

AUTOMOBILE TAG LAWS TO BE TESTED.

Can Last Year's Tags Be Used Un- til New License is Issued?

Frederick, Md., April 7.—A test before a jury in the Circuit Court may be made by State's Attorney Aaron R. Anders to determine if automobiles carrying last year's tags may be used until the arrival of current year markers from the office of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for which application has been made and the fee paid. According to Commissioner E. Austin Baughman no automobile may be used unless equipped with tags in accordance to the law. State's Attorney Anders purposely violated this provision of the statute and has been summoned to appear before Justice of the Peace Alban M. Wood for a hearing next Wednesday. He said today if he is found guilty he will take the case to the Circuit Court and ask for a jury trial.

According to Mr. Anders he made application to the Motor Vehicle Commissioner's office, Baltimore, March 22, for a new title for his automobile. A few days later the check he sent in payment for the fee was returned, canceled. Last Saturday, he notified Sergeant Charles W. Smith, of the State police force, that he intended to use his last year license tags on his new car the next day. He explained that he had waited 10 or 11 days for his new tags and had become tired of the delay.

"If anybody is to be the goat, it may as well be myself," he added. He then gave Sergeant Smith a number by which his automobile could be identified in case of accident and intimated that he was willing to take the consequences of any violation of the law. It is understood that word was sent to Commissioner Baughman of the intention of the State's Attorney to use his last year tags and that instructions were returned to apprehend any one violating the automobile law.

After using his old markers Sunday Mr. Anders was notified by Officer Hartman to appear before Justice Wood that evening, but the case was postponed.

Carroll Co. Poultry Assoc'n

At a meeting of the Carroll County Poultry Association, held Saturday evening, April 2, it was unanimously decided to join forces with the County Farmers' Federation. Upon motion the president was authorized to appoint six delegates, including himself, to represent the association. The following have been named: Thomas W. Kemp and D. F. Shipley, Jr., as officers of the association; Mrs. Chas. W. Williams, representing the commercial egg industry; Ray C. Hook, representing the breeders; George Mather, representing the pigeon industry; Dr. G. Lewis Wetzel representing the fancy.

Arrangements were made to supply setting eggs to the boys and girls of Carroll County. The young poultry raisers must sign an agreement to hatch and rear the chicks under the direction of the County Agent, exhibit a cockerel and two pullets at the county show, and return one pullet to the association in payment for the eggs. Application can be made through the County Agent.

The next meeting of the association will be held Wednesday evening, April 27th, at 8 o'clock, in the County Agent's Office, Westminster. At this meeting plans for the annual show will be discussed. It is absolutely necessary, if a creditable show is to be held this year, that the committee of arrangements have not only the good will of the membership but their substantial aid. It is therefore hoped that there will be a representative gathering of poultry raisers on the evening of April 27.

Attend to Your Policy.

If you have removed your personal property from one locality to another, or even from one house to another in a town be sure to see to it that your Fire Insurance policy is indorsed to apply in the new location. Do not take it for granted that it will, anyway, for it will not.

A policy of insurance is merely a clearly specified article of agreement between a Company and an individual and the location of the property is a very important item of the agreement. Keep all of your part of the agreement, and do not expect the Company insuring you to do all of the keeping for both.

Carroll County Society of Balto.

The annual meeting of the Carroll County Society of Baltimore City, will be held Wednesday night next at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. Officers for the coming year will be elected. A program of unusual interest has been arranged for this meeting. Judge Williams of the Juvenile Court will speak. All Carroll Countians are invited, no matter where they live.

Rev. Stewart Hartman, well known in Carroll county, has been elected pastor of the Fairfield, Cashtown and McKnightstown Reformed churches. Rev. Hartman is now located at Cavetown, Md., and was formerly Superintendent of the Hoffman Orphanage.

NO SWEET CORN THIS YEAR

Neither Packers nor Farmers Eager for Sweet Corn.

The acreage planted to sweet corn is likely to be very small, this year. The canners are well supplied yet with the big pack of last year, and are not eager for much acreage this year, which practically leaves the farmers no option but stick to field corn. We understand that some of the packers have been selling their corn, accepting a big loss now, rather than defer selling and perhaps accept as great a loss later. At any rate, the corn market is in such a demoralized condition that none of the packers expect to do much business in that line, this year. We are not informed as to attitude of A. W. Feiser & Co., our local packers, therefore no part of this article is to be taken as representing this firm, but rather the general situation.

The Carroll County Sweet Corn Growers at a meeting in Westminster on Saturday, decided not to grow any sweet corn this year. It also decided to join the Carroll County Federation.

The following delegates to the federation were named: Lester D. Patterson, president of the association; George R. Sauble, G. H. Bevard, A. P. Frizzell, Jesse P. Weybright and Carroll Raver.

Middleburg Dist. Wants Road.

A delegation of about 50 prominent taxpayers of Middleburg district, Carroll County, with their attorney, Edward O. Weant, presented to the County Commissioners a petition with over 300 signers asking for the construction of a road, five and a half miles long, from Detour to a point on the Keymar road near Taneytown.

Among the signers were many farmers owning land along the road. It is one of the most important thoroughfares in the county, passing through Keyville, near the birthplace of Francis Scott Key, and other points of historic interest. As an argument for the construction of this road the fact was emphasized that Middleburg district, one of the most populous sections of the county, has only one mile of State road.

Another Newspaper Suspend.

The Carlisle Pa. Herald, has suspended publication, after a life of six months, which leaves but one paper, the Sentinel, published in that city. Editor Lee, in announcing the suspension, says:

"The circulation of the paper increased in the past six months from about seven hundred to over three thousand, and every day marked a gain. But the fact remained that now, as always in its history, the Herald itself did not make expenses, to say nothing of profit. Every issue was a loss, and the newspaper depended upon the job department to make up its deficit."

Maryland Methodist Conven.

Newark, N. J., April 6.—The ninety-third annual session of the Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church was opened today in the First Methodist Protestant Church. The 300 delegates were gathered from the Tidewater district of Maryland and Washington. The annual conferences usually take place in either Baltimore or Washington.

The most impressive ceremony today was the memorial service and rollcall led by the Rev. Dr. J. W. Kirk. The delegates rose to their feet and, with bowed heads repeated the words of Dr. Kirk as he prayed for the ministers who have died since the last conference. Dr. Kirk's words were followed by a pause lasting several minutes. The Rev. G. M. Clayton preached the conference sermon, his topic being "The Cohesive Church".

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper followed Dr. Clayton's sermon. The distribution was directed by Dr. Straughan, assisted by F. T. Little, T. O. Crouse, G. Q. Bacchus, J. W. Sheridan, T. F. Lewis and J. W. Trout. The president's annual report was read at the afternoon session. Tonight Prof. Herman Hornell Horne lectured on "Shall We stand by the Church?"

Lancaster County Loses Its Lead.

Lancaster County, which in 1909 ranked second among all counties in the United States in the value of crops harvested, dropped to fifth place in 1919.

Los Angeles County, California, retained its lead as the first. In 1909 its crop were valued at $14,720,884 and Lancaster County's at $13,059,588. While Los Angeles jumped to $62,212,843 in 1919, Lancaster went to $32,803,002, but three other counties went ahead of it. San Joaquin and Tulare Counties California, and Aroostook, Maine. In the value of farm property, Lancaster dropped from seventh on January 1, 1910, to eleventh on January 1, 1920, when the value was $119,842,187.

Lancaster County is still first perhaps, counting variety as well as value, of products.

President Harding received a delegation of women, on Wednesday, interested in having the political disabilities of women removed—their disbarment from holding public office, serving on juries etc., in many states. The President was hospitable, and interested, but did not promise much in the way of personal influence.

Just Once, Doesn't Matter

Very frequently we hear the expression, "just once doesn't matter"; or, if we don't hear it, we see it exemplified all about us in hundreds of ways, as a daily regime by a large portion of the population.

This low estimate of "just once," is one of the most expensive mistakes of the age. There is no such thing, in reality, as a safe "just once" for a thing to be done wrong. We fail to appreciate how important it is for every little thing to be done just right, every time.

Judgment is passed on us when we least expect it, and we never know who is on the watch, nor how important to us the watching may be. A single poor speech, or sermon, or business transaction, or piece of work, or demonstration of ability of any sort may be before just one in an audience who is secretly watching our performance, with the idea of giving us promotion.

"Just once" indulging in dishonesty, or exhibition of carelessness, or loss of temper, or some other like departure from doing and showing the best that is in us, may cause us to miss the biggest opportunity in a whole lifetime.

"Just once" turning out a faulty piece of work, may not only cause us serious business loss, but perhaps loss of life for another. Doctors can not afford to make a single mistake in their profession; and all of us are "doctors," in one way or another, more surely than we think.

An accident, or bit of carelessness, or not watching our course "just once," in running an auto, may be sufficient to cause a hasty entrance into eternity for the occupants of the car. Every "once," matters a great deal.

FARMER'S SUPPLY CO. FAILS

Farmers Who Bought Stock Likely to Lose Heavily.

