VICTORY FAIR PLANS ARE NOW FULLY OUTLINED.

Pleasing and Profitable Programs at Ohler's Grove.

Carroll County's 23rd Annual Fair promises to be bigger and better than ever this year. A great exhibition of everything that goes to make up such an event will delight the many patrons who pass through the gates into the fairy city. But there will be more than a big display of interesting exhibits. Daily programs of more than ordinary calibre will bring closer to the folk of country and town the home, the child their work and the Tuesday will be a "Welcome Home Day"—specially planned for the re-turned soldiers and sailors of the great war. Senator Wade Warfield will preside. Hon. Mr. Holt, prominent New York City business man, member preside. of the U.S. party at the Peace Table in France, one of the leading speakers of the bureau of The League to Enforce Peace, of which ex-President Taft is the distinguished president, will deliver a masterly address, all should hear.

Attorney General Ritchie, of Maryland will also speak. Capt. Chas. G. Wolsey, song leader of Camp Meade and Community Organizer of singing connected with war camp community service, with headquarters in Baltimore, will conduct a "community sing" in his own clever manner. Other features will help make this a really big event, soldiers and sailors in uniform will be admitted free of charge.

A "Child's Welfare Conference" and "Better Baby Contest" is listed for Wednesday.

There will be addresses by Dr. Wm. Burdick, Director of the Public Athletic League, who will preside, and Dr. League, who will preside, and Dr. Wm. Stone, State Board of Health, on matters relating to "Public Health." A fitting finish to four big full days

Nothing of half the worth appears anywhere on any 1919 calendar throughout the state. It is confidently expected that everybody will plan to go to the grove and see it all and hear every speaker. It's a rare chance brought right to our doors. Let's take full advantage of it.

Higher Cost of Insurance.

Considerable complaint is made of the advance in Fire and Storm insurance rates; and the opinion is more or less prevalent that insurance companies are simply taking advantage of conditions and charging higher rates, just in order to keep up with the procession of advances in other directions, but such an opinion is very far from being correct.

In the first place, the cost of maintaining an insurance business has had its increase in running expenses, as well as any other business. Salaries, travelling expenses, printing, office supplies and incidentals of all sorts, cost insurance companies more than they do the average business, because insurance is largely an "office expense" business. Moreover, the government is heavily taxing the incomes of the stock company plan insurance.

But, by far the greatest increase in insurance expenditures, comes with losses—and unfortunately these have ncreased, rather than decreased, with the upward trend of prices. course, no company pays more when a total loss occurs; but, when a partial loss occurs, it must be adjusted on the basis of the cost of replacement. As a matter of fact, a policy holder may have only $1000.00 insurance on a building, yet the whole of it be required to pay a partial loss that a few years ago would not have cost the company $500.00.

A small loss to a roof, for instance, under a wind-storm policy, is apt to cost a company $50.00 or more, now, that would not have cost $25.00 under old replacement costs. In other words, there are now but few "small losses," by comparison, and the companies are not actually faring as well under advanced rates as they did under old lower rates, and lower replacement

The Anti-Prohibition League will go into the primary and later into the general election with fire in its eye. Adopting the tactics of the Anti-saloon League, it will quiz all candidates as to whether they are wet or dry. Dry candidates will be slaughered irrespective of past party affiliations of the members of the League. | winter.

OF INTEREST TO SOLDIERS. Bill Introduced to Help Them Own a

Farm or Home. Congressman Dick T. Morgan, of Oklahoma, has introduced a bill proposing a plan whereby every honorably discharged soldier or seaman may obtain a loan of $4,000, with which to purchase a farm homestead, or a homestead in a town or city, in the state or locality of his choice. The loans are to be made at 31/2 % interest and may run for a period of 60 years. The bill creates a Corporation with $100,000.000 capital, subscribed by the Government.

Mr. Margon's idea is, that if the Government shall give the soldiers any material advantages over other citizens in acquiring homes, three things are necessary: The loans must be made for a long period of time, at a low rate of interest, and theloans in amount must be equal to the appraised values of the homes purchased. Using the $100,00,000 capital furnished by the Government as an operating or revolving fund, plete, except for Baltimore city: the Corporation will issue and sell bonds in an amount equal to the loans made to the soldiers. Payments made by the soldiers on the loans will in due time liquidate the bonds. To guard against financial loss a definite percentage of the interest will be set aside as a "Guaranty Fund."

To those who purchase farm homes, an additional loan of $1.200 may be obtained with which to purchase live stock and farm equipment. To finance these loans, which run not exceeding years, the Corporation is authorized to issue bonds running the same length of time. A definite percentage of interest on these loans is also placed in the "Guaranty Fund."

Farmers to Hold Big Exhibit.

The Advisory Council of Carroll county met in the County Agent's office, Times building. Westminster, on Saturday, 26th. A number of im-portant questions were discussed, among them being the Carroll county exhibit which they decided to hold on Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

After the successful exhibit last year, in December, it was decided to make it a permanent affair in the county. In connection with the exhibit a number of prominent speakers will be there, and it is the purpose of the council to make the three days a general agricultural rally in the county. All loyal Carroll countians should begin to prepare material for exhibit In order to perfect the plans and appoint committee, a special meeting for the Advisory Council has been called for Monday night in the County Agent's office at 8:30 o'clock. The prominent business men of the county are invited to this meeting to help in the organization work that closer co-operation may be had between town and country people.

Mrs. Pittinger Seeks Freedom.

i, awaiting the of the Grand Jury, charged with the murder of Wm. H. Pittinger, have brought habeas corpus proceedings to secure the freedom of the prisoners on trial. The proceedings commenced on Tuesday, when some evidence was taken and a further hearing was suspendand a further hearing was suspended until this Friday morning, when be examined as witnesses.

New testimony was adduced by the state from Andrew J. Wolfe, Norman Graham, Harry Fogle and Mrs. Albert Saylor. None of these witnesses testified at the first hearing. Wolfe testified that on his way to work about a week or ten days before the tragedy he met Mrs. Pittinger, near her home, and she remarked to him that "ther's going to be someone shot at my place before long." He said he could not recall what led up to the statement and did not remember the conversation that followed. On crossexamination the witness testified that Mrs. Pittinger had told him that people in the neighborhood wanted get rid of her. He also testified that he asked Wilson, Wednesday evening, after the tragedy, when Pittinger would be buried, and was told by Wilson that "they had hauled him out at

The Borrowers.

The average publisher knows that he would have a larger subscription list, if it were not the practice of a considerable portion of the community to borrow papers from their neghbors or read them in stores. An Iowa publisher solved this problem by offering to print the names of borrowers, if they were reported to him. Instances are known where people watch the coming of the mail and actually have the nerve to borrow the paper before the owner has had a chance to read it. -Courier, Harwood, Neb.

"All Prices Withdrawn."

This week The Record received from a large paper house, the following notice-"All prices withdrawn. shall be glad to quote new prices on application." This shows, in few words, how uncertain is the market for the paper, and that prices are upward, rather than downward.

Ohio is energetically investigating the high cost of food, and among the remedies is the placing of heavy state taxes on all food profiteers. states are also inquiring into the subject, and it will likely be one of importance before many legislatures this

SIXTEEN COUNTIES ADVANCE THEIR TAX RATE.

Ten Counties Have A Higher Rate Than That of Carroll.

The State and County tax bills have been coming around, this week, and they are afflicted with the general complaint—higheritis. It will not help our ability to satisfy the collector, but may add to our resignation, if we know that Carroll is but one of the sixteen counties in the State that have boosted the rate, and that ten other counties have a higher rate than Carroll, and one other, the same rate. However, we do enjoy (?) the distinction of the biggest jump in one year, but then, we had next to the lowest point to jump from, to get in-

Candidates for the House?

As yet, we have seen no announcements of candiates for the House of Delegates. Can it be that "$5.00 a day for ninety days" is no longed attractive? Perhaps it would be just as well that this should be true, providing the right kind of men are willing to serve party on patriotic grounds, and not for salary alone. At any rate, men who serve for "the money that is in it" are not the safest to send to Annapolis.

