NEWS NOTES HERE AND THERE

Condensed Items of Interest from County, State and Our Exchanges.

Mrs. Col. Wm. A. McKellip, is an inmate of a Washington, D. C., hospital suffering with consumption.

The Brunswick Savings Bank, Brunswick, Md., has been closed as the result of an examination of its affairs by a bank examiner. The exact standing of the bank has not been ascertained, due to the defective system of bookkeeping used.

According to a statement just issued by the Commissioner of Customs, of Great Britian, there has been since 1901, in that country, a decrease in the con-sumption of coffee of 14 per cent, in the use of beer 18 per cent, and in spirits

Adams county, Pa., has 35 voting places, and cast 6138 votes for Congressional candidates. Carroll county has 21 voting places, and cast 6218 votes counting 101 ballots rejected because of being defective. The actual voting strength of the two counties seems nearly

The buckwheat cake is losing its popularity, according to reports of millers in New Jersey, where the making of buckwheat flour is a big industry. This is attributed to the high price of pork, as with some people the buckwheat cake has no standing unless backed up by sausage; and sausage has become something of a luxury.

The residents of Highfield and Cascade, Md., are suffering from a water famine. Nearly all the wells and cis-terns have gone dry and there are at least six families at Highfield who are depending on their supply of water from one well, while others have to carry theirs from the nearby streams, which have almost become dry.

A meeting of the Maryland State Farmers' League has been called for Thurs day, December 1, at the Fifth Regiment Armory. Among the matters of interest to be considered will be the removal of Director of Farmers' Institutes William L. Amoss, who is succeeded by Dr. Richard Hill. Aside from the election of officers, the results of desired legisla-tion at the last General Assembly will be taken up in detail.

Eleven years ago a bug lodged in the left ear of George L. Adams, 19 years old, of Hanover, Pa., and after treatment by a physician, who eased the pain, it was thought the cause was removed. On Tuesday the boy lost his hearing in that ear and upon examination a physician found a beetle in the middle ear, apparently in a preserved condition, which was removed intact and the boy's hearing restored.

Governor Hoch of Kansas, in his Thanksgiving message, said: third of our counties are without prisoners in their jails or paupers in their almshouses. One-half of our counties sent no convicts to our prisons this year. One-half of our prison inmates never lived in Kansas long enough to acquire a residence here. Churches and schools flourish, the spiritual outlook is hopeful, and the saloon is practically banished.

Stepping into a pool of water in which lay the end of a highly charged wire, a horse drived by John Doerson, a rural mail carrier, was killed, on the Susque-hanna turnpike, near York, Pa. Doerson did not realize what had happened until he himself stepped into the water and was badly shocked. He then found that a telephone wire, broken by the storm, had fallen across a trolley wire, and the end, lying in the water, had charged the

One hundred of the prominent citizens of Newburgh, N. Y., have organized "The Taft Club," with a view to bringing back into the party fold those who have been estranged by the words and acts of Mr. Roosevelt and his new nationalism ideas. The men who are in this movement have been affiliated with both factions, but they see party disruption and annihilation unless something is done to uphold the Taft administration from interference and assure him of support in the future. An effort is to be made to have the movement countrywide, with State and National head-

The hamlet of Wheatland, Mercer county, Pa., is in a predicament on account of a self-confessed tramp who insists that he is a guest of the populace. The town jail has had no occupants for some time. On Sunday night Constable Hainer saw smoke coming from the chimney. He investigated and found Ben Jenkins, who says he lives in Mc-Kees Rocks, Pa., and has no "real home," seated in front of the stove. He had a big basket of food and announced his intention of staying all winter. Con-stable Hainer appealed to the Sheriff of Mercer county to help him eject the unwelcome visitor so that he may lock up the calaboose.

Watch Your $1.00 Bills.

A dangerous counterfeit $1.00 bill is in circulation in Baltimore, in appearance closely resembling the genuine. Several of these notes have been discovered in banks. The paper of the notes is particularly good, and the printing good enough to deceive most The counterfeit is very slightly smaller than the genuine, and there are flaws in the portraits of Lincoln and Washington. It is said to be the best counterfeit ever circulated.

Dr. Bateman, Secures Another Degree.

The following newspaper clipping will be read with interest by old Taneytown iriends of Rev. Dr. A. D. Bateman, even if they do not fully understand just what the new degree referred to stands for.

"The following will be read with pleasure by every one in Mill Hall, who, by the way, are friends of the Rev. A. D. Bateman, Ph. D., minister of the Presbyterian church at this place and also of Beech Creek. Rev. Bateman has by his gentlemanly and Christian demeanor endeared himself not only to members of his congregation but to all our people regardless of Christian affiliations.

During the last two or three years he has been making a special study of the treatment of certain diseases, especially chronic, by Mechano-Theraputical measures, and was enrolled as a student in the American College of Mechano-Ther-aphy, Chicago, Ill., doing most of the work through correspondence, taking 24 examinations in all from time to time, with the following record: His lowest mark was 90 which was received 3 times, 92 received once, 95 once, 96 once, 98 twice and his highest mark was 99 received 16 times. To day Rev. A. D. Bateman, Ph. D., of Mill Hall, received from his "alma mater," the American College of Mechano-Theraphy, Chicago, Ill., his diploma, conferring on him the degree of "Doctor of Mechano-Thera-

When Mr. Batemen was a boy attending the daily school in Ireland, his teacher conferred with his (Mr. Bateman's) parents, advising them to send him to a medical school in order to become a physician. Mr. Bateman did not take very kindly to this, preferring to take up the work of the ministry. Nevertheless the medical profession had many charms for him, and when but a boy he took especial delight in anatomy and the won-ders of the circulation of the blood, etc."

Resolutions on Death of B. F. Crouse.

The following resolutions were passed by the Bar of Carroll County, in the matter of the death of Benjamin Franklin Crouse:

lin Crouse:

In the death of Benjamin Franklin Crouse, the public has lost a public servant of proved capacity and an honored leader through many years of faithful service; the state of Maryland, a vigorous and admirable Insurance Commissioner of absolute impartiality and of fruitful initiative; the Bar of his native county, an intelligent, aggressive and forceful advocate of winning address, praiseworthy poise and convincing manner; and his wide circle of friends, an engaging personality of strong convictions and pronounced attachments, whose generous nature and warm affections were best revealed and had freest display in his immediate family; therefore, be it

A Letter from Kansas. (For the RECORD.)

Please find enclosed one dollar ($1,00) for the RECORD another year. If it was not for the RECORD we would not hear much from Taneytown. We like it here, the climate is fine, and we are having a fine fall, we had good rains in September that put the ground in nice condition for the fall wheat which is up nice (except what was sowed late, and some

The land is productive when we get enough moisture; we have good roads, fine water and plenty of it. Telephones in most every house, and R. D., all through the country mostly by motor cycle. There are many automobiles through the neighborhood. We live two miles from Selden, which is situated on the main line of the Rock Island R. R. from Chicago to Denver; we have twentyfour trains a day.

We have three Churches, one new brick School building, one Bank, two Hotels, three large stores, one Opera-House, two grain Elevators, Black smith shop, meatmarket, two Hardware stores Earl has gone to Fairfield, Neb., to help shuck our hundred acres of corn, which is good. We have sowed one hundred and eight acres of wheat and fifteen acres of rye here, and we will have one hundred and sixty acres for E. G. KISER.

Carroll County Loses Appointment.

