THE VICTORY LOAN TO BEGIN APRIL 21

Five-year Notes, Instead of Bonds. will be Issued.

The Victory Loan Campaign will begin April 21, and close three weeks later, Saturday, May 10. The loan will be in the shape of notes, maturing in five years, instead of in long term bonds. It is understood, that the rate of interest will be 4¼%, but this has not been positively deter-mined. It is also thought that the notes will be both coupon and registered, and in denominations much the same as the previous bond issues.

The five year notes, it is thought, will popularize the loan, and also prevent their selling below par, and in many other ways be popular for individual subscribers. The amount of the loan will be Five Billions, or

The most comprehensive collection of used clothing, shoes and bedding ever undertaken will be conducted by the American Red Cross during the week of March 24-30, when the American people will be asked to donate ten thousand tons of cast-off apparel to the helpless refugees in Allied countries. The need of clothing in many lands is one of the most serious reconstruction problems, but it is expected that a long step toward solving it will be taken when the thousands of Red Cross chapters begin their collection of discarded garments.

Every kind of garment for all ages and both sexes, except such as obviously could not help refugees, is to be accepted. Since the clothes will be subjected to the hardest kind of wear, only garments of strong and durable material should be given. They need not, however, be in perfect condition for there are thousands of destitute women in the recovered territory eager to earn a small livelihood by repairing the clothing that will be sent to the needy.

In addition to the second-hand garments there will be accepted piece goods, light, warm canton flannel and other fabrics from which to make clothes for new-born babies, sheeting and blankets and even scrap leather which is needed for repairing shoes. Woolen goods of any kind, soft hats and caps for all ages and sweaters of any kind or size will be welcomed, while men's shirts and pajamas that are not longer serviceable as such can be turned into children's gar-be distributed under the direct supervision of American Red Cross agents.

Those who respond to this appeal in Taneytown, should leave their contributions at Mrs. Lavina Fringer's, beginning on Monday, March 17.

Solicitude for the Hogs.

The Maryland State Board of Agriculture has just issued a warning to farmers not to feed unsterilized garbage, and especially not "pieces or scraps of pork other than that made on the immediate premises;" the explanation of the warning being that "scraps of pork derived from various sources, contain the infection, or causative agent, of hog cholera, at practically all times."

This is looking after the good health of the hogs, but how about the people who eat the pork from which these "scraps" are cut? There is a "Board" looking after the hogs, for fear they may get "cholera;" but is there another "Board" looking after the purity of the pork that is sold for human consumption?

The warning notice goes on to say that "the vitality of the organism that causes hog cholera can not survive a temperature of 212°," so, perhaps it is taken for granted that the frying, or boiling, of pork, for human food, comes up to that degree of heat and renders it safe; but some-how this is not fully reassuring that the hogs are not being looked after with more solicitude than mere human beings.

Please Do Not Be Late With Articles For Publication.

Last week we were compelled to refuse a 30-inch advertisement, one smaller, a correspondent's letter, and five other articles, due to large amount of sale advertising. The advertisements came in on Friday morning, which causes us to again remind our patrons that we can not, as a rule, handle advertisements later Thursday. We also urge all not to delay communications of any kind, until Friday, as we go to press as soon as possible, on that day, and do not hold the forms open until noon, as REPAIR MACHINERY NOW. A Little Late, But Not Too Late to Overhaul Machinery.

A certain farm-equipment dealer has one record customer who buys a new binder every three years, and who at one time was in debt for three binders which he purchased in a period of seven years. This farmer es a ready-made apple tree as a shelter for his grain harvester. When one tree rots he plants another. And although he and his family work hard, he is always paying last season's debts with next year's income.
Why isn't he successful?

If the agricultural implements which have rusted and rotted to pieces in fence corners and barnyards could be placed end to end they would probably stretch from here to infinitum. Approximately $100,000,000

The present is an opportune time for taking inventory of farm ma-chinery resources, as well as account of essential repairs and record of implement condition, says the Rural Engineering Division of the United States Department of Agriculture. Repairs should be ordered and put in place as soon as received. Machines should be gone over thoroughly and prepared for the coming season. The Daylight Saving Fiction.

If anybody feels better because of the fiction of the "daylight saving" law, they are welcome to all of the pleasure and satisfaction they can get out of it. Those who work from "Sun to Sun," or eight to ten hours a day, will still do so, no matter what the clock may say. Whether they begin at 7:00 o'clock or 8:00 o'clock, A. M., cuts no figure, for 8:00 o'clock new time, will simply mean 7:00 o'clock, old time, and they will have exactly the same amount of daylight, each day, no matter what the hands on the clock say.

The law does not, in the slightest regulate the hours for beginning work. If it said that those who have been going to work at 7:00 o'clock must continue on going to work at that time, the morning would be made longer and the afternoon shorter, but this is not the case. There is also no law to prevent employers from changing their hours of work under the present time-beginning an hour earlier, if they desire. The only thing the law does is move the hands of the clock ahead one hour-making them say 6 is 7, and 7 is 8. The actual fact is that if the new scheme has any merit, at all, except an imaginary one, it should stay in force winter and summer, and for all time. It is the changing that most people object to. The work of the world is to be done, and there is daylight enough for all of it; there is no improvement to be made on the Divine plan. Whatever the clock may say is purely a matter for men to become accustomed to. If the clocks were moved ahead two or three hours, in-stead of one, it would be simply a question of fitting our hours for work to suit our convenience, calling the time by its new figures.

ORGANIZE AGAINST LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Non-partisan Movement Organized for a Campaign.

President Wilson has telegraphed his desire that the National Democratic Committee cooperate with Republicans all over the country in discussing the Peace League in joint de-

On Thursday, Senators and others, of both parties formed an association, in Chicago, to oppose the League of Nations. Henry Watterson, Demo-crat, former editor of the Louisville Courrier-Journal, is one of the leaders in the movement. The association is non-partisan.