It is said to be the plan of the Democratic organization in this county to avoid a primary contest; and the Republicans would also like to pull off their contestants and name a ticket after the same happy plan. We do not know that the saving of expense to the taxpayers has anything to do with these desires, but rather that saving of party harmony is the chief consideration.

BEEF PACKERS IN CONTROL.

Federal Trade Commission Fixes Blame for High Prices.

How the "big five" packers, Armour Swift, Wilson, Morris and Cudahy, virtually control the American meat industry by their domina-tion and their "incontrovertible" ability to fix livestock prices, was disclosed in detail by the federal trade commission, in the third installment of a report of the commission investigation of the packing industry.

"The ability of the 'big five' to determine from day to day the level of livestock prices in incontrovertible," says the report.

"Their manipulations of the livestock market can be summarized as follows:

"First-They control the principal stockyards at which livestock prices for the nation are made.

"Second—They buy most of the livestock which is sold in the principal stockyard markets.

"Third—They have, through their control over the stockyards and the exercise in concert of their great buying power, influence over the activities of many of the livestock commission men who are supposed to represent the interests of the livestock producers, whose agents they are. "In the exercise of their power over the livestock market: "First—The big packers discriminate against and put at great disadvantage independent buyers—independent packers, order buyers and traders—who are their competitors in the market. "Second—They manipulate the livestock market in such a way as to cause extreme and unwarranted fluc-tuations in the daily prices paid for

"The principal results of their dominion over the livestock market are: "First—They have eliminated many of their previous competitors at the stockyards and have prevented new ones from coming into these yards. "Second—They have restricted the meat supply of the nation by manipulating daily livestock prices and thus discouraging the producers of live-

"Although there are 50 stockyards in the country at which livestock is bought and sold the commission's investigation shows more than 69% of the animals pass through 12 of these 50 yards-Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Joseph, St. Paul, New York, Ft. Worth, Sioux City, Oklahoma City, Denver and Wichita, and the 4 largest yards alone receive more than 52% of the cattle, 43% of the hogs and 51% of the sheep. These 4 markets, which dominate all others, and which largely determine the prices of cattle, hogs and sheep for the entire country, are Chicago, Kanthe entire country, are Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis and Omaha."

"The five big packers," the report continues "either jointly or separately have an interest in 28 of the 50 market yards; they have a majority of voting stock in 22 of these yards, and are jointly interested in 15 of them. More than 84% of the animals pass through the yeards in which they have an interest.

The big packers, it is said control the refrigerators cars—they own 91% of all beef refrigerator cars—and their development of car-route and branch-house systems is such that the small independent's opportunity of widening his field beyond a purely local business is much restricted: they have so affected the general markets that the small independents in many cases can dispose of no surplus over the local demand unless to the big packers themselves.

Labor and Other Troubles.

A general strike is on in Chicago, of employees of both the street and elevated railroad systems, involving 15,000 employees. Officials of the unions tried to have the men accept the compromise offered by the Companies, but failed. The increase demanded in wages is about 50 per-cent.

A race riot is on in Chicago, much like that in Washington, last week. Thirty persons have been killed, and many wounded. There is no definite cause given for the outbreak. It is argued, by some, that these riots show that prohibition does not bring order, and stop lawlessness.

The strike among the ship crews has about ended, the strikers securing a compromise advance in pay—which is perhaps all they expected, the demand being made high enough for a drop to "compromise" on.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has appealed directly to President Wilson today to take immediate action to reduce the cost of living. The President was told this was the only means of eliminating the "vicious circle" of higher prices and higher wages in which the country has been traveling since the war. The proposition that the workmen of the country would be more greatly benefited by a reduction in prices than periodic increases in wages was presented to the President by Warren Stone, president of the brotherhood, and sixteen of the organizations' advisory board, who called at the White House.

Sales Next Spring.

The outlook is for a large number of public sales of personal property, Spring. Some have already handed in their March dates, and we suggest that more do so, now, as we keep an office record of them for the information of inquirers who have not yet selected their date. Arrange with your autioneer, and have your day registered.

MR. HUGHES TRIES HIS HAND WITH FOUR RESERVATIONS

The President Decides to Submit French Treaty to Senate.

Republican leaders have been coming to the front with their suggestions toward a road to harmony and agreement on the League of Nations, somewhat after the fashion of a procession. Senators Lodge and Knox have been followed by Mr. Root then by Mr. Taft, and now by Mr. Hughes. Just how far these pronouncements represent desire to pose as the Republican "Moses," nobody knows, but it seems probable that out of this array of opinions—all of which are more or less alike-will finally come the basis of the Republican stand. Hughes presents the shortest solution of the lot, which he regards sufficient to prevent "sacrificing the essential interests of the United States." He

1. That any nation, after giving 2 years' notice of withdrawal, shall cease to be a member of the League, despite any charge of nonfulfillment of any international obligation, pro-viding the withdrawal will not release the power from any debt or liability.

2. That questions relating to immigration or import duties, when they do not affect any international engage-ment, should be regarded as matters of domestic policy and not within the jurisdiction of the League.

3. That the United States, under Article 21, of the covenant (referring to the Monroe Doctrine) does not relinquish any of its traditional attitude toward purely American questions, and that the United States may prevent acquisition by any non-American power of any territory or control in the Western Hemisphere.

4. That the United States, under Article 10, of the covenant, does not assume any obligation to employ its army or navy in any expedition that is not authorized by Congress.

President Wilson has again post-poned his "tour of education" across the country, and has concluded to sup-ply to the Senate the details of the separate treaty, or agreement, made with France which was the consideration that caused France to agree to the League plan, which is so pro-English as to be objectionable to the French people; as France, like the United States, has but one vote in the League, while England and her possessions has six votes.

The President sent the French treaty to the Senate, on Tuesday, with a brief message which does not throw any more light on the subjectexcept that he considered it necessary in order to calm France, and to bridge over the period between the close of the war and the agreement to German peace terms, and to the League of Nations compact.

There is little or no enthusiasm on either side of the Senate for the treaty even though it is now said to have been agreed upon by the President in order to save Premier Clemenceau from being deposed from leadership, and also to "satisfy France." He is quoted as saying that he considered the treaty "harmless. France, it is stated authoritatively may not ratify the German treaty until she knows what the United States intends to do with the special treaty guaranteeing immediate protection to France in the event of an unprovoked movement of aggression by Germany.

The nations of Europe, including the enemy powers, are waiting to learn whether President Wilson spoke for the people of the United States in Paris or whether he spoke only for himself and his own ideals. certain Germany will not take the treaty seriously until she sees the manner in which it is ratified by the States Senate. Germany knows that without the whole-souled support of the United States her European enemies will not be able to bring about the fulfillment of all the provisions of the treaty.

War on Costs of Living.

At last, the protests of millions of victims of high living costs are being heard, and the government promises to look into the matter. A vast amount of valuable time and thought has been centered in the discussion over the League of Nations and peace with Germany, that had much better have been spent in bringing about peace, order and justice, in the United Wage and living increases have been forced, without restraint, until the situation has about reached the breaking point, and nobody with authority has gone to the trouble of the company." trying to stop the flight. We are now told that "the government machinery has been set in motion" and that the President will give the subject "deep and very thoughtful consideration"; so, we may soon expect to hear something drop.

HUMOR FROM RUSSIA.

A Description of Archangel, by one of Uncle Sam's Boys.

Washington, July 27.—American soldiers who have just returned from six months' service in Northern Russia, have brought back enough interesting impressions of people and things in Archangel, and the surrounding country to regale their friends with for many a long day. An idea of what our fighting men, mostly from Michigan and Wisconsin, thought of Archangel, its customs and things in general at the top of the world is found in , The American Sentinel," the newspaper published up there by the American Red Cross, for their entertainment.

