

TOMATOES AND THE TARIFF.

Italian Imports Endangering a big Maryland Industry.

M. Melvin Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation has sent communications to Maryland's representatives in Congress asking their aid in securing an increase in the rate of taxation on imports of canned tomatoes reaching this country from Italy, in order to protect the canning industry in Maryland. Recent reports, which have come to the notice of the State Farm Bureau office, are to the effect that great quantities of Italian canned tomatoes and tomato paste are reaching this country and placed on our markets for sale at figures that threaten to prove injurious to the tomato canning industry.

Mr. Stewart points out, in his letters to the Maryland Senators and Congressmen, that Maryland is one of the greatest tomato producing states in the country, especially for the canning trade; that records submitted through the Department of Commerce show that the total of imports of canned tomatoes from Italy, in last year, amounted to 84,038,720 pounds, which estimated on the basis of No. 3 cans, each containing two pounds and two ounces, or 61 pounds to the case, would amount to 1,647,817 cases. The total imports of tomato paste from Italy for last year amounted to 20,517,675 pounds, or, estimated on the basis of 37 1/2 pounds to the case, (100 six oz. cans) would amount to 547,138 cases.

The Executive Committee of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, at a recent meeting, passed a resolution urging that the Maryland representatives in Congress work for an increase in the tariff rate on Italian canned tomatoes and tomato products; also for the passing of a law which will allow a greater percentage of increase in the tariff than the 50% which is the figure named in the present law.

The present tariff rate on imported canned tomatoes is only 15% and on tomato paste 40%. The National Canners Association at its last annual meeting in Louisville, Ky., adopted a resolution requesting an increase in the tariff rate on imported canned goods from 15% to 40%. The American Farm Bureau Federation is also being urged to use its influence looking to a sufficient increase in these rates to insure the safety of the tomato canning industry in this country.

160 Automobile Laws.

There are about 160 automobile laws, in this state, subject to penalties for violation, and the probability is that the average auto driver can not name a dozen of them and apply the proper penalty. As these penalties range from $1.00 to $5,000 fine, and from 30 days to 10 years imprisonment—and in many cases both fine and imprisonment—getting wise to the laws would seem to be a matter of considerable importance.

Few Oregon School Boys Follow Calling of Fathers.

To determine vocational choices of boys in the ninth grade of the University of Oregon High School, a study was recently made of the occupations of the fathers of these boys and whether they desired to follow the same line of work.

Of the 203 boys tested, 177, or 87.2 percent, had already reached some conclusion as to their life work; 26, or 12.8 percent, registered no choice. Of the 177 boys expressing some preference, the largest number, 57, indicated manufacturing and mechanical industries; 54, professional service; 25, agriculture, forestry, and animal husbandry; and 19 chose commerce. Only 39 of the 203 boys, or 19.3 percent, wished to follow the occupations of their fathers.

NEWSPAPER POLLS.

Valueless, So far as Wet and Dry Sentiment Goes.

"Perhaps the dregs ought to be participating in the newspaper polls on the questions of the repeal of prohibition, its retention, or its nullification by the sale of wine and beer. The simple fact is that they are not doing it. As a rule, prohibitionists are responsible people, people of large or small property interests, and they can not be induced to do anything which will not have such practical results as to justify their use of time and effort.

In a church in Pennsylvania, with 205 persons present the question was asked, "How many of you have cast a ballot in the newspaper poll on prohibition?" One person had done so. In a Men's Bible class in Washington, D. C., the same question was asked and one man out of the 25 had voted. In 1922 the Literary Digest undertook a straw vote on prohibition which covered the nation. In this poll, Ohio was shown to be 25,511 against prohibition to 20,285 for it. Two months later the state voted against wine and beer by a majority of 189,472. In California the straw vote showed 28,897 against prohibition to 15,565 for it. Two months later California voted for prohibition by 34,000. From Michigan, the straw votes were 14,374 against prohibition to 11,207 for it. But Michigan rejected the proposal to legalize the sale of beer and wine by a majority of 207,520.

The worth of such polls as indicating public sentiment is shown by the fact that the votes recorded represent a very small fraction of the adult population of the territory covered.

There have been thousands of referenda on prohibition. Every Congressional election for many years has been such a referendum. Every legislative election for a decade prior to the ratification of the prohibition amendment, was such a referendum. The Congressional elections of 1926 will afford the people an opportunity to send to Washington a wet or dry House of Representatives. Everybody knows what the result of these referenda have been. The dregs have won them with monotonous regularity and by overwhelming majorities.—M. E. Church Bulletin.

Training School for Sunday School Workers.

The Sunday School Association of Taneytown District has arranged to hold a Training School for Sunday School workers in Taneytown, during the week of April 19th. The school will be in session for six evenings, two hours each evening, beginning with Monday, April 19th. It is expected that the classes will meet in the Lutheran Church three evenings, and in the Reformed Church three evenings. The registration fee is One Dollar. This with a nominal charge for a text-book in some of the courses constitutes the only expense upon those attending the classes.

This school is to be conducted under the auspices of the International Council of Religious Education, and be standard in grade. Credits secured for doing work in this school will be recognized everywhere. Attendance in one class entitles the pupil to one credit, and twelve credits entitles one to a full diploma in religious education.

At the school in Taneytown four courses will be offered, with accredited instructors in charge, as follows: A course in the "Study of the Child" by Miss Lulu Crum, elementary supervisor of the schools of Carroll county.

"Primary methods in the Sunday School," by Miss Mariel McCormick, in charge of the children's division Maryland State Sunday School Association.

"Principles of Teaching" by Dr. C. E. Forlines of the Westminster Theological Seminary, Westminster, Md.

"The Life of Christ," by Rev. Guy P. Bready.

These courses are open not only to the people of Taneytown, but to any one in Carroll County, and it is hoped especially that Sunday School workers in the surrounding districts will take advantage of the opportunity to attend this school. It is not expected that a school of this character will be held anywhere else in this part of the county.

The Old Time April 1st.

April 1 does not now mean what it meant thirty or more years ago. Then it was a "settling up" day almost universally observed. It was the date, on which, unless store and other bills were paid, either by cash or note, the creditor was either pushed for settlement, or had a hard time to get more credit.

The rule was a good one. The day was something to depend on. Business men could count on such cash receipts on that date—they "posted up" books, and prepared for it. And, most people who owed bills understood the significance of the day, and prepared in advance to meet their obligations.

To some extent, April 1 is still a day of large financial settlements, but not to the extent of former times, especially for the payment of open book accounts. The whole country would be better off if it was more "old fashioned" in this respect; for carelessness and lack of conscientious regard for debt paying, is about the worst habit that abounds in these modern times.

Wichita, Kansas, a city of about 72,000 people in 1920, has built a million-dollar high school upon a campus of 68 acres. The grounds include experimental agricultural plots and an athletic field.

PRIZE TREE CONTEST THIS YEAR.

Conditions of Contest that is open to Everybody.

The Prize Tree Contest, conducted last year by the Maryland Forestry Association, was so enthusiastically received and created such a state-wide interest in trees that the Association has decided to conduct a new contest, on a somewhat different line, that will open new opportunities. Last year five prizes were given for the five most distinguished trees in the State. The contest this year is unlimited as to the number of prizes. Our award will be made for the biggest tree of each species entered in the contest in the form of a beautiful certificate suitable for framing, bearing the name of the winner, as well as the name of the tree.