It was finally decided to form an organization whose principal purpose will be to convince the American peo-ple that the present covenant of the League of Nations could not be accepted, but that if the country is to enter a league its sovereignty must be fully preserved. Moreover, this new organization will vigorously oppose the incorporation of the covenant of the League of Nations in the treaty of peace, but it will insist that peace be fully established before a League of Nations is formed.

To this end the new organization will co-ordinate all associations and all individual efforts in this country now in opposition to the league and it will establish a headquarters for the dissenmination of anti-league literature. The Senators claim that they are receiving so many letters demanding copies of their speeches that they have found it impossible to sup-ply the demand. They will furthermore arrange mass-meetings, where the subject can be debated either by opponents of the League of Nations alone, or where there will be a joint debate like the debate between Senator Lodge and President Lowell at Boston, and between Senator Knox and Senator Hitchcock at Newark, N. Services in Memory of Private Allan Stewart Hartman.

Memorial services were held in the Second Reformed church, Harrisburg, Pa., last Sunday evening, as a tribute to the memory of Private Allan Hartman, son of Rev. J. Stewart Stewart Hartman, now pastor of the Reformed church at Cavetown, Md. Private Hartman lost his life while serving with the 314th Field Artillery in the battle around Nantilloise, France, on October 14th.

He was born in Harrisburg, May 17, 1893, while his father was pastor of the Second Reformed church, and resided in the parsonage at the rear of the church. Fate so decreed that services held for him in the church which stands approximately on the spot where young Hartman's cradle was rocked 25 years ago. His 25th birthday was celebrated by the issuing of his overseas equipment on that Give Sweet Potatoes More Attention.

The sweet potato crop of the South has increased wonderfully in importance during the past two years; in fact, it has always been one of the essential foods for local use. Too often it has been the habit to grow the crop in a careless manner, but careful methods of seed selection and planting the crop on good soil give returns that make the extra trouble well worth while. If a special lot of seed was not picked out last year and carefully stored, now is the time to locate and save the best available. This seed should not be bedded until the ground This seed is warm or, if it is desirable to start early plants, the seed should be placed in a hotbed and given careful attention until the plants are ready to set

Sweet potatoes respond to the use of fertilizers, especially well balanced commercial fertilizers mixed with the soil underneath the rows. Four hundred to 500 pounds to the acre has been found in some cases to almost double the crop. A great deal depends upon the way the plants start and if they are set when the soil is in the right condition and a little water poured in around each plant, they will start off promptly. The important point is to begin now and select the best seed available.

The demand for sweet potatoes is increasing an new uses are being found for them every year. They are good human food and are worth growing for stock feed. Recently it has been found that a very fair grade of sirup can be made from surplus sweet

FARMERS TO HAVE TEMPLE. Plan For $1,250,000 Building in Washington Succeeding.

Washington, March 7.-A Temple of Agriculture, costing in aggregate $1,250,000, is to be erected here by the farmers of America, under the auspices of the National Board of Farm Organization.

The temple will be the outcome of the National Farmers' Conference held here in August, 1918. Delegates from 37 States, representing the organized farmers of this country, sat this assembly to plan increased food production for 1919.

In the course of the meeting a resolution was adopted by the delegates to the effect that the agriculturists of the United States, possessing no other means of communicating their cause to the public, and having greatly suffered thereby, should erect and maintain a Temple of Agriculture in the capital of the nation to serve as a general headquarters for American farmers. A committee of seven was appointed and authorized by the chairman of the National Board of Farm Organizations to prepare plans and raise the necessary funds for the proposed temple.

Supplementing the fund for the temple, $150,000 is to be supplied by each State as an endowment for the establishment of a representative of that State at the temple. Results from various States show that the farmers of our country greet this plan with enthusiasm. It is only a question of time until the actual work of construction is begun on the temple.—Balt. Is Mr. Taft "Foxy?"

Mr. Taft has always been given credit for geniality, and liking a joke; and now it appears almost as though he has been a ittle "foxy' over the Peace League Constitution. He appeared as a Peace Leaguer from wayback, inclined to support the first draft of its constitution, with only a few changes; but now it appears that his "changes" are not so little after all, and that if what he now says ought to be done, is done, the Constitution of the League will be made very much more in harmony with what our leading objectors say it ought to be.

Whether he meant, all the time, that a few very radical amendments were needed, or whether he was waiting to hear from the American public, he has at least held several "strings" to his indorsement that now appear to fairly defend him from being a "peace at any price" devotee, and which may cause the President—with whom he appeared on the same with whom he appeared on the same platform in New York—some difficulty in accepting. In fact, it now seems pretty clear that Mr. Taft, instead of unreservedly supporting the President, is largely supporting the protesting side on many points.

news reports from London and Paris, it appears that his opinions on the League in general have enlisted a great deal of attention; and perhaps more than any others may lead to amendments, in order to make the proposition palatable to

PLOTTING FOR OVERTHROW OF U. S. GOVERNMENT

Widespread Efforts Being Made Secretly by Various Bodies.

Washington, March 10.—Solicitor General Lamar, of the Postoffice De-partment, submitted a memorandum to the Senate propaganda committee today, stating that the I. W. W., anarchists, Socialists and others were "perfecting an amalgamation with one object—the overthrow of the government of the United States by means of a bloody revolution and the estab-lishment of a Bolshevik republic."

Mr. Lamar said his conclusion was based on information contained in seized mail matter.

Accompanying the memorandum were several hundred excerpts from the mail matter. Mr. Lamar said this propaganda was being conducted with "such regularity that its magnitude can be measured by the bold and outspoken statements contained in these publications and the efforts made therein to inaugurate a nation-wide reign of terror and overthrow wide reign of terror and overthrow

Mr. Lamar said it was significant that this was the first time "in the history of the so-called radical movements in the United States that these radical elements have found a common cause (Bolshevism) in which they can all unite."

He referred particularly to the dis-satisfied foreign elements as being active in the propaganda.

"The I. W. W.," said Mr. Lamar,
"is perhaps most actively engaged in spreading this propaganda, and has at its command a large field force known as recruiting agents, subscription agents, etc., who work unceasingly in the furtherance of the cause.