Copies of the Sentinel which reached Red Cross Headquarters today show that the arctic weather was not severe enough to freeze the humor out of the soldiers. The following description of Archangel, pronounced by the editor of The Sentinel as "the best pen picture of the place written by an American soldier," proves that one of Uncle Sam's boys didn't permit the job to get on his nerves:

"We are so far north that the doggone sun works only when it feels inclined to do so, and in that way, is like everything else in Russia. The moon isn't so particular, and comes up, usually backwards, at any time of day or night, in any part of the sky, it having no set schedule, and often it will get lost and still be on the job at noon. Yes, we are so far north that 30° below will soon be tropical weather for us, and they will have to build fires around both cows before they can milk them. Probably about next month someone will come around and say that we will be pulling out of here in a day 'or so, but then the days will be six months long.

"Now up here in this tough town there are 269,831 inhabitants, of which 61,329 are human beings and 208,502 are dogs. Dogs of every description from the poodle to the St. Bernard, and from the wolfhound to the half-bred dach-hound. "The wind whistles across the Dvina like the 20th Century Limited passing Podunk, and snow flakes are as numerous as retreating Germans were in France.

"We read in the Stars and Sripes that the boys in Italy had some tongue-twisters and brain-workers, but listen to this. Centimes and sous and francs may be hard to countbut did you ever hear of a rouble or a kopec? A kopec is worth a tenth of kopec? A kopec is worth a tenth of a cent and there are a hundred of them in a rouble. As you will see that makes a rouble worth a dime, and to make matters worse, all the money is paper, coins having gone out of circulation since the beginning of the mix-up. A kopec is the size of a postage stamp, a rouble looks like a United Cigar Store Certificate, a 25 rouble note resmebles a porous plaster, and a 100 rouble note, the Declaration of Independence.

"Every time you get on a street car (Dramway) you have to count out 60 kopecs for your fare, and most of us would rather walk than be jammed in the two by four busses and fish for the money. Before boarding a car, each passenger usually hunts up a couple of five gallon milk cans, a market basket or two and a bag of smoked herring so that they will get their kopecs' worth out of the ride, besides making the atmosphere nice and pleasant for the rest of the passen-

"When a soldier in search of a meal enters a restaurant, he says to the "Barishnia, zakazeetie, bifstek, Pazalouista," which means, "An order for beefsteak, lady please. You see you always say "barishmia," which really means "girl." and until a young lady is married she is always addressed in that manner. She will answer the hungry customer with, 'Yah ochen sojalayu shtoo nas niet yestnik prepasov siechas" (a simple home cure for lockjaw) meaning am sorry, but we are right out of food

"When a Russian meets another man he knows on the street, both lift their hats and flirt with each other. If they stop, to talk, they always shake hands, even if they haven't seen each other for fully 20 minutes. Then they simply must shake hands again when they leave. When a man meets a lady friend, he usually kisses her hand and shows how far he can bend over without breaking his suspenders.

"Ah," he will say, "Yah ochen rad vas veedet, kak vui pozavayetie?" which in the United States means "How do you do?" To which she will reply, "Blagadaru vas, yah achen khoroshaw," or "Very Well, thank It is the knockout. A fellow has to shake hands so much that some of us are getting the habit around

Government's Food Supply.

The War Department announces that it was holding a "surplus food stock" amounting to over $110,000,000 on July 19, and that it has since disposed of approximately $2,500,000 of the stock. The stock consisted as follows:

Dried fruit and vegetables, $2.478,228 Smoked & canned meats, 90,384,326 Fresh meat and poultry, 3.381.671 12,342,442 Canned vegetables 1,085,889 Cereals

Hard bread, crackers and

Total, $110,483,275 Just what influence this immense stock is having on the "high cost of living," is a matter of conjecture, based leargely on the price paid, rather than on the quantity assembled.

Because the United States ended one big war, at tremendous and long lasting cost to us, is no reason why this country should keep on forever settling European quarrels on the same liberal basis. To those of us who have not profited but have been heavily unprofited, by the war, things look very differently from the way they look to many others.

The prospect is for difficulty in securing adequate stocks of several important items, this Fall and Winter, among them being newspaper, except at higher prices, and perhaps not even then, unless labor troubles cease. It would not be at all surprising if publishers of weekly papers who have not yet advanced subscription price to $1.50, will yet be compelled to do that which they should have done two years ago.

It seems to us that arguing that any amendments, or reservations, to the League of Nations, might "open the whole question" with the European powers, is a force argument, pure and simple, and hardly worth while considering. Perhaps just such a thought was prominently in the minds of the framers of the covenant? "Opening up the whole question" over there, might be much less a catastrophe than our own finding out, later on that we have tied ourselves up with dangers we do not want, and should have avoided.

News That Hurts.

Newspapers are frequently censured for publishing the news, especially by those who happen to be suffers, directly or indirectly, through the illegal, or criminal, acts of others. This would be a beautiful world if everybody always behaved themelves: but, if this would be true, there would be greatly less use for newspapers, as a very large percentage of all news is based on some form of personal crime or fault, or law violation.

Newspapers take no pleasure in publishing moral delinquencies, but must take the current news as it is made for them. Items that cause many to feel badly, are not published with the object of doing this; but it is a question, more or less, of publishing the faults of others, in order that the community as a whole may be warned and benefited.

The surgeon causes his patient suffering, not because he delights in it, but because of the ultimate benefit he will accomplish, both for the patient and others who suffer in like manner. Legislators pass laws, not for the sake of injuring the innocent, but even if some who are innocent must suffer, severe laws must be enacted. So it must ever be-there must be suffering where it is undeserved, as well as where deserved, and the newspapers cannot change this unhappy truth.

Boosting Farm Values.

There is a tendency, we believe, toward an unjustifiable boosting of Listen," is madly disregarded. Speed real estate values-especially farm property-that seems to be a natural accompaniment to farm produce values, at this particular time. We see nothing wrong in this, especially as buyers are largely free agents, and can invest, or not, just as they are so disposed; and there would be no justification for sounding a warning, was it not for the fact that some farm owners may over-reach themselves, and eventually come out losers.

There is also this other possibility. The tax departments of the state and county may get busy, and take these "asking prices" as the basis for assessment, and such a away from. There is a strong probability, in fact, that future public sales of property will be pretty strongly urged as fixing assessable values, and be insisted on more strongly than has been the case within the past year or so, although the extent of this effort already made, has been resisted more or less successfully so far. A property can hardly be worth one figure, for assessment, and a greatly higher one as just sale figure.

The "Referendum" Comes Next.

The anti-prohibition forces are gradually being reduced to a few "last chance" expedients. They have the Senate and the Presidential veto to hope for to save the war time prohibition order from lasting until next January; but beyond that slight hope there is apparently none to save the drouth that will come then, except the "referendum" in enough states to prevent the enforcement of the amendment to th Constitution.

Petitions for a referendum will be, or have been, filed in Maine, Michigan, Missouri, Ohio, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Washington. In Oregon, Idaho, and Utah, the state courts have already decided that referendum laws do not apply to a constitutional amendment; but it is claimed that the Supreme Courts of Ohio and Washington have decided that they do apply, and an attempt will be made to have the Supreme Court of the United States review the decisions.

Death's Busiest Agent.

The busiest agent of the grim destroyer now-a-days is the motor car. It promises to rival the machinery of war in the number of its victims. The daily newspapers are but mortuary records of its deadly work. Despite the laws against reckless driving, which are growing stricter every day, the toll of fatalities mounts upward. Many of the accidents are due, no doubt, to carelessness, but a large per cent. of them come under the head of pure recklessness. Official reports for the fiscal year ending June 30th., show that there were 668 deaths caused by automobiles, the number exceeding every other year for the past four years. It is almost two deaths per day for the year. Smash-ups, autos turned turtle, grade crossings, skidding into ditches, all contribute to swell the list, but the major portion is composed of innocent persons who were struck by motor vehicles operated by careless drivers.

