The Future of Electric Ligt.

We are fully convinced that if the citizens of Taneytown let the chance go by to secure an electric light plant, they will live to regret it. It is one of the questions that must be considered, not for the present, and narrowly, but as it bears relation to the future, and not only the future of the town but of the surrounding country. James M. Smith's sale, at Woodsboro, on Tuesday, was largely attended and amounted to $4562.00. The RECORD helped to draw the crowd.

Not as to whether it will "pay" right off, considering present conditions, but whether it will pay in the future when predujices have been recommended. overcome, and the sentiment of the public educated up to modern standards.

WINTER AND WHEAT.

The Mild Winter not Against a Good Crop.

A good many are predicting that the open, and comparatively mild, winter will be detrimental to the growing wheat crop, but those who have made a business of watching this question say that work. A recent issue of Bradstreet's in commenting on the arguments advanced,

'There have been very mild winters, 1879-'80 for instance, which saw very large crops of wheat gatherd. The mild winter of 1889-'90, however, saw disappointing yields result. Then, again, the very severe winters of 1903-'04 and 1904-'05 saw very diverse results. The in completeness of statistics bearing with any directness upon the case one way or an other, is, in fact, one of the most remarable things brought out by the present inquiry. Diligent investigation fails to bring to light anything bearing directly upon this subject. So far as can be learned, the Department of Agricultural at Washington has never investigated this matter, nor is there available anything conclusive from State bureau Examination of memoranda of conditions in different selected years shows the contradictory character of some of the facts available, which, indeed, seem to partake of the traditional inconsistency of certain kinds of weather ndicators. December, 1879, was very cold, but January to March, 1880, was phenomenally mild. Result, 498,000,000 bushels all kinds of wheat, the largest crop gathered up to that year.

December, I889, was warm and dry. January and February, 1890, were very warm until the close of February, when a severe cold wave swept the country. March was cold. Result, only 400,000,-000 bushels of wheat, the smallest, with two exceptions, for twelve years. The winter of 1900-'01 was, on the whole, a mild one in the witer-wheat region. That year saw a record crop of winter wheat-412,000,000 bushels. winter, of 1901-'02 was not especially cold: in fact, January was mild, and severe cold did not come until February. A large area was abandoned as much because of lack of moisture as for any other reason. Still, a large winter-wheat crop was gathered. The winter of 1903-'04 was a cold and stormy one. A large area was abandoned and the crop was a poor one. Against this may be cited 1904-'05, which began dry and cold, was very stormy with heavy snows later, and

New Bridge Over Monocacy.

The Commissioners of Carroll and Frederick counties viewed the fording on the Bull frog road across Monocacy between Harney and Bridgeport, on Wednesday, and were of the unanimous opinion that a bridge was badly needed, and there is no question that it will be built, but whether it will be this year will depend on finances. In all probability the work will at least be commenced this fall.

The bridge, including abutments, will be about 150 ft. It will be placed to the left of the present fording, or down stream, probably 200 yards, and the necessary land will be donated by the Cla baugh brothers. This road is travelled a great deal between Maryland and Pennsylvania, to both Carroll and Frederick counties, and the present fording especially to those not acquainted with waters are not very high. The favorable opinion of the Commissioners, therefore, s in line with the proper necessities of the situation.

Agricultural College's Day.

College Park, Md., March 6.—"Buy Maryland farms and find the place you seek on them. It's good land and in the best location in the United States for money-making." Mr. James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, gave this advice to those present at the fiftieth anniversary of the Mary land Agricultural College today. He was one of the four speakers in an espeeially brilliant series of addresses, and, like the others, took occasion to pay the highest compliments to the men who planned the institution—the first in the antry to make for the higher education of farmers and country people generally in the science of growing plants and breeding animals. Governor Warfield presided, and Dr. Ira Remsen, president of the Johns Hopkins University, the Governor, President Silvester, Dr. L. H. Bailey, dean of the College of Agriculture of Cornell University. sity; Mr. Wilson and Prof. Francis A. Soper, of the Baltimore City College, were the speakers. The audience was very large.

Mr. Wilson spoke briefly, but paid
Maryland high praise. He advocated the teaching of elementary facts about agriculture in the normal schools of the State, and declared that if he were free from his duties in Washington he would move to Maryland and get after the Legislature to have this accomplished. Dr. Bailey contrasted education of days gone by with the new methods, and d many stories of the contrast. He said one old friend used to say the only fact relating to his life taught in a public school education was that cider was made from apples, and he pleaded eloquently for a return to the farm of the s educated in the land-grant colleges.

