Radio Programs in Hospitals.

The Radio as a carrier of music and cheer, promises to do a good work in our hospitals with a large class of patients who need "jolly" and the incentive of the mind toward that cheerfulness that helps medicine and treatment to do their best work. A movement has been started in New York, by the WEA radio broadcasting station, that shows promise of raising a half million dollar fund for the production and broadcasting of programs to many of the hospitals of the country, a large portion of the receipts coming voluntarily from those who "listen in," and who are impressed with the value of the effort for the benefit of the suffering.

A number of the hospitals attendants are enthusiastic over the project, and are beginning to attribute wonderful results to the influence of the radio programs on the condition of patients, some even going so far as to credit them with "cures." These special programs are carried directly to the beds of the listeners by the use of the ear phones, and are varied, as much as possible, to meet the tastes of young and old, and cover an hour or more time every Sunday evening.

U. S. ARMY CAMP.

Will Occupy Sauble's Field for a Period of Ten Days.

The advance quota of army occupants of the Sauble field arrived on Wednesday. They represent a detail of southern enlistments of the Army War College, and will have practice in a portion of the maneuvers of the College field course. Three tents have been erected for officers, and four for the men. In all, there will be about ten officers and thirty men, and the Camp will continue for about ten days.

This Camp is part of a large field plan, made up of over thirty like Camps, representing an imaginary battle field covering a wide area, all contemplating part of an emergency plan of National defense. It is not specially an aviation field practice Camp, as at first reported, but some of the camps are likely to emphasize this feature of the game of war.

The whole represents a portion of the last course in War College training, in actual camp life. As the "regulations" do not permit of much actual authorized publicity, we were unable to secure much more than the above information.

Carroll County Homemakers Clubs.

The Carroll County Federation of Homemakers Clubs held the morning session of their May meeting, on the 23rd., at 10:00 A. M., in the County Agent's office. Miss Venia Kellar, State Home Demonstration Agent, was present and gave a very instructive talk, closing with a description of the delights awaiting those who expect to avail themselves of the opportunity of attending the Short Course at College Park, June 16-21. There were fifty-two delegates from clubs and a most interesting business meeting was held.

The reports in detail showed steady progress and outlined plans for future work. Sykesville and Taneytown told of constructive work accomplished along civic lines and their plans for the future show they have the situation well in hand. Each report gave full credit to Miss Cobb, Mr. Fuller and special agents from College Park for assistance rendered.

The afternoon program held at the Star Theatre was most interesting as it consisted of addresses by Dr. A. F. Woods, President of Maryland University, Miss Adele Stamp, Dean of women and Dr. Arthur Shipley of Maryland University Hospital. The addresses were followed by a delightful concert by a group of voice students from the University.

The Westminster Homemakers Club will hold the June meeting on the third instead of the 10th., at 8:00 P. M., in the County Agent's office.

$1,000,000 Masonic Home.

A $1,000,000 campaign for the erection and maintenance of a home for the aged, destitute and dependent members of the Masonic fraternity in Maryland is to commence in the near future, according to a statement made Thursday by Warren S. Seipp, Grand Master of Maryland Masons.

A committee of nine members has been appointed to manage the raising of finances and the formulation of building plans. Funds for the building are expected to be raised through voluntary contributions. The date of actual building will depend entirely upon the rapidity with which contributions come in, it was said. The Order of the Eastern Star, which has been planning a building of like nature, has abandoned its plans and has turned over the amount raised to the board of trustees of the Masonic Home.

No location has been selected yet for the site of the new fraternal home, but this matter will be taken up by the board and the Grand Lodge after the finance campaign is under way.

The Record, this week, is made up without any Friday morning news or communications of any kind, on account of the observance of Decoration Day, notice of which was given in our issue of last week.

LUTHERAN SYNOD OF MARYLAND

Meeting Held in Westminster, from Monday until Thursday.

The one hundred and fifth conference of the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America began at Westminster on Monday night, more than 150 clergymen and lay delegates being present. The Rev. Dr. John Wiedley, of Washington, president of the Synod and pastor of the Church of the Reformation, Washington, preached the synodical sermon.

Preceding the conference the Synodal Brotherhood held its fourth annual session, with addresses by the Rev. Dr. Edgar G. Miller, of Philadelphia, the Rev. Dr. W. E. Brown, of York, Pa., W. O. Hiltabridge, of Washington, C. H. Gundersdorf, Baltimore, and George W. Yeiser, of Union Mills, Md. Mr. Hiltabridge was elected president; R. D. Mosner, of Baltimore vice-president; W. A. Doub, of Frederick, secretary; C. A. Koogler, of Williamsport, treasurer, and the Rev. H. H. Sharp, of Cumberland, member of the executive committee.

On Tuesday morning, Rev. John Wiedley, D. D., was re-elected president, and Rev. W. A. Wade was re-elected secretary. The Synod was formally opened by the president.

The Rev. A. D. R. Hancher, superintendent of the Southern district home missions, reported on the 16 missions in the synod. He said Maryland was the banner synod of the Southern district.

Dr. H. W. A. Hansen, president of Gettysburg College, reported on the work at that institution. It also was announced that the college had conferred the degree of doctor of divinity on the Rev. M. L. Enders, of Cumberland.

Dr. C. F. Steck, of Waynesboro, Va., outlined plans for a Lutheran summer school at Waynesboro. Dr. Edgar Grim Miller, general secretary of the board of Ministerial Relief, presented the cause of pensions for retired ministers. For the first time in many years, the necrological committee had no death to report.

A vesper service was conducted by the Rev. J. C. Bowers, of Catonsville. At night the Rev. A. R. Wentz, of Gettysburg, spoke on the Lutheran world convention at Eisenach, Germany, last year.

On Wednesday, Frederick was chosen as the meeting place for the next convention and L. Russell Alden, of Washington, was re-elected treasurer of the Synod. Delegates to the triennial convention next October in Chicago were elected as follows:

Clerical—The Rev. Dr. John Wiedley the Rev. Dr. W. G. Minnigh, the Rev. John E. Rupley, the Rev. F. R. Wagner, the Rev. Dr. S. J. McDowell, the Rev. W. A. Wade, the Rev. Dr. L. Enders, the Rev. Dr. J. C. Bowers, the Rev. Dr. A. R. Wentz and the Rev. J. L. Hoffman.

Lay—W. W. Doub, Middletown; Mr. Alden, M. H. Moller, Hagerstown; H. T. Dorer, Washington; E. H. Sharrett, Keymar; Dr. W. J. Shewalter, Washington, and M. H. Buehler, Baltimore.

The synod adopted a resolution urging the board of trustees of the proposed Lutheran women's college to select a site for the institution in or near Washington. Another resolution introduced by the Rev. Charles H. Butler, of Washington, and adopted, urges passage of a bill introduced by Senator Jones, of Washington, to make Sunday a day of rest in the District of Columbia.

P. M. Willard and Hans O. F. Simoleit, of the Theological Seminary Gettysburg, were licensed to preach, and W. O. Hiltabridge, of Washington, and T. F. Shearer, of Millers, were commissioned lay readers.

Preceding the business session, a matin service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Ezra K. Bell, of Baltimore. At the business session on church activity were made by the Rev. Dr. L. V. Wolf, the Rev. Dr. G. M. Dufferer, the Rev. Dr. C. E. Hay, Mr. Dorer, the Rev. Dr. L. M. Zimmerman, of Baltimore, the Rev. J. T. Huddle and the Rev. Dr. P. H. Miller.

It was announced that plans to raise an endowment fund of $3,000,000 for ministerial relief are under way.

Trucking Crops Hard Hit.

The wet weather loss to farmers is becoming more apparent in the trucking sections. Reports from New Jersey and Delaware are to the effect that tomato plants that have been standing up well under continued drenching, are now flat and may not come back. Corn fields that promised well, earlier, have been badly beaten and soaked beyond possibility of average production.

Lima beans have been ruined in some sections, melon seed has rotted in the ground, and potatoes are pretty well drowned out, which means "small potatoes and few in a hill." Peas also look sick, according to some growers. Asparagus appears to be the only satisfactory crop.

Iceland has decided to return to the primitive life. In an effort to improve the value of the Icelandic crown it has decided to prohibit the importation of ready-made clothing, shoes, bread, butter, margarine, cheese, salt, fruits, leather and in fact nearly everything manufactured by civilized man.

DECORATION DAY POEM.

Cover Them Over with Beautiful Flowers.

Cover them over with beautiful flowers,
Deck them with garlands, those brothers of ours,
Lying so silent by night and by day,
Sleeping the years of their manhood away.
Give them the meed they have won in the past;
Give them the honors the future forecast;
Give them the chaplets they won in the strife;
Give them the laurels they lost with their life.

Cover them over, yes cover them over
Parent and husband, brother and lover;
Crown in your hearts those dead heroes of ours,
Cover them over with beautiful flowers.

Cover the hearts that have beaten so high,
Beaten with hopes that were doomed but to die;
Hearts that have burned in the heat of the fray;
Hearts that have yearned for the home far away.
Once they were glowing with friendship and love,
Now their great souls have gone soaring above.
Bravely their blood to the nation they gave,
Then in her bosom they found them a grave.

Cover the thousands who sleep far away,
Sleep where their friends can not find them today;
They, who in mountain and hillside and dell,
Rest where they wearied, and lie where they fell.
Softly the grass blades creep round their repose;
Sweetly above them the wild flower blows;
Zephyrs of freedom fly gently o'er-head,
Whispering prayers for the patriot dead.