There must be a vtop to this reckless slaughter of human life. If it goes on the death list will increase to an alarming extent. That alleged pleasure called joy riding is responsible for a large number of the fatal accidents. The warning: "Stop, Look seems to be the one thing desired and with it usually goes a coroner's inquest and a death certificate. One of the main causes for this indiscriminate death toll lies in the fact that too many young people are permitted to drive motor cars. In some cases extremely young children are at the wheel, contrary to law. This is permitted by their elders and is sure to result in accident and death. The laws should be so framed that We mean this; that, those who, for careless people should be prohibited one reason or another, desire to dis- from driving motor cars. This would have a tendency to keep cemeteries in a normal condition and contribute largely to longlivity.

If nothing is done and the death rate doubles every four years, it will not be long until the motor car will be listed specifically in the tables of mortality by the State Register of Vital Statistics as an important agency of human extirpation. If every driver of an automobile would take for his motto "Safety First," and live up to it, there would be less deaths in the world to day, but as long as reckless drivers are permitted to run at large and insane joy riding is the order of the day, there is little hope of a decrease in the death columns. ### The Prohibition Bill.

Basing his assertions on a report of conditions in the State of Michigan, where, he says, the growth of the Industrial Workers of the World and other radical organizations has reached a point where it is a menace t) the safety of the nation, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement submitted last week to the Senate Judiciary Committee, makes the charge that the prohibition forces are aiding and abetting Bolshevism by oppressive legislation depriving the workers of their beer. He takes the stand also that if prohibition of beer must be accepted wine cellars should a "bone dry" policy for all put into effect. The present policy, he says. is breeding class hatred on an alarming scale.

Mr Gompers asserts that conditions in Michigan, where radical groups have international headquarters, are reflecting throughout the nation, and he asserts that attempts to foster the I. W. W. Bolshevist movement in Michigan had failed until prohibition was introduced The House of the Masses, the headquarters of the radicals in Detroit, says Mr. Gompers, has increased its membership to 21,-800 since prohibition became effective. He also gives a list of one hundred and twenty-five publications which have been in great demand and have been distributed by the hundreds of thousands. Of the movement he says: "It is a fierce form of radical I. W. W. teaching and preaching, akin to the revolutionary socialism of the continent of Europe. It is socialism born of class division and class antagonism. Oppressive legislation begets radical propaganda, and should Bolshevist doctrines ever obtain a foothold in this nation, which God forbid, the prohibitionists will not be free from responsibility. According to the report of the special investigator, the inability of the Detroit toiler to buy a glass of comforting beer is vexatious enough, but what bites deeper and hurts the most are notorious instances like the one quoted, and they are common in Detroit as blackberries in July.

The prohibition campaign in Michigan was largely financed by the wealthy employers of labor, and yet ninety per-cent. of these same employers are personally wet in their own homes. A large contributor to the Michigan prohibition campaign is a Detroit employer who pays the lowest wages to his working girls of any known millionaire. As Charles Schwab very pertinently pointed out the other day, the present prohibition law is a law for the poor and not for the rich and that fact alone promotes unrest and bitterness. All of which goes to show how hard up the ene- and insecticides, however, as they will

Americans in Paris, Released From the Horrors of Treitches, Somewhat Astonish the French.

Not the least of our pride in the expeditionary force was its good behavior. For general morals we were the prize winners. But, of course, soldiers in a nonprohibition country will get drunk now and then. One reason for our prohibition wave is the fact that many Americans have no moderation in their use of alcohol, and that they sometimes tend, when drunk, to tear up the sidewalks, writes Will Irwin, in the Saturday Evening Post.

Your French poilu, who, in his reaction from the trenches took to liquor, got a blissful and genial jag, which expressed itself in talkativeness and in flirtation. The American whooped it

As two coyotes on a moonlight night can give the impression of a whole wolf pack, so two drunken Americans could give the appearance of a drunken army. They might be surrounded by fifty poilus, all half seas over; it was the Americans whom one noticed.

This tendency brought its most deplorable effects in Paris. The capital of the world was not a leave center. Nevertheless all sorts of commissions and activities centered there; soldiers were constantly coming and going on military errands; moreover, though Paris was officially barred, men nevertheless got Paris leave by pull or cajolery. In spite of the provost marshal and the military police we always had the American drunk with us; and when present he always announced himself. The French, who, as I have said, grow merely genially expansive with liquor, did not like this.

LEARNED MUCH IN FRANCE

Doughboys, Back in America, Are Not Quite the Same as When They Left.

"The boy just back from France is a mighty different chap from the lad who went over there," says William Howard Taft, adding, with a laugh: "He's learned a lot he didn't know before. Take two instances that came to my notice recently.

"One was the case of a doughboy who before the war had been a hotel clerk. On his return to America he applied in New York for a place.

"'What references have you?' demanded the manager.

"'Been over in France a year, and before that-

"Never mind the 'before that,'" said the manager. 'If you've been in France a year you know all about domestic work. I'll make you head chambermaid.

"The other one," continued Mr. Taft, "was quite different. He, too, had come back from France, and he, too, had learned a lot. "'Do you think you could ever learn to love me?' he asked the girl of his choice, and she answered: "'I don't know. Anyhow, you might continue your course of instruction. Gee! it's so different!"

Causa of the Querry.

As soon as women have the vote be forced to disgorge their stocks and | and the league of nations becomes a reality, says Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, she is going to be a "gay young girl." As it is, no one would suspect her of being past seventy. And she likes to tell stories on herself. This is one she told in Indianapolis to a group of friends:

"When I was in California recently, folks kept coming up to me and saying. How young you look,' in most surprised tones. Well, it began to wear on me. Why shouldn't I look young? So when a young girl came up and said it for the 'steenth time, I said, 'So do you look young.'

"And then I learned the reason for all the surprise. The newspapers had been told that I was in California in '96 with Miss Anthony. It had somehow got twisted to read: 'Dr. Shaw was ninety-six when she was here with Miss Anthony.' That would have made me about 120 years old."

Caught at Last. A father said to his pretty daugh-

"What time did you send that young Simpson home last night?"

"Oh," replied the girl, "I don't think it was very late."

"It must have been close to midnight!"

"Why, father?" "Didn't you send him out the back door and hurry off to bed when you heard me coming in?"

"Why, father, I had been in bed for hours.' "You heard me, then?"

"Yes, you woke me up." "And you had been in bed for "Ur huh!"

"That certainly is funny!" "Why?" "Because when I went to light the

Joyous Heart Retains Its Youthfulness

Men and women always have sought the secret of prolonging their youth. Queen Elizabeth tried to make herself look young and giddy by adorning her scrawny features with a large, red wig about the color of an October sunset, but she did not fool anybody. If there is really any secret method of perpetuating the golden days of youth it does not consist of wearing wigs that nestle loosely about the ears, or in defying the eternal laws of nature with a bottle of hair dye, according to Thrift Magazine. The secret of retaining youth, if such a secret really exists, is entirely in the mind.

If you would remain young, learn to think young thoughts. Forget about growing old. Learn to laugh and play. Proof of this is found in the theatcical profession. William H. Crane, past seventy, is successful and active. Lily Langtry, the beautiful "Jersey Lily," looks like a young woman at sixty-six. Robert Hilliard, dapper and debonair, is nearly sixty and has the alert vivacity of thirty. The great Bernhardt, with one leg amputated, is an active member of her profession at seventy-four. Marie Wainwright, at sixty-five, is winning the applause of Broadway audiences, Rose Coghlan is able to retain her popularity, though she is on the other side of sixty-five, and John Drew, at sixty-six, is playing nightly to enthusiastic audiences.

THE WHEAT THAT DOES NOT WINTER-KILL

Every winter takes its toll of the wheat crop.

