UNION BRIDGE BANK TEMPORARILY CLOSED

Cashier of First National Used

The First National Bank, Union Bridge, is in financial trouble due to its cashier, E. F. Olmstead, being short in his accounts, and was closed by action of the directors, on Friday morning of last week, for a complete investigation of the status of the

The officials of the bank had been aware, for some time—so it is stated—that there was a deficit, but it was supposed to be very small, and was very carefully covered up by bookkeeping methods. Quite recently, however, it was decided to go to the bottom of the trouble, and the Comptroller of the Currency was asked to take charge, with the result that Thomas Kane, National bank examiner, was sent to investigate, since which time the bank has been closed.

The president of the bank is Edw. O. Cash, of Westminster; vice-president, Jacob S. Gladhill; directors, L. E. Stouffer, John H. Repp, S. E. Nusbaum and Frank Harbaugh, all of Union Bridge. The bank has a capital of $25,000, surplus $22,500, undivided profits $8,500, and has been paying annual dividends of 10 percent

The officials of the Department of Justice arrived on Monday, and are taking part in the investigation. Pending the final straightening out of the Bank's affairs, Cashier E. F. Olmstead has been notified to remain were preceded by the annual convenin Union Bridge.

In connection with the dedication of the new athletic field at Western Maryland College, there will be presented the greatest pageant ever given in this section of Maryland. The title of the pageant is "The Sheathing of the Sword" and one thousand persons will take part. Every section of the county will be represented in the cast, and it is expected that at least ten performance.

A. N. WARD, President Western Md. College. Littlestown Youth Suicides.

Aubrey Bowers, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bowers, near Littlestown, committed suicide in a room in the Ridgeway hotel, Camden, N. J., on Friday night by shooting himself through the right temple with a revolver. The cause of the act is not definitely known, although a letter on his person when found, to a girl he had been paying attention to, is thought to have been the cause of the suicide. It is claimed that since this girl, who resides in Camden, was married, some time ago. Bowers had been in a despondent mood.

The boy's parents were notified Saturday night of the suicide by Chief of Police F. O. Duttera, Littestown, who received word of the suicide from the Camden police depart-ment. Bowers was identified by his signature on the letter, and a railroad ticket to Littlestown. His parents claim that he left his home on Wednesday morning to go to Hanover to draw back pay from the cigar factory where he was employed.

Bonus Bill in Senate.

Notwithstanding the warning President Harding, the Finance Committee, by a vote of 9 to 4, ordered reported the so-called McCumber plan for a soidier bonus. The measure, contrary to the wishes of Mr. Harding, contains no provisions for meeting the stupendous cost involved. It resembles for the most part the bill adopted by the House. DECORATION DAY.

A Very Successful Demonstration in Taneytown.

Decoration day in Taneytown was a gratifying success. Perhaps more people gathered than on any former like occasion, and with the bright day, everything passed off as hoped for. The first event was the presentation of a parade flag by the P. O. S. of A. to the Hesson-Snyder Post American Legion, outside of the Lodge hall, by Rev. Guy P. Bready, the response to the presentation being made by Merwyn C. Fuss. Commander Ralph

Little was Master of Ceremonies.

The decoration of graves in the various cemeteries followed, preceded by the usual parade of "old vets," the American Legion, school children and the Lodges headed by a special band under the direction of J. N. O. Smith. The American Legion appropriately honored their deceased comrades, according to military regulations. In the Opera House, the program in charge of Rev. Guy P. Bready was as (A portion of Prof. Heaps' address, referring to Prohibition, appears on our editorial page.)

Besides the participation of members of the convention, there were addresses by Rev. Dr. C. S. Bauslin, of Harris-burg and Rev. Dr. G. W. Nicely, of Hanover.

The next place of meeting has not been determined, as the synod had no invitation, a rather common occur-rence in these days. # Wool To Blankets and Robes.

Due to the successful results of last year's pooling of wool to be made into blankets and robes, and the demand among the farmers for a fine high grade blanket, the sheep growers are going to pool their wool this year.

Thursday, June 8, has been set for the day for all farmers interested to take their wool to the County Agent's Office, Times Building, Westminster.

Eleven pounds of wool are required to make a pair of blankets and 81/2 pounds to make an automobile robe. It will cost $5.00 to have the blankets made and $4 for the robe. Freight is 75c and 35c. If a large order can be sent in at one time these prices will

WOODBINE BANK PARTLY ROBBED.

Only Liberty Bonds and War Stamps were Stolen.

Thieves entered the Woodbine National Bank, this county, some time between Saturday evening and Monday morning, robbed the safe deposit boxes and escaped without detection. It is thought that the loss will approximate $20,000. The robbery was not discovered until Monday morning.