There is no limit to the number of trees that each person may enter. In the event two or more persons enter same tree, the person first filing the entry will be given credit, unless one of them be the owner, in which case he will be given the preference. No tree growing in Maryland is barred from the contest. Everybody has an equal chance.

There are over 150 native species of tree size in Maryland and in addition at least 60 foreign species. A tree of small species such as sumac, red bud, or dogwood, has equal chance in its respective class with those of larger species, such as oak, elm, or tulip poplar.

Rules of contest. Any tree growing in Maryland is eligible, no matter what species and whether native or foreign.

A tree is defined as a woody plant with a single stem and a height of at least 20 feet.

A tree species is defined as a particular kind of tree. For example there are several different kinds of species of oak. The name oak is the genus, or group name, while another name denotes the species, such as white, black or red, very much as the person has a given name and a Christian name, hence we have white oak, black oak, red oak, each a distinct species. It is better to use the scientific name when known, such, for example, as Quercus alba for white oak.

The use of a common name, however, will be no bar to the entry, but be as specific as possible. Send in a sample of leaves, or seed, or both, for identification along with the measurement sheet to the Forestry Department, 411 Fidelity Building, if in doubt.

Four measurements are required: (a) Circumference at one foot from the ground, (b) circumference at 4 1/2 feet, (c) horizontal spread of branches, and (d) total height. A form is enclosed for recording the measurements. Additional forms will be furnished upon request.

The contest closes August 1, 1926, after which official measurements will be made and photographs taken by the State Department of Forestry of such trees as indicate high rating.

Every one who has trees big for their kind, is urged to enter them in this contest and thus get them into the records of distinguished trees of the State.

A New Brethren Home.

The trustees of the present Brethren Home located near Hantsdale, Cumberland County, Church of the Brethren, southern district of Pennsylvania, comprising the following counties: York, Adams, Cumberland, Franklin, Perry, Juniata and part of Fulton, find the present home is too small to accommodate the many applicants applying for rooms. At the district conference held last October, the present board of directors of the Hantsdale home, were authorized to look up a site for a new building of about one hundred rooms.

The present directors are as follows: J. L. Myers, Loganville; A. S. Baugher, Lineboro, Md.; G. W. Harlacher, Dover; S. S. Miller, East Berlin; Daniel Bowser, York; L. H. Leiter, Greencastle; George Line, Hantsdale.

Thus far the sites investigated are located at Abbottstown, East Berlin and Spring Grove. There are other sites to be investigated in the near future, located in Cumberland County.

Considering the alien points for a site for a home of this type, Abbottstown is considered with favor. The present directors are meeting on the ninth of April at the home office near Hantsdale, to consider the feasibility of calling a special district conference to definitely state whether or not a new home is to be erected, and where it is to be located.

For the State Improvement of Scholastic Sports.

Students in southern accredited high schools will not be permitted hereafter to practice for more than two hours a day in any sport, and pupils whose academic standing is less than 85 percent will be debarred from participation in interscholastic events, under athletic rules recently approved by the southern Association. Participation by freshmen in games away from home is restricted to one game during any term. Membership in the association, which carries with it right of participation in interscholastic events of accredited schools, is confined to institutions belonging to a recognized athletic conference composed of athletically and scholastically related institutions.—School Life.

CHILDREN MUST CONTRIBUTE

Toward Support of Parents, says Frederick County Court.

The following case, from the Frederick News, refers to William R. Koontz, father, of this county, and to his son, Charles A. Koontz, who formerly resided in Middleburg and New Windsor districts. Both parties are well known in various parts of Carroll.

"The constitutionality of the law requiring children to contribute to the support of their aged parents was Friday upheld by Judges Umer and Worthington. The question of constitutionality was raised by Samuel A. Lewis, who was defending Charles A. Koontz, indicted by the February grand jury on charges of failing to assist in the support of his aged father.

The case was heard before the Circuit Court on March 2. Since that time references have been investigated by the court and the State's Attorney and they found that several decisions had been reached which supported the constitutionality of the statute involved.

Mr. Lewis claimed that the statute was unconstitutional and asked the court to view the case before them in that manner. The court said, after the trial, that they would examine the question and Friday morning rendered their decision that the statute was supported by a number of decisions in the past and that they saw no reason why in this case they should consider it as unconstitutional.

On the evidence presented at the time of his trial Koontz was found guilty and was Friday ordered by the court to pay to the State's Attorney the sum of $1 per week for the support of his father, and to continue such payments for the period of two years. Further penalties which the law allows were suspended subject to the defendant's compliance with the court order. These payments are to be made, for the time being, to the State's Attorney who will in turn transmit them to the elder Koontz who is now about 83 years of age and said to be very feeble.

This law is one that has not had very wide application in the past but which, it now appears, could be invoked in a great many cases where aged persons are left to the mercy of public charities. The law as worded follows very closely the wording of the law requiring husbands to support their wives, and is rather flexible as to penalties and circumstances that might be present in the cases to which it might be applied.

Koontz was represented by Samuel A. Lewis and the state by William M. Storm.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN HAS COMMENCED.

Republicans have Big Fight to Retain Control of Congress.

The political pot of 1926 commenced to boil this week with the state wide primaries in South Dakota, on Tuesday.

The next primary will be in Illinois on April 13, where Senator William B. McKinley, Republican, is being opposed by Frank L. Smith, head of the Illinois Commerce Commission. The World Court has been made an outstanding issue in this contest. Geo. E. Brennan, titular leader of the Democracy of Cook county, has announced his candidacy to oppose the winner in the Republican primary.

Outstanding figures in the Senate whose seats are involved in the coming primaries and the general election on November 2 include William M. Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican National Committee; Charles Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican floor leader; Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, the Republican whip; James E. Watson, of Indiana; George Wharton Pepper, of Pennsylvania; Albert B. Cummins, of Iowa, and George H. Moses, of New Hampshire.

Only seven Democratic seats in the Senate are involved in the bye-elections, and since they are held by Senators from the South it is conceded that the Republicans have practically no chance of winning a single one of them. On the other hand, twenty-seven Republican seats are in contest with close fights threatened in at least seven—Arizona, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Colorado, Nevada, Maryland and Massachusetts.

A fight of Nation-wide interest is that in Pennsylvania, for the Republican Senatorial nomination, where the nomination is equivalent to election. A three-cornered contest is on hand there between Senator George Wharton Pepper, candidate for reelection, who is dry in so far as he stands squarely for the 18th. amendment, and the enforcement of the prohibitory laws; and present Governor Pinchot, a pronounced dry and advocate of many reforms; and Congressman Vare, a "light wine and beer advocate." The chief interest centers in a possible split in the dry vote, and the nomination of Vare.

The wets will make a desperate effort to make gains in Congress, this year, hardly with the hope of gaining control, but as an entering wedge for continuing their fight in later years, and finally force action by states for the repeal of the 18th. amendment.

Diseases Spread by Spitting.

"Spitting should be prohibited in all work rooms and in all public places," said Dr. R. H. Riley, Chief, Communicable Diseases, State Health Department, in connection with the campaign being conducted by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, Inc., to prevent spitting. "The germs of tuberculosis, pneumonia, influenza, measles, diphtheria, sore throat, and scarlet fever, which even the sputum of healthy people may contain, may be distributed by moist or dried sputum and by careless sneezing and coughing," he continued.

