CARROLL COUNTY FAIR PROGRAM. Some of the Many Features are

Briefly Outlined.

The twenty-ninth annual Fair of the Carroll County Agricultural and Fair Association will be held at Tan-eytown, Sept. 21-24, 1926, day and night.

Everything is being put in shape Liverything is being put in shape for a large fair this year. There will be a large exhibit of cattle, hogs and poultry; the Boys and Girls 4-H Calf Club, of the county, will have a large exhibit, and Mr. F. Littlefield offers a $500 cold piece as a succeptakes a $5.00 gold piece as a sweepstakes prize to the best exhibit. The County Agent will have a tent in which he will demonstrate the education of the stinking wheat smut, which has recently appeared in vari-ous parts of Carroll County. There will be exhibits of farm ma-chinery, automobiles and truck,farm and garden products. The Fancy House will be filled with various ex-hibits. The Midway will be packed with worther bill with worthwhile amusements and various concessions. Each day of the Fair, there will be a large program of both harness and pony running races.

A much better program of free acts will be shown this year, and these alone will be worth more than these alone will be worth more than the price of admission. They in-clude, the Randow Trio "A howling success" who perform both comedy and acrobatic acts of exceptional merit. There will be Vortex and Dupher, two charming ladies who Dunbar, two charming ladies who perform many noval and daring stunts on the trapeze.

Don't fail to see "The Funny Ford" in front of the grandstand, which is conceded the greatest of all comedy acts. Then there will be Cannon and Lee, two charming young ladies who perform the most arduous and dangerous tricks in the cycling whirl. These acts take place twice daily.

Every evening there will be danc-Every evening there will be danc-ing to music by Dell-Neuin's Night Hawks, formerly the White and Black Orchestra, who will have with them an exhibition dancer. On Wednesday and Thursday eve-nings a wonderful display of Firenings a wonderful display of Fireworks will be on the program. Fri-day is Children's Day and all school children will be admitted free.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION NEXT TUESDAY.

Vote for the Best Men, if you know Who They Are.

We do not believe in the primary election law, because it is largely vis-ionary and impracticable. It is a cost to the taxpayers that brings no demonstrated benefits. Instead of "giv-ing the poor man a chance" it les-sens his chances and in many in-stances the most brainy and best qualified men for public service, are chased away because of the servine qualified men for public service, are chased away because of the scramble and family quarrel that usually ac-companies such elections. W. C. T. U. CONVENTION. Proceedings Held September 2nd., in Union Bridge.

Despite threatening skies, the 33rd. annual Carroll County Woman's Christian Temperance Union Conven-tion, held in Union Bridge Lutheran Church, Thursday, September 2, was well attended. In fact, the roll-call showed only three members of the executive board absent. The presi-dent, Mrs. Philena T. MACHINE FOR TREATING SEED WHEAT.

How to Make a Home-made Dusting Machine.

To control stinking smut or 'bunt' of wheat by the use of copper carbo-nate dust it is necessary to thoroughly mix the dust over each kernal of wheat in some dust tight mixer. A home-made diagonal axle dusting ma-chine as first used by the Oregon chine as first used by the Oregon Agricultural College has given very effective control. The double action not only dumps the wheat from end to end of the barrel but rolls and throws the grain against a mixing board. Compared with other types of home-made mixers it can be filled, turned, and emptied more easily. It can be made by taking a 30 or 50 gallon steel oil drum of light weight gailon steel on drum of light weight and fastening a shaft diagonally through it. This shaft is welded to each end of the drum at the side of the head. If a welding job cannot be secure, the barrel may be fastened to the axle by bolting reinforcing blocks to the heads and anchoring the shaft by lag screws, screwed into the false heads through holes drilled through the barrel and shaft. A crank is fast-ened to one end of the shaft and placed across two trestles. The materials needed;

Empty oil drum or 50 gallon barrel. (Drums and barrels can be purchased from most garages or service sta-tions.) Axle: 1 piece 1-inch pipe 60 inches long, threaded one end.

1 piece 1-inch pipe 8 inches long, threaded one end.

1 piece 1-inch pipe 10 inches long, threaded both ends. 2 1-inch elbows. 2 1% inch iron washers and 2 cotter pins for keys.

Door and reinforcing block.

1 semi-circular piece 1 inch and 2 inches larger in diameter than barrel head for door.

1 circular piece to fit into end of barrel (barrel head will do) to be cut in two and half used for door. 2-inch block, to reinforce head

WHY WHEAT DOES NOT PAY.

The Average Yield to Acre is Much Too Low.

A news dispatch from Minneapolis asserts that if figures compiled by the North Dakota Agricultural College are correct, the present prices paid for wheat there are well below the cost of production.

The average cost of producing wheat in North Dakota this year is $1.51 a bushel, according to these figures. Virtually no wheat is now selling at Minneapolis that high, and the bulk of it is selling less than $1.45. That means that North Dakota farmers are being offered less than $1.40 for their wheat at the home stations, as the country buyers de-mand a margin of around 10 cents a bushel for handling the grain.

The North Dakota average cost The North Dakota average cost estimate is based on reports from 150 farmers in different sections of the State. It takes in both the low and high yield districts. Where the yield is better than eight bushels to the acre, farmers will show a profit on their wheat, the report indicates. It is the low midd in more localities that the low yield in many localities that brings down the average cost for the entire State.

Farm Horses Decreasing.

The farm-horse population of Ma-ryland is decreasing at the average rate of 5,000 a year since 1920, ac-cording to John S. Dennee, Federal agricultural statistician for Maryland agricultural statistician for Maryland Unless something radical is done to check or retard this rapid decline, he believes that 25 years hence the Ma-ryland farm-horse may be as extinct as the dodo. In 1910, according to the report, there were on the farms 155,000 horses. By 1920 this number had here lawred to 141,000 And had been lowered to 141,000. And since Maryland motorized herself by way of a labyrinth of good roads,

School Lunch Surprises.

Think back to your own school days and recall how delighted you were when you opened up your lunch basket and found a "surprise" there. You will immediately want to pull your "thinking cap" on a little more firmly and see what you can do to relieve the monotony of the same old sandwiches in Johnnie's or Mary's box. The United States Department of Agriculture has a few suggestions to make that may help you.

To begin with, you can't do entirely without sandwiches, for they are the Eloise B. E most convenient method of combining several substantial foods in a small space, and they are easy for the children to handle without tableware. But you can make sandwiches of different kinds of bread-graham, rye, raisin, nut, date, prune, or fig bread, and breads made from cooked cereals with combinations of dried fruit and Then there are the quick breads-rolls, biscuits, corn bread, muffins, which are not necessarily served hot, although we are apt to prefer them that way.

Once in a while use one of these different breads, either for sandwiches, or without filling so they do not seem like the same old thing. Save all the little jars that have tight lids -peanut butter and salad dressing jars, and jelly glasses. Fill these jars with such favorite foods as honey or preserves, apple sauce, stewed fruits, cottage cheese, or anything that can not be spread in the ordinary

St. Cent. Com. (Vote for 3) Milton D. Norris, Lester S. Patterson, Alonzo B. Sellman, Edward O. Weant.

There are no candidates on the ballot for Congress, State Senator, Register of Wills, County Clerk, State's Attorney, County Treasurer, nor for Democrat for U.S. Senator as there were no contests within the parties for these offices, so their names will go on the November ballot, without any further action.