Indicted by the grand jury of Howard county on many charges of obtaining money through misrepresentation, two officials and a former salesman of the defunct Agricultural Supply Company of America, which formerly had office room in the Equitable Building, Baltimore and a co-operative store at Lisbon, were arrested on Monday. They gave their names as:

Robert C. Hart, 40 years, 103 East Virginia Avenue, Baltimore, former vice-president of the company.

Frank M. Byrd, 38 years old, 1501 Linden Avenue, Baltimore, secretary-treasurer.

Thomas I. Miller, 35 years old, stock salesman, 1919 West Mulberry street, Baltimore.

According to the investigation conducted by State's Attorney James Clark, of Howard county, scores of Howard county farmers during the last four months bought shares of stock in the Agricultural Supply Company, a company formed ostensibly along the co-operative lines of buying and selling among farmers. Between $16,000 and $20,000 is alleged to have been subscribed for the stock by farmers.

The company went to the wall three weeks ago. The promoters, according to the county officials could not be located and criminal proceedings were instituted. Investigation by the detectives proved, however, that the company was duly incorporated, and Hart on his way to police headquarters declared that all stock issued to the farmers was properly registered.

Small Pox Menaces Maryland.

Unless West Virginia health authorities take immediate and vigorous steps to stamp out the epidemic of smallpox which is raging in counties just across the State line from Garrett and Allegany counties in Maryland, an appeal will be made to the Federal government for decisive action.

This was the declaration made on Wednesday by Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the Maryland State Board of Health, who said that he had wired the West Virginia officials of that intention.

"The epidemic is becoming a real menace to the people of Western Maryland," he said. "The West Virginia authorities are not performing their full duty. We have abundant evidence of the inefficiency of such measures as they have adopted and of their indisposition to do anything at all."

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Monday, April 4th, 1921.—Letters of administration on the estate of William R. Blunt, deceased, were granted unto Margaret E. Blunt, who received an order to notify creditors.

Norman B. Hagan, executor of Hannah S. Heck, deceased, settled his first and final account.

Tuesday, April 5th, 1921.—The sale of real estate of William Reese, was finally ratified and confirmed.

Carroll G. Warehime, administrator of Mandilla Shaeffer, deceased, reported sale of personal property.

Herbert C. and Sterling G. Bixler, executors of Mary C. Bixler, deceased, returned an inventory of personal property.

Change in The Record's Force.

Beginning this week, Curtis H. Reid, becomes assistant to the manager of The Record and all-around man; and W. C. Wickert takes main charge of our job department. This will relieve the Editor and Manager from much of the work he has been doing for years—amounting to overwork—and will at the same time increase the output of the mechanical end of the office. Mr. Wickert is a printer of long experience—a former Record employee.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.

Importance of Sending Good Men from Carroll County.

The Sykesville Herald in its usual forceful manner on such matters presents its opinion as to the character of representatives to send to Annapolis, this winter, as follows:

"It is time people were beginning to give some attention to the make-up of the tickets for the next Legislature. The body will have some mighty important questions to deal with and the people of Carroll County must see to it that a delegation is sent to Annapolis that will fittingly represent them when these questions are up for consideration. This is a law-abiding county. The great preponderance of sentiment here is on the side of law enforcement. It is on the side of Sunday observance. It is against race track gambling, which is generally regarded here as one of the greatest evils of the times. These statements being true, our people must see to it that no man or woman is elected to the next House of Delegates who does not stand four square on all these matters. All of them and other questions of almost equal importance will be at issue during the next session of the Legislature. Carroll County can not afford to take any backward step with reference to a single moral proposition."

Up to this time we have heard of no announced candidate for the House of Delegates. We must elect four. The Herald desires to give notice this early in the year that it will not support a candidate for Delegate that it does not know to stand for decency and righteousness. A man who stands for these things will vote right on the questions referred to above. It will not support a candidate simply because he belongs to this party or that. The questions we have mentioned are above partisan consideration. In this regard it expects to have and believes it will have, the help and support of all good women. A good start has been made toward clarifying the moral atmosphere of Carroll County and during recent years our delegations at Annapolis have stood loyally for decent things and against those influences that seek to serve the forces who would break down the law and the Constitution, to keep the State in co-partnership with the race track gamblers and who would have a wide-open Sunday."

When Mule was Negligent.

A Kentucky court once ruled that a man kicked by a mule was guilty of contributory negligence and had no redress against the animal's owner.

Since then mules have had it pretty nearly their own way—not only in Kentucky but in other jurisdictions where the decision as thought to be quite sensible.

There is such a thing however, as over-staying one's "day in court." It remained for District Court Judge Panacoast, in Camden, to take the "hee-haw" out of the mule in a decision he rendered recently.

While a mule may kick any one with perfect immunity to himself and his master, if he walks on street-car tracks and is killed he has no one to blame but himself. A mule so foolish as that is guilty of contributory negligence just as anybody else would be, according to Judge Panacoast who dismissed proceedings by Fred Simon, an ice dealer, against the Public Service Railway Co., for the death of Simon's mule.—Phila. Ledger.

Marriage Licenses.

Raymond I. Costley, of Woodbine, and Alveta Myers, of Sykesville. Marion Isaac Green and Belva Rosenna Biser both of Lewistown. Lawrence E. Zepp and Emma B. Lambert, both of Westminster. John Herman Seipp and Minnie Viola Kelbaugh, both of Hampstead. Frank A. DeVare, of Baltimore and Alice G. Fielding, of Washington.

POINTS ABOUT POTATOES.

How to Plant and Grow Potatoes with Greatest Success.

Irish potatoes are grown in most homes gardens, but there are just a few points in the potato-growing game that the home gardener is liable to overlook and which are important, garden specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture say. First of all, potatoes grow quickly, and their food supply must be all ready and waiting for them in the soil. Second, they are heavy feeders and want plenty of plant food to draw upon. In other words, the soil for Irish potatoes must not only be rich but especially so in certain kinds of plant food. Land that was well manured the previous season and which contains plenty of organic matter is best. The first step in preparing the soil will be to spade or plow it to a depth of 8 or 9 inches, then break up the clods, if there are any and pulverize the soil practically as deep as it is spaded or plowed.

Commercial fertilizers give good results for growing potatoes, especially if the fertilizer contains potash, as potatoes require more potash than is usually present in the soil. Fertilizer manufacturers mix special brands for potatoes, and these are generally rather rich in potash. How much fertilizer to use will depend upon the fertility of the soil, but, as a rule, 8 pounds to each 100 feet of row will be about right. A good way to apply fertilizer is to scatter it in the freshly opened furrows, then drag a hoe through it several times to mix it with the soil.

Small, shriveled potatoes, are not fit for seed. Only plump, disease-free potatoes, on which the sprouts are just beginning to start should be used for seed. Seed grown in Maine, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, or some other special seed-producing section will, as a rule, give best results. Seedmen get the seed potatoes shipped in by the carload and then sell them to gardeners in small quantities. It takes about 10 bushels (600 pounds) of seed potatoes to plant an acre. One bushel of seed will plant one-tenth of an acre, which is a space approximately 43 feet wide by 100 feet long. A peck of seed potatoes (15 pounds) should plant 360 feet of row, each potato being cut into chunky pieces having at least one good eye to a piece.

Seed potatoes should not be cut until all ready to plant. Whenever seed potatoes are cut and allowed to stand the cut surfaces dry out, turn black, and the seed loses vitality very rapidly. Scabby or diseased seed potatoes should not be used for planting.

Do not plant potatoes too deep, 4 inches being about the proper depth. Leave the surface almost level and see that there are no clods, stones, or pieces of sod directly over the hills. Potatoes are one of the first garden crops to plant in the spring, and it is safe to put the seed in the ground two or three weeks before the date of the last heavy frost. In case there should be a freeze after the plants come up, cover them with an inch or two of loose earth to protect them. They may be uncovered as soon as the weather warms up or they come up through the soil themselves.

The Steady Subscriber.

How dear to our heart is the steady subscriber.

Who pays in advance at the birth of each year.

Who lays down the money and does it quite gladly.

And casts round the office a halo of cheer.

He never says: "Stop it; I cannot afford it."

I'm getting more papers than now I can read."

But always says: "Send it; our people all like it."

In fact, we all think it a help and a need."

How welcome his check when it reaches our sanctum.

How it makes our pulse throb; how it makes our heart dance.

We outwardly thank him; we inwardly bless him!

The steady subscriber who pays in advance.

Normal Acreage Planted.

Despite the lowest prices since antebellum days, American farmers will maintain practically a normal acreage in food crops this year, according to telegraphic information obtained from the chief agricultural areas by the United Press today. Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska reported the usual wheat acreages. Only Kansas showed a reduced acreage, about 10 percent.

The Government through the Department of Agriculture, is investigating reports of a threatened "farmers' strike," but so far has found nothing to indicate such a move.

Cotton planters, however, are said to have reduced their acreage appreciably.

The "wheat strike" of Iowa farmers, threatened last fall because of tumbling prices and difficulties in marketing, failed to materialize.

Each of New York's 11,000 policemen became a prohibition enforcement officer on Wednesday, when actual enforcement of the State "bone dry" law, signed last Monday by Governor Miller, went into effect. Mayor Hylan issued an order to Police Commissioner Enright directing that the law be enforced, and the commissioner set about instructing his force in their new duties.

