TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND, FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1930.

"OLD TIMES" RECALLED FROM DETROIT.

Our Correspondent gives Spelling Bee and Band Experience.

In looking over the columns of the Record of April 18th., I was much interested in the article on the old-fashioned Spelling Bee, inspired, no doubt by the one recently held in Washington, D. C. It, I am sure, brought back many pleasant memories of such events, to more than one person, now on the shady side of life. In my boy-hood days, during the winter, these "spellings," as we called them, were about the only form of amusement the young folks had, as there were no "movies" or "talkies," or automobiles then, and to play cards or to dance, was counted as being the sure road to destruction. This was so at least in the part of the country—Southern Pennsylvania where I first began to attend spelling bees, or matches. As the Editor said, frequently one school would be matched against another, and well do I re-member the fun we had, going to the appointed school-house, in a bob sled, packed in about as tight as could be Sometimes the older people would attend, but the weekly prayer-meetings held in the public school houses, were more attractive to them.

Quite a number of these spelling matches stand out above the many I took part in. Every school had its champion, and as the Editor said, every effort was made to get the best spellers, especially in the open matches. I have known when a crowd of good spellers would get one of their number to coach a leader they liked, while the rest remained hidden until they were chosen.

After removing to Taneytown, we enjoyed many such matches, on Friday afternoon, as well as by night, in the real old two room school-house, and afterwards in the one recently abandoned. At that time Prof. Geo. Morelock was the champion of the county, having won a Webster's Unabridged Dictionary in a county contest. There were other experts, and on one occasion one of the best of them went down on such a trick of them went down on such a trick.

and on one occasion one of the best of them went down on such a trick word as "Roe," spelt also "Row." He forgot to ask the definition, for we used the dictionary, and words had to be spelt as they came in its columns.

There is a "young fellow" aged nearly 60, living in Taneytown, who I am sure, can recollect the evening when he spelt down the writer on the word "lily"; and after I had been teaching school two years, and long before Prohibition came in, Col. E. O. Weant, also tamed his teacher on the word "boozy." Of course these remembrances are personal but some time ago the Editor, in a private letter accused me of "getting old," because I wrote of things that happened so many years ago, and so I know he will excuse me.

In this connection, I wonder how is the ment of the best time and one of the best time and one of the best of them were definition, for we used the dictionary and words had to be rayer. Co. President. Mrs. Roy. G. Wrs. Roy. G. Wrs. Roy. G. Wrs. Roy. G. Wrs. Roy. For Wrs. Rev. G. W. Ports.

In this connection, I wonder how many persons can recall the old-fashioned Singing schools held all over the country by Prof. John Pitzer, af-terwards a guide on the Gettysburg Battlefield. Or the classes taught by the late Dr. Kemp. Both taught the old "Do-Re-Mi" method, and I well recollect that it was the latter who started me on the upward, or down-ward, course, which led me to serve good, bad or indifferently in the ranks of the Taneytown Band for 33 years. For some reason, or other, it was not in those early years, as much of an honor to "play in the Band," as it is now, and I well recollect a remark made by a long-time Postmaster of the town. As I, in the enthusiasm of a new member of any organization, was bragging a little too loudly, in his presence, of our ability to play. He said, "That's right, blow your own horns—nobody else will blow them

And then there was the largest Singing school of all, two sessions—taught by Prof. S. G. Smith, of Kittaning, Pa., in the Reformed church and Eckenrode's Hall. There was over a hunderd of us. I remember we had a mighty Bass Section, led by Dr. C. Birnie and Mac Davidson, while most of the best singers of the difmost of the best singers of the difThe Berrett Home-makers' Clubs.

But, I must stop recalling these ancient times, and come back to the present. We were much pleased to have as a brief visitor, a few weeks ago, William Saddled who formerly lived with the late F. M. Yount in Taneytown, but who is now in the employ of the P. R. R. at Harrisburg, Willie, does not seem to age much, being the same jolly fellow with his brain as full of "dates," as a tree bearing such fruit. We were much pleased to have him remember us, as we always are when friends from "back home" see fit to visit us.

To the friends of B. O. Slonaker, we would say that he is about the same, is able to sit up and read, and would be glad to hear from any and all of Members of the Westminster and Taneytown Chambers of Commerce appeared before the State Roads Commission, on Monday, urging the shouldering of the much traveled Westminster-Taneytown road. As this was among the first of the roads constructed, when road building was not as well understood as now, the road has naturally become considerably worn, and in need of widening. Commissioners Clinton Uhl and John K. Shaw, considered the appeals very favorably, and as there is an unexpended balance available for road repairs, told the visitors that they would give the appeal their very best consideration, but made no

ONSTRATION HOUSE.

The Berrett Homemakers' Club are featuring the refinishing and rearrangement of a five-room country home in Berrett vicinity as their better homes demonstration project.

Cost, simplicity of furnishings, and the utilization of furniture already in the home are factors which are being considered in the furnishing of this country home. Furniture covered with numerous coats of old paint and varnish is being refinished at the hands of these clever Home-makers' in order to show how furniture in the home might be utilized in making the simplest of country homes an attractive home. Hand-woven and handhooked rugs, hand-made linens and inexpensive curtains are being used to show how it is possible to furnish the home at a minimum expenditure. The house will be open to visitors from 1 to 6 P. M., every afternoon during Better Homes Week, April 28 to May 3rd. The house will not be open on Thursday afternoon, as the hostesses will be in attendance at the HIGH-PRICED BANK STOCK.

What was possibly the highest price ever paid for bank stock in this state—especially considering the excess over par value—was the price for which six shares of the Manches-ter bank sold, last Saturday, the same being a part of the estate of the late Dr. James H. Sherman.

The par value of the stock is $10.00, and was previously sold at $60.00. The six shares sold on Saturday at $600.00 each or $3600., after lively bidding. The purchaser was John B. Baker, Assistant treasurer of the bank.

N. O. Smith was the auctioneer, and while he has in his time sold a lot of stocks at fancy prices, this case

APPEAL FOR ROAD SHOULDERS THE PROPOSED LINCOLN BOULEVARD.

Interesting Hearing before Senate Committee, held on Tuesday.

On Tuesday a hearing was held in the Senate office building, Washington, before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, Senator McNary; of Oregon, Chairman, on Joint Resolution No. 150 introduced in the Senate by Senator Goldsborough, and in the House by Congressman Zihlman, authorizing a survey man Zihlman, authorizing a survey and inquiring into the cost of widening and improving the present road between Washington and Gettysburg, via Bethesda, Rockville and Frederick, with the object of having the route designated as the Lincoln Memorial Boulevard.

Over 100 residents of Montgomery, Frederick and Carroll counties attended. One hour of time was alloted for the hearing, the time to be equal-ly divided for those in favor and those opposing the resolution, the latter being largely those who favored Resolution No. 78 introduced by Senator Tydings that specified no particular route, and those who were understood to be favorable to a more direct route that would pass through Carroll County.