When the long years have rolled slowly away,
E'en to the dawn of earth's funeral day;
When, at the angel's loud trumpet and tread,
Rise up the faces and forms of the dead,
When the great world its last judgment awaits;
When the blue sky shall fling open its gates,
And our long columns march silently through,
Past the Great Captain for final review.

Blessings for garlands shall cover them over,
Parent and husband, brother and lover;
God will reward those dead heroes of ours,
Cover them over with beautiful flowers. —Anonymous.

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Monday, May 26, 1924.—G. Walter Wilt, executor of William Furney, deceased, returned inventories of personal property, debts due and current money, and received order to sell personal property.

M. Madeline Shriver and James McShriver, administrators of Bernard F. Shriver, deceased, settled their second and final account. Amelia M. Masenhimer, administratrix of Kenneth M. Masenhimer, deceased, returned inventory of personal property and received order to sell same.

Letters of administration on the estate of William H. Barnett, deceased, were granted unto Ralph O. Barnett, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

The last will and testament of Isaiah W. Croumer, deceased, was duly admitted to probate and letters testamentary thereon were granted unto Emma C. and John A. Croumer, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors. These executors returned inventory of personal property and received order to sell personal property and real estate.

The last will and testament of Elizabeth A. Reese, deceased, was duly admitted to probate and letters testamentary thereon were granted unto Jesse Reese, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

Margaret F. Hollinger, administratrix of Noah M. Hollinger, deceased, settled her first and final account. Myrtle M. Kroh, executrix of C. Irving Kroh, deceased, settled her first and final account.

Paul W. Clary, administrator of Clara E. Clary, deceased, settled his first and final account under Chapter 146 Acts 1912.

S. Wesley Repp and G. Ernest Senesney, administrators of Mannaseh O. Repp, deceased, returned inventories of debts due and current money, and returned report of sale of personal property and settled their first account.

Letters of administration on the estate of John T. Fuhrman, deceased, granted unto George L. Dutterer, were revoked.

The President's cold, that gave some concern, has vanished, and he attributes his quick recovery to the chlorine gas treatment at the army dispensary.

TELEPHONE RATES TO BE INCREASED.

More Revenue Declared to be Necessary and Just.

The C. & P. Telephone Company will file with the Public Service Commission, within a few days a schedule of increased rates that will approximate an increase of 10 percent, and will be pretty evenly applied to the various branches of the service. This action has been indicated for some time, by various announcements, and is claimed to be based on the needs of the Company in order to pay fair dividends, and to maintain the physical value of the Company at a high standard.

The statement is made that the Company passed through the world-war period without increases comparable to all other lines of service, or to the cost of construction and materials used in great quantities by the Company.

The new rates are expected to go into effect some time this fall. The schedule will be filed without filing a petition with the Public Service Commission for an increase, but it is stated that the rates will not be enforced until the Commission has given a hearing in the case, providing it is called in good time before the date of the effectiveness of the rates.

The increase is expected to add from $800,000 to $1,000,000 to the Company's revenues. The question involves a great deal of figuring and estimating, and a fair inventory of the value of the Company's property, over which there may be widely differing opinions.

No one ever welcomes an increase in expense without a corresponding increase in service, and there is always sure to be a ready opposition to advances made in charges by large corporations; but, in this particular instance the Company makes out a very strong case indeed, and as the C. & P. renders such excellent service and the very recent tremendous storm and flood disasters sustained by it, will help very materially toward making the proposed advance in rates justifiable, if not altogether palatable. The Company's statement, in brief, will be found in a large advertisement in this issue.

Weather and Crops.

Saturating rains occurred during the past fortnight, accompanied by persistently cool weather, and they are exerting a depressing effect in rural sections of Maryland and Delaware—harassing and hindering field work and crop growth. In the flat, low regions many fields resemble miniature lakes, and the roads are muddy in the mountainous areas of western Maryland, floods from the Potomac devastated lowlands doing some crop damage.

The vagaries of weather have the farmers in the doldrums. Crops in general are making slow progress. Wheat is showing up well, good stands and color; excepting on the lowlands the crop is poor. In southern counties wheat is heading.

Rye for the most part is in good shape. Some of it coming into bloom. Haylands and pastures are looking good to excellent. Crimson clover and alfalfa could hardly be better.

The area to be devoted to corn this year promises to be larger than in 1923, because of the land held out from wheat last fall. Very little corn has been planted so far. Corn will be quite late this year in getting a start.

Oats where sown and up are looking good, but growing slowly. Indications are for an increased acreage of barley in Maryland.

Early potatoes on the Peninsula are late in coming up. Stands can not be determined yet—not enough up. Some rot in the fields reported. Aside from lateness the prospect appears fairly good.

Tomatoes may develop a 5 to 10% increase in acreage for canning, on the Eastern Shore. Present indications in Delaware are for an acreage equal to or slightly under last year. On the whole, the growing season is backward some plants have been injured by heavy rains, and the crop will go out unusually late. Quite a portion of the intended acreage is still uncontracted. Plants in beds are doing well.

A decrease in acreage of green peas for canning is indicated in Caroline and Dorchester counties—two of the heaviest-producing counties of the eastern shore. In Delaware, the area devoted to peas this year is several hundred acres short of last year. Recent heavy rains destroyed some peas on lowlands.

Orchardists are optimistic. The condition of tree fruits leaves little to be desired. And unless something untoward happens, a bumper crop is looked for.

Farm animals are showing improvement in condition with the better condition of pastures. With many farmers there has been a shortage of feed.

JOHN S. DENEEN,
Agricultural Statistician.

Orphanage Day and Reunion.

Orphanage annual day and United Brethren Reunion, Quincy, Pa., Thursday, June 5. The address will be made by Prof. Alvin Wertsch, of Philadelphia. A special event will be the unveiling of Marker, dedicating the Peter Newcomer, Memorial farm.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN.

Items of Interest to Farmers and Dairymen.

The tour of wool growers from St. Mary's, Baltimore, Howard, Carroll, Frederick and Washington counties was well attended. Mr. B. C. Carmichael, animal husbandry specialist University of Maryland made the arrangements. Dr. Meade, Professor and Judge, University of Maryland and Dr. Bomberger, wood specialist, aided those interested in selecting breeding stock.

The Bingham Bros. have 350 pure bred Hampshire breeders on their farm near Gettysburg. The number of lambs on the farm speaks well for the breed and the system of breeding these men are following. Sixty percent of the lambs were twins this year while last year over 75% were twins. The sheep will shear about eight lbs. of wool.

The second clean milk campaign is well under way. The meetings last week were well attended and much interest taken in the discussions as was shown by the many questions asked.

Due to sickness, Dr. Shrader could not be with us. Mr. Goodwin, one of the farm inspectors and Mr. Seidell, bacteriologist have been taking the Doctors place. This new health regulations which go into effect June 1st. have these clauses which effect the dairyman.

1—Milk must be cooled so as to be delivered to the carriers at a temperature no higher than 63 degrees Fahrenheit.

2—Milk containers must be properly covered during transit from farm to shipping point by placing the covers immediately over the containers.

3—Milk containers must be properly protected from direct rays of sun while awaiting arrival of transportation agent.

These regulations place the dairyman in a definite position in the transportation of milk and he now knows just what he is responsible for, namely from the farm to the platform at 63 degrees. He is no longer responsible if he does this. Before these regulations went into effect he was responsible until the bottlers saw fit to put the milk into their vats which sometimes was very late in the afternoon and in the mean time the bacteria count was getting higher and higher. The dairyman are certainly benefitted by these new regulations which are the results of the first clean milk campaign. Meeting at New Windsor will be held June 4, and Lineboro, June 5.

Methodists Repeal Ban on Amusements.

Springfield, Mass., May 19.—The Committee on Amusements of the Quadrennial General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church adopted Saturday a unanimous report which provides for repealing the law that a Methodist cannot dance, play at any games of chance, or attend theatres, horse races, circuses, dancing parties, nor dancing schools, and leaves it with the individual conscience of a Methodist "to take only such amusements as can be used in the name of the Lord Jesus."

The report included a "solemn warning" against a widespread form of amusement which heretofore has not received an official rebuke from the Methodist Episcopal Church—the movies. It does not propose to prohibit attendance at theatres and movies, but "lifts up a note of solemn warning and entreaty particularly against attendance upon immoral, questionable and misleading theatrical and motion picture performances."

The report is taken to mean that Methodist can go to good theatrical plays and movies, but not to "immoral, questionable and misleading" ones. The committee report urges the Methodist Church, through its Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Moral Welfare, to engage in a campaign of education through scientifically prepared literature that "shall awaken our people to the individual and social consequences of improper and excessive amusements."

Dunkard Church Sold.

The historic Dunkard Church, on Antietam battlefield, and which was demolished by a storm several years ago, was sold at public sale to Elmer Boyer, of Sharpsburg, for $800, including the lot of ground. It is not known what Mr. Boyer proposes doing with the ruins.

Biggest Salary on Record.

Will H. Hays, president of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, has signed a three-year extension of his present contract that has a year yet to run. He was elected in 1922, and according to the N. Y. World his salary was to be $500,000 a year. It is understood that this salary is contained in the extension contract—The Manufacturer.

Strawberry Shipments.

Strawberries are coming with a rush, making up for lost time. North Carolina shipped 660 cars last week, compared with 70 the week before, and Arkansas sent 240 carloads to market. In both those States the volume was greater than during a corresponding period last season. Shipments have been delayed in Tennessee, only about 90 cars thus far having come from the western part of that State. Alabama's weekly output was reduced to 86 cars and Louisiana's to 2

Misuse of Party Name.

