

TANEYTOWN BOY WINS HIGH HONOR.

Burton Kephart to Represent the State at Exposition.

The most distinct honor that can come to a boy or girl in the 4-H Boys and Girls Club work in Maryland is the privilege of being selected to represent the State at Camp Vail Eastern States Expedition, Springfield, Mass.

This week it was announced by E. G. Jenkins, State Club Boys leader, that Burton Kephart, of Taneytown, is one of the three boys to receive the honor this year. The other two boys are Ridgely Parkes, Baltimore County and Rutland Hopkins, Anne Arundel County. This privilege is bestowed on rural boys and girls who have made outstanding success with their club projects and shown a high degree of leadership.

Burton Kephart is a boy of whom Carroll County may well be proud. He is now 19 years old and lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Kephart, three miles from Taneytown on the Gettysburg road. He has three younger sisters and a brother, all of whom are taking deep interest in club work. The elder sister, Dorothy, 15 years old, is an active member of the Taneytown 4-H girls club, under the local leadership of Mrs. Walter Bower.

Burton started his club work at the early age of seven, when he and two other boys secured Berkshire pigs. When 14 years old he secured two Duroc pigs and in a boys swine feeding contest won third place in the county. The next Fall he fitted and showed his stock at Timonium winning 2nd place. His two pigs, then sows raised ten and seven pigs in the first litter all of which were fed out and sold. He secured a boar pig from the herd of Harry Kimmey that Fall.

The following year, with the money raised on the pigs, Burton purchased a pure bred Jersey heifer from one of the county breeders, Edw. L. Kaufman. Last year he purchased three more pure bred heifers from McDonald School farm and now has a foundation for a splendid Jersey herd. For the past four years Burton has represented Carroll County in the boys dairy cattle club contest with a consistent record. At both Elmwood and at Club Week at College Park, this Carroll County boy in his quiet unassuming way has won the confidence and respect of his elders and associates.

"Is Capital Punishment Right?"

We have given up our entire editorial page space, this week, to a sermon under the above caption, delivered in Pittsburgh, April 11, by Rev. John Alvin Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh. We do not care to print sermons; in fact, we have a rule against it; but there are exceptions to even good rules, and this we think is a justifiable "exception," in view of the fact that so much stress is now being laid by some daily papers on what they call the "law of love" as against severe punishment; and on "personal liberty" as against strict enforcement of the constitution and laws that interfere with personal habits and indulgences.

Our attention was first called to this sermon by the radio. We "listened in" on part of it, and what we heard caused us to want the whole argument. On making such a request to Rev. Orr—and in response to other like requests—he had the sermon published in pamphlet form, and sent us a copy. We think it fully worth passing on, therefore give it the large amount of space it requires.

All who are at all interested in the topic will find it interesting reading, even though some may not fully endorse all the points taken. To us, it seems a strong argument in favor, not only of "Capital punishment" but of law enforcement in general, at a time when men in high and low places are arguing for evasion of law, and for light sentences. It is a big, and perhaps rightly a debatable, question. We simply pass it on for the careful consideration of our readers.

Athletic Events at Fair Ground.

The first inter-class meet of the Taneytown High School boys and girls will be held at the Fair Ground, on next Thursday, the program to begin at 1:15. There will be a large number of events for both boys and girls, in various classes, and the success of the meet this year will determine whether the event will be an annual one.

The boys program will consist of running, from 50 yard dashes to 440 yard runs; jumping, shot casting, baseball, dodge and basket ball throwing, and various other stunts. The girls events will consist of run and catch relays, flag relays, volley ball and baseball throws, and games of volley ball and touch-down pass ball between Freshman and Sophomores, vs Seniors and Juniors.

We do not have the space to give the events in detail, nor the names of the many contestants. No doubt the meet will be quite interesting as well as attractive, to a general audience.

SUMMER RADIO. Keep the Set in Trim through the Summer Months.

Radio, as everybody knows who is acquainted with it at all, is primarily a winter indoor entertainment, so far as distance is concerned. However, this section is favorably located for very fair summer enjoyment. There are no other two stations anywhere that are better than WRC and WCAP, Washington, for the variety and excellence of their programs, especially in the line of band music, and these can be depended on for very fair summer reception.

Then, the premier station WJZ, New York, and its close second, WEAF, New York, both of which, either direct or by hook-up with the Washington stations, will be available. WBAL, Baltimore, is also heard good and strong throughout this section, and it is to be hoped that with the coming of summer its offerings will be a bit less classical and more popular.

There is also a fair chance that KDKA, Pittsburgh, will add to our enjoyment, notwithstanding its bad habit of "fading". So, here are six stations fairly to be depended on, even through the uncertainty of summer conditions; and there is always the chance that a number of other stations will come through.

It will be decidedly best, therefore to keep "the set" in trim with tubes and batteries, prepared to listen in, and perhaps get programs as well as during the past winter, during much of which reception was decidedly below the ideal. Washington, New York and Baltimore will give all the radio that anybody can reasonably desire, for "distance" is more a thing to talk about than to enjoy.

A Horseback Ride Accident.

On Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock, Lester Roop, of Keysville, son of Mrs. Bertha Roop, with a son of Harry Welty left Taneytown for home, on horseback. At the Mrs. Long farm Welty turned in, while Roop continued on his way toward his home at Ralph Weybright's.

At about 10 o'clock Roop was found lying insensible along the roadside just a little further on, at Carroll C. Hess's place, and the horse was found at George Harman's on the Keysville road, not far away.

Mr. Roop was taken to the home of his brother, Curtis Roop, in an unconscious condition, and a physician summoned. He was pretty badly cut about the head and face, and at last report was in a semi-conscious condition. He was able to report that the horse fell, possibly while going at some speed. The horse was also cut and hurt, but not seriously.

A Mad Dog Killed.

A rabid dog experience developed in this district on Saturday evening, apparently originating with a dog owned by Wilbur Stonesifer. It started on a tour and is known to have bitten eleven other dogs, belonging to A. W. Cross, Pius L. Hemler, Lawrence Smith, J. A. Hemler, Frank Williams, J. N. O. Smith, Allen Feesser and Sterling Nusbaum.

The dog was shot on Sunday morning by Mr. Nusbaum, and the head sent to the Baltimore Health Department for examination, with the result that the animal was declared to have been rabid.

The Department of Health ordered all of the bitten dogs to be closely penned up, and observed, for a period of six weeks. This will be good advice with regard to all of the dogs in that particular neighborhood.

Wedding Invitations.

We have increased our type equipment for the printing of wedding invitations and announcements, and for the more important social functions, to better meet prevailing styles and a better imitation of engraved work. We have the wedding stationery both plain and paneled, and the paneled cards with envelopes to match, and prices are greatly less than for engraved work. Come in and look them over.

FARM DAY PROGRAM AT UNIV. OF MD.

