NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST.

Brief Items from County, State, and our Exchanges.

Some freight connection has been had between Hagerstown and Cumberland, over the new W. M. line, but regular The passenger service will begin later still as the line needs a great deal of ballasting and testing.

So many have been the complaints of local rural route drivers of being stopped in the road by farm wagons and thus prevented from completing their circuit on schedule time, issued notice to the effect that the carriers are entitled to the right of way, and that the driver of any vehicles failing to turn aside at once for the mail wagons is liable to prosecution.

Many of the largest and most imposing looking buildings in the large cities are now being erected out of concrete, composed of crushed stone and cement. In many cases German mechanics have charge of these buildings built on the same plans adapted by architects and builders all through Germany, Consid erable time is saved in the erection of the building and eventually the cost of the structures will be considerably lessened. This, added to the fire-proof character of the building, will in many instances do away with bricks altogether and Edith Roop. lessen the use of steel structures. Surely we are living in a progressive and wideawake age.

Just one year ago, dear father, Since we laid thee in the tomb; But thy mem'ry shall be cherished Even till our hearts grow cold. Our dear father has gone to rest— Dear children weep not for him; For God who knoweth best, Hath called him home to rest.

We saw our father fade and die, With all his beauty on; When death severed the tender tie, Then all our hope of life was gone

A precious one from us is gone-A voice we loved is stilled;

God in His wisdom hath recalled, The one his love has given; And though the body moulders here, The soul is safe in heaven. Farewell, our father dear. By the Family.

That all employes required to work a safety lamp get 10 per cent. extra. The operators, in their reply, take up the various propositions seriatim and state the reasons why it is not expedient or equitable to grant the demands of the miners. Under the head of making an agreement with the union, the operators quote the finding of the strike commission to the effect that the great bulk of the membership is in the bituminous region and that, consequently, to deal with the union would be to treat with an organization controlled by men engaged in a rival industry; that boys, who constitute about 20 per cent. of the memberin district conventions, exercise a balance of power and carry a vote for a strike when the more conservative members might be opposed to such a proceeding, and that, briefly, the constitution of the United Mine Workers did not present the most inviting inducements to the operators to enter into contractural relations with it, conditions which still exist.

It is declared impossible to increase wages as requested, because this would add from 21 to 26.85 per cent. to the cost of production, and also because the cost of getting out steam sizes could not be increased on account of the competi-tion with bituminous coal, so that the whole burden of increase would have to be borne by the domestic sizes, which in the most favorable instances would add 51.8 cents to the cost a ton.

distressed portion of Japan from an inexpressibly cruel and agonizing fate.
There are now over a million people suffering pangs such as we are not able to imagine, including thousands of the very old and helpless, the sick and the little children. It is true that the Japanese authorities are doing all they can, but this is pathetically little compared

Mrs. Gurney Binford, a devoted missionary of the Friends' persuasion, relates in simple language a tragedy more thrilling than any of fiction or drama, which has just taken place before her eyes, but of which she learned too late to be of serrice. In a district near her there lived an honest, industrious farmer, who, with his family, were brought to the last extremity. Everything had gone to procure the pittance which would keep them together for one more day, and at last the father said, "We have never begged—we cannot now. We must die of starvation here—there is no hope for us." So he traveled wearily up the hill, his wife and two children by his side, and together they flung themselves from a cliff at the base of which their dead bodies were afterwards discovered. Mrs. Binford adds: "There are so many, many suicides. The real Japanese war is only just beginning: there are so many widows and orphans, so many maimed and disabled soldiers who are fighting the grim enemy Starvation. Yes, the war is only

The Christian Herald has this week sent $15,500, making a total of $35,500 gone to the famine field through this channel. A cable dispatch received this week states; "Relief work progressing well; committee now in excellent condition to do still more effective duty and to use all funds entrusted to its care. The famine continues with unabated severity and help is greatly needed." This tells the story of present conditions. Piteous appeal cannot strengthen nor emphasize the appalling drama of human suffering now being enacted in Japan. If these words fulfil their mission, they will constrain generous hearts to send money necessary to avert the most pitiful crisis which the twentieth century has so far known. All gifts, however small, will be gratefully acknowledged, and will be transmitted by House, New York, or by the RECORD.

Taking Away Farm Help.

The Waynesboro Record, in its last issue, pictures a local situation which is but the mirror of like situations everywhere in the east. The occasion of the comment is the effort now being made country. The Record says:

"This taking away of men from the country is already felt by the farmers along the W. M. R. R. as far north as Altenwald. They have for a long time felt the lack of sufficient laborers to help in the cultivation of the soil and now that there is to be additional stimulus to seek other employment in Waynesbor they do not know where to turn for

There is a protest against this desertion of the country for employment in the town but there is not the likelihood that it will avail much. It has not done so thus far and the farmers are fearful that with better train facilities and the in creased demand in the shops for work-men, they will have still further difficulty in procuring assistance.

