The school teachers of Plainfield, N. J., have voted to provide funds for child relief work, this winter, to the extent of $25,000. The most of the fund will go toward providing hot lunches for about 1000 children, but a portion will go toward clothing and medical attention. The amount will be raised by assessing the salaries of the teachers. Miss Beulah Englar is teacher in one of the schools.

A Ford coupe and a larger car collided at the intersection of Middle St., and Mill road on Saturday night about 11 o'clock. The Ford was going toward Baltimore St., and the large car came out of the road in time to bump the smaller car and badly bend its front axle and fenders. Fortunately neither driver was hurt. This a dangerous spot and drivers as a rule fail to observe any caution going into or out of the narrow road, whether day or night. It is a miracle that a serious accident has not occurred Zone. ORDERS TO "ROAD HOGS"

Buses and Trucks must Observe Rules

The Motor Truck Owners' Association is about to launch a drive to protect passenger car owners from abus-es by a class of truck and bus drivers who have become known as "road hogs." A campaign of road courtest is to commence at once, through in-structions to drivers to keep to the right at all times; to pull over promptly for motorists who signal to pass, and if necessary, even to stop to permit faster vehicles to pass.

A statement issued by the Associa-

A statement issued by the Association says in part;
"The majority of motor truck operators of Maryland respect the rights of the private motorists and do their best to give them a free right of way" said John E. Raine, General Manager of the State Association at Manager of the State Association, at the close of the meeting. "But there are trucks that abuse their privileges and make nuisances of themselves on the road. They represent only a small minority of represent only a small minority of the trucks running, but every motor-ist becomes acquainted with them, sooner or later, whereupon he de-nounces the whole industry. "One road-hog undoes all the good efforts of ten careful drivers. It isn't easy to get all the road hogs and re-educate them. He is more often than not a one truck owner who re-sents any suggestion as unwarranted interference with his private business. Nevertheless, we are going to do our utmost to make all truckers realize that courtesy on the highway is not only good business but sound sense."

SUCCESSFUL BARN MOVING.

The moving of the large bank barn on Chas. Baker's farm about 1½ miles from town on the Westminster road, was a good job. The contractor was Jesse Reifenider, of Baltimore, a former resident of near Taneytown, who considered it a rather easy job by comparison with some large con-tracts he has successfully handled.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY.

This Sunday, Oct. 2nd., is the date of the Sunday School Rallies. Every Sunday School in town will observe this Rally Day. Special programs have been prepared. The Sunday Schools are very anxious to demonstrate their work and invite you to attend their sessions Sunday. The time of sessions in the various schools is given in the Church Notes of this issue of The Record. Your child, especially ought to be in Sunday School. If you are not a member of any school, make your selection and begin attending Sunday School, Oct. 2nd. All schools will be on the lookout for visitors and strangers and will welcome you. EVERY PERSON IN SUNDAY SCHOOL, OCTOBER 2nd.

22 FIRE COMPANY NEWS.

It has been called to the attention of the undersigned committee that bon fires are almost a nightly occurrence in the alleys of the town. fires of paper and rubbish should be burned only in day time, and should be burned only in a container with a lid on top and kept a reasonable distance from buildings.

This is in keeping with Fire Insurance rules. Disregard for these suggestions might be the means of making a Fire Insurance contract void. We earnestly hope that all citizens of the town and community will be more careful along this line, and help in every way possible to keep the town and community free from fire

NEW PARCEL POST RATES.

The new Parcel Post rates go into effect Oct. 1. We have printed handy cards showing the rate on packages from 1 lb to 30 lbs. for all zones. The rates for packages from 31 lbs to 70 lbs. can not be figured out as could be done with the former rates, by add-ing a fixed cost per pound for each mails our cards will be very useful.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM CHINA

A View of the Recent Disasters at Shanghai.

The following letter explains itself, and is one of like character heretofore published in The Record. Should there be any who desire to contribute to this missionary cause, The Record will forward the subscriptions. Dear Friend:

I am writing a bit earlier this year to make requests so you will have more time to prepare your gifts. Not only this, but I would like you to know that I am alive and still at work after all the turmoil and savagery and slaughter and fire that we have passed through. God was good to me that I was not there the night when the mad Japanese crashed thro my district smashing, burning and killing. Those who were there said that it sounded as tho all the fiends were let loose at mid-night. The screams of the suffering and dying were as terrifying as were the savage shouts of the killers.

Later I was allowed to go home "at your own risk," said the Japanese guard. For days I could see the flames raging thro square miles of haildings. I could watch the flames buildings. I could watch the flames eating up the Commercial Press where the printing plates of my Concordance, Sermons and tracts were kept. I could watch the cruel flames devouring my Ragged Sunday School buildings and the homes of my little press and could do nothing but pray ones and could do nothing but pray. I wish I could take you to see the disheartening desolation beginning but a few rods from home and ex-but a few rods from home and extending for miles.

Until the 28th, of January ours was a district with a teeming population and growing prosperity. Many of my Brownies lived in there. Now all that is to be seen are burned houses with no roofs and only shattered walls with sad Chinese digging among the bricks hoping to find precious possessions that might have escious possessions that might have escaped the flames. Or here and there can be seen a few sheets of galvanized iron leaning up against a wall—somebody's home, "a lodge in the wilderness" of desolation. I find it, oh so depressing, to pass through and view it all. Certainly the Japanese will have a terrible account to give for their savagery here and for their continued barbarity in Manchuria. The Lord forgive them. They know not what they do.

I am trying to get my Brownies together again; but it is difficult with most of our Sunday School buildings in ashes and the wee ones scattered from their ruined homes. Of the nine hundred we had last year we hope soon to have gathered again about four hundred. This time allow me to ask you to send a little contribution so I may be able to give my remaining Brownies and also those that we can get together before Christmas a nice "Christmas"—candies and apples and baby dolls and balls and toys—that their gloom may be lightened a little. Also let me reque in renting new buildings with seats and other equipment for hoped-for restored Sunday Schools. These new equipments will take time and money; but we do not wish to throw up our hands hopelessly because of discouragement. I know you too are having hard times at home, so I do not wish to ask for much lest it be a burden. I am asking others also.

Please do not send money to me; but to my brother, Rev. Dr. G. B. F. Hallock, 10 Livingston Park, Rochester, N. Y., telling him it is for my work here. He can deposit your gift in the bank in Rochester and I can draw it out through the bank here, so it need not go through the very unre-liable Chinese Postoffice here. If you have time I would be glad for a letter saying you have sent to my brother and how much and the amount you wish me to spend each for Christmas and for my work of reconstruc-tion and other mission expenses.

I fear this letter sounds a little blue; but I am not discouraged. I have many things to be thankful for. Our Endeavorers' Church was not burned. Conditions might be worse and our God is as precious as ever.

May He give you all a real blessing at all times—especially at Christmas.

With kind regards,

Yours in Christ's glad service,

H. G. C. HALLOCK. P. O. Box No. 1234 Shanghai, China, Aug. 30.

FREDERICK DAIRYMEN MEET Various Problems of Dairymen Farmers are Dismissed.

From the Frederick Post we give a condensed account of a meeting of the Frederick County Milk Producers Association held in Frederick, on Tuesday, at which the problems of the milk producers were pretty thorough-ly discussed, but without any de-

The meeting was called by John McGill, secretary, who made the statement that the meeting was to inform shippers of the situation on the Washington market, of which about 94 percent of the milk, according to Mr. McGill, is controlled by the Maryland and Virginia association. He told the local group in his address that while Baltimore and other markets have shown decreases in milk handled in the past year, the Washington market has shown an increase of from 15,000 to 97,000 gallons per month. Just now, he stated, the production is at its highest point of the year since May, and it is to avoid such situations as have occurred in the glutted markets at Atlanta, New York and elsewhere that the association is calling on its members to cut their

Since the average shipper in this market ships 50 gallons per day, the cut asked for will be two and one-half gallons per day. Mr. McGill contrasted the small comparative estimated loss at that rate with the loss that would occur if the price of milk were to fall several cents."

In closing, he urged a cut in milk production to forestall a cut in the wholesale price of milk. Some favored the plan while others opposed it.

Mr. Dutrow, C. W. Kent, Roy Crum, Mr. Dutrow, C. W. Kent, Roy Crum, Gary Utterback and others questioned Mr. McGill from the floor. He was asked "why can't we do like they did in Iowa and block the roads?" One member urged the association to "stick together," stating that he understood "New York banking interests" were backing another Washington milk organization and that he believed the "interests" were not particularly friendly to local dairymen.

Mr. Dutrow called attention to a recent statement that "any dairyman who uses oleomargarine products who uses oleomargarine products ought to be ashamed to look his cows in the face." He urged every dairyman to inform dealers in butter subanything from them. He added that a meeting would be called soon, he hoped, when dairymen would sign pledges not to deal with vendors of oleomargine products.

MARYLAND CLASSIS Semi-Annual Meeting held in Keys-ville Church.

The regular Fall, or semi-annual meeting of Maryland Classis of the Reformed Church, was held on Tuesday, September 20, in Grace Reformed Church, at Keysville, Rev. Guy P. Bready, pastor. The meeting included morning, afternoon and evening sessions, the final adjournment taking place at 9:45 P. M.

Classis opened at nine o'clock in the morning with a devotional service, conducted by Rev. Claude H. Corl, of Sabillasville.

A number of matters which had been held over from the annual meeting for final disposition were considered. A. A report was presented by the Informant of the Board of Ministerial Relief regarding the application of Rev. Ernest E. Weaver to be taken under the care of the Board. The action of the Board was approved by Classis.

B. A report from Mr. Russell C. Herbert, a student for the ministry under the care of Classis, was submitted by his pastor, Rev. Harvey A. Fesperman, of Hagerstown, and Mr. Herbert was continued as a student under the care of Classis. The application of Mr. Everett Lynch, of the same congregation, to be taken under the care of Classis as a student for the ministry, was presented. Mr. the ministry, was presented. In answer to the request of the Burkittsville Charge, which at present is without a pastor, Classis placed Rev. Peter E. Heimer in the Charge as Stated Supply, and granted aid to the extent of $150.00.

E. The resignation of Rev. Robert L. Bair as pastor of the Funkstown Charge and Stated Supply of St. James Reformed Church at Leitersburg was received and approved. Classis also made provision for continued aid to that work. Revs. J. Wade Huffman and Claude H. Corl, and Elder R. Glenn Williams were appointed a Committee of Supply for the Funkstown Charge. F. A request from the Reformed Churchmen's League that Classis carefully consider its work and aim was granted. Classis appointed a committee, consisting of Revs. Miles S. Reifsnyder, Scott R. Wagner and Elder A. L. McCardell, who favorably reported the work of the League and commended it to Classis.

Matters affecting the Classis' relation to the denomination as a whole were then considered and occupied the attention of the Classis for the rest of the session. The Report of the Committee on Minutes of General Synod, and of the Committee on Minutes of the Potomac Synod were postponed until the annual meeting. The report of the Executive Com-

THREE ROADS SERIOUSLY NEED IMPROVEMENT.

The Record has at different times called attention to the great need of improving three roads that are of much used in this end of the county; the direct road from Taneytown to Union Bridge; the road to Uniontown via Trevanion; and the old direct road to Middleburg.
A beginning for the improvement

A beginning for the improvement of the latter road was made when the Taneytown-Keymar road was commenced; but the Union Bridge and Uniontown roads have had no attention but a little scraping.

If nothing more can be done, at least the stretch of that road from Taneytown to its junction with the Taneytown to its junction with the Union Bridge road at Mr. Martell's farm, should certainly be in the County's program for good roads this coming year.

Property owners and taxpayers,and citizens generally, contiguous to these roads, are becoming very earnest in their demands for recognition, and will soon have to be shown very convincingly why they are not given at-tention. Taneytown, too, is vitally interested in these roads being improved so persons who would naturally come to the town to transast business, can do so, and not be compelled because of bad roads, to go elsewhere.

REGISTRATION DAYS.

Tuesday, Oct. 4, and Tuesday, Oct. 11, are registration days. Any person can register who is duly qualified, and anyone becoming of age before Nov. 8 is entitled to register, and vote on Nov. 8. The registrars will sit from 8 A. M. to 7 P. M.

INSURANCE AND ITS RELATION TO HARD TIMES.

One of the bad effects of the present shortage of cash, is represented in the fact that a number of property owners have left fire and storm insurance policies lapse without renewing. They are "taking a chance" that losses will not occur, and that insurance premiums will represent money sav-

Unfortunately, in dull times the cost of insurance does not drop in cost, but the tendency is for such costs to increase. It is a well known fact to large insurance companies especially, that fires increase in such times; and the reason is that with real estate selling at such low prices, it is often the case that the amount of insurance on buildings is higher than the whole property, land and all-would sell for.

And, this being the case, there is a strong incentive for dishonest persons to fire their buildings and collect on their policies. It is true that not many cases of this kind are actually proven, as suspicion does not constitute evidence, and the companies are usually victimized.

Just now, some of the large "stock" companies, have withdrawn entirely from accepting farm risks, due to their disastrous experience with this class of property; and unoccupied property, outside of protection, is equally undesirable, and with many companies is on the prohibited list.

What is called the "moral" risk, is now considered more widely than ever and agents are expected to know the character, reputation and general honesty of the "insured, and to accept or refuse risks in accordance with this knowledge. Strangers coming into a community are especially objects of considerable scruting before policies

SPENDING FOR PROSPERITY.

The government—the Senate and House of the U. S .- has been trying during the past five years to spend itself into prosperity, and the public is becoming wise to the fact that the plan has been a pronounced failure, so far as the average person can see.

