BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Bill for a Bond Issue Likely to be Presented.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education for Carroll county was called to order at 10 o'clock, on Wednesday, Feb. 6, 1924, in the office of the Board of Education. Commissioner Koons was absent The minutes for the meeting of

Dec. 10, were approved as read. The list of bills presented to the Board was approved and ordered paid.

Superintendent Unger and Com-missioner Allender were appointed a committee to investigate further the heating facilities of Charles Carroll school.

The resignation of Mrs. Ruth Stewart and Miss L. Miraud Nus-baum were laid before the Board, and accepted.

The Board having been notified that the basement of the Church at Parrsville could no longer be used for school purposes after this year, Superintendent Unger and Commissioner Zepp were appointed a com-mittee to take such steps as seems adequate to provide for a colored school in Ridgeville.

The Board decided to close the Pleasant Grove school, and transport the children to Charles Carroll; the teacher, Miss Ethel Kump, having been assigned to the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Nusbaum The Board appointed Gordon Lin-ton as trustee for Slack's and Oliver Spencer as trustee for Lawndale school.

Upon information from our counsel with respect to Collins Brown, of Hampstead District, having died intestate, the counsel was authorized to present a claim to the Orphans' Court for the money due under the law from this estate.

During the course of the session Manchester and Union Bridge re-spectively, appeared before the Board requesting that the County Commissionrs meet with them and the Board of Education, in order to hear the wants and needs of their respective communities. After the hearing, the Boards promptly informed these delegations that neither could insist consistently upon an increase of the consistently upon an increase of tax-ation in this county for school buildings, and could make no promises that either community would be promised a building under the circumstances because it would not be cumstances because it would not be fair to pick one community out against the other. But in view of the serious demands in these three places, and many others, for more adequate school facilities, the meet-ing resolved itself into a committee of the whole to discuss ways and of the whole to discuss ways and means to adequately satisfy the de-mands for better building facilities throughout the county, and a committee was appointed. consisting of three members from each district of which Dr. Legg of Union Bridge is

Senate to create a debt of $30,000 for a road from the Sanatorium at Henryton to Springfield State Hospital

Mr. Shriner introduced a bill in the House, authorizing Union Bridge to borrow $7000.

The equal rights bill was killed in the House, on Wednesday, for the present session.

Delegate Dimarco's bill to investi-gate the Md. Anti-saloon League was recommitted to the Judiciary Committee, the object being to thereby kill the bill by not again reporting it. It was thought that the bill might cause a warm debate, and show the line-up of wet and dry forces.

A bill has been presented in the House permitting any regular voter to vote at the primary of either party-Republicans at primaries, and vice-versa. Democratic

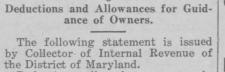

A bill aimed at the retailing of eleomargarine, or coloring it, is backed by the State Dairymen's Association.

Senator Hesson has introduced a bill to increase the salary of the Treasurer of Carroll County from $1500 to $2000.

The Senate, on Wednesday, voted that the Senate Committee on Tem-perance be granted indefinite time for the consideration of the Prohibition enforcement bill. The "wets" consider this an indication of the standing of the Senate. The House, on Thursday,killed the Prohibition enforcement act by voting 72 to 39 to sustain the unfavor-able report of the committee. Much time was taken by so-called "dry" members in explaining their votes. The motion was then made to reconsider, followed by a motion to table, which kills the bill for this session. Maryland therefore goes on record as practically refusing to help to enforce the Constitution of the United States.

Supt. Crabbe of the Anti-Saloon League charges that the "wets" broke an agreement for hearings on Tuesday, and the bill was to be brought up suddenly and killed. Mr. Crabbe says: The wet forces in the Legislature by their action have served notice on the Federal Government that Maryland proposes to continue to ignore any obligation to perform its duty under the Eighteenth Amendment. They will have no right to complain at whatever steps the Government may take to enforce the dry laws in this State. Their action is a direct invitation to Federal officials to step in and enforce the act in their own way Two bills affecting the State primary law were introduced Thursday by Senator Frick, of the Second city district. One of the measures would abolish the primary by providing for nomination of candidates by the State Central Committee or the State convenion, while the other provides for a primary based on the total number of votes cast rather than on the political unit system.

Deductions allowed taxpayers in connection with the maintenance and operation of automobiles are the subject of frequent inquiries from taxpayers in filing an income tax return. The following is for the guidance of owners and prospective owners. Such cost—for garage bills, gasoline, repairs, etc., may be deducted as a business expense when an automobile is used wholly for business purposes, or in trade, profession, or farming. When used partly for such purposes and partly for the pleasure or convenience of the taxpayer and his family, the cost may be prorated and that part attributed to business or the other pursuits mentioned deducted as a business expense.

The same rule applies with regard to the deduction for depreciation, which is allowed when an automobile is used wholly in business, trade, profession or farming, and must be apportioned accordingly when used partly for such purposes and partly for pleasure. If an automobile is used almost exclusively for pleasure, a deduction for depreciation is not allowed.

The purchase price of an automobile, even when used wholly in business, cannot be deducted from gross income. It is a capital expenditure, deduction of which is expressly dis-allowed by the revenue act. The 5% tax which attaches to the sale of an automobile cannot be deducted by the purchaser because it is a tax levied on the sale by the manufact-urer, and must be returned and paid by him. The manufacturer may reimburse himself in the amount of the tax by agreement with the purchaser, in manner prescribed by Treasury regulations. So far as the purchaser is concerned, the tax is a part of the cost to him of the auto-mobile. The manufacturer may not deduct the tax in his return, unless the amount is included in his gross income.

ed whether the automobile is used for business or for pleasure or convenience.