"In workshops, in railroad stations, subways, street cars, buses, and in other places where persons are gathered together in large numbers the habit of spitting persists. This persists in spite of various efforts that have been made to enforce the law against spitting by making it a criminal offense, subject to fine or imprisonment. Although official placards are posted in cars, stations, and other public places it is an everyday occurrence to see many persons expectorate openly on the floor."

Dr. Riley is of the opinion that probably the chief reason for such open defiance of the law is that the general public is not yet convinced of the real danger that comes from this filthy habit. "Anybody will cross the street to avoid walking by a house posted for smallpox," said Dr. Riley. "Yet the same person, with never a thought will spit on the sidewalk. Sputum, especially in the fall and spring when colds and other sicknesses are prevalent, is responsible for illnesses of the nose, throat, and lungs among both children and adults. The germs of pneumonia, influenza, and common colds, for example, fall to the sidewalk or the floor. They are ground up and affix themselves to dust. Little children, who play on the floor or in the street and who thus pick up such dust and spit, are especially in danger of infection."

"The revolt against spitting must come from the public itself," concluded Dr. Riley. "Legislation alone will not do it. When everybody believes that spitting spreads diseases—that well people can spread it—even you and I—then only will this disgusting and dangerous habit be abolished. When people realize that they can get these diseases from spitting as surely as they can get smallpox from contact with a person sick with it, they may be glad to join the health authorities to prevent the spread of infectious diseases by careless spitting."

A domestic science school in Chicago has started a course in meat carving, to aid husbands.

The Gov. Pinchot candidacy for the U. S. Senate has mixed things up in Pennsylvania, politically, at least so far as the primaries are concerned.

THE FARM TAX PROBLEM.

The Situation Much the Same in all States.

"Generally speaking, farm taxes are higher in terms of income than taxes on other classes of property," R. Wayne Newton, associate agricultural economist of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, told members of the Prince Georges, County Pomona Grange at a meeting held at the University of Maryland, February 11.

Mr. Newton reviewed the various sources of tax income and told how the prevailing system of taxation affected agriculture. "Farm property normally earns a comparatively low rate of return and the property tax, which is the principal tax paid by farmers, is based upon the sale value of property," Mr. Newton explained, "and makes no allowance for the variations in earnings which exist between different classes of property."

"In addition the property tax tends to become more and more a tax on real estate and tangible personal property, only while other types of property and income are relieved of their full share of State and local taxation, or escape altogether. Despite the narrowing base upon which property taxes are levied, this form of taxes remains almost the only source of taxes for political units in most states, and it is in the local districts that taxes have increased most rapidly of recent years."

"While no special study has been made of farm taxation in Maryland as yet, the indications are that the farm tax situation in this State compares favorably with that in many other states. Maryland depends less upon property taxes than many other states and the total amount of State and local taxation is not excessive. Taking the State as a whole, available information indicates that, with the possible exception of Alabama, taxes are probably lighter in terms of income in Maryland than in any other State east of the Mississippi."

The Brookhart Case.

The Senate Committee has reported 10 to 1 against seating Smith W. Brookhart, Progressive Republican, Senator from Iowa. The case before the committee grew out of a recount of the votes of the state, which on their face elected Brookhart by about 1500 votes. The report of the committee is based on the "intent" of some 1500 voters, rather than on the strict interpretation of the state law with reference to counting.

The report, if sustained, will seat Daniel F. Steck, Democrat. The one vote in favor of Brookhart was by Senator Stephens, Democrat, Mississippi, who contends that the Iowa election laws should be the dominating influence in the case. Two other members of the committee, both Republicans, declined to sign either the majority or the minority report. On the basis of the report Steck wins by 1420 votes.

Mayor Jackson, of Baltimore, came back to the City Hall, on Monday, after a two weeks stay at the Sheppard-Pratt Hospital, very much improved in health, and says he will "take things easy for a while," and that he "feels better than he has for years."

Have Your Policy Transferred.

Don't forget about your fire insurance, if you change locations this Spring. An insurance policy applies only in a designated location, and when that location is changed, your policy needs to be transferred to make it good. The same applies to a change in owner. A policy does not automatically change from one owner to another, although a proper transfer of the property may be made to a new owner. An insurance contract is separate from all other changes, or contracts.

Convicts who escape from the Baltimore penitentiary ought not to go to New York, if they want to be safe, but had better stay in Baltimore. Richard R. Whittemore, murderer and gangster, who escaped from the Baltimore pen, was captured in New York on Friday last. Other Maryland gangsters have met with the same fate in New York.

There are twelve separate demands for more state road mileage on file from Frederick county, mostly for one and two mile stretches, and all have backers who are using their influence with the State Road Commission and County Commissioners. The probability is that at least two-thirds of the applications will go on the "waiting" list.

The Car Was "Paid For."

The following sign recently appeared, tacked on the back of a shabby looking motor car:

"You may laugh at me, but I'm all paid for."

We may be inclined to laugh at the "car," but not at the sign. The fact is, it would be a great deal better for the country if all cars were "paid for," for a shabby car is hardly as discreditable as a shabby debt that covers a shiny car.

There is a big settling up time yet coming, on account of the lavish expenditure for motor cars whether they are "all paid for" or not. A good many people have been buying cars—and perhaps paying for them—who have been neglecting the buying and paying for, other things—notably, keeping their homes and farms in good order.

The "car" has been too much the one thing considered—too many other things have suffered because of the new car pursuit, and all have not yet found this out. A shiny car and shabby buildings, do not correspond, and in many cases the home that should be owned, has gone into the car.

Show Windows.

That is what newspaper advertising is—showing goods to the people. If every business man could have show-windows everywhere—large enough to display their stock generously, and at the same time give information about stock and prices, there would be much less need for any other kind of advertising. Everybody knows how a display of fruit, for instance, incites buying; how the showing up of a variety of attractive goods increases, or forms, an inclination to buy.

Fortunately for publishers, show windows are limited in size, as well as stationary; only a few goods can be shown in them, and only to the few who happen to notice as they pass by. But, fortunately for the business men, we have newspapers, and printing presses, and the mails, through which excellent substitutes for show-windows are available for everybody.

Window dressing is an art, as a help to selling. A window may be stocked full of goods, yet be a poor advertiser. So is advertising an art, requiring lots of study, taste and change, as well as timeliness in the display.

The advertising show-windows draw from the viewpoint of the one on the outside, who is to be attracted in. The reasonable needs of the passers-by, should be considered, and the whole idea should represent attractiveness, and invitation to many customers. Some will come in, if there are no show-windows. It is those not so likely to come in, that advertising should be planned to reach.

If you have good big windows, keep them clean and attractively dressed—a new dress every week or two. With newspaper advertising, the same rule applies. Use its windows, that a view of at least part of the stock can be given to a wide circle of possible customers, every week.

"The Hearst Survey."

The publication of figures by the "Hearst Survey" purporting to represent polls of public sentiment on the prohibition question, goes merrily on, as though first page space was not such a valuable commodity, after all; or, perhaps it is well paid for—Who knows?