The Best Program ever arranged for Maryland Farmers.

"Sam" H. Thompson, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation will be the principal speaker at the Farmers' Day Exercises to be held at the University of Maryland, College Park, on Saturday, May 29th.

Farmers' Day in this state has for years been a red-letter day and event in the lives of Maryland farmers and with so prominent a figure in the agricultural life of the nation scheduled to make the chief address, this year's event bids fair to far eclipse any previous celebration. James W. Davis, of Harford County, President of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation will also be one of the speakers on that occasion.

There are thousands of Farm Bureau members in the 18 Farm Bureau counties of the state who will be eager to shake hands with the head of the greatest farmers' organization in the world and to hear him discuss some of the matters with which our farmers have to deal and which constitute some of our chief problems.

"Sam" as Mr. Thompson is familiarly known, is himself a farmer of the aggressive type. He hails from the state of Ill., and has come up from the ranks through the Farm Bureau organization. He is characterized as a man of sterling qualities and has always been a leader in the development of agriculture and in the promotion of matters for the advancement of the farmers themselves. He was born on a 40-acre farm in Adams County, Illinois, President of the county farm bureau, President of the Illinois Agricultural Association and a director of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

An all-day program has been arranged for the event. In the morning visiting farmers and others will be shown through the buildings and laboratories and over the crop experimental plots to gain an idea of the agricultural work under way at the institution.

Two conferences are scheduled to be held at 11:30 o'clock. One will be a meeting of Grange lecturers of the State and the other a session and field meeting of the State Beekeepers' Association. At the same hour an auction sale of seventeen purebred Hampshire rams will be held under the auspices of the Maryland Sheep Growers' Association.

A competitive drill by the companies of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, a rally and athletic meet by the graded schools of Prince George's county, and a concert at noon by the University of Maryland Military band will be other features of the program.

Mr. Thompson and the other speakers will be heard at 2 o'clock in the Ritchie Gymnasium.

One of the features of Farmers' Day, May 29, at the University of Maryland will be an auction sale of purebred rams under the auspices of the Maryland Sheep Growers' Association, beginning at 11:30 in the morning. Twenty-five purebred Shropshire and Hampshire rams will be sold separately to the highest cash bidder. Eight of the rams are being consigned by Maryland breeders. Seventeen head of Hampshire rams were included with a shipment of purebred Hampshire ewes which came to the University of Maryland from Lou A. Wilson, Quincy, Michigan. The ewes are being retained as an addition to the University flock.

Errors Corrected Concerning Lord's Day Convention, 1844.

A Lord's Day Convention was held in Baltimore in 1844, very largely attended for that date, the proceedings of which were published in book form. The names of the following delegates appear, credited to Taneytown; Rev. S. Sentman, Rev. J. Belleville, George Mering, Henry Clutz, Rev. J. G. Wolff, Henry Swope, Rev. D. Zollikoff, J. N. Starr, Philip Hann, Alex. McAllister.

In giving Dr. W. W. Davis information as to these signers, the editor of The Record erred in stating that Rev. J. Belleville was pastor of Piney Creek Presbyterian church. He was pastor of the Taneytown congregation, which was formed in 1828 and was not connected with Piney Creek, but formed a charge with New Windsor.

Also, the Rev. J. G. Wolff mentioned was pastor of Taneytown Reformed Church. Rev. D. Zollikoff was pastor of the Uniontown M. P. Church. Another error crept into the information, as it was Henry Swope and not Dr. Swope, who was among the delegates.

To Give Top Sentences Hereafter.

Judge O'Dunne, of Baltimore, has given notice that hereafter every man who comes before him, and is convicted of robbery with the use of a "gun," will be given ten full years in the penitentiary, and that if the legislature sees fit to increase the maximum, the court is prepared to increase sentences.

This Judge is evidently not of the opinion that strong sentences do not deter crime, and it is bad news for the underworld.

American dried fruit exports to France increased 103 percent in 1925 because of the failure of the French prune crop.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS. Pension Bill Signed on Saturday by President Coolidge.

After a very close study of the bill and of the financial situation the President signed the bill for Spanish war veterans that will cost nearly $19,000,000 annually. In his statement the President said:

"It has been necessary for me to delay approving the bill increasing the pensions of the Spanish War veterans and their dependents, not because of any lack of sympathy with the objects of the bill, but on account of the Government ruling which it involved. I have realized that those connected with the Civil War always held a position of inequality so far as the Government bounty is connected with those of other wars."

At the same time, in a formal statement, he said his approval was not to be taken "as an encouragement to further laws for large continuing appropriations," and warning it might be necessary to increase taxes if governmental expenditures are greatly increased.

The details of the bill have not been published, so far as we have seen.

Hog Cholera Near Westminster.

A severe outbreak of hog cholera has occurred on the farm of the Western Maryland College. The case was reported to the County Agent, Tuesday evening, and Wednesday morning Dr. T. K. Hoffman, State Veterinarian, of Hagerstown, was on the premises. He found several of the animals in the advanced stages, and a postmortem confirmed his diagnosis. The officials of the college are to be commended for their prompt action in slaughtering and disposing of the sick animals, and the treatment of the well with serum to prevent the spread of the disease in the neighborhood.

Investigation showed that undoubtedly the source of infection was due to feeding kitchen scraps from the College, which contained uncooked infected pork. According to Dr. Hoffman, approximately 85% of the many outbreaks of Cholera in this section are caused by feeding infected pork and garbage and table scraps; and 15% from the purchase of sick or exposed hogs. Several institutes of Maryland have had similar experience to the local college, and in every case where the garbage has been cooked before feeding said current outbreaks have ceased. When asked how scraps from uncooked cured pork could carry the disease, County Agent Walrath said:

"When a load of hogs enters the packing yards they are inspected. Any animals showing evidence of sickness are separated and temperatures taken. If over 106 degrees they go to sealed fat and fertilizer vats; but if under 105 degrees are killed separately. Here is the source of trouble. If the suspected animals have not the disease badly enough to have evidence of it on the organs, the government cannot condemn the carcass and it passes into the market, say eventually to reach Carroll County as bacon, picnic shoulders or ham. Yet the animal may have had mild case of cholera and the germs located throughout the meat."

"The housewife or chef in preparing this cured pork trims the outside, or saws the bone. Into the waste goes these uncooked scraps and the hogs are fed it. They may or may not develop the cholera, but if in poor condition are more likely to do so."

"It is unfortunate that this pork, which represents such a very small portion of the pork used, should be responsible for this loss, yet it is so. Freezing will not kill typhoid germs in ice, neither will it kill cholera in pork. The only safe thing to do is see that in some manner that the scraps are not fed uncooked to swine."

THE WORLD'S GREATEST LABOR STRIKE.

Nearly 5,000,000 Union Laborers Combine in English Walk-out.

