COUNTY AMBULANCE REGULATIONS

Now in Charge of the Westminster Fire Department.

The following regulations regarding the use of the County Ambulance have been issued by the Ambulance Committee, composed of Mayor Geo. E. Matthews, of Westminster, and Frank T. Shaeffer and Harry D. Fow-ble officers of the Westminster Fire Department.

1. Roads. The ambulance is to be driven only on improved or State roads, unless the by or public or pri-vate road leading to the point of destination is dry and in a safe condition for its operation.

In event its operation over a by, In event its operation over a by, public or private road is deemed unsafe by the driver, the patient must be transferred to the nearest point on an improved or State road that can be safely reached by the ambulance.

2. Answering Calls. The ambulance shall not be used in responding to calls unless directed by a member of this committee, or on an emergen-of this committee, or on an emergency call by a physician, and all persons assigned to drive or operate the ambulance by the Westminster Fire Engine and Hose Co., No. 1 of Westminster, shall strictly obey this rule. In the event of a call coming in for the ambulance from any person other that a physician, this fact shall be immediately reported by the person receiving it, to a member of the committee, and his direction in reference thereto obeyed.

3. Speed. The ambulance shall no time be operated at a rate of speed in excess of that allowed by the Laws of the State of Maryland, or which under all circumstances of the case is deemed reasonably safe provided however, that the driver operating the ambulance carrying a patient to a hospital shall at no time drive faster than directed by the physician in charge.

4. Manner of Use. The physician 4. Manner of Use. The physician in charge of a patient, and the driver of the ambulance, are directed to use all precautions for the protection and preservation of the ambulance and its equipment when in use.

5. Charge for use. No charge for the ambulance shall be made to any resident of Carroll County, but contributions will be accepted for its maintenance from those who have enjoyed the advantages of its use. Non-residents of Carroll County will be charged at the rate of forty cents a mile, for the total mileage it is run in response to a call. All contributions made, and all bills for its use, are to be made or paid to the Treasurer of the Westminster Fire Engine and Hose Company No. 1, of Westminster.

6. Emergency. In case of an emergency, not provided for by these rules and regulations, the member of the committee to whom the call is re-ferred shall immediately consult the other members of the committee as to the action to be taken; and in event no other members of the com-mittee are available he shall act in such manner as in his judgment may be right and proper under the particular circumstances of the case.

The above rules are to be and remain in force until altered, changed or modified by this committee, which right of amendment, at any and all times, is by it reserved.

Fire at Geo. R. Sauble's.

A slight fire occurred at the Geo. R. Sauble farm, at the northern limits of Taneytown, on Wednesday evening about 6:30 o'clock, that partially destroyed the long frame combination building along the Harney road between the dwelling and barn. The prompt arrival of the Fire Company, and the fact that the property within easy reach of the water supply presented a loss the size of which can not be positively estimated.

The fire started on the outside cf the building near a gasoline filling pump, but just how it came about, is in doubt. The metal roof seems to have kept the blaze in check, and the firemen had a stream of water on it in a few minutes preventing its spread. The loss is not likely over $200., covered by insurance in the Taneytown Mutual Co.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Pic-nic.

The first annual pic-nic of Jr. O. U. A. M. Council, No. 99, Taneytown, will be held at the Fair Ground Saturday afternoon and night, Aug. 18. There will be music by band and drum corps, baseball game at 2:30; and in the evening flying by airplane and fancy stunts. Festival, dancing and cake-walk at night.

Another sign of mechanical progress is that pedestrians have to mended oftener than automobiles.

After a brief illness Mrs. Sallie Lehman Sentman, widow of Rev. Solomon Sentman, passed peacefully away at her home, at Gap, Lancaster Pa., Wednesday, Aug. 8th., aged 103 years, 6 months, and 20 days, her death being on the same date as that of her only son who passed away 28

Notwithstanding her advanced age she retained her mental faculties prac tically to the end, and keeping in touch with the descendants of her early friends she maintained a happy contact with the present. She had a bright and active mind and took a keen interest in both National and religious affairs, having seen many changes during her long life.

Until recently she made frequent visits to Taneytown where her husband was pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in 1857. After moving to Gap, about 35 years ago, being desirious of having a Church home she connected with the Presbyterian Church, since which time she has taken an active interest in the affairs both of her native and adopted denominational affi-

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD

A Busy Session of Important Items of Routine Business.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was called to order at 10:15 A. M., in the office of the Board on Wednesday, Aug. 1. The minutes of the previous meet-

The Board considered a reduction in the allowance for insurance and finally determined that the only item that could be reduced was the collision in-surance on automobiles. This was ordered to be discontinued.

The Superintendent reported the change in the contract for the transportation of children at Manchester from the Maryland Coach Company to Francis L. Hunter at a considerable reduction in expense. The completion of contracts for the transportation of children from Ridgeville and Pleasant View to Mt. Airy and Taylorsville to Winfield, and the completion of the contract with Harvey Lockard for transporting the children from Spring Mills and Friendship to Westminster, and also the final arrangements made at Mechanicsvice with respect to transportation Mahlon's and the converting of the house lately secured as a manual training shop.

The Superintendent made a report for the fiscal year for 1927-1928, closing July 31, 1928. The Board approved the report and authorized the securing of the auditing firm of Stegman House & Company to audit the accounts. In view of the small enrollment and poor attendance at the Union Street High School, the Board authorized the reduction of this school from a four year to a two year high school beginning with the year 1928-29.

Delegations from the following communities, Spring Mills, Salem, Houcksville, Walnut Grove, Piney Creek, and Baust, appeared to protest against the closing of their schools and the transportation of children to larger centers. The Board gave each delegation a hearing and afterwards considered the whole matter again and decided to stand by its original arrangements. Therefore, the schools above mentioned will remain closed and the children transported as formerly announced. In the Kansas City Paper Speaks.