No money or securities were stolen from the bank. Only the contents of the safe deposit boxes were rifled and all Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps were taken. Other papers were thrown on floor in a heap. The thieves entered the bank from a rear window and immediately went to the vault. By the use of powerful acetylene gas torches the combination charge of Rev. Guy P. Bready was as follows; Music by Band; Invocation, Rev. G. W. Shipley; Singing Star Spangled Banner; Reading of Poem, by Father Quinn; Vocal Solo, Rev. Murray E. Ness, who also led the singing; Oration by Prof. Wm. Jas. Heaps; Benediction Rev. W. C. # Roadside Advertising Sign Law.

In conformity with an agreement between the State Board of Forestry and the State Roads Commission, the law, prohibiting the placing of advertising signs within the right-of-way of any public highway of the State, has been amended. On June the 1st., the State Roads Commission assumes responsibility for the enforcement of the law on state highways, while the State Board of Forestry will continue to enforce the law on other than state

SHERIFF FOUND GUILTY.

Gross Negligence in Allowing Prisoners to Escape.

Gettysburg, June 1.—On a charge of gross negligence in allowing the escape of a prisoner from the Adams County jail, Sheriff John W. Hartman and his father Howard J. Hartman, deputy sheriff, were found guilty by a jury last Thursday afternoon on the sixth ballot, after two hours of deliberation. The vote on the first ballot was seven for conviction and five for acquittal. Motion was immediately made for a new trial.

Following the announcement of the verdict District Attorney Topper stated that he would not press a similar charge involving the escape of another prisoner. Both actions were brought following a report of the Grand Jury of the April sessions of court in which the charge of gross negligence was made.

The prisoner for whose escape Sheriff Hartman and his father were tried was a minor offender. The other one who escaped was Edwin Howell, under penitentiary sentence for the theft of an outomobile. He has not been apprehended. Neither of the defendants took the stand on their own behalf.—Independent, Lit-

A Remarkable Invention.

What was possibly one of the world's greatest oratorical events as well as one of the most important historical and sentimental celebrations of this continent took place on May 30, when Chief Justice William Howard Taft, of the Supreme Court of the United States of America, acting as chairman of the Lincoln Memorial Commission presented the Lincoln Memorial to the nation at large, accepting for the nation. President Harding received this wonderful gift, built by the people's money and took the opportunity to sound a national key note based on the thoughts of Lincoln and Memorial Day.

What made it memorable from an oratorical standpoint, is that never before in the history of the United States has a President, and a former President, spoken together on the same platform to so great a gather-Rare indeed have been the occasions when a former President has been on the platform with a President and the crowds which heard the two men have always been limited to the radius of the natural speaking

On this occasion, however, owing to the scientific marvel, known as the "Loud Speaker," it was possible for a million people to hear President Harding and Chief Justire Taft, if a million people cared to attend the cer-emonies. The space around Lincoln Memorial extends for many thousand feet almost in every direction, one of the highways has been universally the widest public parks in the world, commended. Signboards outside of and yet the Army Engineers who had the right-of-way, which were erected with the written consent of the owner would be physically impossible to bring so many people to the celebra-

> The Loud Speaker is a scientific development of the Bell System, not a commercial device. For this cele-bration it was the gift to the nation by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company and American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Engineers of these organizations have been at work on installing the apparatus for more than a month and operated the intricate and delicate yet powerful machinery during the speeches.

The thousands of Washingtonians and visitors who heard the words of the ceremonies saw no mechanical apparatus and were unable to detect any unnatural tone in the voices of the speakers. Though far out of range of the average spoken voice coming from the memorial, they heard as plainly as if standing but a few feet from the speaker. The voices carried in every direction, and a person standing at the foot of the Washington monument was able to hear as plainly as any one close to the memorial.

WAGE REDUCTIONS ON RAILROADS.

Another Strike is Likely to be Called in July.

Chicago, May 28.—Effective July 1, 1922, wages of approximately 400,-000 maintenance of way employes and railway shop laborers in the United States have been ordered cut an average of five cents an hour, or approximately $48,000,000 a year, by the Railroad Labor Board, in a decision mae public tonight. The official ruling, publication of which had been delayed for three days. was signed by the three "railroad" members of the board and the three representatives of the so-called "public" group. A dissenting opinion was filed by A. O. Wharton, Albert Phillips and W. L. McMenimen, of the "labor" group, and it was that split in the

The wage reductions, it is said, have been made in consideration of decreases in the cost of living and wages paid for similar employment in industrial fields since the July 1, 1921, ruling of the Labor Board. They are based on employment and 'present business conditions' statistics com-piled by the Interstate Commerce

It is believed that under the wage scale, as now readjusted, the railroads will be placed immediately in a poition where they can employ large numbers of new men, thus adding considerably to their dsbursement

For many months it has been known the roads have been neglecting sorely needed maintenance work because of the high cost of labor, and as a con-sequence the payrolls of the various maintenance of way departments are close to 200,00 employes under the normal total required to carry on the necessary work under prosperous traffic conditions. One of the contentions of the railroad managements at the recent wage hearings was that any reduction would solve to reduce unemployment and lend to better working conditions.