The greatest strike in the history of the world went into effect in England on Tuesday when all union coal miners quit work. This was quickly followed by a sympathetic strike of most other labor unions, the total army of strikers amounting to nearly 5,000,000, with from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 dependents.

The strike is difficult to understand in this country, from the news dispatches received. It appears to be more a social war than a strike; a sort of test of British government—who shall rule the country, the labor organization, or the majority of voters.

The cause of the strike so far has been stated only in indefinite terms. The strikers say it is a fight for a better standard of living for workers as earned by their toil, while official England designates it as a challenge to constitutional equality and the freedom of the Nation as it rests with all the people.

Whatever may be the great underlying cause of the action, it was evidently carefully planned after months of consideration by various union organizations. The promptness of the sympathetic strike demonstrates that, as even the unions least suspected of Socialism, or of so-called "revolution," joined in the movement, as though by a fixed program.

The newspapers were the first to suffer, practically all of them suspending publication the first day, due to lack of help. Transportation of all kinds soon became badly tied-up, but with the help of strike-breakers and citizen volunteers a partial service has been conducted.

By Wednesday morning there was some recovery from the first shock, and various industries resumed partial operations. The people in general, outside of the unions, resorted to many resources to bring about a semblance of normal conditions, and in general the feeling was easier. Fairly good order prevailed, and there was no rioting nor great disorder.

Some rioting was reported on Thursday, as stronger attempts were made to resume business operations, and unions were warned that force would be used, if necessary, not only to maintain order, but to conduct business. Conferences were also engaged in between leaders in order to effect a compromise, but both sides seem to be standing very firm. The government refused to negotiate new terms until the strike is called off.

The last news is that the strikers reject the idea of returning to work, pending negotiations, and that scenes of disorder are on the increase, various conflicts having taken place with the police. Feeling is intense on both sides. Transportation of all kinds is badly crippled, and great suffering will ensue should the present conditions long continue.

Playing the Health Game.

The message to the boys and girls of Maryland on "Playing the Health Game" from Secretary of Commerce Hoover, has been relayed to the 'kids' in the State, through the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health. Here is the message:

"When I was a youngster, it never occurred to our parents or teachers that the kids themselves must take the most important part in their own growing up in order to be strong and healthy. Moreover, in those times the world knew nothing about why contagious diseases were contagious; nothing about why and what food made for strong brains, legs or lungs."

"Our resolute mothers fought off illness, stuffed our tummies, and hoped for the best from accidents in the swimming-hole, from foul balls and climbed trees. Many kids were thought to be condemned to be perpetually weak. To grow up normal and strong was mostly luck, plus mother's effort and her prayers."

"But since then medical science has discovered a lot of things. To know how to stop such contagious disease at its origin, and to stop it from spreading. We know the rules by which to keep healthy from teeth to toes. We know a lot about safety methods to prevent accidents."

"We know that to have and to hold a good job and to be a good citizen, we must have good health. We know all this can be helped by play. It does not abolish joy or adventure."

He closes his message by saying that to win good health the youngster has to learn to follow the health rules, that the doctors, the health authorities, mother and the teachers can not serve as his proxies; that it is up to each kid to play his or her part of the health game fairly and squarely. He also has something to say about this being a good time of the year for the grown-ups to consider their responsibility in regard to the health of the youngsters. But as an equally well known authority has remarked, "that's another story."

CARROLL COUNTY SOCIETY. Views Given of Historic Spots in this County.

The Carroll County Society of Baltimore City held its annual meeting for the election of officers, on April 15, 1926, at Peabody Institute.

The following officers were elected: President, Harry E. Houck; Vice-President, George M. Englar; Vice-Recording Secretary, Louis H. Dielman; Corresponding Secretary, George H. Babylon; Treasurer, George F. Frock; Board of Governors, J. Leonard Eckenerode, Mrs. Lilly R. Benson, Phillip W. Lemmon, John F. Buffington.

A resolution of sympathy and regret was passed by the Society because of the death of its first President, Charles R. Woods.

Miss McGraw, of Montgomery Co., entertained the Society with several piano solos.

The Committee announced that the Society stands ready to assist the residents of Westminster and Carroll County, when they are ready to ask the United States Government to erect a postoffice in Westminster.

The feature of the evening was the lantern slides of views of historic spots in Carroll County by Louis H. Dielman, including the County Lime Stone on the Turtle farm, the conestoga wagons in use years ago in the county. Parr's spring as it now stands. Wampler's Mill, John Evans House, Mason & Dixon line stone, the home of Emanuel Myers who is reported as having charge of the underground railway during slave days, many bridges that are on the present county line surrounding the county, one of Charles B. Roberts, a scene of the dedication of Strawbridge monument, Old Stone Chapel the shrine of Methodism. Wesley M. E. Church at Rocksville, Holy Trinity Church built in 1771 in Freedom Parish. The Elliott House in Taneytown. The old Van Ribber House where Lee Master lived, a picture of John K. Longwell, and a view of the first wreck on the Western Maryland Railroad in 1865.

A view of the first Rural Free Delivery wagon with Edwin Shriver in charge who was the first rural free delivery postman. A picture of Wm. H. Rinehart the noted sculptor of America and a fox hunting scene showing as two of the participants, F. O. Slingluff and B. Myers. Mr. Dielman gave interesting talks during the entire showing of these pictures.

The Society wishes to obtain views of historic points and people so that they may be used at later times for a history of the County, and probably have slides made of them. All contributions can be sent to G. R. Babylon, 410 Fidelity Building, Baltimore, Md. Members of this Society all wish to have their Carroll County friends to become members, so that they may help to build up a history of what has been and feature the present for those who will come in the future. All that is necessary is to advise the Secretary mentioned in the paragraph above.

Sweet Corn Prices This Year.

The Frederick News, of Tuesday this week, says:

"Prices quoted for sugar corn and other produce packed in this city show a decided drop in the prices which prevailed last summer. Corn will bring from $4 to $5 less this year per ton than it did last season, one local packer stated on Friday night. Other produce will bring lower prices in proportion, it was said."

The management of the Frederick City Packing Company, this city, quoted the following prices which will be paid by that firm this season:

Sugar corn $14 per ton, old price, $18 per ton; string beans, seventy-five cents per bushel, old price, eighty-five cents per bushel; lima beans, $100 per ton, shelled, old price, same. Some packers in the county, it is said, will pay less than $14 per ton for sugar corn, this season, this season for sugar corn, this season. It is understood that several will pay as low as $12 per ton this summer although no official announcement has been made by the majority of the canning companies.

The reduced price of sugar corn, string and lima beans will not affect the acreage in Frederick county this season it was said. It has been rumored among the farming sections for some time that a drop in the price of these products could be expected this Spring. The announcement does not come as much of a surprise, therefore.

Local packers have intimated that last season was not as successful as expected and that a reduction in the price of produce would be necessary this year in order to insure a successful season."

