TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fire, important happenings, visits to or from community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Mr. Paste LeGore was being housed up the cave week, due to a healing in his head.

Mrs. Lavina Fringer attended a C. & P. Telephone Conference in Westminster, on Thursday.

The 4-H Girls' Club meeting will be held Saturday, March 16, at 1 P. M., at the home of Mrs. Walter Bower.

Allen F. Feaser, Taneytown, was low bidder on the proposed additions and improvements to the Court House.

Another small contribution to the winter's seven feet of snow, fell on Tuesday night. Nobody was pleased over it. Likewise another one Wednesday night.

The Leadership Training School opened on Monday evening in the Reformed Church, with an enrollment of thirty-five.

Charles Keefer returned home from the Frederick City Hospital, last Saturday, and is getting along as well as can be expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stott and daughter, of Hagerstown, spent the week-end with Mrs. Margaret Stott and Miss Anna Galt.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Alwine and Miss Catherine Alwine, of New Oxford, Pa., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Doty Robb, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Stover, of Columbia, Pa., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Boyd and Mrs. Mary Stover and family, over the week-end.

A considerable number of shipments of The Reindollar Co., flour are being made to various points in Porto Rico, though a New York exporting house.

Frank L. Brown, of Columbus, Ohio who is a student at Western Maryland College, Westminster, spent the week-end with his grandmother, Mrs. Lavina Fringer.

The Maryland Classis of the Evangelical Reformed Church, will meet in Grace Reformed Church, Taneytown, in May and not in Linbeoro, as stated in some of the papers.

Give our public sale advertising display a good looking over, during this month. So doing is pretty sure to pay those needing stock, implements and other goods.

The annual High School athletic meet will again be held at the Taneytown Fair ground, the best place in the county for such an event. It will be held on Saturday, May 18.

Mrs. Vernon Sledge, of Charlestown, W. Va., is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, near town, and helping to care for her mother who has been critically ill.

Mrs. Amelia Basehoar, Mr. and Mrs. Theron Basehoar and family and Miss Keefer, of Littlestown, and Miss Ethel Sheeley, of New Oxford, Pa., visited Mr. and Mrs. Norman Baumgardner and family, on Sunday.

A Farmers' Meeting will be held in the Opera House, Saturday evening, March 23. Addresses by Congressman Lemke, South Dakota, and S. E. Kennedy, Illinois, Sec. National Educational Farmers' Union. Open to all.

The Record office has a number of large orders on hand, that will run well into May, with space in between for small orders. We therefore ask local patrons to help us plan our work, by giving their orders, when possible, in advance of urgent need.

It is reported that the Young Republican League of Carroll County will banquet at Sauble's Inn, some time in April, in honor of Walter R. Rudy, Mt. Airy, who has been appointed Automobile Commissioner, and that Gov. Nice will attend. A more definite announcement will be made later. Tickets to the banquet may be had from William F. Bricker.

Mrs. N. B. Hagan reports the following visitors: on Sunday, her stepbrother, Chas. A. Elliot, and Charles Elliot, Jr. and wife who went on to visit a son at Mt. St. Mary's. On Sunday afternoon, John Roddy and wife, of Mt. St. Mary's, and on Monday, George A. Clabaugh and wife, of near Bridgeport.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Messler and daughter, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. B. Chenoweth, Mrs. Dorothy Koons and daughter, Miss Mary Alice Chenoweth and Jackie Haines, visited Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Vestal, at Red Lion, Pa., on Sunday. Mrs. Koons and daughter, remained and will spend some time at the Vestal home.

Clyde L. Hesson, Asst.-Treas., Taneytown Savings Bank, addressed the students of the High School, on Thursday, on the subject, "Modern Banking." Rev. Guy P. Bready arranged the program. The musical numbers included solos by Miss Myers and Richard Sutcliffe. Donald Essig was the accompanist. Mr. Hesson's talk was very interesting and worthwhile.

WILL BUY NEW FIRE TRUCK

To Replace the one in use Eleven Years.

The Taneytown Fire Company, on Monday night, voted to buy a new fire truck, considering this a better plan than to have the old one extensively repaired. The Taneytown Fire Company has been a fine organization for the town, having saved many thousands of dollars worth of property in town and community, and it has a deserved reputation for promptness and good management.

That it will be liberally supported in this necessary project, is unquestioned. If any reasonable expenditure for the old truck can be considered to be wise; no doubt those on the "fire line" understand the situation best, and their decision will be accepted without question.

The old truck has been in use 11 years, and has been rapidly bumped over all sorts of roads, which makes the community responsible too, in meeting the considerable expenditures involved.

BASEBALL FOR TANEYTOWN.

Progress is still being made toward baseball for Taneytown for this season. It has been definitely decided that the Sauble field, will be used instead of the high school field, and that a more commodious grand-stand will be built. Whether the team will again enter the Frederick County League has not been decided; and the line-up of the team is also a matter for the future.