The labor unionists interested—about 500,000—will vote on the wage cut, to decide whether to accept it, or strike. The decision will be known about July 5, and if it is for the latter, the walk-out would occur July 25. It is said that if the pay of firemen is reduced, the same action will

The Year of no Summer.

In 1816 there was no summer in the United States. Snow fell every month of the year. Since that time 1816 has been generally called "poverty year" because practically all crops were total failures. Others have called it "eighteen hundred and froze to death." Still others have referred to it as "mackerel year" because so lit-tle pork was available that the people lived on fish.

The Weather Bureau writes us that snow fell on the seventh of June sufficient, to cover the ground at Newton, Mass., and at Hopington, N. H. it was four inches deep. At Salem, Mass., on Saturday, June 8, there was a slight fall of snow, but it was not deep enough to make good sleighing Along the northern portion of Massachusetts, large icicles were pendent, and the foliage of the forest trees was blasted by the frosts. # A Bond Entangled City.

The Dearborn Independent-Henry Ford's paper-has published several lengthy articles directed against the Bond issue plan of financing public expenditures, or at least against some forms of Bond issues. The latest one gives the experiences of Hamilton, Ohio, a city of 40,000.

It recites that in 1889 Bonds for $100,000 bearing 5 per-cent interest were issued for the construction of a gas plant, to run 30 years. When they came due the city had paid out in interest alone, without one cent on the principal the sum of $150,000, and that there was on hand only $75,000 to apply to the debt. Result, $25,000 in refunding bonds were issued, and of these $15,000 remain to be paid, while the plant itself was abandoned 12

An electric light plant was built in 1894 from the proceeds of a bond issue of $100,000, payable in 1918. There was not money enough on hand to was as follows: State Senators 1299 retire the issue, so refunding bonds for and 217 against; total House vote was not money enough on hand to to the amount of $35,000 were issued, 3775 for, and 955 against. Senate 86% after $125,000 in interest had been paid on the first issue, and the city is still paying interest on the second.

A waterworks plant was constructed in 1883 on a bond issue of $350,000. They were issued to come due at varying periods, the last in 1915. The same story is to be told; refunding bonds amounting to $115,000 were issued of which $80,000 are still outstanding-still paying interest on a debt contracted 39 years ago, and the end is not yet.

Other bonds have been issued, at different times, for other purposes. The article is complicated, and difficult for one to follow who has not a good head for figures. At present, the situation is that the present debt of Hamilton is $2,807,288.35, and be-fore this debt is wiped out there will to make the whole country dry. of Hamilton is $2,807,288.35, and bebe paid in interest $1,164,845.20. Of the bonds outstanding, $465,000 were issued to pay other bonds.

Ohio now has a law that makes it impossible for cities of the state to issue bonds other than serially. If Hamilton had issued its bonds under present laws, or if exact provision had been made for retiring the bonds when due, there would likely be a different story to tell.

A Loss and a Lesson.

The loss of the W. M. R. R. shops, to Hagerstown, largely due to the strike of employees there, points out the interest a city has in such cases; an interest that can not be safely left to two interest to "fight it out among themselves." It is said that Railroad officials claim that the Company was not given sufficient police protection in Hagerstown, and that the public sentiment of the city seemed largely to side with the strikers. Whether this be exactly true, we have no means of knowing, but if it be only partly true, the Railroad Company can not be very severely censured for doing what appears best for its own interests-getting out and going else-

As an illustration, this particular case can not help but stand as a big dulged in by outsiders, or by business men and property owners. There should be such a thing as a court of public opinion, and it should use its best efforts to prevent, and settle, strikes; if for no better reason, that the best interests of whole communities should be protected.

There is always a great deal of combined local effort made to secure big industries, but apparently not a great deal of effort keep them after they are once secured; and the reason largely is-politics. In a Railroad town like Hagerstown, a large body of employees, acting together, carries with it an influence, summed up in "votes," while the employing Company has practically none. The tendency, therefore, is to cater to the votes, and forget trying to hold the paymaster's office.

If Prohibition Fails-What Then?

Prof. Wm. James Heaps, in his Decoration Day address, in Tanevtown, after giving attention to the purposes and memories of the day, switched to the live topic-"If Prohibition Fails-What Then?" He

"It is a perfectly natural question o ask: If prohibition fails, what hen? Assume that all of us have our opinions on the subject, and that we all are honest, whether we believe in the Eighteenth Amendment, and the Volstead Act which is intended to enforce that amendment, or whether we disbelieve in it. Le us assume as Americans that we are all equally honest in our several beliefs, and then reason it out like Americans and act for the best interests of all concerned

-the entire American people. The 18th. Amendment declares that alcoholic spirits shall not be manufactured or sold for beverage purposes and the Volstead Act to enforce that amendment names one-half of one per-cent alcohol content as the imit beyond which beverages dare not go without being outlawed. The opponents of prohibition claim that the amendment was rushed through congress while the soldiers were in France fighting for the country, and that the passing of the amendment thus was unfair. This argument is hardly tenable since the Amendment was submitted to the states by a Congress in 1917 that had been elected in 1916, and long before any of us had any thought of going to war, and before a single man had been called to the colors; hence the only effect that the soldiers could have had, if at home, would have been to protest the act of a Congress that they themselves had helped to elect.