Much was said about the time of the recent national conventions at Kansas City and Houston of the great the State several years ago.
The complete list of appointments those cities. Political observers not prejudiced in favor of the wet cause, and whose experience with conventions of political parties extends back over a score of years, will corcoborate the following editorial from the Kansas City Star:

"It is said there was a good deal of drinking among the delegates to the Kansas City convention. Very likely this is true, although there must be considerable guesswork about the reports. The drinking was all done in private rooms under cover. No one person could have extensive personal knowledge of the facts. They were not apparent on the streets. drunken man was seen it was certain-

All the important barrooms were provided with extra equipment, and the drinkers were lined up five deep whenever the convention was not in session.

Yes, there probably was drinking at the recent Republican convention; about 10 percent, say, of what there used to be in the "good old days" of the saloon."

An Attempted Suicide.

Wilbur L. Sullivan son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sullivan, of Frizellburg, attempted suicide at his home Tuesday afternoon. He is a painter by trade and is said to have lost a lot of money at gambling, and told his mother he was going to put an end to himself, and tried to make his threat good by securing his father's revolver and shooting himself in the breast while his mother ran screaming for his father.

He was rushed to the Maryland General Hospital in the county amoulance, where it was found that the bullet had entered the left breast just above the heart and lodged in the muscles of the back.

INTOXICATED DRIVERS A ROAD MENACE

Large Number of Arrests in Frederick County Last Week.

What would happen with intoxicants more plentiful and easier to get, was shown by the report of auto law violations in Frederick county, last week. In fourteen cases, six were for driving while intoxicated, a percentage that is decidedly alarming. The Frederick News reports the cases, as follows; Frederick county contributed its quota toward the total of fines imposed for infractions of the state's motor vehicle laws during the week ending August 1. Fines imposed in this county totaled $442; fines for all the counties totaled $3,944.

The greater portion of the Frederick county fines is credited to Frederick city. Frederick's total for the week was $312. Buckeystown was second with $105. Brunswick came third with $20 and Ridgeville fourth with $2. George Wagerman, Emmitsburg, was committed to jail for six months for operating a machine while under the influence of liquor.

The following had their operator's licenses revoked: Alfred Murray, Sykesville, failure to stop after an accident; Dorsey Sier, Mt. Airy, for a similar offense; George Wagerman, operating while intoxicated; Wilbur E. Young, this city, exceeding 60 miles as hour. The following had their chauffeur's licenses revoked: Clyde Smith and Harry Staub, this city; both for operating while intoxi-

Local persons refused licenses are: James Wilmer Compher, Burkitts-ville; Frank McClain, Ijamsville; Earl Edward Michael, Brunswick.

The list of local fines follows: Brunswick: Earl E. Mitchell, operating without a license and with the markers of another car, $10 for each offense. Buckeystown: Clyde A. Smith, operating while intoxicated, $100; reckless driving, $5.00. Ridge-ville: Leslie Ziler, exceeding 25 miles Frederick: Fred V. Bailey, operating while intoxicated, $100; no registration in possession, $1. George C. Bell, no license in possession, $1 Frank McClair, operating without license, $10. Dorsey Sier, failure to stop after collision, $75. Harry Staub, operating while intoxicated and reckless driving, $100 for the former and $25 for the latter offense.

Milk Storage Tanks.

Well constructed concrete insulated storage tanks are saving dairymen thousands of dollars, annually, by providing a suitable place to hold milk and cream awaiting shipment. Without proper cooling and storage facilities milk soon sours. It comes from cow at the high temperature of 98°. This is ideal for bacterial growth which it stimulates even more rapidly than corn pushes along on hot muggy days and nights. On the other hand temperatures of 50 degrees retards corn growth and likewise checks the bacteria. The milk as it comes from the cow has from 500 to 10,000 bacteria per c. c. Thus the seed is there bound to make trouble unless it is checked at once.

This is accomplished by running the milk over a tubular cooler and reducing the temperature from 98 to 52-60 (within 2° of water tempera-To hold the milk at this temperature and even lower it cheaply and efficiently is the problem solved by the concrete insulated storage tank. This concrete tank will hold water over night at its original temperature. Numerous checks have shown results from no loss to only 2° rise in temperature. Dairymen with spring or well water at temperatures of 50 to 55 degrees have found that they do not need to use ice. who do use ice or artificial refrigeration have made a saving of 50 to 70% by building a concrete insulated tank. To insure your milk and cream against souring ..

1—Cool at once over tubular cooler. 2—Hold near 50° in concrete insulated storage tank.

Several have already been built in Carroll County and many under construction at the present time. This week Guy Cookson, of Uniontown, and Tobias Yingling, of Pleasant Valley, are building tanks, according to reports from County Agent's office today. C. E. Wise, of Cement Association, has been in the county this week advising farmers regarding the economical use of concrete on the farm.

FARM FIRE LOSSES

Three Times Greater Than Protected City and Town Losses.

Engineers of the Department of Agriculture have published a statement showing that the annual increase in loss of farm property, due to fires, is three times as great proportionately as that from city fires, and that the farm fire loss is approximately $150,000,000 annually.

This deplorable wastage is even greater than the figures show for the reason that food supplies are destroyed, farm families are rendered homeless, gainful productive operations on the farm are interrupted, and even suspended, and potential manufactur-ed products are lost. This waste is essentially needless and could be prevented to a very large extent by carefulness and the adoption of equipment and methods which have proved effective in preventing fires. The Department of Agriculture is making a special study of the causes of farm fires with a view of developing methods for their control and pre-

In the approximate order of their national importance, and without regard to geographic division of the country, the principal causes of farm fires are (1) lightning, (2) defective chimneys and heating apparatus, (3) careless use of matches and smoking, (4) combustible roofs, (5) spontan-eous ignition, (6) careless use and eous ignition, (6) careless use and storage of gasoline and kerosene, and (7) faulty wiring and improper use of electrical appliances.

