose the President and Mr. Taft, relative to their orders to buy supplies for the Panama canal where they can be bought the cheapest, and of the anti-protectionists who see in the incident an indorsement of their low tariff views, the truth of the whole issue is found. More definitely speaking, the question is best represented by republican tariff revisionists, to which wing of the party the President undoubtedly belongs, and the opportunity presented, in the purchase of supplies for the canal, to greater than is reasonable, having reillustrate the necessity for a revision of gard to the traffic and use of highways, tariff schedules, has very properly been or so as to endanger the life or limb or

The call for revisions was heard Republican clubs like the Union League gave expression to it. Republican platforms recognized it. Other more acute topics, like railway rate regulation and trust investigation, have attracted popular attention somewhat from it for the where such street or highway passes greed in its beneficiaries will be required it is hardly reasonable to imagine, that conditions, but may work serious damage to manufacturing interests.

Artificial Rain Making.

Southern California has just been the scene of a prolonged effort to promote rainfall by artificial means. Charles Hatfield, who thinks that he is able to perform the feat, took a contract to cause eighteen inches of precipitation between December 15 and May 1. During that period, it is asserted, Los Angeles, which s on the coast, was favored with 18.96 inches, and another station, further inland and situated up in the foothills, had 26.49 inches.

No trained meteorologist will believe that Mr. Hatfield's work had more than the most microscopic effect, if it had any at all. The idea of coercing nature is not new. Others have tried to do so before. General Dyrenforth, who achieved notoriety in the South and West fifteen years ago, believed that it was possib to secure rain by bombarding the skies when the clouds gave a vain promise of recipitation. Finally his system was tried under government auspices, to sating to wage warfare on Secretary Taft's sify a few Congressmen who had a natpolicy of purchasing Panama Canal ural regard for the welfare of their agrisupplies in the cheapest market are like-

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Reginning May 28.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE. Topic. — Missions in Roman Catholic countries.—Ps. lxvii, 1-7. Christianity was introduced into many countries of the world by the Roman Catholic church, and in many nations of the world the only conception of Christianity which the people have is that which they have received from the teachers of the Catholie church, and in many instances when Protestant missionaries enter Into these fields they find "the people living in darkness, degradation and sin." In such countries as South America and Mexico conditions of ignorance and of superstition exist, and many of the inhabitants of the islands of the sea need the simple gospel of salvation through faith in Jesus Christ.

These being the conditions, there certainly rests a duty upon those who believe in the pure and simple gospel as at all against Me except it were given a means of dispelling the darkness of thee from above," and concerning all Ignorance and of superstition to do His sufferings He said, "The cup which all in their power to spread the light | My Father hath given Me, shall I not of this gospel abroad. The people that sit in darkness need the light, and God has promised that they shall see it, and this promise is to be fulfilled by the work of his people. Christ is the light, and if all nations are to be saved those who know Christ must give that knowledge to the whole

Prayer should be made most prominent in this phase of mission work. The psalmist prayed, "God be merciful to us and bless us and cause His face to shine upon us, that Thy way may be known upon earth and Thy saving health among all nations." Let us earnestly pray that God will bless us and that we may become a blessing to others, especially in spreading the knowledge of Him and of salvation through His Son Jesus Christ unto the world.

LESSON IX, SECOND QUARTER, INTER-NATIONAL SERIES, MAY 28.

Text of the Lesson, John xix, 17-30. Memory Verses, 25-27-Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 3-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.] The great mockery of a trial is over, been beggared. the powers of darkness under the outward form of zeal for God have prerailed, and Jesus is delivered into the the death of Abel and Zacharias (Matt. xxiii, 35) and such a host of others, but in reference to the redeemed of the Lord, as well as to the Lord Jesus Himself, it is only what the hand and to Pilate, "Thou couldst have no power | iousness, etc. They never gripe or sickdrink it?" (John xix, 11; xviii, 11.)

There is no perfect peace to us as followers of Christ till we also learn this great secret of not seeing any second causes, but God only. In Pilate's words, "Behold the Man," "Behold your King" (xix, 5, 14), we may each hear the Spirit saying to us, "See no man, but Jesus only, and let Him be your world rulers, under whom they still suffer and will suffer until they see the Lord Jesus coming in glory and receive Him as their Messiah (Matt. xxiii, 39; Isa. xxv, 9).