There has been much serious discussion in the past few years as to the future of farming in this section if the young men ontinue to leave the farms and enter the Waynesboro shops or go to the west. During the past summer, as this paper to the Baltimore papers, which dished up has told, it was almost impossible to get a daily dose of about a page of the stuff. the large corn crop husked, and in a number of instances women went into benefit to anybody, or a credit to any ber of women banded themselves to half paper, we fail to properly appreciate the a dozen or more farmers when there proprieties in the case. Another farmer thinks his sows should have exercise and lets them run, does not know just when she will farrow; inally he misses the sow and when neighbor Smith comes along will as im if he seen anything of his sow over there, and then Jones comes along and he asks him. They of course have not een her. After being gone for 36 hours he sees her coming in a hurry to the brook to get water and if you would throw her an ear of corn she would not stop to take more than a mouthful and hurry back to her pigs. Now nature has been preparing that sow; for 4 months, for that me; she now has too much milk; soon she has fever-milk won't go through; a sow is just as susceptible to milk fever as a cow. The pigs want to be nursing all the time, and some of them begin to starve to death. Then the pigs will begin to fight and sow go out and lie down, but it won't be long till she will go back and try to nurse them again. Some of the pigs will creep off and die. So it goes when we don't observe the laws of

One day a man came to me and said e had 6 sows farrow and some only had pigs, and out of the 6 sows he would not have a live pig lift. His sows are healthy and in good order. I asked him what he was feeding, and he said I took and buried a coal oil barrel in the ground and put a tight cover over it and put in the skim milk from the separator and some middlings and in this way have brought 12 sows along. Now notice—slopped all the time. The other 6 sows would not farrow for some time. I told him how to care for them. Put them by themselves and don't feed them much slop. Some time after this, when I was in town, I saw this man coming, his countenance beaming with his good luck, or right management, for he could count for the 6 sows 43 live pigs. The best kind of a testimonial-"Sold for over sixty years."

A sow carrying 10 pigs must be well fed the last four weeks before farrowing time to build up her body, for nature will take the flesh from her own body to nourish her pigs. Now suppose a farm-er gets up and finds his sow has 10 nice gs; well he goes back to the house and tells his wife to prepare him a bucket-ful of the best slop she can make—for he sow must be well fed to raise all

That pail of rich slop made too much ng to stimulate them. Now to go back to the sow that has milk feyer. I used to tie all her feet to the floor and then took hot water and worked the caked milk through and it wasn't long until I could put the pigs back, but this spoiled the sow—made her cross. I now have something simpler and easier. It is the influence of laudanum. You know when the children get the earache the mother warms a few drops of laudanum and pours it in the child's ear, puts it to bed and the trouble s over. Always have some laudanum

ng. Nature relieves her by taking up e milk from her udder. I like a trough made from a foot board or bottom and 2x4 for sides and end. The pigs can run over such a trough and not hurt their legs like on a V shaped trough. A pig can't drink unless he has one foot or so in the trough and all four seem to be better. Pigs weaned in this way it will take two weeks to get them started again and then you have lost nearly a month's time, and you have lost on the sows too. At the end of six soon she will have fever, when nature will fence off and it will run out in pus. I know a man that run his knife in the idder and took out the caked milk, but erly managed. We must take into account some things; the farmer knows that in the fall when the grass gets short and dry that his cows shrink in milk. We want to make the fall come in June. Drive these sows in a dry lot and don't give them anything to eat for a day and then give them dry corn and water for you know that wont make much milk. The pigs are to be let go and fed where

The United States Agricultural Department has issued (and circulates free) a valuable report giving the results of elaborate experiments made by and under the direction of the Department, which show the great saving from baking at home, as compared with cost of buying at the bakers. All bread, cake, biscuit, crullers, etc., are very much fresher, cleaner, cheaper and more wholesome when made at home with Royal Baking Powder.

> Care of Flannels. To iron flannel is a serious mistake. It intertwines and mats the individual hairs so that it is fulled up and there fulling it. In place of ironing it, if flannels are hung evenly on the line, then pulled out smoothly and placed under such pressure as the clothes basket, with its burden for the next day's ironing, it will be found next morning that they are smooth enough to please the most fastidious, and with this treatment flannel garments will last almost twice as long as if carelessly handled

Curtain Pole Support. The combined window shade roller and curtain pole support herewith shown is the invention of an Ohio man. It can be formed from a single piece of metal, is readily applied to a window frame and when in place is strong and rigidly braced to properly support the shade roller and curtain pole. Preferably it can be made from round wire or of metal strips, cast and stamped. It is shaped into two parts or loops, the upper loop serving as a support for the shade roller and the lower loop as a support for the curtain pole. At the top the device is fastened with a shank and at the bottom with a screw, inserted through the screweye. In applying the device the shank is screwed into the window frame by turning the fixture until the loops come in contact with the frame. The fastening screw is then put into position. One advantage of this support is that it is not liable to become deranged from the weight of the articles supported.