Journalist Scored

Anatole France said that actors have the vanity and brains of peacocks. From which it follows that they are not adept at repartee. A journalist and an actor become involved in an argument as to the intelligence of the stage craft. To support his case, the journalist quoted the statement by France. The discussion was long and heated, the actor finally accusing the journalist of lack of intelligence because the latter denied possession of brains to actors. He said: "Now I know what it means to have a peacock brain." To this the journalist retorted, "Then you must have learned through introspection."

Snore in Wrong House, Gets 90 Days in Jail

New York.—After-effects of a party and his ability to snore proved the undoing of James Boyce, twenty, and resulted in his commitment to the workhouse for 90 days.

According to the story told Magistrate Simpson in the West side court, Francesca Pasada, nineteen, was awakened by loud snores coming from a spare bedroom next to that occupied by herself and her mother.

Miss Pasada woke her mother and both women nervously entered the room, and according to police, found Boyce calmly sleeping. When requested to get up and give an account of himself, the visitor sleepily told the women to go away as he was tired and didn't want to get up.

Patrolman Patrick Sheehy hauled Boyce out and marched him to the station house where he was charged with disorderly conduct.

Boyce told the court he had been drinking, occupied an apartment similar to that in which he was found, and had made a mistake and got into the wrong house.

Fines of $2.50 each were imposed on 135 electors in Adelaide, South Australia, because they failed to vote at a recent election.

Soldiers Willing to Share Glories of War

A scrap of conversation just before the Blanc Mont action shows the attitude of the men in the trenches toward the war.

It was the last day of September, and as the forenoon went by an intermittent drizzle sent the battalion to such miserable shelters as the men could improvise. Company commanders and second in command went up toward ruined Somme-Py for reconnaissance and returned to profane the prospect to their platoon leaders.

"I do not like this place," declared the captain of the Forty-ninth company to his juniors. "It looks like it was just built for calamities to happen in."

"Yep, and all the division is around here for calamities to happen to. . . . A sight more of us will go in than will ever come out of it."

Meantime it was wet and cold in the dripping shelters. Winter clothing had not been issued, and the battalion shivered and was not cheerful.

"Wish to God we could go up and get this fight over with!"

"Yes, 'n then go back somewhere for the winter. Let some of these here noble national army outfits we've been hearin' about do some of the fightin'! There's us and there's the First division, and the Thirty-second—H—H—H ain't hogs! Let some of them other fellows have the glory—"

"Gawd help the boche when we meets him this time! Somebody's got to pay for keepin' us out in this wet an' old."—Capt. John W. Thomason Jr. of the United States Marines, in Scribner's.

When Windows "Sweat"

The sweating of windows is due to imperfect ventilation, and if perfect ventilation could be obtained it would probably give the most effective results. In many cases openings are made in the sash, top and bottom, so that a current of cold air may cover the interior side of the glass. In some instances, where the sweating of windows is not so bad, 55 grams of glycerin is dissolved in 1 liter of alcohol (63 per cent), to which a little amber oil is added. As soon as it is thoroughly mixed, it may be rubbed on the inside surface of the window with a chamol or linen rag. A thin coat of pure glycerin applied to both sides of the glass will prevent moisture.

Europe's Oldest Bell

What is the oldest bell in Europe? This distinction is claimed for the largest of the bells in the town steeple of Lanark, Scotland. This bell originally hung in the old church of St. Kentigern, Lanark.

Although its bearings are worn and require attention, the ancient bell is still in good condition.

Wallace, the Scottish patriot, worshipped in St. Kentigern's and met and married his bride there. Doubtless the hero often listened to the chiming of the old bell, and we can imagine it ringing a joyous peal on the morning of his wedding day.

Early Canadian Coal

The first recorded mention of coal in Canada was made in 1654. At a very early date coal was gathered in Nova Scotia without mining, and mention of this was made in 1721. In 1743 coal was shipped from Cape Breton, as is stated in a letter of M. Duchambore to the French minister. In 1785 coal was mined at Sydney, Cape Breton, under license from the crown. In 1798 the coal in Pictou county, Nova Scotia, attracted the attention of the authorities, and Admiral Sawyer of the British navy ordered a small cargo to be sent to Halifax for the use of the admiralty.

Peppless Discretion

"Your speeches need more pep."
"I'm afraid to try for pep," answered Senator Sorghum. "My friends out home are all comfortable and making money. An attempt at pep always creates a suspicion that you are attempting to change the order of things."—Washington Star.

SHRINKING EARS A SIGN OF EVOLUTION

Scientist Also Notes Decrease of Little Toe Bones.

Baltimore, Md.—Tendency of the human ear to become smaller, except the lobe, which remains a kind of provision of nature "to give women something to hang ornaments on," was cited among other things by Dr. Adolph Schultz as demonstrating in his opinion the present-day working of evolution. Decreasing number of small bones in the little toe and the passing of the wisdom tooth are others.

Doctor Schultz is associate in anthropology in Johns Hopkins Medical school and is widely known for his research concerning the bodily structure of man as compared with the primates.

For the edification of man—and woman, too—who is prone to believe that he is perhaps a perfect specimen, Doctor Schultz enumerated the following as not certainly but quite likely to be wrong with him:

His eyes are not in the same horizontal plane.

His ears are not of the same size.

His mouth is bigger on one side, and the sides are not on the same level.

His right arm is longer than his left.

One foot is larger than the other.

His collar bone is not symmetrical.

"Man, however, is not the only one of the higher animals to show a difference from the primitive ancestor," Doctor Schultz said. "The ears of the orang-outang, for instance, are small, and its big toe is only a stump of what it once was. Of course its mental powers do not compare with those of man, but the orang-outang probably has made as much progress away from the original ancestor as man has."

Make Strong Liner of Human Hair Mixture

Amiens, France.—The manufacture of strong liner for the filtering of extra heavy oils and other fats is the latest use found for millady's beautiful hair.

The supply of women's hair being totally inadequate to meet the demand of the manufacturers, it is now being mixed with hair obtained in China from the fast disappearing queues of modern celestials.

The carding, spinning and weaving of human hair for the manufacture of cloth is an industry just established here, but which has made great strides. The cloth or linen obtained from very close weaving of hair is virtually untearable and is in demand by refining plants and distillers of heavy oils, which require that the cloth used as filters be subjected to a very high tension.

Several washing operations are required before the hair can be sent to the carding room. Thereafter it is handled just like wool and woven on special looms.

Victoria.—Rat hides are valuable, especially if they are of a large size, but this fact was not known in Victoria until a few days ago when Juan Bernal shot a large wood rat out of a tree west of the river.

Hindrance

"I've been running the Manston house here for 20 years, and practicing medicine on the side into the bargain," said old Dock Slaters, "but I'm afraid I've got to get a divorce from my wife for obstructing business, or something of the sort."