There are forty-eight sovereign states in the Union, and forty-six of these have ratified the Amendment and forty-five of them had done so within thirteen months of the time it was submitted to the states for ratification. Mississippi was the first state to ratify, which she did on January 8, 1918, while Pennsylvania was the forty-fifth, and she ratified on Februray 25, 1919, while New Jersey three years later ratified on March 9, 1922. Conservative Maryland stood sixth by ratifying on Februray 13, 1918.

The total vote of the legislatures for, 14% against; House 80% for, 20% against. It will thus be seen that a greater number of states in a shorter time, and with a greater vote passed this 18th. Amendment than was necessary to pass it, and it is said by those in position to know that the vote was in every particular more decisive than the vote for any other of the preceeding seventeen amendments. This overwhelming legislative vote of more than 4 to 1 when only a bare majority was necessary in each state to pass it, proves beyond all sophistry that the sentiment of the country was and is overwhelmingly for prohibition.

But that is not all. Before the prohibition amendment was passed, thirty-two states had already adopted state prohibition, or in other words. before the amendment was submitted at all sixty-six and two-thirds pernent of the states were already dry

With the 18th. Amendment a part of the Constitution of the United States by solemn ratification of 34 of the states, it becomes the solemn duty of the Congress to pass laws to enforce the Amendment, and the National Prohibition Act, known as the Volstead Act was the natural quence. This Act prescribes one-half of one per-cent alcoholic content as the maximum amount that any beverage may contain, and not break the

In the minds of many the question naturally arises, why a half percent? Why not allow a higher amount? Why not light light wines and beers The presumption is that "light mean wines of the natural alcoholi content which could never be above 14%, and beers of the 3.5% as now being urged by some. The above figures seem to be the ones that the anti-prohibitionists are now clamoring after, while the ultra prohibitionists doubtless would demand that even the one-half percent alcoholic content be not allowed.

Any one who knows the least thing about the chemistry of matter, knows that any saccharine matter in liquid form, and at a temperature ranging from 37 to 75 degrees fahrenheit, if yeast germs be present, will ferment, and will of itself form some alcohol, hence reason and commonsense must determine some point that is not intoxicating beyond the irreducible minimum, and that point was set at one-half of one percent. This one-half of one percent alcoholic content as not intoxicating has been a part of the revenue laws of object lesson in future like cases. the United States for a generation, there appeared the statement that a the liquor men themselves to protect them from the "boot-leggers" of other days who endeavored to sell "soft" drinks with a kick in them. This standard was set by the liquor men not as the neessary borderland of intoxication, but at a point that would not intoxicate, and as they set the standard themselves they should be the last to not claim that it is not the proper standard.

The States of the Union had prac tically all legislated on this point be-fore it came forward with the Volstead Act, and mark you, in the interest of the liquor men themselves, ong before the 18th. Amendment was passed. A few of the states set various odd standards; two states set one percent as their standard. Thirty five of the states did not permit an amount of alcohol in excess of onehalf of one percent without defining the beverage as intoxicating, and sev enteen of these thirty-five states defined beverages containing any alcoholic contents at all as intoxicating. The setting of one-half of one percent alcoholic content was but following the precedent of a generation, and the law that already prevailed in 34 of the states of the union. Why kick against what they themselves de-

Let us bear in mind the fact that the Constitution of the United States is the fundamental law of the land, and binding upon all the citizens; that the constitution is in its entirety the voluntary surrender of the people and the states of the union of certain definite rights that belonged to the people, but for the good of all were surrendered by the people to the National Government; that the Federal Gov-ernment cannot of itself do anything not specifically granted it in the constitution; that an amendment to the constitution, once ratified, is as much a part of the constitution as is any article in the original document; that to break any amendment is to smash the whole document; that certain definite and prescribed limitations are placed upon its amendment that are so exacting that nothing can be written into it unless it has the over-whelming majority of the people back of it; that anything in the constitution can be taken out of it by exactly the same means by which it was put into it; and that the safety and the perpetuity of our government lies wholly in the keeping of all its precepts while they remain a part of the constitution.

