TRACTION ENGINES CAN USE THE STATE HIGHWAYS

Judge Thomas Decides Against the Motor Commissioner.

A case of wide interest to the whole state, involving the right of traction engines with cleated wheels to use the state roads, has been decided by Judge Thomas in favor of the engines. The case was that of Arthur L. Stevenson against E. Austin Baughman, commissioner of motor vehicles, who had denied the use of the roads to engines unless equipped with such devices as would give them smooth wheels, alleging that cleated wheels did great damage to the surface of the roads. In his decision he said in

"Those engaged in the threshing business and the farmers they serve represent some of the best citizens of our State, than whom no one could be more concerned or interested in the preservation of good roads, which have now become a public necessity. On the other hand, the State officials charged with responsible duty of constructing and maintaining the public highways can have no other interest in the matter than a desire to protect them from unnecessary injury and there would seem to be no reason why, with co-operation, a satisfactory solution of the difference may not

"Chapter 85, of the acts of 1918, vests the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles with certain discretion in the revocation of registration and markers, which discretion he has the authority to exercise but what the court decided in passing on the demurrer to the bill was that the statute recognized the right of persons engaged in the threshing business to operate their traction engines ness to operate their traction engines over the State roads and under the statements of facts alleged in the bill. The discretion vested in the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles by the statute did not include the authority to revoke plaintiff's certificate of registration and markers solely because the wheels of his engine had cleats on them or the tires gine had cleats on them or the tires were not smooth.

"When the act of 1918, which recognized the right of persons engaged in the threshing business to operate their traction engines over the State roads was passed, the Legislature must have known that the traction engines had cleats on their wheels and must also have known that they would not be operated over the State roads without causing some injury to them.

"The court must not, however, be understood as meaning to restrict the discretion and power of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles beyond the limit herein expressly stated. The Legislature has conferred upon him broad powers and discretion deemed necessary for the preservation of the public highways of the State and the safety of those using them and the courts have no power to either qualify or enlarge them. There might be traction engines or other motor vehicles or cleats on them of such unusual, extraordinary or peculiar construction or their condition might be such as to cause unreasonable damage to and warrant their exclusion from the public highways, and courts of equity would have no power to control or restrain the authority of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles in regard to them. "The conclusion of this court is the persons engaged in the business that plaintiff is engaged in have the right in the conduct of such business to operate their engines over the State roads and that certificates of registration and markers for their engines so used can not be revoked simply and solely because the engines have cleats on their wheels. The injunction heretofore granted must be confirmed."

Prune Your Trees Now!

Every good day from now until the blossoms are out, if necessary, should be utilized in pruning fruit trees. Demonstrations have shown that the thinning out of surplus twigs and small branches will both increase the quantity and improve the quality of the fruit borne. The removal of heavy branches except in cases of emergency is not recommended. The best practice is the elimination of crowded wood generally throughout the tree rather than heavy cutting at single points, so that all parts of the tree shall receive equal Prune lightly and annually for best

Expert commercial orchardists already know exactly what to do, but there are probably a few general farmers who have not made a complete study of this problem that may get a word or two along the line of orchard work that will not be amiss.

At any rate, we hope so.

Nothing detracts more from the appearance of a country home, than to see an old orchard that has been the home of wood peckers, scab, moths, and all the other signs of sad neglect. -The Maryland Farmer.

There is distinct evidence of an approaching break in shoe and leather prices. The industry has been concerning itself for some time with occasional suggestions that the "peak' in prices had been reached, and this despite assertions that shoe prices would go soaring by next autumn, but today manufacturers and dealers are not only saying that a reduction is very likely to come, but they are conducting their business upon that preTHE RACING BILLS.

One to Prohibit Entirely, the other to Regulate.

We are of the opinion that racing in Maryland, with the gambling feat-ures attached, can hardly be "regulat-ed," to the extent that the evils attending racing will be appreciably lessened; and that the safest and best thing to do is pass the bill prohibitthing to do is pass the bill prolification racing entirely. About the best that can be said, for the bill to regulate, is, that it is better than the present law, but it is nevertheless a revenue producer at too great a cost.

The race-track people are of course for regulation, rather than no racing, but would like to see both bills killed, and are playing all the politics they know, in their own interests; and this will keep on as long as there is a racing law of any kind on the statute books. The bill for "regulacontains a referendum provision but it does not seem to us that this is necessary, for a question of this kind, and that the legislature will do a vastly more creditable thing by passing the bill abolishing racing, than by passing the compromise.

Some Main Causes of Fires.

State Fire Marshal W. J. Leonard, of Ohio, reports a number of unusual and fatal fires involving pyroxylin plastic that have occurred recently in his State. This substance is known commercially as celluloid, viscoloid, Parisian Ivory, etc. In one instance a little girl's celluloid-headed doll ignited from a lamp she was carry-The child was in the attic of her home at the time and the fire that followed destroyed the entire house. In another case, in which a girl was killed, a fan was ignited by being brought too close to an open fire. On still another occasion, a celluloid comb in a woman's hair caught fire and burned her frightfully about the head. A knitting needle dropped down a hot air register also caused a

Over 250 people were burned to death in Ohio during 1919, and over 400 were injured by fire. Of the dead, 74 were babies or children and 19 were aged people. In over 95% of the casualties carelessness figured in the citation. the situation. The main causes of the tragedies that occurred in homes were open, unscreened fires; gasolene, kerosene and oils; bonfires and playing with fire and matches.

Automobilsts should take no chances with fire when having their gasolene tanks filled. State Fire Marshal A. C. Barber, of Oregon, tells of an instance where a bystander struck a match to light a cigar near an automobile that was taking on fuel in the open air. The gasolene fumes were ignited by the match (although it was 4 feet distant), exploded, burned several people badly and caused considerable property damage.

Arbor Day, April 9th.

Friday, April 9th., has been designated by proclamation of the Governor as Arbor Day. On this day we are asked to plant trees around the home, on the school grounds, and along the highways. This year, the day is to have a special significance in the planting of memorial trees for those who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war. The State Board of Education is urging that celebration of the day by all public schools and suggesting the planting of memorial trees. The State Board of Forestry, Baltimore, Maryland, will supply the trees from the State Forest Nursery at cost of growing them, and give advice as to kinds to use and method of planting.