Some winters destroy more, some less, but always there are thou sands of acres of wheat plowed down each spring because so many of the wheat plants have been heaved out and destroyed. The causes of heaving are two. The wheat may have been sown late or grown poorly in the fall, so that there is but a scant covering for the ground. Frost gets in and out comes the plant, roots and all. The wheat which makes poor top growth also makes a poor root growth, generally for the same reason-the soil is poor. A good root growth is as vital to the life of the plant over winter as is a good top growth. It serves as an anchor.

If the wheat is sown late and is not well and properly fed it grows slowly and winter catches it unprotected. The plant shown was drawn from a sample dug, washed and pictured on the same day as the one shown below.

Incidentally the wheat plants were both sown on the same day. The difference is that the small and weak plant was not fertilized and the big husky plant was grown on a soil made rich by an application of high-grade fertilizer. The small plant was like all of its fellows. The big one was part of a mass which covered the soil and filled it so completely with roots that the frost had little chance to get in and no chance to do damage.

HOOVER EXPECTS BIG EX-PORTS OF AMERICAN GRAIN

Europe Needs Huge Shipments.

After surveying Europe's grain needs and possible sources of supply for 1919, Mr. Herbert Hoover gives figures which show that there will be need for every bushel America can Europe will have to import some 850,000,000 bushels of wheat and rye from the 1919 crop, and Mr. Hoover counts on approximately 450,000,000 bushels of this from the United States. When we recall that we exported only 270,000,000 bushels from our 1918 crop It becomes evident at once that even with a bumper crop this year every extra bushel will find a ready market across the water. This, of course means continued good prices.

Swat the Hessian Fly With Fertilizer. The proper use of fertilizer at seed ing time will bring wheat through in vigorous condition even though plant ed late to avoid the Hessian fly.

INCREASING WHEAT YIELDS What the Ohio Experiment Station

Has Learned.

Wheat yields are distressingly low This fact did not attract much attenwheat went to $2.00 or more per bushel. Farmers then began to ask, 'How can we grow more per acre?"

The answer lies in reversing the condition which brought about the low yields. Fertility must be restored. The Ohio experiment station has worked on this problem of increasing wheat yields for many years, and they have found that by the use of commercial fertilizer they can bring the yield up to respectable proportionswhere it will pay a profit. The average yield of unfertilized plots on land the ground, or to remove them. which is typical of much of this country was 10.7 bushels per acre. A profit is hardly possible with a yield like that, even when the price of wheat is where it is today. When fertilizer was used to return the soil to something like its native fertility, the average of all yields was easily brought up to 24 bushels per acre. In many cases the yield was more than that, but the average of all was 24 bushels.

When we remember that no more time is consumed in plowing and fitting the land and but little more for harvesting the 24-bushel yield as compared with the 10-bushel yield, we can see how the profit mounts up as soon as we begin to grow better wheat.

TWO CHANCES TO IN-CREASE THE WHEAT CROP

Growers May Have Both Profits as Well as One.

Many wheat growers are overlooking two chances of increasing their wheat crop after it is planted and thereby getting larger acre yields and bigger profits. This extra yield and profit is secured by top-dressing the wheat early in the spring with available plantfood, preferably in the form of This is a fertilizer carrying ammonia and available phosphoric acid that gives the young wheat plants, weakgain. doubled. For spring top-dressing, the broadcaster is better than the fertilizer drill. It covers the ground more rapidly and the inconvenience of keeping the drill disks or hoes out of the ground, or of removing them, is avoided. The ordinary fertilizer drills can, however, be satisfactorily used for top-dressing if care is taken to fasten up the hoes or disks away from

FERTILIZE LIBERALLY

Says Professor Agee.

"I am convinced that the average individual loses his chance for the largest net income from land by failure to fertilize liberally. When one lacks capital it is perhaps a serious matter to run up a big bill for fertilizers, but when labor and seeds are to be risked it is poor business not to have enough plant food to make a good crop. Poor land does not get one anywhere -at least in the direction he wants to travel."-Alva Agee, in National Stockman and Farmer.

ENGLAND MUST IN-CREASE WHEAT YIELDS

According to the editor of the United States Experiment Station Record, Director Russell of the Rothamstead (England) experiment station says that "the English farmer's task in the future will be to increase his yield." an ammoniated phosphate fertilizer. ### GOVERNMENT ADVISES WHEAT GROWERS

How to Avoid Hessian Fly.

"It should be borne in mind that the most practical and effective methods of controlling the Hessian fly are identical with the best methods of producing the maximum yields of wheat. It does not seem to occur to the average farmer that it is possible for him to fight the Hessian fly by the process of good farming, involving thorough cultivation, good seed, and a rotation of crops. It has been said, and with truthfulness, that outbreaks of this pest are more often the result of poor farming than otherwise. The most serious objection to the most practical and effective method that can be employed to control this pest in the field—namely, late sowing—is that there is danger of so delaying the growth of the plants that they do not become sufficiently advanced to enable them to withstand the winter. The farmer is thus placed, as it were, between Scylla and Charybdis, and must risk the ravages of the Hesslan fly on the one hand or the freezes of winter on the other.

"Much of the delay in the growth of late-sown plants in the fall can be eliminated by paying close attention to the preparation of the soil and to the quality of the seed. A thoroughly vigorous wheat plant will not only withstand a slight attack of the Hessian fly but it frequently occurs that such a light attack is rather beneficial than otherwise, for the reason that the killing of the first shoot that is thrown up from the kernel forces the plant to tiller, and in rich soil the result is to produce more grain; but if the soil lacks fertility and has been poorly prepared, this slight attack that vigorous plants overcome is fatal to weak plants, because of the badly nourished condition of the plants. The best advice that can be given is to begin the preparation of the field in the fall precisely as though it was expected to sow at a very early date, but instead of sowing use the disk harrow and the roller, even after it appears to be a waste of labor to till the field further.

"When a finely pulverized, compact seedbed has been secured, the seed should be selected, and this should be done with the point in view that unnaturally shriveled or otherwise imperfect kernels cannot produce healthy wheat plants. When the kernel sprouts it at once sends fibrous roots down into the soil from which to draw nourishment for the young plant, and if little or no nourishment is secured. the wheat plants are put into somewhat the condition of stunted calves, pigs or other farm animals which are underfed. "Wheat plants cannot secure prompt and ample nourishment if the roots must make their way about among clods due to poor preparation of the soil, or in soil that lacks in fertility. The farmer, then, should begin the preparation of his soil with the object of delaying the sowing of the wheat and afterwards of pushing the growth of the plant to the utmost until the beginning of the cold weather. There are farmers who grow wheat continuously year after year but who rarely lose a crop on account of Hessian fly attacks, and even more rarely does the pest originate in their own fields."-Circular 51, U. S. Department of Agri-

It's the Fault of the Paper Dollar.

When a man has but $100 in bank and issues three 90-day notes for $100 each, based on the bank deposit as security, the value of those notes soon falls very decidedly. In other words, the average creditor would feel that he ought to have two or even three such notes before he had paper sufficient to equal the value of that $100 in gold that lies in the bank.

This is approximately what has happened with the world's currency. So much paper has been issued in the form of notes, credits, bonds and similar "promises to pay" that its value when compared with actual food and clothing and other necessities has fallen tremendously. We express this same idea the other way around by saying "prices have gone up."

There is no reason to expect rapid retirement of paper promises-war bonds the world over must run for some years yet to come, and private credits cannot be withdrawn soon. Therefore this cause of high prices will probably be with us for some time yet-several years, in fact.

In the case of farm crops, at least, there is another very good reason why prices are high. Many more mouths are to be fed than formerly and this condition also is likely to persist. War devastated fields cannot immediateely regain their former productivity. The farmer seems to be secure in the assurance of good crop prices for a long time to come.

— THE — CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

- From --The Christian Workers Magazine, Chicago, Ill.

AUGUST 3 'Our · Relation to Others-Towards Parents and Others in the Home." Ephesians 6:1-9.

The Epistle to the Ephesians has been called "the summit of revela-tion" because it lifts one to the heights of spiritual position privi-lege and power, that belong to the redeemed in Christ.