ENGLAND PRACTICALLY A MILITARY CAMP.

The Most Serious Situation in the Whole of Europe.

The most critical situation today, in Europe, is in England. For the time being, even the "Irish question" is secondary, and that is saying a great deal. The most serious situation is the industrial one, headed by the striking coal miners who have the support of railroad employees, and what are known as transport workers. The miners have gone so far in the enforcement of their demands, to both flood and fire mines, aiming at the destruction of the properties.

The government has taken over the mines, and in general has established military rule the whole country taking on the appearance of an armed camp. As yet, no great violence has occurred except at mines between miners and guards and workers who are protecting, as well as trying to save, mine properties.

The shipping business is practically tied up, due to inability to get coal bunkers filled. Some of the mines are already so badly damaged that from six to twelve months will be required to place them in producing condition even if no further violence takes place.

Lord George has called for a conference between the mine-owners and workers, and a truce is in part operation, but the outlook is for a fight to the end.

In addition to the industrial warfare, the government claims to have evidence that the Irish had planned for a revolution that was to take place on April 15. Large quantities of guns and ammunition are said to have been secured in this country and in Germany. In addition, Socialism and various other isms are co-operating to add to all sorts of discontent and revolutionary movements. Indeed, it is quite probable that the mainspring of the disaffection among both the Irish and the miners, are "red" agitators of various sorts, some of whom are Germans, or working for pro-German interests.

How to Prune Roses.

For the production of individual blossoms of greatest perfection, as well as to secure a succession of bloom, severe pruning of the rose bush must be practiced, say landscape gardeners in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. When a large number of blossoms of small size is the aim, the pruning is less severe. When dormant bushes are set in the fall one-half or more of the wood should be removed. In the spring cut back the branches still more, leaving only two or three stems with four or five eyes on each. The stems will then be 6 inches or less in length. When dormant roses are set in the spring they should be pruned at the time of planting, leaving four or five eyes on a stem, as above recommended. In regions where there is no danger of injury from frost or dry winds, the final pruning, as described for spring, may be made in the fall.

After the first year, prune as soon as freezing weather is over. In regions where roses never suffer from cold the work may be done in the fall. Remove all weak wood and crossing branches every year. For fine specimen blooms on hybrid perpetuals shorten the remaining shoots to four or five eyes, but for the greatest mass of bloom only one-third to one-half the length of the shoots should be cut away.

In regions where cold sometimes injures roses, teas and their hybrids should be trimmed later than the other classes, or about the time growth starts. Trim in the same manner as the hybrid perpetuals. Because of their usually more delicate growth they will look much smaller when the work is done, however. The strongest growing roses should not be cut as short as the weaker ones. When overpruned, the tendency of the plants is to grow wood rather than to bloom. A few varieties will not stand the extremely close pruning described. When pruned for specimen blooms the teas and hybrids will be only 6 inches to 1 foot high. China, Bengal, and moss roses should be treated the same as the teas and hybrid teas, except that it is not desirable to cut them quite so closely. Bourbon roses should have only half the length of the shoots removed. Summer pruning is desirable.

When a flower is cut from a tea rose or other perpetual bloomer, only two or three strong eyes of the current season's growth of that branch should be left on the plant. This will give the roses very long stems. It may seem like destroying the bush to take so much off, but if the object is the production of roses, the cutting away of the surplus wood will attain the desired end.

The greatest temptation to leave wood is where there are two or more buds on one branch, some being small when the terminal one is open. This temptation to follow a bad practice can be avoided by pinching off all side shoots after a bud has formed on the end of a branch. This prevents the formation of two or more buds on one stalk, and will encourage additional bloom on varieties which bloom more than once a year.

Somebody inquired, the other day "What has become of Billy Sunday?" Strangely enough, he is hid away somewhere. Maybe he is with Billy Bryan?

The Sykesville Herald kindly suggests the Editor of the Record as candidate for the House of Delegates. Thanks. The Editor is not afflicted with political "bees" of this sort, and would not want this particular job if election was presented to him, unanimously.

Maryland politicians must not forget that there is a state called Ohio, and that it is a pretty important state just now, as it happens to be the home of the new President. Naturally, the Ohioans think it is a pretty poor sort of President who can't "do something" for the home folks.

Maryland is said to be willing to serve the Harding administration, and make it a howling success, by furnishing enough of its favorite sons to recruit the entire army of necessary officials, from Generals to Corporals; but right at the outset of its generosity it seems to have fallen down on 'fishery.

If there are now so many thousands of unemployed, in the cities, and if these same unemployed could hardly make both ends meet when employed at big pay, what is the situation of the ends now? Perhaps necessity, after all, has caused them to stretch—at the expense of the silk shirt business.

The cut of $1.00 a ton in the price of coal, isn't very satisfactory, considering how high coal roasts, even with the one back off. The public has a hunch that if there is one nigger in the wood pile, there is a whole family of them hid in the coal pile, and we guess the public is about right; but, the big question is, will the said public be able to hold off buying, and chase the other niggers away or will it wind up the story by being a dollar a ton shy, when the leaves begin to fall?

The Railroad Situation.

In a general and more or less indefinite way, the country knows that there is a "railroad situation" and that railroads generally are in a bad financial situation. As a matter of fact, this so-called "situation" is perhaps the most important big thing financially, before the country today, and it will be well if the whole country becomes interested in bringing about a solution to it, which means first trying to understand what it is all about.

As we understand it, there are four or five pretty distinct lines of debate concerning it, and as many more, not so distinct, and not so clearly understood.

First; the railroads claim to be receiving insufficient net income to enable them to pay running expenses, make needed extensions and improvements, keep their lines in excellent condition, pay fair dividends, and in general conduct their business in the healthy condition it should be. As a remedy for all this, they claim that they should be permitted a larger measure of actual control of their business, and to make a very material reduction in wages paid employees.

Second; the union employees claim that their wages are not out of proportion to the important character of service rendered, and strenuously fight against the "open shop" principle as being aimed at the destruction of unionism as it is at present entrenched; and furthermore, that the railroads are expensively officered and managed, and that there is a system of book-keeping and statement-making that is deceptive, in short, that the present scale of wages must be maintained in their line of work, notwithstanding lowered living costs.

Third; many manufacturers, especially of machinery and other items requiring heavy freight shipments—large quantities of coal and heavy raw material—claim that as freight charges are such an important portion of their costs of production their products can not be made and sold at lower prices, which in turn reduces railroad revenues because of reduced output of the manufacturers.

Fourth; farmers claim that they can not ship their products to advantage because of high freight charges; and that while the prices have greatly fallen on products of the farm, they are not getting back, in proper ratio, lower prices for the articles they need to buy.

Under a fifth heading, can be placed whatever responsibility may have attached to government operation of the roads, the settlement with the roads by the government that has not yet been made, as well as the restrictive legislation still in force.

And sixth, but not least, the political power wielded by the various unions, and the question of how far, and in what ways, force can legally be employed by the government, or how far it can safely and justly be employed, in the interests of the whole people, in breaking the immense power of the unions relative to the transaction of the carrying business of the country.

These are some of the main features of the "railroad situation" that the present national administration is making an effort to solve; and until they are solved, normal and fair prices and general business activity will not come into healthy action. Some big classes or interest, or managements, are not playing fair; and sooner or later the facts must be known, and the whole people—the great majority—must use the force of justice, and clarify this "situation" that is now holding back a square deal all around.

Auto Legislation.

There is sure to be auto legislation, of some kind, at the coming session of the legislature. The auto, as a law fountain, promises to be as prolific as "fish and game" and of greatly more importance. Just what this legislation will be, is of course speculative, but it is sure to be such as is sponsored by the Maryland Motor League, and it is about as sure that legislation from this source will largely deal with one side of the big problem—the side of the motorists.

We believe that this legislation so far, has been wise, and to some extent restrictive and in the public interest, and that from the financial side and the interests of the state, it has perhaps been reasonably adequate. But, we are as thoroughly convinced that legislation is needed that may be considered antagonistic to motorists. The general public, aside from motor users, needs an attorney in court.

No one can read the papers, daily and weekly, without being impressed with the tremendous number of fatalities, wrecks and destruction, caused by autos, and to the large number of children and old persons who are victims. Mere attempts at speed regulation and road rules, by law, will not entirely remedy the destruction. Merely being legally right, is not sufficient. Those who are not so well acquainted with the laws, must be protected, more, and still more.

The state can not continue its "unavoidable accident" verdicts, indefinitely. There must, in some way, be more restrictions, and more responsibility under the laws, placed on autoists themselves. More strict laws with reference to speed, will not alone meet the requirements, if we are to consider human life of more value than knowledge of law. In other words, our highways must be made more safe for everybody.

The Coal Situation.

Is coal going to be cheaper this year? Every year the American people have to face the coal problem. To buy or not to buy, that is the question in the spring. To pay, that is the trouble in the fall or winter.

The coalmen, particularly those who handle anthracite, the kind city folk use in stove or furnace, are warning the people if they do not buy now they are likely to have to pay dearly later in the year. The people have heard this warning often. Usually they give scant heed of it.

Judge for yourself from what follows, for here is the anthracite situation.