Speakers for Resolution No. 150 were: Dr. Jos. H. Apple, president of Hood College, Frederick; Holmes
Baker, Frederick; S. Vernon Walsh, a Rockville attorney; Judge Worthington, Frederick, and E. C. Brandenburg, Rockville; the gist of their argument being the historical associations connected with Frederick, the educational value of the route, and in general insisting that no other route could equal it.

Senator Goldsborough presented the speakers, and in doing so stated that he had introduced his resolution by request, but was earnestly in favor of it. Chairman McNary early left it be known that the committee was not specially interested in the historical side of the subject, but wanted other and more present practical reasons for the route, and interrupted the speakers several times in emphasizing this position.

However, the speakers managed to present the most of their prepared historical data, Mr. Wash going so far as to indicate that the direct route proposed was largely through a thinly populated wild country and was not worth considering.

Senator Tydings had chayge of the Senator Tydings had charge of the time for the advocates of Resolution No. 78, and stated that he had not presented his resolution at anybody's presented his resolution at anybody's request; that he had purposely avoided championing any route; that his resolution had been presented about six months before Resolution No. 150; that he was but following the late Separator Know of t Pennsylvania who had presented like Resolution many years ago; that there was no "politics" in it, but that there was no "politics" in it, but that his sole object was the securing of a fitting memorial to Mr. Lincoln to children, John and Altce. run through Maryland.

Senator Goldsborough, however, had an article from The Maryland News inserted in the proceedings, showing ing the opposite view from that of the advocates of the Rockville-Frederick route, and that all that the opponents of that route desired was the through Carroll county, perhaps fol-lowing the 75th. meridian.

Rev. Guy P. Bready, Taneytown, the last speaker, also advocated the more direct route, without the use of an old road that was about ten miles longer, and stated that the educational value of the route adopted should be in memory of Lincoln, rather than of Barbara Fritchie, General Braddock, or of the battle of the Monocacy. He refuted the statement that the direct route would run through a wilderness, but would be through one of the best and most prosperous sections of the Senator Tydings unquestionably placed himself in a very favorable light as to his efforts in the matter, not only as to his own fairness in preparing his resolution, but in the fairness of the resolution itself, which would leave the route for the boulevard entirely with a Federal Commission to be appointed by the President that would consist of the President, the Vice-President, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the president of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, two persons to be selected by the President, one Senator from Maryland and one from Pennsylvania, and one Representative from Maryland and one from Pennsylvania.

He said reference to location of the lot of stocks at fancy prices, this case beat the record.

Now, just how could we "contribute to the happiness of others?"

Perhaps, merely by keeping still.

In general, the advocates of the direct route appeared to have the best of the argument, and to be most in line with Senator McNary's suggestions. The chairman of the committee announced at the the close of the direct route appeared to have the best of the argument, and to be most in line with Senator McNary's suggestions. Baltimore city appears to be dissatisfied with the returns from the population of most of the wards of the city, though the figures have not been officially announced. A force of experts is now going over the wards in an effort to find additional recruits to the city's population, which has been the city's population, which has been confidently predicted should show an increase of from 125,000 to 150,000 over the census of 1920.

The officials in charge of the census deny that there has been any best route possible, which he indicated was the one that would pass through Carroll county, perhaps folin some sections of the city did not meet the proper co-operation.

The work is expected to be completed this week. The disappointment over the figures is due in part to estimates made on the increase in residences during the past ten years, built to accommodate some 40,000

As the situation now stands, the report of the Senate Committee will now be made to the Senate and House, and at some later time-possibly not during the present term of Congress-the whole matter will be decided, either unfavorably, or in the appointment of a permanent commit-tee to carry out the project on its dis-tinctive merits. BETTER HOMES WEEK.

Washington, D. LAWS RELATING TO NEWSPA-PER SUBSCRIBERS.

It may seem strange to many subscribers to newspapers, that the Postoffice Department should define who "subscribers" are, or care whether or not they are paid ahead or in arrears. Here is the simple answer. The Postoffice Department carries newspapers at a big loss, in order to distribute news and reading matter widely and cheaply, in the interests of the public. The Postoffice Department shows a big deficit each year, which it is constantly trying to cut down.

It feels that its duty in circulating newspapers at a big loss, is finished when it circulates them to actual subscribers who pay for their papers in advance. However, the Department was persuaded to accept the right of publishers-when they see properto extend credit when said credit is asked for, or assumed as an obligation; but this credit is not recognized for a longer period than one year, as we understand the law.

The point is, so far as the Postoffice Department is concerned, that the more unaid-for papers that can be excluded from the mails, the smaller the loss will be to the Department for carring newspaper mail and besides, the law likely reaches a lot of publications issued primarily for advertising purposes, that actually do not have a legitimate list of paid subscribers.

THE CANDIDATES ARE LATE.

Carroll County seems to be slow, by comparison with Frederick county, in the crop of candidates announcing themselves for county office, spbject to the primary election in September. Certainly, there is plenty of time yet. And another explanation may be that most of the present officials will be candidates for re-election, and may have quietly left the fact be known, which may have had the effect of discouraging new men from trying their luck.

However, we need not be alarmed that the offices will go begging for contestants. Easter was very late coming around this year, which seems to throw the season for every crop late. After a while the highways, the fields and the woods, will be full of 'em-and what an acreage of names will appear on the ballot in November?

WET AND DRY IN MARYLAND, THIS YEAR.

It looks very much as though the election in Maryland, this year-at least in so far as Governor is concerned-will represent a test of the thing. strength of the wets and drys. Governor Ritchie is so pronouncedly wet, and wet organizations so earnestly indorse him, that no matter who the Republicans nominate he will not have the wet following. In fact, the Republican candidate might as well told once. That is to say, carry the tion and delay is costing the country come out unequivocally for the enforcement of prohibition, as the Ritchie candidacy will have no other alternative.

Nobody knows at this time just what is going to happen with prohibition enforcement; but it seems almost assured that the Association Against Prohibition Enforcement, the avowedly wet press, and the wet candidates from choice, are going to force the issue, to the extent that the dry sentiment will be forced to consolidateor surrender. At any rate, the issue is a plain one in Maryland, this year, and the big question is-will old party affiliations be strong enough to prevent an accurate demonstration of wet and dry sentiment, or will party, for the time, be side-tracked, and let the verdict be unobstructed.

AUTO DEATHS COMPARED TO WORLD WAR.

A circular issued from the Headquarters of the Third Army Corps, Baltimore, makes some startling statements concerning the automobile as a destroyer of life, even by comparison with the world war.

For instance, in the 19 months of the world war, 1265 Californians were killed or died from wounds. In 1928 the number killed in California by motor vehicles was 1870.

Illinois lost 2746 by the world war, and in 1928 last 2068 by autos.