In the event of a collision between a truck and an automobile used for pleasure or convenience, the owner of the truck may claim a deduction for damages, provided the truck was be-ing used for business at the time of the collision. No deduction is allow-ed the owner of the automobiles, because it was not being 'used for business purposes. Amounts expended by owners of automobiles used for pleasure or convenience in repairing damages thereto caused by negligent opration do not constitute deductible

Taxpayers are advised not to delay in the filing of their returns. To d so results in confusion and congestion during the closing days of the filing period, which ends at midnight of March 15.

ty, who is both a preacher and a farmer, recently gave his views, at length, in the Baltimore Sun, on the "Farmer and his wife" commenting on a series of articles under the above caption that have been running in The Sun, most of them in a pessimistic strain, almost as though that was the purpose of the writer—to create discontent with agricultural life—a class of articles the The Record very recently called attention to as becoming noticably plentiful. This article by Rev. Hepburn is of a distinctly different type, and we should like to give more of it space, for the reason that it appears to speak from first-hand information, in a practically convinciig way, and also coming not only from a man of intelligence, but one of experience. He says in part; I am an old man and have lived for nine years on "borrowed time." All of my years have been spent in the country, dependent upon the farm for my food and clothing. Fifty-sx of those years have been consecrated to the life of a rural pastor, spent in two States. As such I have gone in and out among country people of all classes in the most familiar way, eat-ing at their tables, sleeping in their beds and for the time being a member of the family, trusted implicitly and talked to as such. I think I know something of farm life, stretching over a period of at least two generations.

ness or prosperity. This is more true of farm life than any other. No farmer can tell at the end of one year's experience whether he has really gone forward, stood still or gone backward. If at the end of 5 or 10 years he can say, "I have supported my family comfortably, improved this farm and have a personalty in stock and implements worth from $3,000 to $5,000, with no liens upon it," that man's life is not a failure. It is not until a farmer sells out or his estate is settled up that he really knows how much he is worth. Does farming pay? Is land a good and safe investment? These are ques-tions boldly to the front just now. In answering these questions I would say it depends upon the man and his

Taneytown-Littlestown Road.

The Gettysburg Times contained the following news item, on Wednesday, relative to the Littlestown end of the Taneytown road.

"The Adams County Commissioners voted to help Germany Township with a State aid road on the route from Littlestown to Taneytown as far as the Mason-Dixon line a distance of approximately 1 1/5 miles. A delega-tion from the lower end of the county headed by Samuel M. Keagy, of Littlestown, an ex-county commissioner, presented the request to the commissioners

By their action, the commissioners obligated the county to pay one-fourth of the cost of an improved road in Germany Township on the route specified. Another fourth of the cost will be borne by the township as Mt. Pleasant Township is doing with the hard road it is to receive this summer; the remaining half of the expense of building will fall upon the State."

Those Old Shoes!

Don't throw them away. They are needed, urgently, critically needed, for the naked, bleeding feet of little children and women. From overseas comes a cry for your old shoes; from nearly two million refugees and from a hundred thousand little orphans, comes the appeal.

These people have been driven from their homes, herded into camps, waiting for they know not what, hop-ing for relief. Thousands of them have hiked through the mud, dirt and through snow; they have plodded until their shoes shredded and fell off. Many of them died by the way, the others have reached the refugee camps

Millions of other refugees are being exchanged from Greece to Turkey and from Turkey to Greece, many of them are in abject misery and need. Then, in great orphanages, thousands upon thousands of little children call for shoes.

The Near East Relief, heeding this piteous cry, has set February 16 to February 22 as Shoe week in Maryland. During this week, you are asked to get together your old shoes, any styles, all styles, tie them together, leave the shoestrings in, and mail your bundle, parcel post, prepaid, to the Near East Relief 14 West Franklin St., Baltimore, Maryland where all these donations will be assembled, packed and shipped overseas.

Merchants, here is an opportunity to do good with that old, unsalable stock, give your shop-worn shoes to the Near East Relief.

Heed this appeal, answer this cry, everybody. Little children will call you blessed; women will utter prayers of thanksgiving. Remember—February 16 to Febru-

The President, in an address in New York, Tuesday night, further amplified his policy toward other public questions, as well as toward the oil scandal, and gave further notice to the quarrelsome Senate that he was not to be moved by threat to take action against any one. "I want no hue and cry, no mingling of innocent and guilty in unthinking con-demnation," Mr. Coolidge asserted as the banquet room resounded with "No confusion of mere cheers. questions of law with questions of fraud and corruption.

I ask the support of our people as Chief Magistrate, intent on the enforcement of our laws without fear or favor, no matter who is hurt or what the consequences."

Proposed Ballot Law.

The new ballot law, as presented by delegate Given, and prepared by Assistant Attorney General Willis R. Jones, provides for the following changes;

The printing of only 25 percent more ballots than there are voters in any one precinct instead of double form. the number.

The use of a smaller size type for printing specimen ballots.

The elimination of blank spaces on the ballots for the writing in of names and providing that proposed constitutional amendments be printed at the bottom of a column instead of in a separate column.

Elimination of the requirement that the location of the polling place be printed on the ballots used in each precinct.

Elimination of the requirement that the names of candidates be printed twice before election day. The abolition of revision day by providing that three hours of the last general registration day be used for this purpose. Elimination of the requirement that the names of judges and clerks be printed.

of coal. Furthermore as a heating engineer clearly pointed out-while old Mother Nature is still storing up just as many B. T. U's. in the oak and hickory as ever, we are paying more for a ton of coal but its heating value has depreciated, due to the fact that slate and other debris now goes in with the coal.

The problem then is to release these stored heat units from the wood in such a way as to keep the farm house comfortable during the winter. As a heating unit, the old-fashioned "air-tight stove" is unbeatable, but the bother and dirt of one in every room is a serious objection. The much over rated pipeless furnace with proper grating will burn wood and give satisfactory heat if the houses are built for it and privacy is not required. But as a matter of fact most farm houses are not adapted to a pipeless furnace. On the authority of heating engineers, it is entirely feasille to use wood in a hot water or steam plant for house heating by manufacturing a special type of boiler. There has been no demand for such a plant and it has not, therefore, been put on the market. Coal at $18.00 a ton should hasten the day when it will be sheer economic folly to allow thousands of cords of heating units to rot in the woods, simply because it is not in the most compact and convenient

The progressive farmer will have achieved another step in independence when in the face of inevitably advancing coal prices, he can say, "That doesn't bother me a bit for I grow my own coal," and the really significant fact about growing your own winter's heat supply is, that you can do so without interfering with the final crop of timber on the woodpail. lot. All the defective, crooked trees and the wood of inferior species, can be cut and used for fuel to the obvious betterment of those trees that are to remain until the final harvest. -State Dep't Forestry.