The primary election will be held next Tuesday, Sept. 14. Wet and dry has been pretty well plugged up as an issue at the primary. Practically all of the candi-dates for state office and for U. S. Senate, are wet. Gov. Ritchie is consistently wet; while his opponent, Mr. Maloy, is wet but has announced himself as favorable to law enforcement, and for repeal, or modification. of the liquor laws through constitutional means.

Both Hill and Weller for Senate, are wet, but Mr. Hill is almost boisterously so, and Weller appears to be the lesser evil.

Horse Pulling Contests.

With the scheduling of a horse pulling contest for city and farm teams at the South Mountain Fair at Arendtsville, September 21, 22 and 23, interest is being shown by horsemen of the county in the possible breaking of the State records for light and heavy draft teams for both horses and mules.

The contest is to be held with the use of a dynamometer, or "pullome-ter," owned by the Pennsylvania State College, which will be sent here in charge of Joseph M. Vial, extension horse specialist at the college. It is one of two such machines now owned by the college to be used for pulling contests in all parts of the State this summer and fall. Several contests have been held so far this year at Pottsville and Scranton in June, Sunbury and Canton in August, Lebanon, September 1. 2; Huntington, Sept. 1. 2; and Smethport, Sept. 2 and 4, but the State records established last year still stand.

In these contests there are two entry classes, one for teams weighing less than 3.000 pounds, and the other for teams that weigh more than 3,000 pounds.

The State record for teams under 8,000 pounds was established last summer in the first contest held in the State, at Rolling Green Park, near Sunbury. It was made by a team of grade Shires weighing 2920 pounds, owned by Harvey Moyer, of Middleburg. This pair made a trac-tive pull of 2700 pounds. The best mark last year by teams was 2850 pounds tractive pull by a 2705 pound span of registered Percheron owned by O. G. Poole, of Stoneboro.

No "Lost" Continent

in Central Pacific

"Lemuria," "Mu" and all other hypothetical vast land areas forming "lost" Pacific continents, like the lost Atlantis of ancient European imagination, receive no credence on the part of Dr. Francis Xavier Schaffer, noted geologist of Vienna, now traveling in the Pacific area and the Orient. Doctor Schaffer is backed up in his opinions also by the scientists at the Bernice P. Bishop museum at Honolulu.

Though no land areas of continental size ever existed in the Pacific, Doctor Schaffer stated, there are regions of movable zones where emergence and submergence are constantly in progress.

"Such a line," he said, "goes all around the Pacific and connects the Antarctic continent with the continents of the southern hemisphere. It is easy, too, to see that the northern continents may more than once have been connected by way of the Bering strait and by the rising of the relatively shallow sea bottom between Greenland and Europe.

Dr. Herbert E. Gregory, director of the Bishop museum, disagrees with the theory advanced by Dr. J. Macmillan Brown, chancellor of the University of New Zealand, who claims that the Pacific islands are the remnants of a once great empire that collapsed into the ocean in a series of cataclysms.

"Geological evidence," said Doctor Gregory, "gives no proof that there ever was a large area of land in the central Pacific. No rock has been found which could be considered part of an old continent. The only way that geologists will ever be able to make a real test of these theories will be by an extensive system of borings which must extend through the coral and the comparatively new levels of the islands, and also by a carefully planned sounding of the Pacific ocean."-Science Service Bulletin.

Big Men, Big Heads

"And Wordsworth said of the Swan of Avon: 'There is an immensity of trick in all he wrote. If I had a mind I could write exactly like Shakespeare.'

"No wonder, then, I was snubbed," the critic ended; "for if Gibbon and Hugo and Wordsworth were vain, what must be the vanity of a chap like Arlen, who makes more in a week than they did in a year?"

Grand Canyon Yields Pre-Dinosaur Fossils

New finds of footprints of reptiles left in soft sand at least 25,000,000 years ago have been made in sandstone 1,800 feet down from the rim of the Grand canyon. This is the greatest depth in the canyon at which such prints have been found.

The level at which the fossil plants and reptiles have been found belongs to the latter part of the carboniferous period, or the time when the great coal beds of the world were being formed, and was a few million years before the famous reign of the dinosaurs.

One specimen shows a row of tracks very much like mouse tracks impressed in a small slab of red stone. and in among the tiny footprints is a wavy line which represents the track of the animal's tail. Other exhibits show prints larger than a man's hand, indicating that some of the reptilian creatures of this age may have become as large as crocodiles. No bones of these creatures have been found in the Grand canyon, though some bones of reptiles making similar tracks have been found elsewhere.-New York World.

Spot Made Famous by

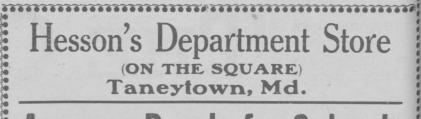

Genius of Alexander The site of the most brilliant coup of Alexander the Great's campaign in India has been located by the eminent archeologist, Sir Aurel Stein, according to dispatches received in this country.

In a section of the hills of Upper Swat known as Torwal, near the northern frontier, Sir Aurel believes that he has identified the site of the fortress of Aornos, captured from the warlike hill tribes by Alexander in 327 B. C. According to the classical historians the stronghold was perched on a rock over the river Indus and had even resisted the attacks of the legendary Hercules.

The particular features of the rough and rocky regions which suggested this site are said to agree more closely with the account of the Greek historian Arrian than a previous tentative location at Mahaban. The strategic value of this hill country has been appreciated and utilized by petty chieftains down to the present day, and it is only recently that conditions have been sufficiently settled to allow archeological exploration.

Pretty Indian Legend

Long ago, before the white man came to this country, a great famine spread over the land, says the De-troit News, in telling of the legends of Michigan Indians. One day a mother bear with her two hungry little cubs, walked along the shore of Wisconsin and gazed wistfully over at Michigan. Finally, driven by the pangs of hunger, she plunged into Lake Michigan, followed by her two babies, and struck out for the Michigan shore. When only a few miles from the land of plenty, one cub, too exhausted to go further, sank. She struggled to reach shore with the other, but, it too, sank. She herself at last reached shore and sank exhausted. As she gazed out across the wa-

The wets were disappointed. They were counting on California. It was supposed to be wet. The results were expected to show much and deep disgust with prohibition. On the Democratic side, where it was an issue, the main verdict favors the drys. This supposed wet outpost on the Pacific is at the least debatable and the wets will have to make the best of it.

McAdoo is pleased at the result, but it can not be said to be a McAdoo victory, so far as the Smith set-back is concerned. California Democrats, to a considerable extent, regard Mc-Adoo as a "squatter," and do not take him seriously as Presidential timber.

Official Looking Letters.

No doubt you are getting a lot of official looking letters, these days. They have an air of importance about them, and their bigness seems a sort of guarantee that they are all right. They are meant to be taken seriously, and the official size envelope, sealed, looks just like an important personal communication to you.

And that is just what it is. Nine chances out of ten, it tells you for whom to vote, for Governor, or Senator, at the primary election, and try. that is surely important-for the one who sends the letter to you.

You may not be told why you should vote for the sender of the letter, but you are pretty sure to be told why you should not vote for the other fellow; so, you naturally guess what it all means, and why so much is being spent in postage, printing and long envelopes.

This is for the immediate future election. After a while-after folks have rested up, and the smoke of the family fight has cleared up a bit-

Charles Thompson of Florida, but the specimen was sick and supplied only a part of the information scientists are anxious to secure.