"The annual farm property loss from lightning may be estimated at 120 0000 and priming. The annual farm property are the control of the cont $20,000,000 as a minimum. The annual number of people on the farm killed by lightning is between 400 and 500, and the number of such persons injured from this cause is more than twice the number of deaths. Available statistics indicate that lightning rods, both good and defective, as hitherto found on farm buildings, have reduced lightning losses by about 85 hitherto found on farm buildings, have reduced lightning losses by about 85 percent of the loss incurred from lilghtning on corresponding exposures of unrodded buildings, and that properly installed and well maintained rods have shown an efficiency in the prevention of lightning damage of well-nigh 100 percent.

well-nigh 100 percent.
"A substantial metal roof with all parts thereof in good electric contact can, accoring to available evidence, be utilized as a part of the lightning protection system for a building and thus in part be made to serve a dou-ble purpose. The cost of grounding the roof and making other necessary electrical connections is relatively small.' Chimneys should always be built from the ground up and should not be used to support any part of the house. They should be substantially constructed, with walls at least eight inches thick. Defective chimneys should be rebuilt and faulty heating apparatus should be repaired. Stoves should rest only on substantial fire-resistant bases and should be kept at safe distances from wooden floors, walls, and wookwork. When stovepipes are passed through wall; or ceilings, a ventilating thimble of ample size should be used. and flues should be cleaned frequently, and ashes should be kept in metal cans, never in wooden boxes, barrels, or on combustible floors."

Road Information Corrected.

A personal drive over the Taney-town-Keymar road, last Sunday, developed the fact that the section between the Pipe Creek bridge, at Bruceville, was not "impassable," as stated in The Record last week, but had a coating of crushed stone preparatory to resurfacing the road.

How it is now, we do not know. The road from Taneytown to the bridge has been scarified and leveled, and is good for 20 miles an hour auto travel, but will evidently get bad again this winter if no more work is done on it. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the resurfacing of this road may be done this year.

Politics in the Border States.

If the opposition to Governor Smith in the South is worrying his leaders, they have greater reason to be disturbed by the political outlook in the so-called Border States. Kentucky, which is regarded as one of the "key" States in the coming campaign, is a case in point. It is one of the old Bryan strongholds, despite its slender majority for McKinley in 1896, and it gave Coolidge a 25,000 majority in 1924. Louisville, its largest city, and important northern and eastern counties are predominantly Republican, but this advantage is complicated by the fact that some of them are also wet. This may be offset in part by the strong dry sentimenet among the rural voters in the Blue Grass section and in the Burley and dark-tobacco

The same situation exists in the other Border States. While nominally Democratic, their reputation for uncertainty is well established. Hard-ing carried Tennessee, Missouri and Oklahoma in 1920. Coolidge had a big majority in Missouri in 1924. In view of their well-known dislike for Tammany and all its ways and works, political forecasters give Hoover more than an even break in Kentucky Tennessee and Oklahoma and at least an even break in Missouri. The political battles in these States during the coming months will be about the most intense in their history.-Phila.

One of our lady subscribers, in renewing her subscription recently said; "Reading is education to me, and I would not like to do without The Record"; and she said it in a way that carried the exact meaning of her words. She perhaps receives but few papers in her home, but makes good use and a careful reading and study of those she receives; and, this is the very best sort of an education.

While we do not like to hear it this may be absolutely true, in some readers and its community. cases, as there is such a condition as "too much of a good thing," when the demonstrating its excellence in ways good thing is neglected-left go to waste, by being too plentiful and perhaps merely glanced over.

Reading for "education" means careful, studious reading, even of articles in which we feel that we have no personal interest; for real education stands for widening one's interest and general knowledge. Just being well posted along a few lines, means an education so limited as to be of little use outside of these lines. The more we know about many things the better we are able to meet new situations as they come along.

We believe that this lady means that reading The Record was an education to her. It should be, to everybody, if the paper is read for that purpose. If only the "locals," and "items" from correspondents are read, and perhaps some of the first-page news articles, we get news, and passing information, and of course along with them a certain amount of education; but, it is the more general reading that educates us most, when we study what we read.

If You Have Been Skeptical of Five-cent Cigars

To the gentlemen of the smoke jury—to you men who have reached the decision that you just can't get a good smoke for five cents—we want to offer some new evidence. All we ask you to do is to try one more five-cent brand: Havana Ribbon. You're going to be surprised! At last, for the small sum of five cents you can get a cigar made entirely of ripe, long-filler tobacco. Never heard of such a thing? Maybe not. But it's joy'us reality now. Not a strand of bitter, raspy under-ripe nor a trace of insipid over-ripe tobacco usually found in low-priced cigars. Nor any short, loose ends to crumble in your mouth. No, sir, Havana Ribbon has the fragrance, mellow-mildness, rich flavor of fine tobacco at its best. Because every leaf is fully RIPE. Risk one nickel, men-at any nearby cigar counter. A Sensible Vacation. There is a great difference between eisure and idleness.

We are now in the midst of the vacation period when millions of our we are beginning to confound new nomination has thrown a scare into people who ordinarily are very industrious and busy are giving themselves

It is just as thrifty to spend a reasonable amount of time in recreation as it is to work hard during the rest of the year. Days or weeks given over to recreation when we are in good health may save us the loss of a far greater amount of time in the future. It is not an unwise plan to utilize time in conserving one's health and energies and preventing the inroads of disease.