Lincoln Day was observed at Westminster, on Tuesday evening, by a program and banquet at the West-minster Hotel. About 140 guests, men and women, were present. Robt. S. McKinney, Taneytown, presided. Addresses were delivered by Mrs. W. Bladen Lowndes, Mrs. Emily A. Herr, president W. M. College. Music was furnished by an preacher or mechanic who is not on his job in business hours will soon be laid before the Legislature at this have no job to attend to. So with the farmer. If he looks upon it as his. business, loves it, studies how to improve it and gives it his undivided attention it will give him value received. If he spends one-half of the day at the milk station, the afternoon gadding about the country and his evenings at the village store expecting "George" to do the work his farming will be a failure. No busi-ness runs itself with profit. The only business that grows safely without daily attention is an investment in Liberty bonds with the interest put in a reliable savings bank at compound interest. Even these must be attended to. Yes, I say that farming pays if the right man is in charge. If I were a young man today, with no more ability than I have had, and yet were able to profit by my experience and observation, I would hesitate, if I had $5,000 to $10,000 to invest, to put it into a good farm and move on it. There is no life so free and independent. There is no better place to raise a family, and there is no undertaking that more readily responds to industry, good management and economy than cultivation of the land. God has made it so.

What does the city man know about fresh eggs, laid yesterday, fresh hole-made sausage and hot soda biscuits and real cream for breakfast or supper, or a good 2-year-old ham or fried chicken and fresh vegetables, all put on the table before him so that he can choose what he will have for dinner? The farmer, after his abundant meal, which has gone to the right spot, can say: "Also I have eaten: I am now ready for the plow, the mow er, reaper or to bunch up the hay." He knows nothing about the empty

"The Farmer and His Wife" have their gloomy days undoubtedly. So do the man and his wife in every sphere in life. When the rough wind is tugging at our doors and windows or the dashing rain is pelting in the face and we can scarcely face the storm we complain and forget all about the many bright, beautiful days of last summer and fall. It is all bad and no good and it will always be so. This is a day of hardship, but it is not all hardship, nor will it continue to be so. Good days have been, good days will be.

The ups and downs of life are many The true man is he who takes life as it comes—is sober and self-controlled in prosperity and is not overcome by adversity.

So I say to the farmer and his wife: "Don't be calamity howlers, but smile, smile even in the dark hour, smile; the better day is coming."

Better Mailing Addresses.

The Postoffice Department is taking active and practical steps toward preventing the clogging of the mails with what is practically "undeliver-able" mail matter, due to the use of old mailing lists by business concerns or addresses which require "forwarding" to another address.

In general terms, the careless addressing of mail matter; the depositing of letters and packages with incomplete, or incorrect addresses, causes hundreds of thousands of dollars actual loss to patrons of the mails, each year, and nearly $2,000.-000 (estimated) unnecessary cost to the P. O. Department for transportation and handling. In another effort to stem the tide of this waste: to save money for the taxpayer and to turn back into constructive business channels the millions now lost through mistakes, Postmaster General Nell has designated the week of February 18 to 25 as better mailing week.

During that week he will seek the co-operation of chambers of commerce, boards of trade, large business and industrial enterprises, and the press of the country, with a view to having antiquated mailing lists brought up to date and every check placed against the possibility of letters reaching the postal system without accurate addresses.

Woman Would be P. M. Woodsboro.

Mrs. Jane LeGore Feiser, wife of Jacob Feiser, is a candidate for appointment as postmaster of Woodsboro, to take the place of the present incumbent, who is a Democrat. Mrs. Feiser is a daughter of James W. LeGore, and has been active in war and other community work, as well as a leader of Republican wo-men workers. Apparently, she will have very strong backing for the appointment.

"I Shall Leave the Church."

Here is a letter from a man who would be considered angry if he were not so good a man; as it is, he is only indignant. And he is indignant. over a church action which he did not favor. He says he will leave the church, and probably he will.

Hello Is an Old and Respeciable Word

A need of the time is some plain and serious salutation, like "Hail, fellow," or "Good morrow, neighbor." Men of spirit are rebelling at the demure monotony of "Good morning, Mr. Jenkins." On the other hand, a professor of English takes us to task for using "Hello" as a term of greeting. On top of which Miss Megan Lloyd George confesses that in America the never-failing "Pleased to meet you" left her at a loss for a response conformable to the local rubric. She might have said, "Oh, are you?"

Or she might have contented herself with "Really?" Or she might have been more loquacious and babbled, "So good of you to mention it." Or, had British reserve permitted, she might have taken the wind out of the other person's sails by retorting, "As for me, I'm simply transported at such an auspicious encounter."

But, not venturing to invent a formula, she stuck to her mild "How d'you do?" and wondered if she were transgressing American etiquette by not making verbal acknowledgment of the other person's profession of pleasure at the meeting.

An easy way to greet everybody is with a "Hello." But some persons consider that too informal. Despite professorial condemnation, "hello" is a word of old and respectable lineage. -New York Sun and Globe.

First American Money Made of Clam Shells

The proprietor of "a ranch on Cape Cod" has found traces of a trading station established at Bourne, or Manement, in the year of the Pilgrims, 1627. At this trading post American money was first invented as a device for making trade more convenient. This post was established for trade between the Pilgrims on one side and the Indians and the Dutch New Yorkers on the other. In the course of time they invented wampum, which was to have a stable, fixed value at all times. Wampum was a piece of quahog (clam) shell cut into a certain shape and well polished. One piece of quahog shell represented a certain fixed value .- Detroit News.

The Court of Love

The Court of Love was the name applied in the later Middle ages to groups of noble ladies who often, while assembled to listen to the declamations of the troubadours, took occasion to decide upon questions of courtesy and etiquette, particularly in affairs of love. According to some authorities, these courts formed regular institutions during the Twelfth century. There was a code of 31 articles and decisions are said to have been based on this code: A typical example of the questions submitted to such tribunals is the following: "If a lady and strengthens with the years, and than for the church if one should listened to one admirer, pressed the hand of another, and touched with her toe the foot of a third, which of these three was the favored suitor?"

One of our really great dailies used the expression "politics is adjourned" in commenting on the death of Mr. Wilson, alluding to the fact that when we come to the passing away of even our political enemies, we can see much good in them that we could never just see before, and at last and at what a fiasco the Democrats had least we can be honest enough to administer tardy justice. ### The Devil's Tower

This is a huge tower of volcanic rock in the eastern part of Wyoming, near Moorecraft. It rises 1,200 feet above the plain, and is visible for a hundred miles in that cloudless region. It was used as a guiding mark by the early Indians of the plains and mountains. Pathfinders of the French colonies in Canada used it as a landmark, and later military expeditions in the Sioux and Crow Indian country march by it. So great was the popular interest in the Devil's Tower that the United States government, in 1906, pronounced it a national monument and placed it under the direction of the National Park service.