The Board of Public Works unanimously elected Mr. Emerson C. Harrington, of Dorchester county, State Insurance Commissioner on Tuesday, to succeed B. Frank Crouse, of Carroll county, who died at his home in Westminster last week. Although the Board, which consists of Governor Crothers, Comptroller Clagett and Treasurer Vandiver, considered a number of other applicants for the place Mr. Harrington was the only one nominated. All the applicants were well indorsed and the insurance men of the State made a strong effort to have Prof. James E. Green, of Baltimore county, now Deputy Commissioner, elected. It is believed that Professor Green will be retained by

Mr. Harrington as Deputy Commissioner. Mr. Jos. B. Boyle, of Westminster, was a candidate for the place, and strongly indorsed, but Carroll was not to have the honor, and it is strongly suspected that as the opposition of this county in the Congressional convention is no longer a strong factor, this may have something to do with taking the appointment away. Under the direct primary plan, Baltimore county appears to have a monopoly of the Congressional situation, against the combined efforts of Carroll and Harford, and the Baltimore city wards.

STATE WANTS MORE PIKES.

Another offer of $1000. per mile is made for a Twelve Mile Pike.

Every now and then the State Road Commission has a meeting, the favorite topic at which, of late, has been the proposed purchase of turnpikes, especially in Frederick and Washington coun-Apparently this proposition has something to recommend it, on account of solid roadbeds already located, but as the Commission has heretofore shown a disposition to tear these up and start others, the pikes must be wanted for other reasons. A good many argue that as it is desirable to increase the mileage of good sound roads, present turnpikes should be left alone, and the state improve roads not now piked.

At a meeting of the State Roads Commission on Thursday, it was decided to offer the owners of the turnpike between Boonsboro and Hagerstown, a distance of 12 miles, $1,000 a mile. The road is an extension of the Frederick turnpike, for which the state has already made an offer of $100,000, and is desired by the state as a part of its free road system. It is owned by a corporation different from that which owns the Frederick turnpike. A majority of the stock is said to be held by Frederick, Hagerstown and Baltimore banks.

The directors of the Fredericktown Turnpike Company will call a meeting of the stockholders of the company early in December and will submit the state's offer of $100,000 for their roads, which extends from Baltimore to Boonsboro. It is reliably stated that the state's proposition will be accepted.

The meeting of Thursday is reported to have been a "warm" one. Some of the members becoming real interested in the discussions, which dispels the thought that the Commission, like the general public, is becoming weary over the job.

Epworth League Rally.

(For the RECORd.) The special rally of West Baltimore District Epworth League, was held in the M. E. Church, Union Bridge, on Sunday, Nov. 13. The program as announced was followed. Rev. Louis Hornald Collections of the Church Palkimen. pel, pastor of Oella Church, Baltimore, took charge of the Lovefeast, J. Belt Townsend having been prevented by sickness from attending. An hour was spent in song and prayer, and with bread and water the communion was administered. At 10.30 a. m., T. E. Witters, Dist. 1st. Vice-Pres., proceeded to de-liver the sermon. His subject was, "The Sure Foundation," which he illustrated by saying that if a building was intend-ed to withstand the storms of time, it would be placed on a solid foundation. Likewise if our religion and our characters are to withstand the storms of doubt and scepticism, they must be built on the solid foundation which is Christ. Rev. C. H. Hastings, Dr. E. R. Lewis, Dr. F. W. Johnson and Mr. William Reisler, of the M. E. Church quartet, at the conclusion of the sermon, sang "I know whom I have believed," and "Speed Away." The first hymn was by request sung at the afternoon service. Beginning at 2.00 p. m., a short session of the Sunday school was held. Being Temperance day the services were placed charge of the Young Men's Bible Class, several of whom read short articles on the subject. John G. Herman, Dist. President of the Epworth League, was requested to address the school

The ballot was advised as the best means to restrain the evil. The Junior hour began at 2.30, services in charge of Miss Hester E. Stabler, Dist. Jr. Supt., assisted by Mr. Herman, The children were entertained with song and story, and were requested to try to develop sufficient confidence in themselves to be able to conduct their League without the aid of the seniors. The talk on Temperance was continued, and an amusing rhythm sung to illustrate how they might be free from danger by refusing to take into the mouth, that which would defile and eventually destroy both body and soul. The ladies were appealed to to eliminate from their cookery all intoxicants, and by this means decrease the danger of children acquiring a taste for ardent spirits.

In the afternoon at 3.30, the Senior hour commenced with Miss Grace W. Sweany, of Baltimore, in charge, who read a well prepared and thoughtful paper on Missions, in which she pointed to the comfort and happiness that had been brought to the benighted and forsaken souls of this and other lands by their means, and asked aid and encourage ment from all to carry on the good work.

From 7.30 to 8.30 p. m., Mr. Herman conducted a song service. Rev. Louis Horpel then delivered the concluding sermon. His theme being, "Our entire dependance upon God." As an illustration he spoke of the drouth which had caused a great diminution of the flow of water in the Patapsco River, which forced the mills to close for want of power, thus throwing men out of employment and the means of earning a living. His discourse was a clear and forcible presentation of the Gospel of Christ and should be he pful to all who listened to it. Prof. C. L. Rowland, Prof. T. P. Early, Mr. G. Roop and Mr. P. E. King, the Blue Ridge College quartet, at conclusion of the sermon, sang several beautiful hymns, the singing being much appreciated by the audience. During the day Miss Emma G. Eyler presided at the organ, and by her skillful rendering of the music, added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The Rally was a decided success, the only regret being that there were not more present to enjoy it.

McGill---Reisler.

(For the RECORD.) A simple but very pretty wedding A simple but very pretty wedding took place in Westminster, at the Church of the Ascension, on Wednesday, Nov. 16th., when Miss Caroline Faries Reisler, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Howard Reisler, of near Keymar, Md., and Mr. William McPherson McGill, eldest son of Mrs. Ernest McGill and the late Rev. Ernest McGill, of near Thurmont, Frederick county, were married at high noon. county, were married at high noon.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given away, and was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Frances Anna Reisler, sister of the bride, and Miss Ernestine McGill, sister of the groom. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Joseph McGill. Rev. F. M. Gibson, Ph. D., rector of the church, performed the ceremony, and the wedding music was redered by Miss Ida F. Lochard, the organist of the church, assisted by the

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, after which the wed-ding party left in automobiles for the church. The bride and groom left im mediately after the ceremony for a trip to Washington, Buffalo and Niagara. A reception will be given the young couple on Nov. 23rd., at "Auburm," the home of the groom, near Thurmont, at which place they will reside.

The bride wore a gown of white sherrett cloth, trimmed with valencieens lace, and carried a white prayer-book. She also wore a sash which was first worn by the great-grandmother of the groom at her marriage, in 1824. The bridesmaids wore white dresses and veils and carried large yellow chrysanthemums. Many beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass, etc., were received.

Panama Canal Ready in 1913.

Panama, November 15.-The Panama Canal will be completed December 1, 1913. This information was given to President Taft to day while he was inspecting the famous Gatun dam, on which he spent several hours. The official date of the opening remains January 1, 1915. Lieutenant Colonel Goethals desiring one year in which to train the canal tenders and to get the machinery working smoothly. Ships in the mean-time will be granted the privilege of the canal, but at their own risk of delays incident to inexperienced operation.

In addition, it was announced by Lieutenant Colonel Goethals that the report that President Taft's visit was the runner of a request for another $100,000,-000 from Congress was unfounded. The canal will be completed in 1913, he said, within the $375,000,000 already author-

President was tremendously pleased at the outlook for the early completion of the great work and congratulated Colonel Goethals. He expressed amazement at the amount of work accomplished since his visit to the Isthmus in February, 1909. He displayed a knowledge of the technical details of the canal that surprised and delighted the officials, his familiarity dating back to the time he was Secretary of War, when he advocated a lock canal as against a sea level system. He was greatly surprised, however, at the immensity of the dam, some idea of which can be gained from the fact that the special train was under way nearly three hours on the spur tracks overrunning the great The President exclaimed:

is a mountain, not a dam."