Maryland lost 657 by the war and 348 in 1928 by autos. Ohio lost 2846 by the war, and 1895 in 1928 by autos. The Dist. of Columbia lost 102 by the war, and 115 in 1928 by autos, etc., etc. The total Army and Marine Corps battle losses in the world war was 52,849, while the total auto fatalities in the U.S. in 1928 was 25,127. Like a good many statistics, these are simply information without being of any particular benefit. Coming from the Army source, they may be taken as attempting to prove that war is not so bad, after all, by comparison with a peace time indulgence; but that is no justification for war.

The figures, however, are startling and should serve the purpose of more legislation attempting to stop the automobile slaughter. This, however, is not likely to be done. Already the signal lights are condemned as obstructing traffic-holding it up and causing the loss of too much time. It is argued that greater speed on the highways should be compulsory, and that the slow speed is a nuisance and

The purpose of prohibition is to stop the use of intoxicants and crime -to stop direct and indirect killings; but a large percentage of the people do not want it, but are even willing to mix alcohol and gasoline, and take a chance. THE HIGH COST OF LOAFING.

Low production, not high wages, has debased the dollar. Money can't deiver more than it receives. Not until labor appreciates the high cost of loafing shall we properly handle the high cost of living.

Every hour cut from a normal creases the burden of overhead on the unit of production.

The interest table doesn't quit on the whistle; a forty-four hour week adds twelve percent to the rent account, means two hundred and eight more idle hours a year for the plant, subtracts 208 hours' annual use from factory equipment and throws a heavier tax load on a reduced output.

This lost time and expense must be figured, with all charges incidental to distribution, in the ultimate purchaser's sales check. No matter how much is obtained from the employer, each raise is promptly offset by absorbing readjustments in other lines. "Everybody's doing it" and nobody is benefitting.

We are all like a lot of South Sea cannibals who, instead of increasing their yields, prefer to prey upon each

Recent strikes and disorders are not passing twinges, but signals of deepseated community misunderstandings, only to be temporarily alleviated by hasty liniments and reckless anodynes.

Our economic muddle will persist until enough people understand the laws of barter and appreciate that money is nothing more than a convenient symbol representing an exchange of goods and service—that when we give less goods and service, money is worth just that much less.

REGULATION OF TRAFFIC BE-COMING NATIONAL PROBLEM.

The arrival of the mooted "saturation point" of automobile ownership is not so much a matter of individual cause of modesty, or perhaps because buying power, nor of road building of grief over his own son, Goethe did chedules, nor of increasing units of low-cost transportation as it is of traffic control.

The great problem ahead is maximum use of existing facilities by the centers of population, large and small. Experts in every line of this giant automobile industry are recognizing that fact, and the cities themselves are beginning to see that they must rise to their new task.

A rather laughable picture presents itself in this huge vista of transportation. We see the great thinkers of the motor industry straining to cut down cost of production while increasing quality, and always their efforts are bent upon eliminanot only does not produce better pub- timore county that isn't worrying tion of waste of time and effort and lic officials, but is quite apt to bunch | much about daylight saving, except | the increase of hourly and daily output. The lowest estimate that these experts could place on the time of a car and driver was $4 per hour, meaning that the average cost some one goes along to show him how | to the community at that point is $8

These figures do not include the loss of time of pedestrians who are out of respect to the law and out of fear of crossing against red lights.

But new methods of control are appearing which are in keeping with the achievements in other lines of science. Mechanical marvels that give traffic the flexibility of movement that it requires are appearing in various places. Vehicle actuated control has appeared as the newest scientific method of handling traffic.

Of course, solution of this problem will cost money, but the public is willing to pay for real results. Too working schedule proportionately in- long has it suffered from false economy of cheap and inefficient traffic control; too long has it been a victim of the myriad of little red lights that placidly count out their thirty seconds all day long, regardless of conditions.

Far in the future are double-decked streets and grade separation at intersections, but the cities are not prepared to spend the hundreds of billions of dollars that such measures will entail. For some years to come theirs is the problem of obtaining every bit of service possible from the common-grade street intersection to take care of the new millions of high-speed motor cars that are pouring from the maws of the giant factories.—By Eugene D. Stirlen.

Children of Important

Fathers Have Hard Lot

The family is an institution for the average. It cannot easly tolerate outstanding members. If, for instance, the mother is too beautiful, this may mean much trouble for the family. There are modest beauties also in this world, but as a rule an admired beauty has a different aim in life than to be a good mother. Children of important fathers have a particularly hard lot. They want to become and should become like their fathers, but this is especially difficult if he rushes through life like a meteor. Napoleon's son was nothing. The same fate awaited Goethe's son. Children of particularly successful parents are discouraged. Their own conflict, mainly unconscious, devours them. All of them perhaps could be happy if they did not seek always to be like their father. Goethe, in his old age, has uttered some illuminating words on this problem: "There are people who are excellent in every way and besides so lovable that everyone likes to be as they are. But this is impossible because the gifts of these people are so unusual. Take a Mozart or a Raphael. One does not mention how many good boys ruined themselves because they could not equal their models." Becomment upon the fact that he himself was one of those lovable and particularly gifted natures who burned up everything that comes near their glory.—From "Critique of Love," by Fritz Wittels.

Many Old-World Firms

Centuries in Business

Although the United States may lay claim to having more industrial concerns than any other country, it certainly cannot compete in length of life of manufacturing companies with the Old world. Any firm here which is 30 or 40 years old is considered unusually long established, and examples of longer life are few, says the Wall Street Journal.

In Germany, however, there are two hardware firms which made horseshoes for George Washington's Continental army and have been in existence more than 200 years. There is a large chain manufacturing concern in Germany which has carried on under the same name for more than 400 years. But the granddaddy of them all is the copper producing business of Manfeld Kupfer, A. G., which has borne that title for about 700 years.

From Rome to Boston

The grandeur that was Rome rested in large measure upon foundations of bricks, as the traveler may see when he visits the baths of Diocletian, where the marble facing has long since disappeared, but the brickwork stands strong and sturdy after the lapse of nearly twenty centuries. The Romans practiced an ancient art when they made bricks, yet it was one destined to be forgotten or nearly forgotten in Europe during the Dark ages which followed the fall of the Roman empire. But in the Eleventh or Twelfth century there was a revival. Again bricks were fashioned in a manner to make them of enduring character.-Boston Herald.

The one woman put her whole meal in the oven early in the afternoon, she set the automatic timer to turn the heat on and to turn it off when the meal was cooked, she then went visiting or shopping or perhaps she is a woman who is working; at six o'clock she returns home and in a very short time her meal is on the table and the family is ready to dine.

The other woman is tired and weary, she has been in the kitchen sweltering and worrying all afternoon, time for visiting and shopping was not for her, or if it was, she did it in a rush and a bustle. At six o'clock she is still trying to get her meal. Maybe it will be ready in the next half hour. When it is she will be too tired to enjoy it.