In view of these facts, can light wines and beer of sufficient alcoholic content to be intoxicating, be permitted under the constitution as it now exists? My answer Most emphatically, no! and that those members of Congress, and others who progress. are advocating such action, know, or shoud know, that it cannot be. Let us suppose that Col. Jno. Phillip Hill (for whom, personally, I have a very high regard) should succeed in creating sufficient sentiment in the country to unbalance the present mind and succeed in having elected enough members of Congress who could and would vote to repeal the Volstead Act, and enact in its stead a liberal law that would permit beer of 3.5 alcoholic content by volume, and light wines of complete natural alcoholic content, what would be the result?

diately to the courts, and by the slow | means a great deal to any one afflict process of court action, one or two more years consumed before the matter could be brought to final decision the Supreme Court of the United States, and that court would be compelled to decide that the law was unconstitutional, and we would be back where we started, with the 18th. Amendment still in the constitution and Congress would have to enact another enforcement law. If the Congress were favorable to prohibition, who has the button?" is played by they would reenact under another name a new Volstead Act, and if unfavorable, another act that was a farce, just like the one declared unconstitutional. But during this period, anarchy—a lack of respect for law-would get such an impetus that there would be very grave danger that the entire constitution, and all laws enacted under it, would be in danger of defeat. When such time comes, there is serious danger that our entire system of government is in jeopardy. But I do not believe such a condition will come about. I do not believe that the American people are ready yet to surrender their rights to the whims of a few politicians and a wet press. The remedy for these ills lies with the people themselves. The very stability of the government rests now in the hands of the people. and you and I and the other hundred millions of people are the ones who will determine whether or not America shall endure. The question is not a matter of sentiment. but it is a mat-

Mr. Richard H. Edmunds, editor and publisher of the Manufacturers Record of Baltimore, a man who thinks straight United States and who thinks and writes in terms of big business in a big country, has recently issued a brohure of nearly one hundred pages, double columned the size of a standard magazine, in which he has published the letters and opinions of perhaps a thousand big business and professional men from all over the United States, the facts of which if placed in the hands of every voter, and read and digested by them would so thoroughly settle this question, that it would not again be raised as a political issue. From the opinions of these leaders of thought and action he tabulated these facts: For prohibition in some form. .98.5% Against prohibition in any form 1.5% For strict prohibition.....85.5% For beer and light wine......7.0% Against the Volstead Law ... 1.25% Wants Volstead Law modified .. . 75% For High License......1.00% For Dispensary System.

Undecided and noncommittal. 2.75% Recently in *The American Issue" Standing-off can hardly be safely in- and it was written into the law by census had been taken of the inmates of the prisons of the country by a prison society, and at the request of a United States Senator, who wanted to get the prisoners on the question. Nearly a hundred and fifty thousand prisoners were interviewed, and without restraint, and less than one thousand were for the return of booze, so that from the lowest stratum of society we have the 99% or more who desire prohibition, and from the big business and professional men 98.5% who desire prohibition.

This question is not a partisan issue but an American issue. Only in those localties dominated by booze interests is it made a political issue. But if the Democrats follow their clean leadership, and the Republicans the leadership of President Harding there is little fear of the ultimate results. In Maryland the whiskey bound politicians would read the temperance democrats out of the party, and the same seems true of the leaders of the Republican party. You may do as you please as Democrats, and follow which ever wing of the par-ty best suits, but as for me, I shall prefer the sane leadership of President Harding to that of the whiskey blinded leaders of the Maryland Republican camp, and I do not propose to be read out of the party by any such asinine stupidity as they seem to possess. Let them put their ears to the ground and see what the president thinks, and if they are following his lead, and I am wrong, then "on with the reading act" but if I am following sane leadership and they are not, then as far as I am concerned, I shall do some reading myself when it comes time to vote; but lets hear from the president on the mat-

President Hardings recently said: "In every community men and women have had an opportunity now to know what prohibition means. They know that debts are more promptly paid; that men take home the wages that once were wasted in saloons; that families are better clothed and fed, and more money finds its way into the savings banks. The liquor traffic was destructive of much that was most precious in American life. In the face of so much evidence on that point, what conscientious man would want to let his own selfish desires influence him to vote to bring it back? In another generation, I believe, that liquor will have disappeared not merely from our politics, but from our memories." These are mighty strong words for the leader of his party to utter, especially when surrounded by a few wind-jammers in congress, and so many water-logged barques on the sea of journalism that clut the channel of the laviathans of

But the friends of prohibition, even in Maryland, cannot afford longer to rest smug in the knowledge that Maryland doesn't count for much in the national issue, and even if the politicians are blind leaders of the blind, it doesn't matter much. Maryland's decent citizenship should awake and wipe the stain from the escutcheon on this and other vital issues.

LUCKY WORKER GETS BUTTON

Rather Odd Way by Which Employer Selects Longshoremen for Particular Job He Has.