At any rate, the demonstration is valueless. It will not influence one vote out of a thousand at the election this Fall, and this is the sole purpose of the effort. The "poll" may, or may not, be bona fide. There may be "repeating" or there may not be. Any scheme with the control of the "window" and the "count," on one side is valueless as representing a guide to real public sentiment.

Prohibitionists have been advised not to vote, and they are not doing it to any extent. The "wets" do not need to be advised to vote—they do it without, in order to back up a desperate hope.

When the time comes for the "drys" to vote, and to have their votes counted when they will have actual effect, the votes will be forthcoming; and a comparison made then with this vote and the "Hearst survey" will cause the opinion that a good many folks have been "fooled."

Misdirected Sarcasm.

Last week a book that was adjudged obscene was held up in the Baltimore postoffice, and sent to the Postoffice Department for a decision, an act for which the Baltimore postal inspectors seem well within the postal laws. There need have been no publicity about the matter, but somehow the Baltimore Sun made both a news and editorial comment on the case, the character of which was decidedly sarcastic as applied to the activity of the Baltimore officials. And only a few days later, the book in question was released, and ordered delivered.

Why should a great paper like the Sun take a position of this sort? If the book was obscene, why defend its passage through the mails? If there was reasonable doubt about it, why belittle the judgment of the Baltimore inspector in the case? It is just such defense of the appearance of evil that encourages real evil—indecent and immorality—and, is not justifiable.

It seems to us far better that both public officials and newspapers should err on the side of morality, than on the side of immorality. We have our choice in the matter—why choose the latter?

Tendency toward evil needs no encouragement—it works overtime on its own account. Neither does "personal liberty" need it; nor does it need advocates in high places under the guise of up-to-date interpretations of the allowable in these modern days. All of the time, ability and influence of present day good agencies can be expended in a wide field opportunity for making the world better, rather than worse.

Whose Ox is Gored.

Canada has long regarded the activities of the rum-runners with remarkable complacency. Co-operation in stamping out the nefarious traffic has been noticeably lacking. Whisky designated for "Mexico" had been shipped to interior points with official sanction. The attitude of the Dominion has been one of benign tolerance. But now the shoe pinches the other foot.

Smuggling is a trade that can operate in two directions. Why should an ambitious and hard-working rum-runner make the return trip to Canada without cargo? Why not smuggle contraband into that country also? Surely a bit of logic to appeal to any active bootlegger!

And so Canada now has a smuggling scandal of her own. The Dominion, so it is said, has been defrauded of millions in excise through the secret importation of dutiable goods. Bribery and pilfering of the exchequer are charged. Rumor reaches up to embrace high government officials. An investigation is under way in parliament. And a storm of righteous indignation against the evils of smuggling sweeps the country.—Dearborn Independent.

Farming as a Business.

"Legislation can help agriculture help itself," Governor McMullen declared in an address before delegates attending the convention of the Federation of Nebraska Retailers at Grand Island, Nebraska.

The governor declared that the farmer does not ask the government to step in and manage his affairs, but does ask that he be aided in working out his own problems. He urged less talk, less thoughtless opposition, and above all, something tried.

"Agriculture is not a local industry in which only the people of the farming communities are directly interested," Governor McMullen said. "It is national in its scope. It represents an investment of over $8,000,000,000. In economic matters agriculture must be taken for what it is, namely, our basic industry, and our largest industry. If it can be helped through legislation as other industries are helped then the help should be forthcoming.

"If the tariff system benefits industry as it most certainly does, then it should benefit agriculture. But agriculture must first put itself in position to receive such benefit. As it is now, it is helped by the tariff only in form instead of in fact. Its protection through the tariff is on paper instead of on the farm. But that is not the fault of the tariff. It is the fault of agriculture itself. One obstacle in the way of help through the tariff has been crop surpluses.

"So long as there is a surplus of any crops, the surplus must be sold in competition with world production, and the world price received for the surplus is the price that has been accepted for the major portion of the crop. That is wrong and in every way unbusinesslike. It's the tail wagging the dog.

"Agriculture is not asking special favors of the government and it is not asking the government to step in and manage the farmers' affairs. It simply wants help to which it is entitled, the same kind of help the government has given industry, labor and finance. And there is another thing agriculture wants: It wants less talk, less criticism, less thoughtless opposition and more action. It wants something tried."—The Manufacturer.

Mr. Pooh Waited Long, but Opportunity Came

Mr. Waldemar X. Pooh, inventor and manufacturer of the Double-Cross bucket for catching lambs, writes as follows: "I was just a clerk when my opportunity came. I had brought some papers to the president of the company—he was in conference, as usual—when the third vice president, the best-dressed man I ever saw before he took to stripes, said: 'Let us ask Pooh.' The directors took one look at me and laughed; but the third vice president hushed their mirth. "We are in desperate straits," he said gravely. 'Everything else has failed. What have we to lose?' "Then he turned to me and in the tone of one who is almost beaten, inquired: 'Pooh, what word of five letters means a cold dwelling-place? We can only think of a New York apartment.' "For a moment the circle of worn, tense faces upset me, but I pulled myself together, 'Iglou,' I cried, and as the room rocked I knew that my chance had come."—Kansas City Star.

Secret of Scent

Scent is still in many respects an unsolved mystery. We know that almost every object gives out tiny particles which produce the sensation of scent. But the size of these particles is minute beyond belief, for a grain of musk will scent a drawer for a generation without losing any weight. Again, why is it that on one day a fox leaves a scent which hounds can follow at full speed, while on the next there is so little that the pack is utterly at loss? Scent does not depend upon the weather—that much we know.

Previous to the union of England and Scotland the shield of England was upheld by two lions. The shield of Scotland was upheld by two unicorns. After the union the lion appeared on one side and the unicorn on the other. Before the union the English shield contained three lions passant (walking) on a field of gold. In Sad But Loving Remembrance of our dear wife and mother, MRS. A. RUTH VALENTINE, who fell asleep two years ago, March 27, '24

Two years ago you left us; How we miss your loving face; You left us to remember—None on earth can take your place.

Short and sudden was the call; How we miss you dearly loved by all; The blow was great—the shock severe; We never thought her death so near.

Farewell dear wife and mother, How we miss you more and more; 'Till we are raised with thee to dwell, On Zion's happy shore.

Two years have passed Since that sad day; When one we loved was called away, Forget her! No, we never will—We loved her then, we love her still.

By her Loving Husband, LENNY VALENTINE and daughters, ETHEL and HAZEL.

SCHOOL DAYS

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE LANDLORD

THE tenants of the Polar Bear apartment had done everything in their power to induce Monk E. Wrencher, their flinty-hearted landlord, to give them a little steam heat in their time of need. They had even had him serenaded by an expensive brass band, which played "Keep the Home Fires Burning," continuously for five hours beneath his windows. But to no avail—icicles continued to form on the radiators and more tenants contracted pneumonia and passed to a nicer, warmer climate.

And then, suddenly, Monk E. Wrencher felt a strange stirring of his long dormant conscience. "After all," he thought, "the tenants have some rights. They're human beings, after all, even if they are tenants. We can't all be landlords. Who knows, by some odd turn of fate, that I might not be a tenant myself some day. I'll give them all the steam they want, beginning tomorrow."

Now, as it chanced, the next day was unseasonably, uncomfortably warm. And even as the tenants threw up their windows for a breath of air, the radiators suddenly grew smoking hot and great clouds of steam arose as if to mock them.