STEAL HAWKSHAW PREP EXHIBITS

Now Bar Public From New York Public School.

New York .- Just across the way from police headquarters is the annex nce conlege, where detectives and patrolmen are trained. The college is for veterans, as well as novices. In small groups uniformed and plain clothes men are being taken off duty and put through a Hawkshaw course in the annex. They are taught, for instance, the importance of examining every detail of the scene of a crime. Relics of famous crimes are kept there, not as curios but as practical examples.

There is, for instance, a torn pullman ticket issued from New York to Syracuse. It was that ticket, more than any one thing, that convicted Judd Gray and Mrs. Snyder of the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband. After the killing Gray was suspected, and traced to Syracuse. It was found that he had an iron-clad alibi. Evidence pointed to his presence in that city at the time of the murder on Long island.

A detective wasn't satisfied. He poked here and there through Gray's room, and found many scraps of paper in a waste basket. One of them was the pullman ticket. Confronted with this evidence, Gray admitted the falsity of his alibi.

But visitors may no longer go to the police annex. Outsiders have been stealing the exhibits from the Hawkshaw school!

U Of M Field Day To Be Held May 3

FOUR EVENTS LISTED

Scholastic Meet and Three Varsity Contests Carded—Army Teams At College Park April 26

Field Day at the University of Maryland on May 3 will be one of the biggest affairs ever staged at College Park, with a program lasting all

Featuring the occasion, the interscholastic track and field meet is the thirteenth of such events to be held by the / University. Thirteen open contests and five closed to the county high schools of the State are scheduled.

The complete program: 1.30 o'clock - Interscholastic meet and dual meet between Virginia and Maryland, to be run off concurrently. 2 o'clock-Baseball, Catholic Uni-

4 o'clock-Lacrosse, St. John's vs. Maryland. Facilities Augmented Maryland's athletic facilities have been greatly augmented since the meet was held two years ago, the lapse in 1929 being due to the work in improving Byrd Stadium field and the building of a new cinder path, versity vs. Maryland.

seating more than 1,500, is to be opened April 26. Open scholastic events on the pro-now doubtless the best in the South.

A new baseball diamond, with stands

gram are: 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, 880yard run, mile run, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, 12pound shot put, javelin throw, discus throw, high jump, broad jump and pole vault. Events closed to the county high schools of the State are: 100 and 440-yard dashes, 880-yard run, 12-pound shot put and broad

Handsome prizes will go to successful athletes, specially designed gold medals to the winner in each event, silver to the runners-up and bronze to those who finish third. Gold watches are to be the prizes for the two athletes who score the most points in their respective classes and silver cups for the schools carrying off top laurels. Entries Close April 28 Entries for the meet must reach the University of Maryland on or before Monday, April 28, to be in time for the printing of the program. No entries will be allowed that do not reach College Park in time to get in the program.

All the visiting athletes are invited to attend the contests in which the Maryland Varsity teams figure. The meet is to be run off before the start of the lacrosse game.

All of Maryland's teams have been performing in good style this spring and every one of the contests should be highly interesting. In the lacrosse clash the Old Liners will be seeking revenge on St. John's for a reversal suffered last season.

Army Team to Visit April 26 will also be a banner day in athletics at College Park. On that day two West Point teams visit the Old Liners, the Army appearing in baseball at 2.30 and in lacrosse at 4 o'clock.

West Point teams do little traveling and it is rare for any school to have them on the schedule for one home contest, much less two in one day, as will be the case on April 26. Both games should be colorful affairs and are sure to be largely attended. A tennis match between the Old Liners and Washington and Lee is a third contest on April 26.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC.

Topic:—What Is a "Useful Life?" 2 Tim. 2:3-14, 21, 22.
April 27th., 1930.

Written by-Rev. C. O. Sullivan.

I am considering this topic from the standpoint of the follower of Christ, and of endurance. Continual endurance of evil, whether directed especially against himself, or generally thwarting the cause which he has most at heart, is the ordinary lot of the follower of Jesus Christ exercising his purpose in an evil world. And in order to be ready to encounter this evil, actively or passively, as the cause may require, a complete con-centration of purpose on the fulfil-ment of his purpose is absolutely required.

If the heart is divided between the ministry of God's Word and the enjoyment of an easy life, there will be a constant temptation to avoid those various forms of "hardship" which properly belong to the campaign of the soldiers of Christ. The deter-mined struggle, and the sturdy stand against evil, whether in his own heart or in the world around him, will be postponed to a more convenient season, while weak compromises and sinful compliances take their place in the immediate present.

At the same time, contradiction and opposition, crooks and crosses of various kinds, untoward events, troubles, disappointments, and difficulties of all sorts, will be met, not in the spirit of Christian fortitude, not in the spirit of Christian meekness and patience, but fith petulant complaints, or with roughness and ill temper, as running against the current of the love of ease in the soul.

It is, therefore, incumbent upon the servant of God to be wholly given up to the ministry which he has re-ceived. He must resolutely shake off the entanglements of the affairs of this life, that he may please him who called him to be a soldier. He must feel, "My work in life, my mission, the dispensation committed to me, is to advance the kingdom of Christ in the world. I am sent by my Lord and Master for the defence of the gospel—to preach it, to vindicate it, to uphold it against all gain-sayers, to adorn it with my own life, to use my utmost endeavour for its maintenance, ts propagation, its triumphs.

I must no more shrink from obloquy, from labour, from suffering, from troubles, or, if need be, from tonds and death, in the fulfilment of this work and ministry, than the soldier shrinks from fatigue and exposure, from hunger and hardship, from wounds and from death, in bravely discharging the duties of his warfare' For his encouragement in carrying out this resolution, he has the example of his Lord who suffered unto death and was raised again from the dead. He has the example of the apostles who endured troubles and bonds and imprisonment, and yet saw the gospel which they preached triumphing over all opposition.

He has the promises of God assuring life, and a kingdom, to those who suffer and die with Christ. And so, accepting endurance as the portion of Christ's servants, he pursues his ministry diligently, joyfully, and stead-fastly, throws his whole strength in-to it, and looks forward with an unwavering hope to obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION FOR WOMEN.

Child Health Week, beginning May 1, is a good time to send for Leaflet 42-L, "Good Food Habits for Chil-dren," which the U. S. Department of Agriculture distributes free while its supply lasts.

Set a time for a child's meals, and allow no distractions during the meal hour. Regularity of schedule for meals, exercise, and sleep helps to keep the body healthy and the appetite normal.

In cooking bread pudding, corn custard, and other dishes containing a large proportion of egg and milk, set the dish in a pan of surrounding hot water and bake in a very moderate oven until a knife blade will come out uncoated when used to test with.