The rhino is, so far as is known, an inhabitant of the Gulf stream. Its huge body is fashioned without a single bone, merely a great mass of many tons of muscle and tendon. The rhino captured and shown at the Smithsonian is the only one ever found, and it has a measurement of over 40 feet, was a fierce fighter and was not landed until after 19 hours of fighting after it was pierced by a huge harpoon.

The Modern Star

Booth Tarkington was praising a movie actress who had made a hit in one of his films.

"She's as witty and modest as she is beautiful," he said. "Some time ago a director offered her a splendid contract to play the star part in a film based on the Godiva legend. With her beauty she'd have made a perfect Godiva, and the salary the director offered her was fabulous.

"Well, she read the Godiva script and then she returned it to the director. Across the cover she had written: "'It is more than I can bare.'"

Members of the American Legion at Enid, Okla., who are mostly bachelors, have tired of having members arriving late at meetings asking indulgence of the other members because they had to put the baby to bed. The post has invited all "proud papas" in the habit of arriving late to bring their offspring with them and demonstrate their skill as nursemaids, in order to get a meeting started on time. The idea is to make it a contest to ascertain who is the best trained father.

Besides a laugh there is also food for thought, and perhaps a tear in little Emma's first day in California. American Indians' Shields The heavy iron shield used by knights in the days of chivalry had its prototype in the rawhide disk of the American plains Indians. While the design imprinted upon the iron defender of the medieval warrior was symbolic, it was not magical like those emblems painted upon the aboriginal escutcheons now in the possession of the University of Pennsylvania museum, says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Art alone did not prompt the American Indian to embellish his defensive weapons, but a belief in the supernatural power of color laid in designs to ward off evil, according to Henry Usher Hall, curator of the section of general ethnology of the museum.

FATTENED POULTRY BEST FOR MARKET

It is well known that during the fall months there is relatively little freshkilled young poultry on the market, because the season for broilers has passed and the great bulk of the roasters has not yet reached the market. Therefore, prices for well-fattened young stock are excellent.

Farmers and commercial poultrymen should never think of disposing of their market poultry in an unfattened condition, says the Department of Agriculture. This is true whether the birds are sold live or dressed, and is apparent since much better prices are paid for well fattened stock than where the stock is taken directly off the range. Farmers throughout the country lose many thousands of dollars through not properly fattening their stock. The birds to be fattened should either be placed in boxes, stalls, open pens or in fattening crates where they are kept for a period of two or three weeks. The size of the birds is an important factor, because a bird that weighs from three to four pounds usually fattens more readily than the smaller bird. The larger the bird when the fattening period starts, the shorter the time required for fattening. A three-pound bird can be fattened quite well in three weeks, whereas a bird weighing four pounds when put in the fattening crate, could probably be fattened in about two weeks.

Birds are best fattened on moistened ground grains. Several good fattening rations have been used, one of which is as follows: Equal parts, by weight, of cornmeal, ground buckwheat and middlings. Another good fattening ration is composed of two parts cornmeal, one part crushed oats and one part middlings. A variety of grains is a good thing, although cornmeal is particularly valuable for fattening purposes. Whatever fattening mixture is used, it certainly should be moistened with sour skim milk, using enough milk to make the mash into a thin batter which will run out of the pail when the birds are being fed. Milk not only improves the palatability of the mash, which induces greater consumption, but it also improves the quality of the flesh. It should be used whenever possible, for it not only has good fattening properties but also tends to keep the birds in good health. When the birds are properly fattened they should each gain about one pound in weight; therefore, there is not only a larger bird for market but the price per pound will be considerably higher than where the birds are not fattened. There is no excuse, therefore, for not fattening cockerels and culled pullets, and this year it should be done early because of the increase in grain prices.

Soy Bean Oilmeal Is an Excellent Poultry Feed Tests at the Indiana experiment station covering four years and in-960 single-comb White Leghorns and Barred Rocks proved soybean oil meal equal to tankage or meat scraps for laying hens. Mineral matter must be added to the soy-bean oil meal, however, to make up that deficiency The Purdue standard basal ration was used in the tests. It consists of grain, 100 pounds of corn, 100 pounds of wheat, 50 pounds of oats and mash, 50 pounds of bran and 50 pounds of middlings. To this was added 30 pounds of tankage or 35 pounds of meat scraps or 45 pounds of soy-bean oll meal plus 10 per cent of minerals or 47.5 pounds of whole soy beans plus 10 per cent of minerals. The mineral mixture consisted of 22 pounds of steamed bonemeal, 24 pounds of finely ground limestone and 15 pounds of salt. The addition of mineral matter is necessary to prevent a great growth of fat.

Dairy Feeds Urged

Turning Corn Into

Farmers who are worrying about the surplus of corn and the relatively low price of their product just now can secure as much as $1.25 a bushel by turning this corn into dairy feeds and market the dairy products.

"By marketing their surplus corn in the form of dairy products," says M. D. Munn, president of the National Dairy council, who has been conferring with leaders in the dairy industry and bankers on the question, "this corn will return the farmer about $1.25 a bushel based on the average price of dairy products in 1925. By so doing we will not upset the balance of grain produced by having corn consumed in the form of corn meal mush bread or muffins in place of a bushel of wheat. At best we can only eat a given amount of bread and cereals, and an increased consumption of one form of bread necessarily decreases the consumption of another."

While corn meal mush and milk is palatable and healthful and should be freely eaten, it does not constitute an effective way of consuming the surplus corn. Milk and its products are the most healthful foods we have, and by consuming more of these people will have better health, be more efficient and at the same time directly assist in relieving the farmer of his burden of surplus corn providing they will feed it to the dairy cows in a properly balanced ration.

"If the public is really willing and anxious to help in relieving the farmer of this corn surplus burden," says Mr. Munn, "he can best assist by increasing the consumption of milk, butter, ice cream and cheese and at the same time be more healthful and efficient. The properly balanced ration for the dairy cow includes corn meal, corn gluten feed, together with ground oats, barley, bran, cottonseed meal, beet pulp, etc. This corn gluten feed is a by-product from the manufacture of starch and sugar from corn. Therefore the consuming public can further assist by using more corn sugar and less imported cane sugar."

Raising Turkeys Helps Destroy Grasshoppers

Development of Wyoming as a turkey-producing section has been urged by extension workers of the state and the United States Department of Agriculture for three reasons: The climate induces fattening in time to place the stock early on the holiday markets; live stock growers need a supplemental cash crop; and where there are sufficient turkeys, grasshoppers cease to be a liability and become an asset, for these birds have a high regard for the grasshopper, and large appetites.

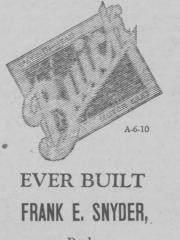

In Park county alone Thanksgiving shipment totaled over 75,000 pounds of turkey after four years' emphasis on turkey production. Big Horn, Fremont, Goshen, and other counties have made similar progress.

Increased interest in good stock and good management of the flock was fostered by county agents and other th the result that extension workers, in one year the average weight of the turkeys shipped to market was two pounds heavier than those of the preceding season, and this year's crop is said to show even greater advance.

The United States Department of Agriculture considers soy-bean oil meal an excellent feed for growth and egg production.

Crowding During Winter

Is Harmful to Poultry Quite a number of farm poultry raisers make the error of housing too many hens and pullets together during cold weather. Hens will lay as well if yarded and well cared for as if on free range. But they dare not be crowded when they are confined.