Ordinarily production amounts to about 70,000,000 tons a year. One city, New York, takes nearly one-quarter of this total. Those who ought to know say present stocks are not large. Generally speaking retail prices are about $1 per ton below last year. Here in Philadelphia egg is down ninety-five cents; stove and nut,

$1.25, and pea, $1. The Philadelphia ton is 2,240 pounds. Elsewhere it is 2,000.

Part of the reduction is due to a cut of fifty cents a ton by the mine owners. The rest comes from lower costs in retailing. For example: Feed is cheaper. That makes the maintenance charge less for horses used in delivering coal. Gasoline and oils are cheaper. That makes for economy in operation of motortrucks. Various other items are below last year's high figures. There are possibilities of further cuts in costs. One is contingent on reduction of railroad freight rates and another on reduction of miners' wages.

There are possibilities of coal prices going higher if the proposed coal tax becomes a reality or if, as usual, the public keeps out of the market until forced to buy and then drives prices up.

In nothing are the American people more wasteful, perhaps, than in coal. They burn 25 per-cent more of the fuel than is necessary. In anthracite alone this waste exceeds $250,000,000 a year. Somebody could do a really meritorious work by teaching the people how to stoke a furnace, a range or an ordinary stove economically. An ordinary shovelful of coal represents perhaps ten cents. Used properly it gives out good heat. Most people overload their furnaces and send more heat up the flue than they spread through the house.

Unquestionably distributors are right in endeavoring to get the public to buy their supplies in spring and summer. It is easier and cheaper for them to deliver coal when the weather is propitious than in the fall or winter, particularly winter, when the snow, sleet and ice add to difficulties and costs. You pay for it if more horses are required or it takes more time. You pay for it when horses slip on the ice and break their legs. It may not be in your particular bill, but it goes in the general bill.

But all the people could not buy in the spring or summer even if they so desired. Many families have to buy a ton at a time because they cannot afford to buy more. Some that can afford to buy for their full needs buy sparingly, hoping prices will come down. Some persons never buy coal until the last moment. They have an abiding prejudice against the coal man. Usually they pay a penalty for their bitterness, getting in at the top price, but that only adds to their animosity.—Richard Spillane, in Phila. Ledger.

Relieves Rheumatic Pains.

"I am subject to rheumatism and when I have a spell of it one or two applications of Chamberlain's Liniment relieves the pain and makes rest and sleep possible. I would not think of doing without it," writes Mrs. C. Owsley, Moberly Mo.

Farm Land Values Lower.

The average price of plowland per acre in the United States decreased about 7 per-cent during the past year according to a report just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The average value of plow land per acre on March 1 of this year was $83.78, as compared to $90.01 in 1920, and $74.31, in 1919. The statisticians of the department attribute the decline to the reduction in the prices of crops.

The report shows that the heaviest drop in the price of land is in the Southern States, where cotton is the principal crop. In some sections of these States there has been a decline of 30 per-cent in the price of plow land during the year. The average price of plow land in Georgia this year is $36 per acre, while last year it was $46—a drop of about 22 per-cent. The average in South Carolina last year was $61, while this year it is $50—a drop of 15 per-cent.

Probably the greatest drop in any one State was in Kentucky, and is attributed to the decline in the price of tobacco. In 1920 the average price of plowland in this State was $70 per acre, while this year it is $53. This is a decline of approximately 24 per-cent.

Iowa is the State having the highest price of plowland per acre. The report shows that it is valued at $200 this year, as compared with $219 last year—a decline of about 9 per-cent. Illinois ranks second in the value of plowland, according to the report, the price per acre being $157. In Alabama and Mississippi the average price of plowland per acre is $26. The Western States show the least decline in prices of land.—U. S. Dep't Agriculture.

They Speak Well of It.

"I frequently hear Chamberlain's Cough Remedy praised by friends and acquaintances which only tends to strengthen my good opinion of it," writes Mrs. Fred Arter, Zanesville, Ohio. Try it when you have a cough or cold and see for yourself what an excellent medicine it is.—Advertisement

"PILGRIMS" ALL YOUNG MEN

Though We Are in the Habit of Speaking of Them as "Fathers," They Were Youthful.

Among the contributions to the literature of the tercentennial of the landing of the "Pilgrim Fathers" is a paper by Sir Arthur E. Shipley, master of Christ's college, Cambridge, and vice chancellor of the university. In an editorial note introducing his article in the New York Times it is stated that he is well known as a zoologist, but why that qualifies him to write learnedly about our Pilgrim ancestors, who never heard of Darwin or his evolution theory, is unrevealed in the note. We take it that the alleged "fathers" never claimed kinship with the anthropoids and that they looked much higher for information about their origin than to a noted zoologist. But, be that as it may, Sir Arthur does inject a new thought, while not telling us much else that is new about those valiant and earnest souls who embarked on the tiny Mayflower—tiny in our eyes now, but not so considered by them—and buffeted the Atlantic gales for two months in search of a land hospitable to them in the matter of religious freedom if not in climate.

When we speak of them as "fathers" we conjure up a vision of grim-faced men with long beards, venerable seniors bringing to the new world the wisdom of their ripe years and long experience in both the joy and the value of treading the narrow path, but it is an illusion. Sir Arthur says there was only one of them over thirty-two years of age. That one was Captain Miles Standish, the valiant soldier, who was only thirty-six. They were all born about the year 1588, the time when the wonderful Spanish armada came to grief before the elements and the ships of Sir Francis Drake, and every last one of them was a loyal subject of King James and proud of that fact. They were young, vigorous, enterprising Englishmen, genuine colonists, seeking religious freedom but not political exile. It took men and women of such youthful vigor to endure the hardships and dangers incident to the first few years of their colonial life. Ever since that day it has been like young men and women who have pioneered the way across the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific taking with them the same spirit of attachment to the home land while building homes in the new. The "fathers" have remained at home, while the "sons" have fared forth, spreading the Mayflower spirit from ocean to ocean and now across the seas to many lands where it is growing and fruiting into what we may hope will eventually encompass the whole earth.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Preventing Loss of Identity.

All parents are being urged to have their children's finger-prints taken, so that in case of disappearance from home their whereabouts can be more easily ascertained than with a meager description. The police department of any city would be glad, with this idea in view, to make and file the finger-prints. Argentina is far in advance in this matter. In that country the fingerprints of every individual are taken and filed away for possible future reference. Every now and then one hears of a case where somebody has forgotten all about himself, and does not know who he is or where he belongs. This affliction, fortunately rare, is called "aphasia." If the fingerprints of such an unlucky individual were on file somewhere, the task of identifying him might be greatly simplified. Fingerprints taken in babyhood do not alter their pattern through life. Every day the War and Navy departments are called upon to locate young men who are missing from their homes. With only the names (which may have been changed) and the vague descriptions, it is always difficult and often impossible to respond to the demand.

Patriotic Movement in Canada.

A new organization, to be known as the Daughters of Canada, with headquarters in Toronto, has been incorporated. The aim of the organization, it is stated in the letters patent granted by the department of state, is "to develop a spirit of true patriotism based on love and pride in country." It is also the purpose to study the constitutional history and geography of Canada, to advance the knowledge of sound domestic principles, to stimulate a love for Canadian art, music and literature in the schools and community centers, and "to welcome strangers within our institutions, and to encourage them to become citizens of Canada."

Treatment of Goiter With Radium.

Dr. A. N. Claggett (Illinois Medical Journal) believes that radium should be given a trial in exophthalmic goiter, because there is no mortality, no scar, no pain, and only three or four days hospitalization. Its advantages over the X-ray are that it produces no discoloration of the neck, there is less time consumed in the treatment and it is simpler to apply. The selective action of radium destroys the harmful cells, while not disturbing the healthy cells. Surgery has not been necessary in any one of forty-seven cases extending back over three years.

Standards of Value.

"Josh," said Farmer Cortmossel, "I want you to go to town and sell a few bushels of potatoes." "What for?" "So's we can have the cash." "I don't see the sense of it. A man with a few bushels of potatoes looks a lot wealthier than a man with a handful of money."

For County Commissioner

At the earnest solicitation of my friends and their assurance of support, I hereby announce myself as a Republican candidate for County Commissioner for Carroll County, subject to the primary election.

JOHN H. REPP.
Union Bridge District.

With that same pride of achievement that Benjamin Franklin felt on the day he made known to the world his discovery of electricity, we approach you today to announce our own creation in the field of ice cream production.

Our chemists, spurred by the incentive to make PURPOSE GREAT and ACHIEVEMENT GREATER, and driven on by that same impulse that fathered Franklin's discovery of electricity, have spanned the greatest step ever made in the production of ice cream.

For years our laboratories have been carrying on a ceaseless search for a formula and process by which a truly wholesome, superior ice cream could be made on a large scale from pure cream, pure milk, pure cane sugar and flavored with genuine natural flavors, —an ice cream which we could challenge the world to match—for QUALITY and PURITY.

With our ambition to serve you an ice cream of unequalled quality and purity now realized, we feel a justifiable pride in offering—

The New
"Cream of Ice Creams"

"The Velvet Kind"
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Chapin Sacks Corporation
BUCKEYSTOWN, MD.