The visit of President Taft has utterly dispelled any fears gained from sensa tionalists respecting the stability of the dam base, which is a half mile wide and so gradually sloped that it could never be recognized as a dam.

Colonel Goethals explained to the President that the informal opening of the canal in 1913 necessitates immediate action on the part of Congress relative to toll rates, because 18 months will be required by shipping interests to adjust their rates to the new routing.

ECHOES FROM THE ELECTION.

Results of the Political Revolution Throughout the Country.

Gov. Harman, of Ohio, and Gov. Wilson, of New Jersey, are the most prominently mentioned candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1912, the former being in the lead.

The Republicans carried Missouri, for Judges of the Supreme Court of the state, the only state officers elected.

Champ Clark will meet with opposition as the next speaker of the House, on the grounds of his being a Bryan man.

An effort was made in Anne Arundel County to beat Parran, which cost him about 500 additional majority. In two districts, several ballots were thrust in the ballot box, and because of this the judges threw out the whole vote. In another district, the wrong ballots were another district, the wrong ballots were used for Republican voters, and in the count they were thrown out. In Char-les county, Parran's name on the ballot was shifted about in printing.

The election in Pennsylvania likely represents the last work of "Boss" Penrose in making nominations, as Republican newspapers all over the state have demanded that hereafter the party shall make nominations without one-man dic-

Congressman-elect Konig, of Balti-more, complains that 1500 defective ballots were thrown out in his district, all Democratic, and about 250 Republican. Just think of that! A Democratic elec-tion law that came near defeating a Democratic Congressman, as Mr. Konig had only 278 to spare! These 1500 voters were hardly negro voters, either.

The election of B. H. Hooper, as Republican Governor of Tennessee, was something like the election of Gov. Foss, Democrat, in Massachusetts. Both were elected by voters of the opposite party, and Hooper is said to be half Democrat, and Foss half Republican.

Analysis of belated election returns from close districts convinces the Democrats that they will have a majority of 63 in the Sixty-second Congress, The Republican majority is now 43. The Democrat membership is now 174, but will be 227 in the next Congress. The Republicans, who now have 217 members, have been cut down at the poll to 163.

The successful campaign of Eugene N. Foss, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Massachussetts, at last week's election, cost him $37,000, according to his sworn return filed. This is $20,000 more than was expended by Governor Eben S. Draper, who was defeated. Mr. Foss paid $31,000 to the Democratic State Committee, while the balance went to the Democratic City Committee, of

It will have been 16 years next March since the Democrats have had a taste of federal spoils. More than $700,000 annually is represented in the patronage prize which they have won by the cap-ture of the House. The last legislative appropriation bill carried an aggregate, exclusive of the salaries of clerks to members, of $697,000, to pay the salaries of the several hundred employes of the ded a sum in excess of $10,000 for extraordinary service and special employes. All of this amount went to the Republicans. Now the Democrats are to have their inning and unquestionably make a clean sweep of the entire company of Republican employes and replace them with Democrats.

The Democratic majority in Congress has inspired many Democrats, defeated by small majorities, to enter "contests" for seats.

William J. Bryan is certain the defeat of Roosevelt's candidate for governor of New York has ended his prospects of being elected to a third term as presi-'Mr. Roosevelt still can do much good," Mr. Bryan declared, "if he will get behind some good reformer and progressive like Senator LaFollette.

Montana has been slow at finding out whether its newly elected Legislature is Democrat or Republican, but the latest count gives the Democrats a slight majority and determines that Senator Thomas H. Carter shall be succeeded by a Democrat. This makes nine States whose elections this year changed the party majority in their Legislatures and insures that nine seats in the United States Senate, now occupied by Republicans, shall be filled after March 4 by Democrats. These States are Maine, New York, New Jersey, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska and Montana and the change will reduce a Republican majority of twenty-six in the present Senate to eight in the next.

Senator Robert L. Taylor, who was the Democratic candidate for Governor of Tennessee, and was defeated, prudently held on to his Senatorship. he resigned his office, as candidates usually do, the new Legislature controlled by a combination of Republicans and Independent Democrats would doubtless have elected a Senator, who would have co-operated with the Republicans. In Nevada, a Democratic Legislature is under instructions to elect a Republican Senator, who received a majority of the direct vote at the polls. If the Legisla-ture follows its instructions and not its politics a Republican will be elected and the Oregon precedent supports the con-clusion that the Nevada Legislature will keep faith and follow its instructions.

Our Busy Season.

The season is here when we can't promise to execute "rush" orders for job printing. We will do our very best not to disappoint anybody, but we ask our friends to give us all the time they possibly can, on work desired between this and January 1. Our office can, and does, turn out a great deal of job work but even our excellent facilities are overtaxed at certain seasons of the year. We will be able to handle all the work offered, but our patrons can help us by not holding back their work until they

Food Prices Coming Down.

Prices have commenced to come down, and now people are wondering whether the result of the election has anything to do with it, and how some of the peo-ple will like it—especially farmers. There has been an all around reduction in the price of meats and poultry, with pork heading the list, the reduction being 5 cents a pound by New York dealers, other cities also reducing the prices of meats at retail. In Chicago and Kansas City the hog market has broken, thus lowering wholesale prices.

Corn has fallen and this tendency applies to other grain; and marketing, such as butter, eggs and poultry, are on the same road. In general, there is a widespread belief that the high-water mark all along the line of "cost of liv-ing," has been reached. Whether this is all due to the big corn crop, is an unsettled question.

Secretary Wilson says the decrease in cost of meats is here to stay, but does not prophesy with regard to the prices of other food stuffs. "A permanent de-crease in the cost of living, as far as meats are concerned, will be brought about by the heavy growth of corn and wheat," said the Secretary. "Prices have not come down heretofore because the farmers have not been feeding freely. Hay, corn and wheat have been scarce. Therefore the farmers could not feed freely because of the high price of cattle feeds. Naturally, the prices of meats became high."

Dr. Wiley, Chief Chemist of the Department of Agriculture, takes the opposite view, and says the paraded an-nouncement of lower prices is merely a trick of the special interests to get a better hold on the market. "The interests which manipulated the prices," he said, 'have temporarily released their hold on our throats for the purpose of getting a fresher grip. The so-called reduction in meats is fictitious.".

U. S. Can't Repel an Invasion.

Washington, November 14.-The United States is not prepared to repel an attempted invasion of the Pacific

This statement, ascertained from undisputable authority to day, is the final analysis of a report from Gen. Leonard Wood, as chief of staff, in reply to a resolution by Representative McLachlin, of California passed at the last session of Congress.

The report will set forth that the dissection of the Army into small military units necessary to garrison scores of so-called "political posts" throughout the country has denied both officers and men adequate military training. Recommendations will be made for the re-organization of the Army; the abandonment of all unnecessary posts the increasing of the infantry line by 25 regiments and the field artillery by seven regiments and the concentration of troops in large garrisons on the two oceans. The labor necessary to keep the present large number of posts in repair has demanded all the time of many soldiers, who as a consequence are deficient in military training. Many officers, from the same causes, have been made ad-ministrative officials instead of tactical commanders.

It is asserted by many military authorities that the United States Army actually would not be able to place a single division of trained troops in the field in case of war. The "regular army" would be made up chiefly of raw re-

Causes for Republican Defeat.

Col. Roosevelt has undoubtedly lost must be acknowledged that the Repubin Congress, this time, irrespective of | days? Why the distinction? whether Roosevelt had staid in Africa, or not. He is in a measure responsible for the division in the Republican party, but his loss of status as a leader is largely due to the fact that his activity failed to stem the tide of defeat-his standards did not lead to victory, because the multitude did not follow, and are not likely to follow in 1912.