If the hens are being fed and forced for egg yield alone, we must get them into winter quarters in their pens early in the fall and keep them there without changing them about. Introducing new hens into the flock of laying birds always causes more or less confusion, and this helps in decreasing the number of eggs laid.

Best Turkey Fattener

Old corn fed partly whole and partly cooked, with boiled potatoes, and thickened into a mash with meal, is one of the best fatteners for turkeys. Give the mash in the morning and the whole corn at night. Do not confine them. If new corn is given, the tendency is to have bowel trouble. For this give boiled milk. They must be free from lice to fatten. Turkeys will be so high this year that each carcass should be made to bear as much flesh as possible.

Corn Yield Problem Is One of Soil Fertility

Corn growers face a problem of raising general soil fertility if they are to redeem production from the decline which depletion of organic matter in the soil has brought about, according to Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, head of the department of agronomy at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

General fertility. Professor Throckmorton pointed out, can be increased by growing corn in rotation with such crops as alfalfa, clover, and soy beans; by returning all manure and crop residue to the soil; and by good tillage methods.

Alfalfa Rated High

Alfalfa is a valuable dairy feed. Many farmers who have alfalfa and their own corn and oats are only paying about $35 a ton for grain mixtures this winter. Alfalfa not only makes it possible to have a cheap grain mixture but helps cows give more milk than any other roughage will. If alfalfa is not already grown on the farm, get in touch with the county agent and have your soil tested for lime requirements; also obtain sources of good seed and inoculation.

Phosphated manure is much more valuable than untreated manure.

Farmer Struck While on Plow Has Narrow Escape,

Alliance, Neb .- Struck on the head by lightning, Joe W. Kennedy, fortyfive, farmer, still lives to tell the tale and the attending physician says he will recover. Kennedy was riding a gang plow pulled by four horses. He saw the storm approaching, but not regarding it as particularly threatening, he kept on with his work. He says he saw no flash and heard no thunder, but the next thing he knew was when he found a doctor bending over him in the hospital here.

The lightning struck Kennedy above the right ear, burned the crown of his hat, scorched the hair from his head and plowed its way across his cheek, jumping from there to his chest, which was seared, and onto his legs. where deep burns were left. From there it entered the iron seat of the plow on which he was riding, melting the metal into a mass and then passed along the steel cable to which his lead team of horses was attached to the plow. One of the four was instantly killed.

Kennedy was knocked unconscious and was found a half hour later by his wife and daughter. The lightning put out of commission most of the telephones in the neighborhood.

The course of the lightning could be clearly traced from where it struck Kennedy to where it leaped from his body. A full set of whiskers that adorned his face went up in smoke. The accident occurred on the man's farm five miles from town.

Hike Across Bridge New York .- The Manhattan bridge has at least one true friend and admirer-Mrs. Joseph Woolston, Union City, N. J.

"I have done it again," said Mrs. Woolson. "You know I was the first woman to walk across the Manhattan bridge, and since then I have walked across it, rain or shine, every year on the anniversary of the opening of the footpath."

Mrs. Woolson was asked the reason for her attachment to the structure. Had she lived formerly in the neighborhood of the span?

"No," she said. "I used to live in this city, but that was years before the bridge was opened. But the day they opened it I came to New York alone to be at the ceremonies. When the bluecoats took down the bars I started across.

"When I got to the middle of the bridge a big, fine policeman said to me: 'Madame, you are the first woman to walk across Manhattan bridge. If I were you I would celebrate that by coming here every year on July 18 and walking across it.'

"Since then," continued Mrs. Woolson, "I have not missed a year. I used to walk over and get a drink of water at the little fountain on Nassau street, at the Brooklyn end, but I could not get that drink today because the fountain is gone."

Use Bamboo in India

to Make Paper Pulp

Philadelphia.-The successful issue of the experiments carried out for some years in India by William Raitt is now reported, says the Edinburgh Scotsman. The Indian forest records contain a summary of the investigations on bamboo and grasses for the paper pulp by Mr. Raitt, who is officer in charge of the paper pulp section of the Forest Research institute and college at Dehra Dun.

There were many difficulties to be overcome: (1) A method to be evolved of pulping bamboo so that the percentage of bleach required was reduced within economic limits; (2) a reduction in quantity of causic soda required to reduce the raw material to pulp, and (3) the preparation of the raw material to a fit state for digestion.

It is stated that the economy in the case of bamboo amounts to 15 per cent, on present manufacturing charges for materials and chemicals only. Mr. Raitt, however, says that if the saving in recovery, coal, labor and fixed charges up to the bleached pulp stage are taken into account, the total reduction in cost will be well over 20 per cent Invented by German London.-A shuttleless loom hitherto regarded as an impossibility, has been invented by a German named Gobler, according to a report from Berlin and has been already thoroughly tested and proved feasible in German factories before being publicly announced. The mechanism is described as the simplest and works on two rods which carry threads and weaves all kinds of cotton yarn and jute with the same apparatus.

The claim is made that production is quicker and safer, that the number of operatives is reduced, that the complicated preliminary steps before winding the threads will be obviated and the cost of the loom construction greatly lessened.

Lancashire has not yet heard of the new invention and is not likely to adopt it unless its weaving skill, handed down through generations, is equally applicable to the new machine as with the old well-tried Arkwright loom.

Blade in Man's Skull 28 Years Is Removed

Birmingham, Ala .- A piece of knife blade two inches long was removed by surgeons at Opelika, Ala., from the head of R. P. Waller of Auburn, after having been in Waller's head for the last 28 years. The operation is considered a remarkable one.

Waller said that when he was about ten years of age he was stabbed with a knife in the hands of a drunken man. At the time Waller was stabbed it was said by doctors that only an open wound was left. This quickly healed.

For many years Waller suffered with severe headaches, and did not know the cause. Recently an X-ray examination was made of Waller's head and the piece of broken knifeblade was discovered. The operation was a success, and Waller says his headaches have disappeared and that he feels better than for years.

Loses Leg to Save Dog

Middletown, N. Y .- To avoid killing a dog which stood on the tracks of the New York, Ontario & Western railroad, Jacob Hauser applied the brakes on a gasoline track car, causing it to overturn, inflicting injury which necessitated the amputation of one of his legs.

Child's Cost to Parents One of the life insurance companies estimates that a child costs $6,150. This includes birth and expense until he is eighteen years old. This tota! is reached by adding to the initial "cost of being born," estimated at $250, the sums of $2,500 for food, $1,620 for rent, reckoning the share of the child as one-sixth of the total so expended; $300 for fuel and light, $351 for furniture and household maintenance, $144 for first cost of installation of the home, and for clothing $912 for a boy and $1,002 for a girl.

French "Independence Day The name "Day of the Bastille" given in French history to the 14th of July, 1789, because on that day the mob, assisted by the Gardes Fran caises, rose in insurrection and de stroyed the prison fortress of the Bas tille. During the years 1790-1792, the anniversary of this event was called "La Fete de la Federation." The Day of the Bastille is also known as the "Day of July," and is celebrated by the French as a patriotic holiday much as the Americans celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Inde pendence on the Fourth of July.

"Thank You" as a Time Saver.