The Republican party, Nationally, is loaded down with a number of so-called (by themselves) Republicans, who while berating the party as an agency of "Wall Street," and as "reactionary," nevertheless stoop to use it as a means of electing themselves to office—mainly the U. S. Senate. These men have all the rights of individuals to promote their superior brand of political wisdom, but surely they should be required to earn the right to express it in Congress, on their own reputation, and not as that of the Republican party that they misrepresent.

Men of this class no doubt resent being "read out of the party" but as a matter of fact they have voluntarily, by their actions, "read" themselves "out" but refuse to acknowledge it. They could as well pretend to be Democrats, as Republicans, so far as party name goes, yet be neither one nor the other. In fact, there is no party in existence, that fits them, yet they are not straight-forward enough to cut loose and invent a new party.

Perhaps Senator La Follette will go the whole way, this year, and erect the name and platform under which the present non-descripts may hereafter assemble and travel; and if so, the probable "third party" will at least serve one desirable purpose, and clear the political atmosphere to that extent, if it does no more.

"Principle" is heralded as being "above party," and if this be the belief of the class of men named they should be so high-principled as not to use the name of a party in which they place no trust.

Credit on Subscriptions.

We have it on abundant evidence, and from time to time, that some weekly newspapers are continuing the practice—that for a time was pretty generally dropped—of sending their papers on, indefinitely, after the original subscription has expired, and are doing so without orders—are extending credit, without the credit being asked.

During the war period, all newspapers were required to discontinue at the end of the paid subscription term. Since then, due to the influence of a class of publishers that find it profitable, for a number of reasons, to continue subscriptions after expiration, who put up the plausible plea that a publisher has as good a right to sell on credit as any other business, the P. O. Department amended the law, as follows:

Section 419, Postal Laws and Regulations:

"The right of publishers to extend in good faith credit on subscriptions is recognized and will not be abridged, and although all subscriptions are regarded as expiring with the period for which they were obtained, nevertheless, in order to give an opportunity to secure renewals, copies of their publications will be accepted for mailing as to subscribers at the usual second-class rates of postage for a period of one year from the date of expiration, but copies sent to persons after one year from the date of the expiration of their subscriptions, unless such subscriptions be expressly renewed for a definite time, together with an actual payment of subscriptions or a bona fide promise of payment, will not be accepted at the pound rates but will be accepted at the transient second-class rate of one cent for each four ounces, or fraction thereof, prepaid by stamps affixed."

This law is not as clear as it might be expressed, but it evidently means that the term of credit is limited to one year, and not to two, three or four years, as we have had information that some are doing.

The Record does not want to turn "informer" on any newspaper, but practices of county papers should be uniform in their obedience to law, and those who violate the regulations, also in turn trespass on the right practices of those who do observe the law, which is strictly unfair, and deserves reporting.

Doctor Butler, Tinker.

Fortunately, what Nicholas Murray Butler may say, while usually interesting, is not of world-topping importance. This is regrettable, for time was in this country when presidents of great universities were able to speak the people's thought in a way to give that thought incisive power. The nation's spokesmen are not found in the seats of learning today; indeed we look for them in vain in all the seats where our fathers were accustomed to find them. A strange puerility has fallen upon pulpit, academy and legislative forum. All of them make efforts to be heard; they resort to many devices to attract attention, but the root of the matter is not in them, and the people turn away unrefreshed.

It should be said in President Butler's behalf, however, that he labors under a great handicap—he lives in New York. We have heard of Americans who were so impressed by the London point of view that they quite forgot their Americanism; but it is daily evident that infection by the New York point of view produces the same malady. Nicholas Murray Butler resides among what is probably the greatest aggregation of alien-minded aliens existing on earth, and what is worse he daily mingles his mind with theirs in his capacity of head of the world's greatest alien university. Very few things American are in favor among the community where Dr. Butler dwells. The Constitution itself, even before the 18th Amendment was added, was very much out of favor. Americanism generally is an influence to be neutralized—in the mind of the great majority of Columbia's alien beneficiaries. And nothing would better serve their end than to have the Constitution not only unwisely amended, but un-amended again and again, until that Document becomes a mere scrap of paper.

As to the question of Prohibition we take it that Dr. Butler is estopped by his environment from thinking about it as the majority of the American people do. Residence in New York or Washington is separation from the mind of the United States. The Prohibition discussion now proceeding should have occurred before the Constitutional amendment was made. What had Dr. Butler to say then? But now that Prohibition is in the Constitution, it will stay there if for no other reason than to warn everyone that the foundation Document of this Government is not to be juggled with—now jammed with amendments, now denuded of them, and made the sport of passing interest. Dr. Butler has perfect liberty under the Constitution to think as he pleases, and even to say what he pleases, about Prohibition. But tampering with the Constitution is another matter.

However, it would be a mistake to grow too serious about this. Dr. Butler is usually harmless.—Dear-born Independent.

Smith as a Candidate.

An air of confidence is reported from the headquarters of the Smith boom. The New York Governor's managers have heard of some un-instructed delegates in Vermont and New Hampshire who have dropped a few kind words for him. This is almost enough to make them think that the Governor is as good as nominated. If the wish is ever father to the thought, it is emphatically so with the managers of a candidate for the presidential nomination. They magnify every hopeful sign and are blind to everything adverse. Nothing short of this self-delusion could create the world of unreality in which the managers of the Smith boom are living.

They count their delegates every day. They start with New York, ninety. Then they add Wisconsin, twenty-three; Rhode Island, ten; Massachusetts, thirty-six, until they have a total of two or three hundred, the exact number depending upon how optimistic they happen to be feeling.

McAdoo, oil-tainted and facing squarely north by south as he shouts for lower taxes and the bonus simultaneously, has more delegates than Smith. But Smith's managers see McAdoo fading out of the picture and Smith looming up a giant. And they are happy.

They are happy because they ignore the only things that count. They are like children building a house of sand just before the tide comes in.

Around Smith's neck is a tag. On one side it bears the word "Tammany" and on the other side "Wet." Until it is removed the most obscure dark horse has an infinitely better chance of being named as the Democratic candidate for President than has the Governor of the Empire State.

A glimmer of this fact has shot across the horizon of the Smith managers. Their response is an attempt to camouflage Smith's wet record. How they could have dreamed of ac-ually achieving such a feat is one of the mysteries of this mysterious campaign. It is Smith's wetness that has given him what standing he has as a presidential candidate. He is the recognized leader of the wet element in the Democratic party.

Any suggestion in this part of the country that Smith is not so much of a wet as has been supposed would be greeted as the best joke of the season. If any different impression had been created in the West or the South, it would have been wiped out by the Anti-Saloon League's little recital of history.

As proof of Smith's wetness, the League simply points to his record. Conspicuous in that record is his signing of the death warrant of the Mullan-Gage State Enforcement Act. So far as one stroke of the pen could do it, Smith struck down all the State and local machinery for enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law. That was last year. This year he reaffirmed his position by refusing to recommend any legislation to take the place of the Mullan-Gage law. He stuck to this position in the face of a formal request for enforcement legislation from the prosecuting officers of most of the counties of the State.

If the Smith managers think that such a record will not affect votes in the West and South, they are in for a disagreeable surprise. The surprise party will begin as soon as delegates from those sections arrive in New York. The coolness of these delegates over the efforts of the New York delegates to line up for Smith will give that city new fame as a summer resort.—Phila. Ledger.

Carthaginians Taught Romans to Build Roads

The Roman empire was intersected by roads constructed principally between the Second and Fourth centuries after Christ. These highways varied in width from 8 to 15 feet, and were almost universally built in straight lines without regard to grade, probably because the use of beasts of burden as the chief means of transport made the preservation of the level an affair of minor importance. Soldiers, slaves and criminals were employed in the construction of these highways, the durability of which is shown by the fact that, in some cases, they have sustained the traffic of 2,000 years without material injury.

The Roman forum is said to have been the point of convergence of 24 roads, which, with branches, had a total length of 52,904 Roman miles. The Romans are said to have learned the art of road building from the Carthaginians.—Adventure Magazine.

Stars We Cannot See

Two hundred millions of millions of miles away is a star called Algol. It is the second brightest star in the constellation of Perseus, and it has the curious habit of varying in brightness at regular intervals.

After much research we know now that Algol consists of two stars—one bright, the other dark. They are each about a million miles in diameter and about two million miles apart. They revolve around one another, and when the dark star is between us and the bright one, the light we receive from the latter diminishes.

There are several other stars of the Algol type, and it is simply through our researches that we are aware that there exist in the heaven dark stars—stars which give no light at all and are in themselves totally invisible.

How many there may be we do not know, for it is only by their power of eclipsing bright stars that we can recognize them at all.

Gorgeous Visiting Cards

Mrs. Burton Kingsland, author of "Etiquette for All Occasions," says that "in the early days, when everybody's visiting cards strove to be individual, the resulting products must have looked not unlike the old-fashioned valentines dear to our childhood. We read of creations made out of paper or cardboard finished with a sheen to imitate silk, enamel or what not—perhaps bordered with lace paper that framed a hand-painted landscape. The owner's name—though the rascal d'etre of the card—was really the least of it, but might be discovered in a graceful scroll evolving from the beak of a little bird a-singing in a tree top."

According to Mrs. Kingsland, even so late as the 1840s, young men of fashion affected a card highly glazed with the name in such microscopic characters as to be almost illegible, which had succeeded the custom of engraving a facsimile of the owner's signature.—Detroit News.

Watches Are Affected

by Actions of Owner

"I can't understand why this watch doesn't keep proper time. I paid a good price for it, too."

Time and again one hears words to this effect from unfortunate people who simply cannot get a watch to record correctly the unceasing march of old Father Time. In many cases, however, it is not the fault of the watch at all, but of the wearer's temperament, for modern timepieces are so delicately adjusted that they are affected by this.