The importance of Arbor Day is emphasized by the growing scarcity of timber and high prices of lumber. We must be "tree growers" if we are to be "tree users." And above all is the thought that in planting trees we are planting for posterity-we are doing an unselfish act that will make the home surroundings, the school grounds, or the highways more beautiful for those who come after us. Arrangements should be made well in advance of Arbor Day in order to have the trees ready, the place for planting selected, the holes dug, and rich soil for filling in about the roots provided. This Arbor Day should be one of lasting memory by planting trees that shall be in fact living monuments for the planters as well as those for whom they are planted.

Daylight Saving Bill Introduced.

The "daylight saving" illusion will not down. It is now before the Maryland legislature in a bill to advance the time in the State one hour from 2 A. M. from the last Sunday in April until 2 A. M. of the last Sunday in September, each year. The old "State's rights" doctrine seems to be coming to the front. Notwithstand-National legislation, the States feel free to try their own will, as witness the pending legislation against National prohibition and the Volstead law. Next, we will have States voting on the League of Nations and Peace treaty question.

The E. R. Haffelfinger Wall Paper Factory, at Hanover, Pa., was destroyed by fire, Wednesday afternoon and the loss is estimated at $500,000. More than a million and a half rolls of paper went up in flames. Fifteen families living in houses adjacent to the factory were driven to the streets in fear that their homes would be destroyed. The fire started in the basement of the building, but its origin is unknown. A factory on the same site was destroyed by fire in 1916.

STATE ROADS DAMAGED BY WINTER

Fears Expressed That Many Roads Will Need a Complete Rebuilding.

State Roads Commissioner Zouck is handing out many disquieting fears of such traffic. as to what may be the condition of many of our state roads when the frost come out, and couples them a system of fine roads, but unfortunith the further information that nate for the reason that it did not not attend to the first state to build up a system of fine roads, but unfortunity the further information that the first state to build up a system of fine roads, but unfortunity the further information that the first state to build up a system of fine roads, but unfortunity the further information that the strain of such traffic. for the uses to which they are being subjected, and that they can not stand up under strain. The argument was that once these roads were built, they were built "for good," were built, they were built "for good," and that in the end they would be cheaper than keeping up dirt roads. So, if we are to wake up, after this trying winter, and find that we already have on hand a lot of badly damaged roads, the awakening will be very startling, to put it mildly; and especially to be told, now, that the roads were only intended for moderate hauling and travel, not to stand may be unduly fearful of what will making a track every other vehicle appear with the coming of Spring; on the road followed. This has causmisfortune that our legislature. have adjourned before exact conditions are known. Mr. Zouck says:
"The snows and the sleet storms of the last few weeks have contributed largely to what I believe will be a general breakdown of our roads. "The chief contributing cause, as I see it, is the heavy truck traffic which most of our roads have not been built anticipate the type of automobiles for the uses to which they are being which was destined to be built in after vears.

'When our roads were built they were planned to accommodate the weight of a six-horse team fully loaded and light passenger-carrying autoing more millions for the same pur- ed and light passenger-carrying autopose, the whole situation is decidedly mobiles. There were no automobile worth taking proper measures to care trucks at that time. When they were built to withstand the weight of approximately four tons it was not ex-Originally, it was never intended that load would be run over them. These country roads should rival the railroads for freight carrying, nor even for high-speed travel; nor was it expected that these roads, once built the roads of the last four port weights of from 7 to 10 tons and the wear caused by these monsters speeding over them has been terrific-"To add to this trucks have recently found the advantage of placing a heavy chain here and there around the rear wheels to grip into snow and ice. The action of these chains is the same as striking the roads a 10-ton blow every few inches, and it is doubtful if any road can be built to withstand this terrific wear for any length of time.

"Then, too, the recent heavy snows which made the roads impassable to light cars offered only slight resist-ance to these trucks. The result was

"These bad places are now being held together by the frost but when the thaw releases this resistance, only one thing can happen, and I fear greatly that many of Maryland's good roads will no longer be good. It will mean an extensive repair job, but what is more serious, I am afraid is now constant over every good road it portends the necessity of rebuild-in the state. And the situation re- ing all the roads laid previous to a calls the fact that Maryland roads year or two ago."

PRISONERS ESCAPE JAIL.

Deputy Sheriff Byers Knocked Down With Iron Bar.

Two negroes, Jesse and Raymond Myers, in jail at Westminster, on the charge of stealing chickens, made a sensational get-away, on Saturday night, after knocking the Deputy William D. Byers, unconscious with an iron bar. The negroes have not been recaptured, and there is no trace evening, the two prisoners, who had been allowed the privilege of the corridor, were engaged in this occupation, and asked the Deputy for some cleansing material. He was accommodating and went for it. On his return, he locked the door leading to the front of the jail, behind him, and went to the cell of one of the men. As he passed into the cell, the other prisoner who had climbed on top of the steel cage, reached over the edge and struck the jailer a powerful blow with an iron bar, which had been wrenched from the window in the bath room. Deputy Byers fell unconscious and the two negroes quickly took his keys from his pocket and unlocked the side door of the jail and were soon in full flight.

Deputy Byers does not know exacty how long he lay on the floor, but when he recovered he gave the alarm. He then discovered that in some way he had managed to push shut the door through which the negroes had escaped and this locking automatically, prevented two other prisoners from making their escape. Bloom was on his way to Hanover, for a prisoner when the escape was Finding the roads blocked with snow, he turned back and arrived in time to join in the hunt for the negroes. They were traced for some distance, one passing around Westminster to the North and the other to the South.

Hog Cholera in the County.

A number of farmers have lost hogs this Spring. The pigs go off their feed, down behind, linger along for a week or so and die or finally recover to be of no use except as a spreader of the disease. It is impossible to be sure it is Hog Cholera until a postmortem is held.

A competent veterinarian should be called at once. Remove the well hogs from the sick onec to a pen that has been cleaned anl disinfected. Tie up all dogs. Keep visitors out of your hog pen. The Agricultural Advisory Council offers a number of prizes to the boys who will take up one or more of the Boy Club projects; one acre of field corn, one acre of sweet corn, 1/8 acre of potatoes, a pure bred sow pig, a fat pig, three settings of pure bred poultry. Every live farm boy or town boy for that matter ought to take up one of these projects. All the boy is required to do is to keep a record of the time of labor and horse, the cost of fertilizer and seed, everything connected with the project. This is kept in a little book furnished by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Maryland State College. You keep what you raise to feed or sell.