Courtesy and efficiency are the most important factors involved in the new operating method just placed in effect at Hampstead, Westminster, Taneytown, Union Bridge, New Wind-sor, and Reisterstown by the Chesa-peake and Potomac Telephone Com-pany. A. C. Allgire, manager of the company, on being asked concerning the new practice whereby the opera-tor says "Thank you" instead of repeating the number called for by the subscriber as heretofore, said, "The new operating method that has been in effect for the past few days marks another advance in telephone operating methods. "This new practice, known as 'restricted repetition,' generally does away with the operator repeating the number after it is received from the subscriber. Instead of repeating the number as formerly, the operator says "thank you." It is believed that this practice will meet with almost universal approval of every telephone user, since it will increase the efficiency of the operating force which means a quicker service.

"People generally speak clearly and distinctly in giving the number of the telephone wanted and it is felt that with the new operating practice in effect, the public will be well pleased. However, in case of doubt as to the number wanted as she understands it, the operator will repeat as formerly "What number, please?" In the greater majority of cases, however, she will merely say 'thank you' and complete the call or give a definite report

"Under the new operating method calls can be established much quicker than heretofore, which means an im-proved service for the subscriber and we believe that everyone will accept this operating practice in the spirit of courtesy and efficiency as it is intend-ed by the management of the company

"While the amount of time saved on each individual call is not great, in the aggregate the time saved will FOR RENT—Possession April 1, amount to considerable in establishing 27. Form of the operators. It is

Wily Whales

Sir John Bland-Sutton, famous Engish surgeon, tells a striking story to demonstrate the cunning with which the "killer" whale chases its prey. It feeds on seals, which it cannot easily drag off the ice, but it swims under the ice on which the seal lies, and using its powerful dorsal fin, suddenly rises, and breaks off a piece of the ice with it. If the seal tries to

ST. THOMAS FREED FROM ALL CRIME

Police Commissioner Applied New York Methods.

New York .--- The only crime to be found today on St. Thomas, Virgin, Islands, is the salary paid to the police commissioner. At least when he arrived here on the Colombian liner, Haiti, he said "it was a crime to take the money."

The commissioner of police for St. Thomas is M. J. Nolan, former captain in the New York police department, in charge of the West Thirtieth street station. New York methods have put the damper on St. 'Thomas' intentions to support home industries and have its own little crime wave.

"There isn't a crook of any kind in St. Thomas," Commissioner Nolan said upon his arrival. "It has become so quiet down there that I'm ashamed to go around and collect my salary."

la order not to feel guilty of a holdup, Commissioner Nolan said he waits for them to send his salary to him.

On a visit to the Virgin Islands six years ago to see his son, Dr. Roger. Nolan of St. Croix, he told St. Thomas officials of New York's methods of cleaning up the underworld. At the time pickpockets, thieves and holdup. men had an open season all year round. The officials extended an invitation to Captain Nolan to apply these methods.

He came, he saw, he established a dead-line, bought new uniforms for the 40 members of the police force and in two weeks the crime wave disappeared like a marcel in hot weather. The only trouble left to the police, Commissioner Nolan said, "is that neither my force nor I have anything to do." 124

Honolulu.-There are several sure signs of volcanic activity in Hawaii. One of them is quakes. A second is sulphur fumes. The third is a rise in taxi rates.

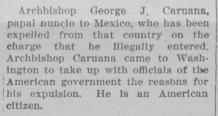

Dr. T. A. Jaggar, eminent volcanist, does not regard eruptions in Hawaii as alarming, nor do the citizens. In fact, by and large, this phenomenon "sets people wild with joy." The steamship agencies, the hotels, the taxi drivers and everybody else begin to grin.

The reason is that the quakes, although they often number 150 a day in the vicinity of Kilauea, are so gentle that no one is annoyed. The taxi drivers do a tremendous business taking tourists to view the impending. eruption or the one already under way and the hotels and steamship companies get their share of the business. The sulphur fumes are so light, says Doctor Jaggar, that the direction of the vent from which they come could not be determined by the public without information from the government observers. Lava flows, although spectacular, do little damage and the dozen or two families forced to flee accept the situation in the spirit of packing up to move to the city, they are so used to moving out of the way of the flows.

Crop Area Falls Off

as Population Gains Washington.-For the first time in history there has been a decrease in the crop area of the United States. Despite a marked increase in population, there was a reduction in the last five years of 19,000,000 acres in the area of harvested crops, the Department of Agriculture has disclosed in an analysis of the agricultural census statistics. Notwithstanding the decrease, the crop area still is sufficient, in the opinion of department experts, to maintain a large volume of agricultural exports.

The 19,000,000 acres have reverted to pasture or have been allowed to lie idle, the cause being attributed chiefly to the agricultural depression of the last five years.

Largely as a result of the war-time prices, about 40,000,000 acres of pasture land were plowed up and put into crops between 1909 and 1919, and about 5,000,000 acres of forest land cleared for crops. Nearly half of this total, experts believe, was used to meet the increased European demand for foodstuffs. Owing to the extraordinary demands of the war period, the acreage of crop land in 1919 was nearly ten years ahead of what had been the previous rate of expansion relative to increase of population.

Plotted Path of the

Hurricane by Radio

Washington .- The use of the radio compass in plotting the course of a storm has been revealed by an experiment made during the recent hurricane which swept the West Indies and the coast of Florida, according to a statement from the Navy department. Lieut. E. H. Kincaid, navigator of the navy transport, Kittery, plotted the hurricane by taking bearings while the ship was on the way from Port Au Prince, Haiti, to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. He took the bearings of the point of heaviest static and from this data computed the center of the sweeping storm. Checking this with later weather reports, he found he had accurately plotted the path 5-7-tf of the hurricane.

COWS LOVE MEADOWS

"M OO, MOO," said Mrs. Cow. IVI "Moo, moo," said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow. "And pray, have you something to say to me? You look as though you had something on your cow mind."

"Ah, yes," said Mrs. Cow, "I have something to say to you. In the first place, I've heard people talk about their homes.

"Sometimes children will come to play with the farmer's children and they will talk of their homes and each will love their own home better than any other.

"They enjoy going visiting, but home, they say, is the best of all.

This Meadow is My Home," She Sald.

"And the farmer loves his farm. And the farmer's wife loves yonder farmhouse.

"All of this is quite true, but what I had to say was that I am like people in that way.

"I love my meadow. I really feel as though this were my own meadow. "To be sure, I share it with the other cows, but it is my home. "These children who speak of loving their homes share their homes with their mothers and fathers and sisters and brothers, but the home is theirs, too.

"And so this meadow is my home. "I love it just as they love the beauty of their houses. They always think their houses are beautiful, and beautiful they are, I'm sure.

"Their houses are filled with furniture they love and pictures they love,

just as this meadow is filled with grass which I love, and down yonder is a brook which I love, and over there is a tree under which I like to "Oh, a cow knows what it is to love her own home and to be proud of it. "In fact, I am so proud of it and I like it so much and enjoy the grass so thoroughly that at times I almost feel as though I had something to do] with the making of the grass!

"Moo, moo, I have written a song about my love of my home, and if you would like to hear it I will sing it to you."

"I would love to hear it, moo, moo," said Mrs. Brown-and-Whife Cow. So Mrs. Cow made what we would consider strange little sounds which she called singing.

This was her song:

I love my home, my meadow home. In it I roam, in it I roam. I eat of its grasses and its grasses are sweet.

And oh, its sky ceiling is always so

There aren't any cobwebs in my ceil-ing, the sky. In the first place a broom wouldn't reach that high To brush it up and brush it down And brush it over the country and

In the second place the sky is so very clean That it would never allow a cobweb to be seen,

And so I say my ceiling is fine For with cleanly beauty it doth shine.