Step by step we have perfected this process and today we take pride in announcing that our efforts have been completely rewarded and our goal attained. Today and every day you can procure through your dealer this new and superior product, containing only ingredients of the finest quality, made into ice cream by our own individual method.

We do NOT use gelatin, gums, starch, fillers, imitation flavors or foreign substitutes for cream---

But We DO use pure cream, pure milk, pure cane sugar and genuine flavors in "The Velvet Kind" of our creation.

POULTRY FLOCKS

HOW OFTEN TO FEED FLOCK?

Much Depends on Whether They Are Confined or on Free Range—Good Plan Outlined.

Just how frequently chickens should be fed depends on whether they are confined or on the range. Some poultrymen feed their flocks twice a day, while others feed them three times a day. The best plan is to feed fowls in confinement three times a day and those having free range in summer twice a day. When there is a very long interval between feeds it is difficult to keep fowls busy which are kept in confinement. Idle fowls often contract bad habits, such as feather pulling and egg eating, besides going out of condition from lack of exercise.

Plan to Keep Fowls Busy When Confined.

In case it is not convenient to feed three times a day, the moistened mash may be fed in the morning, and at the same time the noon feed of grain may be scattered in the litter, which will keep the fowls busy a great part of the day.

For those who cannot conveniently feed their fowls early in the morning a good plan is to scatter grain plentifully in the litter after the birds have gone to roost. This grain will furnish feed for the early morning, say poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture.

Some poultry keepers can look after their fowls only once a day. If this is in the morning, moistened mash may be fed, followed by throwing grain in the litter to furnish feed for the remainder of the day. If it is in the evening, before dark, a moistened mash may be given, and either after the fowls go to roost or in the morning, before daylight, grain may be scattered in the litter for eating during the day.

PLANS FOR BROODING DUCKS

Mother Duck or Hen Is Quite Satisfactory Where Small Numbers Are Being Reared.

Those rearing ducklings in small numbers usually accept the services of the mother duck or mother hen, according to which is used to do the hatching, for the purpose of brooding, and when only a few are reared this is a satisfactory method. Where ducks are raised in large numbers, however, artificial methods are always employed and the brooding is done by individual brooders or by long, hot water pipe systems heated by coal-burning boilers.

PROVIDE FOWLS PURE WATER

No Excuse for Permitting Them to Drink Impurities From Puddles—Cause of Diseases.

Fowls are not very discriminating in regard to water, and appear to enjoy drinking from puddles of foul water just as much as from pure and wholesome sources. That is no excuse for permitting them to do so, however, and the impurities in such water often cause serious losses. Either drain the stagnant pools or

POULTRY NOTES

Hatch the chicks early.

Provide plenty of shade.

Many people feed baby chicks too much.

Keep the house clean and well ventilated.

Raise young chicks on clean ground away from the general flock. Cull the flock.

A good feed for little chicks is ordinary johnnycake baked hard, crumbled and fed dry.

If milk is available, chicks should have all they can consume from the time of the first feeding until mature.

Where there is a tendency to boycott the perch and occupy the lower regions, the young birds should be taught to roost.

The owner of a small flock of ducks will find it profitable to force the growth of his ducklings for placing on the market at the age of two months.

WHY

It Means Good Fortune to Dream of Peas.

Every known vegetable has a meaning to the mystic interpreters when it appears in a dream and with regard to most of them the oracles are definite enough. But with regard to peas the interpretations are rather confusing and at times contradictory. The great majority of the mystics, however, see in a dream of peas a fortunate omen for those engaged in business.

Many of the oracles speak of a dream of eating peas as that most favorable for business success and make no mention of a dream of merely seeing peas without eating them. One or two qualify the good omen of a dream of eating peas by specifying that they must seem "insidious to the taste" in order that the dream may attain its full beneficence. These same oracles insist that the peas eaten in the dream be cooked for, say they, to dream of eating raw peas implies vexations and disappointments.

One or two lonely prophets say that to see green peas in a dream is a sign of good health, but if they are cooked it is a sign of illness. This with regard to the being cooked is, it will be seen, at direct variance with the vast majority of the mystic interpretations.

MR. WILLIAM L. HARMAN.

Mr. William L. Harman, son of the late Samuel Harman, died at the home of George W. Baker, near Otter Dale, on Thursday morning, from paralysis, aged 60 years. He had been ill for quite a long while having been partially paralyzed about two years or more ago.

JUST FUN

Realistic.

He—I had a realistic dream last night.
She—Indeed! What was it?
"Oh, I dreamed I proposed to you and you turned me over to your father."
"Yes, yes; and what did father say?"
"Oh, I don't know. I only know I woke up and found myself on the floor."

The Fatal Metaphor.

The young man was telling his sweetheart how he had been attracted to her.
"You were a lovely flower and I was a bee," he explained to her. "I was a mouse and you were a piece of cheese."
And then wondered why she rose and left the room.—American Legion Weekly.

Beating Around the Bush.

"My latest customer was a diplomatic man," said the prosperous boot-legger.
"In what particular?" asked the genial prohibition officer.
"He opened negotiations by asking me if I had anything in stock that would create a little interest in a mince pie."

Health and Wealth.

"Doctor Pills seems to be a fashionable physician."
"I should say so! He has patients at some of the most expensive health resorts in America and a waiting-list of people whose health will give way as soon as they get money enough to consult him."

Preferred Creditors.

"Want to be a musician, do you? Then I advise you to take up either the bagpipe or the violin."
"Why so, father?"
"Because, when there's any paying to be done, I notice it's the piper and the fiddler who are preferred creditors."

AFTER THE CIRCUS

Little May (to younger brother): And the baby's neck grew and grew till it was—was three feet long!
Mother: May, you must not say things that are not true! What baby are you talking about?
Little May: The giraffe's baby, mother.

Assumptions.

The man of egotistic turn
Would not annoy us so
If he would only try to learn
What he pretends to know.

Financier.

She—I saved the money to buy this jumper, darling.
He—How did you manage it, my dear?
She—I bought it with the money you gave me for my hat, and had the hat put down to your account.

Overcome.

"What's the trouble here?"
"A citizen fell foaming at the mouth in front of a new garage with a capacity of 400 cars."
"Strange."
"Not at all. He's been trying to find a house to live in."

Teamwork.

"Was English society really shocked by Lady Quickhash's book?"
"I don't think so," replied Miss Cayenne. "My impression is that her friends professed great indignation in order to help along the publicity."

Aristocracy of the Cuisine.

"What is your cook's first name?"
"I don't know," replied Miss Cross-lots. "Anyway, it doesn't make any difference. We wouldn't think of being so familiar as to call her by her first name."

Suspicion Itself.

"Jones is a suspicious chap."
"Suspicious! He reminds me of a farmer I used to know. Whenever he bought a herd of sheep he examined the wool of each sheep closely to make sure it had no cotton in it."

Parted Friends.

"So the Botsworths are divorced?"
"Yes."
"What were the terms of settlement?"
"$10,000 a year and he gets the house."

Her Line.

"The people are flat above us are constantly fighting."
"Must be unpleasant for your wife."
"No, she likes to have a fuss made over her."

GRAINS FOR POULTRY FLOCK

Corn and Wheat Are Best and About Equal in Feeding Value—Scratch Mixture Is Good.

Corn, wheat, oats, and barley are the principal grains fed to poultry; kafir corn and buckwheat are used also, but are not so generally available and usually cost more. Corn and wheat are the two best grains and are about equal in value as poultry feeds, although wheat can be fed alone better than corn, which is inclined to be fattening. Oats and barley, on account of their hulls and higher fiber content, are not so good as corn or wheat. Rye is not well relished by fowls and is seldom fed. "Me-e-ow!"

The wail of a cat is no uncommon thing in New York, and Edward Hunter did not think anything particularly about this particular outburst; but as it repeated itself he was struck with the plaintiveness of the voice—not at all like the strident howls with which the common variety of alley-beast shatters the welkin and the rest of folks in the small hours. "Kitten in trouble," thought Edward Hunter, and looked about to find the cause of the noise.

"Me-e-ow!" There was no doubt about it this time. A youth of the cat breed had undoubtedly gotten itself into a scrape and was bewailing the fact. Interested, Hunter continued to search with his eyes. A third repetition of the heartbroken mewling caused him to raise his eyes heavenward, and at last he saw the kitten. It was clinging precariously to the cross-arm at the top of a lamp-post, afraid to jump and at the same time not at all pleased with its present haven.

Hunter wondered how the little thing had managed to perch itself so high. But even as he wondered the kitten, with a desperate look in its eye, gathered its small self into a furry bundle and launched itself into the air, apparently trusting to the fate that watches over little cats for a safe landing.

It jumped straight at Hunter, and that youth, although surprised, managed to catch it and get it into a safe position in his arms. It seemed surprised, but recognizing in Hunter a man who was kind to kittens, accepted the situation philosophically and made no attempt to escape. Hunter cuddled it sympathetically.

"You poor little cuss," he said. "Out all night, I'll bet, and tired most of the time. Wonder who you are? You're no common cat, that's sure."

The kitten responded with a faint mew—a mew that had lost its quality of woe, but that still expressed longmovables on his table, most of which lay scattered on the floor.

