

FARMING AND SPRING PUBLIC SALES.

Good Prices are Indicated in this Section of State.

The Spring public sale season is now before the people in full, and results will be watched with keen interest, not only from the standpoint of the seller's interests, but as an indication of confidence in farming for the next few years.

The business of farming in this section of Maryland has been hard hit, but not nearly so hard as in the one or two crop states. What we call "diversified" farming, including variety in crops, with dairying, poultry products and stock raising, has helped the Maryland farmer very greatly. In fact, the chief drawback here is the scarcity of farm help, both on the farm and in the farm home; and it is this one factor that is very discouraging to young men who would otherwise engage in farming, as well as to those without help of their own who are already in the business.

Good business management, the intelligent application of up-to-date methods, our nearness to good markets, abundant facilities for shipping produce, and other advantages, help the Northern Central Maryland farmer; but, farming is no one-man job, and until this labor problem is in some way overcome, the business will be handicapped.

Taken as a whole, our farmers are fairly willing to continue the fight and can be depended on to make the best of the situation, which seems to mean that prices of farm stock and machinery, this Spring, should be fair, because there will evidently be a fair demand for them, from those who expect to continue in the farm game.

Proceedings of Circuit Court.

No. 9 Criminal. State vs J. Lee Fritz. Charge, murder. Tried before Court. Verdict, guilty in second degree; sentenced to Penitentiary for 15 years.

No. 7 Appeals. State vs Harry Gray, colored, charged with living with Mattie Garber, white, as husband and wife. Tried before court, and both found guilty, but sentence withheld for three days, time allowed for filing motion for new trial.

No. 70 Criminal. State vs Guy Foreman, Carroll Crebs and Bernard Bowers, charged with entering the Clabaugh home at Taneytown and damaging the property. State's Attorney Brown entered a non pros with the consent of the Court.

The Jury was excused, on Tuesday, until next Monday.

Last Saturday's Storm.

The snow storm, Saturday night, that failed to do much damage in the northern part of the county, was much more severe in the neighborhood of Manchester and Hampstead, where the telephone service was badly wrecked and some other property damage done. The snow was heavy and mixed with hail, making travel of all kinds difficult, and the roads generally were in a bad way on Sunday and Monday.

All along the East Coast states the damage was severe, perhaps being the greatest in New Jersey along the water front. In all, about 30 deaths were reported, and the traffic accidents were uncountable. The storm was also pretty general throughout the middle west.

Western Frederick and Washington counties report deep drifts and generally delayed transportation, but no great amount of serious damage, except to wire lines.

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Monday, Feb. 21, 1927—Charles E. Royer and Robert Gist, acting executors of Ezra M. Bish, deceased, received order to sell stock warrant.

The last will and testament of Barbara Pelinek, deceased, was duly admitted to probate and letters testamentary thereon were granted unto Frank J. Loukota and Lawrence L. Mummaugh, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

Letters of administration on the estate of Samuel J. Messinger, deceased, were granted unto S. Jacob Messinger, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

Freddy A. Collins, administrator of Allen T. Collins, deceased, returned inventory of money and report of sale of personal property.

Letters of administration on the estate of Joseph C. Phenice, deceased, were granted unto Mary A. Phenice and Nellie Pennell, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

Franklin P. Reaver and Charles B. Reaver, administrator of Clara V. Reaver, deceased, settled their first and final account.

Near East Subscriptions.

According to our announcement last week, the Record will report subscriptions received by it for the Near East up to and including Feb. 26—or even to March 4, the date of next issue.

After that, subscriptions should be sent direct to Mrs. E. C. Bixler, of New Windsor.

PRESBYTERY OF BALTIMORE

Large Attendance at its Meeting in Taneytown.

The Presbytery of Baltimore met, in the 369th. Stated meeting, at the Piney Creek Presbyterian Church, on Tuesday 22nd., at 11:00 o'clock. There was an unusually large attendance, both of ministers and laymen for the mid-winter session of Presbytery. The moderator, the Rev. David Hughes, Ph. D., presided.

The opening meeting was of the nature of a retreat and of business combined. Discussion of the visitation of the churches of Presbytery, by a committee appointed for that purpose, proved interesting and instructive.

The afternoon session was held in the Taneytown church and concluded the reports on church visitation and routine business of the Presbytery. The report of committee on program and Field Activities was presented by the Rev. Bruce H. McDonald, in which he presented the plans for enlarged work in the Presbytery.

The dinner for the visiting body was served by the Taneytown Firemen and was enjoyed by all.

Many of the members of the Emmitsburg, and Piney Creek and Taneytown Presbyteries, churches, attended the sessions and enjoyed the dinner with the visiting clergymen. The entertainment was provided by the three churches, of which the Rev. Thomas T. Brown is pastor.

Presbytery adjourned at 4 o'clock, to meet in Baltimore, March 10th.

"Inside" Information for Women.

Cooking does not destroy the valuable mineral salts found in many fresh vegetables but some of the minerals are dissolved in the water in which the vegetables are cooked. This liquid should therefore be served or utilized in some way. It may be saved for soup or used in gravies or sauces. Cooking a meringue in too hot an oven makes it tough and watery. Use a slow oven with meringues. Then they will set all the way through, brown delicately on top, and remain puffy after they are taken from the oven.

The body must have mineral matter to build and repair bones, teeth, and other tissues, and keep it in good running order. Calcium is found in dried beans, cauliflower, Swiss chard, peas, turnips, carrots, parsnips, oranges, and certain other fruits and vegetables. Milk used in cooking any of these foods or served with them increases the amount of calcium taken.

Iron is supplied by fruits in general and by the green-leaf vegetables, such as lettuce and dandelion greens, and particularly by spinach. Also a source of iron, spinach is in a class by itself. Egg yolk is another good source of iron.

Even at ordinary temperatures gasoline gives off a very explosive vapor, the vapor from a single pint rendering the air in an ordinary-sized room explosive. Whenever it is used indoors for cleaning, it is important that there be no fire in the room and that the doors and windows be open so the vapor may escape. Often some cleaning agent that will not take fire can be used as satisfactorily as gasoline.

When proportions are given in terms of sweet milk and baking powder, an equal quantity of sour milk may be substituted and enough soda used approximately to neutralize the acid, or a scant half teaspoon for each cup of sour milk. In the case of thin batters the soda and sour milk generally furnish enough leavening, but for thick batters or doughs baking powder is usually needed in addition. When sweet milk is to be used in place of sour, baking powder is substituted for all of the soda in the proportion of 4 teaspoons of baking powder for 1 teaspoon of soda if no other acid ingredients such as molasses is used. If such an acid ingredient is used, as in gingerbread, some soda is required.

Spring flowering shrubs should be pruned in the summer immediately after they are through flowering. To prune them now would be to cut off this year's flowers.

Cream intended for whipping purposes should contain at least 30 percent butterfat. Either raw or pasteurized cream will whip satisfactorily. The whipping quality of cream is improved by age. Aging for 24 hours is usually about right for cream with a 30 percent butterfat content.

Advertising, and Roads.

A lady living at Jessup, Anne Arundel County, recently wrote the Ellicott City Times, to discontinue the advertisement of some articles she had for sale, on the ground that "The road is so bad no one could get here to see the articles. We just like like flies in sticky paper; we just got out of one bad place, and stick in another."

There is a lot of very practical good sense in the lady's statement, and worth while considering. "Roads," are very closely related to "sales," and naturally to advertising; and "good roads" possess a value wide in extent that we are just beginning to realize, after all of the years, during which we have, like the flies, been "sticking fast" in one place or another.

Mukerji, a student at the King Edward Medical School, Indore, India, is said to have run 100 yards in nine seconds, and 220 yards in twenty seconds. This would make him the fastest human being on earth.

FRITZ CONVICTED OF SECOND DEGREE

Sentenced to Fifteen Years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

The case of Jacob Lee Fritz, charged with the killing of Charles Edward Reese, aged 13 years, on Thanksgiving Day last, near New Windsor, was disposed of on Monday in the Carroll County Court, by being found guilty of second-degree murder and sentenced to fifteen years in the Maryland penitentiary.

The case was heard before Judge Parke, and Associate Judges Moss and Forsythe. In announcing the verdict, Judge Parke said the court did not find sufficient evidence to show premeditation necessary to reach a verdict of first degree murder.

The only eyewitnesses of the shooting were William Colson, Jr., 19, and Stirling Reese 11, brother of the slain boy. They testified that the shooting occurred in the barn yard of a farm about two miles from New Windsor, tenanted by James Reese, father of the victim.

Fritz was employed by Mr. Reese and lived on the place. Thanksgiving Day Fritz, Charles Fleischman, his brother-in-law, and his brother, Harry Fritz, both of Baltimore, went hunting. On their return they went to the yard, where the shooting occurred.

Colson and Stirling Reese testified that when Colson said, "I don't believe they got any rabbits," Jacob Fritz put the muzzle of a shotgun against the body of Charles Reese, exclaiming, "I'll shoot you both; I don't mean one of you, but both."

Colson, according to the testimony, then cried out, "Look out, he's going to shoot," while Fritz fired and the boy fell. He died on the way to a hospital.

The prosecution was conducted by Theodore F. Brown, State's Attorney. The defense attorneys interposed no motion or objection, and Sheriff Geo. C. Fowble took the prisoner to the Penitentiary Monday night.

Famous Old Catoctin Furnace.