"That word 'doth,'" said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow, sounds very poetical."

"I thought you would like it, my dear," said Mrs. Cow. "But my song is not ended. Shall I finish it?"

"Do," said Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow.

I love in my beautiful mirror to look, My mirror of course is yonder brook. In it I see if I look my cow best And when I see I do, I then take a rest.

Then I rest and I dream and I think of my home. My beautiful home from which I'll ne'er roam. I am what you would call a contented

And the end of my song has been reached just now.

Mrs. Brown-and-White Cow swished her tail and said: "Moo, moo, I don't know much about poetry, but as a cow critic, I'd say you have done very well."

"Thank you," said Mrs. Cow, "I wanted a little praise, even though you may know nothing of what you are saying!"

As Told by

Dreadful Sound Is

Scream of Dog-Fox A few times in a lifetime one may hear a fox scream, probably the most sinister, unearthly wild animal note that can be heard in North America. The howl of the wolf and the screech of the wildcat are all weird sounds, to say nothing of the dreadful shriek which the great horned owl sometimes gives, but none of them begin to be so fearsome as the scream of a dogfox. The sound is so rare and dreadful as that screech of the wounded horse which frightened even Hawkeye and Chingachuck.

I once heard the sound in Cornwall, Conn., one frosty evening in the fall of 1919. Although I was indoors at the time, the scream brought me to my feet with every muscle tense, even though I recognized almost immediately what it was. If there ever was a sound which is the essence of pure horror it is the scream of a fox.

The last time I heard one perform was a year or so ago. A number of us were stopping at a camp built in a pine grove near the river. After supper a friend and myself followed a dim path through the woods to a bluff above the stream which showed a dusky silver among the deep lavender shadows. As we walked, the white mist met us like a ghost and below we could hear the faint splash of the deer crossing the stream.

Then, so distant that it sounded like a pin-point of sound pricked through the silence, came the hoot of a great horned owl, with its double second note as he hunted here and there for rabbits among the scrub oaks. Suddenly, the silence was broken by a perfectly appalling scream, coming through the darkness from the farther bank of the river.

My companion, although a veteran naturalist, gripped my arm so tightly that his finger-prints showed black against the skin next day. He claimed afterward that he only did so to call my attention to the sounda quite unnecessary proceeding .-- Samuel Scoville, Jr., in the Forum.

Soul Can Be Measured

Out in the forest of Coye, in France, a distinguished mathematician worked in a lonely laboratory with delicate instruments measuring, year after year, and calculating to the millionth part of a centimeter. The other day he appeared at the Sorbonne and made an announcement that caused as tremendous a sensation in France as if a bomb had been exploded. For Prof. Charles Henry declared that the human soul-that mysterious thing that is not a thing, which man has accepted only through faith-now can be measured. It is the first time, says Popular Science Monthly, that science ever has admitted tangible proof of the soul's existence.

Religion is right, declared Professor Henry. We never completely die. There is a certain electrical radiation or "biological vibration" that goes on and on. Set free by death, it seeks another envelope or body, because only by doing so can it establish its equilibrium.

Scientists today have ways of measuring the radiation of all substances. Yet after calculating the radiation in a body due to heat, that due to electromagnetic elements and that due to the

THINKS GOOD TIMES WILL BE PERMANENT

Student of Economics Has No Fear of Future.

The American standard of living gives folks in the United States more of the joys of life than are bestowed in any other nation in the world. The big question is: What is America doing about making this a permanent state of affairs?

Are hard times gone forever?

The big story is in the answer, for it shows the practical way America is going about making it perfectly safe for her to be as happy as she wants without worrying too much about the future.

It makes it look as if old-fashioned national hard times of the more violent kind have been permanently fired; that is, the business nightmares that used to grip the entire country periodically during the last century. Factories would be shut down by thousands. Armies of unemployed would be wandering in all directions. Uncertainty hung a pall of fear over the country from coast to coast. And then often things were made all the more terrifying by a Presidential election in which the party in power was turned out of office, and droves of political job holders with it, increasing gloom and unemployment.

There is reason to hope that all these are things of the past.

The nation is producing more than it consumes and thriftily saving the surplus.

It has equipped itself out of these savings with vast mechanical enterprises enabling the individual worker so to multiply his skill and strength as to produce goods in such ample quantities that there is an abundant share for everyone.

It is economic-minded enough to put into effect great nation-wide plans to produce with the maximum efficiency and the minimum waste.

It is perfecting its financial machinery to prevent currency and credit panics.

Its people have established a more equable distribution of wealth under the capitalistic system by widespread participation in the benefits of ownership of its corporations.

Its people in these many ways are consistently providing out of the abundance of today against the needs of the future.

It is because of all these things that the United States can afford to indulge itself in more joys than any nation in the world today-and to feel sure that it is perfectly safe for it to do so .-- John Oakwood in Forbes Magazine.

SUPERSTITIONS By H. IRVING KING

STEPPING OVER THINGS

IF YOU step over a child you will stunt its growth, it brings bad luck to a person to step over him when he is lying down or to step over his feet if he is sitting. If you step over a fisherman's pole you "hoodoo" his luck.

These are some of the superstitions common in this country with regard to "stepping over," and superstitions of a kindred nature prevail in Slavonia, France, Germany, Belgium, Austria, Bohemia, and Svria. In Scotland if you are out hunting or fishing and you step over your companion's pole or gun he considers his luck gone for the day. Kindred superstitions are found among the North American Indians and among many African tribes.

The "stepping over" superstition thus appears to be a natural evolution which might be malevolent. A person stepping over a recumbent person or his belongings was in a superior position to the person or thing recumbent, more powerfully placed for evil. It was largely this leyden jar idea which, among some ancient peoples and savage tribes, caused them to surround their rulers with taboo and prohibit them from touching the ground; for the rulers were supposed to be more "highly charged" than ordinary mortals.

THE BURDEN

R ECENTLY I told a story relating to Booker Washington. Today I crave consent of the readers to tell another. It was a favorite anecdote of the great negro educator. He said that the citizens of a remote southern community got interested in a project to import some Europeans to the neighborhood and colonize them upon the fertile but gone-to-seed farm lands and truck patches which dotted the district.

A meeting was held at the county courthouse to discuss ways and means and to raise funds for putting the undertaking through and for sending to New York an agent whose task would be to paint to desirable immigrants the joys and the profits of agricultural life in the cotton belt. In the audience sat an elderly and highly respected colored citizen.

After the meeting adjourned the chairman of it hailed the old negro. "Hello, Uncle Zack!" he said. "I was glad to have you with us tonight. I take it that you indorse the project we've put under way?" "Well, kunnel, I wouldn't go so fur ez to say dat," stated the old man. "To tell you de Gawd's truth, they's already mo' w'ite folks in dis county than us niggers kin suppo't." (Copyright by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Here is a story that is going the ounds in New York city: The chef to M. Ignace Paderewski receives almost as much publicity en tour as does the pianist; partly because he is a good chef, and partly because he insists that the world be made aware of his genius. To this his master assents. Anything for peace and shelter from the run of table food of the railroad diner. More, M. Paderewski makes a point of complimenting his chef frequently. "Tell the chef," he said, lately, upon conclusion of a meal, "that the fish was marvelous, the roast superb, and the ice cream unsurpassable." The waiter relayed the message and returned, duly, with the answer. "The chef says," he told M. Paderewski, "that the soup was excellent, too."

