

BEDDING LAW AGAIN EXPLAINED.

All Warned to use Caution before Buying Bedding.

"Nothing bought today offers greater opportunity for deception or substitution than articles of bedding," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, said recently in speaking of the operation of the State Bedding Law.

"In connection with the inspections made by the Department under the Bedding Law, our representatives have found all sorts of things masquerading under names to which they were not entitled—a vegetable fibre labeled 'hair'; chopped chicken feathers tagged as 'down'; shoddy, listed as 'all new cotton'; even chunks of dirt swept up into the fillings of more or less expensively covered comforts. "But the most serious menace to health was discovered recently in the operations of a concern which claimed to specialize in the renovating or re-making of bedding for religious institutions. Inspection of the plant showed that the stock from which a large number of mattresses and pillows were to be made, consisted of a number of second hand mattresses, pillows and feather beds, bought from a rag dealer, evidently salvaged from garbage piles or dumps and all of it heavily infested with vermin. Fortunately, for the health and comfort of the prospective purchasers, the discovery was made before any of this material was put on the market.

"Before they buy mattresses, comforts, pillows or other bedding, it would be well for housekeepers or other purchasers to be sure that the goods carry the official stamp bearing the name of the State Department of Health.

"The State Bedding Law requires each mattress, pillow or comfort, made or offered for sale in the State, to have attached to it a tag on which is printed or stamped, a truthful statement of the material used in filling it. The stamp bearing the name of the Maryland State Department of Health shows that the factories in which the articles were made and the materials used, are regularly inspected by the Department."

Boys' Band for Littlestown.

At the enthusiastic meeting which was held in the public school building, for the interest of organizing a boys' band for Littlestown, fifty-two boys signed up, which assures a junior band for this community. Prof. H. C. Stenger, of Hanover, and Mr. Baxter, of the band instrument firm were present and explained the various instruments, and helped the boys make their selection with the approval of their parents. The instruments are expected to arrive within about ten days or a week, when another meeting will be called and instructions under directors of Prof. Stenger, band master, will begin.

John A. Mayers and Stanley B. Stover of the Rotary Club Boys' work committee attended the meeting. A committee is to be appointed representing the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce, Rotary club, school board and town council to act as directors of the band.—Hanover Record.

Hess-Bushy Reunion.

The fifth annual reunion of the Hess-Bushy families will be held in the grove at the Piney Creek Presbyterian Church near Harney, Md., July 31st, 1929. Members of this organization please take notice as there will be no further announcement of this event. Try to have your family 100 percent present. Rev. Earl Rudisill, P. H. D., of York, Pa., will be the speaker of the day. The president of the organization is Mr. George Hess, R. F. D., Taneytown, Md.

Carroll County C. E. Union Wins National Contest.

In an endeavor to stimulate interest and rivalry among the unions of the nation, the International Society of Christian Endeavor, at their headquarters in Boston, on October 1, 1927, inaugurated a publicity contest, to run to May 31, 1929, and the winner to be announced at the International Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, July 3-8. All newspaper publicity or advertisements, pertaining to Christian Endeavor, counted in the contest, and were clipped and pasted in a standard scrap book, recommended by the society, and at the end of the contest were forwarded to Kansas City, and were on display during the convention. On Monday, July 8, the closing day of the convention, the winner was announced, and the silver loving cup, appropriately inscribed, was awarded to the Carroll County Christian Endeavor Union, their total number of column inches amounting to 6,997.

Mr. F. E. Dixon, Executive Secretary of Maryland Christian Endeavor Union, in attendance with the Maryland delegation at the convention, was presented the loving cup in behalf of the Carroll County Union, who in turn presented it to the Carroll County Union at a meeting of the State Convention Committee at the home of the Carroll County Publicity Superintendent on Tuesday night. The Carroll County Union is rejoicing over the success of the contest, and return thanks to the press for their hearty co-operation, which alone made the success of the contest possible.

BASEBALL TROUBLES.

Fairness, and Gentlemanly Conduct
Should Always Prevail.

Amateur baseball has its troubles, if not very serious drawbacks; and yet, how could we get along without it? It is the most popular outdoor sport in the country—nation-wide. It attracts all classes—ladies included—and young and old are plentifully represented with "fans," some of whom would rather see a game than eat. But, between the "fans" and the "umps," and those who are too partisan to be fair; the National sport sometimes reaches war, or threats of war, and generally undesirable conditions, in the smaller towns.

That this is true was shown by lengthy articles on the subject in two of our exchanges last week; the Emmitsburg Chronicle and the Havre de Grace Republican. The Chronicle said:

"At the last game July 6th., neither the ball team's umpire nor the patrons were sufficiently guarded. The organization regrets this incident on the apparent absence of officers on the ground to maintain order and promises the patrons of the ball games here that neither the teams, umpire nor the 'fans' will witness any serious annoyance in the future.

The Emmitsburg Baseball Association was and is here for the healthful recreation and entertainment of the people of Emmitsburg and all visitors. Its object is above a mere mercenary end. The wish of every member of this organization is to have a place and a time where the young and the old may go for an hour or so for such recreation and entertainment as is wholesome and necessary for men, women and children especially children."

President M. J. Thomson, of the Frederick County League, had the following to say:

"With the increased attendance at the games in the Frederick County League so far this season it would be well for the home management to make the necessary arrangements for police protection at all games. Unless we have the proper order in carrying on the contests I am afraid that the league will suffer a set-back, which I am sure you do not want at this time.

I feel sure that with a little co-operation this matter could be nicely arranged and I would suggest that from now on that you have the proper authorities in charge at all home games so that there shall not be interference with the members of the teams and the umpires.

From the two games that I have witnessed this year the wrangling with the umpires was entirely uncalculated for and reminded me of the old days when the center of attraction was the umpire. We are living in a different age and we should all see to it that the games in the league are kept clean and wholesome and that all sorts of unsportsmanlike conduct should be entirely eradicated. In my opinion, the conduct of any sport, good or bad, reflects on the community. It should be our aim to keep the name of the community on the good side of the ledger."

The Havre de Grace Republican said, in part, of a somewhat like case: "The Susquehanna League is faster this summer than ever before and it is nothing short of a crime to destroy the fine quality of baseball and the sportsmanship which has been so apparent, by the selection of an incompetent and inexperienced person to make the decisions. Moreover, it is an injustice to the man to place him in a position for which he cannot qualify. It is unfair to the players, to the fans, and to baseball, our national pastime.

The affair following Saturday's game is so distasteful that we would refrain from making mention of it only for one outstanding observation. The game was one of the finest and most sportsmanlike contests it has been our pleasure to witness for a long time. Both teams were evenly matched and it was a real fight for supremacy. Thrilling fielding and hitting features were in sufficient numbers to furnish baseball gossip for weeks to come.

Yet, the gossip of the week was not about the ball game but rather it had to do with the disgraceful affair that followed. We fully appreciate that it is a serious matter to "rob" a baseball team of victory but we fail to see the glory or satisfaction in a dozen or more men beating up a lone individual. No possible argument can qualify their action."

The only difficulty that Taneytown is likely to experience is from the cry of "loading up" for games—using imported players. The management does not purposely do this, but until our local players make a stronger effort to practice regularly, and be on hand for games, it will mean either no games, or the getting of players from away from home who can, and want to play.

As we understand the Frederick County League's rules, players may be secured from a radius of seven miles of the home club's ground, with out being charged with "loading up," and we suggest that the Taneytown management observe this limit in securing players, when needed.

RITCHIE ONLY GOVERNOR TO FIGHT DRY PLAN.

Opposes Proposition Made by Hoover Law Commission.

The main item of interest at the meeting of 22 Governors being held at New London, Conn., this week, was a letter from George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, in which he suggested to the Governors that the states take a more active part in enforcing prohibition, in connection with the Federal government, which provoked very general interest, with Gov. Ritchie being the only one to attack the Wickersham suggestion, and very generally, prohibition itself. The Baltimore Sun's Washington correspondent, this Friday morning, commenting on matter says in part:

Three Governors—Byrd, Virginia; Gardner, North Carolina and Richards, South Carolina, had presented resolutions indorsing the Wickersham suggestions, the Richards resolution being a whole-hearted indorsement of the prohibition laws.

These were passed on by the executive committee in a report which said they "meet with general approval" and "we have found no opposition to the purpose of either resolution," but at the same time rejected them on the ground that it was not the practice of the conference to consider contentious matters.

Inasmuch as the substance of the report was a denial of the resolution, the wets were satisfied. The dries were pleased because of the sentiments expressed in the refusal.

"The usefulness of the organization depends on complete harmony. We therefore recommend that, without any thought of disparaging the proposed resolutions the conference adhere to its rule against resolutions," the report said.

Governor Ritchie started the ball rolling with his attack on the Wickersham suggestion and, thereafter, was under fire for the rest of the morning session. Not one Governor defended him, although several who are known as wets—Governor Trumbull, Connecticut, for instance, and Governor Roosevelt, New York.