Many local tourists who venture as far south as Catoctin, Maryland, may have passed the old ruins of the ore furnaces there without knowing the historical facts connected therewith. The furnaces lie to the right of the state road between Thurmont and Frederick. They were once known as Catoctin Furnace Iron Works. The iron plates which shielded the Monitor from the attacks of the Merrimac, the machinery of the first American steam boat, many of the cannon and cannon balls used in the Revolutionary War were manufactured in these furnaces.

The workings of this furnace were intimately connected with Governor Thomas Johnson, the first governor of Maryland, whose home was in Frederick county. One hundred acres on the slope of the mountains were given by the sixth Lord Baltimore to Thomas Johnson and Lancelot Jacques. These two men formed a partnership and founded the first smelting furnace. In 1866 John B. Kunkel became the owner of the furnace and this was the time of its greatest activity.

From the mountain trees came the charcoal with which the furnaces were fed, iron, a plenty, was found and the little village of log houses arose. It remains today a memory of the past; indeed to pass through the village, with its one storied structures, white as the new fallan snow, is like visiting a little fairyland. First one sees the furnaces, tokens of a former day, then the mansion house on the hill and then the small church, which incidentally was built of stones from the old furnaces.

Today the furnaces are silent, the supply of ore having failed with the progress of time.

So much for facts—and now the ghost—There is a tradition prevalent throughout the countryside that at times the old furnace gives forth smoke as if protesting against those who have taken from the mountains her dearest treasures.—Gettysburg Compiler.

(Perhaps the "smoke" comes from moonshiner's outfits? This section looks pretty favorable for "ghosts" of that sort.—Ed Record.)

FROM CLINTON, IOWA. A Subscriber Discusses Various Interesting Topics.

Will write a few lines concerning things in general around this neck of the woods. We have had the nicest winter in many years. The roads are drying up like April, and if the weather continues the bathing beauty contests will soon be in full blast.

Clinton is a town of about 30,000 people of assorted sizes, shapes and colors, and where men are men (and so are women) consisting of christians, atheists, hypocrites, gamblers, thieves and bootleggers, like most towns where the good honest law-abiding citizens are always wrong.

We have industries of every kind, of which the largest is the Clinton sugar refinery that makes everything that can be extracted from corn. A switching crew works there daily except Sunday. Don't know why they don't work on Sunday for it seems of late years that nearly everybody else wants to break the Sabbath in one way or another.

The most courteous street car service is here, for when the motorman sees a woman coming with children they will wait and off-times stop in middle of the block. Don't know how they get that way, as we are not far from Chicago where they see how many old women they can run away from, and where the men try to knock the babies out of their mothers arms, getting on.

We have two good Hospitals, Mercy (Catholic) and Jane Lamb Memorial. You can visit patients any time except from 9:00 P. M. to 7:00 A. M. Visitors are also furnished good meals at a nominal charge in a dining room set aside for that purpose, if they so desire.

Our little boy, George Harvey, then three years old, was operated on in this Hospital last June for a ruptured appendix. We were told by the Doctor and nurses that every chance was against him, but through some miracle he is well today. After we were through with the special nurse he was taken down and placed in the sunbeam room, with the other children, and where books and toys of all kind are given them that is there for that purpose, but of course the parents and friends bring them plenty.

Each little tot has a nice bed and an electric cord with a push button, and I tell you they keep the nurses on the go as they certainly know how to press the button. There is an electric elevator that you operate yourself. You enter the building, press the button on the floor you are on, and if the elevator is not in use, the doors and gates closed, it will come to you and pull you and everybody else right up, or down after you have again pressed a button inside the elevator indicating the floor you wish.

Clinton is noted for its shade trees—American elm trees, whose branches meet above many of the streets, form an arch. The houses all set back and have lawns about them.

We have a fine high school and good schools, with everything modern, and good efficient lady teachers who believe in kindness, so that the children love to go to school. When they grow up their childhood days are gone and other cares are theirs. Remember the barbarous days when the teacher walked around with six feet of hickory telling the children to be kind?

Remember how we used to beg to stay home to help butcher, cut corn, hunt or any excuse, or to go to a "fitter"? From when the day school opened until it closed, we could see the hickory in our sleep and on our way to and from school. Today the children are taught to be patriotic and uphold the constitution, like our Senators—before they get into office.

We also have several large lumber companies who sell coal and every thing in the building line. One of the largest is the Eclipse. The Joyce is the oldest. They used to float logs down the river to Clinton, where they were sawed. The Gabriel Lumber Co. is also a large concern.

Will save something to write some other time. Say "Hello" to everybody for me. Just get the Record, and will say that Mr. Chas. E. H. Shriner is right about the tax question. The state of Wisconsin lost some of its industries through taxation. An industry must meet competition, and I for one would like to see Taneytown expand. High taxes is no inducement to get an industry to locate in a town.

Frederick County Bootlegging.

Approximately 6,500 gallons of mash, 6 large stills and 75 gallons of liquor have been confiscated and destroyed by Sheriff W. C. Rhoderick, of Frederick county, and his deputies, in a series of raids covering a period of several weeks.

The most of these raids were made in the vicinity of Deerfield and Thurmont, in the mountain section of the county. A number of the cases have been disposed of and convictions with fine and imprisonment have been imposed. The fines have been $100., and the term of imprisonment three months.

A. E. Baughman Reappointed.

Gov. Ritchie, on Wednesday, reappointed Austin E. Baughman, for a term of two years, as Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. Magistrate John Termallan, of Baltimore, was backed by Frank Kelly, Baltimore political leader, but the Governor made the appointment, as stated.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Summary of the Week's Leading Events at Annapolis.

The third compulsory automobile insurance bill of this session was introduced in the Senate Monday night by Senator Meyers, of Baltimore. The bill was drafted by J. LeRoy Hopkins and is being sponsored by the Business Men's Association of Northwest Baltimore.

The bill provides that the amount of bonded protection or insurance shall be $2,500 covering personal injuries to one person and $5,000 for personal injuries to more than one person in one accident and $500 for property damage.

It also provides the owner shall be personally responsible for property damage to the amount of $100 and for personal injury damages not exceeding $100. Failure to pay this portion of the claim would subject the owner to the penalty of having his registration license revoked until such judgment is satisfied.

There is a bill before the legislature empowering Christian science practitioners to make charges for their services in divine healing. Their treatment consists solely in prayers and other spiritual efforts, and does not employ drugs, instruments or manipulations.

Governor Ritchie sent a message to the Senate withdrawing the appointments of George E. Benson and Edw. S. Harner, as Commissioners of Carroll County.

Seven bills were introduced in the Senate Tuesday night, authorizing Baltimore city to borrow an aggregate of $46,000,000 for improvements and construction.

Senator Englar introduced a bill authorizing the Commissioners of Carroll County to borrow $45,000 to meet obligations for emergencies not anticipated in 1926 levy.

The Senate passed the bill authorizing a state loan of $1,000,000 for the elimination of one-way bridges.

A large number of local bills passed both houses, this week.

House Joint Resolution No. 2, by Delegate John G. Callan, requesting Congress to empower each State to designate for itself the alcoholic content of liquor which shall be illegal under the Eighteenth amendment, was brought up Wednesday under reconsideration and passed by a vote of 64 to 47. It failed Tuesday for want of a constitutional majority. The city delegation voted solidly for the resolution. Most of the Republicans and a few Democrats from the Eastern Shore voted against it. The resolution is merely a gesture from Maryland.

A bill was introduced in the House, on Thursday, that would place a tax on pari-mutual betting machines at the race tracks, to apply as a 5 percent tax on the gross sums wagered. It is claimed that this would produce a revenue of $2,500,000 a year.

Governor Makes Appointments.

Governor Ritchie, on Wednesday, sent his appointments to the Senate, on Wednesday, the following being made for Carroll County:

Member of the Board of Managers of Springfield State Hospital—Wade H. D. Warfield, Sykesville.

Board of Election Supervisors: Edward O. Diffendal, Alonzo B. Sellman, M. J. M. Troxell.

Justices of the Peace for Carroll County: Mervin Harner, Littlestown, Pa.; William W. Shamer, Patapsco; Albert W. Musgrove, Sykesville; Charles C. Kneller and Clayton J. Sauble, Manchester; Robert E. Lee Hutchins and Joseph L. O'Farrell, of Westminster; Roland E. Basler, of Hampstead; Jacob Farver, Taylorsville; Jesse W. Eyer, Middleburg; Amos W. Wagner, New Windsor; Thomas H. Gaither, Union Bridge; Clarence M. Murray and Royal J. Smith, Mount Airy; George W. Cook.

Holstein-Friesian Club Meeting.

The Holstein-Friesian Club, of the county, will hold a steak supper at the Westminster Hotel, on Thursday, March 3, at 6:30 P. M. Mr. Walter Garrett, of Greenmount, president of the club, announces that he has secured Mr. Allen N. Crissey, Field representative of the Holstein Friesian Association of America, and Mr. Chas. Wertheimer, president of the State Holstein Club to address this meeting of dairymen interested in black and white cattle, good purebreds and grades.

The object of the meeting is to discuss plans for the promotion of Holstein cattle interests in the county by boys Holstein club work, consignment sales and advertising. The committee in charge has promised to start the supper promptly at 6:30 P. M., and call for adjournment, at 9 P. M.

This meeting is open to the public, but reservations at one dollar per cover must be made by Tuesday, March 1st., either by letter to Box 117, Westminster, or by phone, Westminster 3163. It is expected that many fathers will bring their sons to this meeting, as definite plans for club work in the county are to be presented.

The Argentine Capitol at Buenos Aires, rising impressively above an extensive plaza, was constructed, with true Latin-American magnificence, in three months, with an expenditure of five millions.