Drop a card to the County Agent for information. A trio of Pure Bred Rhode Island Reds, and a trio of pure Anconas have been offered as prizes to boys in poultry.

INDEPENDENT PROGRESSIVE. Mr. Hoover so States the Name of His Political Color

Herbert Hoover, in response to a California effort to make him President, has made a reply, of which the following sentences are the important features:

"First, I am an Independent Progressive in the issues before us to-day. I think that at this time the issues before the country transcend partisanship. It is well known that I was a Progressive Republican before the war, and, I think rightly, a nonpartisan during my war service. I still object as much to the reactionary group in the Republican party as I do to the radical group in the Democratic party.

"Second, I am not seeking public office and, consulting my own personal inclinations, I do not want public office. I cannot prevent any citizen or group of citizens from agitating that I should take public office, but I cannot conscientiously participate in any organization to that end.

"I belong to a group which thinks that the American people should select their own officials at their own initiative and volition, and that resents the manufacture of officials by machine methods. I thoroughly believe that I, like any other citizen, should always be ready for service when really called upon, but to go out and try to persuade the public to call me is opposed to my every instinct.

Third, I hope to have the affection of my countrymen, but my ambition is to remain a common citizen, ready to engage in team play with any organization and leadership that has for its objective the consummation and maintenance of great issues in the forms that I believe are to the public interest and benefit. I, of course, believe in party organization, but it must be for the promotion of issues, not of men.

"Finally, I am not so ignorant as not to realize perfectly well that such a course does not lead to nomination to the presidency, but I would not be myself if I started out on a path of self-seeking to obtain any office."

IMPORTANT MEASURES STILL TO BE ACTED UPON.

Daylight Saving, Racing, and Liquor Bills Hanging Fire.

The situation over the racing bills, is mixed, with both sides working hard. There are reports, apparently well authenticated, that the "referendum" plan-which would represent dodging the direct responsibilitymay be agreed upon. The race-track interests do not want this, as it would almost surely mean the eventual wiping out of racing; but, the anti-race track interests want a plain knockout, without a referendum delay.

Farmers and others are deeply interested in a bill before the legislature which would establish a "day-light saving" law for the state, by setting the clocks ahead one hour from April to October, each year. It is essentially a "made in Baltimore" proposition, and is believed to have no chance of becoming a law; but it might be well for the "folks back" home" to write a few letters-providing they oppose such a law, and we think most of them do-

A resolution was introduced in the Senate, on Monday, requesting Congress to amend the Volstead act so as to permit the manufacture and sale of 3½% alcohol beverages, alleging that the act is too drastic.

Senator Snader's bill to abolish the tax on mortgages in Carroll and Montgomery counties, was referred to the Finance Committee. Bills were presented, this week, by Senator Snader, "to give the Commissioners of Taneytown the power to make assessments for public improvements." and "to authorize the sale of the Town Hall property in Union Bridge." Union Bridge.'

A Republican organization measure was brought to Annapolis, on Tuesday, by Chairman Galen S. Tait, concerning contests over the elections for Governor, and was introduced by the Republican floor leaders, Speicher in the Senate and Simmons in the House. It is in the form of a constitutional amendment which would take from the House of Delegates the right to pass upon the election of Governor and vest that power in one or more judges of the Court of Appeals, as may be fixed by subsequent general

A lively debate followed the sub-mission of an unfavorable report by the Senate Committee on Roads and Highways on Senator Metzerott's bill changing the law which provides fur-ther taxing of property owners ben-efited by the building of roads. Under existing law the abutting owner is taxed 10% of the cost in proportion to the ground owned. Senator Metzerott's bill sought to compel the owner of property contiguous and adjacent to the improved road, who also benefited, pay a share. Fearing that this would cause trouble among the farmers, the committee turned down

Senator Norris' bill amending the Constitution so that members of the General Assembly may receive proper renumeration was reported back by the committee with amendments which make material changes. Instead of a flat salary of $1,000 for the session the committee proposes to give members $5 a day when the legislature is actually in session and an annual salary of $300 during the term for which they have been elected. This in addition to mileage. Members of the House would therefore receive $600 in addition to the pay they get on days they meet, and Senators would get $300 each year for four years. When called in extra session, the pay is to be $10 per day, for 30 days. A bill has been introduced in the House against rent profiteering, which provides that no rents shall be collectible that are not "reasonable and equitable."

By a vote of 51 to 49 the House, on Thursday night, adopted the amendments to the Burke race track bill. The question of betting at race tracks or no betting, will be submitted to a popular vote at the election in November. Before the roll-call was announced, Messrs. Given, Austin and four other members changed their votes. The object of this move was to provide for a reconsideration of the vote by which the amendments were adopted. Hence the bill is not vet disposed of. If there is no change in the vote, the bill, having gone to the third reading file with amendments, will be passed and will be sent to the Senate. The vote was taken at 10:20 o'clock, and came after an afternoon and evening devoted to discussion of the bill.

The Hotel Chamberlain, at Old Point Comfort, Va., was destroyed by fire, late last Sunday. The property was valued at $2,000,000, and is said to have had about 200 guests at the time of the fire. The old Tariff question is having a hard time of it getting back on the stage, but, it will "get there," eventually, when the real settling down to normal and sensible business and prices commences to function. This country is not doing real business just now-it is buying and selling, getting and spending, without any business sense about it.

Some day, we fear we will miss giving something important the attention it ought to have. We receive so many "official" looking letters from the various governmental departments-chiefly war, Navy and treasury—that go into the waste basket as unusuable, and it has become a habit to "chuck" such letters without opening them. We even get more than we can use the blank side of, for "copy paper. The paper waste for such letters must be tremendous, not to count the cost of preparation and transporting in the

The country is not suffering so much from lack of education, as Has Had Stomach Trouble for Seven lack of fear of sin and its consequences. There is a sort of hardshelled paganism growing in the hearts of the people, even among those churchmen, and who bear the label of "good and regular standing."

As long as men in business, and have a brand of moral ethics for their actions, that is different in all respects from the teaching of Christ, it must mean that their own faith and belief in the teachings of Christ is very weak and easily moulded. What men need is heart regeneration.