MEMORIAL TREE PLANTING

Four Hundred and Fifty Miles of Trees for State Road System.

Arbor Day, by proclamation of the Governor, comes early in April. On this day many memorial trees will be planted for those who made the supreme sacrifice in the great war, and surely there could be no more fit-ting memorials. Not only will indi-vidual trees be planted around the home, but there will be extensive planting along the roadsides. What could be more fitting than planting memorial trees along the State Highway from Worcester to Garrett passing through Baltimore and seventeen counties, covering about 400 miles of roadway, of which, eliminating the wooded portions and stretches where planting is impossible, would leave approximately 175 miles suitable for planting.

To make the plan State-wide and include all of the counties an extension from Baltimore to Prince Frederick and another from Rockville to Leonardtown, would add 50 miles suitable for planting, and include the remaining counties of the State. This may seem like a large program and could not be carried out in one year. A start should be made this Spring, and the planting extended from year to year until completed. Different communities and organizations in each county would plant different portions of the roadway, and in a few years it should be possible to link these up into a State system, each portion planted to preserve its identity by suitable markers or monu-ments. The plan offers unlimited opportunities for participation.

The State Roadside Tree Law, enacted in 1914, provides for the planting of trees along the highway and places the protection of roadside trees under the State Board of Forestry. The proper plan of procedure would be for those who wanted to plant to select a portion of the roadway and apply to the State Board of Forestry for an examination of the location to determine the suitability for planting, the best species to use, and estimated costs, and thus work out a uniform system of planting.

The cost of the trees and their planting will vary from $1.00 to $3.00 each, depending upon local conditions. After the trees are planted, their care and protection would properly come under the State Board of Forestry. The planting would have to be done in accordance with regulations of the State Roads Commission, as affecting the roadway, and the trees should not be less than 50 feet apart. For trees attaining very large size 75 feet would be the proper distance, thus requiring from 150 to 200 trees per mile, planting both sides of the road-

It would also be desirable for each county to select a particular kind of tree for general planting, thus giving to each county's roadway a distinctive feature. Native species should probate and letters testamentary be used as far as possible. Fortunately, Maryland has so many different kinds of native trees for roadside planting in each county and Baltimore City and not exhaust the list.

Under the plan proposed, each community or organization could have its distinctive memorial; yet the combined results would serve as a fitting memorial for the entire State and be of such a character as to increase in years.-F. W. Besley, State Forester.

It is quite amusing to see some of the brethren snuggling up to Mr. Taft, just now, because of his contributions to the League of Nations debate, who but recently considered him merely a good-natured, unsophisticated, and more or less a superfluous encumberer of the political field. it is time for us to insist that demo-peace constitution that will give the world the best and fairest guarantee possible against future wars, or even intimates that it will oppose such a Constitution, it will be time enough for the howling peace-makers to open up; but, a pretty close reading of all of the addresses so far made by Senators on both sides, fails to show that any such situation is likely to arise.

Perhaps there are a few who so dislike any Wilson-made proposition, that the authorship alone would condemn it in their minds; but those who may hold such narrow views are very few, and would not sway the Senate. The "outside" talk has been decidedly more mischievous and unfair than any that has taken place within that body; and it is an absolute fact that some editors seem to deny the Senate the right of criticism that they so liberally indulge in, notwithstanding that it is the Senate, and not themselves, that will be responsible to the Nation for the adoption of a peace constitution by this country, and will finally act on it.

Many of our wise writers and opinion shapers seem to take the ground enforce a compulsory labor act. This that while the peace plan needs roads have not, as yet, been equally amending, no Senator should discover the fact, and say so. The Extension Service of the State College and the National Department of Agriculture are rapidly becoming organized to accomplish these ends. Every county in Maryland has an Agent. One man to a county is not enough. The money available is not sufficient to secure and keep the best men. Until some better system is discovered, this one deserves hearty support. I am glad to say that the bankers of Maryland have given most hearty support to the State College and Extension Service of this State. We propose to continue this support and recommend enlargement of the work as long as it is efficient and promotes the public welfare.

During the war the State Council of Defense, co-operating with the U. S. Bureau of Labor, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the Extension Service of the State College, assisted the farmers in every possible way to get the necessary labor. Marywas the first State to pass and was undoubtedly very helpful in keeping men, who might otherwise have shirked, at work. Easy access to made the task of getting men for the farms doubly hard. Wages had to be more than doubled on the average. Even then they were far below those paid in munition plants, ship yards, proving grounds, cantonments, etc.

The farmer must be able to compete in the labor market if he is to get the help he needs. Along with the higher wage, he must offer better living conditions, especially to men with families. It is highly desirable that this more permanent type of latricts. But they must live as selfrespecting citizens and not as the "hired man" of yesterday lived. A comfortable house, a few acres of land, a garden, a cow, and chickens, would furnish a good part of a family's living. Little homes of this type should be established where the excess labor coming from them is needed. Many progressive farmers are The following is part of the report | furnishing homes of this kind to competent farm labor. There are many families that have gone from the country to the city that would be glad to get back to the country under such conditions. From the Republican, Mt., Giliad, Ohio: The editor had an interesting experience some time ago, when a young gentleman came to this office and asked for a copy of the Morrow County Republican. He scrutinized it carefully when a copy was handed him, and then said: "Now I know!" "What is it you are looking for," we inquired. "My wife sent me after a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I forgot the name. I went to several stores and the clerks named over everything in the line on the again, I'll never go home without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." The Republican would suggest to the proprietors of stores, that they post their clerks, and never let them substitute. substituting is permitted, to say nothing of the injustice to makers of good goods and the disappointment of cus-

U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Warning That Severe Penalties Will Be Enforced.

WOMEN WITHIN LAW'S SCOPE; HOW THEY REPORT INCOME

The Income Tax drive comes to close on Saturday night, March 15. All payments and returns due on that date under the provisions of the new Revenue Law must be in the hands of local Internal Revenue Collectors before their offices close that night.

The Income Tax is being collected to meet the war expenses. Every person who shouted and tooted his horn on Armistice Day is now called upon to contribute his share of the cost of winning the war.