Her Good Work Unseen

After 25 years in theatrical obscurity, Madame Lempereur has reached the top of her profession in Paris, but the public still will see nothing of her. Madame Lempereur is a theater prompter. She has been appointed to officiate at the Comedie Francaise, France's leading state theater, otherwise known as the House of Moliere. "A good prompter is as rare as an actor with talent," said Andre Antoine, manager of the Odeon, second state theater, where Madame Lempereur previously served. "Many's the time my old comrade has pulled me out of a hole. I was only free from anxiety when she was in the prompter's box."

Danes Colonize Greenland

Two colonies of Danish farmers have gone to Greenland to make an effort to engage in farming on a profitable basis. The colonies will be at Lindenow and at Scoresby sound. Danish sovereignty has been recognized in Greenland by all powers but Norway, and last year Denmark and Norway made an agreement settling Norway's claim by giving it certain commercial rights for a period of 20 years. The agreement ended a controversy lasting for centuries that started because Norway claimed origi nal explorations in Greenland.

ganized by the sanitary section of the University of Amsterdam. The inquiry will last 35 weeks. From all parts of the country signs of sympathy have reached the heroes of science who will try to cure Dutch of a great affliction. Eight thousand Hollanders offered to support the inquirers in their campaign.

New Terror of the Air

A radio-steered and propelled torpedo plane capable of swooping down from the sky, in flotilla formation, at 150 miles an hour and launching swarms of torpedoes on hostile naval squadrons at sea, has been tested and O. K.'d by the British admiralty, which ordered a large number to be built. One feature of this first torpedo-carrying seaplane is the extraordinary rapidity with which it can change direction, which means that, after sweeping down to discharge its load of death and destruction, it can quickly rise out of range of anti-aircraft guns.

Island Russia Forgot

Bolshoi Diomid, an island in the Arctic ocean, just north of Bering strait, almost forgot that it belonged to Russia and thought itself part of the United States. No Russian ship had called at the island for ten years until the man of war Vorvosky arrived there a few months ago. Its officers then learned that the inhabitants knew nothing about the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics or of Soviet culture and believed that Russia was still a monarchy. This impression will be corrected. The island's connection with the outside world has been through an American coastal schooner that made regular trips from Alaska.

operation of the Holy Spirit. The candlestick, with its central shaft and its extending branches indicated the unity and diversity of God's people. The candlestick also shows the purpose of the sanctification of the believer, namely, to shine for God. The table of shewbread was for a memorial unto God of his chosen people, one loaf for each tribe. What the bread was for Israel, Jesus Christ is to the church. The altar of incense symbolized communion with God in worship. The putting of the blood from the brazen altar on the altar of incense shows that acceptable prayer rests on the ground of the atoning work of Christ. The vail symbolized the flesh of Christ. The rending of the vail at the time of Christ's crucifixion shows that the death of Christ gives access to God. The mercy seat upon which the blood of the sin offering was sprinkled indicates that the claim of God's law had been satisfied. III. The Offerings of the Tabernacle. 1. The motive of giving (v. 5). "Whosoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it, an offering of the Lord." Giving which meets God's approval must spring from the heart. The offering must not only be made of a willing mind but it must be as unto the Lord, an expression of love and godly fear. 2. Who had part in giving (v. 22). "They came, both men and women." It was God's purpose from the beginning that women should unite in the support and care of the worship of God.

September 12 What Is the Church, and What Should It Be Doing? Ephesians 2:13-22; Matthew 28:16-20

At a meeting of ministers in a large western city, a college presi-dent stated that in religious thought and activity nothing was more important than a correct conception of the church. What then is the church? No better answer can be given than the one supplied by the late Dr. J. Ryle, bishop of Liverpool:

"The church is composed of all be-lievers in the Lord Jesus. It is made up of all God's elect, of all converted men and women, of all true Christ-It is a church of which all the members have the same marks. They are all 'born again' of the Spirit. It is a church which is dependent upon no ministers upon earth, however much it values those who preach the gospel to its members. The life of its members does not hang on church membership and baptism and the Lord's Supper, although they highly value these things when they are to be had. But it has only one Great Head, one Shepherd, one Chief Bishop, and that is Jesus Christ. He alone by His Spirit, admits the members of this church, though ministers may show the door. Till He opens the door no man on earth can open itneither bishops, nor presbyters, nor convocations, nor synods. Once let a man repent and believe the gospel, and that moment he becomes a member of this church.

"It is a church whose existence ies, cathedrals, churches, chapels, dowments, money, kings, governments, magistrates, or any act favor whatsoever from the hand of It has often lived on and continued when all these things have been taken from it. It has often been driven into the wilderness, or into dens and caves of the earth, by those who ought to have been its friends. But its existence depends on nothing but the presence of Christ and His Spirit, and so long as they are with it the church cannot die." The work of this church consists largely of witnessing for Christ everywhere. By the word of truth -the gospel of our salvation, by deeds of kindness, by raising the fallen, cheering the faint, healing sin-sick souls, leading the spiritually blind into the light of life, the true church bears its witness to her Lord.

Is Future American

to Forget Laughter?

It is gradually beginning to dawn upon the most reluctant people in the world-I refer to the Americans-that their humor is not laughing matter. Laughing will soon be recognized as a vibratory emotion in which the death rattle is distinctly discernible. Unless all signs fail, laughter will soon be relegated to the past as one of the lowest forms of self-expression. The man who laughs will be in the same case with the man who spends money only upon himself. Both are forms of ostentatious vulgarity, not to be tolerated where spiritual intelligence will soon hold dominion over intellect. Hitherto, in order to conceal our dismay over the sudden display of truth as it came in humor, we have thought it best to laugh. But this is an age of exposure. The necessity for dissimulation has gone. We no longer feel ashamed at anything we do. Hence, when a good joke comes along, we may easily be inclined to shed tears over it. The tragedy of it will shock us more than before the truth of it tended to make us conceal it with an outward show of mirth. And from all this-who knows?-a national sense of humor, hitherto lacking, may arise. In a democracy all things are possible .-- Thomas L. Masson, in the International Book Review.

FIND "WEAKER SEX" NOT UNWORTHY FOES

English Burglars Have Unpleasant Experiences.

A Cumberland woman, according to an English paper, was waiting for her husband to return from market. Suddenly she heard a knock at the back door. When she opened it she was horrified to see-not her husband, but a burly tramp. She tried to shut the door, but he thrust his foot in, uttering the most awful threats.

The housewife acted quickly. Snatching a brooch from her dress, she thrust the pin of it deep into the intruder's leg. With a yell of agony, he dropped back, and she at once banged and locked the door and ran for her husband's gun. But the tramp was gone-with the brooch!

A strapping, unpleasant-looking man was put in the dock at Bristol police court, charged with breaking and entering a house. His head was bandaged, and he looked distinctly the worse for wear.

The owner of the house, a lady, testified that she woke in the night to find the man in her room.

"Are you alone?" he asked, closing the door.

Her answer was to spring out of bed and ring the bell. Then the fellow got her by the throat and threw her to the floor.

Her maid, hearing the noise, came running in, and, picking up a hot-water jug, went for the intruder. The jug, exhibited in court, showed dents made by the blows on the burglar's head, which was apparently also badly dented! Anyhow, the burglar ran for his life, but was caught outside the house by a policeman.