Captain Silvester said, in part:
"The founders of this institution built wiser than they knew. They seem to have been possessed of the gift of pre-science. You may note in its constitution the spontaneity of thought, breadth of conception, catholicity of view, pride of State and country, sanguine, hope for the future of the youth, of the State and nation when trained under the system-tem outlined by this body of cultured pension law will not be repealed. Lawyers, generally, throughout the state, are opposed to appeal. A bill of considerable importance to farmers and gardeners throughout Maryand was introduced in the House on Tuesday by Delegate Brown, of Somerset county, in reference to trespassing, of turkeys, chickens, ducks, geese or other omestic fowls.

The bill provides that when any such mestic fowl shall trespass upon any inclosure and the owner of such fowl, within 24 hours after due notice has been ven, shall refuse or neglect to remove he same, then if the fowl shall trespass again, the owner of the inclosure shall be llowed to kill such chicken, duck, goose, turkey or other fowl without becoming responsible for damages.

Delegate Fenton, of Montgomery county, presented a bill in the House on Tuesday which will tax, if passed, at their full value, schools and educational institutions which are conducted primarily for financial gain. Mr. Fenton contends that there are a number of such educational institutions in the State, conducted by private persons for private profit, which under the present law are exempt from taxation. #### Will There be a Coal Strike?

During the last few weeks we have been alternately assured that there will surely be a coal miners strike on April 1st., and that there surely will not be; that the anthracite miners will strike in order that these mines may be closed, in consideration of which the bituminous operators have promised their miners a The indications are that the Judge's big advance in pay—that the anthracite union will strike in order to benefit the pituminous union, and this also has been denied. Then we are assured by the operators that they can prove that the miners work only about six hours a day, on the average, and that their pay is high beyond question; that pay cannot be raised any higher without greatly raising the pric of coal and consequently the cost of everything which is produced from coal charged with mismanagement, if not over the northeastern provinces of Japan is far more extensive than was at first believed, and has indeed assumed serious proportions. The presentation of the cause in President Roosevelt's moving appeal to the American people has deeply touched the great heart of our nation, and contributions to the Famine Relief Fund are coming from all parts of the Union. The practical work of relief in the field is progressing rapidly, but although the work of caring for the destitute is being taken up in systematic form, there is an appallingly wide margin of desperate need.

In a communication to the Japan Times, a Japanese draws a very graphic and touching picture of conditions in the famine provinces. He says:

FREDERICK, MD. WE ARE CASH Beef Hides

By REV. S. H. DOYLE. Topic.—James' picture of a perfect man; now can we realize it in ourselves?—Matt. c, 48; Jas. iii, 1-18.

The ideal set before the Christian in the Scriptules is that of perfectionentire separation to God and consecration to Ilis will. In the sermon on the and thrist places the perfection of God before us as the model toward which we are to strive. "Be ye pertect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." In this idea of perfection it is not suggested that it is possess for us to have perfect knowleage, to be perfectly free from sin or that we shall not need to contend against the evil that is within and athout us, but that we should take the , effect attributes of God-His goodhelm, jartice, wisdom and holiness-and Le them the goal toward which we shad strive, depending upon Him to give us grace and strength to succeed. or is such an ideal impracticable. The higher our ideal the higher our ment if we use all our powers of will to a tain to it and seek the guidance and strength of God to help us.