AGAINST "FAITH HEALING." Physicians and Surgeons Fight the Proposed Amendment.

Doctors and surgeons from all over Maryland will fight the proposed amendment to the medical practice laws which would make legal "faith healing," or treatment "by spiritual means or prayer."

Over 200 medical men appeared in Annapolis, Thursday, to combat the measure in the Senate. The bill is sponsored chiefly by Christian Scientists. Under its provisions fees for "faith healing" could be collected.

"The medical and chirological faculty has no interest in the proposed amendment except from the standpoint of public health," Dr. Frederic V. Beitler, chairman of the legislative committee, said.

"It is the opinion of the faculty that the public health would not be safe if this amendment were passed. I think the general public realizes it is only through the enforcement of public health measures that epidemics have been stamped out and it has become possible for people to live together in comparative safety in large communities.

"The present medical practice law which designates what qualifications a person shall possess before he is given a license to practice medicine will be practically nullified by the proposed amendment if it becomes a law.

"Under its provisions anyone could open an office and collect fees by law as long as he confines himself to healing by spiritual means or prayer."

(For the Record.)

The Christian Scientists have introduced simultaneously into the House and Senate of the Legislature a bill to exempt them from the provisions of the Medical Practice Act. These bills are known as House Bill No. 78 and Senate Bill No. 51.

The Council of the Medical and Chirological Faculty met on Tuesday, Feb. 8, and discussed the situation from every angle. It was unanimously decided that any amendment to the Medical Practice Act by the Christian Scientists was unwarranted and that the Faculty should take whatever steps were necessary to have the bill killed as the Christian Scientists wished to practice medicine by spiritual healing, and charge for same without any medical knowledge at all, and contrary to all State and National laws.

On Feb. 24, Dr. C. M. Benner, together with over 200 other physicians of the state, attended a joint hearing before the committees of the House and Senate to prove to the State Legislature that such amendment to the Medical Practice Act would be a menace to the health and safety of the people of the State of Maryland.

Is this True, Montgomery?

We clip the following from "The Republican Woman Voter," for February, likely a copy of a letter that appeared in the Baltimore Sun. It is funny, even though the truth may be "stretched."

"To the Editor of the Sun, Sir: "Very often there appears in your paper hearty support in both news and letter columns for the school system of the State of Maryland.

"Being a native of Montgomery County I can only speak for that, but the results in this county are simply awful.

"A 'specialist' in sewing came to one of our schools and did some work, the result being a dress which was cut one-half upside down.

"The said dress was for a 12-year-old girl weighing 119 pounds, and when sewed up, her mother, who weighs 200 pounds, wore it. I consider that a waste of money to pay an ignoramus to do such teaching.

"Again, I fail to see why they have eliminated reading and geography. I teach a Sunday School class and the children who are in the high school are unable to read correctly.

"I am of the opinion that the reason there is little else except cooking and sewing taught in the schools now is because the teaching force is incompetent and the men in authority don't know a good teacher when they see one.

"If Maryland and Montgomery County have the best school system in the United States, they must be past relief elsewhere. Heaven help them.

Road Commissioners Appointed.

The following Road Commissioners were appointed by the County Commissioners; J. Wm. Reese, 5th. Election District; Howard Hare, 6th. Election District; A. Grant Leister, 8th. Election District; Wm. Hesson, 11th. Election District; Edward J. Rinehart, 12th. Election District; Corwin C. Penn, 13th. Election District; Walter L. Crammer, 11th. Election District.

The above comprises all commissioned up to the time of going to press.

More Civil War Pensions.

A new pension bill passed in the House, unanimously, on Monday, and was sent to the Senate. The bill would grant to the widows of Civil War veterans—195,000 in number—a flat pension of $50.00 per month, an increase of $10.00 a month, and cost approximately $23,000,000 annually.

The Commissioner Decision.

The Record does not often indulge in saying, "I told you so," but in the matter of the Court of Appeals decision on the County Commissioner case, we modestly refer to the fact that The Record editorially expressed the opinion, shortly after the election, that the entire election for Commissioners, as held, was invalid; and just as an improperly marked individual ballot is disposed of, should be thrown out.

The Court of Appeals has decided that this view was correct. The decision of the Attorney General was along the same line, except that he declared vacancies existed that the Governor might fill, but the Court of Appeals disagreed on this very important point.

Somewhere, somehow, somebody made a tremendous blunder in permitting such a mixed-up situation to occur. Perhaps it was just a "slip-up"—in fitting the plan of biennial elections to the various offices to be filled—such as have a habit of coming occasionally in an unguarded moment, and passing unnoticed through several hands. At any rate, whatever blame there is, must be attached to official sources.

Who is Responsible?

With regard to the proposed tax on gasoline for the purpose of "eliminating grade crossings," John N. Mackall chief engineer of the Road Commission, in opposing a cut in the tax asked for, is reported to have said:

"If the legislators are willing to assume the blood of those unfortunate persons who as a result of the cut, they are welcome to it."

"The one-half cent reduction in the gas tax will mean only a saving of $2 on each automobile per year, and I, personally, hold human lives at a greater value."

If these remarks were made as stated, then Mr. Mackall in his zeal for getting what he wants, is unfair, not only to the legislators, but to all others who disagree with his plan.

Those who are responsible for grade crossing accidents, are the drivers of conveyances in practically every case, due to their ignoring all warnings that have been in use ever since grade crossings existed; and "the blood of unfortunates" is on their heads.

Perhaps there are a few crossings in the state so dangerous that even with the greatest care, accidents are hard to avoid; and there may be other crossings where safety gates, or watchmen, should be employed; but to say that all grade crossings must be eliminated, and that those who disagree with the taxation plan for doing this "assume the blood" of the victims, is a mis-applied verdict.

No doubt it would relieve the minds of those drivers who like to speed over the roads, care free of any such danger as a train on a railroad track; but we hardly think legislation has come to be a commodity to be handed out to persons of this class, simply because they want it.

The President Should Sign.

President Coolidge would be fully justified in signing the McNary-Haugen measure. Not only for the purpose of giving it a trial, and perhaps satisfying the big interests back of it; but to teach the dodgers a lesson who in their votes are "passing the buck" to the President, depending on, and hoping for, a veto.

Both branches of Congress voted for the bill, and both parties were split up in the voting; therefore, Congress would be responsible, and no one party. As we see the situation, the President would be the less responsible if he signs, than if he uses the veto; and he will be criticised, in either case.

He should sign the bill, unless he is irrevocably committed not to do so.

Public and Private Questions, and Criticism.

Criticism is a world-old human characteristic, and like many another good thing, it often extends from proper liberty to improper license. In its best use, criticism—used in the sense of judging—is a valuable protection and help.

Rightfully, we extend it in all matters of public or governmental policy, to acts of public officials, to those who conduct public utilities, and in most, if not all, directions that affect the public morals and general welfare.

Wrongly, we extend it to questions and individuals of a private, or semi-private, character; when we make things "our business" that are not. And we frequently act as judge or jury in such cases without having heard the evidence on both sides of the question. In fact, we meddle, instead of criticize with right.

It is a wise man who can always distinguish the legitimate from the illegitimate in the exercise of our judgments. We like "Fools enter where angels fear to tread," as a wise saying has it, and the usual consequences follow—more harm than good.

And in our criticism we often fail to differentiate between individuals and their acts, and to properly estimate the difference between equally honest view-points, and ways and means of seeing and doing things. Men are not always acting wrong in purpose in adopting certain courses of action, even though these courses may, in the fuller light of experience, prove actually wrong.

The question of how far a publisher may take the liberty of advising on, or criticising, in semi-public or private matters, is very similar to the question of whether "all the news" should be printed. The American Press, N. Y., is conducting a feature at present, covering this question. The preponderance of opinions from the editors who have responded, is, that a very large portion of current news should be suppressed, and that the question should always be considered—whether the publication of nasty news will do more harm than good, irrespective of the willing, if not hungry, readers who would relish it?

Truth and decency are required on the editorial pages, as well as on the news pages of a newspaper. Full opportunity to say impudent and merely fault-finding things, does not make it decent and right to do so, which is merely a more polite way of saying that the "freedom of the press" does not license blackguardism.

Must Still "Declare" Intention.

For some reason, or reasons, not familiar to the average non-partisan observer, the effort to repeal the "Declaration of Intention" part of Maryland's election law was killed by a strict party vote in the House, last week, the bill itself never reaching the floor, except in the committee's report, when the killing was done.

We expect that the law, as it is, prevents a migratory class of colored people from voting, and in order to disfranchise these, a large number of whites must also be likewise disfranchised, or otherwise inconvenienced, before they can vote in the "free state" of Maryland.

And yet, it would seem that the "color" effect on our election laws should be growing dimmer, due to the switching over to Democracy in Baltimore (so reported) of blocks of the race that consider their debt to the party of Lincoln, long since paid.

Newspaper "Hash."

Newspapers—especially of the modern daily class—have certain topics that they relish as squirrels relish nuts. Once one of these favorite topics gets its place as a headliner, it is served up each day until the last atom of pleasure is exhausted. If new developments fail to come along, the old ones are hashed and rehashed—the delectable morsel is worked to the limit, and then some.

Most newspapers have certain pet topics. They may not be the same pets of readers—in fact, they may be nauseous—but once a newspaper sets its seal of approval on a certain line of boosting activity, the thing is boosted until it is finally worn out, and is no longer even passable "hash."