Christian believers are shown to be chosen of God (1:4-, redeemed by the Blood of Christ (1:7), and sealed by the Holy Spirit (1:13). Being made nigh to God by the blood of Christ (2:13), we are given access by the Spirit unto the Father for the purpose of fellowship and prayer (2:18). In other words the Holy Spirit makes real to us, what Christ has done for us, so that the value and virtue of our Lord's work may be appropriated by faith. Then in 3:16, we read of the instrengthening of the Spirit; in 4:3 of the unity of the Spirit and in 5:18, of the filling of the Spirit. The Spirit-filled life is the ultimate in Christian experience. It is the fulness of ian experience. It is the fulness of the blessings of the gospel of Christ. The Christian that lives the Spirit-filled life may say, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.'

A picture of the Christian home is given in the next section of the Epistle (5:22-6:9). Here the varied relationships of life are presented—wives and husbands, children and parents, servants and masters. Out of these varied relationships the manifold duties of life arise. The ignoring or neglect of these duties through selfishness, re-sults in discord, distress and disaster, hence so many unhappy homes. The reality and power of Christian faith and life is tested chiefly, not in public places but in the home. Happy home life demands the full operation of all the qualities found in these 21 verses—submission, love, sacrifice, obedience, wisdom, kindness and heart service. But these are the graces of the Spirit, and for their full of Westminster, spent the week's end at Wm. Frounfelter's.

Quite a number of persons from here attended the Blue Ridge College here attended the Brownian at Pen-Mar on Thursday.

Delivered the service. But these are the graces of the Spirit, and for their full exercise the Spirit-filled life is demanded. Nothing less will meet the constant demand of home life, nothing rooms is necessary.

A Great Remedy.

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaint-ance with them and should read the following by F. H. Dear, a hotel man at Dupuyer, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diar-rhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommend-ed it to my friends." —Advertisement

SUITS FOR WEAR ON STORMY DAYS

Leather, Waterproof Cloth, Rubberized Material, Among the Favorites.

RUBBER-SOLED ARMY BOOTS

Burdensome Footgear Is Displaced-Sou'wester Caps That Fishermen Wear, Some of the Innovations for Rainy Weather.

New York.-Women should take the rainy day seriously. They should not save up for it; they should prepare for it, advises a prominent fashion writer. The "saving up" process may sound wise to philosophers, and it may appeal to financiers when translated in terms of coin; but when it applies to apparel, the philosophy and the practice are all wrong.

Can any woman answer the question as to why she should look her worst on a day when she needs to look her best? Why does she feel that every occasion in life requires a certain kind of costume, except a day of bad weather? Thinking along the right track would make one confident that a special costume for a rainy day is as necessary as one for a dinner party. The average woman, in fact, the vast majority of women, will tell you that they wear out their old clothes when the skies are gray, the snow flies, and the rain soaks the atmosphere and floods the streets.

There are individuals who achieve in life the distinction of wearing old clothes as well as they do new ones; of investing any costume with a certain chic. But these are individuals, rare types among women who are envied by all the others and who are enabled, through this personal achievement, to be economical if they so de-They are a class apart, they are not models for other women. No one can imitate them. An extraordinary distinction in dress is a gift, as Harry Lauder says, and not a habit.

Now, cutting out these women who may do anything they please in the realm of dress, there is a world of women to be guided, counseled and chided in the kind of clothes they save up for bad weather. If clothes cannot be worn in the sunshine, it is obvious that they are unbecoming, ungraceful, out of style. They must have serious defects, or they would continue in harness. Hung in the dark corners of the closet, and taken out only for the dark hours of the day, they cannot be expected to glorify or enhance a woman's appearance. Yet, one finds almost invariably that these are the clothes which dot the streets on rainy days; that appear in the shops, and that do duty at luncheon.

And what is the result? A woman dresses herself in all the things that she dislikes and has discarded, goes abroad under a gray sky, and finds herself accepting an invitation to lunch or dropping in for an afternoon tea when the sun is shining, the streets are dry, and she looks like the symbol of an old clothes shop.

War Brought in Leather. Although the military touches in women's costumery have not been startling or aggressive, outside of the regulation uniforms worn by war workers, there has been an introduction of other fabrics than those worn in peace. Leather, for instance. Women had nothing whatever to do with this fabric, except for shoes and hand bags, until the constant usage of it by soldiers on the streets of cities gave rise to its introduction for women's clothes.

The British "warm," the well-known coat invented by the nation that has given to the world the best uniform produced by the war, is a garment that was taken up by women. Its usage suggested coats that were modified editions of it.

Then leather skirts were taken up for sports last year, and they have been retained for rough weather in large cities. Leather has been worn in tan and in black and there are coats of it made of that shiny kind which one once saw on policemen.

Rubberized cloth was brought in by the war. Khaki-colored covert cloth and gabardine were returned to fashion through the war. Sheepskin collars and cuffs came about through its use as a lining for British coats. Extra high leather boots have been emphasized since America went into the war, and now leather caps and hats with brims like the New England fishermen wear have come into fashion.

France brought out a host of new umbrellas since the war, because the French women were compelled to walk. The majority of Parisiennes put the bad weather down to the war, and there were Americans who thought along the some channel; but the probable truth is that the French woman, even of the poorest class, is not used to walking the streets in fair or foul weather, and when the war compelled her to do this, through the lack of taxis and money, she found leather, oilskin and umbrella necessary.

Entire Leather Suit.

One woman turns herself out on the street whenever her best clothes are inadvisable, in a beige-colored leather suit made by a sporting goods house. The skirt is narrow and short, slit in the back, then lapped over to allow room for walking. The trench coat is cut double-breasted, with large, bundle pockets and straight, stiff cuffs in which a woman now places her purse and handkerchief. The cap, the umbrella and the knitted muffler. which goes twice about the neck, are in dark red. The double row of buttons are made of leather, and tan shoes, with rubber soles and heels, are laced up as high as the new regulations will permit.

Leather is costly, you know, and every woman does not feel that she can indulge in it, but heavy brown tweed, which stands the rain in an admirable manner, is used as a substitute by another well-dressed woman. This has a short skirt heavily stitched at the hem, and the odd blouse, which looks like a jacket, goes over the shoulders, is fastened at each side of the chest, and has a muffler as an attached collar. The buttons on this suit are of leather, and the loops that go over them are of stitched tweed. There is a flat cap of brown leather, and the high shoes have no heels, but thick, extension soles and leather laces.

When Old Clothes Are Used. There are women who cling to their old suits and frocks for certain occasions. Nothing can divorce them from these garments as long as they hold together. Habit of mind compels these women to use these clothes for umbrella days, but the necessity for warmth may compel them to get a storm coat that covers all the shabbiness beneath and presents to the outside world that spick-and-span appearance which suggests that something new is at hand.

The best of these storm coats is of rubberized cloth, with cap to match. It is made like a chemise frock, with immense pockets at the hips, a turnedup cuff at the hem, and a wide, fichu collar that hugs the back of the neck and fastens across the chest with two leather buttons. The high-waisted belt fastens in front with a leather

Whatever else you eliminate in your rain apparel, don't omit pockets. They have taken a new lease of life. The soldiers have taught us their smartness, and necessity has taught us their convenience. They must be big enough to hold packages, and warm enough to protect the hands.

CARE OF THE HAIR

Alcohol, Orris Powder and Quick Water Shampoo.

Treatments That May Obviate the Annoying Inability to Obtain a Well-Coifed Head.

There are times when a woman feels that she just can't go another day without shampooing her hair, yet she simply hasn't the time or the inclination to go through the usual process. It may be, too, that she is unexpectedly called upon to attend a function at which a well-coifed head is an absolute necessity, and she knows that her hair simply will not go up properly without a cleansing process

Also, if the hair is to be dressed immediately after the shampoo the rigorous soap shampoo can hardly be indulged in, for scarcely a woman but voices the complaint, "Oh, I've washed my hair and I can't do anything with it!" The question is, then, to hurriedly cleanse and fluff the hair with the least inconvenience. There are three ways, notes an authority, in which this can be done.