The silence of Governor Roosevelt, whose State has no enforcement law, has been one of the interesting phases of the conference. Like Achilles, he has stayed in his tent and said nothing, although a phrase he uttered on the opening day, that he favored Federal action for enforcement where the States failed to act, might be interpreted as placing him among the dries, it has been suggested.

Fierce attacks on the Ritchie wet doctrine and strong praise of prohibition, and even of President Hoover, came from Southern Governors.

The Menu at Fort Eustis.

Fort Eustis, Virginia, July 16, 1929 "Send up 800 pounds of roast beef and have it here for dinner and don't forget the 15 bushels of tomatoes" as an order to your butcher or vegetable man for one meal, would cause him no end of excitement. The 1900 candidates at the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Fort Eustis, Va., eat that much meat at one sitting and the young men after several hours spent in the field, have a healthy appetite for good old roast beef.

Captain Arnold J. Funk of the 34th Infantry, mess officer for the CMTC has made a hit with the candidates in his choice of menus for the ten days that the young men have been in camp. There must be wholesome food and it must be cooked properly, for the health of every man in camp is watched closely.

The candidates start their day work with 400 quarts of blackberries, many dozen eggs, some 250 gallons of milk and plenty coffee and other things that go with a good breakfast.

When a chicken dinner is in order which happens frequently the young troopers eat about 1400 pounds of the birds along with 500 pounds of cabbage, 15 hampers of string beans and 100 gallons of ice cream. 150 watermelons seems to do trick when served and gives every candidate as much as he desires. 350 pies are enjoyed by the candidates at one meal. Pies and ice cream are made on the post.

A typical Sunday menu is: Breakfast, stewed prunes, bananas, assorted cereals, link sausage, fried hominy, toast, syrup, coffee, fresh milk and ice water. Dinner: Chicken noodle soup, croquettes, chicken fricassee, candied sweet potatoes, cold slaw, celery, asparagus, ice cream, cookies, bread, butter, syrup and ice tea. Supper: Chilled salmon, sliced American cheese, potato salad, sweet relish, sliced watermelon, hard cake rolls, jam, butter, crackers, ice water and ice cocoa.

Uniform Rank K. of P. Picnic.

The next big event to be held near Taneytown, is the Uniform Rank K. of P. Picnic, on July 24 and 25. The attractions on Wednesday afternoon are horse-racing, band music by the Taneytown I. O. O. F. Band and a horseshoe tournament. Wednesday night there will be band music, dancing and fireworks. On Thursday night there will be orchestra music, fire, works and dancing. At all times there will be clean concessions operated by members of Co. No. 16 U. R. K. P. including hoopla, bingo, fish pond, blanket stand, cane stand, ball throwing at balloons, and others. Everyone is invited to attend, plenty of free parking space.

FOUR BARNES BURNED

All Struck by Lightning on Last Sunday Afternoon.

Four barns, three of them in Frederick county, were struck by lightning and destroyed, during a heavy rain-storm Sunday afternoon, all of them burning at about the same hour, the total loss exceeding $12,000.

One of these was the barn on the farm of Roger F. Hamilton, near McKaig. The family was in the nearby farm house but it was impossible to save anything, this year's crop being destroyed, as well as farm machinery and a quantity of hay.

The barn of Harry Staley, Walkersville, was totally destroyed, with contents, large hay crop and nearly all of his farm machinery. Nine head of cattle were saved by Joshua Staley and two neighbors. A large silo was partially burned, and collapsed. A number of smaller buildings were saved.

A barn on the R. J. Walden place at Middleburg was completely destroyed with its contents of hay and straw. Thirteen valuable horses were saved. An adjoining large barn was saved by the efforts of the Union Bridge and Taneytown Fire Companies.

A small barn owned by Harry F. Flohr, near Thurmont, was struck by lightning, but the Thurmont Fire Company was able to prevent its complete destruction.

Pasture Improvement.

That Carroll County pastures can be improved by proper fertilization was the verdict of the farmers and fertilizer manufacturers who attended a field meeting on the farm of John D. Roop, Meadow Branch, last week.

The latter part of March, Mr. Harry Rinehart, who operates the farm, started a pasture improvement demonstration to find out the fertilizer treatments that would give the most profitable returns. He marked out four tenth acre plots in the middle of an old pasture that had been in sod for over fifteen years. Three of these plots he limed with a top dressing of one ton of ground limestone.

The unlimed plot he top dressed on April 2nd, with an 0-10-0 analysis to find out what response the pasture would give to superphosphate or acid phosphate alone. On the three other limed plots he used the same amounts of an 0-10-0, an 0-10-10, and 5-10-10 analysis. In this way he planned to follow the reaction to lime, potash and nitrogen when added to the phosphate treatment.

One end of these plots was fenced to prevent his cows from grazing so as to observe the growth. In the opinion of the men who attended this field meeting the 0-10-10 plot or lime, phosphate and potash had made double the growth of the plot without the potash. The difference was largely in the greater growth of white 'dutch' clover. It was very interesting to note how the cows had reached through the fence to get the clover on this treatment.

The complete fertilizer plot had made the greatest total growth. The nitrogen had apparently greatly stimulated the Kentucky Blue Grass. These observations were confirmed by County Agent L. C. Burns and former County Agent, E. K. Walrath who have taken actual growth measurements during the season. Mr. Burns states that allowing a cow one hundred pounds of green feed a day the lime and phosphate treatment gave, up to that time, a weeks more grazing than the unfertilized pasture. The addition of 200 pounds of muriate of potash in the 0-10-10 treatment doubled the cow capacity of this pasture. The complete fertilizer or 5-10-10 treatment again doubled the number of grazing days.

Mr. Walrath had as his guest Mr. R. A. Payne, pasture expert for the N. V. Potash Export Company of Amsterdam Holland. Mr. Payne said that the pasture he had seen in this county were the right type of pasture sods to respond to fertilizer treatments. Blue grass and white dutch clover in his opinion were the pasture plants that form the basis in this county for profitable pasture improvement. Whether or not a farmer could afford to fertilize his pasture, depended on his need for pasture. For general pasture Mr. Payne recommended a liberal use of lime phosphate and potash, such as a half ton of 0-10-10 mixture every four years and then according to the further need for pasture the use of soluble nitrogen in the very early spring. He recommended that a farmer fertilize a quarter of his pasture acreage every year and several farmers present plan to follow this method of applying mineral treatment this fall.

This pasture improvement work is being sponsored in this State and other dairy states by the National Fertilizer Association in co-operation with the Extension Service and Agricultural Departments.

Boy Dies from Lockjaw.

Francis S. Groff, aged 9 years, of Westminster, died at Hanover Hospital, on Monday, from lockjaw caused by a blank cartridge shot from a .22 calibre revolver, according to report. The wound was inflicted in July 3 the revolver having been secured with the intention of using it to celebrate the Fourth.

It is said that the parents of the boy had refused him permission to buy the weapon, but it was secured without their knowledge. They were both away from home at work when the accident occurred.

FARM LEADERS ADVISE PRECAUTIONS

President Hoover Says Farm Relief is not a Case of Magic.

The following article was sent to all Editors of the Maryland Press, this week, from the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, that explains itself. Mainly it seems to advise caution on the part of farmers in signing marketing contracts until the Federal Board has had an opportunity to become properly organized, and has laid down definite rules concerning marketing, and how to secure money for financing the marketing of farm products.

"A very important meeting was held in Baltimore, July 15th., of the Board of Directors of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, the Executive Committee of the Maryland State Grange and the Executive officials of the University of Maryland for the purpose of discussing the problems facing Maryland Agriculture as a result of the passage of the new Farm Marketing Act, sometimes called the 'Farm Relief Bill.'

Forty-five men and women were present representing these organizations. The Board of Directors of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation consisted of representatives from the various County Farm Bureaus, and we also had representatives present from the Maryland State Dairymen's Association, the Maryland Crop Improvement Association and the Agricultural Corporation of Maryland. Such a body represented the organized agriculture of the state of Maryland.

After due deliberation and an analysis of the Bill, of what could and could not be done, it was the sense of the meeting that the following resolution be passed:

"Resolved, That this meeting of the Board of Directors of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, the Executive Committee of the Maryland State Grange and representatives of the University of Maryland, in joint session this 15th. day of July, 1929, do authorize the chairman to appoint a committee of five or more persons to consider the problems of co-operative marketing in this state, especially grain marketing as it is affected by the provisions of the Federal Farm Marketing Act, and to further report from time to time upon specific commodity organization proposals coming up for consideration in order that these commodities may be marketed more efficiently.

"Be it further Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the farmers of this state should proceed with caution in the signing of marketing contracts or in the forming of co-operative associations, until the Federal Farm Board has had an opportunity to become properly organized and functioning, and has laid down its definite rules and regulations by which co-operative associations may secure money for the financing of facilities for the handling and marketing of their products."