Have your retail meat man bone a shoulder of lamb for you. Fill the center with hot savory stuffing, sew the edges together to form a plump, square cushion. This piece of meat will be easy to carve, tender, and juicy. It is one of the less expen-sive cuts of lamb.

Whip half a pint of double cream until stiff, add ¼ teaspoon of salt and ½ cup or more powdered sugar and blend well. Fold in carefully 1 quart of selected ripe strawberries that have been washed and capped. Serve at once. If they stand the juice of the berries will be drawn out and will thin the cream.

The oil in "dustless" cloths may be renewed by applying a few drops of kerosene or light lubricating oil on one corner, rolling the cloth, and letting it stand until the oil has spread evenly. Or a little oil may be added to the rinsing water after washing the duster. One tablespoon of kerosene or one-half tablespoon of light lubricating oil to one quart of water gives good results.

First Spoken Language Many surmises have been made regarding the oldest language. In an attempt to discover what children would say if uninfluenced by established speech, Psametichos, an Egyptian king, entrusted two new-born infants with a shepherd, with the strict charge that they were never to hear anyone utter a word. These children were afterward brought before the king and uttered the word "bekos" (baked bread). The same experiment was tried by Frederick II of Sweden and James IV of Scotland and by one of the Mogul emperors of India. Nothing conclusive was proved in either case. The Persians claim that Arabic, Persian and Turkish are the three primitive languages. Their tradition says that the serpent that tempted Eve spoke Arabic, the most persuasive language in the world. Adam and Eve spoke Persian, the most poetic language of all, and the angel Gabriel spoke Turkish, the most menacing language. Scholars formerly agreed that Sanscrit was the oldest tongue but later discoveries suggest that it too is derived from some still more ancient speech.

Robin at Crucifixion

The old belief that the robin will sing near the window of a dying person is founded on a legend which tells how the bird perched on the Cross when our Lord was dying, and tried to comfort His last moments with its song. It is said to have got its red breast from the blood which came from the wounds as it endeavored vainly to pick the crown of thorns from His head.

Early Start

A visitor in a mountain village noticed that one citizen was always up very early, but never did any work. So he questioned the man's wife,

"Why does your husband rise so early?"

"Oh, he wants an early breakfast." "But he doesn't do anything. Why must he have such an early break-

Stars Still Tell Time

In casually looking at your watch to tell the time of day, you probably don't stop to think that your timepiece, if it is accurate, has indirectly received its time from the stars.

In an article in World's Work, it is pointed out that the naval observatory at Washington, which furnishes the nation its time, makes a check every night by observations of the stars. Three delicate clocks are enclosed in glass cases far beneath the ground, and are kept at an exact temperature. These clocks keep the time which is first determined by astronomers, and hourly throughout the day comes the time across the country, correct to the thousandth part of a second.

Mysteries of Vitamines

Sought by Scientists

Vitamines are one of the essential elements in foods. Lack of them has been proved to cause eye diseases, sterility, rickets, scurvy, beri-beri and stunted growth. They exist in certain foodstuffs only, and even in parts of foodstuffs, such as the husks of rice and potato peelings, which are not generally eaten. Methods of removing these elements from unpalatable parts of foods are most important, as they may thus be added to more palatable diets otherwise inadequate to the maintenance of health.

Science is attempting to solve the mysteries of vitamine production and removal, says a writer in the Washington Post. Ultimately it expects to manufacture these valuable food constituents synthetically in its laboratories. When that day arrives human health will have been promoted immeasurably, for no other single item is more important, particularly to chil dren, than the vitamine.

Logical Solution

Professor-So the ship hugged the shore? And where was the shore? Student-I suppose it was in the hold of the vessel.

Would Come in Handy "I just heard an awful story about your husband.

"Tell me. I need a new dress."

Uses for Gyroscope

When first invented, the gyroscope, then called rotascope, was used as a scientific toy to illustrate the dynamics of rotating bodies, the composition of rotations, etc. A delicately mounted form of the above apparatus, invented by M. Foncault, is used to render visible the rotation of the earth on account of the tendency of the rotating wheel to preserve a constant plane of rotation, independent of the earth's motion. This same principle is made use of in an instrument invented by Dr. H. Auschutz-Kampfe, designed to replace the mariner's compass or to serve as a check upon its accuracy.

Ancient Animals and

Plants Losing Ground New York.—Even the plants and animals of modern times have developed superior competitive abilities. This is illustrated in plants and animals being imported into Australia, which are starving out some of the Australian strains. These Australian losers are oddities creatures of an old age that ended long ago everywhere else in the world, and they survived this long only because plants and animals of the rest of the world have not heretofore had a chance to compete with them.

LIGHTS By GRANT DIXON of NEW YORK

Severe Test

One more towering hotel is nearing completion in the neighborhood of Pennsylvania station, and the work of training the staff has begun. At the moment telephone operators are being chosen. An applicant is asked if she is courteous at all times, and if it appears that she is, she gets probationary employment. Then a professional annoyer goes to work.

For days he hounds the operator, calling from various rooms and making absurd and ill-mannered demands. He will ask for Circle 5920, get his connection, and then angrily flash the hotel operator. "Having a good time talking to the boy friend?" he will roar. "Why don't you keep your wits on your job? I told you to get me Circle 5923."

If the operator replies, "You did 25-lb. Box Dynamite, not. You asked for Circle 5920," she 50-lb. Box Dynamite, is discharged. But if she's meek and pleasant, she keeps her job.

Cops' College

only college of its kind in the world -a police college. Not only the sciences, but also the arts, will be taught to criminal catchers. Fifty men, from universities as well as the police ranks, will form the faculty. The theory method, long the pet of writers of detective fiction, will not be taught. Instead, detectives will be instructed in correlating known facts. One wag insists that the students will be taught coptic. New York, by the way, was the first city in the country to organize a real police force, having organized a day force in 1825.

* * * Kitchen Aid

The traffic control lights, up to now utterly useless except as a source of Ask for Frost Proof Cabbage Plants annoyance to pedestrians and motorists alike, have at last been put to practical employment. A certain Window Shades, young housewife who, although she lives on Park avenue, gets her husband's breakfast in the morning, has discovered that the lights are perfect for timing the eggs. Two green and three red flashes add up to just the right time to make hubby's eggs medium soft boiled.

Unkind

One of the kindest of all theatrical 29x4.40 Auto Tubes, criticisms that have come to my knowledge is an opinion of a certain actress' ability that was written by a man who is now, fortunately or unfortunately out of the profession. The actress was playing in a drama which involved the theft of a pearl necklace. "They spent three acts looking for the pearls," he wrote, "and from the way Miss Blank acted, I suspected all along 30x31/2 Auto Tubes, that they were hidden in her mouth."