There will be various reasons given for the revolution-some true, some false. From our point of view, the tariff had nothing, directly, to do with it, but indirectly it had a great deal, for the reason that it was largely responsible for stirring up "insurgency"-internal strife-in the Republican party, and this "insurgency" we truly believe, is largely chargeable, for its inception and growth, to the dictatorial and objectionable methods of Messrs. Cannon and Aldrich in handling the tariff question, in the House and Senate, in such a way as to insult, and belittle the efforts and advice, of other party leaders.

As the direct cause of Republican defeat, we assign three, in the order of their importance: (1) Col. Election Day Prohibition.

By common consent, it is agreed that the law prohibiting the sale of liquors on election day, is one of the best on the statute books. It is agreed that liquor and politics is a bad combination; that for peace and quiet, and general decency, liquors must not be sold when the people are exercising their greatest right as citizens of our country. So generally is the wisdom of the law admitted, that there is no thought expressed, or attempt made, anywhere, to have the law repealed, and so election day stands on a level with Sunday, with-

Now, on the basis of logic, if one secular day is admittedly a day which should be free from the sale and influence of liquors, because of their feared effect on large gatherings of people, why should not all days on which political or other large gatherings are held, also enjoy the same exemption? If liquors are likely to bring about confusion, disorder and strife, on a certain day when large numbers gather, is it not good logic that, in proportion to their opportunity, liquors tend to disturb peace and foment strife, in some measure, on all

Tariff in the New Congress.

What will be the effect of the new Congress on business is a question asked and in the minds of men. There will assemble in Washington a year from Is not election day prohibition an ex- next morth a Democratic House of Representatives for the first time since 1895. With it will be a Senate with a small sound reasoning? Along other lines of majority, made up in part of a sufficient thought, the conclusion must be the number of progressive low tariff Republicans to constitute a balance of power made, by law, a day of prohibition, why in that body. There is some apprehension as to what a Congress so constituted will do.

Defense of the Progressives.

New York, November 11-Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, of which Mr. Roosevelt is a contributing editor, today gave out his (Dr. Abbott's) interpretation of the recent election embodied in an editorial to appear in the next issue of that publication.

"Popular dissatisfaction with present conditions, especially with the high prices, indignation at the manifest control of the special interest of the tariff revision and still more at the defenses and eulogies of the tariff bill; wrath at the corruption and the hypocritical pretenses disclosed in certain influental Republican circles, coupled with the forgetfulness of the fact that the exposure and the publication were furnished by Republicans; a growing conviction that there was an alliance between the special interests and the Republican oilgarchy, with the belief that the easiest way to hit at it was by voting with the opposition; indifference in an election which to many voters appeared to be a contest rather between persons than between principles, an impression which a too personal campaigning tended to increase.

There were also general inclination in America to make a change in political control from time to time, an inclination which the political conditions that prevailed in solid states does much to justify; some fears in certain quarters, not less politically effective because wholly undefined, lest the spectre of radicalism should work havocto business interests; the fact that the Republican party was divided between the insurgents and the regulars, while the Democratic party, freed from the traditions of Cleveland, the personality of Bryan, was for the first time in years united-all these causes combined to bring about a political revolution.

"But I do not believe the election indicates a reaction and revolution. The facts that in every state except Indiana where there was a definite popular insurgent movement within the Republican party which succeeded, that party succeeded in the election; that in every state except Pennsylvania where there was no such movement within the party, or where it failed, the Republican party failed in the election.

"With the single exception of the senator from Indiana no senator who was retired by failure to secure either a re-renomination or a re-election represents the progressive element in the party; that of the governors elected a decided majority represent the progressive rather than the reactionary element in their respective parties, including such representatives of progressive thought as Woodrow Wilson on the Atlantic Coast and Hiram Johnson on the Pacific; that the insurgents are insurgents no longer, but are recognized as leagers in the Republican party-all indicate that the election which is a signal triumph of the Democratic party is not a defeat of progressive principles and does not indicate a decadence of the

"Nor do I think that the jack-'o-lantern bugaboo of Mr. Roosevelt's im-But the kindest service which the best | agined monarchical ambitions cut any considerable figure in the election. The fact that the greatest falling off in the Republican vote was in the State of Pennsylvania, where his voice was not once heard in the campaign, is significant, if not conclusive, on the point. The simple fact is that a Democratic triumph was publicly predicted by both Democrats and Republicans eight months ago, and was fore-shadowed by the enforced retirement of Messrs. Aldrich and Hale from the Senate and by the Maine election in September. Mr. Roosevelt was called in to save the situation. He responded to the call. but could not turn the tide. He did something more important-heartened the forward in his own state the work of party purification so well begun by Mr. Hughes and did something to inspire with the spirit of genuine and national Democratic progress the party of his political opponents.'

RICE PAPER.

Shaved From the Snow White Pith of Trees In Formosa.

The so called rice paper is not made from rice, as its name implies, but from the snow white pith of a small tree belonging to the genus aralia, a genus represented in this country by the common sarsaparilla and the spikenard. The tree grows in Formosa and, so far as is known, nowhere else. The stems are transported to China, and there the rice paper is It is used, aside from a number of other purposes, by the native artists for water color drawings, and sometimes it is dyed in various colors and made into artificial flowers.

The tools of the pith worker comprise a smooth stone about a foot square and a large knife or hatchet with a short wooden handle. The blade is about a foot long, two inches broad and nearly half an inch thick at the back, and it is as sharp as a razor.

Placing a piece of the cylindrical pith on the stone and his left hand on the top, the pith worker will roll the pith backward and forward for a moment until he gets it in the required position. Then, seizing the knife with his right hand, he will hold the edge of the blade after a feint or two close to the pith, which he will keep rolling to the left with his left hand until nothing remains to unroll, for the pith has, by the application of the knife, been pared into a square white sheet of uniform thickness. All that remains to be done is to square the Books and Their Care.

Books on shelves may be seriously injured if packed too tightly. When quickly pulled out for use the top of the book is likely to come off. Moreover, the constant pressure, if too great, will loosen the whole back in time and the friction in putting upon and taking from the shelf mars the covers. On the other hand, a reasonable amount of lateral pressure is necessary. If placed on the shelves too loosely the leaves tend to open and admit dust, dampness and consequent mildew. In the case of heavy volumes the weight of the leaves will be found resting on the shelves if the books are placed too loosely. This is likely to make the backs concave. Here is the old King Richard II. Badly painted shelves are another source of injury to books. Care should sawse sawge," or pigs with sage be taken when paint or varnish is used sauce. POWER OF A WORD.

Why France Changed the Name of the "Life Saving Belt."

A vivid illustration of the power of mere words over human beings was once brought to the attention of French people by Francisque Sarcey.

After the wreck of the Bourgogne many passengers were found floating drowned with life preservers on. These life preservers were fatsened upon the bodies, but round the middle instead of under the arms, and the greater weight of the upper part of the body had tipped the head under water and the person of course was inevitably drowned.

Now it appears that the greater number of the persons so drowned were French. The French term for life preserver is ceinture de sauvetage, or "life saving belt." This word ceinture suggests to the mind in its moments of disorder and unreadiness, such as a great catastrophe brings, the idea of putting on a belt, and as a belt is put round the waist and nowhere else the frightened person instinctively adjusts the life preserver close about the hips

The result is that as soon as the person so provided falls into the water his body tips over, with the heavier part downward, and the head is plunged beneath the surface.

The word "belt," therefore, was the cause of the loss of many lives in the Bourgogne disaster. Sarcey accordingly proposed to counteract the fatal effect of the French word by renaming the article and calling it a brassiere, which is a kind of waist, and by bringing the word bras, or arm, to mind to teach people to put a life preserver on just underneath the arms.-Chicago Record-Herald.