Unconstitutional.

The handwriting of Horace Greeley, the journalist, was so bad that at one time there was only one compositor in the newspaper office who could set up his copy. This man seemed to his fellows unduly puffed up by the fact. One day while the supercompositor was out a bird that had flown into the office walked into some printing ink and then on to a number of loose sheets lying on the floor. These sheets were placed on the absent compositor's desk and when he returned he proceeded to set up the supposed "copy." Presently he jibbed at a word and went and asked Greeley what it was. "Why," Greeley shouted, "any fool could see what it is. It's unconstitutional."

To Ease His Conscience. Mose was equipped with rod and basket when he bumped right into the parson, the latter being headed for church. "Where to, Mose?" asked the good

Billiard Game Played in Cage With Lions

Before the game of billiards was known by its present name it was called "paille maille," and was played out of doors like croquet. The famous London street, Pall Mall, is named after it, for the game was played years ago on its site.

Since then the game has been played in many queer places, but by far the most exciting match on record was that which took place between two men some years ago in a lions' cage.

The billiard table was placed in the cage where the lions lay resting, and the two men entered and began to play. Their cues had been specially made and were very heavy, so that, if required, they could be used "as weapons.

Both men played nervously, making many misses, while the lions looked on curiously. At one time one of the ivory balls fell from the table and rolled near one of the lions. The great beast sniffed at it and growled ominously. After that both players hastened to finish their game .-- London Answers.

Radio in the Arctic

Daylight acts to disintegrate radio waves, or affects the earth's crust so that it "or some other undefined natural phenomena" absorbs them, experimental communication with stations in the frozen north has convinced K. B. Warner, secretary of the American Radio Relay league.

His experiments were made in a world-wide "check-up" to discover what was preventing contact during the five weeks of Arctic daylight be tween stations on this continent and the ice-bound ships of Roald Amundsen and Donald B. MacMillan.

Intelligence of Indian

Elephant Illustrated

The real test of animal intelligence, according to Mr. Samuel A. Derieux in the American Magazine, is the ability to meet an unforeseen difficulty, to grapple with a situation for which neither training nor instinct has prepared. Here is a good example:

A traveler of the name of Tenant was once riding horseback along a road in India, on both sides of which grew a dense jungle. Suddenly his horse shied violently, and Mr. Tenant saw coming toward him a huge elephant unattended and balancing on his tusks a heavy timber that he was evidently carrying from a sawmill to the shipyards. The timber filled the road from side to side, and Mr. Tenant could not possibly pass.

Suddenly the elephant, seeing horse and rider, stopped and turned sidewise. Then he backed a short distance into the jungle and, leaving room for horse and rider to pass, snorted out his directions that they should go on. But a horse is terribly afraid of an elephant, and Mr. Tenant's horse continued to rear and plunge; the man himself, interested to see what would happen next, did not froce him to pass.

Deeper and deeper into the jungle the elephant backed; still the horse reared and plunged. At last the elephant laid the piece of timber down and, pushing hard against the undergrowth, disappeared. Then Mr. Tenant rode past.

A short distance down the road he reined in and looked back. The elephant came out of the jungle, picked up the timber with his tusks, balanced It with his trunk and, turning it round in the road, went on his way with loud snorts of indignation and disgust.

Swallows Obey Whistle,

An expert in bird lore has been making a study of the peculiar actions of several hundreds of chimney swallows that make their home in the tall chimney of a paper mill in Oneca, Conn. He has discovered that at exactly 6 o'clock each morning, when the whistle blows at a mill three miles away the hundreds of swallows rise from the chimney and fly away to their daily hunting grounds just as promptly as the hundreds of human workers answer the whistle. For two months, he says, they have not been absent or tardy. At night the birds return in small grouns

The Ladies' Ground Hog Social held on the evening of ground hog day, was a success in every way, and was largely attended. The carpet rag balls brought good prices. The ladies placed their name on the inside of the ball, and the lady whose name was found in the ball was supposed to give the gentleman who purchased it, his supper. That feature of the so-cial was both profitable and amusing The ball had to be unwrapped to see who you were to eat supper with. We are told that the supper and balls netted a profit of $30.39; besides, hogs had been sent out all over the country to have them fattened, and returned the evening of the social. They were all brought in and put in a large sack where they were kept until the society met and opened them and counted the cash, which was found to be $101.40; and we are informed that quite a number have come back since that and are not counted, so at this writing the total net profit cannot be given. However, the ladies wish to extend their many thanks to all those who fattened pigs, as well as those who helped to make the social a success

There are many strange sights for the tourist to see in Havana, but perhaps one of the most surprising comes when he visits a Cuban home and sees the family automobile in the front hallway.

In all of downtown Havana, with its population of some 400,000, space is at a premium. Streets are narrow and houses are joined together and are flush with the sidewalk. When the automobile came along many families who could afford one uid not feel able to pay garage rent, or did not care to have their machine kept blocks or even miles away.

Practically all of the front entrances have wide double doors, and so the cars found parking space indoors, usually near the staircase. They can be seen in scores of homes, but the oil cans, extra tires and greasy cloths usually found in an American garage are tucked away out of sight.

"Mississippi Dragons"

Two devil-like monsters painted and carved on the face of a cliff 80 feet above the Mississippi river near Alton, Ill., were discovered by the French explorers Marquette and Joliet in June, 1693. They were known as the "Piasa petroglyph" to archeologists and were commonly called the Mississippi dragons. They were ranked as the finest example of early Indian art, and many legends were told to account for them. Marquette described them as being "as large as a calf, with horns on the head like a deer, a fearful look, red eyes, bearded like a tiger, the face somewhat like a man's, the body covered with scales and the tail so long that it twice makes a turn of the body, passing over the head and down between the legs, and ending at last in a fish's tail." The painting was in an almost inaccessible place on the cliff and remained there until 1856 or 57, when limestone workers quarried back into the bluff and destroyed it.

toms all over Europe points to the conclusion that tree worship was an important element in the early religion of mankind, especially of the Aryan stock, and the singularly uniformity of rites and ceremonies which can easily be shown to exist in widely separated countries warrants us in believing that they cannot have changed much from very remote ages; and that the practices continued down to a very recent period-some even among ourselves-were substantially identical with the rites and ceremonies observed by Egyptians, Etruscans, Greeks and Romans."