With frantic cries they sought out Monk E. Wrencher and gave him such a pitiless drubbing that he never sent up another ounce of steam.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

A DESTROYING ANGEL

GOING through the world today is a destroying angel, sowing seeds of strife and sorrow among men and women who proudly proclaim from the housetops and on the street corners that they are free agents independent in thought and action.

Yet when you look impartially into the purpose which actuate these self-confident persons, you will discover to your amazement that their boastful assertions are at variance with the truth.

With willing ears, however, they listen attentively to base argument which if followed to the end would ultimately destroy their individuality and usefulness.

So, instead of accepting advice from elders, from interested wives and husbands, or from employers, these inconsistent persons gulp down poisonous draughts which have been mixed with exceeding care to dethrone their reason.

Out of weekly or monthly earnings they hand over at regular intervals a stipulated percentage of their receipts, to keep an arch enemy and his cohorts in fine raiments, luxurious living quarters, choice cigars, trained servants and imposing automobiles.

While his victims are tolling he enjoys life, making a pretense of improving their living conditions, principally by worn out catchwords and promises which are never kept.

He compliments and flatters as he robs them, fattens, grows rich and domineering.

And all this he does with the money earned by his thousands of unsuspecting slaves who have yet to learn the knack of saving and the primitive art of taking care of themselves.

Under the strong will and hypnotic gaze of this destroying angel, his miserable serfs who are constantly complaining of "hard times" let themselves go blind of their own best interests.

Among the NOTABLES

SIR WALTER SCOTT

THERE were many famous people born on the fifteenth of August, among them Napoleon, De Quincy and Sir Walter Scott.

This last, the great Scottish poet and novelist, was born in Edinburgh, in 1771. As he was a delicate child, no formal sort of education was given him and he was rather indulged in his tastes. The most predominant of these was a love of hearing the tales of adventure on the Scottish border, which his grandmother and family friends used to tell him, and to read collections of legends and ballads, of his and other countries. He studied French, Italian and German, just to read their literature in the original.

He did not begin to write very young; he seemed to have stored up tales in his head until, when he finally settled on authorship, they simply tumbled out onto the manuscript. His first was the poem "Lay of the Last Minstrel," a great success and a departure from the abstruse poetry of the period. Later, he took to novel writing, doing two and three a year, with amazing rapidity. "Kenilworth," "Ivanhoe," "Bride of Lammermoor"—taken as the basis of the opera "Lucia," later—and dozens of others were written and fairly gobbled up by an eager public. Scott made money rapidly, had a lovely home and an income aside from his earnings. Then a publishing firm he was interested in, failed, leaving him more than $600,000 debts. Though he could have avoided paying, he insisted on earning and paying every cent, and before he died in 1832 had almost done so.

A FEW DESSERTS

A SIMPLE dessert which is very soon prepared if one has the ingredients on hand, is this: Add a half cupful more or less of coarsely chopped pecans to whipped cream, adding powdered sugar to sweeten. Serve on bananas.

Apple Charlotte.

Soak one-half of an envelope of sparkling gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of cold water, add one-half cupful of boiling water and stir until well dissolved; now add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one cupful each of sugar and cooked apple; when the mixture begins to stiffen, beat with a wire whisk, then fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of three eggs and beat again. Turn into a mold lined with lady fingers.

Apple Roll.

Prepare a rich biscuit dough. Cut apples to make a cupful (chop them in the chopping bowl). Roll out the dough and put in the apples sugared and flavored to taste. Roll up and bake one-half hour. Pour over some cranberry sauce and bake ten minutes longer. Peaches, plums and cherries may be used for this pudding.

Lemon Sauce.

Beat the yolk of one egg, add one tablespoonful of flour, one cupful of boiling water, a tablespoonful of butter and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice with the grated rind of the lemon. Cook until smooth. Serve hot.

NEW STATUTES FILL 3 FEDERAL PRISONS

Swelling Ranks of Convicts Present Problem.

Washington.—In spite of the increasing maze of government activities that have sprung up since the war, Uncle Sam is spending more money and energy every year in the work of rehabilitating the lawless members of society.

Due to the increased number of federal statutes passed in the last few years, the federal prisons are becoming an ever greater factor in the enforcement of the law and the administration of justice in the United States.

Previous to the last decade the total number of federal prisoners was much less than at present and a greater proportion of the lawbreakers, having violated various state laws, were confined in the state institutions.

On June 30 of this year the total number of federal prisoners was 8,518. This was 851 more than the number for the previous year.

The increasing number of convicts in the government's charge has brought about a need for a corresponding extension of the nation's prison facilities and also for a general improvement in the equipment and methods in the present institutions.

If the plans now being worked out are carried into effect, the United States will have probably the most extensive and scientific prison system in the world, according to the experts of the Department of Justice.

At the present time the country has three federal prisons located at Atlanta, Ga.; Leavenworth, Kan., and McNeil island, Washington.

Prisons Are Inadequate.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30 it cost the government $1,748,094.55 to maintain and operate these three institutions. This was an increase of $200,000 over the expenditures of the federal prisons for the previous fiscal year.

Yet, despite the greater expenditures for operating these institutions, federal prison officials claim that the three penitentiaries are wholly inadequate for housing the steady stream of convicts being turned over daily by the courts. Last spring the crowded conditions of the prisons, particularly at Atlanta, became so acute that the superintendent of prisons appealed to the adjacent state institutions to take over some of the federal prisoners. By "boarding out" groups of prisoners in this fashion it was possible to find quarters for all the federal charges.

In order to relieve the situation, the superintendent has recommended to the attorney general that steps be taken to procure new corrective institutions for the government.

Last spring the site was chosen and work begun on the new penitentiary for women now under construction at Alderson, W. Va. This institution is intended to be a model corrective institution and will be modern in every respect.

While the new women's prison will solve the question of what to do with female federal law breakers, who are at present confined in state prisons, it will not aid the congested situation in the penitentiaries for men.

Prison for First Offenders.

The Department of Justice now favors as a solution of the congestion problem the construction of a prison to be filled entirely by first offenders. The government prison experts advocate this plan, because it is thought that, by keeping first offenders segregated, they will be less likely to learn the tricks of the trade from the hardened lawbreakers with whom they would mingle in the regular penitentiaries.

One of the outstanding problems in the administration of the prison system, in addition to the congestion question, is that of providing suitable employment for all the prisoners. At present large numbers of able-bodied prison inmates are in enforced idleness.

The whole theory of the federal prisons is based on the conception that a prison should be a corrective rather than a purely punitive institution. It is believed that many novices at law-breaking can be redeemed if trained in useful trades, which would make it possible for them to support themselves honestly.

Driverless Auto Roams Streets Without Mishap

Paris.—Much mystery surrounds a driverless automobile which has been operating in the streets here. The vehicle has driven through crowded streets without accident. The inventor promises shortly to disclose the secret of the operation of the machine.

Chocolate Eclair Drives Parisian Faster Insane

Paris.—The sight of a young woman eating a chocolate éclair outside of his glass cage caused Albert Wolly, a professional fastener, to go violently insane. After gazing at the dainty in the girl's fingers, Wolly suddenly rose, seized his chair and smashed the glass in an effort to reach the food. He was taken to a hospital, raving.