The Cooling of the Worlds. All bodies in space are gradually approaching frigidity. When a redhot cannon ball is taken out of a furnace and suspended in the air it parts with its heat and keeps on parting with it until it finally reaches the temperature surrounding it. And what happens to the cannon ball is happening to the sun. The sun is steadily losing its heat and contracting, and the same is true of the planets and of every other body in space. Just as the arctic circle is ever encroaching upon the temperate and equatorial regions, so the final chill is steadily advancing upon the warmth everywhere.-Now York Amer-

A Modest Poet.

Little Pitchers.

In a certain small town there are two young women whose favorite occupation has been to discuss the affairs of their neighbors. Having met for that purpose one afternoon, they found themselves blocked in the indulgence of their pastime by the presence of the small daughter of the hostess. A slight indisposition of some sort prevented sending the child out of doors, so they were forced to put up with her presence, doing their best, however, to nullify it.

Something eatable was produced and an absorbing new game invented which she could play quite by herself, so they breathed freely and began.

The talk at length reached a point involving the latest scandal of the neighborhood and the retailing of some inside information which must not become public property. A hurried look at the child on the floor found her apparently so occupied with her game that it seemed quite safe to go on if one observed a decent discretion Voices were accordingly lowered and direct allusion veiled, but when the matter had been thrashed out to their satisfaction the child raised her eyes and remarked with deliberation and emphasis:

We Give 'S. & H.' Green Trading Stamps.

They Furnish Your Home Free of Cost.

Following the lead of the most Successful Merchants in the United States we have adopted the World famous "S. & H." Green Trading Stamp system of sharing profits with our customers.

The giving of "S. & H." Green Trading Stamps by any store is a simple and direct form of profitsharing with customers. The share in the profits on each sale which in this way is returned to the customer is paid in "S. & H." stamps instead of cash. But the stamps are themselves exchangeable for articles of use and value. The system is easy to understand. With every ten cent cash purchase made here the purchaser receives one "S. & H." stamp. That is, if the purchase amounted to 50 cents you would receive five stamps, with purchases of one dollar ten stamps, and so on, one stamp with each ten cents in the amount of your cash purchases.

These stamps, as they are thus collected from this and other stores operating under the same plan, are pasted into little books, each holding 990 stamps. The filled books are exchangeable for any of the thousand-and-one articles of use and ornament pictured in the "Sperry & Hutchinson" Premium Catalog. We will gladly give you one of these catalogs.

HERE'S THE POINT:-- No one will sell you better goods for less money than we. Hence the stamps we give you costs you nothing--absolutely nothing.

In brief the holder of "S. & H." stamps can exchange them for anything of her choice in---

Deception In Furs. Ladies, beware of mink furs and tartar sables, for they are not the real thing. Here's our consul general at Moscow warning us that both those skins are sold as Russian sables, especially the latter. The tartar sable, he says, is a member of the squirrel family, and, while the coat is brilliantly yellow in its native state, it is dyed to resemble the color of the genuine sable and can hardly be distinguished in many instances even by the most experienced judges. Even hare, rabbit, muskrat, fitch and marmot skins are treated by the gentle Russian as sables, while the fur of

It has been noticed that the navy department is always willing to stretch a point to keep brothers together in the service or help one to reach a ship on which a near relative is already serving.-Bluejacket.

Justice at All Hours.

Despite their preference for a republican form of government, the French are in some respects a conservative nation. A Paris contemporary discovered that one of the doors of the palais de justice is left ajar throughout the night. This door has never been shut since March 4, 1618, when Louis perpetually open "so that my subjects may be able to seek justice at all hours of the day and night." However, an enterprising journalist who presented himself at the door in the small hours of the morning was promptly ejected by a watchman. And when he quoted the ordinance of 1618 the reply was, "If you don't clear of you'll find yourself coming in by the prisoners' door tomorrow."

The Care of Sick Horses.

The liability of horses to accident or illness is certain to make it necessary at times to nurse and doctor them. I wish I could dismiss this part of my subject with the simple advice to call in a reliable veterinarian whenever a horse is ailing, for this, when possible, is unquestionably the best thing to do. Unfortunately, however, regular veterinary physicians are rarely to be found outside of our larger cities, and so the horse owner has his choice of doctoring the horse himself or calling upon the village horse doctor.

For the home treatment, which the impossibility of securing a good practitioner often makes necessary, the main | Sayin' ('cause it was her bakin') thing to remember is that horses are subject to the same ailments that human beings are and require the same treatment. This is really the keynote of all intelligent home treatment. For instance, if your horse sprains his ankle, use hot water freely for the first tew days; combined with rubbing this is better than any liniment, though the latter is often advantageous later, when the worst of the inflammation has subsided. If he gets a cut or wound, wash out all dirt with warm water and an antiseptic, sew up, if necessary, and continue antiseptic dressing. If he catches cold give a slightly laxative diet and keep him in as uniform a temperature as possible; and so on through the whole list of equine ailments. Study each case carefully, use your common sense, and remember that what would not be good for you under like circumstances is not good for your horse.

In giving medicine internally the dose should be from five to eight times the dose for a human being, according to the size of the horse and the character

Except in acute disorders, however, it is rarely necessary to give medicine. If the horse is "run down," "out of condition" or "off his feed" recourse should always be had to right diet and right | Md. exercise rather than to drugs.

If the instructions I have here given, which I have tried to make as simple as possible, are followed there will be little danger of the horse owner going very far wrong in his treatment. There will be, of course, some cases that he cannot correctly diagnose. At such times the only wise course is to make the animal as comfortable as possible and attempt no treatment whatever without the advice of a reliable veterinarian.

Men Drink Less Now.

It is, I think, a common experience of the man about town that his associates in general drink less than they did five Thanksgiving. Interesting should such or ten years ago. Go into any restaurant in New York where business men congregate at the lunch hour, and you will note that a large number of tables, often the majority, have no beverage but water. As a general rule the waiter will not thrust the wine card before you with old-time insistence, knowing from experience that you probably do not want it. Even at dinner time, in these same restaurants, many tables show no wine glasses, whereas formerly they were all but general. Moreover, it is distinctly the rule, even at private dinner parties of some formality, to serve a single wine, Since then you have heard by the following the English custom, whereas Dutch ovens of the roundup fire the until recently New Yorkers were notori-

When You Write for Newspapers.

Probably not one reader in a hundred has paused to notice that a newspaper article is written on a plan just the reverse of that of a sermon or oration. Comparatively few ministers have analyzed the subject sufficiently to notice this fact, and their ignorance of it will often account for the reluctance of newspapers to accept matter contributed by them. It is worth the while of every man and woman to know the general plan on which newspaper articles are written, for almost everybody desires at times to announce something through the press. The mere knowledge of the in this or any other department, but it is the first step.

The skillful preacher or orator usually reserves his most important points until toward the end of his discourse, closing with a climax. The skillful newspaper reporter puts his climax into his first sentence and ends with the most nonessential detail.

While the novelist secures his dramatic effect by keeping the secret of his story hidden as long as possible, the reporter attains success by revealing his secret as quickly as words will let him. Both are working on principles as clearly defined as those on which a sonnet is constructed, but the modern newspaper article is of so much more recent date that few critics have analyzed it, and even many of the best newspaper writers work daily upon the foregoing principle without knowing it. No man can work many days under a metropolitan city editor without learning it.

The reasons for this method of construction are plain. The object of a newspaper story is to tell the news for its own sake. The majority of readers do not have time to read the whole of an article. What they want is a compact statement of the essential facts of an accident or a crime or a public meeting. The best newspaper is the one that gives them the pith of the whole matter with the more important details and closing with the least important.