Busybody

Late one evening a woman and her escort were taking a stroll along Fifth avenue, and they came upon a private policeman assigned to guard the various exclusive stores on the block. (In many sections of the city, merchants feel safer if they hire their own police 19-Wire 36-inch Fence, force.) The private watchman stepped | 22-Wire 48-inch Fence, to an ornate entrance, grasp door and shook it vigorously, to deter- 26-Wire 72-inch Fence, mine that the lock hadn't been tampered with. His actions were puzzling to the woman stroller.

"Hey," she heyed in a well modulated voice, "You can't get in there. It's after hours and it's locked."

Squelched

Out of desperation a certain young woman has evolved what appears to be the perfect way to cope with a song writer who lives in the apartment above. This gentleman is not usually noisy, but he's annoying even when he's quiet. He will strike a chord, think for ten minutes, and then strike another chord almost, but not quite, like the first one. Occasionally he will play a whole piece—a classic, usually. He is looking for a passage which can be turned into a good popular tune.

The other afternoon he played a Grieg sonata. It was very badly done. and the exasperated young woman below dashed to her piano to play the same piece-just to show how it should be done.

Then, to rub it in, she selected certain melodious passages and jazzed them, also to show the song writer how it should be done. He didn't strike another chord all afternoon.

Missourians Shoot Big Eagle and Albino Quail

West Plains, Mo.-An albino quail and a black eagle with a wing spread of more than seven feet are on exhibition here as unusual kills of the current hunting season.

Until the eagle was bagged by N. E. Morrison of St. James, Mo., farmers in this vicinity had been losing pigs and other small farm animals. The quail was shot by Edward Hill near Dora, Mo., and is the most perfect specimen ever seen here, according to veteran hunters.

Rated as "Bad Wife"

When somewhat mature in years John Wesley, the famous founder of Wesleyan Methodism, married a very filterate widow with four children and a comfortable income. She was "a woman of sorrowful spirits." The courtship lasted 16 days at most. The widow was no angel; she was, indeed, in the language of St. Paul -a messenger of Satan sent to buffet her unfortunate husband. Southey, who wrote Wesley's life, says of her: "She deserves to be classed with Xantippe and the wife of Job as one of the three bad wives."-Detroit News.

Issue Undecided

"Why didn't you go to the help of the defendant?" asked the examining counsel. "You saw that the two men were fighting."

"Yes," said the witness, "but I had no means then of telling which one was going to be the defendant."

Holding Them in Line "However do you manage to hold your constituents in line?" "By means of the social instinct," answered Senator Sorghum. "For some mysterious reason everybody likes to shake hands."-Washington Star.

Just as Reasonable

"Six feet in his boots!" exclaimed Mrs. Flatt.

"Yes," said Mr. Flatt. "Nonsense! Why, they might as well tell me that the man had six heads in his hat "

Climber Eats Way Up

When the mountain beaver wants to climb he eats his way up.

This rodent, sometimes called the boomer and whistler, has become a serious pest in the Pacific Coast country, the only part of the United States in which he is found.

His damage to gardens is really serious, and his burrowing has wrought havoc with many a road.

The mountain beaver is unable to climb trees, but he can easily go up shrubs and saplings. His usual method is to eat off the tender ends of branches and shoots, and then use the stubs as a ladder by which to ascend to the upper branches.

Trout Egg Industry

The raising of goldfish is an important industry, and goldfish farms exist in Maryland, West Virginia, New Jersey, Indiana and California. Trout farming is still another phase of aquaculture. The demand for the eggs for stocking public and private waters. says Nature Magazine, is sufficient to attract considerable investment in the venture, annual sales of trout eggs being estimated at about $200,000. In addition, surplus fish are sold for food

Why it costs less to paint your house with SWP

You can paint your house with SWP—the world's best house paint—at a lower cost than with cheaper paint. The reason for this is obvious when you know the facts.

SWP is made of the finest materials. The quality is there. We know. We've tested all kinds of paint. Its wonderful body will thoroughly cover almost twice as much surface per gallon as cheaper paint will. Specify SWP because it costs 50% to 60% less per job than cheaper paintbecause it gives best protection—because it saves repainting bills by lasting twice as long—and because it produces the most beautiful, lasting color effects. Paint now with SWP and save.

Haag Electric Washers

N buying a low-priced washer remember that its price, alone, does not establish its value. How does it compare with higher-priced washers in efficiency - in speed -- in mechanical construction -- in length of life? Measure its worth on

No Haag washer has ever been built to a price. The Haag reputation for building fine washers is the safest and soundest guarantee of quality. Just compare the model 55 with other washers selling at anything approaching its low price. Where else can you find such astonishing value?

Look at its sturdy construction — the strong frame, the well-built, ample-size tub, the rigid assembly. See how simple is its mechanical principle — fewer parts to wear. It's as fool-proof and trouble-free as a washer can be made.

Ask to be shown its modern features. With this washer, you know, soaking, boiling, or hand-rubbing is no longer necessary. You'll be interested, too, in the laborsaving conveniences this washer affords.

Then, the price. How can it be possible! Surely, there is no reason why you need deprive yourself, even for another week, of the comfort that can now be yours. Arrange, now, to come in and let us demonstrate this Haag washer.

Lesson for April 27 GIVING UP ALL FOR THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 19:16-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Giving Jesus First

JUNIOR TOPIC—Giving Jesus First Place.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—How Shall We Use Our Money?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Stewardship of Possessions.

The lesson title is likely to be misunderstood and the teaching misapplied. Christ did not directly, nor by implication teach that eternal life could be obtained by parting with possessions. I. A Certain Young Man (v. 16). For a full view of the characteristics of this man, see Mark 10:17-30 and Luke 18:18-30.

1. His virtues. (1) Courageous (Mark 10:7). He was of high standing-a rich young ruler (Luke 18:18, 23). To come to Jesus at this time might mean ostracism, but with manly courage he came. (2) Earnest (Mark 10:17). He knelt before Jesus, thus showing earnestness and sincerity. (3) High aspirations (v. 16). He wanted eternal life. Though taken up with the things of his present life, he felt the need of preparing for a life beyond. (4) Pious and moral (v. 20). From his youth he had conformed to God's moral law. (5) He believed that Christ could inform him of the "good thing" to be done to inherit eternal life.

2. His errors. (1) About Christ (v. 16). He esteemed Jesus to be good, but did not apprehend Him as God; otherwise he would have known Him not merely as one who did good, but as one who is essentially good; that is, God. (2) Concerning himself. He thought he was good and that he could do something good. (3) Concerning eternal life. He thought that it could be obtained by good works. He did not know that the only way to gain eternal life was to receive it as a gift from God (Rom. 6:23).

II. The Lord's Dealing With Him

Jesus skillfully led the young man to see his errors. 1. His question—"Why callest thou me good?" (v. 17). Before giving him a chance to answer He declared that only God was good, as if to say, "I am good, and therefore God." He was God manifest in the flesh, and repudiated the thought of being known merely as a good man.