Bearing His cross, He went forth (verse 17), and there is no other way ignorance today need is knowledge of | for His followers (Matt. xvi, 24, 25; the truth, and they stand ready to do | Heb. xiii, 12-14). Unto Him without the truth. Many do not live up to their | the camp is the only way for the true disciple, for the camp of His professed millions of people who would gladly | followers is almost wholly given up to live up to it if they only had it. It is | formality, unbelief and fellowship with our duty to give Christ and the Bible | this present evil world, all of which is as empty as a skull. Oh, the indescribable agony summed up in the three words "They crucified Him!" (Verse 18.) Since the Spirit thus sums it up and does not enlarge upon it, should we do otherwise? But think of it and picture it as we may, let us fail as we look upon Him to say: "For me. For me, in my stead bearing my sins, wounded for my transgressions, bruised for my iniquities, that I by His stripes might be healed." See the title on His cross in the three languages of the then known world, "Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews," for all the world shall yet see Him as such, and Jerusalem shall be the throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered unto it to the name of the Lord to Jerusalem. See the literal fulfillment of Scripture in verses 23, 24, and compare the prediction in Ps. xxii, 18, and be assured that all prophecy shall be just as literally been is the sure key to that which shall The gallant Gray, and the noble Blue; be. We have in this lesson three of the seven sayings of our Lord from the cross. The first three of the seven tell ship of Christian Endeavor. In each us of forgiveness now, glory hereafter nd all that is needed in between.

If we are living in and doing His Rica, Cuba, Denmark, Egypt, Ellice | will we are to Him as brother and sisislands, Finland, Formosa, France, ter and mother (Matt. xii, 50), and the care He gave to Mary, His mother, is That the loved ones of those who sleep vouchsafed to us. Is it not all included 19, and similar sayings? We might feel like saying, "Oh, how gladly I Himself, but my life is so commonplace!" forgetting His blessed "inasmuch" of Matt. xxv, 40, and the great truth that we may always minister unto Him and that not a cup of cold water given in His name shall lose its reward (Mark ix, 41). One of His precious words to my soul is II Chron. xxix, 11, "The Lord hath chosen you And pray to Jehovah that all enmity may to stand before Him, to serve Him, and that ye should minister unto Him and offer sacrifice." May we ever worship the Lord our God and serve Him only. His second word in our lesson, "I thirst" (verse 28), fulfilled another It is but just that we should some tribute Scripture, Ps. lxix, 21, but suggests more than mere natural thirst, even as To our country's soldiers, the Blue and when He sat by the well in Samaria and asked the woman for a drink. The For they both were sons of the land of sequel indicates that it was not meat When His Spirit fills us we shall think more of righteousness and peace and And for freedom and country their lives

His third word in our lesson, which is His last or next to the last of the seven, takes us back to Gen. ii, 1-3, when He finished the restoration work of that time, and onward to Rev. xxi, 6, when He shall have finished the new earth of that time, for, whether in creation or restoration or redemption, He is the same Jehovah, Jesus (Rev. xxii, 6, 16). His finished work on the cross when seen and accepted gives perfect rest of soul to the truly penitent sinner, for the moment that this is seen there is of necessity a ceasing from all one's own efforts to obtain life, and the soul sees and rests in Him only (Heb. iv, 3). What a wonderful and costly to God, who so loved that He gave, and to the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me, suffering even to be forsaken of the Father! "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" that we might never be forsaken. How shall we thank Him?

Helen Keller's Apology for Work.

Helen Keller, who has been so marvelously educated despite her lack of sight, speech and hearing, has written "An Apology For Going to College" for the June McClure's. There was never a more triumphant victory for optimism than this remarkable young girl's conquest of her limitations. She entered Radcliffe College in the face of the discouragements of her best advisers, for a blind, deaf-mute who could only communicate with the college world and her books through the medium of her teacher and companion to attempt a course which, to even the normal girl, is severe enough, seemed to them pitiful foolish-"But love of knowledge," says Miss Keller, "all the forces of my nature were cudgeling me to college." She went, and succeeded. The story of the winning of her A. B. degree is modestly told in a charmingly simple way.