"Why, how is that?" inquired a guest.

"Well, if she don't obstruct business she don't help it along anyhow. I've hinted to her that she might once in a while cook up a little suth'n' that would give the boarders indigestion and me a fee for attending 'em. But, no, sir—she just goes right on feeding 'em fried chicken, and such as that."—Kansas City Star.

Rabbits Wear Snowshoes

Darwin's law of survival of the fittest is well observed by the rabbits in the higher Cascade mountains. They have put on their snowshoes for the winter. Living in a snowy region, these rabbits have long spreading toes. In winter their toes are covered with coarse hair, enabling the rabbits to run on top of the snow. Consequently they are known as snowshoe rabbits.—Capper's Weekly.

CARROLL RECORD

Leslie Fenton

Many "movie" fans will recognize the pleasing countenance of Leslie Fenton, the handsome young juvenile, who has been seen in numerous motion pictures. He was born in Liverpool, England, about twenty-two years ago. He has brown hair and brown eyes, and a smile of boyish charm which adds to his engaging appearance.

TRUE TO LIFE

"AN IDEA for a play, eh?" Tell it to me," said Simon Ringfinger, the well-known manager, to Truxton Scribe, the well-known playwright.

"It's like this," explained the playwright. "Lottie Passover, a beautiful shop girl, is seen and longed for by Clement Gobbs, a young and unscrupulous millionaire. Lottie, struggling painfully to live on her salary of six dollars a week, finally succumbs to the gold-tinted promises of the young millionaire and goes away with him, believing implicitly that he means to fulfill his promise to marry her. But far from home he leaves her to her fate. A year later, with her child in her arms, she confronts him and shoots him dead."

Simon Ringfinger held up his hands in horror.

"But, my dear Scribe!" he cried, "that's utterly untrue to life! Audiences want lifelike plays, plays dealing with situations and events that they know are true to life because they have experienced them themselves. Give me a play like that and your fortune is made."

"Well, how's this?" said Truxton Scribe. "Lottie Passover, the beautiful shopgirl, repulses the advances of Lord Trumbles, young and dashing English nobleman, who plots in vain to ruin her. Finally, completely won over by the girl's purity and strength of character, he disguises himself and obtains a job as delivery man at the department store where Lottie is employed. He makes ardent love to her, and she, failing to recognize the nobleman in his humble disguise, falls in love with him. He then reveals his identity and makes her Lady Trumbles and takes her home to England to reside over his ancestral estates."

Simon Ringfinger, enraptured, kissed the playwright on both cheeks.

"That's a real play—that's true to life!" he cried. "Here's a check for $5,000 advance royalty—and do you think you can write it by next Thursday?"

WHO SAID

"The axis of the earth sticks out visibly through the center of each and every town and city."

THIS gentle rap at overzealous local pride is from the pen of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes. It is taken from his celebrated "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table."

Oliver Wendell Holmes was one of those men who stumbled into his life work rather than walking deliberately into it. He studied to be a lawyer and eventually won the degree LL. D. The career of a lawyer, however, did not make a strong appeal to him and he forsook it to study medicine.

As a physician Doctor Holmes may be said to have been a great success. Doctor Holmes was not permitted long to continue as a physician. His services as a professor were too much in demand and in 1847 he was appointed to the chair of anatomy at Harvard college—the university where he had received his education. He held this position until the year 1882.

Doctor Holmes is better known as a writer than a physician. Finest Ivory Taken

From Male Elephant

Strictly speaking, ivory is a term confined to material represented by the tusk of the elephant, and for commercial purposes almost entirely to that of the male elephant. Both male and female African elephants produce good-sized tusks. In the Indian variety the female is much less bountifully provided, while less than 1 per cent of the elephants of Ceylon have tusks of any value. Ivory is a very dense substance; the pores are close and compact and filled with a gelatinous solution, which contributes to the beautiful polish that can be given to ivory. The tusk of the elephant, from which alone true ivory is obtained, may be placed between bone and horn. It is more fibrous than bone and, therefore, less easily torn or splintered.

The tusks of the walrus correspond to the canine teeth of other mammals, and they are not true ivory although so called. They are inferior in quality to the ivory of the elephant.

Great Voices Called

Accidents of Nature

Great voices are rare and undoubtedly owe their wonderful purity of tone to an accidental combination of those physical characteristics which lead to the production of song. The human musical instrument, though built of living tissues, resembles in structure the reed organ pipe fitted with a vox humana stop. In both cases the note depends on the vibrations of a column of air produced in the organ by a reed and in the voice by the vocal cords. The human air chamber corresponding to the organ pipe is composed of the larynx and the bronchial system beneath it.

The throat, mouth and nasal cavities form the resonators which, by alternation in shape and size, are able to pick out and emphasize certain component parts of the fundamental tones produced in the larynx. The lungs form the bellows which produce the upward blast of air, and upon their quality depends the loudness of the voice.—London Daily Mail.

Famous Eastern Conqueror

One of the most delightful spots in the vicinity of Kabul is the high-walled garden known as the Baber Bagh, in the corner of which is the grave of one of the greatest men that ever lived. Baber, "The Tiger," who founded the dynasty of the magnificent Moguls. This shrine is a place of pilgrimage not for Afghans alone but for people from all parts of central Asia. It was in this garden or just such another, says Mr. Lowell Thomas, that Baber made his plans to lead his Tartar horsemen and burly nomads down to the rich plains of Panipat, near Delhi, where he fought one of the most decisive battles of Asia in 1526. Such colossal booty fell into his hands that he was able to give $10,000 to each of his chief officers, and corresponding rewards in silver and rare silks to everyone not only in his army but in his kingdom.

Significant Nickname

Professor von Valentin, who was chief of the kaiser's civil cabinet of Germany and who was credited with exerting a powerful political influence over the kaiser, died in Hameln, Prussia at the age of seventy-one. He was known as the "Angel of Political Death," and it was said that he was responsible for the downfall of Count von Bethmann-Hollweg, and for the appointment of Dr. Georg Michaelis as chancellor. The professor's resignation in January, 1918, was hailed by the Pan-German newspapers as a triumph for their cause, and it was stated later that he had been forced out by the militarists because he predicted catastrophe for the German arms.—The Argonaut.

POULTRY

WASHED EGGS ARE BEST IN HATCHING

That the old-fashioned practice of regularly turning eggs that are being accumulated for setting apparently has very little effect upon the hatchability of the eggs has been demonstrated by experiments at South Dakota State college, according to G. L. Stevenson, head of the department of poultry husbandry. Experiments have also demonstrated the importance of using only clean eggs for hatching, and that even if clean eggs are used they should not be held more than ten or twelve days before being set.

These results were obtained in an experiment carried on for the first time last spring. The experiments were made to test out the old theory that the eggs saved to set had to be turned each day.