For instance, the figures seem to show, as the result of careful research and tabulation, that the appropriations for 1932 are 63% greater than expenditures for 1927. A few main items will better explain the result.

1927 1932 Agriculture 156,000,000 333,500,000 War Dep. 360,800,000 483,700,000 318,900,000 378,900,000 Veterans 391,500,000 784,400,000 P. O. Deficit 27,300,000 195,000,000

Total, all major Departments, Commissions, etc., for 1927 was $1,964,000, while amount for 1932 was $3,195,-100,000. It is difficult to understand the bigness of millions and billions, but we can pretty well understand the increase from $1.00 to $1.63, which has been spent by Congress; and, the amount would have been greatly larger, except for vetoes.

These are only increases for the Federal government; something like the same spending has been going on in state governments-and, it must be remembered that much of this spending was the result of popular demand.

"Spending ourselves into prosperity," if traced to its end, is a pleasurable fictions with anything but pleasurable results. To a very limited degree, even, it has only temporary value; because spending now, means that we can not spend later; that if we borrow now-bond issues, for instance—we must pay later. In other words, we can not get values for some, without others paying for them, and ultimately most of those who get them must help do the paying-in one way or another.

DR. BUTLER MAKES A NEW EPIGRAM.

tions-"What name would the saloon take in case the 18th. Amendment should be repealed? and, does the Doctor imagine that the speak-easies and boot-leggers would quit, just because the government might in some way try to legalize liquor selling, Presumably Dr. Butler is a highly intellectual man, considering his connection with the great Columbia University, New York, but if he imagines that the mere saying so, by the government, that speak-easies must quit, after the 18th. Amendment is repealed (?) there will be many to doubt the great depth of his intellectuality

His further comments on the question-or his plan-seem to be that the states should have complete individual sale control, and that whatever profit is derived from the sale of liquor should go to the states; but this leaves out of account the brewers, and distillers, and their profits.

But, the Doctor may have had this in mind, but did not say, straight out, at this time, that the government should take over the manufacturing end too. Still, this in itself, would not prevent the operation of the speakeasy, unless the state government is adjudged to be more powerful in such cases than the National governmentwhich may be the exact truth.

THE COMING WINTER.

Without any doubt, the coming winter will see greatly more of relief means that those who can, must supply the cash with which the relief can be supplied. It is perhaps also true, in some degree, that there will be more dependence than usual on relief being forthcoming from "the government," or some other source, that in itself represents a form of Socialism -a sort of common right to share the total supply of money and property.

Almost before we realize it, the winter will be upon us, which means that the little time still intervening should be a time for careful thought, and advance preparation-a trend of thought should be not only very wise, | Monitor. but very determined that all will help one another as best we can, and not unwisely and selfishly place blame where it should not be placed, because the real fact is, that employers and employees, those comfortably well fixed and those not so well, are all But should any driver even taste liabout equally interested in general prosperity.

Always, we are more or less confronted with the necessity of accepting lesser evils; or, as we say, "the next best" thing. Very few can always independently enjoy having their

the best thing to do is do the best we can; be glad that we are not completely down and out, and be very careful to hold on to jobs we have, at least until the winter passes.

** DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME A FANCIFUL IDEA.

It is strange how persons equally wise agree on most important things, differ so radically on things of lesser importance, and argue over them seriously. An illustration of this is found in "daylight saving" time that came to an end, last Sunday, bringing back the standard time everywhere. For instance the Philadelphia Inquirer says of it, editorially-

"The opponents of this dallying with the revolution of the earth will be glad of the change; but a very large number of persons, especially dwellers in cities and their suburbs, will regret it. The sudden shorten-ing of the close of the day is a sharp reminder that winter is fast approaching.

For many reasons it is a great pity that the practice of changing the hands of the clock twice a year can not be made universal. Leaving it to ald. local custom makes for confusion. Sometimes, as in Pennsylvania, legislation has forbidden tampering with the official hour. Thus the City Hall in our town tells us all summer that it is six o'clock when our watches say it is seven. The Commonwealth has yielded to the prejudices of the farmer, who insists that his cows and hens are guided in their habits only by the sun. The objection is more fanciful than real. He has only to get up an hour earlier than his neigh-bors to keep the livestock satisfied."

Why call farmers "prejudiced?" Why should not the proponents of daylight saving realize that their side is "more fanciful than real?" Why should they not regulate their "getting up" so as to agree with standard time, that has been in force for hundreds of years? Truly, the whole subject is one based on imagination, having to do with the turning the clock forward or back an hour. If daylight-saving is good for part of the year, why not for all of the year, so far as the clock is concerned?

** BUSINESS-BEER-AND FORESIGHT.

For several generations one of the cure for matrimooial difficulties. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler pro- foremost qualities and prerequisites duced a new epigram the other day, attributed to the successful business when he said, "The saloon has not man has been the faculty of farsightgone anywhere, it has only married edness. It is appropriate to ask, howthe speak-easy and taken its wife's ever, whether this faculty has been to carry on .- Towson Union-News.

name." And this raises the ques- greatly exercised on the liquor ques- POLITICIANS AND THE FARMER.

The alluring prospect is advanced that the refitting of the breweries would put large amounts of money into circulation and provide new business and employment. Suppose this be granted for the sake of argument. After that, what? The beer seller becomes the competitor of virtually every other business that sells useful goods to mankind, and he passes along notoriously little of his income through wages or payment for grain.

American business has questioned the advisability of equipping Soviet Russia to compete with it. How about equipping the brewer?

Again, it is urged that taxes on legalized beer would assist the public treasury. But that, again, is a shortsighted argument. It counts only immediate financial receipts and fails to count eventual social costs-which are ultimately financial charges in the form of decreased efficiency and increased pauperism, laying their taxes in one way or another on industry.

There are a number of ways in which a momentary fillip could be given to business at the expense of the future. But American business has set its face against most of them such as currency inflation, extravagant public construction or immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus. The beer prosperity argument is on a par with these. The enduring advances in business have been those based on an improvement of the general standwork activity than ever before; which ard of living. The use of liquor fights against that improvement. The standard of living has been raised more rapidly during the twelve years of national prohibition than during any similar period in American his-

> A former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Joseph H. Defrees, coined the statement, "If it is not for the public good it is not good for business." #### DRIVERS WHO IMBIBE.

The automobile driver who drinks to excess is the terror of the road. Death and disaster follow in his wake. quor while he is operating a motor vehicle? Few will answer in the affirmative, and there are some who will contend that the moderate drinker becomes a menace to public safety when he is behind the wheel.

It is undoubtedly a fact that even a little liquor often upsets the balance We can wish and plan, but our and normal attitude of the mind, and wishes and plans often go astray; so affects the drinker's operation of a motor car unfavorably. Liquor makes some persons confident. From other persons it takes away confidence and makes them doubtful and hesitating. Liquor does not mix well with the driving of a motor vehicle.

A motor car or truck is not improperly called a private locomotive. The driver has to undergo training to operate a machine that weighs a ton and can develop a speed in excess of a mile a minute. If it is essential that locomotive engineers abstain from liquor, then it is essential that drivers of motor cars, which have no rails to keep them in their course, abstain from intoxicating drink. The driver of a car should deny himself the use of liquor whether he rides alone or is responsible for the safety of others.

Probably the most difficult case to treat is that of the driver who does not get drunk with the intention of operating a motor vehicle in that condition. And these cases seem to predominate. Those who must have cars in the garage.—Sykesville Her-

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP.

"If I had to do over again, I would not divorce my husband, and this is a fact I should not confess to a single, living soul.'

An anonymous author in Harper's Magazine, writing an account of her difficulties and loneliness since she left her husband, voices an opinion that we believe is held by many men and women who have severed the ties of matrimony.

Many persons driven by hasty tempers, quick judgments or an unwillingness to make necessary sacrifices, take steps that often spell suffering for children and broken lives for the parents.

Persons who find themselves mismated might do well to hesitate and give serious consideration to the prospects of loneliness and frustrated hopes before taking the final action that leads to permanent separation. Married life where there is uncon-geniality undoubtedly has its drawbacks but a divorce is often not the There are occasions when divorces are unavoidable, but there are many

The farmer may be forgotten much of the time by the city folks, but anyway the political parties all love him just before election. Every party is going to relieve his deplorable troubles, and they all weep over his sad afflictions. The farmer has had golden promises handed out to him so often, that he is quite skeptical about them now. He wants something more than warm handshakes, and eloquent tributes to the greatness of agricul-

It is generally admitted that farming has suffered more than any other occupation. The average price of farm products is now below pre-war figures, while the average price of other goods is still around 25 percent. above pre-war.

In some way or other, this disproportion, which is all wrong, should be corrected, and must be. Either the farmer is entitled to buy cheaper, or means must be found to raise his prices. However, if he keeps raising much bigger crops than the market will consume, it is hard to see how the price can be jacked up very much.-Frederick Post.

ANOTHER MARCH ON WASHING-TON.

A conference of farmers is a not unnatural consequence of the strike or 'farm holiday'' movement in the Middle West; but in timing it to coincide with the reassembling of Congress the promoters have followed a bad precedent. While there may be no such disorders as followed the march of the bonus army, the intention is plainly to bring direct pressure to bear upon the legislators. With the election over, they may be less easily intimidated than if it were still to come. But the choice of Washington at such a time suggests a policy of threats. There is significance in the fact that delegates have resolved upon presenting "demands." The statement that "a national relief program will be formulated by dirt farmers from every section" does not disguise the real purpose of the gathering.

The problem of farm relief is admittedly a difficult one, and no adequate solution has yet been found for it. The farmers are more intimately concerned in it than any other class, and that they should get together and state their views is perfectly proper. But they will gain little by a radical attitude that does not appeal to the sound sense of the Nation. One of the chief proposals, already presented at a meeting of Governors, is a moratorium on all their debts. It is at least possible that in this case the remedy might be worse than the disease. The farmers can not wholly dissociate their welfare from that of other interests. Nor can they "proclaim the right" to remain in their homes and have "all foreclosures, tax sales, or evictions stopped" with due regard to the rights of others.

Whatever the justice of their cause. a march on Washington is the fast way to demonstrate it. Much has been said, and properly, of the evils of secret lobbying. But this open lobbying-for such it amounts to% has evils also. If new legislation is needed in the interest of the farmers it should be passed without whip and spur .-Phila. Inquirer.

"There is an improvement in the American newspaper press upon which we look with a favorable eyethe employment of talented men as conductors," noted the Ononadaga, (N. Y.) Register 100 years ago. "But a few years have elapsed since the business of a newspaper editor was deemed that of a mere compiler, and their intoxicants should leave their he who was the most expert with scissors was deemed the most competent. Now the case is different, and the editorial chairs of some of our gazettes are filled by men of the first standing and ability, while the pens of jurists and statesmen of high rank are not considered as disgraced by being occasionally employed in contributing to their columns."-Detroit

Cat's Powerful Jaws

The strength, agility and ferocity of the wild cat are proverbial and illustrated in the following story: A deer watcher's wife had lost several hens. A wild cat was suspected, and traps were set in several likely spots. One morning a large specimen was found in one, caught by a hind leg. Instinctively, the keeper stretched forward his gun, which the enraged cat seized with claws and teeth. On withdrawal, the gun showed, as it still does distinctly, the impression of the cat's teeth in the hollow, solid part between the barrel. The skin, which was in splendid fur, measured 45 inches from top to tip.

DEPRESSION FAILS TO STOP CON MEN

Swindlers Find Victims in Parisian Cafes.

Paris.—The success with which two unimaginable "confidence men" swindled a visiting Australian millionaire in a popular boulevard cafe recently indicates that the world depression is not universal.

Despite repeated successes of these "con men" in this most well known of Parisian sidewalk cafes, the victims still seem to come from somewhere and still provide easy money for plausthle crooks, who not only go by unpunished, but who return at a later date with a different passport, a different name, and different mustache, perpetuating the some old gag and disappearing before their victim has time to get to the police station.

Only recently a trusting Australian gentleman dropped upwards of 4,000,-000 francs on the flimsiest of flim-flam games. The two police thugs who trimmed the amiable visitor were old offenders, and their appearance was signalized in Paris. But police action came only when the venerable gentleman had parted with his millions,

Use Simple System.

In this particular cafe the simplest of systems are employed. Many victims probably get wise and fail to collaborate, but when a brother falls these thugs make it well worth the time lost on their bad guesses. The prevalent gag if for one of the swindlers to take a chair on the terrace of a popular cafe where all the world goes and wait until some particular bird of prey arrives.

The victim selected is either chosen by prearranged tactics on the part of the gang, or a victim is chosen at random because of his apparent or supposed possession of ready wealth. The "con man," so to speak, having an engaging personality, soon makes the acquaintance of the victim and, if the victim is at all susceptible, the worldly arts of a gentleman who has lived both in and out of jails, under every circumstance on all continents, soon makes its insidious effect, and two firm friendships are formed. Drinks follow, confidences about famfly; home towns, women, men and

The crook is apparently wealthy, just a careless fellow whose people are rich, or whose uncle is president of a big corporation, and whose acquaintance is vast among men of circumstance. To make money bores him, because he has plenty.

Flattering Overt.

By devious means the crook establishes the approximate wealth of his victim. And, by some singular coincidence, a venerable gentleman happens by the cafe. He speaks to the crook as though he might be the son of his elder business partner. The first crook invites his respected friend to join them in a drink. He explains overtly that the old gentleman is one of America's or England's greatest bankers, the silent partner of ship lines, oil concessions, gold mines and scandalously rich, who is retired but who goes to the stock exchange as a matter of long habit.