This resolution was adopted unanimously. At the meeting, Dr. R. A. Pearson, President of the University of Maryland, Dr. T. B. Symons, Director of the Extension Service, Dr. Bomberger, Co-operative Marketing Expert of the University of Maryland, I. W. Heaps, Secretary-Treasurer and Manager of the Maryland State Dairymen's Association and others voice sentiments, that were later found to have been similarly made by President Hoover, in his address to the Federal Farm Board at its initial meeting in the cabinet room in the White House at Washington. President Hoover said:

"I know there is not a thinking farmer who does not realize that all this cannot be accomplished by a magic wand or an overnight action. Real institutions are not built that way. If we are to succeed it will be by strengthening the foundations and the initiative which we already have in farm organizations and building steadily upon them with the constant thought that we are building not for the present only, but for next year and the next decade."

The representatives at the meeting decided to do something more than just pass a resolution. They realized that a real problem and also a real opportunity existed in Maryland Agriculture and with that in mind, the Chairman appointed as per authority granted in the resolution, the following committee to work on the problem confronting us:

A. G. Ensor, James W. Davis, H. B. Bomberger, I. W. Heaps, M. Frank Holter, E. Thomas Massey, Josiah W. Jones, W. Irving Walker, Carroll Lowe, M. M. Stewart was appointed Secretary of the Committee and T. B. Symons, Chairman.

I trust you will take this opportunity to pass this information on to your readers, and give them the attitude of the leaders of the organized farm groups in the state of Maryland."

THE HORSESHOE PITCHERS

Now Warming Up all Over Carroll County.

Carroll County is going into the horse-shoe pitching contest to win, if hard work and practice will do it. Several fields will be electrically lighted for night practice. Just how many towns will be contesting centres is not as yet definitely known, but Westminster, New Windsor, Union Bridge, Taneytown and Keymar are assured, with the likelihood of Manchester, Hampstead, Sykesville and Mt. Airy entering the tournament.

Several advance tournaments will be held, aside from group practice. One on July 24 at Taneytown at the annual picnic of the Uniformed Rank K. of P., and another during the Carroll County Fair, also at Taneytown.

Chairmen of Carroll County district committees are: LeRoy J. Lantz, Union Bridge; Harry Fowler, New Windsor; Earl R. Bowers, Taneytown and C. S. Bollinger, Keymar. These chairmen, all of whom are well-known horseshoe pitchers themselves, will instruct others, it is said, and generally aid all individual players in furthering their ambitions in the realm of horse-shoe tossing.

There will be four general divisions: Baltimore City, the Eastern Shore, the Western Shore, and Southern Maryland. And while many are practicing, but very few as yet officially sent in their names. Each entrant must fill out his entry blank and send it to the Playground Athletic League, Baltimore, or to either of the Sun papers in Baltimore.

An item of first importance is that of securing the official pitching rules, as much of the practice already held may have been worthless, because of not being according to the rules.

Among the rules, are, that the court shall consist of two pitchers' boxes with a stake in the centre of each and shall cover a level area all over, of 10x50 ft. The pitching distance between the stakes shall be 40 ft., and shall be north-south pitching.

The pitcher's box shall be 6-ft. square with stake in exact centre. The box shall be filled to a depth of 6 inches with potter's clay, or substitute of like nature, kept in a moist, putty like condition. The rules in full may be seen at The Record office.

Frederick County expects to beat Carroll, and enter near 500 men in the tournament. The county is certainly alive to the contest, and almost every town and village is hearing the clink of the practice shoes. The leading towns interested are Frederick, Emmitsburg, Walkersville, Brunswick, Woodsboro, Middletown, Rocky Ridge, Lewistown.

"Inside" Information for Women.

Cottage cheese for sandwiches may be moistened with a little cream, with salad dressing, or with tomato catsup.

Leaflet 39, "Eggs at any meal," is a free publication issued this spring by the United States Department of Agriculture, containing many good recipes and suggestions about egg cookery.

One way to keep cool in the summer is to do as much of the necessary cooking as possible very early in the day. Have many cold dishes—salad, cold meats and jellied dishes, cooling beverages such as fruit drinks and iced tea, and when you can, eat on a porch or in the garden.

Fresh tomatoes can be filled with almost any left-over meat or vegetable for a stuffed tomato salad. A filling made of chopped meat, such as chicken, veal, or tongue, cooked peas, chopped pickle or cucumber, and salad dressing, is very good. After the tomatoes have been peeled and scooped out they should be seasoned inside with salt, turned upside down to drain, and placed in the icebox until time to fill and serve them.

Two Important Views.

Two of the most important points of view in any country, are those held by the employer and those held by the employee. And, in so far as their financial bearing is concerned, are more often antagonistic than otherwise, the usual cause for this being lack of understanding of the points of difference between the two.

It is a common mistake, we believe, to assume that the employer wants more than his share of the net product of the efforts of the two. We need only to look about us to see how few employers—business men, we say—are making money; and even by looking as closely as we may, we are apt to reach wrong conclusions, and overestimate the firm's profits. We simply "think" a lot of situations that do not exist.

The greatest difference in the points of view between the employer and employed rests on the fact that the former carries almost the entire load of responsibility in a business. He has his cash tied up in a way not easily disposed of profitably. He must "keep on" whether he wants to or not, while the employee has the option to "quit" at any time and try his luck elsewhere.

The employee has his work cut out for him, and often his time and pay goes regularly on, whether the business of the employer is profitable or not. He is not greatly concerned by competition—sometimes very unfair—nor "overhead expenses" nor by the need of salesmanship, which means getting business.

Taking the two classes as a whole, and the variety of business enterprises in the country as a whole, the fluctuation of market values, the growth of taxes, losses by fire and the depreciation of plants and equipment, the comparatively free and foot-loose employee has greatly the best of the situation.

Every good business man knows the advantage of well-paid help. He knows that it means the best help obtainable, and the kind that will stay and be dependable—especially if the work to be done requires intelligence and skill. He knows the value of the real friendship of his workers; of their co-operation; of their loyalty towards the firm; and, knowing all of these things it is foolish for any one to think that he would not pay for such service all he can possibly afford.

The Gambling Spirit.

The sharp competition between business concerns, and often the competitive efforts of organizations not in the "business" class often leads to very questionable methods, both as to ethical status and their relation to law violation. The law, very naturally, often acts as a stop to individual unscrupulousness, and it is the "getting around" of the law in such cases that we refer to.

For instance, the lottery, or "chance" form of gambling, appeals to the spirit of a lot of people. It is the getting of "something for nothing" idea—betting on chance. But, the Postal Laws call all such schemes "Lotteries," and no mention of them can be made in newspapers, nor can "lottery" matter be carried in the mails.

Then, most of the states have anti-gambling laws—all more or less violated—barring slot machines, wheels of fortune, and a lot of table games and prize schemes. The very fact that chance schemes are "against the law," makes them popular, for the gambling—take a chance—spirit is pretty strong in perhaps the majority of people.

This means trying to "get around the law," and some of the advertisements in newspapers, are very close to, if not over, the lines. So far as The Record is concerned, it does not want this sort of business, and when reasonably assured that advertising, on even job printing, is contrary to law, we refuse it.

In order to be on the safe side, we do not publish the result of drawings, where there is the slightest sign of a paid for ticket, or chance; nor do we publish lists of prize-winners, except such as result from public competition, at Fairs, and the like; or the results of skill in physical or mental contests.

Should Aviation be Wholly under Government Control.

For numerous reasons; mainly perhaps because of the great number of deaths it is causing, it seems not a too radical proposition that aviation should be restricted entirely to government use and operation. Certainly, rapid travel is sufficiently at the call of the general public, without flying machines, and especially so until the machines are perfected to a greater degree of safety than now.

Such a proposition which has not yet been agitated as a governmental prerogative—would of course be opposed by many as an interference with "personal liberty" as well as with private interests, but at this stage of aviation it seems a wise thought that the people need to be protected against themselves, which is the underlying benefit of most laws. Hundreds of the best men of the world have lost their lives in both amateur and professional flights, some for business ventures, some for so-called pleasure, and some from the mere spirit of daring that carries with it notoriety. True, there are some who are for perhaps laudable purposes trying to perfect flying machines that will conquer the air; but it would seem that even this should be in the hands of the government, for the improvement of the mail service, or for the use of the War Department.

Any governmental interference with indiscriminate flying would of course be best carried out by international agreement, and such a conclusion may be a long way off, because as yet the spirit of dare-devilism is yet very much in the competitive stage between nations, and perhaps the time may never come when it will otherwise be viewed.

But, this does not touch the right of the thing, for governments go wrong as well as individuals, and are as unwilling to take sane advice as are boys. Death from natural causes has been greatly aided in the past quarter of a century, and it might seem to those who think that nature is too slow in increasing the death rate, that the automobiles should have this field alone for a good many years to come, without the aid of aircraft.