Some of these pets may be off-color. No matter; they are varnished, haloed and argued for, and every effort made to convince the jury, whether it wants to be convinced or not, that the particular pet is next to immaculate in its righteousness.

The course of procedure is "keeping at it" with the faith that perseverance must win. A sizable lot of these pets are actually "hash" after the first appearance, and no warming up or deceptive dressing alters the fact; but as no reputable newspaper, dare admit that it has attached its kare to a dud, the only thing to do is make a brave display, and "hash" it to the end.

The reason why so many important events often are given a mere paragraph or two, is because the subject matter of them is not on the preferred list—in the pet class—of the newspapers to which such articles are sent. This is the reason why certain topics are like serial stories—"continued in next issue." They are booked to be continued, whether there is any more of the story or not; and if not—then another serving of "hash."

Materialism

"Ours is an age of materialism," said Professor Stephen Duggan at a Columbia reception. "Our critics judge a book by its sales. As for the judgments rendered by our public—well, it's like the story."

"The late Sir Henry Irving was playing 'Hamlet,' and between the acts two business men discussed the show."

"Wonderful!" said the first business man. "Wonderful, ain't it?"

"No, it ain't," grunted the second business man. "Could this here Sir Henry Irving buy damaged raincoats at $5 a dozen and sell 'em for $17 apiece? That's what I call wonderful!"

Not Old Age, Surely

A minister met a parishioner and asked him the usual question:

"Weel, John, how are you today?"

"Gey weel, sir; gey weel," replied John, cautiously, "if it wasna for the rheumatism in my right leg."

"Ah, weel, John, be thankful; for there is no mistake you are getting old like the rest of us, and old age does not come alone."

"Auld age, sir," said John. "I wonder to hear ye. Auld age has naething to do with it. Here's my ither leg just as auld, and it's quite sound and sope yet."

Green Stuff

"Are the hens laying any better today?" queried Mr. Subbubs upon returning from a hard day at the office.

"Not a bit," answered his wife.

"I consulted a poultry specialist this afternoon."

"What did he say to do?"

"Feed 'em green stuff."

"What kind?"

"He didn't specify."

"Well, let's feed 'em egg-plant."

Helping Him Along

"Lady, could yer gimme a quarter to get where me family is?"

"Certainly, my poor man; here's yer quarter. Where is your family?"

"At the movies."

CORRESPONDENCE

Latest Items of Local News Furnished
By Our Regular Staff of Writers

All communications for this department must be signed by the author; nor for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributor are legitimate and correct. Items based on mere rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted. We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary, therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by Fast Mail, west, on W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time.

FEESERSBURG.

Never mind about the ground hog! Did you see the wild geese flying northward, after the thunder guest, last Wednesday?

A bit of April on Wednesday, a bit of summer, when the thermometer soared to 60 degrees, on Thursday, some snow to remind us of January, on Sunday; and then some sunny Feb. days, free to all—take your choice.

Mrs. Horace Bostian has been quite sick with a heavy cold.

Word has been received of the very critical illness of Mrs. Ida Morningstar, who with her sister, Lillie, has spent the past few years in Hollywood, California. They are daughters of the late G. W. Morningstar, who conducted a grocery and queensware business in Westminster for many years.

Thursday, while the electric line men were busy with their wires, one had dropped a distance unknown to the proprietor of our garage, who ran his car into it and caused an ignition; but escaped serious damage.

Business is brisk with our poultry products. L. K. Birely shipped 1170 dozen eggs to Northern markets, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Graham, who recently had an Atwater-Kent radio installed, are getting fine results, and well pleased.

Suppose our wintry Sabbath was a general radio day—and wasn't Harrisburg entertaining! In the morning, the children with various instruments; in the afternoon, the sacred concert by male voices, then mixed voices, and at night a fine sermon in the U. B. Church, by a return Missionary from China. Did you hear the announcer say the road from Lancaster to Lebanon was snow bound, and 17 autos stalled? One of the occupants floundered to a nearby home—where was a radio—and sent in a request to sing in the good old summer time. He came up smiling, no matter what the weather.

Just heard Wm. Clabaugh has sold his home to Frank Bare. We hope we will not lose the Clabaugh's from Mt. Union, as the whole family were regular in attendance at Sunday School during 1926, except Mr. Clabaugh, one Sunday, was called to work in the R. R. shops. All five members of this family had won Bibles for perfect attendance for one year previous to the above.

It seems we again hear the tinkle of approaching wedding bells.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Following his custom of keeping his shop strictly up-to-date in the matter of equipment, Mr. Clarence Ohler, proprietor of the Square Deal Garage, has just installed the most modern system of battery charging on the market. With the new HB One Day Battery Charger he is now prepared to take in automobile and radio batteries in the morning—and have them ready for their owners, fully charged, in the evening of the selfsame day.

Mr. Ohler is quite proud of his new equipment and invites all motorists and radio fans—or anyone else who is interested—to come in and see it work. One Day Battery Charging is recommended by leading car and battery manufacturers and approved by the U. S. Bureau of Standards—so there's no doubt about the safety and quality of the work this new outfit will do. See advertisement in another column.

Information for Farmers.

Cod-liver oil in the ration will help prevent weak legs in growing chicks. Evidences of maintained or increased dairy activity in practically every important butter producing region of the world indicate heavier world butter supplies in 1927.

One man and a "sledding" device which strips cotton from plants can "sled" from two to three bales of cotton a day at a cost of about three dollars a bale. One man can pick only about 150 pounds of seed cotton a day.

In view of the probability of another large crop of hard winter wheat in the United States this year, spring wheat farmers are urged by the Department of Agriculture to realize that any material increase in the area of spring wheat this year over last, even with average yields, may result in a production sufficient to put us on an export basis for all hard wheat.

A good seedbed for oats is one with a surface of 2 or 3 inches of loose and finely pulverized soil, while the soil just beneath is firm and moist. In moist soil shallow seeding covered to a depth of 1 1/2 inches is advised. Under dry-land conditions oats, sometimes should be sown 3 inches deep or slightly deeper.

Recent experiments show that cooling eggs during incubation is not necessary unless the temperature in the incubator runs abnormally high. In that case remove the trays and leave them out in the air of the incubator room for a little while.

Most poultrymen test incubating eggs on the 7th and 14th days. The first test is for the purpose of getting out the infertile eggs and those that have dead embryos in them. The second test is made to take out all eggs with embryos that have died from the 7th day up to the 14th.

The amount of heat that will raise the temperature of one pound of water one degree will raise the temperature of one pound of dry soil five degrees. Drained soil has less water to heat and will warm up faster than wet soil.

On extremely poor land, cowpeas will make a better growth than soybeans. Soybeans have a wider use than cowpeas, are a richer feed, more easily cured for hay or harvested for seed, and yield decidedly more seed than cowpeas.

The feeding of silage will not give to manure any unusual degree of acidity. The kind of feed consumed does effect the composition of the manure. If an animal were fed timothy hay only the manure would be of poor quality compared with that produced when the animal is fed alfalfa, bran and cottonseed meal.

Crops grown on soils very rich in nitrogen tend to ripen slowly. There is an overgrowth of leaves and stem. The grain or seed is usually of poor quality. There is increased danger of plant diseases. In the case of grain crops there is danger of lodging.—U. S. Dept. Agriculture.

Whooping Cough.

When whooping cough, or any of the other so-called children's diseases breaks out in your neighborhood, you want to be especially careful to safeguard the babies and the other children under three, so that they don't catch these diseases from their older sisters or brothers, or from their little neighbors, is the advice of Dr. R. H. Riley, Chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases of the State Department of Health.

"It is a mistake," he said, "to think that the children should have the so-called children's diseases and have them over. Every one of these diseases is full of great danger for the very young children, especially the children under school age. As a matter of fact, the records of the State Department of Health show that over half of the deaths from measles; one-third of those from scarlet fever, and nine out of every ten of the deaths from whooping cough, occur among the children under three years old.

"As whooping cough has been prevalent in every section of the State this winter, I feel that this is the time to urge upon parents the importance of safeguarding the babies and young children from exposure to this disease which is particularly hard on the children under school age. The disease is caused by a germ found in the discharges from the nose and throat of the child who is sick. It is scattered far and wide whenever the sick child coughs or sneezes; or it may be spread through the use of a family handkerchief; or towel; or through the interchange of playthings, or of cups or spoons or dishes between the sick and well.

"Whooping cough is catching, even in the early stages before the 'whoop' begins to be noticeable. Because it can be so easily mistaken, at this early stage, for an ordinary cold, it is much safer to regard every cold as a possible danger signal, and to act accordingly. If your child develops what seems to be just a cold, watch that child carefully; send for your doctor; follow his advice as to the care to be given to the sick child; and take every precaution to keep the other children—your own, or the neighbor's children—from catching his germs.

"Just as in measles, one of the most frequent and serious complications of whooping cough, is bronchial pneumonia.

"The first thing to do if a child shows symptoms of whooping cough is to send for your doctor. He will tell you what to do next."

WOODSBORO WANTS SCHOOL BUILDING.

A large delegation of residents of Woodsboro appeared before County Superintendent of Education, in Frederick asking for a new school building, and bearing a petition signed by more than 250 persons, said to include every resident of the town. The delegation set forth that the present building is insufficient to meet the demands for school facilities, and that Woodsboro has not heretofore asked for such improvements.

Here are the Brooders that will Save Your Baby Chicks

A quarter-million poultry-raisers know this is true. For twelve years Buckeye Colony Brooders have proved their ability to raise every raisable chick. They have proved their ability to prevent the losses —to stop the chilling, crowding, and overheating. If you want to raise more chicks out of every brood than ever before; if you want to make more money from your poultry, come to our store and let us show you these famous Buckeye Brooders.