The two crooks talk of a little deal. Perhaps they leave their new friend out of this little deal. The next day they met again, and the elderly gentleman turns over a few thousand francs with a bored air as the winnings of their little deal. They offer to let their victim in on one of those little deals, and they even bet jocularly among themselves who will get trimmed on the next stock deal. This goes on until the friend is convinced that he is in good company. Then comes the real deal. The victim lays out cash, a specially big prize on a new stock. The next day the two friends cross the frontier and the innocent victim calls shame-facedly on the

Shakespeare at Close of His Marvelous Life

For weeks before his death, Shakespeare lay ill at New Place. His will was drawn up and executed. As he saw his end approaching he must have gone over again the life he had lived here in the flesh and in the spirit. Like the spirit of God, he had gone up and down the earth incarnating himself in men of every sort. He had worn motley and ermine; put on the crown and the coxcomb; wielded the scepter, and tossed the bauble. He had borne sway as Caesar, reveled and raged as Antony, as Macbeth had murdered sleep, and as Othello thrown a pearl away "richer than all his tribe." He had dreamed and moralized as Hamlet; laughed and lied, swaggered and drunk deep, as Falstaff. He had lived and spoken in more than 800 separate characters. He had been born in all conditions; he had died in glorious battles and in senseless brawls. He had made the world merry with his humor, and brooded over more things in heaven and earth than are "dreamt of" in our philosophy. There was no joy he had not tasted—no daggerpoint of pain he had not felt. Through all he was leaving to the world he had breathed a faith profound in justice, nobility and truth, and the redeeming power of pity and forgiveness. Best of all, he had mastered his own soul. His hand was firm upon the tiller, and he had unfailing stars to steer by, when at last he set his sail, and turned his prow to the dark waters of the unknown sea.-Hon. Wendell Phillips Stafford, District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Accumulations of Coal

From Vegetable Tissue In the formation of coal many problems still remain unsolved but there is general agreement in its vegetable origin, of which, in most cases, indubitable proof can be obtained in the plant structures still observable in thin or polished sections. Coal, therefore, represents vegetable material which has escaped the ordinary processes of decomposition, but has undergone certain chemical and physical alterations. The chemical changes from vegetable tissue to coal consists in the elimination of the more volatile constituents whereas the physical modifications resulting mainly from pressure, render the product more compact and hence more satisfactory where large quantities of fuel are necessary.

Although plant life has grown profusely over large portions of the continental land masses for millions of years, most of the excess beyond that utilized by the animals of the globe has died and been quickly decomposed; in which process the oxidizable particles returned to the atmosphere from whence they came. During several periods, however, nature has produced the requisite conditions for preservation and prepared great accumulations, upon which the industrial life of the present day is absolutely dependent.-Boston Post.

Ancient English Coin

The English guinea is worth 21 shillings; at par, about $5.11. But there is no current coin called the guinea. It was issued between 1663 and 1813, and was so called because it was first struck out of gold from the Guinea coast of Africa, and first served in the Guinea trade. The earliest issues bore a small elephant beneath the head of the king and had a normal value of 20 shillings. Due to the depreciated condition of the silver coin with which it competed the guinea was always worth more than its face and in 1717 was made a. legal tender for 21 shillings. It is still a custom for professional fees, subscriptions and the price of various luxuries to be paid in guineas, though there is no such coin in use.

Venice Once Art Center

Venice was the great center of the glass industry in medieval and more modern times. The art began in Venice in the Seventh century. marked improvement is noted in the Venetian product subsequent to the conquest of Constantinople in 1204, where the Venetians found new inspiration. In 1291 Venetian glass establishments were removed to the island of Murano. A guild was formed there and secrets of the art were jealously guarded. It was about 1436 when colored glass sprung into prominence. In this same century and the following one, ornamentation in gilt and enamel was started.

Birth of the Icebox

The value of refrigeration was discovered almost simultaneously in England and Germany by accident. In England, a hunter left a slain deer in the open. The deer was frozen stiff and later eaten. To the amazement of the diners, the venison was more tender than usual and had its full flavor. In northern Germany a huntsman stowed a number of birds in a box slung beneath his sleigh and forgot them. Several weeks later he found the birds in a frozen condition and ate them. From these two discoveries the icebox resulted.

LARGER BANK NOTES GAINING IN FAVOR

Hoarding One of Reasons Advanced by Financiers.

Washington. - Paper currency of high denomination has notably increased in the last three and one-half years. In outstanding $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 notes the net gain has been $732,198,550. Outstanding $5,000 and $10,000 bills decreased $148,135,000, while other high denomination paper gained $880,333,-500 between January 31, 1929, and June 30, 1932.

Neither the treasury nor the federal reserve has analyzed the paper money data to the extent necessary to determine the exact reason for the tremendous gain in the $100, $500 and $1,000 bills. Hoarding and the use of money in large units by gangsters, racketeers, bootleggers and other illicit gentry have been advanced as factors in the large amount of outstanding bills in the $100 to $1,000

Laid to Hoarders.

Recently at the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia, Edmund Platt of New York, vice president of the Marine Midland corporation and former vice governor of the federal reserve board, was asked whether he thought $1,000 and $10,000 notes were "money" in the sense of useful circulating medium and why they were issued by the federal reserve system. Mr. Platt said that the only issue of $1,000 notes by his bank he could recall had been one which was sent to Cuba. Mr. Platt understood that the bills were to be used for betting on horse races.

Robert Warren of New York asserted that $10,000 bills were used instead of gold by those who, lacking confidence in banks, have withdrawn their money from deposit and transferred it to safety deposit boxes to the amount of about $2,000,000,000.

In determining the amount of hoarding, treasury and federal reserve experts have considered the requirements of business and the amount of currency in circulation. On this basis, hoarding has been estimated as runing from $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,-000, including the abnormal volume of money maintained in vaults by banks to meet emergencies. On June 30 the total amount of money in circulation was $5,695,041,717, or an increase of $874,000,000 during the year in the face of declining business. Circulation at the end of the 1932 fiscal year was $948,000,000 higher than June 30, 1929, and $1,174,000,000 higher than June 30, 1930.

Use Smaller Bills.

Considerable doubt is expressed in Washington whether criminal elements make great use of banknotes of above $1,000. Normally, they use "more negotiable" money. Not much change in their banking habits has been noted. Nevertheless, $100, $500 and $1,000 bills may be used to a considerable extent in the bootlegging business. Hoarders of large sums undoubtedly use bills of $100, $500 and $1,000.

Between January 31, 1929, and June 30, 1932, the largest gain in outstanding bills was that of the $100 denomination: it was $441,246,300. The $500 bills increased $177,100,250; the $1,000 bills, $261,987,000, In $5,000 bills there has been an increase of $13 .-000,000 since January 31, 1930; in the last six months it came to $1,000,000. But from 1929 to this month a net decrease of $48,505,000 is recorded.

Five and $2 bills decreased. The reduction in outstanding $10,000 bills. as shown by treasury books, was $429,-630,000. However, of that amount $330,000,000 was accounted for by the retirement in May, 1929, of a reserve in gold certificates maintained in the New York assay office, bringing the actual decrease in the $10,000 bills to $99,630,000. As these bills were sent to the treasury for redemption they were retired.

Indian Women First to

Make Marvelous Laces Feminine tourists to South American cities find keen delight in the beautiful laces which are used in profusion by women of Spanish blood throughout the entire world.

Strange as it may seem, however, many of the laces found in South America are not of Spanish origin, but were made by the Indian women long before the coming of the conquistadores.

A particular lace which might well be mistaken for a cobweb, so fine is its texture and design, has been made by the Indian women of Paraguay for so long that its origin is lost in the obscurity of legends. It takes much time and infinite patience to make this lace, known as nanduti, and only those who have known the art from mother to daughter really know how to do it.

The nanduti lace is to be found only in Paraguay. No other country makes it, and many buyers are sent from other countries in South America to purchase it.

In Paraguay, frequently whole villages are employed in the manufacture of these laces. If you pass the half-opened door of one of the homes in these villages, you will see all the women of the family, from the young girls to the old grandmothers, bending over the frames making these

Insane Once Believed to Be Devil-Possessed

Since we know so little of the inner workings of the human mind, insane asylums are really only places where the mentally ill are kept. And yet when one compares these institutions and the care given to the insane with methods used formerly, the least one can say is that the insane are now handled reasonably.

Philippe Pinel, born in 1745, was not only an apostle of reasonableness as well as of human goodness, but possessed the medical training needed to cast aside the ignorant superstitions regarding the insane. In those days in France, and in fact all over Europe, the insane were flogged, were believed to be possessed by the devil, were loaded with chains and imprisoned with the sick and criminal.

As head of the Bicetre hospital in 1793 and as director of the Salpetriere in 1795, Pinel cast aside the chains of the insane inmates, substituted warm baths for the cold water immersion and instituted many reforms that seem only natural to us. Claude Lillingsston also has offered to readers of Hygeia Magazine the biography of Philippe Pinel, another of the "Pioneers of Medicine."

Short Story of Paper

About the time of Alexander the Great, paper began to be manufactured from an Egyptian plant called papyrus, whence comes the name paper. It became so valuable that the export of paper from Egypt was prohibited. The Greeks and Romans did not have the secret and so they commenced to make use of skins prepared for the purpose. The product of sheepskin was called "parchment" and that of calves was called "vellum." Finally these pieces were made up into a continuous roll and called "volumen. which is the origin of the word "volume." Julius Caesar was responsible for making writing material in the form of pages, which was more convenient than the great roll. In inscribing the papyrus the ancients made use of a piece of bamboo cut much in the shape of the pen as we knew it.

Seeing, They See Not

As there are persons who seem to walk through life with their eyes open, seeing nothing, so there are others who read through books, and perhaps even cram themselves with facts, without carrying away any living pictures of significant story which might arouse the fancy in an hour of leisure, or gird them with endurance in a moment of difficulty. Ask yourself, therefore, always when you have read a chapter of any notable book, not what you saw printed on a gray page, but what you see pictured in the glowing gallery of your imagination. . . . Count yourself not to know a fact when you know that it took place, but then only when you see it as it did take place .- Professor Blackie.

Nature Knows!

The stomach prevents itself from being dissolved by its own gastric juices because old Dame Nature wisely arranged that it should consist of a substance that is immune from such dissolution. In this nature is wiser than the amateur scientist who boasted long and loud that he had invented a liquid that would dissolve anything it touched.

Tired of his boasting, a listener silenced him by asking him quickly: "What do you propose to keep it was literally one who took notes-a shorthand writer; hence, an official whose duty it was to record transactions, certify the authenticity of documents, etc. In English and American law the term now applies to a person of somewhat similar functions, who takes acknowledgment of, or otherwise certifies or attests, various writings, usually under his official seal, to make them authentic.

Notary Public The term "notary public" is ancient. Among the Romans a notary

GINSENG IMPORTANT ITEM IN COMMERCE

Crop United States Grows but Does Not Use.

Washington. - "Ginseng's popularity with the Chinese seems to defy falling markets and political disorders, for last year more than a quarter million pounds were exported from the United States to Hong Kong," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

"Ginseng has been an item in United States commerce since Colonial times. The first American cargo boat that cleared New York for Hong Kong, in 1784, carried ginseng. The Chinese drink ginseng tea for its tonic quality. Though we raise it and sell it, the tea has never been highly regarded in the United States, and very little is consumed here.

"Ginseng is a plant that grows from 8 to 20 inches high, has oval-shaped leaves, bears greenish-yellow blossoms in mid-summer and red berries in the fall. It thrives in mountain areas of temperate North America and Asia. The above-ground portion of the plant is not utilized; it is the thick root that enters commerce.

"Long before Marco Polo passed down the Cathay coast, ginseng tea was a favorite tonic among the nobility and wealthy people of China. The poor could not afford to drink the brew. It was once worth its weight in gold. Last year's shipments averaged about $8 per pound.

Made Oriental Nobles Rich.

"Most of the early oriental ginseng grew in the mountains of Korea and Manchuria. Every plant was owned by the ruling houses. Korean kings derived most of their revenue from ginseng roots. Manchurian rulers waxed rich.

"Shape has much to do with ginseng price fixing. The more a root is shaped like a man, the more valuable it is on the Chinese market.

"Ginseng played an important part in oriental politics in the Seventeenth century. Manchu nobles, seeing their supply of wild ginseng depleted, made laws to protect their plants against the raids of southern Chinese. Protection of ginseng resources was one of the reasons for the laws which excluded all Chinese from the domain of the Manchus. Operations of ginseng smugglers, however, persisted.

"Chinese prefer the wild ginseng, although the American layman cannot detect the difference between the wild and cultivated roots. With the depletion of the oriental wild ginseng supply, the American Colonist readily found a market for the roots which grew at the back doors of their vil-

"Perhaps the first American ginseng collections were trappers who discovered the plants while making their rounds. Later search for the plant led professional hunters into the trackless American forests. Thus ginseng helped open up new regions to the Colonists.

Ginseng Farms Established.

"Wild ginseng thrives in mountain regions from Minnesota to Maine and southward to the Gulf coast. As in the Orient, domestic wild roots became scarce and high prices paid for the roots led enterprising Americans to establish farms. Some growers have profited from ginseng cultivation, but small fortunes also have been lost. It takes from six to seven years of expert care to develop a mature root. Some domestic ginseng farms have been established in the woods where the wild roots thrive. Others have been established in clearings, but in these cases the farms are roofed so that only one-fourth of the day's sunshine will strike the plants.

"Most of the ginseng exported from the United States today is of the cultivated variety."

Gold Tadpoles Found in State Fish Hatchery

Columbus, Ohio.-T. H. Langlois, chief of the bureau of fish propagation of the division of conservation, reported to State Conservation Commissioner William Reinhart that golden tadpoles had been found in the state fish hatchery at Xenia, Ohio.