Woman Gets "Defend" taken out of Loyalty Oath.

Miss Dorothy Detzer, executive secretary of the "Women's International League for Peace and Freedom" (whatever that may mean) on applying for a passport to attend the "International Congress of the Women's League" to be held in Prague, Austria, in August, refused to take the regulation oath of loyalty to the U. S., on the ground that it contained the pledge to "defend" the Constitution "against all enemies, foreign and domestic" and that the obligation is taken "freely and without mental reservation, or purpose of evasion."

We are not authority on fine distinctions concerning such matters, but we feel that Miss Detzer's ethics are rather finical and hardly of much importance, either in her profession, or as a copy for a new form of loyalty obligation for women.

However, the U. S. officials were very polite and condescending to the lady applicant, and sent her on her way, perhaps rejoicing and victorious on the following revised form, which seems to us to represent distinctions without much difference.

"I do solemnly affirm that I will support the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same, and that I take this obligation freely without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion. So help me, God."

Getting rid of the word "defend" seems to have been the whole contention, and as this means only one less woman fighter for this country we can perhaps stand it.

A Gesture.

On the same day that heads of the automobile industry were before the Senate Finance Committee to testify to their need of tariff protection, a statement was issued from the Automotive Division, Department of Commerce, that nine out of every ten motor cars in the world are American made. The manufacturers agreed that they could get along with a ten percent. ad valorem duty—provided countervailing duties were retained. This, however, was suggested merely as an experiment.

There is probably no other thing that the American people as a whole care so little about as reduction of the tariff on motor vehicles. They know it will not lower the price of automobiles a penny and that there is not the slightest danger of imports of foreign-made cars, except a few in the luxury class. Europe has not yet learned the lesson of mass production. In the circumstances, there is justifiable curiosity as to what the controversy is about. And there seems to be an explanation of it.

Manufacturers and farmers are in disagreement as to who is getting the better of tariff revision, with the public—and apparently the President—inclined to believe that the farmer is being presented the hot end of the poker. And as the answer to the question must be found by calculation of percentages, the manufacturers score a point when a high duty, which is entirely unnecessary to protect an industry, is cut. It brings down the percentage of duties on manufactures as a whole, and helps make a defense against criticism that rates are extortionate.—Baltimore Sun.

Canadian Drys.

Dispatches from Ottawa reporting that the Canadian Government may radically restrict the issuance of liquor clearances to the United States suggest that the numerous protests from Canadian citizens themselves against the present policy are beginning to have effect. Although the Dominion now permits the sale of intoxicating liquor, a large proportion of its people are Drys. In addition there is a considerable body of public opinion which believes that as a matter of principle the Dominion Government should not authorize its citizens, in effect, to break the laws of a friendly neighboring nation.

It is within the power of the Canadian Cabinet to refuse all liquor clearances to this country. It is, of course, entirely a matter of discretion. Such an act would be welcomed by our Government. It would be powerful and timely assistance in dealing with the rum-running situation along the northern border, with which our enforcement officials have shown their utter inability to cope. That so many of our Canadian cousins evidently feel the moral obligation resting upon their Government is gratifying.—Phila. Ledger.

Sidewalks a Necessity.

Human life is cheap. Every Monday morning the papers resemble the casualty sheet of a battle. The automobile accidents fill most of the back page. Many of the mishaps are avoidable.

With the rapidly increasing number of automobiles, sidewalks have become an absolute necessity. Apparently, the taxpayers value the trifling cost of footways above the lives of the members of their families or of themselves. A few hundred dollars more per mile of roadway would give pedestrians a dirt path on which to walk. Certainly the added safety to the lives and limbs of our citizens would be worth the slight additional expense.

Mr. Taxpayer, your wife, your child or your parent may be the next one to pay the penalty of your false economy in failing to provide safe places to walk.—Towson Union.

First Excursion Train

On July 5, 1841, when a "Puffing Billy," hauling two dozen open railway "carriages"—they were called "tubs" at that time—steamed out of the station at Leicester, England, bound for Loughborough, 11 miles away, it marked an occasion memorable in railway annals, for it was the first excursion train ever run.

The train carried 570 passengers to a temperance meeting, and the organizer of the excursion was Thomas Cook, then a young printer of Market Harborough. Later to become famous as the promoter of Cook's tours.—Detroit News.

On Friendly Terms

He had never been outside England, and neither had she, but both were recounting their experiences abroad.

"And Asia! Ah! Wonderful Asia! Never shall I forget Turkey, India, Japan—all of them. And most of all China, the celestial kingdom! How I loved it!"

She held her ground. "And the pagodas—did you see them?"

"Did I see them?" She powdered her nose. "My dear, I had dinner with them."—London Tit-Bits.

Reward

When Admiral Huxley spoke his place at the luncheon of the Women's Republican club, he opened up with this story:

"In a western town, a man rushed into the sheriff's office and demanded a warrant for the arrest of a murderer."

"Whom did he kill?" demanded the sheriff.

"A public speaker!"

"What you want," replied the sheriff, "is not a warrant for anybody's arrest but an order on the county clerk."—Los Angeles Times.

5c SETTLES A BIG SMOKE QUESTION

Can There Really Be a Good Cigar for Five Cents?

Some say it never was, can nor will be done. But this ad says it is being done—that there's a really fine 5c cigar to be had: Bayuk's Havana Ribbon. And it's been on the market thirty years. A cigar must be good to make such a record.

And Bayuk's Havana Ribbon is better today than ever before. Immense production is doing it. Millions made; tobacco bought in such huge quantities, we are able to use long-filler, ripe tobacco from heart to wrapper. And still keep the price at 5c! Imagine! No bitter under-ripe nor flat-tasting over-ripe leaves. No loose bits to come out in your mouth. But all fine, full-flavored, age-mellowed tobacco, making a delightfully cool, mild, fragrant smoke. If you've one nickel in your pocket, man, put it to work and let Bayuk's Havana Ribbon settle the five-cent cigar question completely. Also Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

POLICE HELPED AS DRUG CHEATS DEATH

Holdup Suspect, Wounded in Fight, Dies Twice.

Detroit, Mich.—John Jones, a negro, twenty-two years old, suspected of being a holdup man, was shot as he dived out of an alley in a running battle with the police, and died twice.

He was removed to the receiving hospital, where he died before the police could question him and secure information regarding holdups which they were sure he could furnish.

Death had cheated the law, for dead men tell no tales.

Science then stepped in and cheated death. Dr. Courtney Fremont, a member of the hospital staff, injected a charge of adrenalin into the heart muscle of the man who had been dead about half an hour and he came back to life. He lived for five hours, giving the police ample time in which to question him and secure such information as he was willing to give. He then died again.

Victory of Science.

The shooting and double death of Jones took place several weeks ago, but passed practically unnoticed as a news item. As a shooting and single death it was just one more item in the grist of crime news that passes daily out of the police department. The scientific angle, however, became a matter of medical record and as such it has survived as another almost unnoticed victory of science.

Bringing persons back from the grave to live again is no longer a novelty. It has been done scores of times. When the miracle was first performed it received little publicity. It seemed as if there must be some fake about it and, of course, newspapers could not be victimized by fakers, so the stories were published with numerous qualifications hedged about all statements. Now that it has become well established as a bona fide miracle of science it does not possess quite the novelty it did at first, and even spectacular events such as the Detroit incident pass almost unnoticed.

Baby Brought to Life.

The first case on record in which a baby born dead was brought back to life occurred in a Brooklyn hospital. Mrs. Bertha Isaacson gave birth to twins, a boy and a girl, at the Boro Park Maternity hospital. The boy, weighing three pounds, was born dead. The girl weighed two and a half pounds. Dr. Philip Mininberg administered adrenalin to the boy by hypodermic injection. It stimulated the infant's heart to action and life returned.

Both infants were fed with a medicine dropper and were raised in an incubator until they had attained sufficient growth. The boy who was brought back to life is still alive, but his sister died before reaching her fourth birthday. They were born on Lincoln's birthday, 1923. Since then the miracle has been repeated scores of times in Brooklyn as well as elsewhere throughout the country.

In Philadelphia a few years ago a man of forty who had suffered from tuberculosis half his life died. Twelve doctors gathered around his bed and for an hour applied every known test for a sign of life, without finding any. At the end of two hours rigor mortis had set in. A small amount of adrenalin was then injected into the heart.

At the end of two minutes the skin assumed a pink tinge which gradually changed to a flesh color. Ten minutes later the man was breathing faintly. His eyelids fluttered and he sighed as though awakening from sleep.

"How do you feel?" the man was asked.

"All right," he answered in a tired but very ordinary tone.

"Did you have any dreams?"

"No. I slept." His tired eyes closed.

"No unusual sensation?"