A Hard Problem.

Somehow, the movement for demanding a "bonus," or service pension, for our participants in the European war, especially coming at this time when the country is overwhelmed with debt, does not strike responsive sentiment very strongly. There is nothing to be said against the justice of the demand, if we weigh such service in the scales with dollars, for nobody is so unjust as to argue that our boys were paid-or one-fourth paid-for their time or

There are no doubt many thousands of cases in which a bonus, or back pay, or whatever it may be termed, is actually needed. Many of the boys lost jobs and opportunities that they have not been able to get back, and such cases should not be left suffer, as they can not live on glory and sentiment; and this conclusion is all the more fair when we consider how many other thousands have profited so immensely because of the pitifully under-paid service of the soldier boys.

If such a settlement could be arrived at, that war profits would be taken away from the profiteers, and given to the boys who helped them into the profit, there would be an easy side worth considering, not only by sentimentalists but by the proposed beneficiaries themselves.

We do not know the solution to the problem. It is a most difficult one, and must be embarrassing to the boys who are most concerned, as well as to the legislators of the country who are disposed to do just the right thing. The whole matter is only another illustration that war is what Sherman said it was.

Is the Break Coming?

Indications are increasing that the high-water-mark of prices has about been reached, which means that the people are gradually making use of their powers of resistance. In the lumber industry, for instance, buying has ceased to the extent that the lumber holding corporations are reported to have proposed to cut prices from $10.00 to $20.00 per 1000 feet, in order to stimulate building. This is said to have resulted from reports that many large building projects are being abandoned due to high costs.

There are also indications that stocking up," and "buying ahead" in the former spirit, and that this means accumulating stocks at the mills. Importations from Europe, in many lines, are also increasing. Local "boycotts" of expensive merchandise, a whole, conditions seem favorable to a turn in the scale of prices.

The thing that is most feared, is, will come as a flood, and that it will mean loss of confidence, and a panic. When the markets show a weakness, stock-up for fear that the "groundstocks on hand.

The situation therefore is, that situation is a big factor to consider. This conclusion is theoretically High wages can not easily be replaced

-Advertisement Public Opinion Ends a Strike.

Once more has the power of public opinion in a democracy been strikingly illustrated. The railroad strike in "Ignorance" is hardly the right France threatened to paralyze all inword, unless it be assumed that if a dustry and cause grave suffering to man be fully intelligent, he will obey the inhabitants of Paris and other Divine laws, and realize the penalties cities. Leaders of organized labor for disobedience. As long as men were stampeded by extremists into feel that they can act as infallible approving the strike, though it origjudges of the propriety of their acts inated in a petty grievance of one one with another, it is quite logical suspended railroad worker who had that they will extend the limit of such | wilfully disobeyed a proper regulaa feeling whenever it suits their tion. The national government was fancy. Apparently, nothing less than defied by the hotheads in the movethe experience of Paul on his way to ment and it was only said that Pre-Damascus, will change the course of mier Millerand, himself a Socialist, railroad employes and conscript their services under the military law.

Millerand did not have to take that drastic step. The strike collapsed. Public opinion condemned it with extraordinary unanimity. Thousands of engineers, students and others offered their services to the government. The demand of the strike leaders for "nationalization" of the railroads was pronounced gratuitous and irrelevant. The provocative and revolutionary character of the movement was promptly denounced by Millerand.

France is not to be intimidated by a small group of direct action advocates. It is attached to the present social order. The French people discerned a connection between threats of proletarian revolution and a polit-properly repay.

But second thought must inevitably If these services cannot be paid for in money, why attempt it? These men who risked their lives for their country in war have done a fine thing, a superb thing. Why tarnish it by commercializing their patriot-

A bonus scheme that grants a flat sum to every man who wore the uniform would be accompanied by the grossest discriminations. The man who never heard a gun fired would get as much as the man who went over the top. The desk man would get the same as the fighting soldier. man who stayed at home as much as the man who went overseas. Many of WM. T. SMITH, Auct. 3-5man who stayed at home as much as the discharged soldiers and sailors received substantial aid from the Red Cross and other organizations in reestablishing themselves in civilian life; they would receive as much as their fellows who dug down into their own pockets or depleted their bank accounts to re-establish themselves.

All but a small proportion of the demobilized men are now re-established in civilian life, most of them in better positions than they had at the time they went away. A large proportion do not need the bonus; they will get the same as those who do.

The right-minded man does hate to quibble about the money end of this proposition. If the men who fought other lines, is not being pursued with any event the legislators who propose quibble about the money end of this proposition. If the men who fought to save the country were in dire need of financial aid, the country should grant it, no matter if it took the last cent in the national treasury. But no such dire need has been shown. In any event the legislators who propose to grant any sums for this purpose must arrange for the payment. They must say where the money is to come from.

The measure proposed in the National Congress—if the bonus is given to all who served—will require anywhere from $2,000,000,000. The orly sensible way to meet this obligation, if it is assumed, will be by direct taxation. The national bonus, if raised through the income tax, will mean an increase of more than $600 on the average income tax-payer's bill. The State bonus will mean an increase of something more than 60 cents on the tax rate. If inheritance or other indirect taxes are utilized it will mean the same thing in the end, for the sums thereby raised could be used for the other expenses of the Government.

If the money is raised by bond issues it would add to the existing inflation, thereby increase the cost of living and increase the burden of taxation for many years to come. It would do more than this. Government the country should grant it, no matter if it took the last cent in the national laid, the country should grant it, no matter if it took the last cent in the national trained con, carrying her 4th calf, will be fersh in der grow, carrying her 3rd calf, will be burham cow, carrying her 3rd calf, will be bresh in the Fall; on the fresh in owe, carrying her 3rd calf, will be burham cow, carrying her 3rd calf, will be are reported to be having their effect; therefore, taking the outlook as proposed in the Maryland Legislature that when the turn actually comes, it | ed through the income tax, will mean buyers are apt to wait for further | tax rate. Another "Old Times" Letter.

or the Record.) Well I suppose that I will have to write another letter for the Record, as I have been getting letters from quite a number of people who have read the previous ones, asking me to write some more. I am most afraid that I will run out of material before long; however, I think that I will be able to write a few yet, at any rate.