The faster was on the twelfth of his scheduled thirty foodless and sleepless days and had been an attraction in a busy Paris thoroughfare, where his cage was installed in a large hall.

POULTRY

PROPER PLAN FOR RAISING TURKEYS

Turkey hens, chicken hens and incubators are commonly used to incubate turkey eggs. During the early part of the laying season it often happens that one has on hand a number of eggs that should be incubated before any of the turkey hens are through laying their first litter and become "broody." In such case, and also when it is desired that the turkey hens lay more than one litter, some of the eggs have to be incubated under chicken hens or in an incubator. About a week before the poults are due to hatch, turkey hens enough should be allowed to sit to take all the poults hatched. They can be given a few eggs from the incubator or from under the chicken hens and allowed to hatch the poults themselves, or at night a newly-hatched poult can be slipped under each turkey hen that is to be given a brood of poults and by morning she will be glad to take them.

Lice are a great annoyance to sitting hens and are one of the worst enemies of young poults. To prevent their getting a foothold, dust the hen thoroughly with some good lice powder before she is placed on the nest and once a week thereafter while she is sitting. The nesting material should be kept clean, and if the eggs become dirty they should be washed with lukewarm water.

If the weather is warm and dry no shelter is required, as the poults do better in the open. Should it be rainy, however, they need to be protected, for nothing is more injurious than for them to become wet and chilled. The most satisfactory plan is to confine the mother turkey hen to a coop and allow the poults to run in and out whenever rain does not prevent. This coop should be placed in a field where they can run out and find grasshoppers, green vegetation, and other feed. The coop should be moved to fresh ground every day.

Turkey Hen Hunts Nest

Long Before She Lays

Long before she is ready to lay, the turkey hen goes nest hunting. She steps lightly here and there, peering into dark corners, into empty barrels and boxes. When she is ready to lay she goes direct to the nest she has chosen, and settles down. If we want our turkeys to lay in convenient places near by where there can be no question as to the ownership of the eggs, then convenient nests for turkey hens should be put out, and the hens allowed to find them.

When the turkey becomes broody, like a chicken hen, she should be allowed to sit on the nest for two or three days before she is given her clutch of eggs. While she is on her term of probation, dust her with sodium fluoride under each wing, around the thigh joint, over the back, under the body and around the vent.

Do not give her too many eggs. From fifteen to twenty are enough.

Chicken hens are inquisitive creatures. If the turkey nest is within reach of their prying eyes, they will disturb her; if necessary to shut the turkey hen in, she should be released at the same time, preferably in the evening, for food and exercise. The period of incubation is twenty-eight days. Fresh eggs will pip a little earlier than the older eggs.

Various Kinds of Green

Feeds Good for Poultry

Good kinds of green feeds are sprouted oats, alfalfa meal, chopped alfalfa and clover hay, cabbages and mangel beets. In ordinary cellars cabbages do not keep so well as mangel beets, so they should be used up first. Cabbages may be hung up in the poultry house; the beets are usually split and stuck on a nail in the side wall of the pen about a foot above the ground. Vegetables which have been frozen can be thawed out and fed to fowls, but do not keep well after thawing. Clover and alfalfa may be fed as hay, cut into one-quarter or one-half-inch lengths, or they may be bought in the form of meal.

Oats and barley for sprouting are soaked overnight in warm water and then spread out from one-half to one inch thick on trays having perforated bottoms and put into an oat sprouter. Water the oats thoroughly and turn the trays around once daily to promote even sprouting. Artificial heat should be supplied in cool weather by the use of a kerosene lamp or by some other means. Use a good grade of oats and allow a square inch of sprouted oats surface per hen daily, feeding these sprouted oats on the floor of the poultry house or in the yard. Feed the sprouted grain at any time after sprouting.

Dry Hay for Hens

A measure full of dry hay shatterings or a wire rack consisting of a piece of poultry netting tacked to the chicken house wall and kept filled with the greener, more leafy bunches of hay will give the hens something to work at all day. It keeps the hens busy and satisfied, and it gives you a big amount of satisfaction to see the increase in the number of eggs gathered.

It is surprising what a quantity of the hay the hens can and will consume in this way.

Lesson for March 28

REVIEW—THE GOSPEL OF JOHN

REVIEW—The Gospel of John. GOLDEN TEXT—These are written, that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye may have life in His name.—John 20:31.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Beautiful Stories Told by John. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Greatest Things in John's Gospel. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Great Scenes in John's Gospel. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Great Teachings of John's Gospel.

Happily we have come to one time at least when the quarterly review is easy and a pleasure. The teacher's supreme aim should be to make Jesus as real to his pupils as He was to the disciples when here upon earth, for the "Word made flesh" is now dwelling among us "full of grace and truth" revealing God (John 1:14, 18). The best way to reveal the quarter's lessons will be to grasp the central purpose of John in writing his book, gather the central teaching of each separate lesson and use it in proving the central proposition. John clearly states his purpose in 20:31. Two things are set forth in this verse.

1. That Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God.
2. That through believing in Him, eternal life is received.

It should be the teacher's aim to establish this truth and to accomplish this glorious purpose in the lives of all his pupils.

January 3.—In this lesson Jesus is presented as the eternal Word existing with God before all worlds, the almighty Creator, the source of light and life, made flesh in order to reveal God to man.

January 10.—John the Baptist testifies that Jesus is the Lamb of God. This truth was certified unto him by a voice from heaven and the descent of the Holy Spirit upon Him (Matt. 3:16, 17). Andrew, Phillip and Nathanael corroborate John's testimony by declaring that Jesus is the Messiah of whom Moses and the prophets did write—the very Son of God.

January 17.—Jesus is the bestower of eternal life. He is the only begotten Son of the Father, who gives eternal life to those who believe on Him. Since God alone can give life, Jesus is divine.

January 24.—Jesus testifies to the Samaritan woman that He is the Messiah. His ability to disclose the secrets of the woman's heart and life convinces her that He is divine.

January 31.—The creative act by which five thousand men, besides women and children, were fed from a few small loaves and fishes, with a superabundance left over, demonstrates the deity of Jesus.

February 7.—Jesus is divine, because He opened the eyes of the man born blind. So unusual was this miracle that such a thing was never heard of "since the world began." The man whose eyes were opened, confessed Jesus and worshiped Him as the Son of God.

February 14.—Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God, because He is the Good Shepherd. In the Old Testament, Jehovah is set forth as the True Shepherd (Ps. 23, Ezek. 34). The true shepherd devotes his life to the welfare of his sheep, even to the extent of laying down his life for them. This Jesus did, therefore He is the promised Messiah.

February 21.—Jesus is divine because at His command, Lazarus, a man dead four days, was raised to life.

February 28.—Undivided love to God is man's supreme obligation. The Second Commandment is like unto the First, in that it centers in love.

March 7.—Jesus is divine, because He came from God and went to God (John 13:3). Though Jesus boldly claimed to be the Lord, yet He stooped to render the most menial service to His disciples.

March 14.—Jesus claimed equality with God and therefore asked His disciples to place their faith in Him as the divine being, just the same as in God.

March 21.—Jesus proved his deity by coming forth from the grave. This is the unquestioned seal of His deity.