The primitive belief was that spirits resided in trees. Without this basic idea being entirely lost there came the period of the sacred groves and the Druids' oaks, and then the dedication of certain sorts of trees to the earliest and simplest form of the superstition.

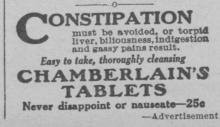

We touch wood to call the attention of the tree spirit to the fact that we recognize his influence in the good luck of which we boast and in order that he may not feel slighted and change our good fortune into bad; at least, that is why our ancestors touched wood.-London Tit-Bits.

Simplified Weight.

"We never needed any of them new-fangled scales in Ireland," said O'Hara. "There's an aisy way to weigh a pig without scales. You get a plank and you put it across a stool. Then you get a big stone. Put the pig on one end of the plank and the stone on the other end and shift the plank until they balance. Then you guess the weight of the stone and you have the weight of the pig."

Preventable.

Sickness costs the United States $900,000,000 a year in lost wages and the total loss from preventable diseases and deaths is nearly $3,000,000,-000, according to the national health council. How much of this could be prevented by better laws to ensure pure water and milk, and abolish slums and overwork and overcrowding? How much by shutting out lowgrade emigation?

Sugar From the Dahlia

The dahlia may become one of the chief sources of the world's sugar supply, because of a new formula for dahlia sugar that has lately been completed by the University of Southern California. Thousands of acres may be taken up with the cultivation of a tuber that has hitherto been valued only for its flower, as a result. The tuber of the dahMa contains not only a large percentage of sugar, but sugar one and one-half times as sweet as cane or beet sugar. Probably the greatest benefit derived from this new discovery of the commercial value of the dahlia tuber is that the sugar it yields is quite harmless to diabetic patients, and this fact will bring cheer and new hope to thousands of invalids.

Magnetic Machine Lays

Nails Out for Packing It is reported that a Swiss inventor has produced a machine that by magnetism arranges nails in parallel layers ready for packing. It works on the principle that all linear iron objects in a magetic field arrange themselves automatically in the direction of the lines of force. The machine can also be used to arrange wire rods, hairpins, knife blades, pens and fishhooks. The packages to be filled by the machine may be the standard type of nail keg, wooden boxes or paper cartons. It is probable that the tenpound cardboard package will supersede the old-fashioned nail keg, because it costs less, weighs less and is more convenient. The machine consists of two parts-paralleling platform and a feed trough above it, which is fitted with a shaking mechanism. The articles to be packed are poured into the feed trough in lots of about 1,000 pounds, and, by the action of the shaking mechanism, are moved to the front of the trough, where they drop into the paralleling platform. That consists of a tray, each side of which forms one pole of an electromagnet. The articles as they fall are drawn into the direction of the magnetic lines of force, which adjust them at once in parallel lines.

Barbados Man Travels 10.000 Miles for Wife

The course of true love, famed for its failure to run smooth, has established a record in the case of W. Percy Emtage, electrical engineer of the Barbados, says the New York World. It carried him 10,000 miles.

Three years ago Emtage first saw Sibyl Peterkin, also of the Barbados, and set out to get an introduction. He succeeded and followed it with a proposal. Miss Peterkin said she would love to be his sister and then packed up and departed for Boston.

Both wrote, Emtage's letters were pleading; Miss Peterkin's friendly and discouraging. Finally she quit writing altogether. Her last letter explained he was a "nice boy, but-"

This was six months ago and Emtage decided Boston might be interesting. He went there. Miss Peterkin had gone to Los Angeles. Emtage went to Los Angeles, but she had left for San Francisco. He followed, but she had returned to Boston.

Cheerfully he started back across the continent, only to find she had quit Boston for Brooklyn. He found her there in the home of her uncle, Edward Pyle.

Then Miss Peterkin gave up. They were married recently in the Municipal building, New York.

MORE DELECTABLE DISHES

THOSE who are fond of the alligator pear, or avocado, will enjoy a few recipes to vary the serving of this luxury.

The Hawaiian way is to dice the fruit with equal parts of pineapple, serve in cups of head lettuce and French dressing, garnish with a quarter of a slice of unpeeled orange.

Most epicures who enjoy this fruit like the plain French dressing to serve with it, no matter in what combination.

The simplest way of serving the fruit is to cut it in halves, remove the seeds and fill with French dressing, using lemon juice in the proportion of one teaspoonful to three of oil.

Montrose Avocado Salad.

Rub a salad bowl with a clove of garlic, add one cupful of diced avocado, one cupful of orange dice, two tablespoonfuls of chopped pimentoes, two tablespoonfuls of chopped green pepper and two cupfuls of shredded lettuce. Mix with French dressing and serve each portion with a half walnut on each.

Avocado Cocktail.

Fill cocktail glasses two-thirds full of finely diced avocado, pour over a sauce made by mixing one-half cupful of tomato catsup, one-half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of orange juice, one-half cupful of cream. Season with salt, cayenne and tabasco sauce.

Amber Marmalade.

Take one oragne, one lemon and one grapefruit. Remove the core and seeds from the grapefruit as well as iemon and orange, cut in pieces and put through the meat grinder; add three times the bulk of the pulp in water and let stand over night. The next day cook until the peel is tender, set away again and on the third day add an equal measure of sugar; cook until it jellies. Seal in glasses and set away.

Customer Cooperation

TELEPHONE service consists essentially in _____ providing the facilities for communication.

Reduced to fundamentals, it may be stated thus :---

A is provided with a telephone.

B is provided with a telephone.

C, through wires and mechanism, connects these two telephones.

Satisfaction with the service depends largely on A and B.

From the very beginning their cooperation is imperative. A must call B and B must answer. Doing these things in the way which makes for good service involves :---

- 1-Such care in asking for the number as one would use in addressing a letter.
- 2—Such promptness in answering the call as one would give to keeping a personal appointment.
- 3-Such courtesy as one would show in making or receiving a business or social call.

4-Such clear, correct speech as one would use in the face-to-face transaction of the most important business.