As I begin to write, my memory goes back to old Pine Hill school house, where I first attended a Sunday school, conducted by Chas. Hess, Wm. Clutz, Wm. Favorite, assisted by some others whom I have forgot-Among the number was Samuel Bricker, who has passed on to his reward a number of years ago. He led the singing. "Bringing in the the singing. "Bringing in the Sheaves" is the one song that I can remember. I must say that it wasn't only what they did in connection with the school, but it was the example that their lives showed forth at all times, as my memory runs back as a golden cord to the lives of these men, as well as others, such as Wilson Fleagle, John Bushey, John McKellip, Dr. Birnie, and a great many others, there comes to me a feeling of great thanksgiving and blessing.

Then there was that wonderful then there was that wonderful event, along late in the summer, "celebration day." They didn't call them "pic-nics" those days. I could hardly wait for the day to arrive. Then we would all gather in the growning of the school bayes and wait morning at the school house and wait very impatiently the coming of that wonderful Copperville (later Taneytown) Band. Seems to me that I can almost see and hear them coming down the hill to the old school house yet, resplendent in their new uniforms, riding in the old Band wagon. We boys used to think that the greathonor in the world was to be a Band-fellow. But, in after years, as a member of the (near famous) Har-ney Cornet Band, I found that the honor wasn't quite so great as I had thought. However, there was considerable fun connected with the country Band of those days.

I remember some of the bandmen at that time were Curt Baker, Chas. and Eddie Favorite, Ol Hiner, J. N. O. Smith, I think, then later on our friend John J. Reid. John's father was village blacksmith at Bridgeport.

I notice Geo. W. Motter is still buying butter and eggs, etc. He was our market man when I was only knee high to a duck, as they used to say, I remember hearing my mother say: "Pon my word, it don't pay for the trouble of carrying the eggs across two fields and only get 8c per doz.' need not say that was quite awhile

I wonder what has become of Ab. Hess. He used to drive extra; also if Mr. Motter still has pink cheeks. same as he had in those days? Mother always spoke well of him and I am real glad to know that he is alive and still in the same kind of business. The last I heard of him I think he was County Sheriff.

It seems as I write of the different one's of days goneby, that a golden one's of days goneby, that a golden cord comes down through the years, bringing great blessings to me as I pass from the memory of one to that of another. Oh! the good we all may do, while the days are going by. As the Master has said "no man liveth unto himself."

Information received from an authoritative source warrants the announcement at this time that the longcherished ambition of the Western Maryland Railway to through route between Baltimore, its home terminus, and some port on the Great Lakes is on the eve of realization and that Pittsburgh will be the pivotal center of the projected system. Nor is it probable that the plans to that end now in the formative stage will be aborted, as were those previously made and which were so near culmination when the war intervened.

Then it was proposed to build a line across the country from the road's western terminus at Connellsville to a connection with the Wheeling and Lake Erie, either direct at Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hobo Now Scorns the Breadline Survey Made by Interchurch World Movement Shows That Even the Cheap Lodging House Is Going Out of Business.

The old "bread line" is gone from has been lifted from his old plane by huddled queues of men no longer wait by the Interchurch World Movement to be fed. Their passing is a symbol that it may lay the facts before the Protestant Churches of America, of the passing of the hobo.

MINISTERS COST LESS THAN AUTOS

World Survey Figures Reveal How Badly United States Is Paying Its Pastors.

MANY LIVING ON $600 A YEAR.

One of the Aims of Present Protestant Co-operation Is to End Disgrace of Underpaid Preacher-Pensions Also to Be Provided.

What are the chances of a young man who intends to be a lawyer of making $3,000 a year? What are the doctor's chance? What of the minister or the manufacturer?

The lawyer has exactly one chance in five. The doctor's chances are one in seven. It is ten to one against the manufacturer. The modern minister, however, who formerly ranked with the doctor and lawyer as a member of the "learned professions," has fallen hopelessly behind. He is a 100 to 1 shot.

These figures are part of a mass of astonishing facts brought to light by the world survey being made by the Interchurch World Movement and whose sources of information are such that many economists and statisticians are availing themselves of the results. This survey puts America's minister at the bottom of the ladder of the nation's income receivers-and with responsibilities which equal those of any captain of industry.

A worker in a silk mill, a laborer in a rubber plant, a paper maker, a worker in a shoe factory-all are getting higher average wages, the survey shows, than does America's minister, city or country. Nor does the city man receive the luxurious salary that many persons, including many country parsons, believe he does. Not four ministers in a thousand, according to the survey, receive $5,000 a year. In no instance, whatever the denomination, does a majority receive $1,000.

Cotton Pickers Better Off. Are you a Congregationalist? In 2,783 churches the yearly pay to your ministers has been less than $1,000. Are you a Presbyterian? You are then on the less than $1,000 list with 6,415 ministers. In the event that you are a Methodist the charge is that 4,719 pastors are trying to exist on the $20 a week that you pay them. Episcopalians do a little better, yet half of their rectors receive less than the $1,500 a year which government economists regard as the minimum on which a family can be decently maintained.

The initial cost of the cheapest "flivver" on the market is less than $600. but a very good, conscientious pastor. it is shown, can be hired for a year for fied during the war. This permitted that sum.

to fifty or more cotton pickers who individually are paid more for picking cotton than their entire neighborhood pays to the preacher in a year.

One of the aims of the present cooperation of the world's Protestant denominations is to end this disgrace of the underpaid minister. With universities, business houses and municipalities daily taking action to provide for the comfort of their workers, the church is to keep pace with the times, I trade, is cut off from such influences. and to arrange not only for adequate pay for its workers, but to provide pensions for those no longer able to work.

It is to move the public to prevent unfavorable comparison of pastors and puddlers. Until then, as for a puddler swapping jobs with a pastor drawing an "ordinary" salary-never! The lowest salary paid to pastors is lower than any wages paid in the entire steel industry.

NEW WORLD PROGRAM DEVISED BY CHURCHES

By S. EARL TAYLOR.

DR. S. EARL TAYLOR, General Secretary Interchurch World Movement.

If Christ, on the day He was born, had started on a tour to preach in every village in India, He would still have 30,000 more to visit.