Nevertheless, it is to be borne in mind that one of the worst forms of thriftlessness is to be idle. If it were possible to secure data on the subject it probably would be found that there is no form of waste which runs into higher figures and creates more havoc in the world than waste of time.

An important educational and social welfare organization has undertaken a survey of how people spend their idle time. The object is to make recommendations which, it is hoped, will lead to the advantageous employment of leisure hours. It was through the rightful employment of spare time that Lincoln acquired an education, and men like Carnegie, Hill and Edison worked themselves up from positions of minor importance. Lindbergh, too, has shown the value of thrift of time for it has been his custom to spend his spare hours in study and research instead of wasting them in the pursuit of idle pleasures as so often is the case with young men of his years. Thomas Jefferson made it a rule always to keep a good book within reach and whenever he had even a few moments of spare time he utilized them in helpful reading.

There is good thrift in diversion from work at times; but sheer idleness is entirely inexcusable.-S. W. Straus, Am. Society Thrift.

Stonewall Jackson as Sized Up by Pickett

General Pickett, whose Civil war letters have recently been published. once expressed himself to his wife on the character of Stonewall Jackson. His comment is particularly interesting because of Allen Tate's biography of Jackson:

"Lawton, who is one of his generals, says Old Jack holds himself as the god of war, giving short, sharp commands, distinctly, rapidly, decisively, without consultation or explanation Being himself absolutely fearless, and having unusual mental and moral, as well as physical courage, he goes ahead on his own hook, asking no advice and resenting interference. He places no value on human life, caring for nothing as much as fighting, unless it be praying. Illness, wounds and all disabilities he defines as in efficiency, and indications of a lack of patriotism. Suffering from insomnia he often uses his men as a sedative. and when he can't sleep calls them up marches them out a few miles, then marches them back. He never praises his men for gallantry, because it is their duty to be gallant and they do not deserve credit for doing their duty.

"Well, I only pray that God may spare him to us to see us through. If General Lee had the northern resources, he would soon end the war; Old Jack can do it without resources." -From a Minton Batch & Cc. Bulle-

in Republic's History

An interregnum is a break in the continuity of government authority; a period during which the functions of government are suspended or vested in a temporary executive. Such a condition, says the Pathfinder Magazine, has never existed in the American government since Washington assumed the Presidency under the Constitution. In each case when the President has died he has been succeeded immediately by the vice presi-

Some people speak of March 4. 1849, as an interregnum. The Consti tution says that before the President shall assume the duties of office he shall take a prescribed oath. March 4, 1849, was Sunday and Zachary Taylor did not take the oath until March 5. But of course he was President and could have taken the oath any minute during that time.

Likewise the brief period between the death of Harding and the taking of the oath by Coolidge might face tiously be called an interregnum.

Brushing Ship Hulls

An Australian company has introduced in England an ingenious method of cleaning the outside of the hull of a ship. The invention has been in successful operation for a number of years in Australia, and has been tried at Southampton and Plymouth.

The apparatus is mounted upon a suitable frame, which can be suspended from the side of a boat. It consists of a cylindrical brush about 5 or 6 feet in length, held in a framework which also supports an electric motor and a propeller. The purpose of the propeller is to keep the brush pressed carrying the apparatus contains also a four-cylinder motor directly coupled to a dynamo. The current produced serves to raise and lower the carrying frame as well as to drive the propeller and brush.

Aspirations. H ARDLY less eager for Presidential honors than Henry Clay was that other illustrious member of the Whig party, Daniel Webster. Though on two occasions he had to play second fiddle to Clay, it was true with Webster as with the great compromiser from Tennessee, that too many military heroes were the chief stumbling blocks to his Presidential ambitions. Clay was passed over three times by his party for old generals. Webster had to stand aside four times while military men of mediocre political ability became the nominees of his

And the biting irony of it in Web-ster's case was that on two occasions he thrust away from him what would have meant a term in the White House when he refused to accept proffered nominations for the vice presidency.

As the Lincoln-Douglas debates made Lincoln an inevitable Republican candidate in 1860, so Daniel Webster's famous reply to Senator Hayne of South Carolina in 1830 on the subject of nullification marked him at once as a Presidential possibility, with nationwide fame. However, he stepped aside in 1832 for Clay. The latter's defeat whetted Webster's ambitions for 1836, but in that year Gen. William Henry Harrison got the nomination on the strength of his military reputation. Webster was confident of the nomination four years later. "I think I shall be the Whig nominee," he declared. But Thurlow Weed, astute New York political boss, expressed doubt. "It looks to me like Harrison," he said. And Harrison it was. When asked whether he would he a running-mate on the ticket with the general in 1840, Webster proudly declined. Had he been willing to run, he would have been President a month after the inauguration, for "Old Tip" died within that short time after assuming office.

The nearest Webster came to being President that year was in helping Harrison revise his inauguration address, killing off a number of the Roman proconsuls with which the hero of Tippecanoe had filled his speech.

Webster declared he was not a candidate in 1844, but in 1848 he had high hopes of winning the coveted prize. Again he thought he had it within his grasp, but again Thurlow Weed prophesied to him that another old soldier, Gen. Zachary Taylor, would get the nomination.

"Why Taylor is an illiterate frontier colonel who hasn't voted for forty years!" Webster exclaimed in sur-

Once more it was proposed that he accept the vice presidential nomination, and once more Webster declined, his eyes firmly fixed on the higher prize. Again the President died while in office, and Daniel Webster would have been President had he been content to take second place on the ticket.

Four years later Webster still fondly cherished the hope of being the Whig nominee but yet another military man blocked the way. Gen. Winfield Scott was the Whig standard-bearer in 1852, and Webster, whose famous Seventh of March speech, with its compromising attitude on slavery, had alienated large groups of northern supporters, polled only 32 votes out of a total of 293 in the convention.