Declaring that he had never heard of a golden tadpole before, Langlois expressed the opinion they were the young of the leopard frogs. He observed that such tadpoles were ordinarily black, but that the golden color may have resulted from pigmentary changes.

Still another theory was advanced by state museum authorities, who pointed out it "might be albinism, although albino phases have never been discovered in adult frogs and albino tadpoles would naturally be white."

The golden tadpoles are being segregated by Ernest Harner, superintendent of the Xenia hatchery, for study and experimental purposes.

Two Are Hitch-Hiking Across Sahara Desert

Paris .- Two young Londoners have made their way half the distance across the Sahara as the desert's first hitch-hikers, walking and catching rides on camel caravans. William Donkin and Norman Peran were reported recently to be near Fort Flatters on the edge of the Hoggar, a region inhabited by the wildest of desert tribes. From Fort Flatters they will go to Fort Polignac, then across the Hoggar to Tamanrasset and on to Kano in the Niger colony.

Another good friend of Mt. Union departed this life, on Friday night, Sept. 23rd., when the spirit of Wm. Hoffman Myers passed peacefully away. For nearly six years he had been in ill health, and confined to bed iron the horizon t since the beginning of this year, but uncomplaining. For a strong farmer to become enfeebled and nearly helpless and bear it so patiently, is a lesson worth learning. We recall his helpful services at Mt. Union, where he did much hauling when the church was rebuilt, and was always ready to lend a helping hand. The funeral service was held at the home in Union Bridge, on Monday afternoon, conducted by Elder J. J. John of the Brethren Church, assisted by Rev. P. H. Williams, of the Lutheran Church. D. D. On a recent drive westward, we crossed over 3 new bridges in Frederick Co., and while we do not understand mechanical engineering, this seemed marvelous to us and looks beautiful. The one at Ceresville took a long time, from start to finish, but is splendid, and has straightened the road nicely. The one between Grace-ham and Rocky Ridge will be alright, too, when the surroundings are completed; and that known as "Miller's Bridge" is great and the road so well protected for a country highway.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon, at 1:30, in the Silver Run Lutheran Church, in charge of Rev. W. E. Saltzgiver. Interment will be in the Lutheran cemetery Taneytown.

DISAPPEARANCE OF JUDGE IS MYSTERY

Two-Year Search for New York Jurist Unavailing.

New York.—Two years ago Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater sauntered casually out of Haas' restaurant, 332 West Forty-fifth street, Manhattan, stepped into a taxicab, waved a jovial farewell to the friends with whom he had been dining, and drove off into oblivion.

Not only have the police been unable to find any trace of him, dead or alive, but they have been unable to locate the taxi driver or cab in which many of his friends believe he took his last ride.

But whatever his fate, he left behind him a baffling mystery that already has taken its place beside the mysterious disappearance of Dorothy Arnold and Charlie Ross.

Intensive Search Futile.

Never in recent years has there been so intensive or so futile a search for a missing person. Coming in the midst of the investigation of charges that District Leader Martin J. Healy had accepted a $10,000 bribe for obtaining George W. Ewald an appointment as city magistrate, it created a political sensation.

The attorney general's investigation into the Healy-Ewald charges was extended to cover other charges which were sent from various sources to the attorney general affecting higher and lower courts. The attorney general dug deep into the Crater disappearance in an effort to learn whether his mysterious absence had any connection with the judicial probe. He could find none. The police, personal friends and members of the family of the jurist were equally unable to find any reason why he should vanish. The board of aldermen offered a reward of $25,-000 for information as to his whereabouts. Mayor Walker offered $5,000 reward. Other rewards were offered by the newspapers.

It was estimated that in all some $250,000 was spent in running down will-o' the-wisp clews in various parts of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba. The search is still on.

Legally Justice Crater is still alive. His wife, Mrs. Stella Crater, still clings to a tenuous hope that he may actually be so.

If he is alive, a secondary mystery is how a man with such unusual characteristics can remain undiscovered after his photograph and description have been spread so widely throughout virtually the entire civilized world.

For Crater's appearance was such as would attract attention anywhere. Although he was six feet tall and weighed 185 pounds, his head was so small that he wore a 61% hat. With all his bulk, he had a long, thin neck, and wore a size 14 collar. Crater was appointed to the Supreme court bench on April 8, 1930, by Governor Roosevelt to succeed Joseph

F. Proskauer. Spending the summer of 1930 with his wife at Belgrade Lake, Maine, where they had been going for 15 years, Crater received a telephone call August 2 and told his wife he wa going to Manhattan on important po#### litical business.

Never Saw Him Again. On August 4, 5 and 6 he was in his chambers in the New York county courthouse, according to his personal attendant, Joseph Mara, son of John Mara, Tammany leader of the twentythird A. D. On August 6, Mara said, Justice Crater spent most of the morning tearing up papers and putting others in a brief case and in four cardboard boxes. Then he sent Mara out to cash two checks totaling $5,100. Mara returned with the money and helped the jurist carry the boxes of papers and the brief case to his apartment at 40 Fifth avenue, Manhattan. He told Mara he was "going up in Westchester for a swim" and would be back the next day. That was the last Mara ever saw of him. But he did not go to Westchester that afternoon and his movements have been traced that night up to the time he entered the mystery cab. At 6:30 he purchased a theater ticket at the theatrical ticket office of Joseph Grainsky in Times Square. Then he went to the Forty-fifth street restau-

In the restaurant he dined with William Klein, attorney for Shubert brothers; a show girl named Sally Lou Ritz, and her parents. They left the restaurant with him and it was to them he waved farewell after he stepped into the taxicab.

USES RADIO EARS TO SPY ON WIFE: SHE USES PARROT

Irate Husband Hears Bird's Baby Talk and a Hot Time Follows.

Chicago.—How Byron Putman, engineer, inventor and volunteer supervisor of morals, devised a most amazing "automatic detective" to spy on his wife-and how she fooled him with the aid of a mere parrot—is the favorite story at the dinner tables of Wheaton, fashionable suburb of Chi-

One thing that the inventor overlooked, apparently, is the fact that there is one thing electricity cannot do-think.

Details of the astonishing story came to light as the aftermath of a stormy morning in the Putman home. when Putman was indulging in a hobby which is bliss to him and torture to his wife-cornet playing.

Played and Played. Over and over again, as it was later brought out in court, he played "Nearer, My God, to Thee," missing a note now and then, flatting and sharping, and starting over again-patientlyuntil, not his patience, but his wife's was exhausted and she sprang to the

With every finger a little hammer, and with every blow on the keys an eloquent protest, she drowned his hymn with "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town,"

And there was. He pulled her off the bench. They wrestled on the floor. She hit him with the heel of her slipper. And away he went-for a warrant! Charge: Assault.

She couldn't deny she had hit him. But she could tell why. And it was in telling why that she revealed the existence of that automatic detective "This whole house," said she, "is rigged up with instruments to spy on everything I say and do. If I get up in the night and go to the kitchen for a drink of water, there will be an automatic record in the morning showing that I opened the kitchen door at such and such a minute."

She pointed to a shadowy object tucked up in the fireplace in the living room.

"It's a microphone," said she. "Imagine that! So sensitive it can hear a whisper. Wires lead down to the coal bin in the basement-an' that's where my husband spends a lot of his leisure time."

Radio a Spy.

She pointed to the radio. "It looks like anybody else's radio," said she, "but my husband has fixed it so it's a miniature broadcasting station. That thing that used to be a loud speaker is now another microphone. Well, when the thing is set, Byron will tell me he has to go downtown. Does he go there? He does not. He goes out and sits in his car. He's got a radio receiver there, tuned to his private station, so he can listen to me. "That's the way my life goes. He wants us to be divorced, but he wants to get the decree, for fear the may be awarded to me-and if I ever get it, believe me, I'll rip out a few miles of wire." Mrs. Putman stopped short and giggled as-from a cage in the corner-

a squawk was heard. "That's the co-respondent in this case—Tootsie," she said. "Tootsie has a nice baritone voice when he wants to use it. So when I figure that my husband is down in the coal bin with his headphones on, or out in the car with his radio tuned to Station Adelaide-that's my name-I sometimes try to rescue the poor fellow from boredom by exchanging a bit of tender conversation with Tootsie-

Tootsie the stooge! Cruel?" Offered Home or Dog, Bobby Chooses the Dog

Kansas City, Mo.-Two alternatives faced a tear-faced boy here—a real home with a real bed and real meals or a chance to keep his dog. Bobby Brassfield, fourteen, asked at a police station for a place to sleep. He had run away from home, he said, and traveled 300 miles. He and his dog, Bessie, had walked and ridden freight trains together during the long journey from his home in Memphis, Tenn. Now Bobby and Bessie stood before the juvenile judge. Bobby wanted to go back to his folks, in Memphis, Tenn., and was even willing to go to school again, but he didn't have a dime. "I'll give you $5 for the dog," Judge

Henry Meade offered. Bobby began to cry. Finally he rejected the offer. He'd go to jail, he'd try to make a living for himself-but he and Bessie would never leave each

So the judge gave him $5 anyway, and Bobby and Bessie bought a ticket to ride back to their home.

The Maryland Crop, reporting service, in co-operation with the Extension Service of the University of Maryland, says;
"Indications are that the apple crop will be 36 percent this Fall against an 83 percent crop last year and a ten-year average of 57 percent. The total crop this year is predicted to be in the neighborhood of 1,444,000 bushels, while the crop last year produced 3,458,000 bushels. The 1931 commercial apple crop in the state was 650,000 barrels while the indicated crop this year is expected to be 266,000 barrels. The yield on the Eastern Shore is indicated as lighter than Washington and other Western Shore counties.'

LIGHT ON BONUS SITUATION.

Carl P. Dennett, chairman of the banking and industrial committee of the First Federal Reserve District, Boston, is reported in the Christian Science Monitor with having made the statement that the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Warsrival organizations-have been influenced in their position on the cash payment of the veterans' bonus by their keen rivalry for new members, and to hold their members.

That these bodies maintain paid lobbies, in Washington, where there seems to be good evidence that the American Legion continually uses political influence to obtain its ends.

The statement says that the total membership of the two organizations is only 28 percent of the terms. is only 28 percent of the total number of World War veterans now living.

Mr. Dennett says the public should remember that the movement of these organizations should not necessarily construed as the will or wishes of the majority of the veterans; and that it is the fact that a very large number of them are opposed to the recent demands of the payment of the bonus

Thieves Take Car, Make

Its Owner Change Tire Chicago. - Three daring Chicago bandits made one of their victims change tires on the auto they had stolen from him and later held up a gasoline filling station almost under the noses of a squad of detectives. After a chase they escaped. As William O. Miller halted his car at a stop light, the three men, all holding pistols, jumped on the running board and ordered him to drive on. A few minutes later the car had a blowout and the bandits compelled Miller to get out and change tires. Then they took $4 and his watch from him

CALENDAR ORDERS.

The most of the Calendar orders received, this year, have already been shipped to us. It is getting late to place orders, but we will do our best to get the designs selected later. Only a very few of our regular patrons have not yet ordered, so this notice is largely for the information of those who have not been buying regularly from us.

Remember, single shipments after we have closed our orders—which will be about Nov. 1—must pay express charges. Until that time, we pay them.

SOME UGLY LITTLE IMPS.

If you don't believe in fairies, and the elves are not your friends, And you have no faith in brownies or in gnomes,

Let me give you just a glimpse
Of the ugly little IMPS
That invade today so many happy

IMPoliteness is an IMP whom every child should try to shun, And older people, too without a doubt;

IMPatience is another
Who will cause you a lot of bother
'Less you send him quickly to the right about.

IMPertinence and IMPudence are naughty little twins;
And, oh, it is astonishing to see
The mischief that they do; And, my dear, if I were you, Their comrade I would never, never

One little IMP will sit astride a pencil or a pen Whene'er there is a problem hard in view,

And draw his mouth 'way down,
And whine out with a frown,
"IMPossible, IMPossible to do!"

IMPrudence and IMPenitence and IMPulse are three more (Though the latter is not always under ban):

And there are more, no doubt,
Who are hovering about
To get us into mischief if they can.

Of little foxes you have heard, who spoil the lovely vines.

These ugly IMPS are dangerous, too, you see.
Let us raise a battle shout!
We may put them all to rout!
Oh, what a glorious victory that would be!

Thief Gets Warden's $450 as Prison Opens

Media, Pa.-The dedication exercises for Delaware county's new $1,000,000 "prison hotel" at Broadmeadows farms, near here, caused Warden Samuel E. Turner to lose $450 to pickpockets. Three other citizens attending the ceremonies lost a total of $20. "A fine way to open a prison," remarked Warden

FIND STOLEN GEMS AFTER LONG HUNT

Owner Gets Loot After Paying for Robber's Funeral.

Breckenridge, Texas.-After a five months period, during which it seemed many times that the trail was hopelessly lost, Louis Daiches, local jeweler, has finally received what he declares is the last of the jewels stolen from him by a bandit on the morning of November 9, 1931.

The last installment came from Popularville, Miss., in a package containing 13 diamond rings valued at $2,000. But it was not as easy as that sounds. The bandit robbed the store as a clerk opened for business. Local officers traved all leads, and seemed to have come to a standstill. Then a farm youth kicked over a coffee can on a Palo Pinto county farm and saw a $2,500 diamond ring and several expensive wrist watches roll out.

The can also contained an undershirt with the initials "J. W. W." It was the clew that finally led to recovery of the jewels. The bandit was identified and a Stephens county grand jury indicted him, but his whereabouts was unknown. There followed a bank raid in Louisiana, and a man was killed by officers. In the lining of his cap was found $2,000 in cash and 13 diamonds.