In the tests to determine how long eggs could be held for setting, Stevenson found that those not more than twelve days old hatched about equally well. Some eggs held even as long as eighteen days, hatched chicks, but in most cases those held longer than twelve days did not do well. In fact, the longer they were held past the twelve-day maximum, the lower the percentage recorded.

Professor Stevenson also tried the hatching quality of clean eggs, washed eggs and dirty eggs. The clean eggs hatched much better than the others. Washing the eggs seemed to fill the pores of the shell, thereby preventing air from entering. Slightly dirty eggs hatched fairly well, but those covered with manure or broken egg yolk were not in condition for air to penetrate through the shell and did not hatch well.

Just wiping eggs without really washing them may be all right, but clean eggs do best.

Feeding Cod Liver Oil to Quite Young Chicks

Cod liver oil may be fed to young chicks in the amount of 1 per cent of the mash, or one pint of oil to each 100 pounds of mash, and given until they are from four to six weeks of age, when, if they are out upon a grass range, they will not need it longer. It may be fed, however, as long as the poultryman desires. If you desire to mix the oil with the mash in small quantities, you can follow the Cornell rule, viz.: two teaspoonfuls of oil daily to each 100 chicks, increasing the amount by one teaspoonful each two weeks until four teaspoonfuls are given, and feeding it up to six or eight weeks. If large quantities of mash are to be prepared, the oil may be sprinkled or sprayed upon it while it is spread upon the floor. In small quantities, the oil may be mixed with a little of the mash by hand, and this may then be distributed through the entire amount that it is desired to use. As the oil loses something of its value upon standing, it is best not to prepare the mash for more than a few days ahead. The crude-pressed Norwegian product is best for this use.

Three Important Items in Production of Eggs

A good ration can do but three things—first, build up and replace worn-down tissues of the hen's body; second, furnish the body with heat and energy; and third, manufacture eggs.

No ration can make a hen lay that is naturally unfit or poorly developed for laying. Immature or sickly birds cannot be made to produce eggs by simply giving them an egg-producing ration. First of all, the body and health of the fowl must be in the proper condition. Then, with care and proper food, best results will be obtained; but good care and proper feeding will not make a naturally poor layer a high producer. This is a question of breeding and not one of feeding. These three things are of equal importance in the production of eggs—the breeding of the hen, ration of the hen, and the care of the hen. Two poultrymen may get entirely different results from the same flock and with the same ration. It is a question of their care and skill in feeding the birds and in keeping them comfortable and contented.

Fowls Need Grit

The baby chick is, at its best, a very stupid little thing and, if allowed to wander away from the brooder, will huddle up in a corner away from the heat. Some will then be smothered in their desire to crowd together and keep warm. A fence around the brooder will keep them close to the heat. One side of this may be opened to let them get at the mash hopper. Then when their feeding time is over, drive them in near the brooder and shut them in.

Use Ultra Violet Ray

The ultra violet ray, already employed profitably by medical men to heal human ills, is being used at the University of Wisconsin to produce "more and better" eggs and chickens. Nearly three times as many eggs can be produced by action of the ray, the departments of agricultural chemistry and poultry have found. Heavier shells in irradiated pens also increased marketability of eggs. The ultra violet light was found to cure fowls suffering from rickets.

GARTER ORDER NOT OLDEST IN WORLD

Many in Existence Before Its Institution.

The Order of the Garter, aside from being one of the oldest of the orders of chivalry, is now regarded as the most important of all such orders, and has been so regarded for many years.

The idea that it is the oldest of them all, however, is a popular error; though the story of its foundation by Edward III in 1334 gives it claim to the distinction of high antiquity.

Whatever the truth of the story pertaining to its origin may be, it is a fact that at the time King Edward III alleged to have picked up the original emblem and murmured his now immortal "Honi soit qui mal y pense!" similar orders were already thick as thistles in the great courts of Europe.

The Holy See had started the vogue in 1048, nearly twenty years before the Norman conquest of England, by inaugurating the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, which still exists.

Half a century later, at the close of the First crusade in 1099, the then pope founded the Order of the Holy Sepulchre.

Spain was then full of Christian knights, dusky Moors and chivalry, and established the orders of Calatrava and Alcantara in 1156 and 1158, respectively. In 1191, two years after Frederick Marbarossa had crossed the country at the head of the Third crusade, the Teutonic order was founded in Austria. Nearly three decades later, in 1219, Waldemar the Conqueror established the Dannebrog order in Denmark. This interesting event took place just five years before the art of skating on ice was first essayed in Denmark.

Sweden and Norway were then rather a mixed grill. The Swedes and the Goths were decimating each other, while the Norwegians were quarreling with both and contracting fancy alliances with Scotland. However, toward the end of the Thirteenth century, Magnus I organized a regular government, and before he died, in 1290, he also instituted a regular order of chivalry, the Seraphim, which still survives.

In 1318, five years after the suppression of the Knights Templar, the Holy See instituted the Order of Christ.

All these eight orders, and probably a greater number of similar ones that have long since become obsolete, were flourishing in Europe before that of the Garter came into existence in 1334. So the only thing revolutionary about its introduction was its emblem, and the revolutionariness of that feature was offset by the piously chivalrous tone of the motto attached to the same, "Evil to him that thinks ill of it.—The Argonaut.

Berlin's Fish Dinner

Berlin devoured 9,000,000 jelly doughnuts and 2,000,000 pounds of carp as part of the celebration of the New Year. The Germans appreciate carp more than we do. An effort was made to popularize the fish in America shortly before the centennial. It was found that it bred so fast that it soon overcrowded small ponds in which it was placed. But with its sluggish habits the flesh of the fish is coarse and readily takes the taint of impure water. With the American angler it is not a favorite, as it is not what is called a "free biter." It is, however, one of the hardest of fishes and it will live for several days after leaving the water if surrounded by damp moss. Thus it may be transported over long distances, and in war time it often became an important staple food of impoverished refugees. The little goldfish is cousin to this comparative leviathan, which was domesticated by the Chinese in a period long anterior to the Christian era.

Eastern Illiteracy

According to the latest figures, eight out of every hundred persons in India above the age of ten are able to read and write. That is not a large proportion. In 1923 there were 8,800,000 students in elementary and advanced schools. That is a large number, but we must remember that India has a population of 315,000,000. In all the schools and colleges of China there were, in 1923, 6,950,000 students. The population of China is larger than that of India, but the number of students is smaller. So we may say that China is behind India in regard to the number of students. On the other hand, China has made much more progress in education during the past twenty years than has India. The number of students in China is now more than six times as great as it was in 1906.

That Superset

ABRAHAM AND THE KINGS

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 14:1-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—In all these we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us.—Rom. 8:37.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Abraham Saves Lot From Danger.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Abraham Rescues Lot.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Abraham's Courage and Generosity.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Victory Through Faith and Courage.