The Buckeye Coal-Burning Brooder has larger stoves. They hold more coal. They give more heat. They burn soft coal or hard coal longer with one fueling. The Revolving Hover eliminates raising the hover or disturbing the chicks.

The Buckeye Oil-Burning Brooder is the most efficient oil-burning brooder ever devised. It is simple, safe and reliable.

Be sure to visit our store and see these wonderful brooders. We are always glad to talk to you about your poultry problems.

Records Show Savior Lived With Tibetans

The much-discussed question as to what Christ was doing between the time He was a humble carpenter and the time He began His preaching in Palestine may be settled soon, according to Thurston Macauley in the International Book Review. The recent trip of a Russian painter, Nicholas Roerich, into the Himalaya country of India has resulted in the artist's finding ancient manuscripts in certain Buddhist monasteries records of Christ's teachings there. According to Roerich, the lamas, or native priests, say Christ passed through that country.

The discovery of these records of Christ, writes Mr. Macauley, sheds some light on His "lost years." The Bible, as we know, does not tell where Christ was or what He did for a period of more than ten years, from His teens until His twenty-ninth year. Roerich quotes from the Tibetan documents, which, he says, have the antiquity of about fifteen hundred years. In them Jesus is referred to as "Issa."

Here are some typical passages from these alleged early teachings of Jesus, as transcribed by Roerich: "Issa secretly left his parents, and, together with the merchants of Jerusalem, turned toward India to become perfected in the Divine Word, and for the study of the laws of the Great Buddha.

"He passed his time in Djagernath, in Rajagriha, in Benares. All loved him because Issa dwelt in peace with the Vicias and Sudras (humble folk), whom he instructed.

"Issa bade them 'Worship not the idols. Do not consider yourself first. Do not humiliate your neighbor. Help the poor. Sustain the feeble. Do evil to no one. Do not covet that which you do not possess, but which is possessed by others.'

"The Brahmins and warriors, learning of the words which had been told to the Sudras, decided to kill Issa. But Issa, forewarned by the Sudras, departed from this place by night.

"Afterward, when he had learned the scrolls, Issa went into Nepal and into the Himalaya mountains.

"Issa had reached his twenty-ninth year when he arrived in the land of Israel.

Primitive Indians

A tribe of Indians living in the primitive fashion by hunting and fishing, was discovered in British Columbia by John M. Holzworth, who headed an expedition into that region for the biological survey and the National museum. The chief purpose of the expedition was to collect specimens to be used in an investigation being made by the biological survey to determine any possible relationship between Rocky mountain sheep and the wild sheep found in the Far North. Holzworth bagged a number of mountain sheep, caribou and bears. He reported that some of the Indian women of the primitive tribe he found were wearing high-heeled shoes and silk stockings which their men had obtained at distant trading posts in exchange for their furs.—Pathfinder Magazine.

His Lesson Went Wrong

The teacher was trying to impress on the children how important had been the discovery of the law of gravitation.

"Sir Isaac Newton was sitting on the ground looking at the tree. An apple fell on his head, and from that he discovered gravitation. Just think, children," she added, "isn't that wonderful?"

The inevitable small boy replied: "Yes, miss, an' if he had been sittin' in school lookin' at his books he wouldn't never have discovered nothin'."

Big Spring of Fresh Sulphur Water in Sea

Bubbling up out of the ocean from a depth of 125 feet, a big spring of fresh sulphur water, two miles off the coast of Florida and eight miles south of St. Augustine, was recently surveyed by experts of the United States coast and geodetic survey. Long known to residents of St. Augustine and marked on charts, the spring has been the source of speculation for years.

A short time ago the government scientists anchored directly over the troubled waters of the sea spring and proceeded to investigate it. The water sampled was about the same temperature as the surrounding Atlantic, but the tremendous size and force of its geyserlike upwelling was plainly apparent at the surface. The ocean floor surrounding the spring is only about fifty-five feet deep, but the spring rises from a depression which measures more than 125 feet deep.

A strong odor of sulphur pervades the atmosphere around the spring and the force of the water was such that it was only with difficulty that the ship was prevented from being pushed away by the bubbling waters. Samples of the waters at various depths were secured and forwarded to the United States bureau of chemistry for analysis.—Kansas City Star.

Mystery in Letter "O" Found in Windsor Castle

High up on the wall, near the Norman gate, at Windsor castle, is a stone upon which is engraved the letter "O." The letter is about five inches in diameter, and deeply cut in the hard stone. How did it come there and for what does it stand?

Tradition says that it records the height of Oliver Cromwell's giant porter, who was stationed at the gatehouse to keep away intruders. Seeing that the letter is eleven feet from the ground, this was a "tall" statement and even when it is explained that the roadway has been lowered, it leaves one with the impression that this "Round-head" must have been a giant, indeed.

The probable explanation is that this huge fellow, having little else to do but parade up and down, passed his spare time in carving the initial letter of his master's name.

This gigantic porter was a great character, and frequently preached in the parish church of Windsor, much to the annoyance of the incumbent, who, in those days, had to keep a still tongue in his head. The strange thing is that this servant of Cromwell kept his position at the Restoration and, curiously enough for a man of his religious scruples, treated as one of his most treasured possessions a large Bible given to him by "Sweet Nell of Old Drury."—London Tit-Bits.

Might Have Changed History of America

The first congress of the American colonies was convened in New York city about one hundred sixty-one years ago. The purpose of the convention was to consider the stamp act. Greenville's obnoxious scheme of taxation, Tim Ruggles of Massachusetts was chairman of the congress, whose delegates from nine states met.

In its two weeks' session the congress adopted a "Declaration of Rights," written by John Cruger; a "Petition to the King," by Bob Livingston, and a "Memorial to Both Houses of Parliament," from the pen of James Otis.

Had the powers that misruled England at this time paid more attention to the words of these earnest men history might have taken a different turn, but the figurehead on the English throne and the self-inflated ministers and coxcombs, who served him, were deaf to the distant thunder of discontent—and "lost a world."—Chicago Journal.

MINK AND WEASEL TAMED BY RANGER

Skunk, Too, Friendly but Not Overwelcomed.

Glacier Park, Mont.—United States Forest Ranger Lewis Hanson of the Two Medicine valley in Glacier National park fed flapjacks all winter to a mink, a weasel, a skunk and two gray squirrels. The mink, weasel and the squirrels got so tame they ate out of his hand, but he left the skunk to wait on itself "cafeteria fashion." Veteran troopers of the Rocky Mountains say this is the first time they ever heard of a mink or a weasel getting tame enough to eat out of a man's hand.

The incident came to official notice when Ranger Hanson kept reporting a shortage in flour rations. The chief ranger, when he discovered what Ranger Hanson was doing with the flour, was first inclined to reprimand the subordinate, but on looking over the rules and regulations, he changed his mind and allowed the extra supply. In Uncle Sam's manual, forest rangers are instructed to be kind to animals.

Ranger Hanson's amiability has extended to more species than any other has yet made pets of in the wilds of the Rockies.

"Of course, in the tourist season, it's different, but during the lonely months of the long winter a fellow has a friendly feeling for anything with life in it," Ranger Hanson volunteered. "These animals evidently felt the same way about it, for they kept hanging around my cabin door all winter, and I sure couldn't regard 'em as anything but companions of the wilds."

"But that darned skunk! I just couldn't bring myself to fondle him, although the poor devil almost wagged his tail as friendly as a dog when he approached me begging for the flapjacks which he had seen me feed to the other animals. I had to laugh at myself at times, when I was almost convinced that he was sincerely friendly in the wagging of that tail."

"Once I was on the verge of giving him the hand offering just to show that I had no partiality for the other animals. I guess if I had had two suits of clothes I might have done it."

$4,000 FOR COURTESY

James Gray, a conductor of the Capital Traction company in Washington, is to receive $4,000 for his courtesy in helping a little gray-haired woman on and off his car. For five years she had been riding on his car and he often let others wait while he escorted her to the curb. The other day he received a letter from her daughter saying that Mrs. Mary Ward had died and left him $4,000 for his courtesy.

Migratory Birds Wing Way Back to Alaska

St. Michael, Alaska.—Thousands of wild water fowl are completing the last leg of their long migration from the Gulf of Mexico and Lower California to the great delta of the Yukon river and its maize of shallow waterways. Here in the thousands of square miles of grassy marsh the waterfowl find an abundance of mollusks, fish and vegetable food.

Great flocks of Canadian geese and ducks have been arriving for two weeks, making the air vibrate with their honking as they seek landing places in the reaches of dried grass from which the snow only recently receded.

Green-winged teal, gulls and terns have established nesting grounds near the roar of the Bering sea breakers. Cormorants, snipe, coots and boned puffins have been arriving daily in immense flocks, already mated for the season of brooding.

Among the rarer waterfowl nesting on the lower Yukon are swan, blue heron and crane. These three species strangely seem to like each other's company, and nest, hunt and fly together.

About the congested bird city are the arch enemies, crows, magpies, eagles, foxes and weasels, watching every opportunity for a meal.

Knew What He Wanted

During the recent registration of voters, the polling place being a barber shop, an Irishman entered and the foreman of the registry board addressed him:

"What is your name?"
He looked bewildered and answered: "James Flynn."
"Where were you born?"
It was plain that Flynn was annoyed, but he answered, "Ireland."
"How long are you in this country?"
Flynn, getting more indignant, answered, "Eighteen months."
"Well, as you are only one year and a half in the United States you cannot vote."
"I don't want to vote—I want a shave," was the reply.—Judge.