Daiches made a trip to Mississippi, and, by paying for the bank robber's funeral, obtained the jewels, which he had identified as his own.

Crazed Farmer Kills Self With Dynamite

Richmond, Va.-Caroline county officials are investigating the sale of six sticks of dynamite to George Duibak, a farmer bereft of his reason by financial troubles, who used the explosive to commit suicide.

While his family looked on, Duibak slashed the throats of his horses and cattle and then lighted the fuse attached to the dynamite and blew himself to pieces.

His children fled from the barn, which was destroyed in a second explosion which their father had caused by lighting a longer fuse.

Numbered Phone Poles

Used as Guides in Maine Surry, Maine .- "Where does Farmer

Brown live?" Once it would have been a problem for a native to reply to the stranger asking this question, for Surry's dwellings are numberless.

But now the tourist inquiring the way to Farmer Brown's may be told: "Go down the road to telephone pole No. 137."

Each telephone pole in Surry bears an aluminum number for guidance of company linemen, and residents have come to use these identification marks in lieu of house numbers

Fisherman's "Catch" Is 100 Pound Anchor

Lawrence, Mass.—Samuel Rudkin went deepsea fishing recently. Luckless for over an hour, his line finally grew taut. It took all his strength to pull in the catch, which proved to be an anchor weighing nearly 100 pounds.

If This Be Treason-

New York .- Patrick Henry was arrested recently while making a speech in a Brooklyn park. He was deprived of his liberty for one day. Henry was charged with intoxication.

Coyote Bands Slay Deer on U. S. Reservation

Hollister, Calif.-Coyote bands, lead by gaunt, gray prairie wolves, are slaughtering the deer herds of Pinnacles national monument, visitors to the reservation report.

Fearing the deer would be completely wiped out, national park authorities sent a government trapper into the reservation several months ago. He caught forty coyotes anl three prairie wolves.

The recent discovery of eight carcasses of deer slaughtered by coyotes and wolves, however, has caused Pinnacles officials to renew their trapping activities.

Petting of Fawns Brings Big Fine in California

San Francisco. - Tender-hearted persons who yearn to pet "those sweet little fawns" in the hills south of here must control that yearning, the state fish and game commission warns.

And it will cost just $500 to pet a small deer. Because the doe often refuses to reclaim her fawn if it has the odor of a human hand upon it the state prohibits by law the picking up, moving, or petting of fawns.

The small deer often become attached to persons who pet them and will follow them like pet dogs, game officials state.

Would-Be Bandits Lose $1 When Holdup Fails

New Haven, Conn.—It cost two would-be drug store bandits $1 in a holdup attempt here. They handed William H. Templeton, clerk, a dollar to be changed and pulled out revolvers when he opened the cash register. Templeton shouted. The bandits ran. Police arrived. Templeton still held the bill in his shaking hand.

EIGHT DAYS WIFE OF RICH OIL MAN NETS NURSE $6,000

Elderly Bridegroom Given Divorce on Plea She Denied Him Love.

Wichita, Kan.-Six thousand dollars for eight days of married life may not be a "financial bargain," as her seventy-seven-year-old husband charged she was seeking, but that is what Mrs. Zelma Grammont-Rutter, twenty-three, got when her marriage to Henry C. Rutter, wealthy retired farmer and oil royalty holder, was dissolved here.

The romance of the Rutters started last December when the aged capitalist was taken to a hospital with pneumonia. Under the care of Zelma Grammont, pretty and blond nurse, he recovered and when he left the hospital for his daughter's home Zelma went with him, still as nurse.

Eloped With Nurse.

Zelma liked to play cribbage; so did Rutter. She liked bridge-and Rutter liked that game, too. He bought her an automobile, a diamond ring. Then one day Rutter's seven children learned their father had eloped with his nurse.

After eight days' honeymoon Rutter left his bride and filed suit for annulment of the marriage, declaring that Zelma "married me as a financial bargain and said she did not love me." He asked to invalidate a premarital contract whereby she was to give him her love and affection, plus her nursing abilities and home-making qualifications, in exchange for a check for $3,000, half of his estate upon his death and a promise not to give away any money or sign any legal or financial papers without her formal consent.

Further, Rutter charged that Zelma had "flattered and cajoled" him into marriage, taking advantage of his weakened physical condition, which, his attorney declared, made him "less on guard than usual."

Zelma was ejected from the $10,-000 home Rutter had bought her; she was prohibited by court order from seeing or communicating with her aged bridegroom, was forbidden to spend the $3,000 check or dispose of the jewels and other property she had acquired since her marriage.

The bride promptly fired back with a court order of her own, tying up Rutter's property and demanding a mental and physical examination.

Spectators Snicker. Snickers swept over the courtroom continually when Rutter was placed or the stand by his attorneys and admitted that he had proposed to her as an answer and pointing out all that he could do for her. The defense rested without calling a witness-Rutter had been all that several times, refusing to take "no"

was necessary. District Judge Grover Pierpont, trying the case without a jury, deliberated several days, then denied the annulment, but held the premarital contract was void.

The judge called attorneys and principals together to discuss a possible reconciliation.

"I'm ready to become his wife again whenever he wants me," pretty Mrs. Rutter said. "Our client won't agree to that at all." Rutter's attorneys declared. Finally they agreed upon $6,000 settlement and Judge Pierpont then granted Rutter a divorce on the grounds of "neglect of duty," apparently on Rutter's statement that "she told me she didn't love me,"

CHILDREN'S SOBS UPSET COURT AND REVERSE A JUDGE

Girl and Boy Refuse to Go With Mother and Cling to Their Father.

Chicago.—A nine-year-old girl and her five-year-old brother threw the courtroom of Superior Judge Ross C. Hall and part of the county building into turmoil by defying a court order, placing them in custody of their mother. The children secured reversal of the order after the judge confessed he was upset by the children's protests. They left happily with their father.

The domestic drama opened when the judge ordered Mrs. Margaret Smrz, twenty-eight years old, to take Eileen, her blond daughter, and Rudolph, Jr., from her husband, a truck driver. Mrs. Smrz is seeking a divorce on charges of cruelty. Her attorney, Victor Frohlich, said the father had refused to surrender the children.

Cling to Their Father.

The children were led from the courtroom crying. In the corridor the boy wrapped his arms about his father's legs and refused to move. The daughter clung to his arm. Both wailed. The mother was in tears. Other courtrooms emptied. Bystanders offered advice.

The father consented to take the children to the street and talk with them. The children continued crying in the elevator. Employees left offices in the building to learn the cause of the disturbance. A throng swelled about the family In the lobby of the county building. The children refused to leave their father, meeting each argument with a fresh burst of crying. A bailiff suggested all return to the courtroom.

In the courtroom the children screamed as their mother and father argued, attorneys wrangled and Mrs. Smrz's mother, Mrs. Margaret Westratsky, shouted that her daughter was not worthy to have the children. Attorney Richard Klein, representing the father, and Attorney Frohlich were near blows. At every lull Mrs. Westratsky shouted that fortune tellers had told her the children would be better off with their father.

Judge Leaves Bench.

The judge left the bench, announcing he would be unable to make a decision in such disorder. He ordered the children brought into his chambers. Screams and crying could be heard through the door. The judge came out 15 minutes later, perspiring.

"The girl is in hysterics, the boy is in hysterics and I'm near hysterics," he said. "Let their father have them."

Fable of the Hungry Fame-Seeker

By GEORGE ADE

(©. Bell Syndicate.)-WNU Service.

NCE there was a Greenie who borrowed some Tackle and went fishing off Catalina Island, hoping that he might get a Nibble from a Tuna. To those who never have seen a Tuna it may be imparted that this Marine Monster is a Minow two sizes smaller than a Submarine. It is fully as long as a Freight Car and if domesticated, could be used for towing Barges. The Yap who rode back and forth across the dancing Waves, trolling an attractive Bait and begging the Fish to give him some Trade, was playing in rare Luck, because he never got a Strike. If he had, the poor Woofus would not have remained in the Boat.

On another Occasion a cheerful Imbecile polished up a dinky Rifle such the Merry-Makers at Coney Island use in shooting at sheet-iron Ducks and other movable Targets. He put on a Boy Scout Uniform and went out into the Hills, hoping that he could scare up a Grizzly Bear. All day he scrambled around, kicking at the Underbrush and making Noises which were meant to insult the Bear and induce him to come out and put up a Battle. The Guardian Angels who fly over Cars driven by Women and protect the Patriot who buys Fireworks must have been on the Job that Day because the dauntless Nimrod never saw Hide or Hair of a Grizzly. That is why he lived to get back home and eat a hearty Supper.

It happened that a Young Man who thought he was, whereas he really wasn't, came into more sweet Currency than you could shovel with a Scoop Shovel in Three Months. One Night, in a select Club, which has since been padlocked no less than three times, he found himself gazing at a hypnotic Brunette even as an English Sparrow might gaze at the beautiful but deadly Cobra.

He never before had seen so much Brunette packed into so few Clothes and he knew that Life would not mean anything to him unless he could be near her, to inhale the 30 or 40 kinds of Perfumery she was using and have all the other Johns chewing their Wrist Watches in Envy.

This one made Pola Negri look like a Clergyman's Daughter. You could hear the Current crackling.

The yearling Child of Fortune tried to semaphore a few Signals to the dusky Queen and get her interested but she had no Line on the Bank Roll and did not like the Soft Shirt he wore with the Dinner Jacket, so she threw him about 1,500 Feet into the Air and rode away into the Night with a big Sausage Man from the

For several Days the Sailors on his Yacht had to watch him to keep him from going overboard with the Anchor in his Arms, which would have been his only chance of sinking. He thought that he had been given a Dirty Deal, whereas he should have been singing at the Top of his Voice, for if little Rita Pozeta, the undulating Vamp, had taken a real Fancy to him, it would have cost him over $600,000.

Poor Brakes Break Many a Man. Two years ago a prominent Member of the Chamber of Commerce of Oklahoma City, Okla., was in Europe taking his first real Rest since the Syndicate in which he was interested struck the Gusher. He watched the wheel at Monte Carlo and, being quick at Figures and able to see right through any Proposition on the Jump, he felt almost sure that it would be a Cinch to win all the depreciated

Currency and close the Dump.

He sat up for two Nights and wore out two Pencils doping a System which could not lose. He explained the Modus Operandi to his two Traveling Companions and said it was a Pipe, if backed up by enough Coin, so as to keep on doubling. He wanted Bill and Bud to put in $50,000 apiece and let him go in and shoot up the Place, but they were Leery and said that the Suckers had already put up too many Buildings and laid out more Flower Beds than were needed. They were cold around the Ankles and devoid of Sporting Blood. There was Nothing Stirring and consequently all of the Boys are back home and living in comfortable Circumstances. These Examples have been cited to prove that many a Chump who thinks that the Breaks are against him is really the favored and pampered Child of Destiny. Herbert J. Prangle, of whom we are compelled to write, was not so fortunate. He went fishing and the Tuna got him. While searching for the Grizzly he had the Tough Luck to find one. When he smiled at the Beautiful Female she gave him a quivering Embrace and darn near smothered him. He found a Chance to play his System and after he got into the Game he learned that he couldn't es-

All of the which are Figures of Speech. The Story is that Mr. Prangle, from the time he was in his Teens, had nursed an aching Desire to be famous, notorious, acclaimed, celebrated and popular.

He wanted his Name on the Scroll, so that his Mother would be proud of him. Uncle Jason had always claimed that Herb had a broken Yolk and was all messed up inside of the Dome. He wanted to prove that he (Herb) belonged in the Hall of Fame instead of a Home for Collapsed Mentalities. Looking the Part.

To look at Mr. Prangle, about the time he was eased out of College and began to ramble in the daisy-dotted Field of Literature, it never would have been suspected that he had this lurking Determination to Prove to the whole World that he was a Heller. He was skinny and wore powerful Glasses and had a bulging Head, like the large end of a Gourd. He was bashful in Company. Strangers often asked if he had passed through any Serious Illness when quite Young. If an attractive Cutie gave him a couple of roguish Looks and began to ask him pert Questions, he yammered for a little While and then sank below the

Who would have dared to predict that Herbert J. Prangle was planning to write Love Stories so sizzling that he would have to use Asbestos Paper? To look at him he was just as passionate as a Rubber Glove.

Even as the bloody Historical Romances are written by slender Maidens just out of Smith College, and all that Free Verse about Nymphs dancing in the shadowy Wildwood is turned out by hard-faced old Grouches wearing Overshoes, and Advice to the Love-Lorn comes from a Police Reporter, so it was inevitable that this Clam would write about heaving Bosoms and Clinging Kisses.

For a long Time the Immediate Friends and Relatives little suspected his Intentions. He kept on producing Manuscripts that were rejected with Thanks. They put up with his Delusions and kept him hidden away in a Cheerful Room where they would not have to look at him very often and consoled themselves with the Reflection that there is one Jinx in every large Family.

Then there came a Day when the Book Reviewers all began to gibber and say that a New Light had appeared in the Heavens and it was Some Light. About 2,000 Candle

They agreed that Herbert J. Prangle, author of "Seared Souls," was indecent, audacious and salacious but a Master Analyst of all the Fundamental Emotions and a Genius with a large G.

All at once his apologetic Kin began running up and down the Streets asking everyone, "Have you read Herbert's new Book?"

Soon after the Volume had been barred from many Libraries and denounced from the Pulpit, and Hollywood was demanding the Picture Rights, and the Tremolo Sisters were camped on the Front Porch to interview the daring and devilish Author, it is claimed that Herbert received, in one Day, no less than 100 Requests for Photographs and Autographs.