Clay, when thrust aside for Harrison in 1840, nevertheless supported him in his election canvass. But he balked at supporting Taylor. Webster, who had supported both Harrison and Taylor, finally balked at supporting Scott.

The great New England orator took his final convention defeat with almost funereal solemnity. It may have been his death blow, for he left Washington soon afterward and died a few weeks later on his farm in Massachusetts.

The Whig party was dying, too, and in the next campaign was to appear the new-born Republican party, chal lenging slavery, rising to victory in its second campaign and beginning a long and for the most part successful dual struggle with the Democratic party, which up to that time, had had little really effective opposition for the Presidency.

The Charitable Aunt

Silerius, the Roman, tells in his memoirs of an old aunt who lived at his house for years. She had been an object of charity all her life; she imposed on her parents as a girl, and on a husband when married. For years she was a task to her children, and other relatives. Silerius says he once found his aunt in tears. Being asked what troubled her, she replied that she wanted to do something for the poor; she wanted Silerius to give her a great amount that she might be charitable.-E. W. Howe's Monthly.

"You're the most wonderful girl in the world. You are the object of my dreams, the light of my life, the hope of my hope, my inspiration and my ambition. I would fight dragons, con quer the world for you. I would give my life for you! Will you be mine?" "Do you love me, Tom?"

14.—The "Know-Nothings"

N INETEEN-TWENTY-FOUR was the first Presidential year since 1856 when a religious issue promised to attract great attention in a national campaign. As one looks back to that contest of 74 years ago, it must seem remarkable that the religious issue for the moment almost overshadowed the issue of slavery extension on which opinion by that time had become intensified and had crystallized in the formation of the Republican party.

The religious issue sprang out of the formation of the American party, outgrowth of the Order of United Americans, whose members stood strongly for native Americanism and professed hostility to the Roman Catholic church. The order was oathbound and secret, and its members became popularly known as the Know Nothings because of ignorance of even the existence of such an association professed by all its members.

At the time when it was at the height of its power, Horace Greeley predicted it was destined "to run its career rapidly, and vanish as suddenly as it appeared. It may last through the next Presidential canvass; but hardly longer than that. . . . It would seem as devoid of the elements of persistence as an anticholera or antipotato-rot party would be."

Old Horace was right in his prophecy, but while the American party lasted it wielded considerable influence. It gained increments of strength from the dying Whig party, which was moribund after the election of 1852.

The Whig party was marked for death because it regarded the Compromise of 1850 as definitely settling the slavery question. That position was not satisfactory to a large group of Whigs, Abolitionists and northern Democrats who united in the new Republican party.

The Whigs hoped that the issue of native Americanism would, for the time, swallow up the issue of slavery. but it was a vain hope, for both issues flourished side by side in the canvass

The Know-Nothing party carried forward its principles in a platform that demanded denial of public office to any but native-born Americans; demanded the requirement of an American residence of 21 years before naturalization could be granted; and attacked the Democrats for removing from office members of the American

The new party presented for the Democrats a challenge as definite as that flung into their midst four years ago by the klan, with its somewhat similar tenets of faith. But on the issue of condemning secret orders with religious and political objects, there was no contest in the Democrat national convention of 1856 at Cincinnati such as enlivened the party gathof 1994 at Madison Square Garden. The platform of 1856 came out with a series of unopposed resolutions declaring that since "an adverse political and religious test has been secretly organized by a party claiming to be exclusively American and it is proper that the American Democracy should clearly definite its relations thereto and declare its determined opposition to all secret political societies, by whatever name they may be called, Resolved, that the foundation of the Union of states having been laid in, and its prosperity, expansion and pre-eminent example of free government built upon entire freedom in matters of religious concernment, and no respect of persons in regard to rank, or place, or birth, no party can be justly deemed national, constitutional, or in accordance with American principles which bases its exclusive organization upon religious opinions and accidental birthplace. And hence a political crusade in the Nineteenth century and in the United States of America against Catholics and foreign-born is neither justified by the past history or future prospects of the country, nor in unison with the spirit of toleration and enlightened freedom which peculiarly distinguishes the American system of popular government." This is the plank which Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama sought in vain to have reincluded in the Democratic platform of 1924.

This temporary political flurry threequarters of a century ago over religion and native Americanism was destined to be swallowed up in the great maelstrom of the controversy over slavery and freedom, that already was beginning to present the threat of secession and civil war.

asked the polite guest. "She plays our new radio, but she's busy just now. I'll show you how it works," replied the eager host.

In Sad But Loving Remembrance dear wife and mother, MARY ELLEN ZENT who departed this life Aug. 9th., 1927.

In the early dawn of morning, Just at the break of day, When the Angels voices calleth, Oh, how quickly you went away.

Beneath God's green sod you are lying As sweet as the morning dew. In stillness and silence you are sleeping, Awaiting for us to come to you.

Oh! Mary you have left us forever, It seems it cannot be true. When in silence alone we set thinking And speaking kind words of you.

But love for you our hearts is still beaming While alone in sadness we sit thinking In low sweet words of you we keep speak-And pray each night for you.

Oh Mary, have you gone for ever? And leave our dear sweet children here! To meet our little angels in heaven, That have gone before from here.

Each day they've waited to greet you Till Jesus bid you come And take your place in heaven, With one upon each arm. Oh how sad we are without you,
Without a mother dear.
All our hearts are aching
Without a mother here.

And as we go drifting
Toward our Heaven's there,
Oh how glorious will be the day
When we grasp your hand once more
We will all admit that day
That God doeth all things well,
By Her Beloved

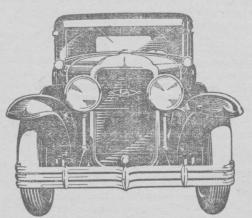

HUSBAND AND CHILDREN. Just one year ago, dear mother, Since you were called away. Today brings back the memory, Of that sad and lonely day.