The uncient game of "Button, button, serious groups of men daily along the New York water front. A small crowd may be seen gathered about a wagon from which a man distributes the buttons. The men who get the buttons

The man in the wagon with the buttons, as a matter of fact, is choosing workmen, and finds the button game a convenient scheme for making his choice. The plan is commonly used in selecting longshoremen to work cargoes on the ships. At an early hour longshoremen hunting jobs gather about the dock entrances. The man who needs workers takes his pocition in a wagon, or perhaps on a box, and calls for workmen. The crowd gathers about him. From his position the employer can see the face and figures of the men. From long experience he can tell at a glance which men best serve his purpose. He makes up his mind in a moment's inspection. To signal the man and get him out of the crowd would require time and lead to complications. He merely flips a button or small disk to the man he has selected. The man catches it and makes his way out of the crowd to the dock. The button game is a great saver of time.

The Home of the Soul.

In olden times, it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man s never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. "I tell you I don't want it carred!"

Recommends Chamberlain's Tablets.

"Chamberlain's Tablets have been used by my husband and myself off and on for the past five years. When my husband goes away from home he always takes a bottle of them along with him. Whenever I have that heavy feeling after eating, or feel dull and played out, I take one or two of Chamberlain's Tablets and they fix me up fine," writes Mrs. Newton Vreeland, Minoa, N. Y. Take these tablets when troubled with constipation or indigestion and they will do you good.

A Bachelor's Error.

A bachelor who is forever "putting his foot in it" recently visited the proud parents of a new baby boy. The mother held up the bundle for

After a careful examination of the baby the bachelor replied:

A good old negro preacher, appalled one Sunday evening by the evil campant in his flock, shouted out in a loud voice: "Ah sees befo' me 10 chicken thieves includin' Barber White." Now Barber White was very influential in the church, and with a shocked moan he rose and rushed out. Afterwards he began to pull all sorts of strings to make the old preacher eat his words. The old fellow, to get littel peace, finally promised to apologize the following Sunday.

So the following Sunday before the sermon he rose and said: "'Ah desires to retract mah last Sunday night remark dat Ah sees before me 10 chicken thieves, includin' Barber White. What Ah should have said, dear bredern and sistern, was dat Ah sees befo' me nine chicken thieves, not includin' Barber White." -Los Angeles Times.

Species in Brazil, Travelers Assert, Throw Off a Small but Quite Distinct Light.

At least two Brazilian travelers have described an extraordinary phenomenon connected with the nests of white ants, or termites, Dr. da Fonseca, who saw the exhibition on the headwaters of the Rio Verde, gives the appearance as that of tiny stars, affording the nest the look of a miniature tower brilliantly illuminated. When the nest was struck with a stick the lights went out, only to re-appear little by little. Castelnau, in the middle of the last century, beheld a similar spectacle near the city of Goyaz. He says that the lights were produced by an immense number of small phosphorescent larvae, which withdrew into the galleries of the mound when an attempt was made to capture them. Branner of Stanford university remarks that this exhibition is probably confined to some particular species, or to some special occasions or conditions of termite life, since he has lived and traveled for years in Brazil without seeing it.

Troublesome Phase. A troublesome part in the life of some children is the "negative" stage, where they want to contradict everybody about everything-trying to conduct long, tiresome dialogues in opposition. This looks as if the child had not enough interests of his, own. His powers are unemployed and are being "turned in" on himself and on you. The best remedy is to give a good deal of active, intelligent, constructive thought of a nonroutine character to the situation and "make a change" of some kind. Sometimes to possess as his own or her own a corner in the attic or the barn-or a tiny room, or a little playhouse, where your girl or boy can find opportunities for "self-expression," to use a modern word, will be the wisest plan. We need "elbowroom," whether we are three or thirtythree years of age .- From "The Little in a practical way in the conscruction Blue Books."

What China Is Doing. A tourist on the trip around the vorld always stops at Shanghai, the principal port of China, and from it visits the show places of the provinces of Kiangsu and Shekland. He sees rice paddies, the canals, the Yangtze, the temple and pagodas, but he may not realize that the smokestacks rising here and there in the calm of the Chinese landscape denote important cotton, flour and bean-oil industries that are the beginning of a modern industrial nation. monplace in Expression.

Those who swear by the classics, and believe that in them is set down all wisdom, as well as those who flout this view for old fogeyism, may be surprised to learn that the oldest known Latin extant, dating, according to most scholars, as early as the Sixth century, B. C., is neither a fragment of an old law carved in crumbling stones nor a scrap of old parchment containing a calendar proclamation.