We now believe we have found a way by which the leaders of the Protestant churches can sit around a common table and have the Christian program of the entire world laid before them. By means of the Interchurch World Movement we can see where the Methodists are, and where the Baptists are. We can see the general outline of their forces, their present status in this great world struggle, and may also have some idea of the unoccupied places, and what may be done by all of us to enter these unoccupied parts of the world field which Christ sent us to occupy.

CHURCHES TO AID LONELY SHEEP SHEARERS OF WEST

The bleat of the sheep on the backbone of the continent calls men to the mountains. On high uplands from the Canadian border to Mexico, in lonely and inaccessible places, one of the most romantic examples of the country's migrant worker—the sheep shearer-plies his trade.

Unheard of though he is to thousands of his fellow workers, it was for him that the immigration regulations of three countries-Canada, the United States and Mexico-were modifreedom of movement to many hun-Ministers in the South are preaching dreds of this strange craft, and the means of employment to thousands in factories and stores.

Yet, for all his importance in the ranks of the nation's great Marching Army of the Employed, what sort of life does this man lead? The migrant fruit packer, or wheat harvester, or farmhand, or lumberman often roams inland through cities and the congested spots of civilization. But the sheep shearer, by the nature of his

Through a survey of the nation's migrant labor now being made by the Interchurch World Movement, it is suggested that for men of this class relief may be afforded through churches in outlaying districts. For social and other purposes these men, with proper co-operation by church bodies, could make use of many of the facilities without which they are doomed to a life of isolation.

DUMB HERO ON CASUALTY LIST

Old Red Cross Army Mule the Only Animal That Was Accorded the Distinction.

Dumb animals fought, bled and died for the United States, writes J. W. Rixey Smith in the Home Sector, and only one lonely army mule, attached to the Twenty-seventh division for duty, was honored with a place on the casualty list.

The ex-soldier's magazine says: "Many men of the Twenty-seventh di-Cross mule who, so far as is known, accounted for the only casualty accredited to our animals in the war. Many a time the old wornout beast faithfully plied his way right up to the front lines with chewing gum and chocolate and cigarettes. Once, in some manner, he went too far, found himself in the thick of the fighting, got himself properly excited and—there are witnesses to attest it-kicked a Boche into oblivion. And the luck that had been with him stuck, for he came safely back to the American lines.

The faithful messenger dogs attached to liaison service to the Seventy-seventh division will always be remembered kindly by their Yankee friends. Will members of Battery B, One Hundred Thirteenth field artillery, ever forget Billy, the little pony prisoner taken from the enemy, which, though cleverly smuggled aboard ship, they were forced just before landing to relinquish and see put en route for France again? Certainly no one who was ever at St. Pierre des Corps has forgotten Miss Jenny Hohenzollern, the fastidious pet monkey who, among other things, ate a box of C. It is reported that Sir Francis Webster is a wealthy manufacturer of hemp goods in Scotland and the owner of a stock range in Texas on which thousands of cattle range, clad, during the winter at least, in garments other than their own hide and hair.

Sir Francis' cows, it appears, wear suits of hemp cloth made in his own factory which protect them from cold to tuberculosis and increase their daily yield of milk.

Each cow, it is said, has two suits a week. They are not elaborate affairs, by any means-simply overall blankets that fit loosely. There are 1,000 cows in his dairy farm and they use 2,000 hemp blankets a week.

The Price Question

Answered at

Just now the uppermost question in everybody's mind is, will prices be higher this Spring? We will answer it for you. All wholesale prices have gone up; any store that tells you otherwise is either kidding you or giving you merchandise of inferior quality. Personally, we are not much for kidding and do not sell INFERIOR MER-CHANDISE. YOUR INTERESTS ARE PROTECTED HERE, our old prices WILL REMAIN THE SAME as long as the goods last, and the new prices on new goods will have the SMALLEST POSSIBLE ADVANCES-NOT MUCH, just enough to KEEP COUNTERFEITS out of our stock-just enough to enable us to stick to OUR POLICY

OF SELLING MERCHANDISE OF THE GITT STANDARD OF RELIABLE QUALI-TY-just enough to keep GITT'S RELIABLE QUALITY IN THE SADDLE-just enough to protect OUR PATRONS FROM FALSE ECONOMY OF SPENDING GOOD MONEY FOR UNRELIABLE MERCHANDISE—BUT NOT ENOUGH IN ANY IN-

The next two lessons are from the Revelation, the book which contains Christ's last message to man. The author is John the Apostle, the son of Zebedee. The book was written from Patmos, a small rocky island in the Aegean sea, about 96 A. D. 1. The Introduction (vv. 1-3).

1. The title of the book (v. 1)-"The Revelation (Unveiling) of Jesus Christ." This does not mean the making known to Jesus Christ some secret, but the unveiling of his person. The revelation of Jesus Christ, then, refers to his personal appearing in glory to judge the world and establish his kingdom. The word Apocalypse, translated Revelation, signifies, according to New Testament usage, the unveiling of a person (II Thess. 1:6-10; I Peter 1:7). The theme of the book is Christ's second coming, his personal, visible appearance in glory (vv. 1, 7, 10).

2. To whom made known (vv. 1, 2). To his servant, John, to show unto Jesus' servants things which must shortly come to pass.

3. Benediction for those who read, hear, and keep the sayings of the book (v. 3).

II. The Salutation (vv. 4-8). Grace and Peace.

1. To whom (v. 4). The seven churches in Asia. These were historical churches then existing in Asia

2. From whom (v. 4). (1) From him which was, is, and is to come; (2) from the seven spirits which are before the throne (v. 4). By the seven spirits is meant the Holy Spirit in his sevenfold plenitude.

III. The Vision of Glory (vv. 9-18). 1. The sevenfold lamp-stands (v. 12). These lamp-stands, or candlesticks, are the seven churches (v. 20). The churches are presented under this figure because they are the light-holders in this time of the world's darkness.

2. The Son of Man in the midst of the lamp-stands (vv. 13-18). The vision shows us Christ in the midst of the churches, indicating that the church only gives forth light when Christ is made the central figure.

(1) Clothed with a garment down to the foot (v. 13). This is a robe of royalty as well as of the priest (see Isa. 22:21), and signifies his right to judge and to rule, as well as to offer sacrifice.

(2) Head and hair white as wool (v. 14; cf. Dan. 7:19, 20). This has a twofold significance, purity and eter-

(3) Eyes a flame of fire (v. 14). This suggests his infallible knowledge: he is able to see through and through, even detecting hidden thoughts.