No more to hear your gentle voice No more to see your smiling face, But you left us to remember None on earth can take "our place. By her daughter, MARIAN.

Has Your Baby a Certificate of Citizenship?

Brand new, young citizeens of Maryland—that is, citizens born in the State—are having a special honor conferred upon them by the State Department of Health. As soon as the facts of the birth are duly recorded in the Bureau of Vital Statisticslarge birthday cake was baked for the Bureau that has charge of the each one by Mrs. Smith's mother. Mr. Smith's cake was Smith's mother. Mr.

tained 42 pink candles. They received as a citizen, is sent to the parents. The certificate shows a great seal of the State and is signed by Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health. It is of a size suitable for framing and takes the place of the smaller certificate used by the Department. In announcing the plans for the distribution of the new certificates, Dr. R. H. Riley said: "We hope that parents will realize that these certificates are much more than finely engraved pieces of paper. As a matter of fact, a certificate of this sort is one of the most important possessions a child can have and it should be cared for accordingly-either framed or filed away with the parents' marriage certificate and other family papers. "Duly signed and sealed, a certificate of this sort is accepted as proof

"You have?" she said, blushing. 'Then I may tell you that your at-

"You don't understand. You must proceed to court," the sheriff went on. "Well, I know it's leap year," she came back, "but I prefer to let you do the courting yourself."

"Mrs. M." he said sternly, "this is no time for fooling. The justice is ty:

"The justice? Well, I suppose I must go; but the thing is all so sudden, and, besides, I'd much prefer to have a priest do it."

As Small Boy Saw It.

It is well to be sure that your child knows wherein he lies, otherwise your punishment or your admonition is likely to go astray. Ellis Parker Butler told a charming story illus-trating this in the Delineator. A child was being asked where a piece of cake had gone. To the amazement of his questioner he replied with a tale about a "nocernoss" that had flown in at the window and eaten the 7-27-4t cake

His father, coming home that night, took matters into his own hands; he lectured the child on the sin of telling stories that were not true, and accompanied this lecture with a dissertation on the habits and limitations of rhinoceroses. The child was then spanked and put to bed.

Presently the father climbed the stairs to see whether his little boy was repentant. "Why were you spanked?" he asked. "'Cauce nocerosses can't fly," came the answer.

When little girls' dresses are not to have matching bloomers, make them two inches longer than you otherwise, and they will look better. Thick lamb chops may be seared on each side and on the edges in the broiling oven or a very hot skillet, and the broiling finished in the oven. They should always be served piping hot, so it is necessary to have all the other dishes of the same meal ready when the chops are done.

A large number of stains can be removed by water without harm to the fabric if handled promptly. Unless the stain is known to be insoluble in water and the fabric water-spots, or runs, it is best to try water first. Test the effect of water on an inconspicu-ous part of the garment.

Put meats that have to be carved on platters large enough to give the one who carves free play. Never place potatoes or other vegetables around a roast if they are likely to be cut by the carver or pushed off the platter. Do You Know "Chiggers?"

The annoying chigger may be combated to some extent by flowers of sulphur dusted on the body and clothing, but there is no entirely satisfactory method of protecting human beings from this pest. Contrary to the general belief, the chigger does not burrow into the skin, but injects poisonous material which causes the itching and discomfort. When visiting places where chiggers are abundant, it is advisable to wear high shoes or leather leggings. Chiggers are pests of poultry as well as of humans, and are especially bothersome on late hatched chicks and turkeys. Flowers of sulphur or a very fine dusting sulphur should be applied to poultry infested with chiggers, and late-hatched chicks should be kept out of high grass and brush where the insects are prevalent .- U. THREE EXPEDITIONS LEAVE FOR AFRICA

Boy Scouts Accompany Camera Safara to Jungles.

New York .- Three expeditions to interior Africa left for Europe recently. Two of them will make camera safaris, the other will collect live and dead specimens of animals. Aboard the Ile de France were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson and the three Boy Scouts selected from thousands who participated in a nationwide elimination contest. They are to make a six weeks' camera safari through the big game country of Africa this summer. The three boys, all Eagle Scouts, are Robert Douglas, Jr. of Greensboro, N. C.; David R. Martin, Jr. of Austin, Minn., and Douglas L. Oliver, of Atlanta, Ga.

After a few days in Paris the Scouts are to sail June 21 from Marseilles for Mombasa, Africa, where they will meet the Johnsons, who are to precede them there to complete plans for the trip. They are scheduled to return to the United States in Septem-

Two expeditions, the "Arctic-equatorial" party of Carveth Wells and that of the Milwaukee Museum of Natural History, headed by Dr. S. A.

Barrett, were aboard the Olympic. Wells, who represents the Chicago Geographic society, is going to the Mountains of the Moon, on the equator near Victoria, Nyanza, central Africa, on a meteorological and geographical exploration trip and to take pictures of the tsetse fly. The area at that base of that snow and glacier capped mountain range, which required the inclusion of Arctic equipment, is infested with tsetse flies, the bite of which causes the dread sleeping sickness. He is to take both motion and still pictures of the flies to aid scientific studies of their habits.

The Milwaukee museum expedition hopes to obtain live and dead specimens of big game animals for the museum. They will operate in the country near the Mountains of the Moon and are to be joined by Mr. Wells when he has achieved the objects of his exploration trip. Wells expects to be in the mountains alone with his native safari for six months.

Eat 75 Square Foot Strawberry Shortcake

Kalama, Wash.—Seventy-five square feet of strawberry shortcake, said to be the world's largest strawberry shortcake, was eaten by more than four hundred fifty citizens of the lower Columbia river district at the banquet here for the quarterly meeting of Lower Columbia Associated Chambers of Commerce.