A case is recorded of a woman who was constantly taking her watch to the maker with complaints that it was either too fast or too slow. So tired did he become of her constant visits that he wore the watch for a week himself, and found that it kept perfect time. He then made inquiries, and found that the woman was a sufferer from a nervous complaint; at times she was alert and vivacious, and at others she was the victim of fits of depression. When she was in the latter mood the watch went slow, but when she was bright and lively it gained.

Many men who limp, or have some other peculiarity in their walk, have been unable to wear a watch which keeps correct time. Even changing the pocket in which it is generally carried has been known to have a disastrous effect on the best of timepieces.

Engine drivers have on occasion found that their watches kept perfect time as long as they were working on one route, but directly they went on to relief duty and had to drive over lines with which they were not acquainted their watches became hopelessly out of order.

When you take your watch to be regulated you should, if possible, tell the watch repairer the circumstances in which the instrument went wrong.—Detroit Free Press.

Rare Sea Shell

In a specially provided case in the foyer of the American Museum of Natural History, there was exhibited recently for the first time one of the most highly prized cone shaped shells ever found in the world. According to scientific authorities, it is properly called "The Glory of the Sea."

It is about five inches in length, of peculiarly slender appearance, graceful proportions, and has a tapering spire. It suggests an unfolding rosebud. The ground color is pale ivory, overlaid with a mosaic of thousands of triangular figures ranging from an eighth of an inch to almost microscopical size. These triangles are outlined in chrome yellow or deep chestnut brown.

A Sure Sign

An old ducky who made his living, as he said, "by takin' in white-washin', floor cleanin' and particular jobs," met one of his white customers shortly after the first of the year.

"How are you this morning, Uncle Dave?" asked the white man.

"Well, sah, I'm des dat good dat I'm gwine to live for anuder year," was the reply.

"How can you be certain of that?" "Hits dis 'er way, I allurs notices dat when I lives twel New Year's I allurs lives anuder year," was the triumphant response.—Judge.

Innocent and Guilty

"Did you tell the sheriff he might shoot at a fleeing robber?"

"Yep," replied Cactus Joe. "The city council decided that he could shoot so's to scare him, bein' careful at the same time not to hit him."

"That's a humane idea."

"But it ain't workin' out. In a crowded street the robber's the only one that's perfectly safe."—Washington Evening Star.

POULTRY

INCUBATING TURKEY EGGS IS HARD TASK

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There are certain factors in the incubation of turkey eggs which are very important, and which mean a great deal in determining the number of fully matured pullets and cockerels raised in the following year. In a large measure the criterion of success in turkey raising is the number of fully matured turkeys raised in proportion to the total number of eggs set. Therefore the eggs as laid must be given the very best attention. High fertility is desirable, and incubation should be carried out in such a way that as many of the eggs as possible will hatch. Naturally, the vigor of the breeding stock and the manner in which it has been managed will determine in large degree the quality of the hatching eggs.

The eggs should be collected regularly every day and kept in a room at a temperature of from 50 degrees to 60 degrees F. They should be turned every day, but should be handled carefully and should not be kept for over two weeks.

The period of incubation of turkey eggs is 28 days, and the method of incubation is much the same as with chicken eggs. Turkey eggs can be incubated under chicken hens, turkey hens, or in incubators. If chicken hens are used to incubate turkey eggs, care must be taken not to give the hen too many eggs, as from 9 to 12 are quite sufficient, depending upon the size of the hen as well as the size of the eggs. Nesting arrangements as well as other matters are practically the same as in incubating chicken eggs. The sitting hen should be fed daily and given a chance to exercise.

When the turkey hen is allowed to sit on her own eggs, conditions are much the same as with the chicken hen. Turkey hens will cover from 15 to 20 eggs. Nests are most conveniently arranged on the ground or in boxes or barrels and should be covered so that the turkey hen will not be disturbed. At the same time she should be taken off daily and allowed to exercise and should be given plenty of water to drink, and clean, wholesome feed, such as a mixture of wheat and oats.

When the turkey hen becomes broody she should be allowed to sit on the nest for two or three days before being intrusted with the eggs. When she has remained on the nest for two or three days she should then be given her eggs and attended to as suggested. If a number of hens are sitting at the same time, care should be taken to see that they get back to the nests properly and that no nest is left uncovered.

Both chicken and turkey hens, while sitting on turkey eggs, should be dusted with sodium fluorid, using a small pinch under each wing, around the thigh joint, over the back, under the body and around the vent. In this way the hen is rid of lice and the poult at hatching time are not liable to be infested with the parasites.

Use of Moldy Straw for

Litter Quite Injurious

Serious loss of poultry is often due to the use of moldy straw for scratching litter. In such cases, according to D. C. Kennard, specialist in poultry at the Ohio experiment station, the birds affected breathe with difficulty and often wheeze or gasp for air.

The symptoms are similar to a cold in the windpipe or bronchitis. The respiratory system of a chicken is so complicated that an excessive amount of dust of any kind is injurious and especially is this true of the dust from moldy straw.

Recent reports of heavy losses of pullets from this cause have been made. A heavy loss of birds may result in a few hours, it seems, and one bale of moldy or musty straw used for scratching litter may mean a serious loss of birds.

Better Roosters Needed

in Many Poultry Flocks

We have heard much of better beef sires and better dairy sires. A good rooster is just as important to the poultry flock. To prevent inbreeding it is necessary to get new blood at least every two years. Buy a new cockerel and buy a good one. Be sure he comes from healthy stock which has been bred for egg production. Be sure he has vigor, a wide back, deep abdomen, long body, full breast and proper development. Don't buy a cull or mongrel at any price. Then mate him up to a dozen of your very best hens; late moulters with lots of room in the rear and soft, flexible bodies. The result should be better pullets.—O. G. Krum, Poultry Specialist, Colorado Agricultural College.

Fan Out Poultry House

It is a good plan to visit the hen houses after the chickens are gone to roost, and see what the air smells like. Perhaps it will need to be "fanned out" as they used to fan a change of air into the house in the bygone days when windows were nailed down for the winter. Then the fresh-air devotees would open an outside door and vigorously fan it back and forth until the stale air was fanned out. Overcrowding, lice, mites and bad air are the pests of chickens.

The Telephone Situation in the State of Maryland

BECAUSE of the situation which confronts this Company in its operations in the State of Maryland an increase in our charges for telephone service is clearly necessary.

Although rates and other matters pertaining to telephone service are subject to regulation by the Public Service Commission, we realize that the success of our enterprise depends on public understanding and good will and we are anxious that our patrons should know the present conditions and their effect on the future of the telephone service of the State.

Inadequate Earnings

Net earnings now and for ten years past on the book cost of our property which is materially less than its fair value, have been at an exceedingly low rate as indicated by the following tabulation:

1914.....	5.35	1919.....	3.24
1915.....	5.30	1920.....	4.50
1916.....	5.17	1921.....	4.42
1917.....	5.26	1922.....	4.84
1918.....	5.46	1923.....	5.01

Considering the matter from the standpoint of a valuation made in 1914 plus 80% of net additions made from year to year since that date, which was the basis followed by the Commission in the 1920 rate case, the net return has averaged 5.5% for ten years past.

Present Rates Inadequate

The present rates, which are yielding returns as indicated above, were fixed in 1920 in the expectation that there would be a downward trend in labor and material costs. This expectation has not been realized. In fact, certain expenses, notably taxes, have greatly increased and in spite of marked improvements in efficiency, the rates continue to yield an inadequate net return.

Increasing Plant to Meet the Public Demand

Plant added during the past five years has been at greatly increased costs. Due to this, the average plant per telephone in service, which in 1919 was $151, is now $182, and this increase per telephone will continue. To meet the bare necessities of the public for more telephone service a minimum of $12,000,000 will have to be expended for additions and betterments during the next five years. We are not now earning enough to attract the necessary new capital.

Before June 1st, this Company will present to the Public Service Commission an amended schedule of rates and will inform the public of the proposed changes.

It is proposed to have the new rates become effective Nov. 1st, 1924, unless the Public Service Commission shall, in the meantime, find that they are in any respect unreasonable.

This will afford the Commission ample time in which to inquire into the situation in the interests of the public. The Company will cooperate in every way that will assist the Commission in considering whether the increases in charges are reasonable and fair.

Don't Go to Mukden for Pleasure, Says Traveler

We reached Mukden in the evening. A great railway station of reinforced cement, with a luxurious hotel adjoining it, received us. The price of a room was 17 yen, or $8.50. A scandal! A man should never come to Mukden for pleasure. Furthermore, the Japanese are past masters at robbing European visitors with exquisite courtesy—although they do not truly welcome us especially in these half Japanese territories of theirs.

But for my seventeen yen I had five tiny Japanese waiters and waitresses continually and silently moving about me like mechanical toys, and anticipating with almost magic tact my slightest wish.

Chang Tso Lin, Chinese ruler of Manchuria, is a typical vieux grogard, though he is not fifty-five years old. He wears big spectacles and does not look like a typical Chinaman. In his marshal's uniform—which he always wears—he reminded me of General De-goutte, the French commander in the Ruhr. I complimented him upon the appearance of his army, which looks like an efficient force.

I was conscious that the marshal was in ill humor. In fact, a conspiracy against him, headed by his own son, had been discovered at Mukden that very day. Two of the conspirators had been shot an hour or two before.

China is rushing headlong toward a new intervention of the powers. This would have come before, had it not been for the United States, whose friendship for China goes to fantastic extremes.—Arnaldo Cipolla in La Stampa (Turin).