The Glare of the Limelight. For a matter of Years he had waited and hoped for this Day to come. All through the toilsome Nights he had been sustained by an intrepid Belief that some Day the World would simply have to recognize him. He found that he could not stir out of Doors without being trailed by a brazen Hussy in shameless Attire and sticky Rouge, known as Publicity. He learned, in a Hurry, that the Laurel Wreath had a lot of Thorns in it. Strangers crawled up the Fire-Escape to get a Look at him in his own Room. The Public Prints were full of veiled References to his Checkered Career and it was whispered about, under Cover, that his tough Novel was really a Story of his Own Life.

Mr. Prangle received countless invitations to address the Women and the Rotarians and the Free Thinkers, but he could not generate sufficient Vocal Energy to make Himself heard to Himself. In fact, he couldn't do anything except sit in a Back Room and write on Paper. When the fierce Glare smote him he was scorched to a Cinder.

At present his unmarried sister has him up in the Woods, feeding him Gluten Biscuits and Milk.

Famous Indian City

The city of Rangoon in India contains close to 400,000 people. It has a fine water supply, and many modern houses. It was built alongside the Rangoon river, about 40 miles from the Bay of Bengal. Perhaps the most interesting thing in Rangoon is the great pagoda, which might be compared roughly, to an ice cream cone upside down. The tip of the cone is 321 feet above the ground. Burmese come from far and wide to visit this sacred pagoda.

GOOD MARKET FOR SPECIAL PRODUCTS

Demand Solves Problem of

Extra Butterfat. (By R. J. RAMSEY, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.)

Many farmers are making money marketing their surplus butterfat in the form of whipping cream, sweet cream butter, honey butter and other special products which are easily prepared on the farm.

Sweet cream butter was originated to meet the demands of the housewife for a very high-grade product. It requires no equipment that is not used in churning sour cream. However, the flavor of this butter is so mild and delicate that only the very highest quality of sweet fresh cream can be used. Even the feed of the cows must be watched carefully to avoid undesirable feed flavors. All milking utensils, and even the separator, should be sterilized with boiling water each day before being used. If boiling water is not available, chemical sterilizers, such as bleaching powder, may be

The milk should be separated immediately after milking and the cream cooled to 60 degrees. The cream must be kept cold until churned in order to prevent souring and to make churning easier. It is best to churn every other day, provided enough cream is available. Sweet cream is somewhat harder to churn than sour cream, so it must be aged at a low temperature for several hours before churning. For this season of the year the churning temperature should be about 50 degrees.

The churning should be stopped when the granules of butter are the size of a wheat kernel. The buttermilk then should be removed and the butter covered with fresh cold water. The churn should be revolved a few times, the rinse water removed and the washing repeated. The butter is removed and placed on a chilled butter worker and worked until no moisture is visible in large droplets. Care should be taken not to overwork it. Only a fine grade of butter salt should be used in salting it, as table salt is likely to cause grittiness.

If sweet cream butter is not salted, it may be made into honey butter. This makes a delicious spread for those who like honey. It is made by adding one pound of light-colored honey to one pound of soft cream butter. The two should be well mixed and then placed in containers and put in a refrigerator to harden.

Sanitary Measures to End "Ropiness" in Milk A slimy or ropy condition in milk is brought about by the growth of bacteria and usually does not appear until 12 to 24 hours after the milk is drawn. The bacteria may come from the water in which the utensils were rinsed, from dust in the barn at milkfected udder. Unless the infection comes from the udder, it can be eliminated by the practice of good sanitary measures, which consist of milking in a place comparatively free from dust, cleaning the cow's rear flanks and udder with a damp cloth, and handling the milk in vessels that have been thoroughly washed and sterilized.

Looking to Herd's Future

When selecting a herd sire the following points should be considered: Only pure-bred bull should be used: the production of the ancestors of the bull, especially that of the dam and the dam of the sire should be high: the individuality of the bull and his ancestors should be good; the production of the daughters of the bull, or of related cows, should be high; the stockman should pay enough to get a bull that will improve the herd; a proven bull is a more dependable sire than a young untried bull; where two or more farmers purchase a bull in partnership they can well afford to get a better bull than where each buys one; the dam of the bull should have a better record than the best cow in the herd.

Bran as Hay Substitute

Hay was a good crop in most sections last year and the quality was good, also. Nevertheless, there may be some of our readers who were short of good hay this winter. If such is the case, it might be well to know that bran at the present low prices is a fairly good substitute.

If possible, some hay should be fed, of course, but if there is plenty of good silage, and when bran is cheap as it is at present, the amount of hay may be cut down or almost eliminated without damage to the cow.—American Agriculturist.

DAIRY HINTS

There is always a demand for proved sires.

Cows need from three to four pounds of water for each pound of milk they give.

The price of a pound of grain is about the same as the price of a pound of milk. If an additional pound or two of grain makes a cow give an additional two or four pounds of milk, feed

Before Actresses Were

Seen on British Stage Believe it or not, the first woman who attempted to appear as an actress on the British stage was smotheredin the play. She took the part of Desdemona. Imagine a man playing the role of Desdemona! Fit performance for burlesque.

The emancipation of woman by the English-speaking race began in its acquiescence to the appearance of actresses in the theater. In Shakespeare's day only youthful and as good looking young men as could be found played the feminine assignments in the cast. Perhaps this accounted for the ribaldry permitted in the lines spoken. There were no ladies in the audience, either. The theater was "for men only."

Queen Elizabeth was among the first to witness speaking shows. Love scenes were rather rare in the earlier English drama. Philosophy, kingly politics and war were the primary themes. Play-writing later became more excursive and Shakespeare wrote Romeo and Juliet, the greatest masterpiece of them all in which love dominated; and who, we wonder, was the youth who portrayed the sweetly maiden, clear crystalline character of Juliet?-St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Great Peroration Not

Original With Lincoln "Of the people, by the people and for the people" are the closing words of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg address, though there is no "and" before the preposition "for," the expression reading "of the people, by the people, for the people."

A little research brings out the fact that neither the thought nor the phraseology was original with Lincoln. The thought, which had been variously expressed, was already old by the time Lincoln used it. Daniel Webster, on January 26, 1830, said: "The people's government, made by the people, and answerable to the people." And Theodore Parker, a noted preacher and abolitionist, used a similar expression in a speech on "The American Idea," at the New England antislavery convention in Boston on May 29, 1850. He said: "A democracy-that is a government of all the people, by all the people, for all the people." But the expression belongs to Lincoln because he gave it to the world on a historic occasion and in a finished form. The poet Lowell said: "Though old the thought and oft exprest, 'Tis his at last who says it best."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Strength of Wood

Dry wood is as much as two and one-half times as strong as the same wood in the green, or natural growing state, says the forest service, of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The strength of the dry wood compared to green wood varies with the type of tree, the amount of moisture it contains, and similar factors. The forest service has studied the problem of moisture and strength in wood for the last 25 years and has worked out formulas for finding the strength of wood under different moisture con-

Caribbean Islands

The Corn islands are a group of two small islands in the Caribbean sea some distance off the coast of Nicaragua. They consist of Great and Little Corn island. They were leased from the Nicaragua government for 99 years by the treaty of August 5, 1914, whereby Nicaragua also granted the right to the United States of constructing a canal across her territory. Although by treaty empowered to do so, this government has never obtained governmental control of the islands. which are still governed by a native Nicaraguan.

Skiing, Their Business

When winter comes and the ground is covered with a deep blanket of snow, the Norwegian soldier is not called upon to strap his heavy knapsack on his back and wade through the drifts up to his boot tops. He simply is handed a pair of skiis and ordered to have a good time. The mountainous regions of Norway lend themselves admirably to the sport of skiing, and skilful ski riders and ski jumpers are developed within the land of the fjords. Norwegian infantry practice maneuvers on skiis every winter, near Oslo.

Trees and Lightning

There is a tradition among woodsmen that it is dangerous to seek shelter under certain varieties of trees during thunderstorms. Now the United States forest service reports that it is apparently true that some kind of trees are struck by lightning more frequently than others. A study will be made to determine what trees are most likely to attract electricity. The question has a practical side because in some regions in the Far West lightning is the principal cause of forest fires.-World's Work.

Parallel Pipes "Human"

The vox humana pipes in a pipe organ differ from the regular pipes in that two complete sets are required in order to produce the sound which simulates the human voice. These pipes are arranged in pairs side by side. One is a trifle over pitch and one a trifle under. The vibration of the two at the same time gives the rounder, fuller note of the human voice rather than the clear, sharp tone of the regular pipes.

Depredations of Birds

Offset by Good Work The fickleness among allied nations and their shifting from one side to another in different wars has a counterpart in the course conducted by some of man's allies in the war on insect pests. The birds, for instance, sometimes do tremendous damage to crops through the damage to young shoots first coming through the ground and to the entire crop through the eating of seed. Fruit trees and berry bushes also suffer from the depredations of birds. In spite of the damage they do, however, the birds as a usual thing are to be found on the side of man when it comes to the war with insects. It has been noted by experts studying the insect problem that any unusual outbreak of pests invariably finds the birds flocking to the section where the outbreak has occurred. Every insect seems to have an overwhelming number of enemies among the birds. The gypsy moth, for instance, is eaten by 46 different types of birds. The cotton boll weevil is attacked by 66, the army worm by 43, the leaf hoppers by 175, the potato beetle by 34 and the wireworm by 205.

The birds, when they feed on the insects, really set themselves down to serious eating. One killdeer, shot and examined for research purposes, had 383 alfalfa weevils in its stomach while a blackbird was found to have 442. Such a capacity for insects makes the birds welcome allies when the insect outbreaks are on, no matter how much they may be opposed to the best interests of man when they are carrying on their own depredating activities.-Washington Star.

Reference to "Auroch" in Biblical Writings?

In all Scriptural references the word translated unicorns is the Hebrew "reem." which modern science declares to be best understood by making it refer to the "auroch" or wild ox, which did formerly live on the east side of Jordan, and elsewhere, even in east Europe, according to many authorities.

This was an exceedingly powerful, active and at times, dangerous wild beast, of great size, with long powerful horns.

It is interesting to note that the reem is not known to, or at least is not mentioned by any Biblical writer after the time of Isaiah, and that this agrees with the dictum of archeologists founded on discoveries among the monumental records of past ages, that the aurochs became extinct in Assyria about the year 1000 B. C.

The auroch, it is now considered, may be held to be the very animal understood by the sacred writers to bear the name reem. That they used the name of the mythical unicorn in translating it may be set down to the understanding of the age in which our translation of the Bible was made, and not with any intention of perpetuating the legend of the one-horned creature by the men who gave us our incomparable, so-called, Authorized Versions of the inspired Scriptures.

History of Chalk

In ocean waters are tiny animals with shells so small that a person can hardly see them without the help of a microscope. Study of chalk in chalk cliffs has proved that the chalk is made up chiefly of the shells of tiny animals like those found in the sea today. On investigation we find millions-even billions-of these tiny animals living and dying in the ocean waters, each one leaving his shell behind. In a piece of chalk two inches long, it is estimated that there are the shells of more than 100,000 of these tiny animals. Chalk is a form of soft limestone. Other kinds of limestone were made in much the same way; but chalk is the kind which will leave white marks on a blackboard.

His Way

There had been a somewhat heated argument in the club card room, and when the battle was over one of the younger members present sought advice from an old member wise in the ways of cards and card players.

"Question is, sir, if one is playing against opponents weaker than oneself in knowledge of the game, should one point out errors, or should one. remain silent?"

"As a younger man," said the old player, "I used to try to be helpful, but now I thank heaven silently, keep my face straight, and take their money."-London Tit-Bits.

Longfellow Over Modest

Longfellow received $25 for "The Wreck of the Hesperus." This was the poet's own price. The editor wrote in accepting the poem: "Your ballad is grand. Of all American journals, the New World is alone worthy to contain it."

Fruits in Temperate Zone

The sequidilla, the chayote, the akee, breadfruit, jackfruit, mangosteen, sapodilla and durian are some of the tropical fruits that are not yet common in the markets of the temperate zone. Tomatoes, eggplants, pomegranates, limes, oranges, lemons, grapefruit, bananas, pineapples, figs, dates and alligator pears are as familiar as many of the native fruits of the temperate zone.

THE CHRISTIAN'S DEVOTIONAL LIFE

GOLDEN TEXT—But grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory now and for ever.

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 6:5-15;

Daniel 6:10; II Timothy 3:14-17.

PRIMARY TOPIC—What Real Prayer

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Christian's Devotional YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—The Means of Christian Growth.

The Christian's growth is by means of his devotional life. It requires the symmetrical development of his understanding and heart. Bible study and prayer go hand in hand. The believer's affections need proper direction and exercise.

I. The Christian's Prayer Life (Matt. 6:6-15).

In Christ's teaching in this passage on prayer we note:

1. False prayer (vv. 5-7). This consists.

a. In one praying to be seen and heard of men (v. 5). Many prayers uttered in public are false, for the supreme consideration is what the people think rather than what God thinks. Men who thus pray get a reward but not from God.

b. In using vain repetitions (vv. 7. 8). This does not mean that we should ask but once for the thing desired, for we have examples of Christ and Paul praying three times for the same thing (Matt. 26:39-46; II Cor. 12:7,8); but rather that the use of meaningless repetitions, reiterations of empty sentences be avoided.

2. True prayer (v. 6). Real prayer is communion of the child of God with his heavenly Father. Life for its fullest development needs both solitude and companionship. God, our Creator, knew what our natures require. Therefore, he commands both public and private prayer (Heb. 10: 25; Matt. 6:6).