"No."

Shortly afterward he returned to an unending dreamless sleep.

Cauliflower, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cauliflower; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Manningham, of Baltimore; Rev. and Mrs. Fullman and family, and Mrs. Agnes Cauliflower, of Hope, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Morgan, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. Roy Six, of Keyville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cauliflower and family, of Bruceville; Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Smith, of Middleburg. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Six, consisting of ice cream and cake, and all the good things that go with them. Mr. Six and family were entertained by their company, with fireworks, which was enjoyed by all. Some of the Keymar folks enjoyed the fireworks. They were beautiful.

Mr. Robert Bell and family, New Midway, were recent visitors at the home of the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Bell, near this place.

Annie E. Hawk was a caller at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. I. Hummer, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Scott Koons visited at the home of the latter's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weer, last Sunday at Sykesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clabaugh and family, of Good Intent, spent last Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Bell.

Mrs. Annie Sharetts, attended the funeral of Mr. Jacob Sharetts, Wednesday, at Gettysburg.

David Leakins spent Wednesday in Littlestown.

NORTH EAST CARROLL.

On Sunday, at St. David's: Sunday School in the morning, at 8:45; Services at 10:00, by Rev. A. M. Hollinger; Christian Endeavor in the evening, at 7:00.

St. David's Sunday School will hold their outing on Saturday afternoon, July 20, in the grove adjoining the church.

A number of colored persons conducted religious services at Runk's Chapel, on Sunday. The services were largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowman spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Leese.

Miss Mary Fuhrman has returned to her home at Black Rock, after spending two weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Fuhrman.

Many of the farmers have finished threshing their wheat. The yield averages about 25 bushels per acre.

Good Short Ones.

"Just think, while I was out with some of the fellows the other night, a burglar broke into our house."

"Did he get anything?"

"I'll say he did—my wife thought it was me coming home."

The old negro attended a service in the Episcopal Church for the first time in his life. Someone asked him afterwards how he enjoyed the services.

"Not much, sholy not much," he declared, shaking his head. "Dat ain't no church for me. No, suh! Dey wastes too much time readin' de minutes ob de previous meetin'."

"And if I take the job I'm to get a raise in salary every year?"

"Yes, provided, of course, that your work is satisfactory."

"Ah! I thought there was a catch somewhere."

"Half the City Council are Crooks", was the glaring headlines.

A retraction in full was demanded of the editor, under penalty of arrest. Next afternoon the headline read: "Half the City Council Aren't Crooks."

The Goods.

You've got to have the goods, my boy, If you would finish strong; A bluff may work a little while, But not for very long.

A line of talk all by itself Will seldom see you through; You've got to have the goods, my boy, And nothing else will do.

The fight is pretty stiff, my boy; I'd call it rather tough, And all along the route are wrecks Of those who have tried to bluff.

They couldn't back their lines of talk; To meet the final test, You've got to have the goods, my boy, And that's no idle jest.

2 Years in Death Cell

Used to Educate Self

Columbus, Ohio.—The other day Sabo observed the second anniversary of his incarceration in "Death row."

His attorneys have tried in vain to save him. When Sabo was "dressed in" two years ago he could neither read nor speak English. Now he speaks fluently.

His tutors were companions in "Death row"—13 of them—who have paid society's capital penalty. Sabo can read well, too, and he spends most of his time poring through the Bible and other religious books.

Term of Uncertain Origin

Authorities have never definitely traced the origin of the term "grass widow." It is to be found in many languages. Some believe that it is a corrupted form of "grace-widow"—that is, "widow by the grace of circumstances." There are no facts to substantiate this belief, however. According to Doctor Brewer, the modern use of the term seems to have originated among Anglo-Indians about the middle of the Nineteenth century from the practice of European husbands sending wives to the hills during the hot season in India. In this section the grass is plentiful.

A Little Surprise Party.

(For the Record).

There was a little surprise party given in honor of George Valentine, on Monday evening, who celebrated his eleventh birthday by playing various games with the following friends:

Ethel Leatherman, Thelma Cluts, Shirley Marshall, Hazel Mort, Blanche Waybright, Elizabeth Cluts, Jean Witherow, Anna May Wilson, Catherine Waybright, Dolores Frock, Margaret Witherow, Ray Kiser, John Witherow, Fred Waybright, LeRoy Aulhouse, Lary Witherow, Lloyd Kiser and George Marshall.

Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Waybright, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cluts, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ridinger, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Frock, Mrs. Martin Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Valentine and family. George received many presents.

Keep the Belt Fit.

A belt is the vital link in many farm operations and deserves good care. Belts can be cleaned with warm water and castile or white toilet soap but should not become wet, as this makes them stretch and slip and may cause laps to separate. Among the best belt dressings are mixtures of cod and neat's-foot oils with tallow and wool grease free from mineral acids. Sticky materials such as rosin, pitch, asphalt, and tar should not be used to make a belt hold, as they glaze the surface and "cake" on the belt and pulleys. Prompt repairs are cheaper and safer in the end. A weakened fastener may break but part way and badly rip the belt. Gluing or cementing laps is preferable to other means of fastening, as holes for laces or other fasteners weaken the leather. A leather belt of first quality, adapted to the work, properly installed, and kept in good condition, will last from 10 to 25 years, or even longer.—U. S. Dept. Agriculture.

MARRIED

BREAM—MUSSER.

Mr. Huber Day Bream, of Gardener, Pa., and Miss Anna M. Musser, of Mr. Holly Springs, Pa., were united in holy wedlock at the U. B. Parsonage, Manchester, by Rev. Paul E. Rhinehart on July 15th. The couple was accompanied by the bride's sister.

DIED.

Obituaries, poetry and resolutions, charged for at the rate of five cents per line. The regular death notices published free.

MR. MILTON L. FAIR.

Mr. Milton Luther Fair died at his home in Lake City, Iowa, on June 19, aged 75 years, 11 months, 12 days. He was the oldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fair, of Taneytown. He lived on the home farm, near Taneytown, until the late eighties when he removed to Lake City and engaged in the carpenter trade.

In 1890 he was married to Miss Olive J. McCreary, and the following year was spent in Colorado and Nebraska after which they visited the Fair home in Maryland, then returned to Lake City and made their permanent home there, except for three years while engaged in fruit growing at Neosho, Mo.

He had been in poor health much of the time for the past fifteen years, having undergone several hospital operations, but he kept at work at his trade until several years ago. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and was a faithful attendant as long as health permitted.

He is survived by his wife, and one son, Walter; also by three brothers, William G., near Taneytown; Venalida K., of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Theodore C., of Carlisle, Pa.

MR. BENJAMIN J. HYSER.

Mr. Benjamin J. Hyser died at his home on George St., Taneytown, on Wednesday afternoon, aged 74 years, 6 months, 14 days. He was a retired farmer, having been a resident of Taneytown only a few years.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hyser, and was twice married, first to Miss Elizabeth Harner, from which union one daughter, Mrs. Elmer Rinaman, of Littlestown, survives.

He was next married to Miss Anna Barnhart, of Baltimore, who survives him with the following children: Miss Lina Hyser, Philadelphia; Ervin Hyser, Hanover; Edward Hyser, York; Mrs. Charles Kemper, Taneytown; Steiner Engelbrecht, Taneytown; Mrs. Frank Valentine, Hanover; and Mrs. John Harner, Two Taverns. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Harvey Sterner, Gettysburg.

Funeral services will be held this Saturday morning, meeting at the house at 10:00 o'clock, and with regular services in the U. B. Church, after which interment will be made in the Lutheran cemetery. Rev. Geo. A. Brown will officiate.

In Sad But Loving Remembrance of our Dear Father,

B. F. BOWERS, who departed this life 1 year ago, July 17.

One year has passed since that sad day; That our dear father was called away. He was always loving, patient and kind; What a beautiful memory he left behind.

The blow was hard, the shock severe, To part with one we loved so dear, Today recalls sad memories Of loved one gone to rest, one to whom And those who think of him today, Are those who loved him best.

Father's voice will no more cheer us, On the sad rough road of life; But the good advice he gave us Will prepare us for the strife.

Once our home was bright and happy; Oh, how sad and dreary today? For both of our dear and loving parents, Have forever passed away.

Cit Gas Service for Taneytown and Vicinity.

It sounds like a dream—but in many parts of the country it's already a reality. Right here in the territory adjoining Taneytown, and extending some thirty miles beyond the city gas mains, the farmers, suburbanites and those who live in the small towns have exactly the same cooking convenience as big-city dwellers. No longer is it necessary to do without gas for cooking. You don't have to "wait for the Gas Mains."

The gas is available any time you are ready to use it.

Strangely enough, it is not some sort of an inferior substitute for city gas—it IS gas, and a far better grade of gas than the average city gas. As a matter of fact, this gas contains more heat units than city gas, and is much cleaner. You can put a glass dish, empty, over one of the lighted gas burners and leave it there for six months without the slightest trace of soot appearing on its under surface.