New Gold Strikes in Madagascar and Alaska

Alaska a few days ago announced a new gold strike and hardly had that find been made public before similar news came from a far more distant section of the globe, the town of Ankilabla in the Antsavelo river region of Madagascar. High hopes have been aroused by the latest discovery, as an extremely rich vein was uncovered in that vicinity twenty-five years ago.

Since that time extensive mining operations have been carried on, principally by a private company of Lyons, France, under concession from the government of Madagascar. French authority, after its experiences in the earlier gold rush, does not encourage the individual prospector who descends on a new gold field with little else than his tent and pick and is apt to prove an ungovernable, erratic character, but leans rather to favoring the chartered company. Big fortunes were made in Madagascar's earlier gold rushes, but gradually the vein along the Mozambique coast to the west became worked out and little had been heard of it until the word of the recent strike, says the New York Times.

The prevalence of rich ore in Madagascar has made mining one of its chief activities. In addition to gold there are valuable deposits of rubies and beryl, and veins of mica, graphite and uranium—the latter producing radium—are to be found, together with many other ores. Along the seaboard pearl diving has brought in considerable profits.

Raps Auto Horn on Wagon

"It was a dastardly trick and the man should have been arrested!" announced with much heat the elderly woman who hates traffic to her daughter on her return from a tour through the streets of the neighborhood, says the New York Sun and Globe.

"What trick? Which man?" queried the younger woman.

"You know how I hate to have to cross a street and how terrified I am of automobiles and how I'm relieved to see a horse-drawn vehicle approaching, for then I know I've time to cross," continued the mother, breathlessly. "Well, as I was about to cross in front of the house I looked up and down carefully. All I could see was a slow moving, horse-drawn truck. I had only just started across when I was almost deafened by one of those terrible automobile horns. I jumped back on the sidewalk and again looked. There was no automobile, only the horse-drawn truck. But the driver had on the seat beside him an automobile horn and this he had sounded unnecessarily, almost scaring me to death."

So it Goes.

Prayer-Meeting will be held at Mrs. Thomas Keefer's, Sunday evening. All welcome.

MELROSE.

On Tuesday, May 20, Mr. Lloyd Wentz, of Lineboro, teacher of Ebbvale School, with the aid of one of his patrons, transported 14 of his pupils to the Athletic school meeting at Westminster. When they arrived at Westminster, Mr. Wentz's machine was disabled, compelling him to hire a car to bring them back home. The day was anything but pleasant, as it rained during the greater part of the time.

Some young people, of Greenmount, on a pleasure trip, accidentally run with great speed into a tree on the George Shue farm, north of here, demolishing the car, and injuring one of the occupants.

Some of our progressive gardeners are interested in watching the progress of the early potato crop. It seems to be worms close to the stalk, as a bug can be seen there when the potato top peeps above the ground. Earlier in the season the bug was found several inches below the surface of the soil.

"Snow in New York" was reported the early part of last week, and, later on, "Snow Blizzard in Wyoming," was announced. Some of our people claim our season is a month late.

Mrs. Cornelia Dice, who was seriously sick with dropsy, is rapidly improving.

There were 74 present at Wentz's Union Sunday School, Sunday morning. The topic, "Peter's Conversion" was illustrated by a story by one of the superintendents. It was announced that during the summer three ministers of the Gospel and two superintendents are expected to visit the school and deliver an address.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Sauble and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Caltrider, of Westminster, visited Mr. and Mrs. Amos Sauble, on Sunday last.

Gordon Bixler, of Missouri, accompanied by Messrs. Solomon Bixler and Noah Peterman, of Hanover, visited Amos Sauble and family, on Monday.

NEW WINDSOR.

Jesse Lambert, one of the oldest inhabitants of the town, died at his home, on Saturday morning last, from the infirmities of old age, aged 81 years. He leaves a widow, one son, Truman Lambert, and Mrs. James Fraser, of New Windsor, and Mrs. Howard Ensor, of Lancaster, Pa., and the following brothers, James L. Lambert, of Baltimore; Charles Lambert, of New Windsor; Irvin Lambert, of Chicago, Ill.; two sisters, Mrs. Jacobs, of York. Funeral from his late home on Wednesday afternoon; interment at Winter's cemetery.

Carrie Eckman fell off the porch at her home, on Saturday evening last, while the street lights were turned off. She was taken to Baltimore to a hospital, on Monday, where she will remain a while.

Mrs. Michaels, of Baltimore, spent Sunday last here, with her son and family.

Mrs. Clara Smith, widow of the late Isaac Smith, died at the home of her son, George, on Sunday evening last, following a stroke of paralysis received about noon, aged 69 years. She leaves the following children: Mrs. Carrie Null, George Smith, of New Windsor; Clinton Smith, of Baltimore, and Roland Smith, of New Jersey. Funeral in the M. E. church, services by her pastor, Rev. Randall, interment in Winter's cemetery.

E. E. Thompson and family, of Baltimore, spent the week-end here with Mrs. Lulu Smelser.

Howard Roop and wife entertained the young people's Bible class of the Brethren Sunday School at their home on Wednesday evening.

MT. PLEASANT.

The rain and wet weather we are having is keeping the farmers back with their work this spring. Some few have finished planting corn, while others are not finished plowing.

Samuel Kauffman lost a valuable horse this week, which had to be killed from the results of a broken leg, being kicked by another animal.

Augustus Bowman and family, spent Sunday, last with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lawyer and family, of Silver Run.

Frank Crouse treated his house, occupied by Moses M. Troxell, to a new coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willet and Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Plunkert, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Plunkert, of Littlestown.

Miss Mary and Paul Smeak have gone to Hagerstown, to make their future home with their brother, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smeak. Mary has secured a position as telephone operator at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Houser spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willet.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schweigart, of Panama, returned to Maryland, where they will make their future home, as they purchased the dwelling and store of Mrs. Schweigart's father, George M. Smeak. Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Smeak, of Westminster, will also occupy part of the house, by June 1st.

Miss Mary Smeak, of Hagerstown, spent the week-end with her father, George M. Smeak.

BLUE RIDGE COLLEGE.

On Monday night, June 2, the Senior Class of Blue Ridge College will present "Peg O' My Heart," a comedy of youth in three acts. This play, which has just recently been released to amateurs is considered one of the best of recent plays.

It had an unbroken run of 604 performances in the Court Theatre, New York City. In the United States and Canada this play has been given 5,987 times. It has been played in all parts of the world; the total number of performances recorded to date being 10,233.

This is a rare opportunity for the people of Carroll and Frederick counties to hear a play that is far above the average.

NORTH EAST CARROLL.

The stretch of road from the Md. and Penna. State line to Melrose is being repaired.

The Christian Endeavor Society of St. David's Church was reorganized on Sunday evening, after having been discontinued for over a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cowman spent Sunday evening at the home of George Fuhrman and wife.

Mrs. Ellen Trone spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Amanda Rinehart.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Yingling and children, Pauline, Beatrice, Robert and Earl, Archie Zentz, George Bowman and Robert Sterner visited at the home of Claude Leppo and wife, on Sunday.

HARNEY.

Decoration Services will be held here, on Saturday evening, May 31. All are requested to meet at the school ground promptly at 5:30, where the line of march will be formed and proceed promptly at 6 o'clock on the march to Mountain View cemetery; then return to the U. B. cemetery; then proceed to the Lutheran Church, where the services will be continued. Rev. Young will open the exercises; Rev. Dewey Ritter will be the orator of the evening. Good music will be furnished both vocal and instrumental. Let every person come with plenty of flowers and help to make it a complete success. Old Soldiers and World War veterans are urged to be present and help to do honor to our fellow heroes.

There seems to be an epidemic of sore throat making the rounds at present. There has been a number of cases during the week.

Abe Ridinger is building a large blacksmith shop, on his property, and when completed will be up-to-date in every respect. Our farmers were busy on Monday planting corn, but on Tuesday operations were stopped again, and you hear plenty of complaining about the weather. All we can say is, don't worry, everything will come out right, in the end.

UNIONTOWN.

On Wednesday evening, May 21, Oscar Essick, of Westminster, and Miss Lola, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Myers, of Frizellburg, were married by Rev. J. H. Hoch, at the parsonage.

Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Lowe are being entertained by the former's brother, Frank Lowe, during the meeting of the Lutheran Synod in Westminster.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zollickoff, are glad to see them back from their 16 months' stay in California. They made the entire trip home in their auto.

Thursday morning, May 21, Betty Elizabeth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Waltz, was found dead in bed. She was aged 26 days. She leaves two sisters and a brother. Funeral services were held at the home, Saturday afternoon, by Rev. W. P. Englar; burial in the Hill cemetery.

Mrs. J. H. Hoch and children have returned from their visit in Pennsylvania.

Rev. J. H. Hoch as pastor, and Mrs. Bailey Fleagle as delegate, attended the S. S. Convention held by the Church of God, at Edgewood, Md., last week.

We are sorry to note Rev. Hoch is suffering from a nervous break-down, and has to give up his regular sermons for a time. We hope he may soon feel stronger.

Visitors have been: Sterling Zimmerman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Myers and daughter, Viola, Rev. and Mrs. Lowe, of Mrs. Missouri Myers'; Mrs. Mollie Hines, of Linwood, at Russel Fleagle's; Mr. and Mrs. George Byers, of Westminster, Miss Edna Erb, of Lancaster, at Mrs. A. L. Brough's; Mrs. George Devilbiss and Mrs. Devilbiss, of New Windsor, at C. Edgar Myers'. Theodore Haines has put up a long porch in front of his house.

Mr. and Mrs. Brook Cover, of Laurel, Mass., have been visiting relatives in the neighborhood.

Miss Ella V. Smith is suffering with a sprained ankle, having made a misstep; but she can get around slowly.