The Delineator for December.

The Delineator for December is one of the most beautiful of the holiday magazines. The Christmas spirit is suggested in picture and story. There are illustrations in color that mark the highest artistic attainment. The frontispiece by Sigismund de Ivanowski, and the full page, "The Night Before Christmas," by Mary Ellen Sigsbee, are remarkable examples of the best that the art of painter and printer can offer.

In "Conversazione" Erman J. Ridgway strikes the keynote of right living with a bit of philosophy suggested to an out-of-door Christian who hears a strain of church music.

The Christmas stories are of rare quality: "What Happened in the Night," by James Hopper is a delightful fantasy; id in a spasm, he may twich or shudder Fillmore, will touch the heart, and "Mad- faint; if a man, he may actually become ame Joy-in Life," by Wanda Petrunkevitch will reveal a character whom everybody will welcome as a holiday guest. "The Unforseen," Mary Stewart Cutting's fascinating serial, reaches a happy ending.

Among the articles of the month is 'Children's Christmas Around the World," by C. Bryson Taylor, a description of holiday celebrations in many lands. Charles Francis Read, M. D., tells how Christmas is passed in "These Terrible Asylums;" Gelett Burgess gives advice "How to See a Play," and Mabel Potter Daggett contributes a character sketch, "A Father to Forty." The Glorious Harvest of 1910.

The delay of the frost will bring four hundred million bushels more of corn to the fields than was estimated four weeks ago, and there will be twenty-two million bushels more of wheat than was expected a few weeks ago. It is now certain that the corn crop for the year will be a little over three billion bushels. That of oats will be a million bushels.

The cotton crop is somewhat short, but will very likely bring as much money as the more bountiful harvest of other years. It is estimated that at the present prices the value of the agricultural production of the country for the year will not be under $9,500,000,000.

Of this amount $2,000,000,000 represents the profit to farmers, which is within $350,000,000 of the net value of the production of all the mines during the present year. Within the last ten years the farmers have cleared off $6," 000,000,000 of mortgages from their prcperty. The holdings of the farmers are $3,500,000,000 greater than the capitalization of all the steam and electric railroads and all the manufactories of the country.-Ferdinand C. Iglehart, D. The Cat Dread.

A genuine case of cat dread is a very curious and interesting phenomena, says Dr. Woods Hutchinson, in Success Magazine. The mere sight of the unpopular animal will elicit the liveliest manifestations of annoyance and loathing, deepening to positive fear. If the cat is walking down the sidewalk the cat dreader promptly crosses over to the other side of the street, and should the beast show any signs of following, beats a hasty retreat with every appearance of terror.

If the fiend in feline form suddenly appears or is discovered in a room, the victim of this fear leaves the room in frantic haste, sometimes without waiting to choose very particularly between the door and the window. If he be prevented from escaping, the disturbance becomes unmistakably physical, even though some of its manifestations may still be controlled by a violent effort of the will. He becomes deathly pale, he gasps for breath, his muscles are set rig-'Christmas for One," by Parker H. as in an ague fit. If a woman, she may nauseated to the verge of vomiting.

In Touch With the Office.

When the President travels by rail in the United States, he is never out of touch with the White House, and through it, with the entire machinery of the government. Special telegraph wires and long-distance telephone wires reserved for the executive business are used. Through long experience, the White House operators have become so adept in this sort of thing that the traveling President always has his finger on the governmental pulse at Washington, even though he be journeying on the Pacific coast.

The warship on which he will be a passenger is provided with a powerful wireless telegraph station in charge of expert operators, and there is a similar 'intelligence office' on the sister ship which is to convoy the presidential craft, and which will incidentally carry to Panama and back some of the members of the presidential party. By means of the wireless, the President will be constantly in touch with the affairs of the outside world and will be enabled to communicate with Washington almost as quickly as if he were traveling by rail on his native soil. - Waldon Fawcett, in The Christian Herald.

A Cheap Boy. In Bremen, Germany, not long since a father advertised in a newspaper as "I have a son, Hans, fourteen years old. He swears, lies, smokes and runs away. I will sell him to the first person who offers me 10 cents." A number of persons wanted the boy, but the law stepped in and sent | the father to jail for ten days for publishing such an advertisement. Even the worst kind of a boy ought to be worth a silver dime.

Does Not Stimulate

Ayer's Sarsaparilla does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. It is not a strong drink. No reaction after you stop using it. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic and alterative. We wish you would ask your doctor about this. He knows. Trust him. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

What are Ayer's Pills? Liver Pills. How long have they been sold? Nearly sixty years. Do doctors recommend them? Ask your own doctor and find out.

SENIORS IN SILK HATS.

Btudent Life In Chicago University In Civil War Times.

It was not always steam heat, electric light and comparatively luxurious surroundings at the University of Chicago. In the days of the old univertity, according to a diary that has been brought to light by Charles Linnaeus Hostetter, '56, and published in the University of Chicago Magazine, the gymnasium of those days was located in the university woodshed and the process of developing muscle was turned to the useful purpose of cutting up enough wood to supply the stoves in the dormitory.

The students of civil war times, as gravely described in the diary, would furnish much amusement if seen on the streets of modern Chicago. The seniors wore tall silk hats whose cost, the diary states impressively. was the equivalent of five weeks' board. With these upon their heads the students considered themselves too dignified to be cooped up in the street cars of the period, which were drawn by mules. Accordingly they walked when they had to go downtown.

In spite of their impressive street costumes they submitted to a simplicity of fare at the commons that would start a riot among modern undergraduates. They all boarded at the university commons, and the diary describes as a typical supper menu bread and butter, old bread toasted and soaked and one doughnut each. The usual breakfast was hash and boiled potatoes, bread and butter.

In the following entry for Jan. 12, 1864, the diary tells of the students' struggles to keep warm in cold weather:

"This winter we had wood stoves in our rooms and had to buy, saw and carry up our wood. The woodshed was our gymnasium, and all made good use of the old sawbuck. During this winter the thermometer was frequent- 9-19-tf FREDERICK, MD. ly 10 to 12 degrees below zero, and not infrequently some poor fellow would run out of wood and could neither buy nor borrow. His neighbors would take him in and double up in their little cots."

New Way to Pay Old Debts.

A project to pay off Germany's national debt has been elaborated by Judge Bamberger of Aschersleben, Germany. His proposition is to abolish what is known in German as "the smiling heir of the rich uncle." No one, in his view, should be permitted to inherit without explicit testamentary disposition money or real estate left by relatives further removed than parents, grandparents, brothers and sisters. All other properties, he contends should revert to the state. This. of course, would involve farreaching changes in testamentary and inherit ance laws, but the enormous benefits to the empire resulting would far Low Prices and all Work Guaranteed. more than counterbalance any prejudice to individuals.

The Wick of a Phoenician Lamp. There has recently been found at Tunis a Phoenician lamp which still contains the wick. This lamp could not be later than the second century before our era. The discovery is interesting, for we learn that up to now it has never been decided as to what material the wick consisted. There have been divers hypotheses-elder pith, tow and various threads, lint. papyrus and even skins of animals. The wick now found will set doubts at rest, for under microscopical and chemical analysis M. Eugene Collin has established the fact that the wick was originally lint. M. It will travel easily from town to town, and there will be no more negotiating with local lessees or difficulties with railway transportation of dresses. M. SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson IX.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 27, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Memory Verse, 64-Golden Text, I Pet. ii, 23-Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

A great awe should be upon us as we read or write or think upon these things. Behold the Son of God yielding Himself for our sakes to sinful men. See the hatred of men to God and the proof that the carnal mind is enmity against God. As they came to take Him in the garden He went to meet them, saying, "Whom seek ye?" To their reply "Jesus of Nazareth" He said "I am," and they went backward and fell to the ground. He allowed them to rise, to approach Him again and to take Him and bind him and lead Him away to Annas and then to Caiaphas. All the disciples forsook Him and fled, but a young man followed, having just a linen cloth about his naked body, which he left in the hands of his pursuers as they tried to lay hold of him, and he fled naked. We shall have to ask Mark who that young man was, as he alone records it (Mark xiv. 51, 52). It was an opportunity of fellowship with Jesus which he, like the others, missed. Simon Peter and John returned and followed Jesus, John going in to the palace of the high priest, for he was known to him, but Peter remaining without until John spoke to the maid that kept the door and brought in Peter. Then he sat with the servants and warmed himself at their fire. But we must leave his story till next week.