The alcohol method is excellent. First brush the scalp and hair thoroughly with a clean brush. Get all the dust and dandruff possible out of the hair and then rub the scalp with alcohol and wipe the thick strands of the hair with a clean cloth. This will at the same time remove dirt and oil. If the hair is put on curlers immediately after this treatment a good curl will result in a short time. Wet the hair well with alcohol for curling; it dries much faster than would water. Some women use a delicate toilet water for preparing the hair for curlers.

The second is the orris powder method. Sift it well through the scalp and hair and let it remain for 15 minutes or longer, so that it will absorb the oil. Then brush it out and the dust will come with it. The powder will fluff the hair as well as cleanse it. Do not wet the hair for curling or it will become sticky.

The third method is the quick water shampoo. It is the removal of the soap which takes so much pains and time. For an emergency you will find that dousing the head in hot water and then in cold, the latter to close the pores, rubbing it a little and entirely omitting soap, will put the hair in condition for dressing. Hair thus dipped in clear water will dry much more quickly than when given the regulation soap shampoo. Of course, this eliminates some of the oil and adds a gloss to the hair.

HANGINGS KEEP HOUSE WARM

Heavy Curtains an Effective Assistance in Cold Weather-Moist Air Easier Than Dry to Heat.

Several things besides coal will help to keep the house comfortable. Windows not needed for ventilation purposes should be stuffed all around with cotton or old newspapers. Storm doors and windows will aid materially in ings that may be drawn across bay window spaces and other drafty places.

In all English country houses these heavy curtains are a feature of winter furnishings; they are pushed back during the day and drawn cosily at night when the family gathers about the sitting room fire.

One gas jet, burning steadily, will raise the temperature of a room five degrees-and five degrees count when your thermometer registers below 60! Spraying the rooms often with water in an atomizer helps, too, for moist air is easier to heat than dry air.

STAMP CONVERSION IS NOW AUTHORIZED

Freasury Department Offers Through Banks and Post Offices Savings Certificates in Large Denominations.

Richmond, Va.-The War Loan Organization of the Fifth Federal Reserve District has been advised that hereafter War Savings Stamps may be converted into Treasury Savings Certificates of $100 and $1,000 denominations according to a new plan of the United States Treasury Department to afford greater convenience to holders and purchasers of War Savings and Thrift Stamps.

The development of the savings idea s one that has been urged for some time in order to attract larger invest-The holder of a sufficient number of Thrift Stamps may now exchange them for a $5 War Savings Stamp and in turn the holder of twenty of the $5 War Savings Stamps may convert them into a $100 Savings Certificate, or the holder of two hundred of the $5 stamps may in turn turn them in for a $1,000 Saving Cer-

Conversion may be made at all first and second class postoffices and at all incorporated banks and trust companies that have qualified as agents of the second class. The Treasury Savings Certificate will be issued in registered form and will bear the name of the owners. They will yield four per cent compounded quarterly as do the War Savings Stamps. The limit of the individual investment for the 1919 series of stamps still remains at

The new Treasury Savings Certificates should prove particularly attractive for the investment of the funds of fraternal societies, labor unions and other civic, social and religious organizations because the interest is added to the principal automatically each quarter, the entire amount being payable at maturity.

HOW FAMILY INCOME MAY BE DISTRIBUTED

Every Home Should Have Own Per sonal Household Budget If It Is to be Successful.

Every household is a corporation with certain definite obligations and a more or less certain income, and it should, therefore, have a definite bud-

No general budget can be so framed as to fit the needs of every family. Families differ, even when identical in size, number, sex and general situation, but no family can thrive and progress without sound and sane financing; without arrangement of a reasonable financial margin; without regular saving and investments, such as are offered by Thrift and War Savings Stamps; and only intelligent adherance to an intelligent budget can be trusted, under ordinary circumstances, to bring about the desired results.

Methods of appropriation, however, differ; a method which proves feasible in a given family would be worse than useless in another; but certain cardinal principles may be safely laid

The amount of possible savings should be set apart definitely, and rigidly adhered to. Other allowances may be variable or they may be held within hard and fast limits. One plan after another may be tried, if liked, until the best one suited is found.

All things considered, the most easily efficient budget usually is that which allows a certain share of the income for each budget head listed, holds rigidly within the items of appropriation, and wisely applies any balance or surplus to the savings of recreation account.

WHAT REAL THRIFT WILL ACCOMPLISH

successful Men Began By Saving Their Money As a Matter of Fixed Habit.

Abraham Lincoln was a notable exemplar of the value of thrift of time. We can picture him trudging forty miles to borrow a grammar. We can see him prone before the pine fire at ight after a hard day's work logutting, reading and re-reading the statutes of Indiana, the only book he wned, or learning to write and figure with a piece of charcoal on the back of wooden shovel, as he had no paper

Another example of what a boy can do who does not waste time is that of a Milwaukee man, Nels Anton Christensen, recently appointed by the United States government, through Secretary of the Navy Daniels, on the nventors' staff of the new United States Naval Board, which includes the greatest inventive minds in the

Born in Denmark, Nels Christensen's school days ended at 14 years. After that he worked in a machine shop days and attended a technical school in the evenings. From his savings he defrayed the expense of a course at the Copenhagen Technique Institute, from which he was graduated at 21. Previous to that he attain- and Household Goods. national prominence as an engineer, having designed, when 19 years old, the Danish lighthouse at Hanstholme, one of the largest in the world.

During the three years he spent on an English steamer engaged in Mediterranean trade he learned enough English to secure a position with an English manufacturing concern. Since coming to the United States he has in vented many compressed airbrake starters for railroads, aeroplanes and fire engines that have brought him world-wide fame.

Thomas Edison began to save before he began to invent. The successful magazine editor, Edward Bok, started saving on a salary of 50 cents a week. Grover Cleveland's wages for his first year of work totaled $50 Garfield could not have become president had he not saved early in life. Horace Greeley and Cooper founded their careers on saving.

Ex-Governor Ferris of Michigan, now a college president, a life-long advocate of thrift, tells of his own thrifty training: "In my youth if I had a toy, I made it, and made it not to suit myself alone but it had to suit my father as well. His examination of my work and his insistence that I should put the best there was in me even into my toys put into my back a spine and sufficient lime to last a lifetime.

Thrift was the keynote of success in the life of the late James J. Hill. He was one of the country's most consistent exponents of thrift, one of the greatest examplars of what this vir tue combined with energy and high purpose, can do. He preached always that the man who cannot save money will be a failure; that though he may have education, talent and ability, without thrifty habits he cannot suc-

LESSON FOR AUGUST 3

CHRISTIAN WORSHIP.

LESSON TEXTS—Rev. 7:9-12; John 4:1-10, 19-24; Mat. 6:5, 6; Heb. 10:19-25. GOLDEN TEXT—God is a spirit, and they that worship him must worship him is spirit and in truth.—John 4:24. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Mat. 4:10; Psalms 84 and 122.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL
Psalms 84 and 122,
PRIMARY TOPIC—Children praising
God (Mat. 21:15, 16),
JUNIOR TOPIC—Worship in God's house (Luke 2:41-50),
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Why worship and how ship and how.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The nature and value of true worship.

1. What is Worship? (Rev. 7:12). It is the attitude of the soul toward God, which recognizes him as the Supreme Being of the universe and benevolently inclined toward his creatures. It is the outgoing of the affections toward him and the ascription of praise and adoration to him as the one from whom all blessings come, the one to whom all glory and honor should be given, the one who is all-wise and powerful.

II. Whom to Worship (Rev. 7:10-12). 1. God (vv. 11, 12, cf. Matt. 4:10). Since in him we live, move and have our being (Acts 17:28), and from him every good and perfect gift cometh-(James 1:17), we should worship and adore him.