No Escape

Brother Johnson had labored through a long, perspiring evening to convince his colored brethren of the terrible fate that remained in store for them if they remained unsaved. He concluded: "And the wicked shall be cast into outer darkness; and there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth."

Jackson arose from his seat and demanded, "What about me, Mr. Johnson. I ain't got no teeth."
Leaning far over the pulpit and shaking a lean, bony finger at the aged sinner, Brother Johnson said tersely: "Never you mind, Mr. Jackson; never you mind. Teeth will be provided."

Rare Fossil Jellyfish

Rare fossil jellyfish, claimed to be at least 500,000,000 years old, have been obtained for the Field museum by Sharrat Roy of the geology department. Roy has just returned from a collecting tour in northern New York. The jellyfish, according to the museum, are representatives of the earliest known form of life to inhabit the earth and lived during the Lower Cambrian period, some 500,000,000 years ago. The specimens collected belong to especially rare species. They are as large as the human hand and their forms have been almost perfectly preserved in the slate which was once the mud bed of a prehistoric ocean.—Exchange.

Cornwall's Tin Mines

Deposits of tin in Cornwall have been known since the very beginning of history. Tradition has it that the Phoenicians went there for their supplies of tin, and attempts have been made to fix in that region the Cassiterides or Tin Islands of the ancients. The mines, however, have had their periods of depression. Queen Elizabeth found it necessary to introduce German workers to resuscitate the industry, which, by the way, has occasionally produced gold from among the deposits of less valuable metal.

Bird Almost Extinct

The helmeted hornbill is a rare and shy bird. Its habitat is India and scientists say that trained monkeys would be needed to catch the bird. It lives in dense, high forests, eats fruit and does not descend to the ground. Pursuers have heard it give a series of whooplike sounds followed by a loud, cackling laugh, which, to the unsuccessful hunter, sounds like a cry of derision. This bird gets its name from its heavy bill surmounted by a helmet-shaped top formed of solid bone in the front.

The Mother Land

It is a strange feeling that comes over the western Saxon as he strolls first along the green by-lanes of England, and scents the hawthorn in its April bloom, and lingers at some quaint stile to watch the rooks wheeling and cawing around some lofty elmtops, and traces the carved gables of some old country mansion that lies in their shadow, and hums some fragment of charming English poetry that seems made for the scene.—Donald G. Mitchell.

PAY YOURSELF

IT'S great to "spend" money when you pay it over to yourself: There's a thrill about it—a peculiar satisfaction—a feeling of security. Hundreds of our depositors enjoy this sense of security as they make regular deposits in their accounts. They know they are just taking it from themselves now, in small sums, to be used later for a home, a farm or a business or for investment. To what they save we add 4% compound interest and this makes their balance grow.

"My wheat averaged 44 bushels to the acre, with big plump grain. It ripened early, and was of excellent quality, selling for seed at $1.50 per bushel net. The average yield for this section of the country is about 15 bushels per acre, which gives a net gain of 29 bushels or about $36 per acre. I attribute these results to the use of 'AA Quality' Fertilizers and a well-prepared soil before seeding.

"I have used 'AA Quality' Fertilizers for many years and have always been satisfied with the results and the mechanical condition in which they are shipped."

"On my potato crop this year I used 'AA Quality' Fertilizers for truck at the rate of 2000 pounds to the acre and my crop was exceptionally fine in yield and quality. The drought and poor growing season damaged all potato crops in this section; nevertheless, I feel that 'AA Quality' Fertilizer played a big part in the yield and quality which I obtained."

—M. B. Seward

Every crop you harvest leaves your land poorer—unless you enrich the soil with a good fertilizer

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers do more than carry the burden of feeding the current crop. They build up your land generally and enrich the soil for succeeding seasons. They build up run-down fields and make them profitable. They give you heavy yields of better quality products.

That's because "AA Quality" Fertilizers are made right. Their formulas are the result of years of scientific research. They supply crops with just the right plant food elements, in proper proportions and such perfect condition that they are available to each plant during every stage of its growth. They bring crops to an earlier—and more profitable—maturity.

The materials in "AA Quality" Fertilizers are most carefully prepared, mixed, cured and remilled. That's why they always work uniformly in drill or planter. They are made by the largest fertilizer manufacturing company in the world! And backed by a first, a second and a third generation of consistent, enthusiastic users! . . . whose farms have been enriched, whose yields have been increased, whose profits have mounted into big money.

Because it carries the lowest prices ever placed on a truly fine automobile, the Most Beautiful Chevrolet brings into existence an entirely new conception of "Quality at Low Cost."

Never before at Chevrolet's amazingly reduced prices has any manufacturer provided so many fine car features, so many marks of distinction and so many mechanical improvements. These are typified by new bodies by Fisher finished in Duco colors, full-crown one-piece fenders, bullet-type lamps, AC oil filter, AC air cleaner, improved transmission, larger radiator and many others.

You need only to see these supremely beautiful cars to realize why all America is proclaiming them as the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry! You need only to compare them with the finest the market affords to see that they represent the biggest dollar-for-dollar value ever offered! Come in today and get a demonstration!

He Was Satisfied

The prince of Wales at an informal dinner was behaving so naturally that some of those present forgot the distinguished company they were in. Presently a speaker arose and began an oration. "Gentlemen—" he started. Then he paused and his face colored. "I beg your royal highness' pardon," he said in confusion. "Carry on, sir," laughed the prince. ANYWHERE TO ANYWHERE—BY TELEPHONE

TO SAVE YOUR TIME—

Place Your Out-of-Town Calls by Number!

HAve you noticed that the long distance operator has been completing many of your out-of-town calls while you he'd the line?

We can give you this almost as fast as local service when you know the number of the distant telephone. It makes no difference whether you call "anyone" or a particular person at an out-of-town telephone; in either case you'll get an extra-rapid service if you can give the number.

Suppose you don't know the number—

We'll complete the connection and tell you the number at the time. But to save your time we suggest that you make a list of the names and addresses of all the persons or firms whom you are apt to call. Mail it to our Business Office and we will promptly supply you with their numbers.

A Word of Explanation—There are two kinds of long distance calls: Station-to-station and Person-to-person. On a station-to-station call we connect you with the out-of-town number just as we do on a local call. On a person-to-person call we connect you with the particular person desired at the distant telephone; these calls take about 25 per cent higher rate.

Lesson for February 27

MAKING THE COMMUNITY CHRISTIAN
Temperance Lesson.

LESSON TEXT—Gal. 5:13-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Serving One Another by Love.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Law of Love.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Self-Control for the Sake of Others.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Works of Darkness and Works of Light.

The only way this can be called a way of making the world Christian is by leading the individuals to a personal knowledge and experience of Jesus Christ and entering therefore into the power of the new life. Having shown in chapters 3 and 4 of this epistle that the believer is free from the law as a means of justification, Paul makes practical application of this doctrine. The divine way of making the community Christian is to secure the regeneration of the individual. The way to destroy the work of the devil is through the sonship of believers.

I. Christian Freedom (vv. 13-15).
1. It is not an occasion to the "flesh" (v. 13).
Liberty is not license. The notion that when one is free from the law, that he is free from constraint, is wickedly erroneous. License of the flesh means not merely the indulgence of the flesh in actual material sins, but in the expression of a self-centered life in biting and devouring one another (v. 15).

2. By love serving one another (v. 13).
Freedom from the Mosaic law means slavery to the law of love. The emerging from bondage through Christ is the passing into a sphere of life in which all the powers should act under the dominion of the true motive, love—Morgan. Love thus becomes the fulfillment of the law.

II. Walking in the Spirit (vv. 16-18).
This discloses the secret of how a life of service to another can be lived. The governing principle in the life of a believer is the Holy Spirit. Walking in the Spirit results in:

1. Loving service to others.
2. Victory over the flesh (vv. 16, 17).
By the flesh is meant the corrupt nature of man expressing itself in the realm of sense and self. The renewed man is two men between which is going on a mortal conflict. The Christian must choose between good and evil. When he chooses the evil, the Holy Spirit opposes, and when he chooses the good the flesh opposes. Notwithstanding this deadly conflict, victory is sure.

III. The Works of the Flesh (vv. 19-21).
By works of the flesh is meant the operation of the carnal nature. The one who chooses to live according to the impulse and desires of his natural heart will be practicing the following sins:

1. Sensuality (v. 19).
2. Irreligion (v. 20).
These acts take place in the realm of the spirit and are:
(1) Idolatry, which means the worshiping of idols.
(2) Witchcraft or sorcery. This means all dealing with the occult.
(3) Sins of temper (vv. 20, 21).
These take place in the sphere of the mind and are:
(1) Hatred. (2) Variance, which means strife and contention. (3) Emulations, jealousy. (4) Wrath, bursts of passion. (5) Seditions, factions in the state. (6) Heresies, factions in the church. (7) Envyings. (8) Murders.

4. Sins of excess (v. 21).
(1) Drunkenness. This means indulgence in intoxicating liquors.
(2) Revelings, acts of dissipation under the influence of intoxicants. Those who practice such sins shall be excluded from the kingdom of God.

IV. The Fruit of the Spirit (vv. 22-24).
This indicates action in the realm of life. The product of the Holy Spirit indwelling the believer.
(1) Love to God and man, (2) Joy, glad-heartedness because of what God has done. (3) Peace with God and fellowman. (4) Long-suffering, taking insult and injury without murmuring. (5) Gentleness, kindness to others. (6) Goodness, doing good to others. (7) Faith, believes God and commits all to Him. (8) Meekness, submission to God. (9) Temperance, self-control in all things. Against such there is no law.