Hunter rescued the inkwell just in time, and unceremoniously bundled pussy into a light basket. Then the two set out for Morristown.

No. 34 Ralston place proved to be an attractive house set in the midst of a green, tree-shaded lawn. He walked up the path and rang the bell. A neat, white-capped maid answered his ring and he was soon in the presence of his imagined "old maid." His expectations were dashed, however, for the owner of the stray, when she entered the room, caused him to spring to his feet with a flush on his face.

He knew that here was the one face he had sought all his life—and he had imagined her old and cranky! This beautiful girl of twenty or so, with light hair curling about a clear face, with the bluest eyes he had ever seen—Hunter found himself stammering, something that he felt instinctively was banal.

"But I know you've had a lot of trouble with Skookum." So that was the kitten's name. How adorable she was! The girl, not the kitten, of course.

"No trouble at all," he assured her. "I'm sure that it was a pleasure to return it to you."

He laughed deliciously. "That's not very complimentary to Skookum," she replied.

"Oh, but I didn't mean that—at least, not that way." He was fussed—he was distinctly fussed, and getting more so every minute, he thought. If only she wouldn't look at a fellow that way! It was disconcerting, very.

"I—I think I must be going," he stammered.

"Oh, but you must stay and have tea," she cried. "And at least let me know to whom it is that I am obliged."

His wits were returning. "My name's Hunter—Edward Hunter. And I don't want you to feel obliged to me. But if you must, won't you tell me to whom I owe this pleasure?"

She blushed ever so slightly.

"I'm Estelle Easterman," she replied. "I live here all alone with my mother."

"I'm sure that I'm awfully glad to have met you, Mr. Hunter. And now let's have tea."

They had tea and much talk. And Hunter departed; but not without having extracted an invitation to call again.

Some six months later Skookum, vastly improved in stature and disposition, found the house in an unaccountable flutter. His mistress, who had always paid so much attention to him, was dressed all in white, with a long floating veil not at all like her ordinary attire. Skookum tried to play with the veil and was sternly chidden. And there was music, and hundreds of people about the place, none of whom paid the least attention to Skookum.

And presently his mistress walked slowly down the stairs and was met by a man whom Skookum remembered as his one-time benefactor; and a man in black clothes said something, and the other man kissed his mistress, and there was great scurrying and hurrying. Skookum felt very neglected, and was on the point of voicing his feelings when his mistress and the man rushed up to him and caught him in their arms and kissed him and each other indiscriminately.

"He's responsible for it all," said the man. "Bless him!"

"He is, the darling!" said his mistress. "He shall have cream for dinner tonight."

And he did.

REMEMBERED FOR ONE SONG

Dr. Thomas Dunn English Practically Unknown Except as the Author of "Ben Bolt."

Dr. Thomas Dunn English did a prodigious amount of work in his lifetime, but all of it has been forgotten except the single song, "Ben Bolt." He was a physician, a journalist and a politician, as well as a poet, an essayist and a novelist.

Dr. English was born in Philadelphia June 29, 1819. He was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania, and afterward studied law. He was a Democratic member of the Fifty-second and Fifty-third congresses. For a number of years he was a newspaper man. In 1843 he wrote "Ben Bolt." The poem attracted attention, and was widely copied in England. Dr. English received no money for it. He put "Ben Bolt" to music, but the sales were light. In 1848 "The Battle of Buena Vista" was presented in Pittsburgh, and "Ben Bolt" was sung in one of the scenes. The great popularity of the song dates from that time.

"Ben Bolt" was extensively parodied for half a century. A race horse, a ship and a steamboat were named for it. Dr. English remarked grimly that the ship was wrecked, the steamboat blown up and the horse turned out a selling plater. Du Maurier for some reason chose it when he wrote "Trilby," thinking it to have been an old English melody. This helped to keep it alive.

Inauguration Bibles.

For his inauguration President Cleveland provided a Bible, little larger than a human hand, that was presented to him by his mother when he was a child. In marked contrast was McKinley's inaugural Bible, which was a tremendous affair, bound in morocco and presented to him by the negro bishop of the country. Roosevelt used the same book as on the occasion of his assumption of the governorship of New York and Woodrow Wilson took the oath both times on the Bible he had used when sworn in as governor of New Jersey.

WHY

No Two Persons Can See the Same Rainbow

Misconceptions concerning the rainbow are many, according to Prof. W. J. Humphreys, Ph. D., of Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. Close observations have shown that not even the colors are always the same. Neither is the band of any color of constant angular width, nor is the total breadth of the several colors uniform. But perhaps the most interesting feature which Prof. Humphreys brings out is the fact that no two persons see the same rainbow; there are as many rainbows as there are persons looking at them, it seems.

Theory teaches, and ordinary experience shows, according to Prof. Humphreys, that as the observer remains stationary or moves, so also, other things being equal, does his rainbow. If then, two observers initially close together should move in opposite directions, each would find his rainbow responding in the same sense as his shadow, and presently the two positions and, therefore, the identity of the two bows, would become unquestionably different, from which it follows that, as the eyes of the two observers must always be separated by a greater or less distance, their bows must also be correspondingly separated and different—in the sense that they have different positions and are produced by different raindrops. In short, since the rainbow is a special distribution of colors (produced in a particular way) with reference to a definite point—the eye of the observer—and as no single distribution (other than uniform and infinite) can be the same for two separate points, it follows that two observers can not see the same rainbow.

UNABLE TO SEE ONE'S SELF

Why No Person Can Have a Really Clear Idea of Just How He or She Looks.

No man or woman has any really clear idea how he or she looks. The expression of the face is always changing, and no artist, no camera, can catch this fleeting expression. You see yourself by gazing at a mirror. When your mind is busy with the operation in hand you do not think of noticing how you look. When you stand in front of the glass with the deliberate intention of seeing how you look, your face bears the imprint of that intention, and you do not see yourself as you are naturally, but as you appear when you have something to think about. You have perhaps assumed different expressions as you gaze at yourself, have tried to laugh in order to see how you look, but it is all unnatural. When you have seen your own photo, have you not been disappointed? You have usually thought that it was not like you. And your relatives have said—"Yes, we have seen you look like that." The camera depicts the sitter just as he is at the moment the picture is taken, but very seldom can the instrument catch that subtle thing called "natural expression," because few persons are natural when seated in front of the camera. When we remember how our thoughts change the expression of our face we can understand that it is not possible for any individual to know how he himself looks.—Exchange.

Why Churchgoers Sleep.

Preachers do not put people to sleep nearly so often as do improper lighting effects in the church edifice, according to Earl A. Anderson, a light expert of Cleveland, O.

"Bright lights on either side of the minister, or glaring light hung low between the congregation and the preacher, tend to reduce the visual energy of churchgoers," he said.

"Modern cave dwellers must have artificial lighting because sunlight does not reach them most of the time," he explained. "Factories increase their production frequently as much as 30 per cent by installing an adequate lighting system."

"About 24 per cent of all industrial accidents result from poor lighting," Mr. Anderson said.

Why Camphor Growth Is Important.

Experimental camphor groves which have been planted in Florida are expected to attain commercial importance within a few years. These groves, together with the synthetic camphor now being manufactured in the United States, are expected to make the United States the leading producer of natural and synthetic camphor, and to render it independent of the former sources of supply in China, Japan and Formosa.—Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

Why Physicians Use Sign.

Because the letter "R" represents the Latin word "recipe," the imperative of which means "take," and the little dart (originally a thunderbolt) is the symbol of Jove or the Latin god Jupiter, which invests the writer with authority. The sign, therefore, means, "By my authority, take this," but properly translated is, "By Jupiter, take this."

Why Brides Wear Veils.

Because it was the Anglo-Saxon custom to perform the nuptial ceremony under a square piece of cloth held at each corner by a tall man, the object being to hide the bride's blushes. From hiding both bride and bridegroom the custom changed and the bride only was shielded from the inquisitive gaze, and the veil was substituted for the cloth.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. E. FITZWATER, D. D.,
Teacher of English Bible in the Moody
Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR APRIL 10

BIBLE TEACHINGS ABOUT THE CHRISTIAN'S BODY (HEALTH).

LESSON TEXT—I Cor. 6: 19, 20; 9:24-27;
Gal. 6: 7, 8.
GOLDEN TEXT—Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things—I Cor. 9: 25.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Prov. 23:
28-35; Isa. 28: 1-8; Gal. 5: 19-21.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Taking Care of Our Bodies.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Growing Strong.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC
—The Value of Health.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC
—Public Health Problems.

The teachings of this lesson have an important bearing upon physical health, but the primary reference is moral. The sin with which Paul was dealing was fornication, not matters of hygiene. That physical health may be included we do not question, but sad and serious will be the blunder if that only is taught.

I.—Glorifying God in Your Body (I Cor. 6: 19, 20).

It should be noted that the last clause of verse 20 is omitted in the Revised Version and the best manuscripts. The conclusion of Paul's argument is, "therefore glorify God in your body."

1. The Christian's body is the temple of the Holy Ghost (v. 19). God's dwelling place on earth is now the redeemed human body instead of the temple at Jerusalem. If the sinless Spirit is to dwell in the body it must be kept clean. To defile or abuse the body in any way is to insult the Spirit and commit the most awful sacrilege.
This truth apprehended solves forever
the problem of licentiousness, gluttony, use of tobacco, the abuse or neglect of the body in any way whatsoever.