In reply to the high priest's question as to Jesus' doctrine He replied "In secret have I said nothing; * * * ask them which heard me" (John xviii. 15-24). They brought many false witnesses to testify against Jesus, but none of them agreed in their testimony, not even the two of verse 60. See Mark xiv, 56-59. To the high priest's question, "Answerest thou nothing?" Jesus held His peace, for there was nothing to reply to. In Ps. xxxv. 11. it is written, "False witnesses did rise up; they laid to my charge things that I knew not." Unless you have been similarly ill treated you cannot imagine how hard it is to put in practice Ps. xxxviii, 13, "I as a deaf man heard not, and I was as a dumb man that openeth not his mouth."

When the high priest said, "I adjure thee by the living God that thou tell us whether thou be the Christ, the Son of God" (verse 63), then Jesus said, "I am, and ye shall see the Son of Man sitting on the right hand of power and coming in the clouds of heaven" (Mark xiv, 62, with verse 64). Then they judged Him guilty of blasphemy and condemned Him to die. But it was the truth that He spake, and they shall yet see it, and if they did not repent before they died they for the members of each denomination shall have to hear His "Depart from | to tell the story of their favorites and me, ye cursed. After they judged Him guilty of death they mocked Him, blindfolded Him, struck Him on the face, spit in His face and said, "Prophesy unto us, thou Christ, who is he that smote thee." Even the servants smote Him with the palms of their hands (Mark xiv, 65). When morning was come they bound Him and led Him away and delivered Him to Pontius Pilate, the governor, that he might have Him put to death, their accusation being that he was a malefactor. The result of Pilate's examination of Him was a three or four fold testimony that he found no fault in Him and, according to the harmony, a sevenfold attempt to release Him. Pilate's wife also sent him a message saying, "Have thou nothing to do with that just man, for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of Him." When Pilate learned that He was of Galilee, which was under Herod's jurisdiction, he sent Him to Herod, hoping thus to be rid of this difficult and perplexing case. But as Jesus answered Herod nothing Herod with his men of war set Him at naught and mocked Him and arrayed Him in a gorgeous robe and sent Him again to no imprisonment; there was no semblance of a fair trial. It was not un-this and all that followed for me and leaving all His redeemed an example that we should follow in His steps: who did no sin, neither was guile unfortunate thing is that be places his found in His mouth; who when He was reviled reviled not again; when He suffered He threatened not, but committed Himself to Him that judgeth righteously (I Pet. ii, 21-23). "He was oppressed, and He was afflicted, yet He opened not His mouth. He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter. and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so He openeth not his mouth" (Isa. liii, 7). Being redeemed by His great sacrifice, it is our privilege to suffer with Him, to fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ in our flesh for His body's sake, which is the church (Rom. viii, 17; Col. i, 24), manifesting by His grace the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which in the sight of God of great price (I Pet. iii, 4). Peter speaks of himself as a witness of the sufferings of Christ, (I Pet. v, 1), and he who once rebelled at the thought of Christ suffering tells us to rejoice if we are partakers of His sufferings (I Pet. iv, 12, 13).

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 27, 1910.

Topic.-My favorite missionary hero or eroine and why.-Heb. xi, 32-40. Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The Scriptural selection for this topic is unusually apt. In this list of famous worthies, who by faith performed deeds of heroism, the author speaks of a number in particular and then, Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxvi, 57-68. overwhelmed by the lengthy list that still remains, exclaims, "And what shall I more say, for time would fail me to tell of Gideon and of Barak and of Samson and of Jeptha, of David also and Samuel and of the prophets?" And then he sums up the deeds and sacrifices of a great list in as few words as possible.

The great difficulty in choosing a favorite missionary hero or heroine is the long list of them to be found in Christian history. Both time and space would fail us to merely mention the names of the vast number of men and women who as missionaries have per formed heroic deeds. Moreover, in so great a number who performed equally heroic deeds and sacrifices it is no easy task to select one as a favorite. Yet many perhaps have some favorite missionary and in telling the reason for this favoritism will make many a meeting interesting and uplifting.

In the early Christian centuries there were many heroic missionaries. Leav ing out the Master Himself, who was really a missionary-one sent from God-what was Stephen but a Chris tian missionary when he tried to persunde the Jews to believe in Christ? Moreover, he was a hero, dying as the first Christian martyr, yet praying God to forgive his enemies as Christ before him had done.

The twelve apostles were all missionaries. To them the great commission was first given. At the end of a century they, with Paul, had preached the gospel to practically all the Roman empire. Tradition tells us that each one of the twelve died as martyrs, Peter being crucified with his head downward as not being fit to die as Christ did because he had basely denied his Lord. Contemporaneous with and succeeding the apostles numbers of others preached the gospel, not a few of whom suffered the death of martyr-

Paul, the apostle to the gentiles, was the greatest of all first century missionaries and for that matter the greatest of all time. For length of service, for hardships endured, for sacrifices made, for heroic deeds and for results accomplished Paul stands in the front rank of all missionaries. and beyond all doubt if all Christians were compelled to select a favorite missionary hero his name would be Paul the apostle. His life was filled with thrilling incidents. It was in constant danger and at last was offered up in martyrdom. Any one who will closely study the life of Paul will find in it every phase of heroism and learn every lesson possible upon the subject of missions. He has been the type of all succeeding Christian ages and the church's greatest heroic missionary. Modern missions have not been without their heroes and heroines, and it is

BIBLE READINGS. Isa, lii, 1-7; Nah. i, 15; Matt. xxviii. 19, 20; Acts i, 1-14; viii, 5-8; xiii, 1-3. 44-52; xvi, 25-40; xvii, 15-28; xix, 23-30;

xxi. 8-15; xxvii, 18-25; Heb. xi, 17-19. Fullbacks, Halfbacks and Waybacks. In the Christian Endeavor movement the great crowd of young people and some older people, too, are "forwards." They always have the goal in view, and they press on toward it eagerly, bravely, strenuously. The growth of the cause to 71,000 societies in less than three decades is to be credited largely to the go ahead element, the young men and women of vision and courage that have dared. A halfback or a fullback in football is a useful fellow who stands behind the "forward" to support him and stem the opposing tide of play should the enemy pass the front players. In Christian Endeavor, as in all religious work, the halfback is the stiff jointed. lukewarm person that hobbles behind the crowd and is not very anxious to keep up with the procession. He has soes the forwards with his well direct-Pilate (Luke xxiii, 8-12). There was ed murmurings and his little criticisms and his doubts and fears and at least hinders the forward rush. In many like some of our modern cases of respects he is a splendid fellow. His lynching, except that it had seeming- great fault is that he hasn't enthusi ly the sanction of both church and asm enough to gallop with the crowd nor sense enough to keep out of the But this man was God, suffering all | way. The fulfback is a ponderous proposition. He has literally to be pulled along. Of course he is a good fellow. One cannot but love him. The solid weight down on a back seat every time, and neither he nor the seat will move. But worse than all is the wayback. He is not in the game at all. He is among the spectators and appears to be a general coach. He is never caught in a scrimmage until it is all over, and then he suddenly appears in order to explain at length how it ought to have been done. Well, I wonder where I belong? I know where I want to belong. I love the forwards. I want to be among them I will begin today. I will move from the "fullback" seat right up to the front under the nose of the preacher in church and in front of the leader in the Christian Endeavor meeting. I will push everything that comes my way-forward, not aside. I will smile. I will encourage the other fellow. I will be among that host that rush on to great things with a hurrah.-Ripple in Christian Endeavor World.