I. Lot Taken Captive (14:1-12)

Lot's misfortune was due to his selfishness in choosing the best land regardless of the moral risks in his associations (13:10, 11). The Jordan valley was very fertile, but a place of moral snares because Sodom was there. Frequently fine pasture for cattle contains poisonous growths. Lot's trouble was not primarily because he was a bad man, but because of his associations. The steps taken by Lot as shown in chapter 13 were:

1. He lifted up his eyes and beheld (v. 10).
2. He chose him all the plain (v. 11).
3. He dwelt in the cities of the plain (v. 12).
4. He pitched his tent toward Sodom (v. 12).
5. He dwelt in Sodom (14:12).
6. He sat in the gate of Sodom (19:1).

II. Abraham Rescues Lot (13-16)

1. News brought to Abraham (v. 13). Abraham was in a place of safety.

Just why the man who had escaped came to Abraham with the news we do not know. Perhaps Lot had requested him to tell Abraham of his misfortune, making known the fact of his kinship and through him appealing for help.

2. Abraham in pursuit (vv. 14, 15). Abraham, the great-hearted, forgot Lot's selfishness and ingratitude, organized his servants and by a night attack defeated the enemy. Abraham might just have left Lot to his fate, but because Lot was his brother he forgot his wrongs.

3. Lot rescued (v. 16).

Not only was Lot saved, but the women and his goods were rescued. Because Abraham was separate from Sodom he was able to save his brother. The one who is separate from the world has power to overcome it, while the one who is joined to the world is helpless and is carried away with its ruin.

III. The Ministry of Melchizedek (vv. 17-20)

Melchizedek, a mysterious person, suddenly appears on the scene. His name signifies "king of righteousness." He was also king of Salem. Salem means peace. The name is descriptive of his office, rather than a proper name. He is a type of Christ. The following features are suggested by A. T. Pierson:

1. He represents a primitive universal faith, antedating, outranking and surviving the Levitical.

2. He was the priest of the Most High God—a more comprehensive name than Jehovah.

3. His order of priesthood was not local or temporary, but universal and permanent.

4. He outranked even Abraham, who paid him tithes as to a superior.

5. He was prophet, priest and king—all in one, a sort of threefold personage.

6. He was not reckoned according to human genealogy nor limited course of service.

7. He was both king of righteousness and king of peace. Righteousness pertains to the name of the nation and peace, to the realm. Abraham gave tithes to Melchizedek, and this was the standard of giving in the Old Testament, but the New Testament puts giving on a higher plane. In I Corinthians 16:1 the believer is instructed to give as the Lord prospers.

IV. Abraham and the King of Sodom (21-24)

The king of Sodom offered Abraham reward. Abraham was quick to discern his peril in receiving gifts from him. He knew that what he had done was through the grace of God upon him. He would not use this grace for private gain, would not complicate himself with the world for the sake of money. He anticipated this temptation and had covenanted with God not to yield to it (vv. 22-23). Ministers and evangelists have made grievous mistakes in receiving and even seeking financial help from godless people. The God who is possessor of heaven and earth does not need the help of the world. The world must not have opportunity to boast.

Our Punishment

The seeds of our punishment are sown at the same time we commit the sin.—Hesiod.

Tears

Tears are often the telescope through which men see far into heaven.

Beautiful Within

"I pray Thee, O my God, that I may be beautiful within."

How to Build Happy Homes Ephesians 6:1-10

In preparation for the discussion of this subject leaders of young people's meetings would do well to read a pamphlet of thirty pages entitled, How to Have a Happy Home. The pamphlet is written by Harold Francis Branch, and is published by the Bible Institute Colportage Association, 826 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill. The price is 10 cents. It is divided into six chapters, and deals with marriage, responsibility of husband and wife and children in the home. One of two paragraphs will show something of its value, and will also supply material for those who may not secure the pamphlet.

Concerning the mutual relations involved in marriage, the writer stresses the necessity of patience, determination, courtesy and the avoidance of misunderstandings. In addition to these qualities "there must be the presence of Jesus Christ in the home. To leave Him out is a fatal mistake. He never had a home of His own, but He was a home lover, and His presence in the home is indispensable. There really can be no deep, abiding love without Him. There may be agreement, and men and women may possibly live together in peace, but there is no such a thing possible as a true home without the abiding presence of the Son of God." Young people contemplating marriage sooner or later would do well to take these words to heart. Thousands of men and women who have verified their truthfulness in experience would gladly commend these words as containing a truth of transcendent value to a happy home.

Speaking of husband's responsibilities, among other things we read some thing which every man ought to ponder. "There are men who provide every needful thing for the comfort of wife and children. They are thoughtful and big-hearted, but when it comes to the matter of personal religion they draw back, and by so doing shut themselves out of the deepest and most sacred part of their wife's life. A husband's responsibility to his wife includes surrender to Christ, if Christ be the wife's Saviour."

Concerning children's duties in the home, the words "love," "respect" and "obedience" are paramount. Assuming that parents are worthy, children have a solemn duty to love and respect them. Life in the home should be such that memories of days gone by will always be pleasant. The story is told of a young man of a kind and gentle nature, who left his home for his daily task. He had not been gone an hour, when his body was brought home. The scaffold upon which he was working had given way and he had been killed. One of his sisters was more grief-stricken than the others, seeming to have a peculiar sorrow. She could only say, "I was not kind to him as he left home this morning." Memories when they are made are eternal and cannot be changed.

Luncheon Club Rules in Queen Anne's Time

We think luncheon clubs are new stuff, forgetting there is nothing new under the sun. Rambling through my Addison the other day, I found that the Spectator's club, organized by Brother Editor Addison, had some rules that have a familiar ring and some unfamiliar. For example:

None shall be admitted into the club that is of the same trade with any member of it.

If any member swears or curses, his neighbor may give him a kick upon the shins.

If any member tells stories in the club that are not true, he shall forfeit for every third lie a half-penny.

If a member brings his wife into the club, he shall pay for whatever she drinks or smokes.

If any member's wife comes to fetch him home from the club, she shall speak to him without the door.—Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business Magazine.

Swimming to Work

Pacific islanders are probably the cleanest people on earth, for they spend a good part of every day in the water, and may be said to be almost as amphibious as seals. The children learn to swim almost as soon as they learn to walk. If the village happens to be at some distance from the shore, a swimming pool is formed in a nearby stream, and there mixed bathing is indulged in several times every day.

With the skin constantly greased with coconut oil, the pulp of the bitter green orange makes a good soap and lathers freely. Dame Nature also supplies them with scrubbers, the husks of the coconut, and this they apply to their shining bodies very vigorously. Their towel is provided by the sun and wind.

Six famous cooking experts agree

Pacific Coast, Gulf of Mexico, New England, and Lake Michigan! Six of the country's foremost cooking experts have just completed a rigorous test of the Perfection Stove.