The gas is an unusually pure product of the Oklahoma oil and gas fields. It is natural gas compressed to liquefaction and shipped in special railroad tank cars. Each farm or suburban home has a "reservoir" holding about three months' supply of gas, which is piped directly to the cook stove, water heater, etc. As the "reservoir" is kept filled by a service truck which calls every month, the housewife has the same continuous, everlasting supply of gas that the city wife has. To all intents and purposes, she has her own individual, exhaustless gas well in her back yard.

All she ever thinks about the gas service is to turn on the gas at the burner, light a match, and go ahead with her cooking. She's never bothered with meter readers, because the service man who keeps her supply of gas a couple of months ahead of her requirements never has to enter the house. He brings his service truck to the house, determines how much has been used, replenishes the supply and goes on to the next customer. Usually the housewife doesn't even see him come or go. It is never necessary for the housewife to notify anyone of her need for gas, as the supply is maintained constantly well ahead of her demands. She never has to manipulate any equipment to turn on and off the burners of her gas range. Bills are rendered monthly, after the gas has been used, exactly the same as is done by the city gas company, the telephone company, the electric company or any other public utility.

The company supplying the gas has an investment of many thousands of dollars in land, buildings, trucks and equipment for the distribution of Philgas in the territory around Taneytown alone.

The service is backed by Philfuels Company, a subsidiary of Phillips Petroleum Company, a $150,000,000 corporation that is the largest producer of natural gasoline in the world. It owns more than a million acres of oil leases, 2,122 tank cars, 49 refineries, 2,824 producing oil wells.

Newly developed marketing methods make it possible to obtain this service on the same basis that nearly everything is bought now—a day—$5.00 down and a few dollars a month added to the gas bill.

This country and suburban gas service is a great boon to the real estate man selling suburban properties "just beyond the gas mains." He can promise his purchasers gas—"Right Now"—He doesn't have to say—"We'll have gas here in a year or so."

Simple Questions That Often Prove Pitfalls

Why is winter colder than summer? How deep does a scuttled ship sink, and why does air in a closed room get bad?

A recent examination of presumably well-informed people revealed that many a man of more than average education can be caught in pitfalls of ignorance.

Most people were caught over the first question. More than four-fifths said that winter is colder than summer because the sun is then farther away. This, of course, is wrong, the sun being nearer in winter. The real reason lies in the earth's changing slant, which brings the sun directly overhead in summer and lower in the sky in winter.

Surprisingly common, too, was the idea that sunken ships do not go to the bottom, but float at some midway level. Heavy objects sink because they are denser than water. A ship sinks to the bottom because water's density remains virtually unchanged despite the enormous pressures encountered at great depths.

Air in a closed room gets bad because of the gradual exhaustion of the oxygen contained in the air, and not, as many people suppose, because of carbon dioxide gas exhaled by its occupants.

Idea, Foundation of Law, Traced to Democritus

In 1720 Francis Hutcheson, in his "Inquiry into the Original of our Ideas of Beauty and Virtue," wrote: "That action is best which procures the greatest happiness for the greatest numbers; and that worst, which, in like manner, occasions misery." This is the earliest known use of the phrase "the greatest happiness of the greatest numbers." It was used by Cesare Beccaria in his "Treatise on Crimes and Punishments," first published in 1764. Later Jeremy Bentham, the English political philosopher, wrote: "Priestly was the first (unless it was Beccaria) who taught my lips to pronounce this sacred truth—that the greatest happiness of the greatest number is the foundation of morals and legislation." The general idea conveyed by the phrase, however, is found in the writings of some of the ancients, notably Democritus.—Pathfinder Magazine.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC.

Topic for July 21st.—Every Day Citizenship.

Rom. 13:3, 7-10; Ps. 15:1-5.

Written by John S. Hollenbach, S. T. D., Social Service Supt.

In time of war it is usually easy to secure loyalty to country and to have expressions of patriotism from the people.

But we need every day citizenship for times of peace. It is regarded as a noble thing to make the supreme sacrifice for one's country. But it is just as noble and needful to live for her as to die for her.

One of the duties we owe the state is to pay our taxes whereby the mechanism of government is run, and whereby we are given certain public benefits and privileges which would be impossible without an organized society.

The right of voting is a civic privilege and a patriotic duty. We have no business to neglect it or to use it wrongly. We need to do it intelligently and for the common weal.

EXECUTORS' SALE

Valuable Farm

By virtue of the power contained in the last will and testament of Edwin H. Sharetts, deceased, and by virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Carroll County, the undersigned executors of the said Edwin H. Sharetts, deceased, will offer at public sale on the farm, on TUESDAY AUGUST 13, 1929, at 2:00 P. M., all that valuable farm, consisting of 160 ACRES & 44 SQ. PER. OF LAND more or less, situated near Bruceville, and on the main road leading from Taneytown to Keymar, now tenanted by Newton J. Hahn.

The farm is improved with a good DWELLING HOUSE, barn, wagon shed, hog pen, poultry house, and other outbuildings. It is well watered, with a good supply of excellent water at both house and barn. It has about 15 acres of good standing timber, a tract of permanent pasture with running water, and the rest of the farm is in a high state of cultivation.

On account of the character of the farm, and its location on this main highway, only a little more than a mile from Keymar, this is a very valuable farm, and a most attractive place to live.

Possession can be given immediately upon settlement, subject to the tenancy of the present occupant until April 1, 1930.

TERMS OF SALE.—One-third of the purchase money to be paid to the executors on the day of sale or on the ratification thereof by the said Court, and the residue in two equal payments, the one payable in six months and the other in twelve months from the day of sale; the credit payments to be secured by the bonds or single bills of the purchaser or purchasers, with sufficient security, bearing interest from the day of sale, or all cash at the option of the purchaser or purchasers.

WILLIAM E. RITTER, UPTON F. MEHRING, Executors.

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

FROM CITY TO FARM

DURING the past decade over one and one-half million persons moved from the farms to the cities. The reasons for this movement were various; but chiefly it was due to high taxes, operating expenses and difficulty in making a profit, and in some cases the impossibility of meeting expenses. Only a small minority were attracted to the cities by the "white lights" and the opportunities offered for social life. This movement to the cities by so large a number of persons left many vacant farms in almost every state; but the farms abandoned were mostly small in size and located in obscure places.

During this same period, however, there had been a movement in the opposite direction—from city back to the farm. Numerically this movement was not so large as that which moved from the farms to the cities, but it did represent a certain type of thoughtful persons who, profiting by their experience, sought again the advantages of rural life.

The farm population division of the United States Department of Agriculture recently made a survey of this latter movement and discovered that out of ten thousand families, representing nearly thirty-five thousand persons who moved back to the farm about one-sixth were impelled to do so because of the high cost of city life. Another sixth testified that city work was too exacting and unsteady that it could not be depended upon; and another large number, about one-fifth, became weary of the monotony of city life. The remainder of the ten thousand families were agreed in their frank declaration that the city was no suitable place in which to bring up children.

According to the last United States census the wealth of every farmer was placed at $1,970, and of every non-farmer at $3,175. The difference between these two amounts would not argue in favor of city over rural life. The movement from farm to city had been actuated by the desire to better family conditions. The experiences of city life did not meet these expectations and the result in many cases was disillusionment.

Perhaps the smaller groups now returning to the farms from the cities are choosing in favor of a condition of life which guarantees the highest possible privileges.

Large Body of Water

Under French Capital

If you put a fish into the little pond on the butte of Montmartre, in the northeast corner of the city of Paris, he could from there make an underground sight-seeing tour several miles long, which would include a visit to the foundations of the opera, the bourse and the Folies-Bergere. Hordes of other fish would flick past him, but they would not see him because they are blind.

Under a large part of the first arrondissement lies a subterranean lake, called La Grange-Bateliere, which is fed by this underground stream. Next to the old building of the Bank of France is a two and a half-acre plot, underneath the surface of which strata of earth, sand and limestone stretch down until, at a depth of 40 feet, they meet the waters of this lake. The lake itself is about 40 feet deep and rests on a huge shell of solid rock. It is in this rock that the gigantic vaults of the Bank of France have been carved. The vaults form a square hall, 20 feet from floor to ceiling, its sides longer than a football field. The walls are of concrete and sand and are themselves 20 feet thick.—World's Work.

Here Are Reasons Why Secrets Are Divulged

Keeping secrets is not natural and not a friendly thing to do, Edgar Guest, poet philosopher, declares in an article in the American Magazine. "We have been told something in strict confidence," he continues, "We have information in our possession which others would enjoy. It may be good news or bad news, but, good or bad, it would greatly interest certain people we know and love. And this faithful old friend of ours would enjoy knowing what we know. So we tell it to him, just to make him happy. Then he has something in his possession—given to him in the strictest confidence—and the difficulty is that he likes to share with others what he knows. He ought to keep it to himself, as he promised to do. We should have kept it locked without our breasts, as we promised to do. The trouble is that it burns and throbs and pounds away at us until we do share it.