Patient (calling on family doctor)—"Doctor, my son has scarlet fever, and the worst part about it is that he admits he got it from kissing the housemaid."

Doctor (soothingly)—"Young people will do thoughtless things."

Patient—"But don't you see, doctor to be plain with you I've kissed the girl myself."

Doctor—"By Jove, that's too bad."

Patient—"And to make matters worse, as I kiss my wife every morning, and night I'm afraid that she too!"

Doctor (wildly)—"Good heavens, I too will have it."—Exchange.

Had to Close the Store to End the Discussion.

In a store at Burkittsville last week there was some discussion concerning the starting of a crematory there. Several dairymen were for it, until they learned that a crematory is a place where dead bodies are burned, and then they lost interest in it. Pete Harley, who is always talking politics, said he favored it if they would cremate some of the Republicans who are always doing their dearest to keep the Democratic majority down, whereupon a leading Republican spoke up and said that the Democrats were too green to burn. The talk grew pretty hot, and trouble was only averted by closing the store for the night.—Middletown Register.

MARRIED

STONESIFER—SHEAN.

Miss Helen Shean and Mr. Joseph Stonesifer, both of Littlestown, were married by Rev. A. G. Wolf, of Silver Run Lutheran Church. They were unattended. The bride was dressed in blue crepe and wore a corsage of lilies of the valley.

MYERS—BRINKERHOFF.

On April 24, Miss Jessie Brinkerhoff and Mr. Harold Myers slipped away from Roslyn, and were married by the Rev. A. G. Wolf, of the Lutheran Church, Silver Run. After a wedding trip they will be at home in Roslyn, Md.

DIED.

REV. JAMES SPALDING.

Rev. James Spalding, a former resident of Littlestown, died at Mercy Hospital, Canton, O., on Monday, following an operation for the removal of gall stones, aged 53 years. He was a son of the late Edward and Agnes Spalding, of Littlestown.

Rev. Spalding was a priest of the Order of St. Benedict, and founded St. Benedict's Catholic Church, in Canton.

Father Spalding was a native of Littlestown, Adams county. Two of his sisters, Misses Regina and Addie Spalding lived in Littlestown until last December when they went to Canton to make their home with their brother. Sister Mary Sylvia, a sister of Charity, of Marillac seminary, Normandy, Mo., is another sister and Maurice Spalding, New York City, is a brother. A number of first cousins of the deceased reside in Hanover, McSherrystown, Littlestown and York. The Arnold family, of Taneytown, are second cousins.

MR. JESSE F. LAMBERT.

Mr. Jesse F. Lambert, died at his home in New Windsor, on Saturday morning, aged about 81 years. The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Lambert and leaves his wife and the following children: Truman E. Lambert and Mrs. James Fraser, New Windsor, and Mrs. Howard D. Ensor, Lancaster, Pa. He is also survived by three brothers and two sisters: James T. Lambert, Baltimore; Charles E. Lambert, New Windsor; Irvin C. Lambert, Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Edward Jacobs and Mrs. Lizzie Sullivan, York, Pa.

Mr. Lambert engaged in the merchandise business when a young man and followed it almost continually up to eight years ago, since which time he has lived retired. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon with services conducted at his late home and interment in Winter's Lutheran Church cemetery.

NOTICE!

There will be a Special meeting of the Emmitsburg Farm Bureau
at the Emmitsburg High School, on—MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 2, at 8:00 o'clock.

Members, as well as non-members, are urgently requested to be present.

Prohibition Achievements.

"No other social policy formulated in legislation has ever produced such immediate and beneficial results affecting the health, prosperity and morals of a nation as the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment and the passage of the Volstead Act. Its record of achievement in four years would be incredible, if it were not that it is plainly written in the official figures of the Census Bureau, the health boards of the various states, the records of insurance companies, the published reports of police chiefs, and in the mass of economic data issued regularly by national trade organizations.

Former opponents of prohibition, including members of the famous Committee of Fifty, such as President Eliot of Harvard University, and Prof. Henry W. Farnum, of Yale University, are today among its ardent advocates, won by the results achieved in spite of the organized opposition of the traffic.

From a physician's standpoint, the most interesting change is the decreased mortality and gains in health are echoed in better law observance and morals. While it may not be possible to make a people moral by statute, it is possible to remove the world's greatest incentive to immorality and lawlessness by prohibiting the sale of intoxicants. The United States Census Bureau declares that "The comparable ratios of prisoners to 100,000 population for July 1, 1922, and July 1, 1917, are 137.2 respectively." This decrease of 5.4 per 100,000 means, on the Census Bureau's estimate of 109,248,393 population in 1922 5,986 fewer prisoners for the year 1922 as compared with the year 1917.

Judge Gemmill, of Chicago, eminent authority on criminology and criminal statistics in America, declares that the decrease in the ratio of drunkenness arrests in 1922, as compared with the pre-prohibition rate, is equivalent to 500,000. The daily evidence lies patent to any observer, however prejudiced, that an intoxicated man is today a rare sight on our streets, where they were seen by scores four years ago.—Dr. Howard A. Kelly.

Lunch is served every Friday noon at 44 John Street, New York City, the oldest Methodist Church in America, for the convenience of the 500 business men and women who attend the noonday service.

WES. POINTER

There was some complaint during the war that the professional West Point soldiers had a monopoly on the safe, soft jobs. Apropos, a West Pointer, resident in Philadelphia, who has the rank of captain, said to his colored boy the other day:

"Well, Jake, it looks as if we might have another war soon. What will you do when hostilities break out?"

"Ah guess Ah'll stay right here at home wid you, sah."

Consolation in Jail.

"There's one consolation in being in jail," said the prisoner to the visiting commissioner.

"What is that?"

"There's nobody to wake you up in the middle of the night to tell you to go down and be sure the back door's locked!"

A HIGH OLD TIME

"You've been having a high old time for two weeks?"

"Yep; just back from the mountains today."

Butler is tall and dark, weighs 185 pounds and has black hair and blue eyes.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

JUST A MACHINE

LILA DUNN in her late twenties was a filing clerk on the thirtieth floor of one of the business temples on New York's Broadway. For ten years she had conscientiously filled her eight-hour days and her forty-four hour weeks with the same routine. At precisely 7:30 the Big Ben beside her iron cot went off, and as those same hands pointed out eight she was always putting the second hat pin into her hat, the duplicate of the one with which she had first entered the New York office of the hardware company. Next came the coffee pot filled the night before, and at 8:30 she was leaving the door of the house where she roomed. Then it was that Lila counted the day as really beginning. One-half block to the left, one block to the right, two blocks to the left, and a wide avenue to cross; a short flight of steps down, and then that automatic motion for the nickel that was always in her inner pocket.

One day Lila found that her special subway station was blocked up for repairs. It was necessary for her to take a route different from her usual one. This troubled her desperately—she had become so used to following the black line down her own special rabbit hole! Subconsciously the experience bothered her all day. Long after she had forgotten the actual incident, she had a resulting sense of discomfort and maladjustment. On her way home the shadow was still upon her. The interrupted black line—it haunted Lila. Then suddenly her mind began to work, her perfectly good mind. She asked herself an epoch-making question: Why should she spend her life following a—no the black line?

Next day Lila got up fifteen minutes earlier than usual; she had tea instead of coffee for breakfast, she prepared for herself, and a bit of marmalade on her toast. Then she walked through the park near her door to a different car line that also took her to the office. The resulting sense of emancipation she experienced made her sit down at her desk with a toss of her head that caused the office manager to readjust his tie as he realized for the first time that Lila was young and pretty. That evening she did not go directly back to her room; instead she invited the girl at the next desk to accompany her to the movies. So the days passed, and as she acquired the habit of making each one different, she found she could put more energy as well as more pleasure into her work. That winter she was made chief filing clerk. She had succeeded in breaking through that hardened habit of following the black line that had been strangling her sense of proportion—that had almost succeeded in making of her a mere machine!

PLENTY OF POWER PLENTY OF LIGHT

YOU know you need a lighting plant on your premises. But you want to be sure you are getting a machine that will stand up and deliver service—both light and power—without giving you a lot of bother and expense.

GENCO LIGHT

has all the good points of other systems without a single weak feature. Genco Light is a lighting and power plant all in one and at one price. By using a line shaft you can utilize power direct from the engine by belting to the pulley as shown in the illustration. No expense for extra motors. Go to your nearest dealer and see the plant at work, or write to the manufacturer for all the facts, and make a careful study of the plant.

THE BABYLONIAN EXILE OF JUDAH

LESSON TEXT—II Chron. 36:11-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Righteousness ex-alteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people."—Prov. 14:34.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What a Boy King
Did.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Destruction of Jerusalem.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-
IC—The Last Days of Jerusalem.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-
IC—A Nation in Ruins.

1. The Sins of the Nation (vv. 11-16).

1. Zedekiah, the King (vv. 11-13).

(1) Insubordination to God's prophet (v. 12). In the theocratic government of Israel God's prophet occupied a higher place than the king himself. The prophet was God's messenger. Instead of receiving Jeremiah as God's messenger and conforming his life to God's will, as made known by the prophet he refused to humble himself before God.

(2) Rebellion against Nebuchadnezzar (v. 13). Zedekiah was made king of Judah by the king of Babylon but, in spite of this kindness and the word of the Lord spoken to him by Jeremiah (Jer. 38:17, 18; 52:3), he rebelled against the king of Babylon.

(3) He stiffened his neck and hardened his heart against God (v. 13). Those who rebel against rightly constituted authority soon are resisting the will and grace of God.

2. The Priests and People (vv. 14-16).

(1) They followed the heathen (v. 14). Even the priests who ministered in the house of God were practicing the sins of the heathen nations surrounding them.