2. The Christian's body is God's property (v. 19). Being God's temple, the proprietary right is in God and not man. Being the property of the Lord, the Christian's motto is, "Whether therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God (I Cor. 10: 31). "Holiness unto the Lord" ought to be written over our bodies.

3. The Christian's body has been bought (v. 20). The price paid to redeem the body was the precious blood of Christ (I Peter 1: 18, 19). We estimate things by what they cost. When we estimate our bodies in that light we will be very jealous of their purity.
Guarding our health is part of our religion.

II.—Keeping the Body Under Control (I Cor. 9: 24-27).

The Christian's life is more than mere existence, there is something to do—to be accomplished.

1. It is a race (vv. 24, 25). In order to win a prize there must be self-denial and definite exertion. The Christian obtains life by contact with Jesus Christ through faith (John 3: 16; 3: 36; 5: 24). This he possesses before he can begin the race. While he gets salvation (life) at the beginning, God places before him definite rewards as incentives to exertion. The Christian believes to get life, but works for rewards. In the Olympian games only one could hope to get the prize, but in the Christian race there is a reward waiting for every one who disciplines himself and runs. As the racer in these games mastered his desires and abstained from everything which might hinder him to win the prize, so the Christian will make any sacrifice to win. The prize in the Grecian games was corruptible, but the prize of the Christian is incorruptible. If the heathen would practice such self-denial regardless of its pain for a garland of pine leaves, shall not the Christian turn from bodily indulgences of every kind so as to obtain the crown of righteousness which fadeth not away?

2. It is a fight (vv. 26, 27). The Christian's efforts are not mere beatings of the air. He has a real antagonist. His fight is not a sham conflict.
He should exert himself with all his energy, and strike to hit his enemy. In order to win success the body must be kept under. In this case the antagonist is the body. It should be so dealt with as to bring it under subjection.
All the evil propensities of his nature should be brought under control.

III.—Reaping What You Sow (Gal.
6: 7, 8).

God has established a law in the world that whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap. To go on sowing with the expectation of not reaping is to mock God. The world is full of examples of those who thus mocked Him.
This text has primary reference to giving to the support of ministers of the gospel; its real bearing is upon the believer for his stinginess rather than upon the sinner for his meanness, but it has a bearing on all that we do.

Very Sure of God.

The shepherds and the Wise Men came away from Bethlehem very sure of God. They had not been unbelievers or atheists, but the sight of the little Jesus brought to them a fresh and mighty consciousness of God's continual presence. Even the anticipation of God's coming in Jesus put a new song on the lips of Zachariah and Mary, and one sight of the Child was enough to open all the fountains of gratitude in the heart of the aged Simeon.—Congregationalist and Advance.

How Does Christ Wish His Day to be Spent

Matthew 12: 1-13

The event recorded in our Scriptural lesson shows clearly the difference between the bondage of tradition and the liberty of truth.

"Sunday observance is not a question of blue laws," says Dr. Sibley,
"it is a question of the average man realizing that Sunday observance has in it something of real worth for the welfare and happiness of himself and his family." Our Lord would have us spend His day in such a way that our whole nature may be refreshed and renewed. Spirit, mind and body ought to feel the uplift of proper Sunday observance. There is little need for argument concerning the necessity for rest of body one day in seven. It is an established fact that the human body looked at even as a machine, is unfit and inefficient for labor without one day in the week for rest and renewing.

Man is more than body, more than a machine, he needs time and opportunity for the renewing of his mind.
The pressure of modern life is such that the proper observance of Sunday becomes increasingly essential. The traffic of the world's affairs runs through the mind during the six days of the week, and makes a strong bid for place on the Lord's day as well.
Our Lord would have us observe His day in such a way that we should "be not conformed to this world," but "transformed by the renewing of the mind." Magazines and newspapers should give place to the Bible, and to literature that makes God real to the soul and establishes within the mind the verity of the unseen.

The greatest truth for the human spirit to lay hold of is the truth of union with our Lord Jesus Christ.
"He that is joined to the Lord is one Spirit" (I Cor. 6: 17). This union is emphasized by the return of the Lord's Day each week. That day is the first day of the week on which our Lord arose from the dead as the conqueror of death and the grave.
That resurrection marks the beginning of a new creation into which we enter and of which we participate through this spiritual union. The unique thing concerning the Christian believer is that he is risen with Christ (Col. 3: 1). No truth will so refine the spiritual nature and lift one into the place of communion like this truth which is enforced and emphasized by a proper observance of the Lord's Day. Surely this is the way in which Christ would have us spend the day so that the whole being, through proper renewing, may be conformed more and more unto His own image.

GOOD CHEER AT WHITE HOUSE

President Harding's Reported Bill of Fare Certainly Smacks of Democratic Simplicity.

It is said that the Harding White House bill of fare will include chicken pie, as the first lady of the land knows how to make it—and waffles, browned to a turn, by the efficient old-fashioned colored cook of the Harding household.

This smacks of democratic simplicity and "homey" housekeeping of the good old days.

The state breakfast and the diplomatic dinner are necessarily more pretentious, and "old-time eating," served in the old-time way, if not altogether discountenanced, is so disguised as to make the satisfying plenty of the home table seem like a far-off dream.

But, allowing for the proprieties of state banquets and the like, there is never a distinguished guest of them all but that has come up from plain "home raising," and still remembers the dishes of old days as more to thank God for than all the French refinements of later repasts.

The "homeliness" and heartiness of the former linger with them forever in much the same way as they did with our old friend of the "Uncle Remus" stories when, after a certain notable banquet, and he seldom attended such, he remarked: "Now I'm going home to eat!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Beaver Colony for Profit.

Probably the largest fur farm in the West is a beaver ranch at Edgerton, Canada, where more than 100 beavers are being raised with the expectation of providing a yearly revenue as soon as it is believed they have multiplied sufficiently to justify some trapping. The ranch is located on the banks of a small creek which has been the home of a colony of beavers for years, and on account of the rapid multiplication the owner of the land secured privileges of breeding them and selling the increase.

Omaha Big Butter Maker.

More than $25,000,000 worth of butter was manufactured in Omaha during 1920, according to an estimate by the Omaha chamber of commerce, members of which report that the city in Nebraska still retains its position as the chief city of this industry in the United States.

The figures on butter production as given by the chamber for recent years show a steady increase since 1914 when the government census showed that the production for that year was $4,840,849.

AWNINGS

In Spring and Summer when the Sun's warmth increases we must have protection from the heat, if we are to fully enjoy our Homes and Porches. There is something delightful about living on a Porch—it seems to draw the outer world and humankind closer together—but when that porch is unprotected from the rays of the Sun, it loses charm and usefulness. Awnings furnish just the right degree of shade and privacy for the home. Then, too, the Office or Store where customers come to do business must be kept cool and comfortable from the rays of the Sun.

Awnings Are Actually A Necessity.

Let us figure on Awnings for your House or Store. We will fill the order at your House or Place of business, any place in the county, at a Reasonable Price for the complete job.

WINDOW BOXES

Window and Porch Boxes add much to the beauty of every home. We again have a complete line of Galvanized Porch or Window Boxes, in 24, 30 and 36 inch lengths. These are painted green and are self-watering, priced at $1.25, $1.75, $2.50, respectively.

SQUARE GALVANIZED BOXES

For many kinds of large plants that it is necessary to move in the house during the Winter, for which clay flower pots are too small, the ideal holder is the Galvanized Box. These are much lighter than wood, do not leak, have the air vent necessary, and are painted in a pretty shade of green and inexpensive. Three Sizes, $1.75, $2.25 and $3.00.

Pepto-Mangan, The Red Blood Builder,
Does Away with Languor

If you don't feel like doing things, you won't. If you wonder where some people get all their energy, the answer is from good food which in turn makes rich, red blood.

If your food does not give the nourishment and vigor it should, it is most likely that your blood is so weak that it needs a little extra help for a time to build it up to normal strength.

Thousands of men and women have been restored to vigorous health and lasting happiness by Gude's Pepto-Mangan. This beneficial blood tonic contains the very properties so vitally needed to improve the blood. Pepto-Mangan if taken for a few weeks, will enrich the blood and create thousands of the tiny red blood cells that are so necessary to carry nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Be sure to ask your druggist for "Gude's" when you order Pepto-Man-

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Brief Items of Local News of Special Interest to Our Home Readers.

Robert R. Fair, of Baltimore, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Daniel H. Fair.

Mrs. H. M. Clabaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Bloomer expect to return to "Antrim" about May 1.

The Taneytown Garage Co. is remodeling its building to fit the "high grade" of the street in front of it. It will be quite a proposition to make a satisfactory job of it.

Howard Hull and sister and Mr. Roscoe Nusbaum, of Avondale, spent last Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. William H. Formwalt and daughter, Daisy, near Fairview.

Prof. and Mrs. H. E. Slagen, of Lancaster, spent a short while in Taneytown, on Monday, on their return trip from Hagerstown, where they had been on a visit to their daughter.