"I am quite sure that the only really good things in the world are those which you can share."

Nicest Auto Ride

Dessa had the toothache. She had been troubled in the same way only a few times before in her thirteen years. This time she came home from school crying and her mother promptly took her to see the dentist. He said the tooth had been neglected too long and must come out, advising that she take gas. Telling Dessa to "be a fine brave girl," mother stepped out into the waiting room, while the dentist and anesthetic went into action. In what seemed but a few seconds, the door opened and the dentist announced smilingly "All over." Dessa sat up, blinking, as mother took her hand and asked, "Did it hurt much, honey?" "Well," said Dessa, "It kept right on aching until the epidemic took effect, and then I had the nicest automobile ride."

Only Soft-Shell Turtle

The leather-backed turtle's home is in Tanganyika, Africa. So far as is known these are the only land turtles in existence whose shells are not hard. In appearance they resemble giant bedbugs, with a covering of an extremely tough, leathery substance. It belongs to the same genus as the giant tortoises from the Galapagos and the Seychelles. The soft-shelled tortoise lives in the desert regions of East Africa and the flexible nature of the shell permits it to live in crevices of the rocks in the Kopjes. The Smithsonian-Chrysler expedition brought home many of this type and specimens have been widely distributed to various zoological gardens throughout America.

Luck Alone Doesn't Win

Luck may have its bearing, but on the whole luck is about evenly divided for and against a man or his success. Often intelligence can turn luck in one's favor.

In this connection no truer words were ever written than those of Edward Gibbon when he wrote, "The winds and the waves are always on the side of the ablest navigators."

Luck may bring a young writer to the attention of a publisher, but luck alone could not be responsible for the many successful books of Kipling, Dickens, or Wells.—Thrill Magazine.

The Student

"I suppose you noticed that Jenks has sold a painting? He's a great student."

"Of art?"

"No, salesmanship."

Forecast

Teacher—Doris, did you thank your mother for the cake she made for me? Doris—Yes'm, and pa said he thought you wouldn't be at school today.

Too Clear

Scribbler—I wonder if I'd have better success with my articles if I had them typewritten? "Heavens, no! Then the editors could read them."

"Custard" Joke Old

Custard, it appears, had its place in comedy as far back as the Middle Ages, for it is related that one of the feasts the lord mayor of London's fool was bound by his office to perform on lord mayor's day was to leap, clothes and all, into a huge bowl of custard. This was considered funny and pleased the lower class of spectators, who never seemed to tire of its yearly repetition. Shakespeare refers to this performance in "All's Well That Ends Well."—Detroit News.

Proof of Good Heart

Courtesy is merely a name for good-fellowship and helpfulness toward the other fellow. It is the manifestation of the spirit of unselfishness. It shows that you want to see others beside yourself get along in this world.—Grit.

Lesson for July 21

EZEKIEL'S VISION OF HOPE

LESSON TEXT—Ezekiel 47:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Ezekiel's Message of Hope.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Ezekiel's Message of Hope.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Will the Right Finally Win?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Cure for the World's Ills.

Ezekiel's final vision, chapters 40 to 48, exhibits a comprehensive view of the restored order when the Messiah shall hold sway over the whole earth. Our lesson for today is but a small part of this vision. It can be understood only in the light of the whole. The following outstanding facts should be noted:

1. The restored temple (chs. 40-42).
2. The return of Jehovah. (ch. 43).
3. In chapter 43 the Lord is seen taking His departure. In chapter 44 He is seen returning.
4. The arrangement of the services of the temple (chs. 44-46).
5. The river flowing from the temple (47:1-12).
6. The land apportioned among the people (47:13-48:29).
7. The holy city (48:30-35).

In the attempted interpretation of this vision, some five different views are held. The one preferred by the present writer is that it is a prediction of the temple which shall be erected in Messianic times. The literal view prevents wild speculation and at the same time permits the fullest figurative application. In fact, the Holy Spirit gives the interpretation of the waters flowing from the smitten rock (1 Cor. 10:4) in such a way as to leave no doubt as to its meaning. The river flowing forth from the sanctuary typifies the river of life, the salvation of Christ flowing forth to the world. Observe:

I. The River's Source (vv. 1, 2).
It flows forth from the house—the restored temple where God has come to dwell. It flows from the divine presence. This flowing of the waters is miraculous. So is the eternal life which proceeds from Calvary's cross. Because Christ is divine, His shed blood has power to give life. It is to be noted that the stream came by way of the altar (v. 1), showing that eternal life for the world proceeds from God by way of the cross. Perhaps the deepest mystery of life is how life can spring out of death. Despite its mystery, the student of the Holy Scriptures and of physical science knows that life out of death is the philosophy of the universe. "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone."

II. The Deepening River (vv. 3-5).
The deepening and enlarging is without any tributaries. For the first quarter mile the depth was to the ankles. By the time it had reached one-half mile it was to the knees. Till the distance of three-fourths mile was reached it was to the waist, and at the end of the first mile it was too deep to ford—"waters to swim in." The spiritual truth to be derived from this figure is that the life and salvation which have flowed forth from Calvary made vital by the Holy Spirit, have widened and deepened through the centuries and dispensations. This is especially true of the individual who yields himself to the Holy Spirit.

III. The Healing Effect of the Waters (vv. 6-21).

There is life in the progress of this river. "Everything shall live whither the river cometh" (v. 9). It flows from the altar toward the east country down into the desert and into the Dead sea. "The region of the Dead sea which has been the embodiment of barrenness and desolation, in the coming day is to be changed into a scene of life and fruitfulness."—Gray.

1. Trees on the banks of the river (vv. 7, 8).

Just as vegetation flourishes near the river, so wherever Christ's salvation is witnessed to in the energy of the Holy Ghost, life comes. This has been true throughout the centuries of church history. The details of fruitfulness are enumerated in verse 12.

2. Everything in the waters shall live (v. 9). Wherever the stream flows, there shall be life.

3. The waters of the Dead sea shall be healed (v. 10). Fishers shall gather from the Dead sea even as from the Mediterranean. The gospel brings life to those in trespasses and sin. The world is dead and therefore in need of the life-giving stream from Calvary.

Christianity

The distinction between Christianity and all other systems of religion consists largely in this, that in these others men are found seeking after God, while Christianity is God seeking after men.—T. Arnold.

When Tempted

In time of temptation be not busy to dispute, but rely upon the conclusion and throw yourself upon God, and contend not with Him, but in prayer.—Taylor.

Monster With Almost Human Head Found.

Paris.—A strange monster with an "almost human" head, which was killed in the Venezuelan jungles ten years ago, was described by Dr. Georges Montandon, noted French scientist, in a paper read before the members of the French Anthropological Institute. Photographs of the monster were projected on a screen. The animal was described as having 32 teeth, no tail and being about the size of a large man.

The photograph, according to the scientists, revealed an unknown anthropoid, akin to the orang-outang species but closely resembling the Neanderthal man.

Doctor Montandon placed particular emphasis in his lecture on the size of the animal, saying it was much larger than the Ateles apes which it resembles in some ways and larger than any anthropoid species ever found in Latin-America. This fact alone, he said, made the discovery of outstanding importance.

The scientist's paper told how the monster was killed by Francois De Loys, a French geologist and friend of Doctor Montandon, who penetrated unexplored depths of the Venezuelan jungle on a scientific expedition. One day, while seated in a temporary camp with a companion, the geologist heard a crashing in the branches of nearby trees.

A moment later two ape-like creatures jumped down into the camp clearing, waving their hairy arms. The two men fired and one animal fell.

The geologist immediately propped up the dead animal and photographed it at close range. He attempted to preserve the body or head but, owing to grave danger which overtook the party, was forced to abandon everything but his records in a notebook and the photograph.

A copy of the notes and the photograph were sent to Doctor Montandon, who said he had made extensive studies of the subject and hoped that an expedition could be formed to search the area where the animal was killed. He said hope of forming such an expedition was the cause of his silence on the subject in the past, but now he would be pleased if others undertook the journey.

Holds Burial Service Over Amputated Limb

Warsaw.—All Warsaw has been startled by the recent "funeral" ceremony conducted in connection with the burial of the amputated leg of a seventy-year-old Jew, Chl Weinberg, who was himself the most interested spectator. The old man was so grateful for the success of the operation for the removal of his limb, that he did not wish the amputated member to be destroyed, but instead, preserved it in alcohol. After several months in the hospital, where the leg was also kept, Weinberg was able to leave for his home.

He had not forgotten the leg, however, and a few days later arrived to convey it from the hospital to the Jewish cemetery, where a grave had been prepared. In the cemetery office where a special tub had been prepared, the limb was taken from alcohol, washed in accordance with Jewish rites, enveloped in white linen, placed upon a miniature bier, and covered with a black cloth.