(4) Feet like burnished brass (v. 15), indicating that as Judge and King he comes with irresistible power.

(5) His voice as the sound of many waters (v. 15). This suggests that all excuses of man will be swept aside by his resistless Word.

(6) Seven stars in his right hand (v. According to verse 20, stars means the angels or messengers of the churches to comfort John in his lonely exile. The stars are in his right hand, indicating the high honor given to the minister; he lies in the right hand of Jesus Christ, hears his message and then speaks it out.

(7) Out of his mouth went a sharp two-edged sword (v. 16). Observe that this is not a hand sword, but a mouth sword-"The word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him" (John 12:48); "The word of God is sharper than a two-edged sword" (Heb. 4:12). The sword has two edges, condemning the evil and approving the good.

(8) His countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength (v. 16). The effect of sunshine is healthful and joyous to some things, while it is death and hardening to others. The Gospel message converts some and hardens

IV. The Command to Write and the Interpretation of the Vision (vv. 19,

In this command are indicated the divisions of the book:

Giving Comfort.

Giving comfort under affliction requires that penetration into the human mind, joined to that experience which knows how to soothe, how to reason, and how to ridicule, taking the utmost care not to apply those arts improperly.-Fielding.

Good Weather.

Sunshine is delicious, rain is refreshing, wind braces up, snow is exhilarating; there is really no such thing as bad weather—only different kinds of good weather.-John Ruskin.

March 14 Patience and Its Rewards 1 Corinthians 13:4-7

The Scripture lesson takes us to the great classic on Christian love found in 1 Corinthians 13. Patience is so closely akin to love that the two words could be often used interchangeably without doing violence to the truth or sentiment expressed. Verse 4 is an illustration—"Patience suffereth long and is kind." What better description of this virtue could be found?

The kind of patience here mentioned is rare. It is the product, not of fall-Is rare. It is the product, not of fallen human nature, but of the divine Spirit dwelling within human hearts. This is not the "grin and bear it" kind of attitude which passes for patience in the world's judgment, but rather that quality which the apostle has in mind when he wrote of "patience and long-suffering with joyfulness" (Col. 1:11). For this kind, we must, indeed, be "strengthened with all might according to his power." according to his power."

That which follows in the remaining verses is equally true of patience, as of love. Patience does not behave itself unseemly, because it seeks not its own, is not provoked when the plaudits of the world are withheld, but persistently goes on its way, bearing, believing, hoping and enduring.

Patience like love is the product of faith. Faith is the root of which love and patience are the fruit. As the root lays hold of unseen forces, so does faith lay hold of the unseen resources of the redeeming Christ, the fruit of which is seen in Galatians

The rewards of patience are apparent in achievement and character. The world's progress in knowledge and invention is traceable to this quality of patience. Stevenson and the loco-motive; Morse and the telegraph; Bell and the telephone; Edison and the phonograph; Marconi and wireless telegraphy; all these speak of a patient endurance with beneficial and lasting results, both to the inventors and the world at large.

The rewards of patience in the realm of character are just as pro-nounced. "Let patience have her per-fect work," says the apostle, "that ye may be perfect and entire, lacking nothing." In other words the per-fect character is the result and the reward of the development of patience. Refining influences are set in operation by a patient striving and waiting to reach the goal of our endeavors, or to achieve some great and worthy end set before us.

Both in the revelation through nature and through His Word, God calls us to patience and its rewards. Take for example the words of James 5:7, 8—"Be patient therefore breth-ren, unto the coming of the Lord Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain. Be ye also patient; establish your hearts; for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh." The world is full of injustice and the consequent suffering by the helpless makes us indignant and we say "Does God care?" Yes; God cares and bids us patiently wait the devel-opment of His plan so that His will may be wrought out in our development through patient waiting, and ultimately His glory be manifested in the earth. "For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise." (Heb. 10:36.)

"I did," replied the artist; "don't you see my name at the bottom?" "Oh, is that your name? I thought that was part of the fence!"

Or Saw a Pitcher Winding Up. "Yes, I was on the battleship when she cleared for action and I assure you it is the most thrilling and impressive moment you can conceive."

"Huh! I guess you never stood by when a golf club champion was getting ready to drive."

Early Advantages.

"Some of our greatest men studied by the light of the pine knot."

"Maybe they were lucky at that," commented Senator Sorghum, "in not havin' to worry with any fuel administration over the prospects for heat and illumination."

"Don't worry," rejoined the tailor. "After you have worn these a week or least a year old,"

TANEYTOWN LOCAL COLUMN

Brief Items of Local News of Special Interest to Our Home Readers.

Wilbur Fair has accepted a position in New Oxford, Pa., with the Fri-

Mrs. John Baker was operated on for appendicitis, at Frederick hospital, this week.

George W. Lemmon and family, and Roy Baker and family, moved to town, this week.

On account of the furnace being out of commission in the Firemen's building, the public library will not be open this week.

John E. Delaplane, of Mt. Union, was in town, on Thursday. He has been housed up most of the winter with rheumatism.

The public sales in this section continue to command good prices, which is a guarantee that they will so continue throughout the season.

Dr. Curtis Basehoar and wife, of Carlisle, Pa., visited the Dr's sisters, Mrs. D. W. Garner, Mrs. C. M. Benner and Mrs. D. M. Mehring, this

Miss Emily J. Chenowith was taken to Mercy Hospital, Baltimore last week, for a delicate operation on the middle ear. She is reported to be doing well.

Dr. Richard McSherry, of Littlestown, known to some in this section, died from paralysis, on Wednesday, in his 63rd year. He had been ill for about two years.

A binder was sold at R. M. Kesselring's sale, on Wednesday, for $80.00, that he bought at a sale about 16 years ago for $80.00. The machine was still in excellent condition, as it had been well taken care of.

It is quite noticeable that the severity of the winter has done great damage to concrete sidewalks and curbs. Concrete work that comes through this winter, is pretty sure to "stay put" all other winters to come.

Why not have a "community sale" in Taneytown, some time in April? Nearly every householder in town and district likely has a few articles for sale, but not enough for a sale alone. Who will be enterprising enough to do the trick?