Owing to the scarcity of house room in Taneytown, W. C. Wickert, who has accepted a position in the Record office, was obliged to send his wife and child to a relative, in Hanover until housing conditions improve here.

The florist of the town has on exhibition a curiosity in the shape of an African lily. The stem is 22 inches high, and the lily measures 42 inches around. All who are interested are welcome to come to see it—as it is quite an unusual variety for this section.

All those installing electric current for lighting or other purposes, should inquire of their insurance agents as to the need for a permit. The likelihood is that a permit will be needed, unless already provided in the printed portion of the policy.

Rev. Wm. E. Wheeler's new church in St. Louis, was dedicated, last Sunday, followed by special services each evening this week. The dedicatory sermon was presented by Rev. F. H. Kunbel, D. D., of New York. The church is located at "Hi-Pointe," Clayton Road.

W. H. Egge, D. D., of Lebanon, Pa., who so acceptably lectured in Taneytown for the Soldiers' Memorial Fund, will be the main speaker one of the days at the Taneytown Agricultural Fair, in Ohler's Grove, in August. Dr. Egge made a "hit" when here, and as a result, gets this call.

Oscar Hiner has been making preparations to rebuild on his farm where the buildings were burned and he will have the shed erected first in order to have a shelter for his stock. The P. O. S. of A. of Pleasant Valley, of which he is a member, generously offered to help fell the trees and haul them to the saw-mill at the place of building.

Rev. S. R. Downie will be in camp again, this year, with the Y. M. C. A. boys, County Girls' Clubs, Girl Scouts and Boys Clubs of Garrett and Allegany counties. The camp will be at Grace Station on the South branch of the Potomac. The camp will have physical directors, athletic instructors etc., and Dr. Downie will help with the chapel exercises and in general oversee good conduct.

The community sale, last Saturday, was quite a success, taken as a whole. A large crowd of people attended, and the prices were fair. Of course, a lot of the articles offered had seen better days, as was to have been expected, but perhaps other sales of this kind would bring out a better grade of items. Mr. Garner will hold these sales in the future, if there is sufficient encouragement.

A number of town lot owners are complaining of the difficulty experienced in getting their lots plowed and made ready for planting. The time was when men made a business of doing such work, and solicited it; but, these were the "good old days" when we did not have to beg people to work for us. We expect there is a good business waiting for some fellow who will buy a small tractor and do town lot farming.

To-night, come to the Opera House, with your mind made up to help get more houses in Taneytown. Not fine State Road houses; not expensive ones; not on high-priced lots; but just good modest homes, for mechanics, young workers, growing families—such as the town stands most in need of. Perhaps just a very few people may prefer to undertake the job; if not, the Stock Company plan is next best. Don't talk backwards, by talking of the need of manufacturing. The first need is houses for people to live in.

Miss Mary Reindollar is visiting Mrs. Oscar Thomas, in Baltimore.

A great many changes in residence have taken place within the past two weeks.

William F. Bricker and family are now occupying a portion of Mrs. Clara Bricker's dwelling on Baltimore St.

Mrs. Mary Stover and daughter, have moved to their property in town, purchased from B. O. Slonaker.

James Shorb and family, have removed from their home on the Keysville road, with Mrs. Daniel Harman, on George St.

There will be another class initiation at the P. O. S. of A. meeting, next Thursday night. Members are requested to be present.

Chas. E. Buffington and family are among our new citizens, having removed from their farm to their home purchased from Claudius H. Long.

Mervin Feeser wife and son, Robert and George W. Bowers and wife, spent Sunday last visiting in Westminster.

H. Carroll Leister has accepted a position in Wm. M. Ohler's store, and with his family moved into a portion of Harry Ecker's home, recently purchased from Dr. F. H. Seiss.

The former Annie Six dwelling, on Frederick St., is being moved to the middle of the lot, where an addition will be built to it and the building will be used as a convent for the use of the Sisters of St. Joseph's school.

Miss M. L. Reindollar, Mrs. Elizabeth Snider, Mrs. M. G. Stott and Miss Anna Galt, attended the Annual Meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Baltimore, held in Forest Park Presbyterian Church, on Tuesday.

Carl S. Davidson, of Pittsburg, has entered into partnership with his father, McC. Davidson of Hanover, in the heating business. Mr. Davidson, Jr., has had quite an extensive and varied experience in engineering, and this will now be a branch of the business of the new firm.

The pupils of the Taneytown High School are preparing a play which they will present in the Taneytown Opera House, on Saturday evening, April 16. The title of the play is "Phyllis's Inheritance." The entertainment promises to be an excellent one. Admission adults 35c; children 25c.

Last Sunday morning as Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Galt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Galt and John Forrest, were coming from Keymar to Taneytown, in an auto driven by Robert Galt, the car overturned near the junction of the Middleburg and Keysville roads, due to making a wrong turn after passing another car, throwing all the occupants out. Both of the ladies received a broken collar bone, but the men received only very slight injuries. The car, which was a new Ford Sedan was not greatly damaged, due to the slow speed at which it was running.

The amount thus far contributed for the China Famine Relief Fund through collections in the several churches, contribution from Missionary Societies and from individual gifts, totals $218.39 with others to be heard from. This does not include funds from sale of the Life Saving Stamps, as these sales are being continued at the various stores as previously stated in the Record. The purpose of the sale of stamps is not only to gather more money, but also by placing them on back of letters to advertise the cause, calling attention to the fact that the price of one stamp, 3 cents, will save one life a day.

Innocent Investors.

One of the troubles with small investors, in addition to their ignorance of the market is their blindness to anything but a high interest rate. Security of principal and duration of security are necessities, but to the small investor yield assumes paramount importance. The other day a doctor, ignorant of investments, but possessed of a few thousands which he was anxious to increase, told us about the wonderful moving picture company stock he was going to buy. "Think of it," he said with enthusiasm; "I get the stock at 100, and it pays 15% dividends."

It didn't sound right, and he promised to hold off until we investigated. Looking into the standing of the company, it was discovered that it was already insolvent; that it had paid but one dividend in three years, and that its chief asset was the glib-tongued stock salesman. The magic word "15%" had almost made the sale!—Wall Street Journal.

Will of Mary Washington.

The following is a copy of the will of the mother of George Washington, as registered in the Clerk's office at Fredericksburg, Virginia:

"In the name of God! Amen. I, Mary Washington, of Fredericksburg, in the County of Spotsylvania, being in good health, but calling to mind the uncertainty of this life, and willing to dispose of what remains of my worldly estate, do make and publish this, my last will, recommending my soul into the hands of my Creator, hoping for a remission of all my sins through the merits and mediation of Jesus Christ, the Saviour of mankind; I dispose of my worldly estate as follows:

Imprimis.—I give to my son, General George Washington, all my land in Accokeek Run, in the County of Stafford, and also my negro boy George, to him and his heirs forever. Also my best bed, bedstead, and Virginia cloth curtains (the same that stands in my best bed-room), my quilted blue-and-white quilt, and my best dressing-glass.

Item.—I give and devise to my son, Charles Washington, my negro man, Tom, to him and his assigns forever.

Item.—I give and devise to my daughter, Betty Lewis, my phaeton, and my bay horse.

Item.—I give and devise to my daughter-in-law, Hannah Washington, my purple cloth cloak lined with shag.

Item.—I give and devise to my grandson, Corbin Washington, my negro wench, old Bet, my riding chair, and two black horses, to him and his assigns forever.

Item.—I give and devise to my grandson, Fielding Lewis, my negro man, Frederick, to him and his assigns forever; also eight silver table-spoons, half of my crockery ware and the blue-and-white tea china, with book case, oval table, one bedstead, one pair sheets, one pair blankets and white cotton counterpane, two table cloths, six red leather chairs, half my pewter and one-half of my iron kitchen furniture.

Item.—I give and devise to my grandson, Lawrence Lewis, my negro wench, Lydia, to him and his assigns forever.

Item.—I give and devise to my granddaughter, Bettie Carter, my negro woman, little Bet, and her future increase, to her and her assigns forever; also my largest looking-glass, my walnut writing desk with drawers, a square dining table, one bed, bedstead, bolster, one pillow, one blanket and pair of sheets, white Virginia cloth counterpane and purple curtains, my red-and-white tea china, teaspoons, and the other half of my pewter, crockery ware, and the remainder of my iron kitchen furniture.

Item.—I give to my grandson, George Washington, my next best dressing glass, one bed, bedstead, bolster, one pillow, one pair sheets, one blanket and counterpane.

Item.—I devise all my wearing apparel to be equally divided between my granddaughters, Bettie Carter, Fannie Ball, and Milly Washington; but should my daughter, Betty Lewis, fancy any one, two or three articles, she is to have them before a division thereof.

Lastly, I nominate and appoint my said son, General George Washington, executor of this, my will, and as I owe few or no debts, I direct my executor to give no security nor to appraise my estate, but desire the same, may be allotted to my devisees, with as little trouble and delay as may be, desiring their acceptance thereof as all the token I now have to give them of my love for them.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 20th day of May, 1788.

MARY WASHINGTON.

Witness, John Ferneyhough.

Signed, sealed, and published in our presence, and signed by us in the presence of the said Mary Washington, and at her desire.