PEN PORTRAITS OF NOTED PEOPLE

H. W. Johnson of California, Foe of Party Bosses.

Hiram W. Johnson, the insurgent Republican who was nominated for governor of California at the recent primary elections, is an exponent of antimachine doctrines and foe of political bossism. In his campaign Mr. Johnson was assisted by Gifford Pinchot, and at the polls the stalwarts were overwhelmed. Johnson traveled 10,000 miles in the course of his campaign and made speeches in nearly every county of the state. The new Republican leader is a young and vigorous man and is said to resemble Colonel Roosevelt in some of his attitudes, though he is smooth shaven and is several years the junior of the former president. He was formerly city attorney of Sacramento, where he was instrumental in "cleaning the town." He was also connected with the prosecution of Abe Ruef in San

Mr. Johnson boldly proclaims himself an insurgent, likens the present struggle in America to the conflict against privilege in the time of the French revolution and emphasizes the necessity of asserting the will of the people against the dictation of monopoly.

Sir John's Business Methods. Sir John Fisher of the British navy. who as an admiral has a great many demands upon him from people who go to him on pretense of talking business, is said to be the inventor of the following method of warning them off: A slip of paper is handed to the caller before he is taken into the outer office. It says: 'When you go to see a business man, go on business and state your business in a businesslike manner. When you have concluded your business go about your business and leave him to finish his business and mind your own business."

Hoke Smith of Georgia. For the second time in his career Hoke Smith of Atlanta is to become governor of Georgia. By defeating the incumbent, Governor Joseph M. Brown, at the primaries this result was assured, as the Democratic nomination in Georgia is equivalent to election. Two years ago Brown defeated Smith after the latter had dismissed Brown from the railroad commission on the ground that the commissioner was dominated by the railroad interests. Now the Smith star is in the ascendant. The fight was between the progressive Democrats, represented by Smith, and the stand pat element, represented by his defeated opponent.

Governor Smith has been more or less in the public eye since 1893, when he was appointed secretary of the interior in President Cleveland's cabinet. He resigned this post in 1896, some months before the completion of his term. He is a native of North Carolina, fifty-five years old and has lived in Atlanta since 1872. He was admitted to the bar when only eighteen and has practiced his profession with great success since that time. Mr. Smith is a big man physically, standing six feet two inches and weighing about 300 pounds. He was first chosen governor

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Neglected Ball.

"Well, this is quite monotonous!" With sadness sighed the ball. "It seems that Tom and Jessica Don't care for me at all.

It must be quite a month ago
Since in this play box dim They tossed me with the strange remark, Well, that's the end of him!

"And yet when first I reached this place, How distinctly I recall, They bounced me on the playroom floor With 'What a lovely ball!'

"They tossed me up toward the sky. They lodged me in the spout, And all around the pleasant lawn They batted me about.

"But once upon a summer day
A sad thing came to pass,
For, playing by the garden house, They kicked me through the glass!

I hear the shattered splinters fall,

I feel a pang of pain.

And from that hour my painted coat
Was never whole again."

About Eyeglasses.

It is hard to realize what our ances tors did without the help of spectacles. The first mention of them seems to be toward the end of the thirteenth century, when convex spectacles were invented-it is supposedby Roger Bacon. Concave glasses were introduced soon afterward, but the Spectacle Makers' company of London was not incorporated until 1630. It seems that the ancients knew nothing of these aids of vision, and it is more than likely that Homer and even Milton might have been spared their blindness had they understood the use of powerful lenses. Eyeglasses came in much later, when the spectacles were considered too cumbersome for fashionable wear, and lorgnettes came even later, when great ladies wished an ornamental case for their eyeglasses. The eyeglasses of today fit on the nose with a spring. Formerly they were held in place with the hand.

Riddle Bee.

A splendid game for an evening party is a riddle bee. To prepare for it the entertainer gathers up in advance of the party all the conundrums, old and new, which she can collect and makes a list of them. Old favorites, such as "How many p's in a pint?" or the historic nursery catch about the pump handle, are quite as good as the most recent riddles for the purposes of the game, though a new one that no one has heard as yet adds to the evening's fun.

To play the game the company is ranged in a row as if for an old fashioned spelling bee.

The hostess is teacher and propounds the riddles to be answered instead of giving words to be spelled. Those who answer correctly go up, and those who fail go down, and the person who stands "at the head of the class" when the list of conundrums is exhausted wins the game.

The Story of Zero.
The word "zero" is from the Spanish and means "empty." hence nothing. It was first used for a thermometer in 1795 by a Prussian named Fahrenheit, By experimenting with snow and salt Fahrenheit found that he could produce a degree of cold equal to that of the coldest winter day. It happened that the day on which he made his final experiment was the coldest that anybody could remember, and, struck with the coincidence of his scientific discovery, he hastily concluded that he had found the lowest degree of temperature, either natural or artificiai. He called the degree "zero" and constructed a thermometer graduating up numbered 212 and the freezing point

"Change Seats, the King's Come." In this game as many seats are placed around the room as will seat all the players but one. This one stands in the middle of the room, repeating the words, "Change seats, change seats;" but no one moves unless he says: "Change seats, the king's come." Then all must change, and in the bustle and scramble the one standing can generally manage to secure a seat, and the person left out must take his place and call the signal for chang-

Birds and the Weather.

One of the oldest sea superstitions has been connected with the flying of birds. If the birds flew high, that signified good weather; if they skimmed the water, that meant bad weather. There is gradually spreading among the seamen a superstition that if any animal is aboard the vessel bad weather may be deferred, even if the birds are flying close to the water-if the head of the animal is pointed aft and Is held in that direction for some time.

The appearances are that winter will close in with the ground very dry, and the waters dangerously low. The light | 11-18-6m rains have done but very little benefit to either streams or veins, and many wells and springs in this section are dry. As the season for heavy rains is over, about the only hope now is that heavy snows may fall and melt, and saturate town, on

The RECORD office will have a supply of "Red Cross" seals, in a few days, to property: be used as heretofore for the benefit of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association. These seals may be attached to all letters or packages sent by mail, but they must not now be placed on the face of packages or letters, but on the back. They do not pay postage, and are not now called "stamps," but "seals." They will cost 1c, as heretofore.

Next Congressional Apportionment.

Washington, Nov. 16-One of the most December will be the enactment of a reapportionment act, fixing the ratio of representation in Congress for a decade on the basis of the Thirteenth Census. This matter will be settled by the Republican majority of the present Congress, and the leaders already are figuring out the political advantage to be Under the Constitution each State is entitled to two Senators. This remains fixed, but representation in the popular branch must be changed every 10 years. The electoral vote, by which Presidents are chosen, is based on the total representation in both branches of Congress, so the ratio fixed this winter will have an important bearing upon Presidential contests after 1912 No change will be made in the Electoral College of that campaign, because the reapportionment will not go into effect until March 3. 1913. Nor can it affect the newly elected Sixty-second Congress. But there will be some close mathematical calculations by the politicians to determine to what extent an affect future Presidential elections.

A Happy Gathering.

(For the RECORD.)
The home of Mr. Clarence Hawk was the scene of a happy gathering, on Thursday evening, November 10, when a number of his friends and neighbors met. All joined in having a good time.