Water of Life

If ye know what He is preparing for you ye would be too glad. He will not, it may be, give you a full draught till ye come up to the well-head and drink, yea, drink abundantly, of the pure river of the water of life that proceedeth out from the throne of God from the Lamb.—Samuel Rutherford.

Moody on Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm means "in God"; and I can't understand how any man can realize his standing before God and not be on fire 365 days in the year. Any man who goes into business and doesn't throw his heart into it doesn't succeed. Now, why not go into the Lord's work as earnestly as into athletics?—D. L. Moody.

The Gospel in the Near East
Isaiah 54:11-17

A recent book by Dr. R. H. Glover, Director of the Missionary Course in the Moody Bible Institute, will be of great value to leaders of Young People's Societies and missionary groups everywhere. It is a veritable mine of information. Its title is the Progress of World-wide Missions, and can be secured from the Bible Institute Colportage Association, 826 N. LaSalle St., Chicago. It should have a place in every Christian worker's library. The following information is taken from this book:

The term "Near East," which of late has come into such common use, applies to that group of countries lying around the meeting point of the three great continents of Europe, Asia and Africa. The extent covered by this general term is not precisely defined, but varies with different writers. It comprises Egypt, Asia Minor, Syria, Palestine, Arabia, Mesopotamia and Persia.

The Near East is the native home of three great religions—Judaism, Christianity and Mohammedanism. This makes it the rendezvous for multitudes of religious visitors from every quarter of the globe.

Protestant missions in the Near East began with the sending out of two young men, Pliny Fiske and Levi Parsons, by the American Board in 1819. They made the city of Beirut their base and itinerated extensively throughout Syria, Palestine and the adjacent lands. The missionary career of these two pioneers lasted only five years, but they blazed the way for others who soon followed. The field is occupied today by several of our larger missionary agencies. The American Board is the principal agency in Europe, Turkey and Asia Minor; the Northern Presbyterian Mission is the chief agency in Syria, while the United Presbyterian Church Missionary Society is doing a great work in Egypt. A full century of missions in the Near East has just been rounded out. Following the early periods of pioneering and organization the missionary forces have steadily lengthened their cords and strengthened their stakes, until their testimony and influence have spread in some degree to every part of this great area. Mission stations have been planted at strategic points, including almost all important centers in Asia Minor, Armenia, Kurdistan, Syria, Palestine and Egypt, and a limited number in Persia, Mesopotamia and Arabia. Extensive evangelism has been carried on by local and itinerant preaching, by the distribution of literature, and by personal interviews. Schools and hospitals have been opened, Bible translations made, Christian literature published, and a full round of activities carried forward at a tremendous cost of consecrated toil and talent. "A full century of mission work, with the discouragements, persecutions, martyrdoms, achievements, has laid the broad and deep foundations for the building of a Christian civilization in this new day."

Woman Afraid to Eat Anything
"I was afraid to eat because I always had stomach trouble afterwards. Since taking Adlerika I can eat and feel fine." (Signed) Mrs. A. Howard. ONE spoonful Adlerika removes GAS and often brings surprising relief to the stomach. Stops that full, bloated feeling. Removes old waste matter from intestines and makes you feel happy and cheerful. Excellent for obstinate constipation. R. S. McKinney, Druggist.

Comes Under Head of "Better Left Unsaid"

It was our first call on the new neighbors and Mr. B— and I were engaged in a casual conversation about the peculiar names of certain dogs of the community. The women, who had been parties to our conversation in its beginning, it seems, had switched to the subject of their own names and those of their families, while we were still talking dogs, and when there came a moment of silence between Mr. B— and me I heard the end of Mrs. B—'s remark about "Fanny." Wishing to show my interest and having noted a rather disgusted inflection in my hostess' voice, I said sympathetically, "Fanny, good-Lord, who's dog's that?" I never have been more embarrassed in my life than when, after an awkward pause, my wife said: "Mrs. B—'s name is Fanny."—Chicago Tribune.

Faithful but Fractious

Some of these young women treat love as though it was a naughty boy who should be made to stand in a corner except as a great treat once in six weeks. . . . Women can be very tiresome. Wives can be intolerable. England and America are strewn with good men suffering from their wives' virtues. It is damnable. When a woman is faithful to her husband she generally manages to take it out of him in some other way. The mere fact that she is faithful makes her think that she has a right to be—well, disagreeable. Fidelity can cause the devil of a lot of trouble in the home unless it is well managed. Fidelity needs just as much good management as infidelity.—From "May Fair," by Michael Arlen.

When You Trade Your Car—

Ford owners are continually being approached by automobile salesmen who wish to "accept" Fords as part payment on more expensive cars.

It is logical that automobile dealers should be eager to trade with Ford owners. No other used car is so easy to sell as a used Ford—because everyone has confidence in Ford quality. And it is not expensive to recondition, since Ford replacement parts are lowest in price.

Most automobiles carry greater discounts to dealers than the Ford—another reason why other dealers may offer the Ford owner a larger trade-in allowance.

But, bear these facts in mind:

The amount of the trade-in allowance you can get is not the most important thing for you to consider. The big thing is the difference you have to pay. And remember, that the higher priced car will not be so easy to dispose of when you come to trade it in.

If you wish to trade your Ford for a new automobile, stick to the car that you know to be dependable, useful and economical. Go to your Ford dealer!

He will give you a fair and liberal allowance for your present Ford and will gladly arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE

BY JOSEPH KAYE

AT 21—Former Governor Louis F. Hart of Washington Listened Patiently to the Recitals of Unruly Youth.

WHEN I was twenty-one my position in life was not very exalted. I had to earn a living somehow, and teaching school seemed about as good a job as any other. So I taught school in the state of Missouri and listened to the recitals of unruly and impatient youth with what orderly patience I could muster. As this was over 20 years ago, I don't remember how far this good nature of mine extended. Maybe my pupils did love their teacher.

"At the same time I was teaching I studied law. The gathering of this additional knowledge had to be done at night but since my ambition was to be a great figure in law I did not mind the extra work but welcomed it gladly.—Louis F. Hart."

TODAY—Mr. Hart's early ambition to become a great lawyer was turned aside, for although he got his A. B. from Harvard at twenty-one and was called to the bar soon after; he did not practice for very long but went into the fire insurance business. In 1912, when he was only thirty-one, he was elected lieutenant governor of Washington and re-elected in 1916. Upon the death of Governor Lister, he became the chief executive and when his term expired in 1921 he was re-elected for another four-year term. At the end of this period Governor Hart had the distinction of having been the head, or the vice-head of the state of Washington for 13 consecutive years.

WE LOVE YOU

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

NOT to one girl only
I would write a rime,
But to all the lonely,
Anywhere or time—
Yes, to ev'ry maiden
From her man apart,
Ev'ry lover laden
With a heavy heart.

But to those asunder,
Anytime or where,
What the word, I wonder,
That will lighten care?
Here's the day, the reason,
Why I send a line:
It's the happy season
Of St. Valentine.

Not to one girl only
I would write a rime,
But to all the lonely,
Anywhere or time—
Not to king or caddie
With a lassie dear,
But to ev'ry laddie,
Anywhere or here.

Ev'ry maid among you,
How I hope you see
That the song that's sung you
Doesn't come from me—
Not one heart discover,
Not one tale would tell,
But a million lovers
Send their love as well.