Perfection must of course deal with all man's moral attributes, but the apostle James in his picture of the perthe one attribute of speech. He despecch makes a perfect man he hastens whole body." The perfect man must in deed, but speech is inspired by thought and is the forerunner of action. In general a man says what he thinks, and his words are a prophecy of what he will do. Therefore it is possible to estimate with some degree of certainty the standard of perfection which a man has reached by his words, for if we offend not in word we mirror in our words an inoffensive mind and give assurance of a life of perfection. And further on the apostle emphasizes the fact that spech is the result of an proper outward behavior and that all proceed from divine and heavenly wisdom, "For the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle and easy to be entreated, full of ity and without hypocrisy. And the fruit of righteousness is sown in peace of them that make peace." If we would attain to perfection as James portrays it, we must be especially guarded in our words. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon this to put a bridle upon our tongues. (1) The tongue is a little member of the "Yes" or "No" in affirming or denying body and seems, therefore, unworthy of especial attention. It is so easy to the kingdom, but in the present state talk, and words seem so common and trifling that we do not weigh them carefully. But, though small, the tongue thing, but it controls a horse. Ships are Himself answered under oath (Matt. turned about by a very small helm. xxvi, 63). See also Isa. xiv, 24; lxii, 8; Therefore the tongue is not to be despised because of its insignificant size. Instead it requires the more careful guarding. (2) The tengue is hard to control. All who have tried to control and ill treated and wronged, but it is on successful farms. They are proit have found this to be true. But for | not for us this reason we are not to give it a free rein, but to put forth more strenuous efforts to control it. The unruly horse is not set free, but only held the tighter. And if man cannot control the tongue God can give him the power to

The miseries of life caused by unruly tongues are past all description and all summing up. Mere thoughts injure no one. We can defend ourselves against the evil actions of men, but before unbridled, merciless, scandalous tongues humanity stands almost defenseless. Let us guard against this danger by cultivating a pure heart, which shall inspire kind words, which shall in turn inspire good works.

There is a little dust in shavings, but it would have no effect on the wholesomeness of the milk, as the dust from the shavings is generally small particles of wood and seldom contains any molds or bacteria. As was stated before, the sawdust is damp and has no dust. Moreover, both of these materials keep the cows clean r and make a stable look neater than either the straw or the stover.

Rye Straw. In the city markets rye straw sells for about twice as much as any other material intended for bedding. Of course it is intended almost exclusively for horses, and the double price paid for it would indicate that horsemen considered it just twice as desirable get at the true reason. Farmers evidently prefer the wheat straw for both horses and cows. It is very doubtful if rye straw would prove at all satisfactory in a dairy stable. It is hard and stiff, and in some tests made at this station, with a separate and smaller herd than the one used in the previous tests, about the same quantity of rye straw as of wheat straw was used, but the cows did not keep in as clean a condition. The rye straw apparently was a very poor absorbent.

the figures given by Beerbohm. The Hungarian estimate for rye is 1,539,000,000 bushels of fifty-six pounds against 1.851,000,000 such bushels last year. The decrease, which exceeds 15 per cent, is attributed chiefly to the large deficiency in the Russian crop of this grain. Unimportant as is the place that rye occupies among the cereals cultivated in the United States, it is by no means unimportant as a part of the world's bread supply, nor is it without effect on the price obtainable for the exportable wheat surplus of the general debility, sour risings, and catarrh of the stomach are all due to indigestion. Kodol cures indigestion. This new discovery represents the natural juices of diges-tion as they exist in a healthy stomach, combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does not only cure indigestion and dyspepsia, but this famous remedy cures all stomach troubles by cleansing, purifying, sweetening and strengthening the mucous membranes lining the stomach.

To Business Girls. It is not what you spend on clothes, but how you spend it, that counts with a man, and there is no use in our trying to evade the issue. Suitable clothes count tremendously in this hard fought game of earning our daily bread. You often hear a man say, "It takes money to make money." Yes, and it takes good clothes to command a good salary if you are a woman wage earner. Perhaps it is not fair to Elizabeth Jones or you or me-this stern demand for well we need the money for what we consider more important things, but so long as the ruling holds good it is up to us to make the most of our money we spend for clothes, to get the largest returns from the least expenditure, and this does not mean haunting bargain sales, either, but buying things that last and count.—Philadelphia Press.

Mr. S. S. Ball, of Ravenswood, W, Va., says:—
"I was troubled with sour stomach for twenty years, Kodol cured me and we are now using it in milk for below."

In the country there is no need to be In the country there is no need to be rich in order to be independent, says an exchange. There is no limit to the sunlight and the pure air. There is no danger of starving. The smallest farmer, if he exercises thrift, may live on food that the poor man in the city would dream about. The funny men of the exercise of the graphy concerning the newspapers joke grimly concerning the long hours the farmer must work, although they themselves are drudges. It is only at certain seasons that he needs to work longer than the creature of wages sweating in the city, and he has the satisfaction of knowing that he is working for himself. No man, in city or country, lives by himself alone. Each must maintain relations toward the rest of the world. But there is no other man, rich or poor, who is so nearly his