The funeral procession then proceeded towards that part of the cemetery consecrated to the Weinberg family, where the leg was interred, the funeral oration being delivered by Weinberg himself, who praised the lost limb for its endurance, as well as its sturdy resistance to colds and gout.

Federal Prisoners to Learn Modern Farming

Washington.—Uncle Sam is out to make "scientific farmers" of federal prisoners.

Those assigned to farm work, under Department of Justice plans, will be given "a course equivalent to a short course in an agricultural college."

Plans for this and for development of farms connected with the prisons have been discussed by prison, Department of Agriculture and bureau of education officials. It is proposed to obtain assistance of county agents and co-operation of land grant colleges, the department said.

Chemist Figures Out Weight of One Hair

Seattle, Wash.—Albert Jacobson, city chemist, has a pair of new scales and here are a few of the calculations he has worked out with his latest playing:

A strand of human hair long enough to encircle the world at the equator would weigh 750 pounds.

The ordinary domestic variety of pin weighs .0247975 ounce.

The ordinary 2-cent postage stamp is lighter than the air-mail stamp, the weights respectively being .01297324 ounce and .03565 ounce.

The ordinary human hair, one inch long, weighs .00002 gram or .00000768 ounce.

Monarch's Logic

St. Olave, who was a Viking king, once had an ungainly Iclander in his train. One morning the king awoke to see that Thorarin was sleeping with one clumsy foot sticking out. When his comrades concluded their slumbers, Olave told them that he had seen the ugliest foot in all the town. He stated that he was sure there was none uglier.

So sure was the king that he professed himself ready to bet on the question. Thorarin took him up. Then, without more ado, the Iclander stretched out the other foot.

"There, O King," said he, "that foot is every bit as ugly. In fact it is uglier, for one toe is missing."

"You are wrong," replied the king. "The first foot has five ugly toes on it and this has only four. The first is, therefore, uglier."—Detroit News.

How Soot Is Measured

From measurements made with an interesting gauge at a London weather office, experts estimate that about six tons of soot fall on every square mile of the city's area in a year. The gauge consists chiefly of a funnel arrangement through which rain water falls, and is collected into bottles. Once a month, the content of the bottles is subjected to a chemical analysis and from this examination, the total amount of soot is computed.

How to Cut Bakelite

To saw bakelite straight clamp it between two pieces of scrap iron held in a vise, with their edges along the line to be sawed. Keep the saw close to the bars with the teeth pressed against them. Remove any roughness on the edge with a flat file.

Mixed Grill

A woman asked her husband to take a copy of a radio recipe she wanted. Unfortunately, the man got two stations at once, and this is what he copied:

"Hands on hips, place one cup of flour on shoulders, raise knees and depress toes, and mix thoroughly in one-half cupful of milk. Repeat six times. Inhale quickly one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, lower the legs, and mash two boiled eggs in a sieve. Exhale, breathe naturally, and sift into a bowl. Lie flat on the back on the floor, and roll the white of an egg backward and forward until it comes to a boil. In ten minutes remove from the fire, and rub smartly with a rough towel. Breathe naturally, dress in warm flannels, and serve with fish soup."—London Tit-Bits.

Don't let your crops go hungry!

A CASE SPREADER leaves no bare spots to starve your crops. It spreads any kind of manure so finely and evenly that every stalk gets its share of vital nourishment and your yield per acre will be increased.

And then it makes your manure go so much farther—all lumps are pulverized and spread evenly seven feet wide while the box is so tight that the valuable liquids cannot leak out on the way to the field.

The light draft makes it easy on the horses. Goes through a 6-foot door.

The Case spreader has extra-long life built into it. Ten to fifteen years or more is not exceptional.

Come in the first time you're in town and see this spreader or write for attractively illustrated pamphlet.

Our service is always fast and reliable.

Picturesque Indian Rulers to Keep Jobs.

Washington.—The recent report of the Indian states committee opposing the federation of the Indian native states and the British administration in India, tends to perpetuate the picturesque rulers of the hundreds of little and big states in the giant peninsula of India.

According to a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society, these rulers, although they have adopted western dress and customs for many occasions, still are among the most colorful potentates of the East.

Fortunes in Jewels.

"Consider the maharaja of Patiala in festive array if you would have a true picture of eastern splendor and color," the bulletin continues. "He wears a diamond tiara from which hang loops of diamonds, pearls and emeralds. Around his neck is a three-row pearl collar and, on his breast, an emerald breast plate. His coat is of rich brocade, and his hand rests upon a diamond-hilted sword sheathed in a velvet scabbard studded with diamonds. On his fingers are diamonds, rubies, emeralds and pearls.

"Patiala's maharaja is outshone by other princes in the splendor of their jewels. One ruler has a carpet of pearls, 8 by 10 feet. Maharaja Holkar, of Indore, has a carpet of gold in his throne room and tall gold chairs. The gaekwar (prince) of Baroda's treasure, includes gun carriages and cannons of gold. White bullocks, with silver-capped horns and brocade trappings, convey these cumbersome carriages through the streets in official parades.

"Until a few years ago the ruler of Bhopal was a woman, the begum. Bhopal is a Mohammedan state and its woman ruler made pilgrimages to Mecca, and also visited England. There she was protected from 'infidel' eyes by an enveloping cape which gathered around her head, with lace-trimmed slits for her eyes.

"Perhaps the most novel banquet table in India is that of the maharaja of Indore. A miniature landscape of flowers and trees illuminated by revolving colored balls adorns the table. A tiny electric train runs around its edge on a small track. The train contains seven coaches, one each for carrying brandy, port, sweets, nuts, chocolates, cigars and cigarettes. At the end of the meal, the maharaja starts the train by pressing a button at his place, and it stops automatically at the slightest touch of a guest who wishes to make his selection.

"The nizam of Hyderabad, the ranking Mohammedan prince of India and probably its richest ruler, has the largest harem in India. His household, including all retainers, numbers 7,000. Hyderabad was once known as Golconda, a famous market for diamonds in ancient days, and the nizam's personal collection of jewels is worth millions of dollars.

Colorful Courts.

"Although lacking in quality and quantity of jewels, the retainers of the rajahs, in their voluminous turbans and richly colored coats, are almost as picturesque as their rulers. Corps of nautch girls wear fortunes in heavy gold ornaments, and are picturesque in their brilliantly-hued skirts and pastel-tinted saris. Even the elephants of state take to color and jewelry. Their tusks are cut off and bound with brass rings. In some states they are provided with solid gold ankle bands, and are tattooed with shawl effect on their foreheads and ears. One ruler has a solid-gold pavilion mounted on the back of his favorite elephant, and others gild these howdahs and hang them with gorgeous trappings and tapestry curtains.

"The maharaja of Udaipur has some famous dancing horses. These are pure-bred horses, caparisoned in gold-covered bridles and brocade saddles, which prance with careful steps to the sing-song music of their Indian accompanists. These dancing horses are popular and may be found in the stables of many of the Indian princes.

"Despite the enormous wealth of the princes and other potentates of India the masses of the people live in poverty. The average individual income of India's 300,000,000 people is estimated at less than the equivalent of $25 annually. British rule has brought two blessings to India, the building of railroads which avert the regional famines which, in the past, dealt death to thousands, and protection of her northwest border against invasion by marauding tribesmen."

Deputy Sheriff Kindly Gives Thief a Lift

Billings, Mont.—Walter Scott, negro porter, will be very careful with whom he rides in the future.

He left a barber shop, where he was employed, taking some hair tonic, appliances, and loose cash with him. Catching a ride out of town the following day, he was forced to take to the road again when the truck became bogged in a mud hole. His luck held out, apparently, as he approached another car that had stopped on the road.

Scott was given a ride to Hardin then escorted into the police station there by his kindly benefactor, who happened to be a deputy sheriff from Billings who had heard of the barber shop robbery.

Taneytown is still suffering from the drouth that has prevailed for about six weeks, the result being great damage to corn, the potato crop and gardens, not counting the lawns and flowers. The rains have been consistently going around us, including that of last Sunday afternoon when Middleburg, Union Bridge and Westminster had a heavy down-pour.

(For the Record.)

A number of Taneytown folks went on an outing to Tolchester Beach, on Wednesday. It was an ideal day. We had a fine trip, without mishap, excepting when two of the crowd became separated from the rest when we got on a trolley, and had to be put on the right track by a kind policeman. Those in the crowd were: Mr. and Mrs. Norvil Shoemaker, Mrs. Norvil Shoemaker, Jr.; Mrs. Abbie Angell, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hess and two daughters; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumgardner; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Devilbiss; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Baumgardner and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Garner and two sons; Mr. and Mrs. George Harner; Mr. and Mrs. David Hess; Miss Edith Hess and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hess and family.