2. Jesus' answer to the young man's question (vv. 17-20).

"If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." Christ met him here on his own ground, namely, that of the law. He took the young man's level that the young man's real worth might be revealed (Rom. 3:19, 20). 3. Christ's command (vv. 21, 22).

Replying to Christ's citation of the commandments of the law, the young man asserted that he had kept them from his youth. Yet in his inner conscience he knew that there was something lacking. When he had to make the supreme decision between Jesus and his possessions, he chose wealth. III. The Relationship of the Rich to the Kingdom (vv. 23-26).

This teaching concerning the peril of riches was most timely. Covetousness was fast taking hold of the people.

1. It is difficult for the rich to enter into the kingdom (vv. 23, 24). This difficulty lies not in the possession of riches, for a man may possess great riches and be an heir of the kingdom. Money in itself is essentially good. It will help the poor and help bring the gospel to the lost. The difficulty lies in trusting in riches.

2. Entrance into the kingdom, though difficult, is possible (vv. 25, 26).

(1) It is possible for the grace of God to sanctify riches, to open a man's eyes that he may see his downward course and repent, to change a man from self-seeking to self-sacrificing. IV. Rewards for Following Christ

(vv. 27-30). Those who turn their backs upon their kindred and possessions for the sake of Christ shall receive an hundredfold in this life, and eternal life in the world to come.

Obedience is the secret. Not slavish obedience, but sympathetic, loving eager obedience. "His delight is in the law of the Lord." May the law of holiness be to me welcome as the light, sweet as the flowers, more to be desired than much fine gold .- W. L. Watkinson.

In Company With Jesus

Get into sympathy with Jesus. Seek His presence, seek His help. And walking through the world in His company, you will be as balm in the bleakest weather, a benediction in the wildest scene.-James Hamilton.

The Duty of Friendship

The only duty of friendship is that we and our friends should live at our highest and best when together. Having achieved that, we have fulfilled the law.-Randolph Bourne.

Hubby Does Some Back-

Seat Driving in Kitchen

What's the trouble, anyhow, aren't you going to get any dinner tonight? You sure are getting a late start. Watch out there, can't you see you have the gas turned too high? Why don't you put some water in that teakettle or else take it off the fire? Hey, you, don't shake that sifter so hard, you are getting flour all over the floor. My goodness alive, that bread won't be fit to eat if you put all that salt in it. Look out, you came very near cutting your hand severely with that can opener. What's the special attraction outside; don't you realize that you can't look out the window and scramble eggs at the same time? For pity's sake, are you blind! Look at that oven thermometer, over 50 degrees too high. Why don't you turn off those jets when you have nothing cooking over them? No wonder, the gas bill runs over $10 every month. Holy smokes, turn that meat over before it burns to a crisp. I don't believe you would ever get a meal ready if I didn't come out here and help you .- Kansas City Times.

The ax is a tool of romance. In almost every age it has played a major part in man's struggle for ex-

From earliest history, on down through the Stone age, the Bronze age and the Iron age, and more especially during the time of America's early pioneers-the ax has been the indispensable friend of man.

With the building of primitive log cabins went the building, too, of strong characters and stout muscles. Washington, Boone, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Gladstone of England, and many other great names in history are associated with the ax. No other tool promotes the same kinship of man with nature. Through its medium one captures the spirit of the forest, one senses that feeling of satisfaction which comes through aiding the growth of majestic trees, by the removal of deformities, weak specimens and fire hazards—Peter McLaren, America's champion chopper, in the Ax Manual.

Smoke and Sight

It probably has never occurred to many smokers that much of the pleasure in the habit is derived from seeing the smoke curl up from one's cigar, cigarette or pipe. It had never occurred to the Sun's Rays reporter either until recently when he offered a cigarette to a blind man, who had once been an inveterate smoker.

"No, thank you," the sightless man replied. "I have never smoked since I became blind, although I once thought could not do without my tobacco. don't care anything about it now because I can't see the smoke.

"As a general rule, if you'll notice, you'll find that very few blind persons smoke. After all," he added philosophically, "smoking is a negative pleasure, anyway."-New York Sun.

Diet and Character

Doctor Fiessinger, a French physician, states that national diet largely determines national temperament. The French character has been influenced by wine, women and a high culinary art. The German character, on the other hand, has been influenced by beer and coarser and more homely diet. Women in Germany are regarded more in the light of toilers. Americans, says the doctor, have assimilated characteristics of all the nationalities from which they sprang and have discarded both traditions and foods which might stand in the way of their progress.

First Movie in 1890

The first practical camera capable of taking an unlimited number of photagraphs in rapid sequence upon a band of sensitized celluloid film, and suitable for subsequent reproduction in the form of a moving picture, is said to have been made by W. F. Greene, a London photographer. He took out a patent on June 21, 1889, in conjunction with Mortimer Evans.

The traffic at Hyde Park corner was the subject of the first moving picture, and it was shown to the Royal Photographic society in 1890.

France Knows Tree Values

In France, not so long ago stretched a region of over 12,000,000 acres of marsh and shifting sands where only a few useless shrubs were able to make a bare living. It had been completely deforested. It was adding nothing to the wealth of France, says Forests and Mankind. Finally the government planted trees throughout the region, put them in care of their foresters, and today, this once worthless, abandoned piece of land, is worth over $100,000,000 and supports prosperosus communities.

Early News Transmission

In the days before railways and telegraphy many ingenious methods were devised for the rapid transmission of "all the winners at Doncaster" during St. Leger week. In 1825 specially trained dogs were dispatched with the news to several of the big Midland towns, and in the following year carrier pigeons conveyed the results to London, arriving in the early moreing of the day following the race-London Mail.

δοροσοσοσοσοσοσοσοσορο THE SPLIT ATOM

WONDERFUL have been the discoveries of scientific laboratories. Perhaps the last effort in this direction to startle the world is the attempt to split the atom. For many years we thought the atom was the smallest particle of matter. We know today that the atom is made up of much smaller particles called electrons. A celebrated scientist writes: "What may shake the world is what they are doing to he atom. They have split the atom of hydrogen and ve have discovered what we thought vas fundamental is omething else igain." If mateials such as coal, ugar, wood and cold, etc., are made of electrons defiitely arranged toether, by an articial arrangement of these electrons, nnima ginable re-L. A. Barrett, sults may be obtained. In that fascinating drama "Wings over Europe," Robert Nichols, co-author with Maurice Browne, pictures "The remarkable situation in which civilization has been placed by the amazing advance of science." If the forces inherent in the atom can be released and used for other purposes what would happen to our civilization? Not only could the basic metals be turned into gold and thus cause the destruction of the unit of value in the financial world, but the physical necessities of life could be so altered as to reverse the progress of civilization a thousand years, if not wholly de-

While danger from the split atom is remote at present, it is very interesting to note that thus far not the scientist, but the idealist, the poet, the dramatist is raising the question, "what will happen to the moral order of the universe?"