The laggards and the dodgers will face severe fines and jail sentences. The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that its officers will check us all up to see that every person who comes within the scope of the Income Tax law did his share.

Where to Pay and File.

Residents of Maryland and Delaware should make their returns and pay their taxes to Joshua W. Miles, Collector of Internal Revenue, Baltimore, Md., or to any of his deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

Payments sent by mail should be attached to the returns and should be in the form of check, money order or draft. Cash payments by mail are sent at the taxpayer's risk of loss,

If you are unable to make your return personally because of illness, absence or incapacity an agent or legal representative may make your return.

If there are any doubtful points as to your items of income or allowable deductions you should get in touch at once with a Revenue officer or a banker for advice.

Women Pay Tax.

Women are subject to all the requirements of the Income Tax. Whether single or married, a woman's income from all sources must be considered. If unmarried or if living apart from her husband she must make her return for 1918 if her net income was $1,000

If married and living with her husband her income must be considered with the husband's in determining the liability for a return. Their joint income, less the credits allowed by law, is subject to normal tax. The wife's net income is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Husband and wife file jointly, as a rule. If the husband does not include his wife's income in his return the wife must file a separate return, Severe Penalties.

The new Revenue Law places severe penalties on a person who fails to make return on time, refuses to make return or renders a fraudulent return. For failure to make return and pay tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 is named and 25 per cent of the tax due is added to the assessment. For refusing wilfully to make return or for making a false or fraudulent return there is a fine of not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment of not exceeding one year, or both.

Farmers' Income Taxable.

Every farmer and ranchman who had a fair or a good year in 1918 must heed the Income Tax this year. He must consider all his income as taxable. He is entitled to deduct from his gross income all amounts expended in carrying on his farm. The cost of farm machinery, farm buildings and improvements cannot be deducted. The cost of live stock, either for resale or for breeding purposes, is also regarded as investment.

Overtime and Bonuses Taxed.

Salary and wage earners must consider as taxable every item received from employers and from other sources. Bonuses and overtime pay are to be reported as well as the regular payments.

Allowances for Losses.

Losses sustained in 1918 and not covered by insurance are deductible items if incurred in the taxpayer's business or trade, in any transaction undertaken for profit or arising from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft.

SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERY INCOME TAX PAYER.

Washington, D. C. - "The rights of all persons now filing Income Tax returns are amply protected by provisions for abatements, refunds and appeals," says Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.

"Every person can be sure of a square deal. No person is expected to pay more than his share of tax. His share is determined solely by the amount and nature of his net income for * 1918, as defined in the law.

"Abatement petitions are dealt with open-mindedly. Refunds will be made in every case * where too much tax is erroneously collected.

"The Income Tax is 'on the * level' all the way through."

Mgr. Carroll Record:-

I would like to have the notice of Mr. Benjamin R. Davidson's discharge from overseas service inserted in the Carroll Record. Benjamin enlisted in Co. H, 110 Inf., of Phila., on July 9, 1917. He sailed for France in May 1918. After a few weeks training in England and France his Company was sent to the front line trenches to stop the advance of the famous German regiment known as the Prussian

He was in four different engagements and was severely wounded in the ankle, after which he was sent to America to the hospital at Lakewood, New Jersey.

He is now home after being honorably discharged from the service. His souvenirs consist of a watch and ring taken from a German officer, also a cartridge clip from an officer's re-volver. He has been given his trench helmet and gas mask for keepsakes.
MRS. CHAS. DAVIDSON.

Angers France, Feb. 7, 1919. Dear Brother and Sister:-

Received your letter today, which you written on Jan 5th, was glad to hear from you again. This makes two letters I have received from you. I guess Donald wishes Christmas would soon come again. Tell him that I am going to bring him a little French girl.

You ask me where I was wounded, and how? Was wounded Sept. 29th., at dinner time, two wounds in my eft leg right above my ankle; one in my right leg above my knee; a little mustard gas on my breast. They are all healed up and can only see a little mark. The two wounds I got on my left leg was done when a big shell that bursted in front of me, and two pieces hit my leg and was knocked down and didn't know anything until the afternoon and was lying in a field hospital. While I was there about 500 wounded soldiers lay there too. Old Fritz started to shell the hospital. I saw some stretchers flying about 10 feet in the air; don't know where the men that was laying on them went.

Will give you a little of my experience in the war. Left Hoboken July 9, at 6 P. M. in the evening, went down the Hudson River, past the Statue of Liberty, not knowing if we would ever see it again. At 7 o'clock went to our bunks, was about 14.000 on the ship and put us in a place big enough for ten men but put about fifty in, went to bed, got up the next morning at 5 o'clock, went on deck and all we could see was water. We were on the water 9 days, 18 hours. The first Thursday were on the water the sea was some rough; waves would come rolling as high as a house. the afternoon about a dozen of us were sitting on the side of the ship on second deck. A big wave came rolling towards the ship and hit us and washed us along the side of the ship for about 20 feet. My, but the water tasted salty. We saw some sharks, whales, flying fish, and a lot of porpoises, a fish about 4 feet long. One evening about 5 o'clock we were just ready to go down for supper, when we heard a shot. The ship next to us, about 100 yards away shot at a submarine. By that time a destroyer came up and dropped two depth bombs. You ought to have seen the water fly up.

They said they got it.