Each subscriber can increase the effectiveness of his telephone communication by such thoughtfulness as he would employ in his daily life.

PLANT TREES ALONG ROADS Entire Stretch of Sixty Miles of Paved

Highway in New Jersey to Be Beautified.

Beautifying New Jersey highways by planting shade trees, started years ago In scattered districts by individual efforts, has been given considerable stimulus by the indorsement of the new state highway commission and women's organizations in different counties. The movement, an outgrowth of the World war memorial idea, is for utility as well as beauty. The trees will serve as guard rails along highways leading to the sea.

Camden county is given credit for the most ambitious scheme of tree planting. Through the movement, originated by women's clubs, the entire stretch of 60 miles of paved highway from the Delaware river to the Atlantic on the White Horse pike route is to be beautified.

At the present time beautiful shaded highways are to be found in sections of Salem and Gloucester counties, where most of the trees were planted more than fifty years ago. The plan, as favored by the state department of forestry, entails co-operation on the part of communities and counties in the systematic planting of trees.

It has been suggested that different kinds of trees be planted on different highways. Instead of being identified by numbers, the state routes eventually might be known as Maple, Elm or Spruce routes.

Cherry, apple and other fruit trees have been planted in double rows for short distances on some of the roads. This idea has met with approval by individuals, who say it carries out in a fashion the Italian idea of having grapes growing along the public ways. Dogwood has added variety in some rural sections; and a big land owner has planted chestnut trees along one of the roads.

Road experts say shaded highways last longer, as the frees protect the pavement from the deterioration of intense heat in summer and serve as windbreaks to keep the roads clear of snow in winter. Drainage also is improved, these men say, and the tree roots prevent water undermining the hard surfaced highways .- Philadelphia Record,

WHY= Weather Forecasting Is of Great Value.

In connection with the modern system of weather forecasting, it is interesting to know its origin and history. Scientific weather forecasts depend upon the rapid collection of the reports of meteorological observations taken at places scattered over a wide expanse of territory. This process was not, of course, possible before the invention of the electric telegraph, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

The earliest experiments in forecasting with the aid of telegraphic reports were probably those of Prof. Joseph Henry of the Smithsonian institution, made in 1849. The first national forecasting service, however, was established in France in 1855, and was the result of an episode of the Crimean war. In November, 1854, a severe storm did much damage to the French and British warships in the Black sea. The French astronomer, Le Verrier, director of the Observatory of Paris, made a study of this storm and came to the conclusion that, with the aid of telegraphic reports, its eastward progress across Europe might have been predicted so that the disaster to the ships could have been averted. This idea led to the foundation of the French meteorological service. In this country the establishment of a similar service was frequently recommended by scientific authorities, including the famous Lieutenant Maury and Dr. I. A. Lapham of Wisconsin, and finally, in 1869, an experimental service was established in the Cincinnati observatory by the late Prof. Cleveland Abbe, with the aid of the Western Union Telegraph company. Professor Abbe's experiments in weather forecasting were so successful that congress was induced to establish a national service, one of the principal duties of which was forecasting the weather. This service was originally attached to the signal corps of the army, but since the year 1890 it has been a branch of the Department of Agriculture.

Why Women "Honor" Men

"What psychological slant is it," asks the commuter of his seat mate the other morning, "that induces wives, at least some wives, to name cats after their husbands?"

muter. "Now I wouldn't mind a racehorse or a thoroughbred Poland China hog being named after me, but no cat. I suppose the husbands approve, or they wouldn't stand for it."

"Some do and some don't, apparently," mused the first commuter. "One of my neighbors has a cat named 'Harry.' Now the original 'Harry' left home in a huff a year ago and hasn't been seen since, but the unforgiving wife still calls her favorite cat after him. Another neighbor has a cat named 'Harold' after her husband. This man and his wife are devoted to each other."

"Well," suggested the other commuter, "they say it takes all kinds of people to make the world, but I think ds of women than there are more there are men."-New York Sun and Globe.

Right Feeding Vital to

Get Eggs During Winter The poultryman who wants to keep his pullets laying during the winter must give careful attention to feeding, say the chicken men at the State Agricultural college at Cornell.

The birds, they say, must be fat, as this gives them strength and endurance. Three-fourths of the food they eat should be hard grain. Mash is not as important during the latter part of their development as when they are ready to lay. If milk is fed, little mash is necessary. They should have plenty of green food at all times.

When the first eggs are found on the range at least one-third or one-half of the best-developed birds should be placed in their winter quarters, whether it be September 1 or November 1.

Good judgment must then be exercised in feeding the pullets after they are mature and are in their winter houses. Usually eight quarts of hard grain a day is fed to 100 birds.

One-third or one-fourth of this amount should be fed in the morning and the balance at night. When about half the birds are laying well they may require as much as twelve quarts a day.

Sometimes, however, eight quarts is too much and it is necessary to cut down on this amount until the birds can easily clean it up. Mash should always be kept before them in hoppers or feeders.

Pullets at Cornell have been found to lay best when fed three parts of hard grain to two parts of mash by weight. It is necessary to feed green food in some form, such as sprouted oats, or beets or cabbage. A small amount of milk is a valuable addition to the ration and helps to keep the birds in good condition. The birds should never be starved, but on the other hand they should be hungry at feeding time.

The secret of long and continuous laying with a pure bred flock is to keep the birds always reasonably fat, the college concludes. All south William ( ...

Chicken Mineral Mixture

Superior for Laying Hens A mixture of salt, lime and bonemeal added to soybean meal or other vegetable protein nearly doubled its value in the feed for laying hens or growing chicks, in recent tests at the Ohio experiment station.

These minerals though making up only 4 per cent of the mash and costing less than 4 cents a year per hen, proved as necessary as any other part of the feed.

Grains and seeds are deficient in protein and minerals. These are supplied by the addition of meat scrap, skim milk or other animal supplement to the feed of grain and mash. Soybean meal, peanut meal, cotton-seed meal, and the like supply protein but

There appears to be nothing particularly startling or noteworthy in these facts. There are bigger sawmill towns along the Kennebec, more ambitious flour mills in Minneapolis, more cheese produced in any of a hundred Wisconsin towns and more boats built in any eastern harbor

What especially distinguishes this northern New York town is that of the 763 houses in Canton 652 are inhabited by cwners, that is approximately 6 to 1. This precisely is the condition that makes more directly than any other for splendid citizenship. The pride and satisfaction that accrues to the owner of a home because of that fact inevitably reflects itself in every manifestation of that citizenship, in his attitude toward his community. toward his state and his government, in his sense of civic and social responsibility, in his attachment to hearth and family which is the base on which our whole structure of civilization rests.