(2) They polluted the house of the Lord (v. 14). The house of the Lord was sacred, having been dedicated to the Lord and consecrated to His service. For priests to officiate while living lives of impurity was pollution to God's house.

(3) They mocked God's messengers (v. 16). Instead of receiving them as from God, they mocked them.

(4) They despised God's word (v. 16). To set at naught God's counsel is to despise His word (Prov. 1:25).

(5) Misused God's prophets (v. 16). They not only mocked them but imprisoned some and slew others. This they persisted in until God could no longer restrain His wrath.

11. The Judgment Falls (vv. 17-21).

1. Slaughter by the Sword (v. 17). So severe did this judgment fall that the King of the Chaldees slew young men even in the house of the sanctuary and "had no compassion upon young man or maiden, old man or him that stooped for age."

2. The Treasures and Sacred Vessels Carried to Babylon (v. 18). This included, not only the treasures of the house of the Lord, but of the king and his princes.

3. Burned the House of God (v. 19). This was the sacred temple built by Solomon with certain additions and modifications.

4. Broke Down the Walls of Jerusalem (v. 19). The aim in this was to render the walls useless as a means of defense.

5. Burned the Palaces (v. 19). It would seem that the common houses were left for the poor people who remained in the land.

6. Destroyed All the Goodly Vessels (v. 19). This would mean that the palaces were plundered of all that was valuable.

7. Carried the People Into Captivity and Made Slaves of Them (v. 20). Those who had escaped the sword were now carried away and enslaved. It would seem that a number of people had deserted to the Babylonians. From II Kings 25:12 we learn that the poorest of the people were left in the land. Those who would not likely make any trouble were left as vine-dressers and husbandmen. Since the custom was to colonize conquered territory by foreign peoples, the object in leaving the poor people was that the country might be ready and over these people Gedaliah was appointed with headquarters at Mizpah. When the walls were broken Zedekiah fled by night, his object being doubtless to cross the Jordan at Jericho and hide in the mountains east of Jordan. He was overtaken in the plains of Jericho (II Kings 25:5) by the Chaldean army. He was captured and taken to the king of Babylon who was at Riblah, a town north of Damascus. Zedekiah was tried before Nebuchadnezzar, his eyes were put out, he was bound with fetters of brass, and carried away to Babylon, where he remained a prisoner until the day of his death (Jer. 52:11).

In His Steps (6)

How Jesus Faced Duty

Matthew 3:15; John 9:4, Luke 22:42

When our Lord came into this world, He came to do the will of God. That will was His delight. See Psalm 48 and Hebrews 10:7.

The doing of this will involved obedience unto death, even the death of the cross. From this He did not shrink. It was the work the Father gave Him to do, and from it He did not draw back. See John 17:3.

Duty is a noble work, and fidelity to duty is a splendid quality, and duty of itself can become hard, formal, and cold. Jesus faced duty with a great love in His heart. First, there was love towards His Father. "That the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even so I do" (John 14:31). This special love for the Father impelled Him onward in His sacrificial career and His mighty work of redemption.

In the second place, he faced duty with a great love towards His believing people. "He loved me," cries the apostle "and gave himself for me" (Gal. 2:20). The joy of saving others from sin and death and judgment and wrath, was always in His heart. "For the joy that was set before Him," the joy of salvation, the joy of triumph, the joy of sharing the fruits of that triumph with His own, "He endured the cross and despised the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God." In running the race set before us, in facing the duties of life as they come to us, we must needs do it "looking unto Jesus."

Again, we observe the love of pity as He looked out upon the multitude as sheep without a shepherd. Even though many were perverse, loving darkness rather than light, and did not come unto Him that they might have life, yet He yearned over them with a great love. In discharging our duty to evangelize the lost, this impelling power, this love of compassion must have a place. It is the supreme qualification for missionary work.

A heart love for God, for fellow believers, and for the world, transforms duty from a cold, formal matter into a vital and vitalizing force.

Plants Grow Toward Light Unless Blinded

A house plant grows toward the light, and if the pots are turned about so that the leaves face away from the window, it takes only a day or two for them to screw themselves around once more into nearly their old positions.

If now one looks carefully for the joints where this bending is done, he sees at once that nearly all stalks have two. At the bottom of each leaf stalk, where it joins the twig, there is a spot of soft, bright green tissue, which is one joint. Then, at the other end of the stalk, where it joins the leaf, there is likely to be still another. One sees this easily in the bean. The leaf, as a whole, has one of these joints between leaf stalk and stem. Then each of the three leaflets has one of its own, between itself and the common leaf stalk. So, too, the three leaflets of the clover move, each by itself, by means of such a joint.

Curiously, however, as has been discovered only lately, these bright green spots are not simply the joints of the leaf; they are also its eyes. It has been found that if the spots are covered with black paper, the plant becomes blind, so that it no longer turns its leaves toward the light. But, if the rest of the leaf and its stalk are covered, and only the joints left exposed, then the leaves turn as usual. Moreover, not only light, but also pin-pricks, acids, electric shocks and heat, applied at these joints, will cause the leaf to move.—St. Nicholas Magazine.

Tons of Food Served at Feasts in Olden Times

Menus of olden times, when kings and robber knights served tons of food and wine to their castle party guests during feasts which sometimes went on for weeks, have been appearing recently in German newspapers, which marvel at the capacities to eat and drink of individuals living 300 or 400 years ago.

An example of a feast at the court of Hanover in the sixteenth century, when thirteen different meat dishes were served, has been published recently. The menu, compiled from old court records, follows:

First section—Two kinds of wine soups, baked singing birds, meat pie, venison, mutton breast, wild pork, veal, roast chicken, boiled beef, two kinds of fish, vegetables and wine.

Second section—Lobster, trout, carp, pickled meats, lamb chops, roast deer, young roast pig, ox feet, artichoke, fig cake, dessert, wine and brandies. In those days it is claimed that even in the homes of persons of the middle class the dinner usually consisted of six courses, each course constituting seven to nine different dishes.—Detroit News.

Finds Song of English Cicada Very Pleasing

If the insects named as our best are rare and local, or at all events not common, what shall we say of our cicada? Can we call him a singer at all? or if he be not silent, as some think, will he ever be more to us than a figure and descriptive passage in a book—a mere cicada of the mind? He is the most local, or has the most limited range, of all, being seldom found out of the New Forest district. He was discovered there about seventy years ago, and Curtis, who gave him the proud name of Cicada anglica, expressed the opinion that he had no song.

At all events, I can say that unless we have some orthopterous insect, of a species unknown to me, which sings in trees, then our cicada does sing, and I have heard it. The sound which I heard, and which was new to me, came from the upper foliage of a large thorn tree in the New Forest, but unfortunately it ceased on my approach, and I failed to find the singer.

Had we, in England, possessed a stridulating mantis, which is capable of a slower, softer sound than any grasshopper, I should have concluded that I was listening to one; but there was not, in this New Forest music, the slightest resemblance to the cicada sounds I had heard in former years. The cicadas may be a "merry people," and they certainly had the prettiest things said of them by the poets of Greece, but I do not like their brain-piercing, everlasting whirr; this sound of the English cicada, assuming that I heard that insect, was distinctly pleasing.—W. H. Hudson, in "Hampshire Days."

Odd Formations Found in the "Hoodoo Region"

The Hoodoo region, near the head of Miller creek, beyond the east boundary of Yellowstone National park, is said to furnish probably the most striking example in existence of the effects of erosion and wind action upon masses of moderately solid rock. The region was discovered by miners in 1870, and was first explored and reported upon by Col. Norris in 1880, who thus described it:

"Nearly every form, animate or inanimate, real or chimerical, ever actually seen or conjured by the imagination, may here be observed. Language does not suffice to describe these peculiar formations; sketches may probably do something, and photographs more, to convey a conception of their remarkable character, but actual observation is necessary to adequately impress the mind with the wild, unearthly appearance of these eroded Hoodoos of the Goblin land. These monuments are from 50 to 200 or 300 feet in height, with narrow, tortuous passages between them, which sometimes are tunnels through permanent snow or ice fields, where the Bighorn sheep hide in safety; while the ceaseless but ever changing moans of the wild winds seem to chant fitting requiems to these gnomelike monuments of the legendary Indian gods."

A Faulty Recovery

Norman has made his last appearance in the social whirl for this season, or at least until a certain matron by the name of Curtis has had time to cool off and let her better, forgiving nature assert itself.

It happened at a dance at the club. Norman found that he had a certain dance with Mrs. Curtis. Mrs. Curtis is considerably above the average in weight. Then, on top of this fact, she did not dance well. Now, Norman dislikes fat women and detests to dance with poor dancers. So he proposed to Mrs. Curtis that they sit out the dance.

They were watching the other dancers, when Norman rather absently, as much to make some effort at conversation as anything, observed:

"Isn't Miss Rodgers pretty? So tall, and slender, and graceful!"

"Oh, I suppose so," Mrs. Curtis agreed, rather grudgingly.

Then Norman realized the implied comparison and blurted out:

"Oh, but I like fat women, too!"

Plant 76,000,000 Years Old

The horsetail rush or its ancestors dates back some 76,000,000 years, to the day when the world was uninhabited by human life. It is one of the ten species of the sole genus of plants that has survived from the carboniferous era, when its forbears reared their majestic heads to a height of ninety feet and more on stumps six feet thick. The plants of this era ceased growing many millions of years ago, when the world was swept by oceans which buried forests, but for more than half a century they have provided the greatest agent of modern industrial development and have been the bone of contention, under the atlas of coal, in many a federal investigation. It has the oldest genealogy of any living thing.—Detroit News.