Landed at Brest about 2:30 P. M. on Thursday. Put us on a ferry boat and took us to the port. We marched about 5 miles to a field and there put up our pup tents and stayed there until Saturday night. About ten o'clock we started back to Brest and got there about 5 o'clock Sunday morning. Loaded us in box cars and then we rode for three days and nights, got to a little town, unloaded and marched about 12 miles to a town of about 300 people. The name was Persy de Grand. Stayed there for about 6 weeks then went up to the front about a mile from the front line. Stayed there in a woods. Every night old Fritz tried to shell the woods but we were lucky. On Sept. 25, we went up to the front, in the evening, layed there all evening in dugouts and shell holes, about 12 o'clock mid-night, the artillery started to open up. never heard such noise in all my life. There were about 1,000 cannons around us and all shooting as fast as they could. Some noise, about 5 o'clock in the morning of Sept. 26, we started to go forward; the 314th

Well, we went on; on the 28th. we went up as support about 100 yards from the front. There were shells bursting all around us, then's when it made a soldier hard; all kinds of bullets flying around us; could see men laying around anywhere, some dead, others wounded. Some sight. On Sunday morning Co A. 316th. Inf., went ahead, over the top. We went. We never was once afraid for we didn't realize what we were in; all we knew was keep going and "get him first." Could see men falling all around, some calling for help, others for first aid. But all we could do was go on. I never heard such shooting in my life. About 10 o'clock was hit, with a shrapnel in my right leg, but went on, only a light hit.

About noon was knocked down by a high explosion shell and wounded in my left leg at two places, which I told you about. It is just a little of my experiences of war. It was not going to Harney every night. I thank God today that I am alive.

A Substitute for Mollie

By IZOLA FORRESTER

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Harriet found her crying when she came down at 10:30 Saturday morning. There was mail on the little oak desk by the telephone switchboard, but Mollie paid no attention to it or her other duties as operator and general reception lady for the Orienta apartment on Riverside drive.

"It's me big brother, Danny, Miss Baxter," she explained. "He's just off the transport and they've got him out at one of those hospitals in fixed-over department stores, and it's me one chance to see him after two years in France, and that old villain of a Grumel won't leave me off three hours. Danny says he may be transferred after today, and what if I don't see him, when he's all I've got?"

Harriet was disturbed and indignant. She thought quickly. There were only two appointments, one at the dressmaker's-that was easy to break-and one at the dentist's. Then the matinee that afternoon with Vera. She could 'phone her, and this was an extreme case.

"You go right along, Molly, and forget all about this. I can run this switchboard, and tell everyone about the apartments. Mr. Grumel won't be around, and you'll be back at two, surely, won't you?"

Mollie promised blithely, and departed with her blue eyes happy and the dimples showing in her rosy cheeks. She was only sixteen, Harriet thought placidly, as she took a new book and prepared for a quiet morning. Then came a call for herself from Aunt Serena down at the Biltmore.

"It's Me Big Brother, Danny."

"Of course, I know you're frightfully busy, dear, but this is urgent and I'm just going out of town so I told him you would be glad to have him up for lunch. Is your father feeling good today? No? So sorry, but Wilfred won't bother him a bit. He is really Sir Wilfred Lorimer, but up in Canada he drops the title. Lives on a huge ranch in Alberta and is fearfully rich. His mother and mine are cousins, so I've been having him up here with me, but he needs more diversion than an old woman can give him. Be nice, dearie. By-by."

Harriet heard her cut off with a feeling akin to desperation. That was one of the joys of rich relatives. They called you up and demanded anything at all hours with the idea they were conferring a favor on you by letting you act for them.

At 11:10 came a call from Sir Wilfred himself. Would she kindly give him Miss Baxter's apartment?

"Miss Baxter's out," said Harriet flatly. "Any message?"

"Will she be in for lunch?" (He had a very nice voice.)

"I hardly think so. She left no message. "But she expects me," he urged. "Will you please leave word I called up?-Wilfred Lorimer." The time dragged until noon. Harriet tried to keep her mind on the messages and answers, but her eyes watched the door, and she knew she expected trouble any minute. He had not spoken like the kind who would take no for an answer. Perhaps she might be able to send up to her father. She called up softly and told Jane to prepare a dainty luncheon, for fear of an unexpected guest. He would never know if he were going out West at

Then suddenly the outer stormdoors swung wide and she knew at first glance it was Sir Wilfred. He was very tall and blond, with humorous brown eyes and a smile that countered any antagonism.

He was terribly sorry Miss Baxter had not come in yet; but possibly her father expected him. He would go up. Harriet announced him, hoping with all her heart that Jane would be a diplomat, and he passed on upstairs. As long as he was leaving for Canada within a day or two it could not mat- dianapolis News.

ter, and, after all, she told herself it was in a splendid cause.

She bent her head low over her book when he passed out of the doorway a little past two. Evidently her father had liked him. She looked up in relief, just in time to catch his last glance back at her.

There surely was a gleam of unusual interest in his eye that sent the color to her face; but Mollie arrived almost immediately after, and her gratitude swept away every other consideration.

Two weeks later Harriet was due at the Biltmore for Mrs. Devereux's Thursday tea, as usual. It was late when she entered, a slim, attractive figure in her gray velvet gown trimmed in moleskin, with a Persian girdle in dull orange and jade green. She was conscious of someone's scrutiny as she spoke to her aunt at the little tea table, but it was not until his voice sounded behind her that she knew she was discovered.

"You don't mind if I sit here with you, do you?" he asked, happily. "I so well acquainted, don't you? You know"-as if he had made a remarkable discovery-"I knew your voice the minute I heard it; isn't that odd? You sing contralto, don't you?"

His journey back to Alberta was delayed for weeks, and Mrs. Devereux, as she said later, with a sigh of thankfulness, never worked so hard in her life as she did helping him win Har-

But there at last came the day when Jane knelt in the little dressing room the bridesmaids had just vacated, lacing up her mistress' traveling boots, and as she finished she said a little breathlessly:

You know, Miss Harriet, I feel just as if I was to blame for all this, and so does Sir Wilfred. I suppose I should be calling you Lady Harriet, but it don't come natural yet, you

"What do you mean, Jane?" asked Harriet, amusedly. It all seemed like some strange dream to her, the hurried courtship, the wedding with her aunt in charge, and now the long journey that lay ahead.

"Why, that day when he came for lunch," Jane flushed guiltily, "he made me tell him who you were. I mean who the young lady with the beautiful voice was at the switchboard and so I told him the truth. He'd have found out, anyhow, the minute he heard that Mollie springing her brogue on him over the wire.'

"Oh, Jane," laughed Harriet, "I thought it was fate, and it was just

DOG ALWAYS MAN'S FRIEND

Fact Is About the Best Compliment That Has Been Paid to the Human Race.