Man, wherever wending,
Please to understand
Not one maid is sending
Something from her hand;
But a million of them,
Just as fond and true,
Though a million love them,
Send their love to you.

It's a mighty greeting
Via Valentine,
Singing and repeating
All along the line:
Silk or rags arrayed in,
High or low your clan,
Here's to ev'ry maiden,
Here's to ev'ry man!

What the day or weather,
What the land or clime,
All of us together
Love you all the time.
All of us love only
You, and you, and you—
All of us are lonely,
All of us are true!

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

The young lady across the way says there are styles in dogs just as in everything else and it seems as if she heard more about hooch hounds now than either firetrades or police dogs, though she's never seen one.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert J. Null, spent the week-end in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Nannie Dutterer, of Westminster, was a visitor in town, on Sunday last.

Miss Anna Roop, of New Windsor, spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Walter A. Bower.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Kelley, of Hanover, visited Mr. Kelley's aunt, Miss Loretta Jackson, on Sunday.

Mrs. J. C. Shreeve and Mrs. John Yingling, attended a Missionary convention on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, at Westminster.

A lot of early garden-makers opened up the Spring season, the early part of this week; but the more cautious ones are waiting a bit.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cratin, of Littlestown, spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Feeser and other relatives in town.

Camp No. 7965, Modern Woodmen of America, held an enjoyable banquet, in the Lodge Hall, on Wednesday night. About 30 members were present.

Mrs. Arthur Angell has improved in health, and has returned to her husband's home, after having spent the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Zimmerman.

Miss Minnie Allison had the misfortune to fall and break her right arm at the wrist, last Sunday, and is now nursing it at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Witherow.

Have you sent The Record word about your April 1 change in address? Do it now, if you have not. Also drop into our office, or mail in, your subscription, if your name is not now on our list.

It is believed that the late cold, this Spring, will be helpful to apples, peaches and other early budding fruit. There is still danger, but it seems unlikely that buds may yet be caught by frost.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Amos Lightner, in Baltimore. She will be remembered as having lived, for some years, on what is now the Martin D. Hess farm, on the Harney road.

The male octette of St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run, with Mrs. Smith as organist, furnished the music for the evening service in the Lutheran Church, last Sunday. Their several special numbers were excellently rendered, before a large audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn C. Fuss entertained at dinner on Sunday the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. John Marker, of Littlestown; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Halter, daughters Cora and Rhoda, and son, Paul, of Mayberry, and Miss LaRue Wetzel, of Union Mills.

A musical comedy, "The Belle of Barcelona" will be presented by the Union Bridge High School Glee Clubs, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Robb, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 30 and 31, at 8:00 o'clock, in the Union Bridge Firemen's Hall.

Little Miss Mary Koontz, of New Midway, spent the week-end with her home folks, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Crouse and family. Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Brown, of near town; Mrs. Jacob Strawsburg, of Otterdale, and Mrs. Charles Miller and daughter, Evelyn, of near Union Bridge.

"Miss Cherryblossom" was splendidly rendered by the High School Glee Clubs, last Friday and Saturday nights, notwithstanding the handicaps of some "bad colds" and too little stage and dressing room space. The stage setting was Japanese style, as well as many of the costumes, and there were forty in the cast and choruses, not including director, accompanist, stage managers and others having part in the presentation. The whole affair reflects great credit on all who had part in it, many of whom are still in the lower grades of school classes.

Henry Hawk, of near Littlestown, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Shanerbrook.

Garden making Wednesday and Thursday; snow this Friday morning. 'Rah for Maryland weather

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Garner, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Garner's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Basehoar, near Gettysburg. Mrs. Laura Basehoar, of Littlestown, spent Sunday with her sister-in-law, Mrs. D. W. Garner and other relatives in town.

The Home-maker's Club held a regular meeting last Thursday. Miss Cobb gave a very fine demonstration in weaving the rush and canesets in chairs. It was a most interesting meeting, and well attended. Next meeting, April 1st, at Mrs. Walter Bower's.

At a congregational meeting of the Taneytown Presbyterian Church last Sunday, a unanimous call was extended to Rev. Thomas T. Brown as pastor. Similar action was taken by the congregations of Piney Creek and Emmitsburg churches. It is understood Mr. Brown will accept the calls and will minister to the three churches. He expects to occupy the Taneytown Parsonage in the near future.

LAST PAGE EDITORIAL.

Jiggs and Jeff.

These two fictitious worthies are largely noticeable because they are "knocked-out" time and time again, but always "come back." The artists use the rolling-pin, or almost any other form of lugeon, to produce black eyes and swollen craniums but we all feel relieved to see some characters back again, apparently none the worse for their frequent knock-out experiences.

Neither Jiggs nor Jeff seem to be reformed, morally, by the treatment handed to them, which may, or may not, point a moral as to how best to treat wrong-doers; and perhaps their "come back" qualities would deserve more commendation if differently presented, as physical reaction is not the best exemplification of the virtue. But, somehow the pictures are worth while, just because they do, so often, and so plainly, "come back."

In a different sense, not connected with mere artistic imagination, we have admiration for those who, though bumped and cudgeled by a critical, and not always fair, public sentiment, come up smiling and go about their affairs undismayed by rough knocks. There are men who simply can't be kept down, and to whom defeat seems to mean only greater determination toward further effort.

Men can fail, financially or otherwise, and not lose their proper position as good men; they can be on the losing side of political, moral or social, issues, yet remain a vital force to be reckoned with in their community life. Mere force is not representative of righteousness, for we sometimes win, when we lose, if we just keep on "coming back."

It is a great thing in life to be able to show the courage of our convictions—when our convictions are right. Many who occupy a position of unpopularity on the surface, are really, under the surface, highly respected for their genuineness. We do not lose, as long as we retain our hold against wrong-doing, for the truest bravery rests not so much on what we accomplish, as on what we earnestly try to accomplish.

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to thank all my friends for their many kindnesses to me during my recent illness, while at home and at the hospital. Also for the many letters, cards, flowers and good things to eat. They were all very much appreciated. Again many thanks to all. ROSE E. CRABBS.

One More Thought

"Dad," said the beautiful girl, "George and I are two souls with but a single thought." "Don't let that discourage you, replied her father, kindly. "That's one more than your mother and I had when we were married."

EVEN SETTLES DEBTS

"Has George decided on your present yet?" "Yep—and my future."

Educated

"After two years in medical college my son now says he doesn't wish to be a doctor." "How is he going to earn a living?" "Oh, he has learned to play the saxophone and already has more engagements than he can fill."

Points of View

The Phillistine and the poet together viewed the advent of dawn. "Ah," cried the Phillistine, "it is the beginning of day." "Alas!" he poet sighed, "it is the end of night."

His "Pickup" Claimed

Somebody stole E. R. Kerfoot's car at Hutchinson, Kan., and when it was returned to him from Missouri, Kerfoot found 100 $50 bills in the spare tire. Kerfoot wasn't caring if the car was stolen again at that rate, but an Oklahoma bank has since claimed the $5,000. Bandits had used Kerfoot's car in robbing the bank, overlooking the trefful of loot afterward.

To Whom it May Concern.

Starting April 1st, 1926, all those who have been getting any of the papers that we handle, and not paying for the same promptly, will be dropped from the list. If you can't pay at least every few months, you would better not read.