2. Jesus Christ the Lamb (v. 10). We should worship him because he is God and because he, in the incarnation, linked himself with humanity and on the cross made an atonement for us and is now our high priest, through whom we have access to God (Heb.

III. Qualifications for Acceptable Worship (John 4:1-10, 19-24).

This is a fine example of personal evangelism. Christ "must needs go through Samaria" to find this poor, sinful woman. He skilfully disclosed his identity to her. He knew the deep need of her soul, even the inward unrest which was hers while practicing sin. He made the point of contact by that which was uppermost in her mind, namely, water, and passed from the water of earthly to the water of everlasting life which was in himself (v. 10). In order to worship God acceptably there must be-

1. Knowledge of Christ (v. 10). Must know him as a prophet from God (v. 19)-the one sent of God (Acts 7:37, cf. Deut. 18:15) to make known to lost men the way to God. Must know him as the Messiah—the one anointed of God to save lost men (John 4:42).

2. A new nature (vv. 23, 24). Only the regenerated can worship God in spirit. Jesus declared "that which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit" (John 3:6). "Except a man be born from above, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3). The natural as not the capacity to "see" God, therefore he cannot worship him. God is spirit, therefore only the one whose spirit has been quickened can enter into fellowship with him in wor-

3. A sanctified life (Heb. 10:22). The life is sanctified by the Spirit I Peter 1:2); through obedience to the Word of God (John 17:17).

4. Faith in God (Heb. 11:6, cf. 10: 22). Pretended worship without vitalized faith is an abomination to God. 5. Men of every nation and kindred

(Rev. 7:9). God is the God of all na-IV. Where to Worship.

1. In secret (Matt. 6:5, 6). The soul shut up with God, with the world and its cares shut out, realfy worships. Every Christian ought to have a secret chamber.

2. In the assembly (Heb. 10:24, 25). While the private prayer is of first importance, there is value in joint worship with fellow Christians which should not be overlooked. The actions of others are helpful in conducing a frame of mind for worship.

3. Everywhere (John 4:20-24). God is the Omnipresent Spirit, therefore wherever there is a person whose nature is spiritual he can worship. Christianity is unlike every other religion In that without ritual or temple the individual may worship God anywhere. John as truly worshiped God in Patmos as in the assembly at Ephesus, or Paul in the Roman prison as well as with the beloved saints at Philippi.

To Those Who Seek.

It profits little to know Christ himself after the flesh; but he gives his spirit to good men that searcheth the deep things of God.-John Smith.

The True Christian.

AGENTS CARRYING MESSAGE OF THRIFT

Harold Braddock, Director of Savinga Division Writes Letter of Appreciation to Each of Eighteen Hundred Workers.

First-hand information and suggestions as to how to obtain increased efficiency and prosperity may now be obtained by women on the farm, in any part of the country, from the home demonstration agents of the department of agriculture. Entering into the national savings movement with a mest that characterizes all their work, some eighteen hundred of these home demonstration agents have been carrying the message of thrift into the farm houses all over the United States.

In appreciation of their voluntarily undertaken work, Director Braddock s written a letter to each worker, *-commendation, which reads in part: 'Thrift is primarily the people's coneern. If thrift is to become a permanent national asset, the people's agencies and organizations must definitely assume their share of responsibility for inculcating thrift by including it in their program for action. Schools, churches, business and labor organizations, fraternal societies and women's organizations, as well as agricultural workers and agencies, are already undertaking this work and are in close co-operation with the treasury de-

MAKE SCARF FROM OLD SHAWL

Despite Ravages of Moths, Grandmother's Pride May Be Made Into Useful and Attractive Garment,

Possibly you are one of those people who got out grandmother's old cashmere shawl which had been packed away in the trunk in the attic for years, writes a correspondent, with plans for a wonderful new evening coat, and were desolated to discover that it had been almost riddled by moths. And when you hung it out in the sun for days and got rid of all the pesky little animals and had reveled in its gorgeous coloring, and regretted the coat long and hard, you had wrapped it up in tar paper and put it back into the chest for another long period of oblivion.

But here is good news for you. You can use the glorious thing after all. Nothing is more fetching or chic than one of these new scarfs that some fortunate people are using to liven up last year's blue serge or black velveteen suit, and they look as if they were designed for just those of us who have only small bits of our old shawls avail-

Possibly it wasn't the moths that prevented you from using your shawl. Maybe grandma was a Hooverizer, although she didn't know it, and wore hers till it almost dropped to pieces. Whatever it may have been, get it out and see how many narrow strips you can get from the good parts. Buy a piece of red cashmere, that same lovely red that the centers of these shawls were, cut the scarf from it of the desired shape, bind it round the edge with a band two or three inches wide made from the pieces of the shawl, and line it with red crepe de chine, georgette crepe or two harmonizing colors of chiffon, one over the other. It will be so lovely when you get it finished that you will want to make another, and you might make one for mother, using black for the foundablack shirred chiffon over red.

NEW SPRING WAIST STYLE

High Waistline to Be Feature of Suit That Will Fit the Figure Snugly.

A waistline just a trifle above normal is to be the feature of the spring suit, according to present indications. This type of suit is featured especially for young women and women with decidedly youthful figures. Some of the suits promised for spring fit the figure quite snugly to an inch or so above the normal waistline, at which point a flaring skirt of peplum, hip length or longer, may be set on. Again the suit coat will be held in by a belt set on just above the normal waistline. The suit with high waisted line in front and no waistline at all at the back is also shown. This is arrived at by a panel arrangement at the back. A very graceful figure silhouette is usually given by this type of coat. Skirts are just about the same as those shown for winter and now being worn.

The perfectly straight-line coat, cut on chemise lines and closely related to the chemise frock, to be worn over a sleeveless blouse or vest in contrasting color and material, is also to be a favorite for spring.

MODISH NOTES

Black velvet girdles are silver-lined and tie in a big bow at the side front. Lingerie made of lemon-colored crepe de chine is trimmed with black ribbon.

Narrow belts of black silk braid are seen on many of the serge dresses. Taffeta will be much used for smart street frocks.

Japanese cotton crepe makes excellent winter frocks for small children. Chuddah, poplin and shark cloth are used for black skirts for winter.

One charming girdle is composed of small balls of angora on strands of jet. Black crepe de chine is sometimes worn with a vest of rose satin, embroidered in white angora and gold thread.

Any bit of fine linen, provided it is eight or nine inches square, can be utilized for charming hand-rolled handkerchiefs.

A yard of plain black moire ribbon can be made-into a pretty little neck accessory by adding colored tassels and embroidery on the ends.

SENATOR WARFIELD IS AGAIN IN THE FIELD

In Cogent Statement to Carroll County Voters He Stands Unreservedly upon his Record and Asks for its Approval.

TO THE VOTERS OF CARROLL COUNTY:-

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election to the State Senate, subject to the Democratic Primaries.

The people of Carroll County, to whom I am grateful, elected me to the Senate in 1915, pledged to economy and efficiency in the public service and to advocate the abolishing of needless offices and to a business administration of public affairs. How well I discharged the trust then reposed in me, I leave to you, whom I have served, to decide.

As a member of the Finance Committee I did my part in reducing the expenses of the legislative sessions of 1916 and 1918 as compared with the sessions of 1912 and 1914, over one hundred and fifty

The same committee also approved the Budget System of finance, which system I consider a great safe-guard surrounding the receipts and expenditures of public money.

Our State appropriated, and placed at the disposal of the Council of Defense, two million dollars to meet emergencies arising from the world war and, notwithstanding this fact our State taxes did not advance, which still leads me to believe that under normal conditions our taxes can be reduced.

I believe in encouraging agricultural interests in every possible way. I am in sympathy with the advanced position our State has taken in the building of our highways, in the strengthening of our educational system and other constructional legislation.

I am better prepared from experience to serve you now than before, and I ask your support that I may be returned to the Legislature to complete the work I have started in the interest of our State and