Who can look on the pictures of a good dog without a thrill? What memories of pleasant excursions afield, of purple dawns on upland pastures, the pungent scent of fallen leaves, the golden glow of autumn sunsets and soft, cool winds, a picture by that master of all animal painters, Osthaus, brings to mind. From the dim and shadowy past, when man himself had risen little above the brute creation, the dog was his chosen friend and companion. That is the best compliment that man ever received, or ever will receive. A man that a dog likes is a man that human beings can like, and as a corollary the man that likes a dog is a man worth knowing. Every dog cannot be a champion. Neither can every man be president. but he can be just as good a man, and so a dog without championship honors, be he faithful and honest, is as good a friend and as well worth having as the bench or the field winner, says a writer in Forest and Stream. If you are fortunate to hold the affection of a friend like this, you are indeed to be envied, for you have passed a test based on an honest de-

Selous a Mighty Hunter.

Frederick Courtenay Selous, D. S. O., called the mightiest of hunters, was born a London boy with the call of the wild in his blood. Forbidden at school to climb dangerous elms for rooks' nests he persuaded his dormitory mates to lower him from the windows and he climbed for his eggs at midnight. On a bitter March day he swam an ice-cold lake for herons' eggs. In the great ice disaster on Regent's Park lake in 1867 he had his first escape from death.

In 1871, when only twenty, he landed in South Africa, vowed for life to the desperate calling of a professional big-game hunter, and had many fights with, and hairbreadth escapes from, lions, buffalos, elephants and other wild animals.

His physique, as an early portrait shows, was lithe and tough. as that of the lions he hunted. When he was fifty-seven he cycled 100 miles on a soaking day in England. When he was sixty-five he fell fighting in East Af-

Utah "Right in Line." Utah has recently put up six modern district school buildings in Uinta county, and one of them will replace a tiny, ill-lighted log cabin. It was not so many years ago that the pioneers of that state held school in tents, but school nevertheless was held, and as soon as they could spare time they built the cabins. And now even Old Dry Fork has a $6,000 structure, "with standard classrooms, corridors, offices, a library and all." A janitor will soon be added. At Old Independence the new school must do duty for five tents used until now .- In-

'Y' RELIEVED OF CARE OF POST EXCHANGES

In Making Requested Change Pershing Again Praises Accomplishments of Red Triangle Workers.

Paris, March 5.—General Pershing has just relieved the Y. M. C. A. of the operation of post exchanges with the American Army at the request of E. C. Carter, head of Red Triangle work abroad.

In a letter to Mr. Carter, in which he thanks the Y. M. C. A. for its service in handling the exchanges, in spite of difficulties of transportation and tonnage, General Pershing announces that the army will immediately take over and operate the exchanges, as soldiers may now be spared from other military duties to perform this work. The Y. M. C. A. asked for relief from the post exchanges in order to throw all its energy toward the educational, athletic and entertainment activities, which commanding officers and Main Headquarters have asked the "Y" to as-

Mr. Carter wrote to General Pershing as follows:

shing as follows:

Dear General Pershing—A year and a half ago you requested the Y. M. C. A. to undertake the operation of post exchanges for the American expeditionary force, in order that officers and enlisted men might not be taken away for that purpose from their paramount military functions of training and fighting.

Recent general orders from Main Headquarters and requests from large numbers of commanding officers have laid on the Y. M. C. A. Increased responsibilities in promoting educational, athletic and entertainment activities in the American tertainment activities in the American expeditionary force. This is placing a rapidly increasing burden on our personrapidly increasing burden on our personnel. The army also is now preparing for the delivery of all supplies for the post exchanges, which heretofore have been imported, manufactured and delivered by the Y. M. C. A. In view of the changed situation I wish to know whether you do not think it would be possible for the army at a very early date to assume full responsibility for the maintenance of the post exchanges throughout the American Expeditionary Force.

General Pershing replied as follows: As you correctly state, the Y. M. C. A. undertook the management of the post exchanges at my request at a time when it was of the greatest importance that no available soldier should be taken away from the vital military functions of training and fighting the processor which ing and fighting. As the reasons which impelled me at that time to request you to undertake this work no longer exist, I am glad to approve your suggestion. In reaching this conclusion consideration has been givn to the new burdens that you have assumed. I have accordingly given directions that the army units themselves take over and operate their own post exchanges.

themselves take over and operate their own post exchanges.

In making this change, permit me to thank you for the very valuable services and assistance which the Y. M. C. A. has rendered to the American Expeditionary Force in handling these exchanges. Handicapped by a shortage of tonnage and land transportation the Y. M. C. A. has by extra exertion served the army better than could have been expected, and you may be assured that its aid has been a large factor in the final great accomplishments of the American army. ments of the American army.

PERSHING ESTABLISHES ARMY UNIVERSITY

General Pershing has signed an order establishing an American army university in France to accommodate from 15,000 to 20,000 soldier students, ac- Pianos. We sell the Famous Lehr, cording to a cable message received by the Y. M. C. A. War Work Council. Mehlin, and others sold for years at Col. Ira L. Reeves has been assigned to the post of military commander at the school, which will be opened in a few days at Beaune. At the same time the main office of the Y. M. C. A. Army Educational Commission will be moved from Paris to Beaune. General Pershing states in his order that this university is to provide three months' courses for soldiers who cannot attend European universities. Courses in engineering, liberal and fine arts, science, music and the like will be offered. The Y. M. C. A. War Work Council announced that the cost of the educational program in the A. E. F. had now reached $700,000 a month. Books and supplies costing $1,300,000 have been sent overseas. The army pays for the books and distributes them to the soldier students.

DOUGHBOYS WENT OVER TOP FOR HUN PIANO

There was no piano in the trenches where a Pennsylvania Signal Corps detachment had held their advanced post in France for months, but there was one in a dugout behind the Hun lines. So, in order to have the Y. M. C. A. show that was to come the next night to amuse the tired men, a raiding party was sent out to the German side to take the plano captive. The squad detailed to the job killed 28 Boches and brought in 14 prisoners, in addition to the upright, which was waiting for the "Y" entertainers when they arrived at the post.