Underrating Value
Oh, do we not too frequently underrate the value of the promises of God? They were made to us and we should trust them, for they are as true as the God by Whom they were made.—Echoes.

Exceedingly Difficult
It is exceedingly difficult for one's heart to bow and say, "I will be nothing but a lamb," but that is our place, for the Lord says, "Vengeance is mine."—Echoes.

MESSAGE FROM THE ROMANS

French Soldiers Found That Conquering Legion Had Preceded Them Through Pass in Algeria.

The overseas veteran may well glory in his achievements. That is one of the rewards of valor. If at times he is unfair in his contentions, it is usually for lack, not of generosity, but of perspective. The vaunting doughboy should ponder the story of the French soldiers who during the early days of the French occupation of Algeria worked their way through a pass that until then was thought to be inaccessible. They were, says Mr. M. W. Hilton-Simpson in "Among the Hill Folk of Algeria," naturally proud of what they had done and asked the commanding officer to allow them to carve the names of their regiments and the date on some suitable rock.

He readily assented, and they began to search. Almost at once they found a boulder that seemed to be ideally placed for their purpose; moreover, one side of it was flat. The soldiers began to clean it preparatory to immortalizing their exploit. But on closer examination they found that the rock was not so smooth as they thought. In fact, there appeared to be lettering on it.

Imagine their amazement when one of them who was accustomed to decipher inscriptions announced that the rock already bore the name of a unit of a great disciplined army—an army the tradition of which had been as glorious as their own. For the timeworn letters informed the Frenchmen not only that the pass had been traversed, but that a road had been built through it by the Sixth legion of the Roman army during the reign of Antoninus Plus more than 16 centuries before!—Youth's Companion.

RELICS IN NATIONAL PARK

Sacramental Towers Built by People Probably Contemporary With the Cliff Dwellers.

The new national park recently set aside by President Harding will have an unusual interest for tourists in that within its confines there are numerous relics of a prehistoric race who probably were contemporary with the cliff dwellers. These consist of ruins of towers, believed by experts to have been used by the ancient people in their religious ceremonies.

The new park lies largely in Montezuma county in Colorado, about 30 miles west of Cortez, extending into southwestern Utah. Most of the towers are in Colorado. They are little known outside Montezuma county, and are seldom visited by tourists, as they are 50 miles off the beaten paths of travel. They differ from similar ruins at Mesa Verde, which were built on uplands, and, or were, mainly used as watch towers or for astronomical purposes while some of the Montezuma towers are found in canyons.

Sugar From Sap of Palms

Various tropical palms yield a sugary sap which is employed by the natives for making sugar and "toddy." A summary of information relating specially to the Nipa palm from this point of view is given in the Bulletin of the Imperial Institute. This palm grows in the muddy estuaries of rivers throughout the eastern tropics. The juice, which contains about 15 per cent of sugar, is obtained by removing the flowering shoots and collecting the sap which escapes. If desired, the juice can be fermented for the production of alcohol.

It has been estimated that 28 hundredweight of sugar, or 200 gallons of 95 per cent alcohol, could be obtained annually from an acre of swamp land planted with Nipa palms. The tree occurs over extensive areas in British North Borneo, and the authorities there are considering the question of utilizing it as a source of sugar and alcohol.

Wit and Beauty.

The late Guy Barham, who was a leading figure in the public life of Los Angeles, had a well-merited reputation for wit.

At a dinner party one evening Mr. Barham sat beside a lady whose neck and shoulders were very beautiful. Proud of their beauty, the lady always wore outrageously décolleté gowns, but she would modify or veil this décolletage by means of a spray of orchids which, however, had more than once been known to fall out of place.

And now, between the soup and the fish, the orchids, as their habit was, dropped to the floor. Mr. Barham picked them up and restored them to the beautiful lady.

"Your fig leaf, madam," he said.

High Prices.

Edgar Selwyn, the New York impresario, was talking on the Olympic about the swimming pools that are a feature of the newest and most luxurious liners.

"For those swimming pools and open-air restaurants and so forth," he said, "we passengers pay high enough, goodness knows."

"To tell the truth, I am rather in sympathy with the plump, dark lady who stood on the marble brink of a liner's swimming pool the other day and screamed angrily at her dark plump daughter:

"Confound dot girl, she never learns noddings! Minna, Minna, schwim into der deep water, und get der vort' of your money!"

Broadcasting Hotel Orders.

Horace Greeley of the weld hand-writing could never have held the position of a hotel manager or an assistant manager of one of our modern hostleries. His penmanship was too illegible. The management of big hotel departments, from the cold storage to the linen departments, involves the use of the tel-autograph to a marvelous extent. Mine jolly host of the old-time hostelry needs to be an electrical expert to manage things by modern methods. He sits in his office and the moving finger beside him which records his orders is a tel-autograph, which inscribes his messages at the same time in as many departments as he desires by the pressure of a finger upon electric buttons.

Man's Age of Strength.

At what age is a man's muscular strength greatest?

It might be natural to suppose that with increasing age the muscles, which develop with constant use, would become stronger, but such is not the case.

It has been proved by experiment that the amount a man uses his muscles does not influence the increase and decline of strength.

These tests showed that where the average lifting power of a boy is 280 pounds, it should be increased by his twentieth year to 320 pounds. A maximum of 365 pounds, or thereabouts, should be attained by his thirtieth year, after which a decline in strength sets in. Between forty and fifty this decline is rapid.

First U. S. Currency Easily Counterfeited

So easily counterfeited were the first lots of paper money issued by the United States government in the sixties that spurious bills flooded the country, and countless astute business men were victimized. Finally, to balk the criminals, a book called "Heath's Infallible Government Counterfeit Detector at Sight" was published in 1870. In those old days money was printed on ordinary paper, which counterfeiters could easily obtain or imitate and, consequently, such a book as "Heath's Detector," which concentrated on the designs on the bills, was needed. Now, however, a special brand of paper with special water marks, whorls and embedded tiny silk threads, is used. This paper cannot be imitated by the counterfeiters and such a book as the "Detector" is not now needed.

The book, published by Laban Heath & Co. of Boston and Washington, claimed to be "the only infallible method" of detecting counterfeit notes and bonds with "genuine designs (which were mutilated) from original government plates by authority from the United States Treasury department and the American, National and Continental Bank Note companies, New York and Boston."—Detroit News.

One Kind Act

Little Willie was so depressed one night at bed-time that his father asked him what the trouble was. Willie answered sadly that he had failed to perform a single kind action that day, thus going counter to the boy scout ritual.

"Well, cheer up," said his father. "You can perform two kind actions tomorrow."

But Willie doubted if he could make up for his fault in that way, and he turned in very low-spirited indeed. In the morning, however, he was himself again.

"Got over your troubles, eh?" said his father.

"Yes, sir," said little Willie. "I lay tossing and worrying till 2 o'clock, and then I couldn't stand it no longer, so I sneaked downstairs and gave the canary to the cat."

A Vivacious Engine

An engineer was giving evidence in a case in which a farmer was suing a railway company for damages resulting from the death of a cow which had been run into by a train.

The farmer's lawyer was heckling the engineer, and kept reverting to his pet question, which was:

"Now, tell me, was the cow on the track?"

At last the engineer became angry, and answered the question:

"Well, if you want me to tell the real truth, the cow was bathing in the stream on the other side of the track. But the engine saw her, leaped off the rails, dashed over the bank and, landing right on top of the cow, strangled her to death without a word."—Milwaukee Journal.

Maya's Calendar Dates Back to Aug. 6, 613 B. C.

The earliest dates in New World history are August 6, 613 B. C., and December 10, 580 B. C., by the present system of marking time, the Peabody museum of Harvard university announces in making public the final solution of the chronology of Mayan dates.

The formal New Year had originally stood at the winter solstice just 12 days after the recorded date, December 10, 580 B. C., when the calendar was inaugurated. Other dates strongly emphasized in Mayan records are March 21 and September 23, the points of the equinoxes, and December 22 and June 23, the points of the solstices, says the Detroit News. Three famous tablets at Papenque carry the calculation backward from September 23, 430 A. D., the day of the autumnal equinox, to 3373 B. C. in an effort to reconstruct the conditions of the natural year at the epoch of the Mayan era.