The shortcake, heaped high with Cloverdale strawberries and covered with twelve gallons of cream, proved a tasty finale to the banquet and more than merited the publicity it has received. The cake was fifteen feet long and five feet wide. It was baked by Otto Engelman, proprietor of a local bakery, and was assembled by Mr. Engelman, Mayor Lyle Ficlin of Kalama and O. H. Springer, Kalama. Gov. Roland Hartley was a speaker at the banquet.

Telephone Service is a Vital Service/

"During the year (1927) 791,000 additional telephones were put in service, making the total number in the United States interconnected in and with the Bell System at the end of the year 18,365,000.

WALTER S. GIFFORD, President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company (Bell System)

• Telephone service has become a vital service to the world of today. Each year sees its hundreds of thousands of new telephones added to those already served by the companies of the Bell System.

Q Last year nearly 800,000 were added, swelling the total for the country to more than 18,000,000—one telephone for every seven of population.

At the end of 1927 the aggregate cost of the plant and equipment devoted to furnishing this necessary service to the people of the United States had reached the impressive total of nearly three and one-half billion of dollars. Thus the furnishing of telephone service has grown to be one of the world's greatest in-

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City which is one of the associate companies of the Bell System serves 194,000 telephones in the State of Maryland. It represents an investment of more than $42,391,000. Each year brings additions of about 8,200 telephones and each year there is added about $3,400,000 in additional plant and equipment.

• Thus the demand for service in our territory continues just as it does throughout the rest of the country. And just as we have met the demand in the past we shall make every effort to continue to meet it in the future and to give the most telephone service and the best at the lowest cost to the public.

Fought Slaveholding

The antislavery agitation commenced in the United States at a very early period of its history. The National Antislavery association was formed in 1833. In 1831 William Lloyd Garrison founded the Liberator, a weekly periodical, which continued its publication until 1866, and which was devoted entirely to the propagation of antislavery sentiment. Associated with Mr. Garrison previous to the Civil war were such men as Wendell Phillips, Charles Sumner, Gerritt Smith, and a woman, Lucretia Mott.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC-Paul Stands for Christian Liberty.

1. The Controversy in the Church at Antioch (vv. 1-5).

This difficulty was a most serious one, for it threatened the disruption of the church into Jewish and Gentile divisions. It was not a question of the admission of the Gentiles into the church. That had been settled some years before when Peter e ceived Cornelius and his household The question now was, on what ground can they be received? Should Gentile converts be required to keep the Mosaic law as a condition of sal vation? This issue was brought on by the coming of certain men from read that on April 26, 1569, one "John Jerusalem, who declared, "Except ye Seconton, poulterer, having four small be circumcised after the manner f Moses, ye cannot be saved (v. 1)." The question was so difficult that Paul and Barnabas were unable to put games, at or upon several Sundays, them to silence. These Jewish legal for his better relief, comfort and susists had the letter of the Scripture on their side. They could point to the command where this was enjoined upor believers (Gen. 17:14). Paul could not point to any Scripture where it and been abrogated. If Paul could plead that Abraham was justified before he was circumcised. his antagonists could answer, "Yes, but after justification the rite was divine ly imposed." The brethren at Antioch decided to refer the matter to the church at Jerusa.em. Accordingly Paul and Barnabas and others were sent as a deputation to Jerusalen II. The Deliberations of the Council

1. Peter's speech (vv. 6-11). He argued that God had borne wit ness to His acceptance of the Gen tiles by giving the Holy Spirit " them as unto the Jews (Acts 10:34 47). Since therefore, God had not put a difference it would be folly for then

2. Paul and Barnabas rehearsed their experience (v. 12).

They told how that God had set His seal of approval on their preaching of salvation by grace through faith apart from works, by the working of signs and wonders through them 3. The argument of James (vv. 14

He took the fact declared by Peter and showed how it harmonized with the prophecy of Amos (Amos 9:11-15) He showed that the reception of the Gentiles was not in conflict but it strict harmony with God's plan A: set forth in James' speech God's plan is as follows:

(1) To take out from among the Gentiles a people for His name (v. 14) This is what is now going on, the preaching of the gospel to the endof the earth, and the calling out of the church.

(2) After the church is completed and removed, the Israelitish nation will be converted and restored to their land and privileges by the Lord Him self at His return (vv. 16, 17).

(3) Following this will be the con version of the world through the agency of converted Israel (v. 17 :1 Rom. 11:15). He showed that there is no conflict when the Scriptures are rightly divided. His judgment was that the Gentiles should not be trou bled with things that are Jewish, bu should be warned to "abstain from pollutions of idols, and from fornica tion, and from things strangled, and from blood." III The Decision (vv. 22-29).

The Jerusalem church came to a unanimous agreement and accepted the resolution offered by James. They not only sent a letter stating the de cision of the conference, but took the wise precaution of sending influentia men along with Paul and Barnabas to bear the same testimony by word of mouth. This letter denied the authority of the Judaizing teachers (v. 24), and declared the method by which this decision had been reached (vv. 25-27). The Holy Spirit was to be given first place, and the Gentile believers were instructed to abstain from meats offered to idols, from blood, and from things strangled. and from fornication.

IV. The Decision Delivered to the Church (vv. 30-35)

The church was called together to hear the report. Its reading brought rejoicing. They were now free to prosecute the great missionary work

Knowing How to Pray

The life of a man upon earth is a warfare; and it is much better, in the midst of enemies and dangers, to be acquainted with one fortress than with many inns. He that knows how to pray may be pressed, but cannot be overwhelmed.-Robert Leighton.