Instead it appears on so frivolous a thing as a piece of jewelry, a gold brooch, and that not made for a woman, but meant to be worn by a Roman patrician to fasten the folds of his toga at the shoulder. The motto on the piece is nothing that could be carved on a courthouse cornerstone, nor is it suitable for printing on a state seal. It is only a journeyman jeweler's mark, and may be translated "Manius Made Me for Numarius."— might, he couldn't get a good night's rest until at last, driven to desperation, he resorted to sleeping powders. Even these didn't give him relief. That compelled him to increase the dose until he had reached the stage when morphine was about to claim him for her own. However, he was prevailed upon to visit a physician whom he begged for a prescription for this dangerous narcotic. The physician, wise in his generation, did not argue the point, but pretended to readily fall in with his patient's wishes. Retiring to a private room, he quickly ground some popcorn into a fine powder and did it up in some regulation powder papers and handed them to the insomniac. Some weeks passed, and when the physician again saw his patient he was informed that the morphine had done the trick and that he had slept peacefully every night since he began taking the powders. This is what suggestion did for him.-Pictorial Review.

JEHOIAKIM TRIES TO DESTROY GOD'S WORD

LESSON TEXT-Jeremiah 36 GOLDEN TEXT-The Word of our God shall stand forever.-Isa, 40:8. REFERENCE MATERIAL-Isa, 55:8-11;

PRIMARY TOPIC-The Burning of &

JUNIOR TOPIC-Jehojakim Burns the INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC -A King Who Scorned God's Word.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC
-How to Meet the Forces Antagonistic

I. The Book Being Written (vv.

to God's Word.

1. The Time of (v. 1). In the fourth year of Jehoiakim, Jeremiah had been exercising the prophetic ministry some thirty years,

2. Against Whom Spoken (v. They were directed against Israel, Judah and all the nations. 3. The Purpose of (v. 3). The grand object of the Lord in sending this message by the prophet was Judah's repentance.

4. Method of (v. 4). Jeremiah dictated the words of the Lord to Baruch the Scribe, who wrote them upon a roll of a book.

II. The Book Being Read (vv. 5-21). Jeremiah was unable to speak the message of the Lord to the people, as he was "shut up" (v. 5). "Shut up" most likely means a royal ban against Jeremiah's proclamation of God's Word to the people or against his entering the temple.

1. To the People (vv. 6-10). The occasion which brought the people together was a day of fasting (v. 6), because of the threatening of the Babylonians. Jeremiah directed Baruch to read to the people the words of the Lord which he had dictated to him, with the hope that the people would present their supplication befrom his evil way.

2. To the Princes (vv. 11-19), While the reading of the book unto the people seemingly created no great impression, yet Michaiah was so deeply moved that he went to the scribe's chamber where the princes were assembled and declared unto them all the words which he had heard Baruch read. The princes sent for Baruch to come and bring the roll with them. Baruch came and read to them with the result that (1) they were aroused with fear (v. 16). (2) They inquired as to how he had written the words (vv. 17, 18). To this he replied that he had written in the book the words which Jeremiah had dictated to him. (3) Their concern the safety of Jeremiah and Baruch (v. 19). They were instructed to hide themselves from man's

3. To the King (vv. 20, 21). The princes regarded the words of the Lord to be of such importance that they should be read in the hearing of the king, for he was mainly involved In the judgments pronounced. Upon their report of the matter to the king. he had Jehudi bring the roll and rend It to him in the presence of the

III. The King Destroying the Roll (vv. 22-26).

Instead of becoming penitent and afraid he became enraged and cut the roll leaf by leaf and threw it into the fire until it was consumed. This he did against the intercession of some of the princes. When the roll was destroyed he ordered Jeremiah and Baruch arrested.

IV. The Roll Rewritten (vv. 27-32). The burnt roll was reproduced by the command of the Lord, and many like words were added unto them. We should learn from this incident-

1. The Indestructibility of God's Word. Men may cut it to pieces and burn it, but the Word of God shall stand forever. It comes to light again with woes added to be visited upon Its would-be destroyers.

2. The reason men attempt to destroy God's Word. It is because of the authoritative rebuke of their sins. The Bible arraigns man for his pride and wickedness and asserts God's sovereign power over man and his demand for a personal surrender unto Him and worship of Him.

3. The Method of Attempted Destruction of God's Word. It was part by part. "When Jehudi had read three or four leaves he cut it with a penknife." The rationalist today cuts out the biblical conception of God as a being whose essential nature demands punishment of sin; therefore he cuts out the Bible doctrine of man as created of God in His likeness and image. Instead of that he makes man a product of evolution; therefore he explains away the fall of man.

These two men, Jonathan and Saul are representatives of two types of friendship; those who seek our highest good, even to the sacrifice of their own interests and those who seek our good only to the point of their own convenience. Friends of the first type are very rare; those of the latter quit plentiful. The former stick closer than a brother; the latter not as close as a second cousin. To possess even one friend of the first type is to be rich; to possess a multitude of the other type is to be poor. The bettering or improving of our friendships is abundantly worth-while. Machine Measures Golt Drive. Golf enthusiasts bent upon developing an ability to make long drives can measure their progress by means of a machine which has been invented to record accurately the length of drives.