City Will Spend a Million.

Improvement in city streets and sewers amounting to close to $1,000,-000, is the program for Portsmouth (Ohio) during the next year. Already three of the city's main streets have been resurfaced with asphalt, after a battle in council which lasted months, and other improvements have been pro-vided for. At a recent meeting of the council a bond issue amounting to $137,000 was awarded to state commission and city sinking fund trustees, the greater portion of which is for improvement of some kind or other. A Chicago firm of consulting engineers has completed a sewer survey of the city.

In furtherance of the "own your own home" movement, the Department of Commerce recently issued a guide book for the prospective small home owner, with a foreword by Secretary Hoover declaring that "maintaining a high percentage of individual home owners is one of the searching tests that now challenge the people of the United States." The publication shows that 461 of every 1,000 families in America owned their homes in 1900, while in 1920 the number per 1,000 was 456.

Why Maltese Are Russian

How the maltese cat gained that name is said to be a mystery, for there is no blue cat indigenous to the island of Malta. It is said that probably the cats were brought there in early times from Russia or Iceland, and the color being peculiar, these cats were selected, or by superior hardiness they may have selected themselves. The Chartreuse monks had blue, long-haired cats many years ago.

One authority on cats says that the cold winters of Russia may be calculated to develop blue cats, for it is sufficiently evident that northern climates have produced most cats of that color.

The best white cats with blue eyes come from India, and some of the best are brought from Tibet. In crossing the Himalaya mountains with these cats carriers slit their noses to enable them to breathe with greater ease the rarified atmosphere of the high altitudes. Cats with slit noses are much valued .- Detroit News.

Why They Say Halcyon

Halcyon days is a name given by the ancients to the seven days which follow the shortest day of the year. The reference is to a fable that during this time, while the halcyon bird or kingfisher was breeding, there always prevailed calms at sea. From this the phrase "halcyon days" has come to signify times of peace and tranquility.

Why Sugar Is Sweet

No one really knows why sugar is sweet. Variations in degrees of sweetness are supposed to arise because of intramolecular rearrangement. The elements contained in sugar are carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. It is theoretically supposed that the sweetness is a result of the arrangement of these elements.

When the mineral mixture was added to soybean meal at the rate of 4 pounds per hundred its value was doubled, making it almost equal to meat scrap or milk for egg production and growth.

The station mineral mixture is made up of 60 parts of bonemeal, 20 of limestone, and 20 of common salt.

Feeding Good Balanced

Ration to Secure Eggs Feed the chickens a good balanced ration. Feed scratch grain in the litter, mash in hoppers (available all the time). Green succulence is necessary for egg production and hatchable eggs during breeding season. Have fresh water always available; oyster shell, charcoal and grit in hoppers. Provide milk in some form either as a beverage in addition to regular mash or to take place of part of protein element; it contains vitamines which are essential for laying hens.

The above in brief is the advice of poultry authorities on care of laying stock. Some formulas for mashes for egg production are suggested below:

Feed a mash in the morning of equal parts by weight of corn meal, bran and middlings, or low-grade flour, with 10 per cent of beef scrap, and give whole or cracked corn at night.

Corn for Fattening Geese.

Cracked corn is good for fattening geese but should be fed sparingly to breeders. Goslings should have only fresh young grass for the first day or two; after that three small feeds daily of mash or scalded cracked corn with plenty of green stuff. JOSHUA AND THE CONQUEST OF CANAAN

LESSON TEXT-Josh. 1:1-9; 23:1-3. GOLDEN TEXT-Not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord your God spake concerning you. Josh. 23:14.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC-Lessons From the Life of Joshua. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC-Joshua and the Conquest of Canaan.

The book of Joshua, from which our lesson is taken, is a history of the conquest of the Promised Land and its apportionment among the tribes of Israel. It takes its name from its principal character, Joshua. During the wilderness journey he was Moses' minister and captain of his army. When Moses was denied the privilege of ness of sins. going over the Jordan, Joshua was appointed to the leadership of Israel. Moses, the representative of the law, brought Israel to the borders of Canaan. Joshua was the man chosen to lead the people into the place of rest. The name, "Joshua", has the same derivation as the name "Jesus". I. Joshua's Call (Josh. 1:1, 2).

must go on. The work was continued by calling Joshua to take it up. Joshua, no doubt, was sorrowful over the loss of his master, but there was now no time for mourning.

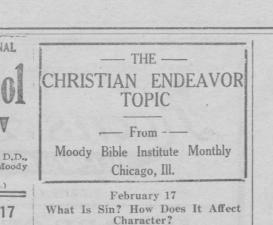

II. God Renews His Promise of the Land to Israel (Josh. 1:3, 4).

This promise had been given to Abraham and renewed to Isaac, Jacob and Moses. It is now renewed to Israel when they are about to enter upon its possession. The borders of the land were "from the wilderness and this Lebanon even unto the great river, the river Euphrates, all the land is sin. of the Hittites and unto the great sea toward the going down of the sun" (v. 4). The nearest it was ever possessed was during the reigns of David and Solomon, though not then fully realized. This land still belongs to the Jews and in God's own time they shall possess it. Their possession of HOUSES CF GLASS IN SIGHT this land was due entirely to themselves. God promised them that wherever their feet set upon the land, it was theirs. If they failed to secure possession, it was because they failed to claim it.

III. God's Presence Promised to Joshua (Josh. 1:5).

Joshua was entering upon a perilous and difficult enterprise, but the Lord the erection of houses of glass, said said, as He was with Moses so He would be with him. The difficulties before him were:

1. The Jordan River (v. 2). This 15), making it impossible for armies to cross.

I John 3:4; Romans 3:9-20 Sin is not primarily a weakness, and ought never to be excused on that account. Those who want to find excuse for wicked indulgences, often plead that sin is an infirmity from which they cannot escape. Sin is not a negation. There are those who teach that evil is the ab-There are sence of good, and sin the absence of righteousness, even as darkness is the absence of light; but the Bible declares that sin and evil have a positive existence and are an offense unto the Lord.