When one of the German prisoners saw the Y. M. C. A. performers and learned that the object of the raid had been the piano and not their own preclous bodies, he cried out, "Ach, Gott! Der Krieg ist fertig!" This was on November 4, and one week later his lament came true.

FREE DAY IS BIG DAY FOR U. S. SOLDIERS

Following its policy of combining with its free distribution of athletic supplies, its free entertainments, etc., the Y. M. C. A. in France has set apart certain days when the inner man may be satisfied without cost at "Y" huts. Reports from one camp, that at Pontanezen, show that on a recent "free day" 12,500 soldiers were served at seven different centers. It happened to be "hot chocolate day" and they stowed away 260 pounds, of cocoa, With it they used 1,297 cans of milk and 600 pounds of sugar.

LESSON FOR MARCH 16

THE CITIES OF REFUGE.

LESSON TEXT—Joshua 20.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.—Matthew 5:7.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL - Numbers PRIMARY TOPIC—Protecting the un-

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC - Treatment of unintentional offenders.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Our reonsibility toward offenders.

I. The Need of the Cities of Refuge (20:1-3).

Justice everywhere cried "An eye for an eye," "A tooth for a tooth," "Blood for blood," and the avenger of blood was charged with the duty of satisfying this cry. While justice should not be allowed to miscarry it is most important that there be mercy shown. Sometimes just men forget to be merciful. In order that the innoeent be protected and mercy shown to the unfortunate and yet justice be done the cities of refuge were author-1zed. It was not a scheme by which the criminal was screened from justice, but a provision whereby the innocent was protected.

II. Regulations Touching the Cities of Refuge (20:4-6).

1. The right of entrance not to be denied (v. 4). It was obligatory upon the rulers of the city to admit upon demand the one who fled hither, pending a trial which would disclose the fact as to whether the crime had been intentional or not.

2. The security of the one who entered the city (v. 5). The rulers of the city did not dare to deliver the man slayer to the avenger of blood for punishment until a fair trial had been given; neither could the avenger cross over the threshold of the city to touch a hair of the one who had taken refuge

3. The right of fair trial (v. 6). This provision of mercy made it so that the refugee could be safe while careful investigation was made as to whether he had killed "unwittingly" or by wicked purpose. If it should be proved that the man was guilty of murder he was delivered over by the authorities to the avenger of blood that justice might be done.

4. The innocent slayer must remain in the city (v. 6). Even though the trial should exonerate him from intentional killing, yet he must remain in the city in order to be saved. So grave is the act of taking a human life that even the innocent man was obliged to be separated from his home and friends at least until the death of the high priest. This deprivation enforced the obligation to shield life.

III. The Appointment of the Cities of Refuge (20:7-9).

1. On the west side of Jordan (v. 7). (1) Kedesh in Naphtall on the north; (2) Shechem in Mt. Ephraim in the center; (3) Hebron in the south.

2. On the east side of Jordan (v. 8). (1) Golan in Bashan on the north; (2) Ramoth-Gilead in Gad in the center; (3) Bezer in Reuben in the south. In this distribution there was a place of safety accessible to all. These cities were not only in reach, but good roads. well marked, led to them so that the refugee might reach a place of safety before being overtaken (Deut. 19).

This beautifully illustrates the refnge which the sinner has in Christ: (1) It's necessity. Since by accident or wicked purpose men did kitl, in order to be saved from the avenger these cities of necessity were appointed. All have sinned and are exposed to the wrath of God, therefore if any be saved a place of safety must be prowided in Christ. (2) This provision was by divine appointment. "Of him are ye in Christ Jesus" (1 Cor. 1:30). (3) The cities were accessible to all. They were so distributed that wherever the unfortunate circumstance should occur the slayer could fee to the city before being overtaken. Christ is not far off. The Bible shows what great effort God makes to save men. (4) The one who fled to the city was secure. The avenger did not dare cross over the threshold of the city. Every one who is in Christ is secure. No one can lay anything to the charge of God's elect. (5) The individual must fiee to the city. The manslayer would be exposed to danger if he remained at home or outside of the city. The sinner, if he would be saved, must come to Christ. There is no place of safety for those who remain away. The safety in Christ is even more vital than that in these cities. To him the guilty can flee with the assurance of safety.

The Only Riches. The only riches one possesses is what one gives .- Martialis.

Obeying.

Is there any one great principle, any universal law, which reaches over the whole course of a man's life. which holds good alike in all its parts. and under all conditions? Yes, indeed: "Not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me."-F. Paget.

— THE — CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC

- From --The Christian Workers Magazine, Chicago, Ill.

> March 16. Envy and Covetousness Luke 12:13-21.

The incident in verses 13, 14, the warning in verse 15, and the parable in verses 16-21 all combine to show that life consists not in what one has but in what one is.

In Acts 26-18 and Ephesians 1:11
you can read of another "inheritance" in which you may have a present share. Participation in this inheritance brings such an abundance of riches and grace that the life is lifted to a higher plane and fortified against envy and covetousness.

Again in 1 Peter 1:5 mention is made of an "inheritance" incorruptible and undefiled and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for those who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.

The men in our Scripture Lesson ignored the great inheritance of the soul in God and as a consequence were engrossed in "Things."

Look at the man in the parable. He not said to be a wicked man, just a rich man, rich in the abundance of things possessed. There is nothing sinful in being rich if the possesions are rightly acquired. The sin and the mistake of this man was his attitude towards life, his interpretation of life, and his point of view.

First, he forgot God. In his plans there was no place for God, no thought of God, no acknowledgment of God. "What shall I do?" "This will I do." God is forgotten, ignored. It is the assertion of self to the organization of self to the exclusion of God, and this is always a fatal mistake. God is. No proper adjustment to life and environment can ever be made if God be left out of the arrangement. "In all thy ways acknowledge him." There is no better maxim than this. This is not the utterance of worldy wis-dom, which is usually selfish and cov-etous; it is heavenly wisdom, and blessed are they that follow it.