Henry A. Shoemaker, the well known Taneytown carpenter, had his right hand amputated above the wrist, last Friday, at a hospital in Frederick, due to disease of the bone possibly caused by a bruise. One of the fingers of the hand had been amputated about a year ago, but this did not stop the progress of the disease. Mr. Shoemaker will be seriously handicapped in his work and has the sympathy of all our citizens. He is getting along as well as could be expected, and will soon return home.

Last July there was published in this paper an extended article, relating how the well-known Taneytowner, Lawyer Wm. A. Golden, of Pittsburgh, had just "won out as personal plaintiff in a particularly notable, record-making case in the Superior Court of Pennsylvania, on an appeal from Common Pleas' Court, No. 1," in that city; "establishing throughout the country a law-standard to; but paint has run away from him. as regards passenger-transfers on railways of all kinds." S. J. Fair and his son, Norman G. Fair, have purchased from Robert L. Cookson his farm of 56 acres, about two miles west of New Windsor, Md. The farm is very advantageously situated. 1t is first-class limestone land and has two streams of water running through it. An eleven-room brick house, with slate roof, is on the premises; there are 18 acres of growing wheat and plenty of fruit on the land. Two excellent pasture meadows furnish good facilities for conducting a dairy farm. The Messrs Fair will remove to the farm April 15. A Surprise Party.

(For the Record.)

The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Denton A. Wachter, near Emmitsburg, was the scene of a very pleasant surprise party on the evening of March 8th. In spite of the inclement weather and muddy roads quite a number was present. At 11 o'clock all were invited to the dining-room, where a table was laden with all the delicacies of the season consiiting of cakes, candles, potato-chips, fruit, coffee, etc. to which all did ample justice, at a late hour all departed for their homes wishing the host and hostess many more such pleasant events. Aid for Johns Hopkins Hospital.

The legislature of Maryland is asked for $50,000 a year for two years, for Johns Hopkins Hospital, and a like amount for the University. Public sentiment seems to favor the former, but not the latter. A delegation was before the Ways and Means Committee, on Wednessat the Corners. I lay, in the interest of the institutions.
Major Venable spoke for the Hospital,
'The institution,' he said, 'has built 50 odd buildings in the burned district, largely out of money donated by Mr. Rockefeller, and the amount received from the insurance companies. It has been the largest factor in the rebuilding of Baltimore. I may say in passing that ts board of directors is about as hard ts board of directors is about as hard working a body of men as I have ever met." He then spoke of the work done by the Hospital, which has about 4000 patients each year. Moreover, it treats 71,000 people in the dispensary, the medical attention being free with only a charge of 10 cents for prescriptions comcharge of 10 cents for prescriptions compounded in the pharmacy. Last year the Hospital received from the State an appropriation of $25,000, but the taxes on the buildings it owns of 1 per centum on its receipts.

"Even the practice of the greatest economy," said Major Venable, "has not saved the Hospital from embarrassment, as the cost of everything has so spending several weeks with friends in advanced that it was found necessary to close two of the wards for lack of funds. Some of the directors have given money out of their own pockets to aid the Hospital in its work. I can say this with good grace, as I was not one of those who contributed. If the State appropriated money, every cent of it will in

A DELAYED LETTER

Lydia Spencer End never seen it so

She was postmistress and store clerk at the Corners. Day after day for years she had sorted over the stage mails, the county papers and the letters. The day had been a busy one in the store, and to add to the confusion Lydia had recently bought a new set of boxes to take the place of the dingy little portholes which for twenty-five was in Philadelphia, during his rectoryears had done continuous service under different postmasters. A carpenter had worked that afternoon tearing away the old case and generally overhauling the postoffice end of the store.

Lydia was between forty and fifty. "Nigh on to forty-five, bein' two years As a result of the mixture of snow, rain and hail, which we enjoyed for older'n my boy Jerry," old Mrs. Datow headed girls never look ez old ez "has they really be." The carpenter stopped hammering and came to where the postmistress was fanning herself. He was shuffling awkwardly half a dozen letters, "See here, Lyddy, are these any good?" asked he, holding out the letters. "I found 'em down behind the wainscoting." The postmistress of Canaan Corners took the letters with but little interest. Twenty-five years! Yes, it had been just that long since she had seen John viding for the extension of the corporate limits of Taneytown, as by that time the town will have considerably overrun its present houndaries.

"Jack, my boy," said the father in a low voice and nervously, "read this old letter which has been twenty-five years in reaching me.

"Jack," continued the elder after his request had been complied with, "you will have to postpone your vacation. I'm going to take one at Canaan Corners, N. Y. I never expected to marry again after your dear mother's death, my boy, but if the writer of that letter is alive and willing you'll have a new mother inside of two weeks."