Mrs. Margaret Reindollar, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Douglass, and Mr. and Mrs. Case, of Baltimore, tested the virtues of an auto ride to Taneytown last Sunday afternoon. They found this end of the trip, from Westminster, the worst of it, but made the run in about an hour and a half.

As the State-wide bill for the removal of railroad grade crossings in incorporated towns, is impracticable for Taneytown, and likely for most other towns, the only thing to do is for Taneytown to get back of a local law requiring the maintenance of safety gates here.

The Sykesville Herald says: "Dr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Hess, near Woodbine, were married fifty years, on Monday of this week, but owing to inclement weather they will not celebrate the event until a little later. A large circle of friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

The bill presented in the Senate, this week, by Senator Snader, authorizing the Commissioners of Taneytown "to make assessments for public improvements" is understood to mean the continuance of present authority, with some extension of it. There is no referendum connected! with the bill.

"I enclose a money order for $1.50 to renew my paper for another year, for I like to read the Record. Well, we are passing through a very long winter. We have had sleighing for over 3 months, and about 2 feet of snow on the ground yet; temperature from zero to 30 below, and lots of sickness in our city.-Wm. L. Mac-Ginnis, Sr., Minneapolis, Minn."

The lamblikeness of the weather of the first three days of March, changed to an old buck, if not a really lion, on Thursday and Friday, giving us first a deluge and the makings of a flood, then turning to another big dose of snow and a genuine blizzard. On Saturday, the rural carriers, bread wagons, and the public generally, were prevented from having their usual freedom, on account of drifts. At this time, the lamb is again on duty.

Barked All Night.

The most embarrassing moment of my life happened the other day when I said to the woman down stairs: "What kind of a dog have you got? I heard him barking all night long." She replied: "I have no dog; my little boy has the croup."-Exchange.

How an Apostle of "Cheap Living" Handled the Situation.

Last Sunday's Baltimore Sun contained the following news dispatch from Omaha, Neb., telling of how a miser handled the high cost of living, and the conclusion of his plan.

A J. Seaman, worth from $250,000 to $500,000, died because he would not increase his budget of expenditures of 15 cents per day. Before the war Mr. Seaman managed to live very well on $1.05 a week, but he re-fused to increase his expense when prices went up, and in order to remain within the limit he set for himself many years ago he cut down on the amount of food he consumed.

As a result, when his hand became infected and he refused to see a doctor because of the cost, blood poison set in. He left no will. He was 70 vears old.

For years Seaman was called "the apostle of cheap living." He never spent a cent that he could get along without spending. He went to bed at dark in order to save a light bill. at dark in order to save a light bill.

He beat the Coal Trust by staying in bed on cold days. He roomed at a farm house three or four miles out in the country and paid 50 cents a month for the room, in which there was neither heat light nor water.

Some years ago, when he wanted to go to Denver on business, he walked the ortive distance. 600 miles When

A sister, Mrs. Harriet Wolf, of Los Angeles, is said to be in very poor financial circumstances. She probably will inherit his money.

Mr. Seaman learned during the war that tinfoil could be sold. He gather-ed up from the streets and sidewalks $12 worth of the stuff. When his sister wrote him asking for assistance in purchasing an $8 second-hand sewing machine, he sent her the tin-foil, with instructions to sell it and

Bread and milk was his principal diet. Years ago he set his budget at 15 cents a day. He said he could get enough for that money to take care of himself "beautifully." Inveighing against food profiteers was one of his most enjoyable occupations. For hours he would "roast" the profiteers he never tired of it. He never spent a cent on amusement of any kind for Seaman was born in Keokuk, Iowa. After the Civil War he came out to Council Bluffs and fell in love with a girl He was said to have been a "high roller" in those days. Flowers and candy and theatricals and entertainments were nightly affairs. He won the girl. The date for the wedding was at hand. The day before the ceremony was to have been performed the girl suggested that Seaman put his property in her name in order to protect it if anything hap-pened to him. The proposal made pened to him. The proposal made him so angry that he broke the engagement and left the house and never returned.

That was nearly half a century ago. So far as known he hasn't spoken to a woman since. "Fifteen cents is enough for any man to spend in one were among his last words. "I tried it and it worked."

There's a printer in Mexico who has the well remembered Colonel Sellers of "There's Millions in It" fame, looking like a piker if he'll just follow up his idea—his name we will omitbut he is somwhere in Mexico, and writes as follows to a local printer with whom he fought in the famous battle of Paris:

"Dear Sam:—When I was a boy (some years ago) I 'made' the southwest country; and while waiting for a freight train to come my way I wanered out to where the inviting shade of a cactus beckoned for a siesta. My dream was a vision—and when I awoke I was still under its influence, which continued for several hours.

"At the time I was unable to account for it; but later on I made the acquaintance of an old soldier who explained that I had selected for my froom' the shade of the cactus from which mescal is made. It seems that a bug which lives on this plant had dropped on me and had taken a bite The bug and his forbears had tarried around this mescal for so long that their systems were full of the Mexican joy spirit and the bite had inoculated me. This is the prelude; have

"Viewing with alarm the advent of prohibition, some time ago I took up the study of how to beat it—and do it legally. No illicit distilling, no smuggling for me. I spent many nights getting. D. W. Garner, Licensed Real getting. D. W. Garner, Licensed Real 3-12tf gling for me. I spent many nights poring over old chemistry books—but they didn't have what I wanted; they all forced me up against Old Man Law. Then came the light. I remembered the bug of the cactus plant and here I am in Mexico working out souls like yourself. "I have succeeded in isolating the bug of the mescal plant, the bug of the tequila plant, and the bug of the sotol plant. A bite from either one is sufficient to start an Irish republic It is really too violent.

"To get away from this sudden 'war and destruction' quality I have systematically cross-bred these different bugs—sort of concocted a cocktail, as it were, and have produced a species that is safe to keep around the house, "And the beauty of it all is that I am within the law.

"I haven't worked out the commercial end of the scheme as yet; but that will be simple. In a short time I will have a million of these bugs which I have not named as yet. At 10 cents a bite-three bites for two bits and all of them working-think of

"Am sending you in a separate package two of my pedigreed bugs—male and female. Let nature take its course. Don't use them before they have reproduced, for there is only one efficient bite in each bug. They die soon after their mission in life is fulfilled.—Exchange—Somewhere