Enemies Hard to Fight

It will require more than a few hours of tasting and prayer to ast out such demons as selfishness, world liness, and unbelief .- T. L. Cuyler

Possible to Control

Coloring of Flowers

It is generally known that the colors of vegetation vary in intensity in direct ratio to the amount of sunlight, combined with coolness of temperature, within certain limits. Examples are the intense redness of apples grown in northern climates, and the deep colors of Alpine vegetation. But the soil and other influences also have an effect upon plant colors.

Experiments have been made within recent years with reference to the question of artificial control of the colors of plants through the introduction of such chemicals into the soil in which they grow. In very small quantities such chemicals are absorbed without apparent injury, but the effect upon the colors is slight. Yellow roses appear to become deeper in color under the influence of aluminum sulphate and potassium sulphate. With the use of these same chemicals the petals of the white carnation showed a tendency to develop red streaks, while when fed with ammonium sulphate, aluminum sulphate, iron citrate and citric acid scarlet carnations tended to form white streaks.

Sunday Games in Times of "Good Queen Bess"

In the Elizabethan age of English history not the mildest of games, entertainments or "shows" could be given on Sunday without a special permit -and from the queen in person. We children, and fallen into decay," was given a permit by good Queen Bess "to have and use some plays and tentation."

The games to be permitted under the direction of this Elizabethan promoter included "the shooting with the standard, the shooting with the broadarrow, the shooting at the Turk, the leaping for men, the wrestling, the throwing of the sledge, and the pitching of the bar."

Queen Bess advised the authorities to attend the games with "four or five good, substantial men" to keep the peace and prevent disorder.

Singing Crickets

One of the most curious things to be seen in Japan, alike in the houses of rich and poor, is a small cage of bamboo fibers in which are housed singing crickets. The male only has the "voice," which can hardly be called a singing voice because the sounds emitted are much more metallic than those which ordinarily proceed from the throat of a bird. The westerner who hears these sounds for the first time starts up under the impression that he is hearing an electric call bell. In order to execute his song, the cricket goes through a very amusing performance. He raises himself on his front feet, grasps with the others a kind of "platform" arranged in the cage for his convenience, expands his wing-shells and rubs them against each other with great rapidity. The rhythm of the movement varies with individuals and this explains how the sound produced offers a certain variety in meter as well as in pitch.

Misunderstood

A foreign looking man, who only spoke a little English and that with the greatest of difficulty, was trying to find suitable apartments.

Eventually he managed to make one landlady understand his peculiar intonations.

"So you want three rooms and a bath, do you?" she repeated, when at last she understood him.

The foreigner blushed. "I need the three rooms, certainly," he replied indignantly. "But a bath, that is not so much of your business, yes?"-London Answers.

What should one really talk about? If you talk about yourself, you're conceited. If you talk about your business, you're a "shop talker." If you talk too much, you're a bore. If you haven't anything to talk about, you're uninteresting. If you talk about your baby or your club affiliations, you're a Babbitt. If you talk about people, you're a knocker. If you talk sweetly about a friend you're a logroller. If you talk about art, you're a highbrow, and if you don't talk at all, you're a high-hat!-New York Graphic.

Mother Knew the Answer

Father entered the house in the evening in silence. He was seen to lay his golf clubs aside, to tread his way wearily about the house, and finally to slouch silently at the dinner table. He said not a word during the meal, nor after, until he was heard to mutter to his wife, "There's no place like home!"

"What's the matter?" asked mother. "something go wrong on the golf course?"

Knights of Malta

There are two Knights of Malta organizations, one Catholic and the other Protestant. The Catholic organization is variously known as Knights of Saint John of Jerusalem, the Hospitalers, Knights of the Hospital, Knights of Rhodes and Knights of Malta. Its origin dates back to the time of the First Crusade. One or more of the hospices were established in the Holy Land by Pope Gregory the Great .-Boston Transcript.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Rev. and Mrs. George A. Brown and son, are visiting in Williamsport.

Betty Ott and Jean Frailey, visited Mrs. C. C. Combs, on Tuesday, in Emmitsburg.

Mrs. Minerva Harman who has been ill for several weeks, remains about the same.

Grayson A. Shank, left on Wednesday morning, for a visit to friends in Southern Maryland.

Miss Elizabeth Marker, of Frizellburg, is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welk. The Lutheran S. S. pic-nic will be held this year at Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge, next Wednesday, Aug. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Koontz and

The continuance of over 90° heat, regardless of frequent showers, has been one of the continuous disagreeable features of this summer. The days since last Friday have been particularly oppressive, almost without

That actual rebuilding is now in progress on the Taneytown-Keysville and Detour roads, and on the Keymar end of the Taneytown-Keymar road, is good news indeed. The Taneytown end of the Keymar road has also been leveled up a bit, too; so, after a long time waiting, this corner of the county is being given proper attention.

Those who spent Sunday with Roy F. Smith and family, were: Mr. and Mrs. Silas Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. David Nusbaum, of Taneytown; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith, and sons, Scott and George, of Keymar; Mr. and Mrs. William Scroder, daughter, Marian, of York; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith and children, Carrie, Scott, Charles, Ruthanna, Ida, Thomas, Betty Jane, of Gettysburg; Harry Smith, of Keys-

Air Mail Rates Reduced.

Many concerns, a recent survey reveals, have taken advantage of the air mail service and the response has been service which cost as much as the telephone increased to the point where a reduction in rates has been

One hundred concerns were included in the survey and the result show-ed that forty one made extensive use of the service, thirty-nine used it to a limited degree and that sixteen used the service "once in a while."

The rate will be five cents for the first ounce and ten cents for each additional ounce under the new ruling and this reduction should mean a decided increase in the volume of business and the frequency with which planes will travel the mail courses. It is a wise step and the Postal Department will find that the air mail service is appreciated when the cost is brought to a low figure. Corporations did not use a mail service which cost as much as the telegraph when teh telephone was not much higher