Again, this man not only forgot God, but he also fogot his own soul. He forgot to provide for it. Look at verse 19, "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years." He thought to feed his soul with goods, the good things of life. But man shall not live by bread alone. The soul life cannot be satisfied with "barns" and "fruit" and "greads". If the soul is fruits" and "goods." If the soul is to eat, drink, and be merry, it must feed on the bread that cometh down from heaven and drink of the living stream that proceedeth from "the throne of God and the Lamb."

In the third place this man forgot the uncertainty of life. "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years." What presumption! The present moment alone is ours." There s only a step between me and death." Covetousness lays up for many years. It says, "Look out for number one. "But God said to him, "fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee." Then what about the "things" stored up for many years? They pass to others who will probably waste them in riotous living while blackness of despair.

Youngster Who Made Good as Food Producer.

Factory Hand Lost, but a Massachusetts Community Is Richer Because Boy Decided That He Would Take to Gardening.

Four years ago a garden-club boy in Massachusetts faced what would have seemed even to an adult a hard problem. Born in Italy, but thoroughly inoculated with American ideas of the necessity of education, James was told by his father while in the eighth grade that no longer could he be kept in school. His future path was to lie toward the near-by factory.

Believing, because of his garden-club experience under the auspices of the local leader for the United States department of agriculture, that he could earn as much by potato raising outside of school hours as he could in a factory by devoting his whole time, he finally obtained permission from his father to try it. So successful was he that his father was willing he should enter the ninth grade in the fall.

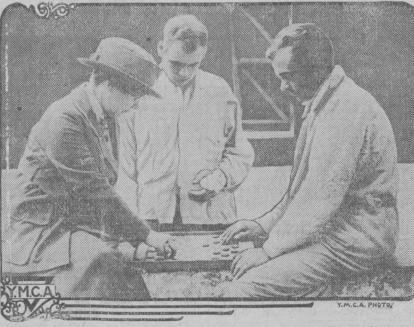

The next spring the superintendent let him have land to use for a large garden. To ten boys he had selected from the upper grammar grades he made the proposition to pay so much an hour and to give each a garden plot. The following excellent advice he offered them in addition: "If you are going to quit, quit now while it is cool and not when it is hot next August.'

By fall he had decided that enough could be earned in the summers to enable him to attend high school and the agricultural college later. Now a junior in high school, he has a goodsized hothouse under lease, where he raises cabbage, cauliflower and tomato plants; he owns an auto truck to handle his produce; has a bank account and pays his bills by check, and owns at least one government bond.

With all the school and business cares, he still has time to look after the school welfare of his younger brothers and sisters, visiting their teachers and watching their progress.

A factory hand, probably only a medlocre one, has been lost, but a good food producer has been gained through the vision given James by his boy's agricultural club leader.

A Test of After-War Strategy.

The wounded doughboy, once he has started along the road to recovery, requires two essentials to keep up his spirits and bring about a quick return to health—amusement apienty and the companiorship of sympathetic women. The trio shown in the picture consists of a Y. M. C. A. woman worker and her charges, two convalescing young American soldiers, at one of the French hospital camps, making the hours pass speedily and pleasantly through the medium of a good, old fashloned game of checkers. loned game of checkers

Thirteen Women Among Those mends." Who Made Supreme Sacrifice.

Croix de Guerre Conferred Upon 13 of 152 Cited for Distinguished Service.

T a cost of 57 lives the Y. M. C. A. carried the Red Triangle into the camps and trenches abroad, and on many occasions right up to the front firing lines. This sacrifice was proportionately one-quarter as great as that of the American army overseas. Of these fatalities 39 were due to disease, and the remainder to shell-fire, bombs, gas-fever, drowning and wounds. Thirteen of those who "went west" doing their bit in the service of the "Y" were women; one of whom quarters, are not included. These casualties occurred in a force which at no time exceeded 9,000 workers, of whom it is reckoned that more than one-half never were sent to the front, being employed in the hundreds of huts maintained throughout the training areas and the "leave" areas.

Sixty-three "Y" workers were decothe poor starved soul goes into the rated, while in all more than 152 received official recondition for distinguished service. Thirteen were decorated with the Croix de Guerre, while fifty received other decorations. Of these, three received the Distinguished Stanislaus, five the Italian Cavaliere del Corona; thirty-eight the Italian war cross, and one the French decoration of the Corps d'Armee. Seven were cited for the Croix de Guerre, and seven for other decorations; six commeded for meritorious conduct, and twenty-nine received honorable mention in dispatches. Several units were cited in their entirety; that serving with the Third Division, consisting Service Cross, three the Order of St. of thirty-four men and six women, being cited twice. More than a score reported decorations have not yet been confirmed.

Not one of these men under thirty was fit for military duty, but the citations show that they carried on with the same courage and spirit that identified Americans throughout the war. These records show that they went over the top with the assaulting waves, that they exposed themselves under machine gun and shell fire to minister to the wounded, that they worked indefatigably as stretcher bearers and that they drove ambulances into the midst of battle to rescue the wounded. Others were sacrificed in the less heroic but no less necessary work behind automobiles and accessories to a value the lines. Among these stands out of $827,126.20 since the armistice show Miss Winona Martin of Rockville that the overseas motor transport de-Center, L. I., a Y. M. C. A. secretary, partment of the Y. M. C. Officials were quick to see and appreciate meritorious work on the part of the secretaries and prompt to recognize it officially. The citation of the the new demands of the American units attached to the Third Division fighting forces the additional equipby Major General Dickman, in part, ment has been purchased.

"The commanding general desires to make of record in the General Orders of appreciation of the part taken by the members of the Y. M. C. While the men of the Y. M. C. A. were with the troops in the front line the young women of the Y. M. C. A. were detailed with the hospitals, and the medical staff of this division bear testimony of their most efficient help during these two weeks of great strain. The conduct of these self sacrificing and brave men and women who have so unhesitatingly given their services to their country, establishes a standard of prestige, exceptional courage, devotion and resource, which the commanding general particularly commends."