THEY used every method of cooking from frying to baking, and were enthusiastic about the Perfection. Read what they say.

"Whether I broiled steak or French-fried potatoes, the results were fine," says Mrs. Rorer, famous Philadelphia cooking teacher.

Crisp Waffles

"My waffles were light and beautifully brown," says Miss Allen, director of the Boston School of Cookery. "They cooked on a hot flame, with yellow tips 1½ inches high above the blue area."

"I found the Perfection so dependable," reports Mrs. DeGraff, home economics counsellor. "I left a roast lamb in the oven for hours. The flame never wavered."

No Scouring Needed

"Eggs a la King and broiled tomatoes are delicious enough in themselves," affirms Miss Hall, nutrition expert, "but twice as delicious to the cook whose kettle bottoms need no scouring. Perfection's long chimneys burn every drop of oil before the heat reaches the cooking. No soot or odor."

"Using a Perfection is like cooking with gas," remarks Mrs. Vaughn, domestic science expert. And Miss Rosa Michaelis is of the same opinion.

Tested Cooking Ability

These are just a few comments made by the six experts, satisfied with only the best cooking equipment. They find the 1926 Perfection fulfills every cooking requirement.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Sunday will be generally observed as "Mother's Day," where it is observed at all.

This is always a good time in the year not to be familiar with dogs, and to watch them carefully for signs of being "mad."

According to the schedule of fashion, mens' straw hats can be worn with propriety, this coming Sunday and afterwards.

The Fraternal department of the Sunday American published a three column cut of the degree team of Washington Camp No. 2, P. O. S. of A., of this place. The probability is that the Record will receive the cut for publication.

The new Sauble dwelling on Emmitsburg St., extended, is being pushed along rapidly, and it will likely be ready for occupancy by mid-summer. It is 32x34, brick veneer, and will be a handsome addition to the modern homes of Taneytown.

R. B. Everhart has sold his Model Bakery property and business to Webster Smith, of Woodsboro, who took charge on Monday. Mr. Everhart retires after building up during nineteen years a very large business over a wide distributing territory.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Froock, of near Keysville, gave a birthday surprise party on Monday night, in honor of their son, Guy's 18th. birthday. Games, music and social conversation were indulged in during the evening, by all. Refreshments were served in abundance to about 100 invited guests.

Rev. Lewis Robb, formerly of Frederick, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. David Dunn, of Harrisburg, last Friday. Miss Dorothy M. Robb, Taneytown High School teacher, is also a daughter. He was prominent in the affairs of the Reformed Church, not only as a pastor, but had filled numerous important official positions in church institutions.

That's all right, using "pigs" instead of "jigs" in John J. Reid's letter. No one knew if the axles were for doll buggies or for the world to turn on. Was is meant for a dry joke?—J. H. Sites, 710 So. 7th. St., Clinton, Iowa. Evidently friend Sites reads the Record pretty closely. The axles we understand to be for automobiles and trucks.

Goods Is Safe on the Railroads.

The American Railway Association is taking just pride in a report just issued by one of its committees, showing that loss and damage claims for freight shipments were reduced last year to one-third of what they were in 1920. The figures are astonishing. Notwithstanding heavy increase in traffic, far less material is injured or stolen or goes astray in transit now than a few years ago. It is a significant commentary on the efficiency which has been introduced into the management of our principal transportation lines.

One of the most interesting features of the report is that having to do with losses of freight from theft and robbery. This item was reduced from $12,875,000 in 1920 to $1,492,451 in 1925. It would be pleasant to be able to credit this to increase in honesty; but candor compels the explanation that it is due, not to any abatement in the thieving instincts of rogues, but superior vigilance on the part of the railroads. Arrests are now being made by the railroad police at the rate of about 100,000 a year, and convictions are being obtained in about 90 percent of the cases.

The railroads bid fair to justify their boasts that goods are safer from thieving while in the custody of the transportation lines than anywhere else in the world outside of a bank vault.—From the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Post.

LAST PAGE EDITORIAL.

Community Spirit.

During the average year, the Record gives to purely local enterprises—and often to worthy movements not local—a large lot of good advertising, free of charge; and sometimes we get back a return of favors, and sometimes not. We do not figure on getting "paid back" for a lot of things we give, in the way of service; but what we do want, and expect—but do not always get—is recognition of the Record itself as a needed local industry and community helper; and that it deserves at least subscription support from everybody within its own legitimate home field.

An idea that prevails, with some, seems to be that if a little more, in some ways, can be gotten away from home in the newspaper line, they are justified in getting it, and in cutting off support from the home paper. The truth about that is, if all felt that way there would be no Record, nor any other home town paper.

Every home weekly, as a rule, deserves more actual united partisan support than it gets, and that is because what we call "community spirit" is of poor quality.

It would be tremendously bad for the country as a whole—which means every town and community in particular—if the little weekly newspapers were forced out of the field by dailies, which by the way is about what the dailies are trying to do; for the simple reason that "the people" would to a large extent lose their voice—the home channel through which to express themselves.

It is the Home paper that keeps them in touch with actual influence in public local and public general affairs. It is the home paper that is sympathetic with them, their complaints, and their closest needs, and is apt to give them the most honest service and help.

And, it is the lowest cost help, for value returned, that exists anywhere—the $1.50 a year for the Home town paper.

A Maryland Blind Baby.

Mrs. John Alden of 96 Fifth Ave., New York City, Chairman of the blind for both State and City Federation of Women's Clubs reports that a blind baby has been discovered in the State of Maryland, but Maryland has no place equipped for the special care, maintenance and education of the baby blind.

The International sunshine home and kindergarten for blind babies, Summit, N. J., takes any child from any State, a child of any creed or color and gives it expert physical care and mental training. It is the only institution of the kind in the country so far as we know. Children of 28 States have been cared for there.

Last Saturday some ladies of Wilmington picked up a blind baby they found in that city and carried it to Summit in order that it may be given a chance in life. Delaware has just passed a law providing for baby blind and has already sent two children to this institution.

Maryland has no law that pays for their care. Tuition is $1.50 per day. The blind babies of this State have been left uncared for, that is, the State has done nothing for them specially, until they reach the age of six. Many of these little ones do not live to that age and if they do they are frail, too frail mentally and physically to take advantage of the Maryland law.

If every person who knows a blind baby will report the fact to Mrs. John Alden, she will with the help of the Maryland Club Women do everything possible to give the special care needed to these little ones until the State can amend its education laws to include these helpless children.

Delaware is the 16th. State to pass a law. Why shouldn't Maryland come in as the 17th. one?

Mrs. Alden who has devoted more time to this subject than anybody else, declares that every blind baby should be given a chance—that we have no right to assume that because a baby is blind that it has no brains, and that is what the world has been doing very lately.