Sin is not an incubus or weight from which we shall be freed through the evolutionary progress of the race. Liberalism teaches this, but such a view obscures the grace of God and dims the glory of God in the forgive-

Sin consists essentially in the rejection of the authority of God and the assertion of the opposite princi-ple: namely, that of self-will. It is the setting up of self to the exclusion of God. In its essence, it is simply godlessness which results in the establishment of a false independence.

The nature of sin may be under stood in the light of the Bible words Moses was dead, but God's work that are used to describe it; such aust go on. The work was continued words as, disobedience, transgression, iniquity, foolishness, madness, rebellion, evil, pollution, perversion, uncleanness, forwardness, stubbornness, abomination, the accursed thing. These are the words which the Bible uses to describe sin.

There are several definitions of sin in Scripture. 1 John 3:4 defines sin as lawlessness, or transgression of the Proverbs 24:9 tells us that the law. thought of foolishness is sin. In Ro-mans 14:23 we find that whatsoever is not of faith is sin, and in James 14: 17, we read that "to him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it

Some theological definitions of sin are as follows: "Sin is the preference of self to God." "Sin is deficiency of love to God and man." "Sin is a lack of conformity to God or His moral law, in act, disposition, or state."

Hunter Tells How Lion Brings Down Buffalo

Denis D. Lyell in his "Memories of an African Hunter," gives an interesting account of how a llon seized his prey. If his quarry is a herd of buffaloes, "he squats and waits behind a bush or in the grass. When an animal gets near enough he makes a sudden rush, which may start off his victim. Owing to his great muscular development, the lion accelerates quickly and is soon up to the buffalo, when he rears upon his hind legs and seizes his prey by the nape of the neck, fairly far back, using (if on the left side) his left paw to drag the buffalo's face

2. The People Were Living in Walled Cities (Num. 13:38). Notwithstanding this, God is ready to insure success. (1) "I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee" (v. 5). (2) "There shall not any man be able to stand before thee" (v. 5). (3) "As I was with Moses, so will I be with thee." Joshua had been with Moses throughout their forty years' experience, from the Egyptian deliverance to the time of his death, Because he believed that God was with his master, he was willing and ready to cross Jordan at its flood and courageously meet the enemies on the other side.

IV. Conditions of Blessings in the Land (Josh. 1:6-9).

1. "Be Strong and of Good Courage" (v. 6). His mission was to go in and divide the land among the tribes for an inheritance. It required strength and courage to do this.

2. Unwavering Obedience to the Word of God (v. 7). In a land of idolatry it required much courage to be true to God. Prosperity and success are conditioned upon unswerving obedience to God's commands. In al' his work he must conform his life to the law of God. To pass from the path outlined therein would bring disaster and ruin. In order to accomplish this, the law of the Lord must be in his mouth continually. He was to meditate therein day and night. Joshus rendered prompt obedience. He did not stop to cavil, but at once gave orders for the march. God made the plan and gave the directions.

V. Joshua's Retrospect (Josh. 3:1-3).

As his life was now drawing to a close, he summoned the people and rulers to give some farewell counsels.

1. Rehearses God's Goodness (v. 1). God had given rest unto Israel from all their enemies.

2. All That Had Happened Was Done by the Lord. God had fought for them. No one had been able to stand against them; therefore He urges upon them fidelity.

novel improvement, outlined in Popular Mechanics Magazine, is not mentioned, but the claim is made that the proposed glass-constructed buildings will reduce construction costs; will withstand the ravages of time and the elements better than any other form of construction; will lower the cost of upkeep and in general provide greater home comforts. Moreover, we are informed that plastering and painting will be unnecessary in glass houses, since it is possible to color the glass to the satisfaction of the most artistic taste while it is in course of manu-left to do but tear down the old and build the new. However, it might be well to defer stone throwing at least until the houses are erected.

A little more than a century ago three workmen digging in Dunfermline Abbey, Scotland, came upon a vault containing a body covered with cloth of gold under folds of sheet lead. How to Be Book Collector

The book collector must, in the first place, cultivate his literary taste, says Arthur Machen. He must altogether shut his ears to the babblers and their talk.

He must keep his eyes upon the book lists of publishers, marking down the authors who appeal to him, looking always for that glow of beauty which enchanted Rossetti as he stood outside the shop in Castle street. Then he must become a devout student of the second-hand catalogues.

He has his list of the men whom he is following. He notes when a book published at $1.75 a year ago is priced at $2.50. In another year's time that title will have risen to $5, and so on.

The collector who buys on these principles will never find that his fairy gold has turned to dead leaves. He has mastered the true craft of the collector .- McNaught's Monthly.

How to Make Marble

A process for making imitations of statuary marble, onyx and other multicolored stones, has been devised in France. About 1,000 parts of alum, from 10 to 100 parts of heavy spar (barium sulphate) and 100 parts of water are mixed with the requisite pigments, and the liquid mass is boiled down and cast in a mold. The amount of heavy spar used varies with the degree of translucence desired. After being molded and dried, the artificial stone thus produced can be polished and finished as desired.

How to Make Hole in Glass

It is said that a hole may be made in thin glass by pressing upon the glass a disk of wet clay. Make a hole through this clay the size of the hole desired in the glass, being sure that the glass is clean and bare. Now pour molten lead into the hole and the lead and glass will drop through at once. The quick heating of the glass at one point causes a circular crack to form, the outline of which corresponds to the hole made in the clay.

Taneytown Home-Maker's Club.

The regular meeting of the Tan-eytown Home-makers' Club will be held Saturday, Feb. 16, at 2:00 P. M.

The subject of the meeting will be poultry. Mr. Fuller will be with us and talk on the standardization of farm flocks. If you have any probems in connection with your flock, Mr. Fuller will be glad to help you with them at this time.

Road Building This Year.

Mr. Mackall, of the State Road Commission, says that only connect-ing links will be built this year, and that no roads will be built on the ground that they will increase values in property. He says; "I want it understood I am in the transportation business and not in the real estate business. The argu-ment that a certain road if built will increase the assessment of this or that piece of property is no argument to my mind for the building of a road that will serve transportation, and transportation after all is what our business must be called. "We are supposed to build roads that will get traffic where it is needed. At least that's my conception of the responsibility of this Commission.

The State will have 20 percent less funds for new contracts this year than it had during 1922.