Wheat Growers Encouraged

The losses of the wheat crop due to the Hessian fly will probably be much smaller than usual this year, according to a report issued by the United States bureau of entomology of a survey of the wheat growing states, which says this insect is at a very low period of its abundance throughout the country. Illinois and Kansas alone show serious infestation, which is attributed to too early sowing and auspicious weather conditions at the time of the insects' emergence in the fall. Dissemination of information about the life history of the Hessian fly by state and county authorities and co-operation of the farmers in deferring planting until the fly-free date in late September, as well as unfavorable weather conditions, are cited as causes for its decreasing prevalence.

Emerald in Perfect Form Hard to Find

The real emerald, which few are able to recognize, is the green form of the mineral beryl. The name emerald has come to designate later various green stones, such as the Brazilian tourmaline, olivine and garnet. The true emerald is of course superior in value and quality to these stones.

The chief reason for the great value attached to the emerald is the fact that there is a big demand for the stone and a very small supply. The emerald has become a favorite engagement ring stone. A beautiful arrangement has been effected by setting a diamond and emerald side by side in an engagement ring.

Perfect stones are very scarce. Many emeralds contain small cracks and foreign matter which tend to make them dull. Of course perfect large stones are the rarest, and they are therefore very expensive. One of the largest known to exist is the property of the duke of Devonshire. This famous stone is two inches across and weighs almost nine ounces. Such stones are almost priceless.

There are only two real sources of supply of emerald at present. Most of them come from South America, where they are mined in the Andes mountains. Another source of supply is Siberia, but since the war Siberia has not furnished many of these stones to the world. Emeralds never are found in gravel, like diamonds, rubies and sapphires. They always are imbedded in rock formations.

The sea green aquamarine has been mistaken at times for the emerald. As a matter of fact it has the same mineral composition as the emerald. The pale blue and sea-green shades take their name from the color of the seas. Of course, the aquamarine is not so rare, nor so much in demand, as the emerald.

Few stones are as popular as the merald. It is the only stone that rivals the diamond in favor. Its high value is due as much to its beauty as to its scarcity.

Life of Oil Wells

The bureau of mines says that the average life of oil wells depends upon the location. Following are some computations: Bartlesville field, Oklahoma, 13 to 15 years; northern Texas and Louisiana with the exception of those of the Ranger, Towell and Mexia fields, 15 to 20 years; southeastern Ohio, 10 to 15 years; San Joaquin valley, California, 20 to 25 years; Appalachian sections of West Virginia and Pennsylvania, 20 to 25 years. It must be remembered that the average life of an oil well is quite variable. The rate of development is very important; rapid drilling and rapid production will lessen the life, while gradual drilling and gradual production will lengthen the life. New methods of recovery and other things enter into it.

Hunting for Jones in the telephone directory is one of the national sports of Wales, judging by remarks made by Alderman Cornelius Roberts at Pwllheli town council. It was almost impossible to find a number when the whole of North Wales was compiled in one district, he said. If a subscriber wanted to find a Jones he would have to go through all the Jones' in North Wales before he could find the one he wanted. Councillor Josiah Williams said he knew of a medical man who falled to find the number of a patient named Jones, although he spent some hours looking for it. It was agreed to urge the telephone authorities to arrange that towns and urban areas should be separate districts in the directory .- London Mail.

3 What was to be given (vv. 23-28). Under this heading two interesting things stand out-measure and variety.

(1) Measure. They brought what they had to bring.

No one is under obligation to give that which he does not possess. Capacity is the measure of responsibility. (2) Variety.

Some brought jewelry (v. 22): some brought gold (v. 22) : some brought fine linen (v. 23): some brought goat's hair and rough skin (v. 23): wise-hearted women did spin with their hands (v. 25): the rulers brought the expensive things that were needed (v. 27). This shows what a variety of things are needed in the Lord's house.

has just celebrated his one hundred and twenty-fifth birthday. He believes himself to be the oldest man in the kingdom, if not in the world, and can produce official papers which show that he was born on January 2, 1801, in the Smithfield area of Belfast. Mr. Smith, who is still hale and hearty, can converse quite freely in a reminiscent vein, his memory being such that he is still familiar with events which happened many years ago. He was a hawker for many years, traveling about the country, and he attributes his long life to his simple manner of living and the exercise in the open air.

Russia's Rich Crop of Furs

Russian traders, government and private, purchased 103,996 tons of furs in the three months ended December 31, 1925, in the Urals and Siberia. In the Archangel district ermine, fox, marten and white rabbit were plentiful, while squirrels were scarce. Government prices to trappers were: Squirrel, 45 cents a pelt; fox, $8.50; white rabbit, 25 cents; gray rabbit, 28 cents; marten, $9; ermine, 88 cents; badger, 75 cents; wolf, $5; bear, $6; stone marten, $12.50. Private traders paid 50 to 55 cents for a squirrel skin, $10 to $11 for marten and $9 to $10 for fox, none of which is any indication of the price of a coat in the United States.

it is not likely that there will be any widespread shortage of seed corn in 1926, but it is extremely likely that many individual farmers and even some entire communities will find that the seed corn on which they had counted will not grow. Tests already made of many lots of seed in the corn belt indicate that the germinating power of much of the corn was injured by the low temperatures which occurred in October, before corn had dried out thoroughly.

New Anti-Freeze Compound

A member of the research staff of a large chemical laboratory in Long Island City, N. Y., Dr. G. O. The new compound is called ethylene glycol.

Holland Honors Great Men

Holland has paid warm tributes to two of her sons-H. R. Berlage, famous architect, who celebrated his seventieth birthday, and Prof. Kamerlingh Onnes, scientist, who died at the age of seventy-two years. Mr. Berlage was not only architect of the exchange building in Amsterdam-a splendid structure-but has contributed much more toward the renaissance of Dutch architecture. The Netherlands scientific world mourns Prof. Kamerlingh Onnes, who became famous by the establishment of the cryogen laboratory at Leyden and by his discoveries regarding the liquefy ing of helium. His laboratory had become a center for scientific research work.

Diet's Effect on Stature Dr. Victor G. Hesler, director in the Far East of the international health board of the Rockefeller foundation, has been convinced of the claims made by the Japanese Institute of Nutrition that a certain flour made from fish powder actually does increase stature. The flour is made from cooked and boned fish. Strangely enough, it is an American chemical manufactured by product, and it is thought it will correct short stature that has been produced by an unbalanced diet over a long period of years.

Extending Reindeer Herds

Alaskan Eskimos will be employed by the Danish government to instruct natives of Greenland in the care of reindeer. That government is making an effort to establish the reindeer industry in Greenland, evidently prompted by the remarkable success of the herds in Alaska since their introduction in 1891 by the Interior department, bureau of education. The application for permission to employ | Alaskan natives was made through the Danish consulate in Seattle.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Roop had sale of her personal effects, on Thursday and will remove to Baltimore, where her daughter, Miss Helen, has taken up a course in nurse training. Mrs. Roop will be especially missed in the Lutheran Church, in which she has been active since childhood, and for the past thirty years, has been the very efficient organist of the church. Last Sunday's service were her last, and at the morning hour Rev. Garrett paid a fine tribute to her for her long and most excellent services.

CARD OF THANKS.

My most sincere thanks are extended to all my relatives and friends for their kindness of sending me flowers, mail matter, fruit and coming to see me, during my illness at the hospital. They were all very much appreciated.

ETHEL SHORB.

We hereby extend our hearty thanks to all our friends and neighbors, and especially the Taneytown Fire Co., for assistance at our recent fire.