3. The model prayer (vv. 9-13). This was given in response to the disciples' request that the Lord would teach them to pray (Luke 11:1).

a. A right relationship-"Our Father" (v. 9). Only those who have become children of God by faith in Jesus Christ can pray aright.

b. A right attitude-"Hallowed be thy name" (vv. 9, 10). When one realizes that he has been delivered from the power of darkness and translated into the kingdom of his dear Son (Col. 1:13) by being a child of God, he cannot help pouring out his soul in grattude and praise, intensely longing for the kingdom, the righteous rule of Christ on the earth. c. A right spirit (vv. 11-13). This spirit involves (1) Trust which looks to God for the supply of daily need. We are dependent upon him for our daily food. With all man's hoasted nr cannot make a harvest. (2) The spirit of love which results in forgiveness of others. God will not listen to the prayers of one who has an unforgiving spirit. (3) That of holiness which moves one to pray and not to be led into temptation and moves him to long to be delivered from the Evil One.

(4) Regular prayer (Dan. 6:10). Though prohibited by royal decree from asking a petition from any god or man except the king, Daniel did not depart from his regular custom of prayer to God three times a day. II. The Christian's Bible Study (II

Tim. 3:14-17). This scripture exhibits the value of the Holy Scriptures. Devotional life undirected by the Scriptures will develop in a wrong direction. The affections need to be disciplined through the understanding.

1. The Scriptures able to make one wise unto salvation (v. 15). Salvation is in Christ alone. It is secured through faith in his finished work on the cross. True wisdom leads to Christ crucified since "there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts "and without shedding of blood is no remission" (Heb. 9:22).

2. The Scriptures discipline the life (vv. 16, 17). In the Scriptures doctrine is set forth, the standard of conduct which is absolutely needed. The only place to find God's standard of life is in his Holy Word. It not only exhibits the divine standard, but it reproves; that is, refutes error. The way to deal with error is not denunciation, but the positive presentation of truth. Then, too, it corrects; that is, sets straight many of the dislocations of personal and social conduct. The Word of God not only sets straight, but instructs in righteousness and equips for service.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

If you expect to get to heaven you must go in that direction.

Do not pray for easy lives; pray to be stronger men and women.

If I take care of my character, my reputation will take care of itself.

It is one thing to see the way you should go, and quite another to go the way you see.

SUNK 21 YEARS AGO

Seek to Salvage Liner in the Shark-Laden Waters.

Norfolk, Va.-Another fleet is off on the Rainbow Trail to a hitherto unreached pot of gold. The treasure of the Ward liner, Merida, sunk off the Virginia Capes more than twenty years ago.

Capt. Harry L. Bowdoin, in his ship Salvor, accompanied by the trawlers Sea Hawk and Sea Rambler, is now at the point, sixty miles off the coast, where the wrecked ship lies forty fathows deep in shark-infested wa-

Pinning his hopes chiefly on a diving suit he has spent 16 years in developing, the sixty-year-old seafarer was optimistic on his departure.

Captain Bowdoin, however, is not the first to be lured by the treasure of the ship which sank after being rammed by the United States Fruit company steamer Admiral Farragut on May 12, 1911. For the last twenty years romance as well as desire for material reward has beckoned the adventurous to the wreck.

All passengers of the Merida were saved, but the cargo and valuables deposited with the purser went down with the ship. There is reason to believe, therefore, that the hulk still holds twenty-two tons of half-refined gold and silver ore; bullion in bars worth at least $1,000,000; 4,000 tons of copper ore and eighty kegs of American $20 gold pieces.

Another item of the cargo which some might consider worthy of salvage was 2,000 kegs of fine Jamaica

As early as 1916 a syndicate of New York bankers was formed and launched an effort to recover the Merida's treasure, but the wreck was not found and the project was aban-

Steamfitter Finds He

Has Golden Tenor Voice Rochester, N. Y .- From steamfitter to operatic star sounds like the title of an Alger book, but it may be the road traveled by Charles Sullivan, if recent performances and comments of critics are to be credited. Sullivan until recently had spent ten years as a steamfitter in various Rochester plants, unaware of the golden voice he possessed.

It was while entertaining friends at a social gathering that the unusual quality of his voice was noticed. They urged him to go to New York city.

He went and was examined by Dr. Frank E. Miller, the late Caruso's personal physician. Doctor Miller said Sullivan's voice had the power of Caruso and the timbre of McCormack.

A few Rochester music lovers sent the young steamfitter to Mme. Marcella Sembrich in New York. She credited him with having a great tenor voice that indicated he would become a singer of great distinction if it were cultivated.

Sullivan has been invited to visit Mademoiselle Sembrich's Lake George summer home to start his training for the operatic stage.

State Troopers Catch

Quarry Leaving Jail Watkins Glen, N. Y .- Two state troopers who spent a day and night prying into every possible corner of Schuyler county, where Charles Burke, thirty-four, of New York city, might be hiding, returned wearily to the county jail in the morning-and met

Burke emerging cheerily from it. Burke was wanted on a charge of disturbing the peace as the result of an argument with a local citizen. After the alleged argument he asked and obtained lodging in the jail for

The troopers, Sergt. Jack Barry and Trooper John P. Norton, took him before a justice of the peace, who imposed a 30-day suspended sentence, and ordered him outside Schuyler county within two hours.

Oil Man Leaves $80,000

for Sick Dogs and Cats St. Louis, Mo .- A trust fund of more than $86,000 for the care of dogs and cats was left by the late Henry C. Babcock, retired oil broker. The fund is to be known as "The Babcock Relief Fund for Dumb Animals," according to the administrator of the estate, who said its purpose is to care for and eliminate suffering among cats and dogs.

Old Wedding Ring Found

Falmouth, Maine.-A wedding ring lost by Mrs. Fred Olsen of New York in 1902, recently was found and returned to her by her next door neighbor here.

Earth's Chemicals

The number of so-called chemical elements which enter into the earth's composition is more than eighty, but few of these figure as important constituents of the portion known to us. Nearly one-half of the mass of this shell is oxygen and more than a quarter is silicon. The remaining quarter is made up largely of aluminum, iron, calcium, magnesium and the alkalies sodium and potassium, in the order named. These eight constituent elements are the only ones that are important parts of the earth's surface shell. They are not found in the free condition, but combined in proportions characteristic of chemical compounds, and are known as minerals.

A BETTER breakfast is one Canadian bacon, buttermilk bisthat will make you feel like cuits and the coffee.

A Good Start

A good way to start a better breakfast is with a Sunrise Cocktail which is made as follows: Drain the syrup from an 8crushing the berries, and combine this syrup with the contents of a No. 2 can of grapefruit juice. Chill thoroughly and serve.

And when the roasted bean is ground, the gas comes flying out with such force that 65% of it has disappeared in 24 hours, taking with it a great deal Then go on from there by serv-ing the berries with a ready-to-

In Commemoration of Great Historic Events

Although the Dutch laid claim to the Hudson River region in 1609 and built a fort in 1613, some of the earliest, if not the very first, settlers were fugitives from religious persecutions in France and Flanders, who obtained permission from the Dutch to make their homes in New Netherlands.

In 1924, as part of the observance of the tercentenary of their arrival, the United States issued the special coin and also large-sized special postage stamps of the denominations of 1, 2 and 5 cents. All of these are now prized and worth more than their face value when in fine condition.

On various appropriate occasions the government issues such commemorative coins. Some other special issues were called forth by the commemoration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of the Hawaiian islands in 1928; the sesqui-centennial in 1926: commemoration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Bennington and independence of Vermont, in 1927; of the battles of Lexington and Concord in 1925; the Monroe Doctrine centennial in 1923; the Grant centennial in 1922; the Alabama and Missouri centennials in 1921, and the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims in 1920.

Trace Troubled Dreams

to Prehistoric Period

When a man dreams that he is falling he never strikes bottom because his monkey ancestors who fell from their perches in the forest and failed to hook their tails over the limb of a tree during the descent never lived so that their human descendants could remember crashing to the ground. And if a man dreams that he suddenly awoke unclad in a room full of people, that, too, is a carryover from prehistoric times, when man went about unclothed.

So believed Prof. William E. Slaght, who for a quarter of a century studied sleep. He analyzed thousands of dreams, seeking to find their origin, and generally was able to trace them either to hereditary causes, such as the monkey falling from the tree, or to some vivid experience in the past life of the

In his "Before Adam" Jack London added that just because the dreamer woke up, even if sweating and in a fright, proved that he had survived the fall.-Pathfinder Magazine.

NOBODY HOME

He-Let's go into this cafe and get something to eat. She-It's closed, dear, the proprietor must be out. Don't you see the sign, "Home Cooking?"

Worse and Worse Mrs. Haines-We haven't paid our taxes yet. Mrs. Paines-Tut, tut. We haven't even paid for the coal we burned before we bought the oil burner.

Heron Apparently One of Nature's Favorites

The heron possesses a secret which would be boon to women who like to eat, but stand in fear of the surplus poundage overeating brings. The bird is an incessant feeder, but no matter how it gorges, it never seems to become overplump. It usually stands motionless in the water until its food obligingly comes within range and then with a swift dart of its long, strong bill, it snatches its prey from the water. Its favorite food is fish or frogs, but it will eat insects, meadow mice or most anything else in the | fish or meat line.

The heron is much more common in South America than in North America, but such types as are found in this country are fairly widespread. The blue heron, usually called the crane in error, is the most common type. It usually nests in high trees in inaccessible spots in a swamp.

Loose Language

Recently a public speaker preparing to make an accusation about something of which he was ignorant began with the statement: "I venture the assertion." There is a phrase contradictory in its very make-up. An assertion is a positive affirmation. It is not a suggestion, a probability, a possibility or remote contingency; so it is not a venture into the realms doubt-a mere personal and prejudiced opinion. Yet whenever one "ventures the assertion" he is getting ready, nine times out of ten, to make a wild and unfair speculation. He is merely expressing an unsupported opinion in a noncommittal way. It is a funny phrase, and it ought to be abolished for incompetency.-Pathfinder Maga-

Physical Geography

The schoolmaster had been giving his class a lesson in physical geography, and had explained that the world is made up of land and water. Then, in order to see if they had been giving attention, he asked:

"Now boys, can you tell me what it is land and water make?" For some time there was silence, but presently a little boy put up his hand and when asked to give the answer, he replied: "Mud, Sir."

Foreign Objects

Children put things in their mouths by instinct, because that is the way they learn the size, shape and roughness of an object, and by imitation, because what mother and dad do they believe to be correct. If mother places coins or pins in her mouth and if dad chews on a piece of wood or a toothpick, they are setting a bad example, an article in Hygeia Magazine by Dr. Mervin C. Myerson suggests.

Properly Cautious

When Sarah Josepha Hale went to Boston in 1828 and started the first "ladies' magazine" in this country, she sponsored a movement to raise funds for the Bunker Hill monument. "Some editors are against us," she wrote naively, "but the ladies' society is being organized, though we would by no means recommend any lady to join without the consent of her immediate protector."-Minneapolis Journal.

Rib of Contention

One of those scientific prowlers who are always digging up strange and interesting things informs us that according to Brazilian Indians the first humans were not Adam and Eve, but two women, and that the first quarrel came about when each claimed to be the oldest. Either the Brazilian tradition is in error or women have changed a lot since that time.-Exchange.

FORETOLD PROGRESS OF THOUSAND YEARS

Monk, in 932, Predicted the "Astonishing" Advances.

Paris.-One thousand years ago the monk Theodosius sketched in broad lines what might be expected of the world in 1932. He foresaw a great increase of population, astonishing advances in the sciences, especially in botany, zoology and astrology, and so great an increase in the demand for books that "pious monks will sit night and day copying and recopying the manuscripts of the great bishops of long ago."

Some of Theodosius' guesses went as far afield as others went true, according to Charles Richet, who gives in Le Matin, a translation of pertinent parts of the manuscript, which, he says, he discovered by chance in a Franciscan monastery at Ravenna.

"Will there be a year 1000?" Theodosius asks. "Many good Christians imagine that the year 1000 will see the end of the world and the final cataclysm. But this is probably an error. God is too good to wipe out the human

"What shall we find after the year 1000? To seek to know that is not impious. One thing is certain, that well before the 1000 years which I have in mind, the terrible religion invented and propagated by Mahomet will be destroyed together with the hideous book called the Koran, which was dictated by Satan himself. The armies of the infidels, triumphant as they seem today, will have disappeared as dust in the wind. There will be none but God's servants. The Cross will have conquered the Crescent.

Safety on the roads would encourage travel, Theodosius said.

"As to the sciences, they will make astonishing progress. I do not speak of magic, that redoubtable science inspired by the Spirit of Evil to deceive unhappy men, but of botany, zoology and especially astrology. Thales saw that amber attracted small bodies when it is rubbed . . . but that is a trick of nature and there is nothing to be hoped for from it. Archytas of Tarentum thought he could build a flying machine, but it is madness to think that man could raise himself into the air like a bird. Icarus gave sad proof of that."

Lost Battalion Site Is Found After 13 Years

Varennes, France.-A searching party in the Apremont woods of the Argonne forest has uncovered the whole setting of one of the most dramatic incidents of the World war, the fight against circling Germans, thirst and hunger of the famed American "Lost Battalion." Under the leaves of 13 autumns, the searchers found remains of at least one of the American

As searchers brushed away the leaves and cut through the young saplings that have choked the forest, they found on the north side of the gulley between Binarville and Apremont historic evidence of the great struggle.

The side of the hill is honey-combed with "foxholes," cut into the shale and just large enough to hide a man. re 600 men took cover when they found that they had lost contact with their own troops. Only 194 came out alive.