INDIGESTION HAD HIM THREE YEARS

Miserable Clutch Finally Broken, However, by Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup, The Old Reliable, Declares Enthusiastic Florida Merchant.

Evidence daily accumulates supporting the reputation of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup as a reconstructive tonic of remarkable power and a general remedy for stomach trouble, torpid liver and impoverished blood.

One of the most interesting statements to this effect is furnished in a personal communication received by the manufacturers from J. M. Baggett, Jr., of J. M. Baggett & Co., general merchandise, of Blackman, Fla., who writes:

"I have been in business here for twenty-five years and have sold the Thacher Remedies twenty years and never have had a single complaint about them. Thirteen years ago I had indigestion and was under treatment for that and liver trouble three years, but as I didn't get any better I quit and started on Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup, which I continued to take till completely relieved.

"I am fifty-five years old and feel as well and strong as a man of thirty-five. A few days ago I recommended Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup to a young man who had been under treatment for kidney trouble without much success. He took a bottle and it did him so much good he was soon back for two more."

There is no doubt that this preparation has made a distinct impression on this community. Its remarkable record here and elsewhere is nothing short of a sensation, and the wonderful relief obtained by so many who have been taking it is a general theme of conversation among all classes. TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Brief Items of Local News of Special Interest to Our Home Readers.

Dr. Charlesworth has discontinued his visits to Taneytown and Hampstead.

Mrs. S. C. Reaver has returned from Church Home Infirmary and is getting along fine.

Attention is called to a special notice, of interest to milk producers in Taneytown neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess S. Miller spent the week-end with their nieces, Mrs. Myers and Mrs. McCleary, of Waynesboro, Pa.

Mrs. John A. Garner and son, Geo. E. Garner, of Baltimore, paid a visit to Taneytown, on Sunday, and to Mrs. Marguerite Sell, near town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Shriner are at the home their daughter, Mrs. Tolbert Shorb; both are mending slowly from their recent attack of grip.

Maurice Feeser has bought a building lot from Calvin T. Fringer, at the end of George St., on which he expects to build a dwelling, this year.

Miss Catherine Ohler is spending some time at Marston, Md., helping care for her aunt, Mrs. Clyde Morningstar, who has been quite ill for the past ten days.

Rev. W. V. Garrett, with D. J. Hession as lay delegate, attended the Maryland Lutheran Synod, in Westminster, this week. The session opened Monday night, and closed Wednesday night.

Do not forget to vote for the most attractive flower garden, during the month of May. A box in which to put your ballot will be in the Post-office window, Saturday, May 31, until 8 P. M., when it will be removed and the votes counted.

Wm. E. Wagner has opened the S. C. Ott bakery, and is baking pies, cakes and buns. Mr. Wagner fully understands the business, and was a Taneytown baker quite a while ago. This makes the third bakery now in operation in the town.

President J. Maurice Henry, of Blue Ridge College, visited our office, on Tuesday, and left the copy for the annual Catalogue of the College, which has been issued at our office since the establishment of the institution, over 20 years ago.

This is one of our busy seasons—May and June—and customers for printing or advertising are warned not to expect work taken up and finished "right away." Our desire to accommodate all, is unlimited, but our ability to do so is not. Please give us a show, by giving us all the time possible.

Instead of saying the farmers' season is "two weeks late" we will have to make it four weeks, as that is practically the situation, with the continued showers of the present week. Even if the rains cease, there will be corn planted as late as June 10-15, if the usual acreage is planted.

The Record has received from J. Maurice Eckenrode, Pasadena, California, a copy of Souvenir Program of Knights of Columbus State Council, May 1924, held at Pasadena. The book is a handsome specimen of printing, and among the numerous half-tone cuts is one of J. Maurice, who compiled the work in excellent taste.

Decoration Day exercises will be held this afternoon, along former lines. Parade to the three cemeteries by veterans, the fraternal orders, school children, and band; decoration of graves, followed by an appropriate program in the Opera House; addresses by local ministers, and music. Donations of flowers should be taken to the High School building.

(For the Record.) Those that spent Sunday with Cleve Weishaar and family, were: Preston Smith and wife, Chas. Miller and wife, Norman Reindollar, wife and daughter, Leah Catherine; Velma, Grace and Gladys Smith; Mary, Grace and Clara Weishaar; Mrs. Birnie Crabbs, Evaline Miller and Wm. Weishaar, Jr. Ervin Crabbs and Jas. H. Weishaar, also spent Sunday at the same place.

(For the Record.) Mr. and Mrs. Geary Angell entertained, on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Blank, daughter Lillian and sons, Preston and Amos, of Tyrone; LeRoy Harris, John and Joseph Crampton, of Frederick; Walter DeGroff, of Littlestown; Frank Kane, William and Guy Leister, Misses Anna and Madeline Myers. The trio from Frederick furnished splendid music on violin and harp, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Miss Blanche Stouffer, of Hagerstown, spent the week-end in New York.

Mrs. Nettie Weaver, of Baltimore, has returned to her home here for the Summer.

John T. Albaugh, of New Midway, who had been seriously ill, is able to be around in the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Williams, of Washington, are visiting at the home of George K. Duttera and family.

Chas. E. Sell and Edward Miller, spent a day in Baltimore, this week. It was Mr. Miller's first visit to the city.

Rev. C. A. Shilke, of Walkersville, and his delegate to Synod, Mr. Hull, were callers at the Record Office, on Thursday.

Mrs. Margaret E. Seiss, of Takoma Park, D. C., was a visitor, this week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Shoemaker.

Ralph Sell received a fall, on Monday, while assisting in tearing down an old building, and tore a ligament in his right arm.

Many people had a very good excuse for not working on "Ascension Day" this year, because of the descent of rain.

Prof. J. L. Hunsberger has bought two lots in the East End addition, and it is reported that he expects to build a dwelling, this Summer.

Rev. J. T. Huddle, D. D., pastor of Luther Place Memorial Church, Washington, will have his sermon of Sunday morning, broadcasted by Radio, likely about 11:30. Dr. Huddle is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Mary Crapster, and visits Taneytown occasionally.

The local Fire Company realizes the need of an up-to-date fire engine, not only for better and quicker town service, but for the protection of out-of-town property. Various plans are being considered for raising the needed funds for purchase, to which citizens of the town and community should liberally respond. A Carnival Company, that makes a business of operating in conjunction with Fire Companies, has been engaged for the week of June 16, more about which will be given in next issue.

LAST PAGE EDITORIAL.

Take Time to Consider.

Whenever an investment proposition or financial deal is urged for immediate acceptance, it is pretty sure to be a good time to investigate—to make haste slowly. Once in a while we miss a good chance by not acting quickly, but more frequently it pays best to "look before you leap," whether it be a matter of finance, or an important question that has a close relationship to our private affairs.

Usually, we move, work, think and act too quickly. The speed bug has gotten into nearly everything we do. We do not balance ourselves and make sure of our footing, before we jump. Of course, it is often necessary to make decisions quickly; we must be quick-witted and on our job, but this does not mean deciding a momentous question in a minute—it rather means deciding in a minute to take time to consider the question.

A well-ordered, logical, sound business mind, never takes unnecessary chances. Good business men do usually get rid of a lot of problems in a short time, but they are apt to do it by "pigeon-holing," as well as by quick and decisive actions—by the use of system, and by a sort of instinct that flashes the correct thing to do. "Wait a while," is just as good a motto as "do it now," depending entirely on the thing to be done—and the ultimate importance of it.

Deciding too quickly—perhaps as the result of persuasive eloquence—has time and again in our lives left cause for regret, perhaps of extremely important bearing for years. Being "talked into" doing something, is never a good reason. Our decisions should represent calm judgment on our part, or the best advice of others qualified to give it. We should not be unduly suspicious of being victimized—"taken in," as we say—but there is always room for caution when we are pressed for quick decision, especially on matters, with which we are not well informed.

The annual Senior-Junior party was held May 22, at 7:45, at the Opera House, Taneytown. Members of the two classes and the high school faculty attended. Dancing and card playing were enjoyed by the guests. Other indoor games were played. Punch was served between games.

The color scheme of decorations was gold and white, the class colors of the Seniors. Gold and white curtains were placed on windows, with crepe paper fans. Numerous strands of crepe paper ran from one corner of the hall to the other, crossing each other. Many colored balloons were hung from the decorations near the floor. This added very much to the attractiveness of the scene.

At 10:30 o'clock refreshments were served, which consisted of sandwiches, cake, ice cream, pickles, candy and coffee.

Encouraging.

"Now, be careful how you drive, caddy, and go slowly over the stones, for I hate to be shaken. And mind you pull up at the right house, and look out for those dreadful railway vans."

"Never fear, sir; I'll do my best. And which 'orspital would you wish to be taken to, sir, in case of an accident?"

We Know How He Felt.

A rickety flivver chugged down the street faster than the cop thought the owner ought to be driving. The cop signalled him to stop but the flivver kept on going.

After a pursuit, the cop demanded angrily, "What's the idea? Why didn't you stop when I told you to?" "Well," answered the man, "it seemed a shame to stop after I spent two hours gettin' the ol' bus started."

It is reported the cop let him go.

Goodbye, Hubby.

He came home proudly and announced that he had insured his life in her favor for $20,000. "You are so kind and thoughtful, dearest," she said. "I'll never say another word against you getting a motorcycle."

President Coolidge signed the Immigration Bill, this week, including Japanese exclusion. He expressed regret at the exclusion feature, and would have vetoed it, had it stood alone.

It is figured that if the railroads could save a pound of coal a mile, for each ton of freight carried the saving would amount to over $3,000,000 a year to the carriers.