"It was not in the forces of my nature schools and colleges. Education is understanding of the people and the things that the forces of my nature derivations and colleges. Education is understanding of the people and the things that the forces of my nature schools and colleges. Education is understanding of the people and the things that the forces of my nature schools and colleges. Lines Out For the Parson.

The hen Club of the village
Got together and began
To assert, pre-empt and pillage
The prerogative of man.
And they did him good and soundly
From his pedals to his crown,
Trounced him and berated roundly—
All but Miss Matilda Brown.

Was the parson—got a blimmer In the middle of his back. "Seems to us he ought marry—
'Leven months he's been in town,'
And the speaker paused to tarry
With her eyes on Tildy Brown.

"We have given seven parties
In the parlor of the church,
Maple sugars, a-la-carties,
But he don't come off the perch
Mite societies weve handed,
Social teas—he must come down!"
Said the club; and then demadded
A response from Tildy Brown A response from Tildy Brown.

"Needs a wife, and needs her badly;
My! His cuffs are awful frayed."
Coined the chorus in and gladly
All undaunted, undismayed.
Then the spoons began to rattle
And the tea began to flow;
Poor Matilda, how their prattle
Makes her blushes come and go.

Now they fix her with their glances,
Now they stab her to the heart,
Now each teaspoon gaily dances,
Now each saucer plays a part.
"It's reported you've been walking—
It's reported true I guess—
And there's been a lot of talking—
And last night I told him Yes."

Education is Appreciation.

Education is getting a bad reputation among men and women who have made successes of themselves without it. A bad reputation never arises from nothing. Where there is smoke there is fire. Men and women who believe that the time spent in learning is so much time wasted are honest in their belief and they have some reason for their conclusions. Sometimes they believe as they do because some so-called educated in dividual has strutted past them flinging Latin and French phrases about just to make an impression. The person who struts and sniffs and stands on a pedestal known as "housewife," which was forbecause he has book learning doesn't know enough to know what education means.

Education is not book learning. Education is not necessarily a matter of schools and colleges. Education is un- tion displayed. The man or woman who boasts of be-'It was not in the hope of large schol- ing a success without education either

A well-known college professor, lecturing lately before a college society, told the members that there were five principal evidences of the work of the college society. pal evidences of education. The man or woman presenting these five evidences could be fairly called educated, whether by a college training or without any.
"The first evidences of education," he went on to say, "is correctness and precision in the use of the mother tongue; the second, refined and gentle manners, which are the expression of fixed habits of thought and action; the third, the power and habit of reflection; the fourth, the power and habit of renection; the fourth, the power of growth, and the fifth, efficiency, or the power to do."

The professor dwelt upon each of these evidences in turn, and ended by saying very truly, "that without these characteristics knowledge can never become power, and that in their possession lies the secret of gaining and education, no matter how that education is gained."

Pointers About Checks.

Bank men say that many business nen do not know how to properly endorse a check. This causes the bank men consideraple trouble, which might easily be avoid-d by a little care. Place the check before you face up, as You would if you wished to read it.

Now take hold of the top and turn it over towards you. This leaves it in the same position on the desk as before, exept that now it lies face down. Pull the right hand end towards you and then endorse it at the other end, the nd at your left side. If the name on the check is misspelled or is otherwise wrong, endorse the check as it is written, then write your name as it should be.

A check payable to bearer can be cashed by any person. To lose it means the loss of your money if the check be found by a dishonest person who succeeds in getting to the bank before you can stop payment. Some banks would investigate, others would not. All depends on the characteristics of the bank-

A check should be presented at the bank on the same day it is received. If received too late for deposit on that day should be deposited on the following

NO. 4224 EQUITY.

In the Circuit Court of Carroll County. Florence V. Gmelin vs Clarence M. Gmelin. Florence V. Gmelin vs Clarence M. Gmelin.
The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the plaintiff from the defendant.
The bill alleges the marriage of this plaintiff to the defendant on the 21st. day of July, 1901. and that the defendant abandoned and deserted the plaintiff in the month of April, 1902; that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable hope of reconciliation; that the plaintiff is a resident and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.