Even after 13 years it is possible to picture the heroic struggle of the besieged men. In the "kitchen" hole is a great rusted can, punched full of holes, which shows that the cooks sought to build a fire and heat water for coffee and tea.

All around are pieces of equipment, rusted bayonets, rifles, gas masks. After hostilities, the bodies were taken to Romagne cemetery, but it was 13 years later before the setting of this dramatic action was found again and it will now be thoroughly hunted.

Artist Colony in Iowa

Lives in Ice Wagons Stone City, Iowa.—Gaily decorated ice wagons, painted in the gay grand manner of a gypsy caravan, have revived the crumbling ruins of Stone City, deserted ice cutting camp whose stone towers have been a curiosity here for several years.

Almost 100 Middle Western artists have taken over the camp, installed pallet and brush in the old ruins and are using it as a summer studio. The artists live in deserted ice wagons, redecorated in modern lines. Some of the early arrivals established themselves in a round stone tower which formerly was an ice house.

The artists have hired a business manager who pays living expenses from tourist trade which has flocked here to see the exhibitions and view the artists at work.

Chinese Girls Bring $13 in Flood Area

Harbin, Manchuria.—Daughters of the poor were offered for sale for 50 yen ($13) apiece as floods and guerilla fighting with Manchoukuo and Japanese troops reduced millions of Chinese to desperation.

In Harbin, flood waters of the Sungari river rose in the streets, carrying away the small possessions of destitute families. Mobs gathered, clamoring for aid. Acting at the request of local Chinese, Liuetenant General Hirose, of the Japanese forces, assumed command of the district and declared what amounted to martial law.

QUALITY IN HENS MAKES FOR PROFIT

Rigid Selection Matter of Much Moment.

It is possible to select and breed Leghorns to increase body weight, weight of eggs, and number of eggs produced, without sacrificing any of these increases to bring about any of the others, says the Cornell university experiment station in a bulletin recently published.

While it is said to be a normal tendency for the weight of the egg and the weight of the hen to decrease with an increase in the number of eggs. rigid selection, the station says, will overcome this tendency. Not only that, but the tendency was also to lengthen the egg-laying period and to put off the time when egg-laying diminishes through the maturity of the birds.

The studies made a careful comparison between birds of high-laying capacity and those of low capacity. The high producers ate more than the low producers; but, nevertheless, it took about twice as much feed to get a dozen eggs from the low producers. When costs and incomes are balanced, the evidence is all in favor of the pullets from a long line of ancestors selected for egg production. "When the annual feed cost, which is about 50 per cent of the cost of producing eggs, is deducted from the gross income, there is still an advantage of $2.91 per pullet, annually, in favor of the highline bird," the bulletin says.

Poultry House Windows

in Summer and Winter Awnings for the poultry house need not be placed in the same category as lace curtains and a radio for the dairy stable, since many flocks are confined to the house all summer, says Prof. F. L. Fairbanks of the New York State College of Agriculture. Windows in poultry houses are arranged to let in all the sunlight possible. The sunlight is an advantage in winter but in summer a large sunlight pattern on the floor tends to keep the house too

For summer ventilation Professor Fairbanks advises having windows on two or more sides of the house. With the windows and ventilators open, the air movement does not keep the temperature of the house lower than outof-doors but does remove dust, odors, and moisture and makes the house seem cooler.

In hot, still, sultry weather an electric fan set four or five feet from the floor and faced to blow across the pen or along the wall, but not directly on the birds, gave some relief, he says.

Turkey Losses Checked

Experienced turkey breeders have found that strict sanitation, including clean ground, is essential as a means of controlling parasites and diseases

Trials conducted at the North Dakota Agricultural college show that 63 artificially-hatched poults that were placed on clean ground sustained no losses from blackhead; while 45 turkey poults hatched from the same hens as the other group and allowed to run with the mother hen on ground previously used by chickens sustained a loss of all but four with blackhead. Two of these four poults at the time of marketing showed characteristic blackhead lesions when killed, leaving only two of the original 45 to go "scotfree" from disease or parasites.

The rotation of yards, preferably on alfalfa range, is the simplest method to follow out the sanitation program for turkeys.—Dakota Farmer.

Clean Shell Important

The clean shell of an egg indicates that it was produced under sanitary conditions. It costs no more to produce clean eggs after one is once prepared and becomes accustomed to the changed processes necessary. Many of these essentials are necessary for the general health and productivity of the flock. They include dry housing conditions, sanitary precautions, corrected nesting arrangements, and feeding practice.—Successful Farming.

Poultry Hints Baby chicks double in size during the first two weeks of life.

The period of incubation for duck eggs is 28 days, except for the Muscovy, which is 33 to 35 days.

Crossing breeds or varieties of poultry is not recommended. The birds from the first cross may have the good qualities of both parents but further crossing will result in a degenerated mongrel flock.

Fully matured pullets should have good width between the legs to allow the heart, lungs and egg organs to work satisfactorily. In fact, width of back and width between the legs are two essential points to be considered in a good layer.

Heavy breeds of poultry, such as Rhode Island Reds, Plymouth Rocks, and Wyandottes, have been more profitable for the last three years than have the lighter breeds of chickens, according to the cost records of some 200 Ohio farmers.

WEYBRIGHT FAMILY REUNION.

The first reunion of the descendants of Martin and Margaret Weybright, who with their children Hans Martin, Jacob, Michael and Mary, left Brandenburg, Prussia, at Easter, April 28, 1732, and arrived at Philadelphia, Pa, Sept. 25, 1732. A photostat copy of the original ship passenger list of signatures, was shown. In 1737 they took out a warrant for 200 acres of land, 3 miles north Lancaster, Pa., and received a patent deed from John, Thomas and Richard Penn, Dec. 11,

This original deed was shown by Mr. Levi Huber in good condition. This reunion was held on this farm, now owned by Mr. Enos Huber, Sept. 25, 1932. The house is known to be 121 years old, built of stone, with stone arches above windows and doors. The buildings set in a large sheep pasture and meadow, with not a weed to be seen. Mr. Huber is not worried with milk shipping, as he keeps 100 sheep and raises tobacco.

In the large court yard with its views of beautiful shade trees on three sides, and in the center is beautiful fountain shooting a spray 6 ft. high, with a large iron kettle for a bowl. The water is piped from a a bowl. The water is piped from a large spring. There were 125 persons present, from Pa., Md., Washington, D. C. and Ohio. Mr. Huber provided folding seats for all. At 1:30 P. M., the program began, with Jesse P. the program began, with Jesse P. Weybright, presiding. Elder John S. Weybright, of Thurmont, conducted the devotions. The early history of the family was given by J. P. Wey-bright from a chart 8 ft. long, containing 9 generations, with names closely written.

The Weybright family have descendants in two distinct lines; first, those of Hans Martin Weybright (skilled in the shop list) 17 years old, whose son was Captain Martin Weybright of 7 Company, 8th. Batallion, Lancaster Co. Militia 1782 who removed to Brothers Valley, Somerset Co., Pa., in 1789 and in 1803 moved to Montgomery Co, Ohio, 7 miles west of Dayton, O. He left many descendants in Montgomery and Dark Counties, O. His two sons, Martin J., and Frederick moved to Goshen and Elkhart, Ind., and have many descendants. These, Capt. Martin's grandson, John Wey-bright, came to Md. in 1837, and settled on Monocacy now in Carroll Co. His grandson, Samuel Keyes Wey-bright, owns and lives on this farm. These descendants are mostly agriculturist people. Their prevailing faith is with "The Church of the Brethren" with quite a number of ministers. Can with quite a number of ministers. Can only find two descendants of Jacob Weybright, Ann and Ann Maria.

The Michael Waybright line (in census of 1770 spelled Waybright) in western part of York Co., Pa., now Adams Co., bought a farm from Ludwic Shriver, May 1, 1784, and is now owned by Oliver Waybright, Gettysburg, Pa. There are many descendants of Michael in Pa. and Md., also having quite a number of minisalso having quite a number of ministers. The prevailing faith is Lutheran, mostly agricultural people. Both lines have a few descendants scattered from Boston, Mass. to California.

Mrs. D. S. Weybright, of Thurmont, gave a reading, "The last Whipping."
The Lancaster Co., Historical Society was represented by Mr. Martin, Prof. Eby and Mr. Levi Huber. Mr. Martin explained the work of the Society. The Lutheran church in Lancaster being the first church in the town, built in 1731. This church was presented with a pewter communion set (with initial I. C. H. stamped on) by John Martin Webrecht 1737. The Society became curious to learn what the initials stand for, and after much research found they stood for I. C. Hinea, who manufactured pewter ware in the early days. pewter ware with these initials on is very valuable. He found another communion set in a church in Lebanon, Pa.

Prof. Eby gave an interesting talk.

It was decided to make this reunion an annual affair. J. P. Waybright, Detour, Md., was elected chairman. Mrs. Grace Durborow, of Gettysburg, Pa., secretary, and John Waybright, Thurmont, Md., Treasurer. The reunion will be held next year on the original waybright to be seen to be ginal Michael Waybright (spelled Wyprecht in deed) farm, 7 miles south of Gettysburg, on the Mason and Dix-on line. The time set was on Satur-day, before Labor Day. An offering was taken for expense of meeting and research work and a donation to Mr.

Amos Huber. We feel much indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Huber for their hospitality and fine entertainment, serving coffee and letting us go through the house, we coming there as entire strangers and received such a hearty welcome, and are invited back. Also to Mr. Levi Huber who assisted his son; also to Mr. and Mrs. Laymon, parents of Mrs. Huber. The Baptist minister closed with a few remarks and benediction. This ended a most enjoyable day.

ALLISON FAMILY REUNION.

The second reunion of the Allison family was held at South Mountain Grove, near Arendtsvills, Pa., Sunday, Sept. 25, 1932. Twenty-two members of the family, for seven of whom it was the first meeting and two greats. was the first meeting, and two guests

Following a bountiful basket luncheno, Mr. A. W. Yeatts welcomed the members attending for the first time. The minutes of last year's meeting were read and the loss by death during the year of one member, Mrs. Anna M. Allison, was reported. Mr. Yeatts then caller for speeches and the gentlemen as well as some of the ladies responded in an interesting ladies responded in an interesting manner. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Yeatts, Hagerstown; Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Allison, Williamsport, Pa.; Minnie Allison and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Minnie Allison and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. #### MARYLAND CLASSIS.

mittee of General Synod was presented by the Executive Secretary, Rev. Dr. William E. Lampe, of Philadelphia. Rev. Paul D. Yoder, a member of the Executive Committee of General Synod, also addressed Classis.

The work of the Mission Boards of the Church was presented by representatives of the Boards as follows: For the Board of Foreign Missions by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Creitz, of Reading, Pa., President of the Board, and by Rev. Dr. Christopher Noss, who for nearly forty years has been a missionery to Japan, for the Board of sionary to Japan; for the Board of Home Missions by Rev. Dr. James M. Mullan, Superintendent of the Department of the East, of the Board of

Home Missions. Classis heard these brethren with much pleasure and interest, and pledged its hearty support to the work

The Board of Christian Education was presented by Rev. Dr. Henry I. Stahr, General Secretary, who stressed especially the need of support on the part of the Churches and Sunday Schools in the purchase of Literature and Sunday School supplies.

The Board of Ministerial Relief was represented by Rev. Dr. Harry N. Bassler, Vice-President of the Board, and a member of Classis. An urgent appeal was made for the completion of the Sustentation Fund, in order that the Board may function order that the Board may function perfectly in providing relief to needy disabled ministers and their widows.

Rev. A. P. Frantz, Superintendent, presented an interesting and inspir-ing report as to the work of the Hoff-ing report as to the work of the Hoffman Orphanage. He reported that the Orphanage is now sheltering 68 children, of whom 23, or one third, are from the Maryland Classis.

Rev. Dr. Scott R. Wagner, President of the Board of Trustees of the Old Folks' Home, made a gratifying report to the effect that the Home had been opened in a property bought. had been opened, in a property bought and renovated in the suburbs of Hagerstown, and that there are now 12 guests in the Home. The number will be increased as additional room is provided. He extended a cordial invitation to the pastors and people of the Classis to visit the Home. Rev. Dr. J. Ranch Stein, of Phila-delphia, Stated Clerk of the General Synod, was present for a part of the session, and addressed the Classis. The Committee on Finance reported the items of apportionment for the year 1933. These were apportioned upon the several Charges and Congregations, and will serve as the basis for benevolent giving in the Classis. An urgent request was made to the effect that the congregations and members make every effort to pay the apportionments in full. The amounts apportioned are. Contingent Fund of Classis Home Missions 9000

Foreign Missions Ministerial Relief Theological Seminary 2050 708 Beneficiary Education Catawba College 1328 1500 Christian Eduction Historical Society and Bible Soc 90

These amounts are greatly reduced from the amount apportioned for

During the noon recess, about sixty members of Classis made a pilgrimage to the birth place of Francis Scott Key. Great interest was shown also in the information con-cerning the relation of Mr. Key to the church and the ground on which it stands. The portrait of Francis Scott Key in one of the tower windows, and the monument in front of the Church, commemorating the gift Mr. Key of ground for Church Purposes" were centers of in-

The ladies of Grace Church provided splendid meals for the comfort and entertainment of the members of Classis and other guests. Classis adopted pleasing resolutions of thanks for their kindness. During the evening session, Rev. John S. Hollenbach, of Manchester, delivered his lecture, "The Thief in the Church." Music for the sessions and for the evening was furnished by the Classical Chorus.

"I didn't see you in church last night," said the parson who was noted night," said the parson who was noted for his very long sermons. "How's that?" "Too wet," was the reply. "But it's always dry inside," protested the parson. "That's another reason," was the retort.—Tit-Bits.