The machine consists of a steel pole on the top of which is a dial to the mechanism of which is attached a cord. The golf ball is attached to the end of this cord. When the player strikes the ball the force of the drive is recorded on the dial and the length of the drive, had the ball not been held by the cord, can be determined .- Pittsburgh Dispatch,

There are 400,000 described species of insects against the single human species, says a writer in the New York Journal. # KEEP LIST OF WEDDING GIFTS

Royalties Now Take No Chances of Presents Being Pilfered by Dishonest Personages.

Royal wedding gifts-a subject of topical interest at the moment-were not always so carefully dealt with and tended as they are nowadays. Visiting a curio dealer's shop in Aberdeen in the early days of her widowhood, Queen Victoria discovered there one of her own wedding presents—a piece of silver given by a servant of Stockmar, the prince consort's friend and physician. "Perturbed and wounded," the queen instituted an inquiry and found that many things given her at her wedding were carelessly stored in odd rooms at Windsor, in cellars at Buckingham palace, at Osborne and at Balmoral; lack of control in the ousehold had allowed others, including pieces of plate and various costly gifts, to be spirited away, and some sold. At once she put in hand the work of cataloging and photographing her wedding gifts, the catalogue being afterward extended to all her personal possessions. The same syswas afterward applied in the summer months. Everybody needs the home storekeeper. He is an absolute necessity. Nobody can possibly supply all of their needs by "sending off" for them. There are the many small purchases -the pints, the pounds, the half-yards the very heavy articles, the liquids, the bulky goods, the items we want "right away," the things we want to match, the sugar and nails. Of course, we need the storekeeper for a "convenience;" but, the big question is, can he afford to pay rent and expenses simply by selling little conveniences, while we buy our big bills away from home? If everybody would make merely a "convenience" of country town stores, there would be very few and very small stores.

A home store is very much the same as a home-town doctor. We can go to a hospital, or to a specialist, or to a sanatorium, for our long-standing cases; but, when we break a limb, or have a bad accident, or a sudden spell of colic-any emergency case-we need the home doctor, at once. We can send to Chicago for a machine but when the machine breaks down in the midst of an important job of work, we can't wait until the repairs, or a mechanic, can come to us from Chicago, nor can we afford to pay the expense of it; neither can we All Standard Lines and Repairs with a very clear conscience go to the home dealer, in such an emergency, and ask to be heped out of our trouble. So, when we buy, as a personal liberty, would it not be merely an-other personal liberty for the home man to let us stick, when we go to see to se him only because we must:

These are all very old arguments. Reduced down to absolute facts, we find that we are dependent on each other for mutual help. Such a thing as absolute independence does not exist, and we never know when we are going to need help that cannot be sent off" for. "Reciprocity" is the word for our needs, and we ought to be as willing to give it, as ask for it.

"We never miss the water "till the well runs dry" is a very old saying, but a true one; and we never miss the home stores, the home mechanics, the to please. home working-man, until he quits and goes to more profitable fields. Very frequently we have inquiries concerning certain local happenings, as though a newspaper office should know about such things, as a matter of course. Well, speaking only of Taneytown, the news is spread about everywhere else than at our office. At times, we think the public tries specially to keep us from "finding out" things.

Tanytown 6-Hanover 4.

The baseball season opened in Taneytown, on Tuesday, with a fine game between Taneytown and the Red Men Athletic Club of Hanover, Pa., the former winning in a well played game on both sides, 6 to 4. The game was an excellent exhibition of clean sport on both sides, good order being the rule throughout, both on the part of the visitors and the spectators. Fully 500 saw the game, and the grand stand was packed to its capacity. The battery work of both teams was. excellent, and the batting was correspondingly light on both sides, and with few fielding errors. Metzgar pitched for Taneytown in the absence of Bonsack, the regular pitcher, and his work was very good. He got into a tight place in the 5th. inning with the bases filled and nobody out, but settled down to fine work and retired the side with only one run, and again in the 9th. did almost equally as well.

The Taneytown team put up a specially strong fielding game, and throughout demonstrated that the team is as good as that of last year. or better.

The return of first-baseman M. C. Fuss, to the team, was generally regarded as adding to the teams strength. The umpiring of Mr. Ashenfelter, of Taneytown, was very good and was not protested by either side; fortunately there were not many opportunities for close decisions. The iocal management desires to emphasize the fact that throughout the season no rowdyism, nor rough-house exhibitions will be tolerated, and asks all who attend the games to assist in promptly checking any practices that have a tendency to lower the stand and of morality and clean sport on the grounds. ing on the 4th. and 5th. pages.

Since the "Specials" have for a good while been overrunning one column, male and six male. Both plays will be comedies. The admission charge will while been overrunning one column, be 25c for adults and 15c for children, we have had lots of trouble accommunity we have had lots of trouble accommunity with the company of the company modating general advertising; and we wonder now that we did not make the change long ago.