If scientific discoveries are used for humanitarian purposes and not for private or commercial aggrandizement all may be well; but to leave to science alone the ultimate balance of power in this cosmic universe may be a very dangerous experiment. The employment of radioactivity in the cure of disease is a humanitarian use of the discovered radium. The discovery of the Hertzian waves gave us our wireless telegraphy and radio. Discoveries in scientific laboratories have largely been used in ministry to human need and comfort.

The possibility of the split atom creates another field of tremendous possibilities. Will the results be used for humanitarian ends? We believe they will.

Expressed in Sevens The term "seven seas" in literature is used as a general term for all of the seas of the world, as known at various time. In modern times it has been held to include the great oceans such as the North and South Atlantic, the North and South Pacific, the Indian, Arctic and Antarctic oceans. The seven senses, according to ancient teaching, were those of understanding, speech, sight, taste, hearing, smell and touch. The seven wonders of the ancient world were the pyramids of Egypt, hanging gardens of Babylon, Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, temple of Diana at Ephesus, Colossus at Rhodes, Pharos at Alexandria, statue of Olympian Jove. Letter Shows Edison's

Keen Sense of Humor

Thomas A. Edison once wrote his intimate friend, Albert B. Chandler, requesting facetiously that "A. B. C." pay certain of his bills. The letter, the first lines of which Edison had crossed out lightly, with the obvious intention of their being read by Chandler, was written November 11, 1875. It follows:

"A. B. C.: Have you any idea? Of course you have. Do you think? Of course you think. What I want to say grammatically is: Can you pay one of the smallest of my bills tomorrow? If you can't it won't work extraordinary hardship to me, but if you could, I think under the benign influence of the comely greenbacks this beautiful world of ours would enhance in beauty. New wonders in the never-ending evolution, revolution and cycloidical transformation of things inorganic into things organic would become conspicuously apparent to my optical nerves."-Kansas City Star.

Where Ocean Is Bluest Authorities on oceanography say that the purest and deepest blue of the ocean is found in the Sargasso sea, in the South Atlantic; Indian and Pacific oceans. It has been found that these parts of the ocean contain very little plankton, whose presence minimizes the transparency of the water and makes it appear greener. The gulf stream is also very blue. In the open ocean the water is bluish. Nearer the land it becomes green or gray. Within the thirtieth parallels north and south of the equator, the color is a brilliant ultramarine, and south of latitude 30 degrees it changes to deep indigo, which continues as far as the Antarctic circle, where it changes to an olive green. The blue color is attributed to the rays of light being unequally absorbed by the water. Variations may also be due to materials in suspension or solution.

Napoleon Liked Camembert Napoleon the Great counted Camembert cheese among his first loves. On one of his marches through northwestern France, he was first served this new type of cheese which he pronounced delightful and wanted frequently. Encouraged by the noted conqueror's fondness of it, the manufacture of Camembert grew rapidly. It was soon established as a prime favorite of cheese lovers throughout Europe, and later, America.

Why Not a German Meal for Your Family Tonight?

Director, Home Economics Dept., H. J. Heinz Company

THE happy custom of serving dinners typical of other lands is growing into quite a vogue among women who pride themselves on the variety of their home menus. Every country is famed for certain characteristic dishes, and these thoughtful cooks find that the whole family enjoys the novelty of occasional dishes favored by other nations.

Of course, most of us are too busy to undertake the serving of courses that involve long preparation. Among the Germans, for example, one of the most enjoyable dishes is a Sauerbraten, or sour roast, which takes nearly a full week of soaking in vinegar and spices to make it ready for the table. However, there are scores of other attractive dishes for which we are indebted to those excellent German house wives, and which require but little trouble in preparing.

German style steak, for into any meal. Wilted lettuce, cheese pudding and potato salad are other delightful dishes that every American family should know. So why not try serving a German dinner some night soon? Both of the following menus are de cidedly German in origin, and will prove both wholesome and Steak, German Style—Cut 1/2 inch thick sirloin steak into rectangular pieces about two by four inches. Lay one slice of bacon on each piece of steak, and ½ Sweet Dill Pickle on the bacon. Roll up and secure with a toothpick. Sear in a hot skillet, and place in a casserole. Pour over these meat-rolls a sauce made of % cup water and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Wilted Lettuce with Bacon and Vinegar—Chop several slices of bacon and fry until crisp. Add % cup vinegar, % cup water, about 1 teaspoon sugar, chopped onion and pepper to flavor. Sprinkle chilled lettuce with salt, and pour the bacon sauce over it. Mix thoroughly and serve.

Cheese Pudding—6 slices of bread (1 day old), American Cheese, 1½ cups milk, 2 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 1/8 teaspoon paprika. Cut crusts from bread and lay slices in a buttered casserole, fitting slices to cover the entire surface. Slice cheese, and lay it all over bread covering with the rest of stance, is a toothsome addition the bread. Beat eggs, add milk and seasonings. Pour this mixture over bread and cheese. Bake in a moderate oven until custard is set (about one hour).

Arrangement of Cold Meats Arrangement of Cold Meats on Platter—In the center of an oval platter (on small lettuce leaves), place a mound of Dill Pickles and a mound of Stuffed Spanish Olives. At each end of these mounds, place overlapping slices of cheese. On both sides of the mounds, arrange overlapping slices of Liverwurst, Blutwurst, Cold Ham, Cold Tongue. At one end of the platter place a large mound of lettuce, and at the other end a mound of sliced tomatoes. Garnish with parsley. From this platter each person may make himself a salad or substantial sandwich.

Dutch Potato Salad-2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 2 slices bacon, ¼ cup Pure Cider Vinegar, ½ cup sugar, 1 small onion diced. teaspoon salt. Cut bacon in squares, and fry. Brown the onion and add the Vinegar, salt, sugar, and potatoes. Heat thoroughly.

To Feeders Who Are Particular.

Being particular is the best road to success. Being particular gives us better stock, better farms and better

Why not be particular about the feed you feed. You feed your stock two and three times a day, 365 days a year.

The Key Feeds are blended from the same high quality ingredients that you would use yourself, so uniformally balanced that every important feature for their individual feeding interest has been brought to the highest degree of perfection.

Why Pay More! YOU CANNOT BUY MORE!

Buy Diamond 100% Pure Paint for $3.00 per gal.

Why be satisfied to buy adulterated Paint at all! When you buy Paint containing inerts, you are just taking money out of your own pockets and putting it, as added profit, into the pockets of the manufacturer.

The only ingredients needed in any good house Paint are White Lead, Zinc, Linseed Oil and Dryer. Anything else, except coloring matter enough to make the tint, is adulteration. Diamond Paint is a strictly pure, 100% pure, Paint, $10.00 per gallon cannot produce a better paint. In white and colors, buy DIAMOND PAINT AT $3.00 PER GAL.