Blankets From Trees

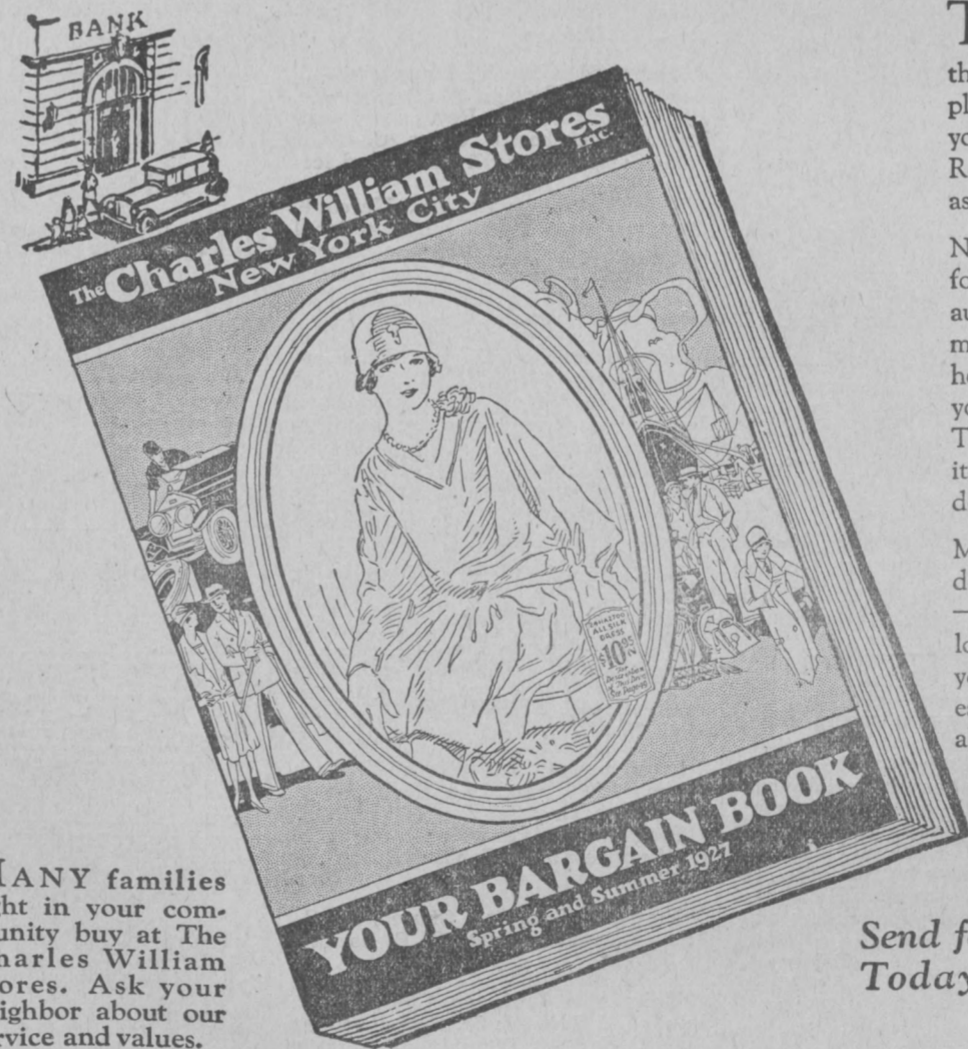

The paper-bark trees of northern Australia provide natural mattresses and blankets for benighted wanderers, according to the Sydney Bulletin. The bark consist of several layers, which combined are about an inch thick. The bark is stripped of the tree and split, part of it serving as a mattress and the remainder as a blanket, both of which are waterproof. Being very oily this bark also burns when other barks and woods are water-soaked.

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Frank Baumgardner, who has been indisposed for several weeks, is now on the way to a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Frances Schaum was so unfortunate as to slip and fall on the ice, at her home and dislocate one of her wrists.

Mrs. John W. Aulhouse, who has been ill for a month or more, is gradually improving and is able to be around in the house.

The Kramer property, near town, was sold to the Birnie Trust Co., for $1240., last Saturday. It will sell for more than that, later on.

Mr. Sebour, from The Times Office force, Westminster, was a caller at our office, on Wednesday, while on his way to Emmitsburg.

Mrs. John Wolfe, of near Mayberry, was taken to Hanover hospital Tuesday afternoon, and operated on immediately for an advanced case of appendicitis.

A son of Luther Eckard, near town, while coasting, on Monday, ran under a saw wire fence that partly tore the scalp loose from his head and required stitching up.

Chautauqua Guarantors are requested to meet at the home of Mrs. Lavina Fringer, Wednesday evening, March 2nd., at 8:30, to close account of deficit on 1926 Chautauqua.

Notwithstanding the snow and stormy conditions last Saturday afternoon, Jere J. Overholzer's sale of personal property was fairly well attended, and satisfactory prices prevailed.

The Fire Company was called out, Sunday morning, due to a chimney fire at Ralph Sell's place on the Westminster road. There was more scare than danger, but the chemical extinguisher was used.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Sell, entertained at a "500" party, on Friday evening of last week, adding another social event to the season's list. There were twenty guests present, from Westminster, Union Mills and Baltimore.

Mrs. John Albaugh, of New Midway, and Mrs. John Eyer, of Ladiesburg, spent several days with Mrs. Mary Stover and family. Clarence Albaugh and Mrs. Samuel Overholzer, of New Midway, were callers at the same place on Saturday.

John Sauble, Mrs. Jesse Myers, Mrs. Lizzie W. Zepp and sons, Laverne and Clifton, spent Thursday afternoon with J. Thomas Myers, at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Warner, at Hanover. Mr. Myers who has been ill for some time continues about the same.

We think that property owners in Taneytown should be required to make a greater effort to clean the sidewalks at such times like last Sunday morning, if only to the extent of making a pathway three feet wide. Waiting until the snow ceases falling, is extremely undesirable.

The near blizzard, last Saturday night, and the fall of snow and hail mixed, was the worst experience of the winter, but it fortunately did very little damage in this section. The lights were off and on, several times Saturday night, and the roads were in extremely bad condition for travel, on Sunday.

Reindollar Bros. & Co., have added to their hatchery plant, this week, an additional 12,000-egg Buckeye incubator, giving the plant a capacity of 33,000 eggs, making it one of the largest hatcheries in the state. The growth of their business demanded the additional machine, and all are expected to be run to capacity before long.

The state road plan of shoving the snow off the streets to the sides, is all right for opening the street to traffic, but all wrong for parking vehicles along the sidewalks. Most of our business men appear to prefer the old way; but we expect the wishes of the town do not cut much figure, as the state has the same control of Baltimore and Emmitsburg streets, as it has of the road in the open country.

The Washington's birthday dinner, supper and fair, for the benefit of the Fire Company, was a gratifying success. The Company extends its thanks to the many contributors, as well as to the large number of very efficient helpers. Cash donations amounted to $131.25, chickens 118, cakes 72, and a lot of candy, fruit, etc. The total receipts amounted to $600.50, and expenses $66.75, leaving the fine profit of $533.75.

Accountants Take Notice.

Down in Wilmington, where only a few years ago clerks were using scratch pads to figure up back pay, a new mathematical and financial puzzle is causing several parties to lose some sleep. It seems that a clerk deposited $50 in the bank. When he had drawn out in various sums he found he still had a dollar on deposit. He's still trying to solve it. He claims the bank owes him a "buck."

Withdrawal	Balance
$20.00	$30.00
15.00	15.00
9.00	6.00
6.00	.00
Totals $50.00	$51.00

Can You Punctuate?

Try your hand at punctuating this; perhaps it won't sound so crazy: A funny little man told this to me I fell in a snow drift in June said he I went to a ball game out in the sea I saw a jelly-fish float up in a tree I found some gum in a cup of tea I stirred my milk with a big brass key I opened my door on bended knee I beg your pardon for this said he But 'tis true when told as it ought to be 'Tis a puzzle in punctuation you see. —Selected.

Tobacco Tags.

There are lots of people who have had the experience of hopefully stooping down to pick up a dime, only to find it to be a tin tobacco tag. Some do seem to have the luck of finding real money along their path in life—just picking it up—but the tobacco tag victims are the most numerous, and help to swell the great army of those of unrealized hopes.

No one need to expect to go along picking up dimes lost by somebody else, but just the same we have a feeling of resentment when we pick up the tags, because, in appearance they pretend to be something, at a distance, that they are not. And so, we find persons and things to be of this very same character—brilliant, shapely make-believes, lying in wait to deceive somebody.

No one would be deceived by a red tag, nor by a crooked tin one; nor would they be deceived by a "red" person or by a crooked deal. It is only when the deception is practiced in imitation of something genuine that we have our efforts for nothing. No known "beat" ever gets credit on a purchase, and no openly marked fraud ever takes us in unawares. After we pick up the dime appearing tag, we are wise to its fraudulent, but our effort has been spent. We also know the dishonest customer—after we have picked him up. As a matter of fact, the tag is the most honest of the two, because its pretensions are not for the purpose of deception, but serve a more or less useful—or useless—purpose, innocently.

In reality, the law of "false pretenses" should be greatly enlarged as it refers to humanity. As many actual business transactions are today, honest tradesmen and professional men are to a large extent the legitimate prey of crooks and beats of all sorts, who make no efforts toward payment of their obligations, many of which they never had any intention of paying. By comparison with them, the lowly tobacco tag is a shining example of virtue.

It is the opinion of the Dearborn Independent that the real wet majority in the state of New York is not in excess of 165,000. Not much of a majority in a state of such tremendous population. The probability is that if the foreign born vote were eliminated, New York would vote dry by several hundred thousand.

When Writing a Letter—

If you are a lady, and you are addressing a stranger for a reply, always state whether you are a "Mrs." or a "Miss."

Always take the time to write out the name of the state, in full, on the envelope, especially if it be to some small postoffice.

If you order something by mail, describe exactly what you want. Never write for something "like I had the last time" without giving other information.

Important letters should be read over, carefully, before mailing; and if there are any points not made perfectly clear, add foot notes.

Most people think they write plainly, but most people do not do it. Always write name and address very plainly—some other words may be guessed, but hardly these.

If you desire information of some sort, not in the line of the business of the person addressed, do not fail to enclose a stamp for reply.

If you write many letters, use printed stationery, by all means. The Record's $1.00 offer is an excellent bargain.

When you write a letter, write—don't scribble.

Light eating and deep breathing lead to quick and clear thinking.

If close hobbing continues in favor, we predict that the men will go back to whiskers and challenge the women to follow them.