The official organization of the team is as follows: President, Raymond Sauble; vice-president, Roy Phillips; secretary, David Smith; treasurer, Doty Robb; directors, Merwyn C. Fuss, T. H. Tracey, D. J. Hesson, John Leister, Dr. Thomas Martin, Wm. F. Bricker.

The new ground, which is the one used before the High School ground, is a decided improvement in every way, and the new grand-stand will be a desirable addition. New players, for greater team strength, are expected to be in the line-up.

COMMON BEGGARS.

Last week, a fairly well dressed young man applied at our office for a "job," knowing full well that printing offices do not have short jobs for any stranger. His real object followed our "no," when he asked for a little money with which to "get something to eat."

This same beggar-tramp canvassed the whole town. At other places he asked for a pair of over-shoes, for a little help toward buying over-shoes, for help toward paying his bus fare to Westminster, for straight out money for a man out of a job.

No doubt at other shops he applied for work. In case he would have been offered a job, he would have asked for money with which to get something to eat before going to work, and would not have returned. At one of last places he called, the lady of the house noticed evidence of his having bought something he had not mentioned as wanting.

A very large percentage of beggars who plead that they are out of work, do not want work, but are unprincipled enough to beg—and make good wages at it. Without doubt, this class discourages relief work, and help from those who are benevolently inclined.

CHILDREN'S AID CAMPAIGN.

Plans for the annual financial campaign of the Children's Aid Society of Carroll County, which will be held April 1-12 are going forward rapidly.

The first meeting of campaign leaders will be held at 8 o'clock, Monday night in the Firemen's building, Westminster. District leaders, officers, and members of the Board of Managers and the Advisory Council are being invited to attend and help make final plans for the drive.

At this time Mrs. Frank T. Myers, President of the Children's Aid, and Charles Richardson, Campaign Chairman, will present details of the organization work for the campaign. Norman Boyle, Chairman of the Advisory Council, will present the budget for the Children's Aid Society, which is asking for $9500 for its work with neglected and dependent children.

A number of the district chairmen have notified the Children's Aid this week that they have already secured their team captains for their district organization. The team captains will help obtain members for their teams in preparation for the coming drive. Names of all those participating in the campaign will be published in the near future. Many enthusiasm is being shown by those working in preparation for the campaign.

District quotas for the campaign are announced by Mr. Richardson. They are as follows: Taneytown, $250.40; Uniontown, $205.52; Myers, $198.20; Woolerys, $266.32; Freedom, $198.48; Manchester, $292.78; Westminster, $840.78; Hampstead, $218.33; Franklin, $98.61; Middleburg, $156.86; New Windsor, $225.14; Union Bridge, $197.98; Mount Airy, $151.63; Berrett, $168.32.

BOARD OF EDUCATION PROCEEDINGS.

Various Matters of Importance given Consideration.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll Co., was called to order in the office of the Board, Tuesday, March 5, 1935, at 9:30 A. M. All the members were present.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

The lists of paid and unpaid bills presented to the Board were approved and ordered paid.

The following alterations, etc., were approved and the amounts for same authorized to be placed in the budget: a. Sewage connection for Westminster High School; b. Sewage connection for Graceland School; c. Sewage connection for West End School and the additions to the building to make same operative; d. Plumbing and septic system for Mechanicsville, using tank in ground at Graceland for it; e. Put more insurance on equipment in our large schools; f. Remove heat plant in Mt. Airy portables and combine with International heater at Mechanicsville into a two-boiler system to adequately heat this school; g. Transfer remainder of radiation, etc. to Taneytown to heat portables from furnace.

The Mt. Airy Committee was authorized to act in the matter of advertising for bids on the Mt. Airy building as soon as the plans are approved by the State Architect.

The Mt. Airy committee reported that it had secured a floor of the Riddiemoor building for a rental of $25 a month, and the Odd Fellows building for $75 up to June 25, and $90.00 a month.

FOR GOOD YIELDS OF TOMATOES

Time of planting is a most important factor in securing satisfactory tomato yields, and as little as a week's delay in transplanting has been known to cut the yield a ton to the acre, according to L. C. Burns, County Agent for Carroll Co. In many demonstrations and field trials it has been definitely shown over a period of years that plants set in the field from the 15th to the 25th of May make better vine growth and set a larger percentage of fruit before the unfavorable period of mid-summer than do plants set in June. Hence, the slight increase cost of securing earlier plants is well worthwhile.

In some instances plants can be produced sufficiently early in open beds and also many growers obtain plants from growers in the South. However, where this is not possible Mr. Burns advises using the cloth covered cold-frame. Cold-frames are relatively inexpensive, produce plants early enough for canning purposes and are not hard to manage. The University at College Park, or the county agent will be glad to supply further information regarding these cold-frames, tree of charge.

To produce plants early enough in open plant beds the beds should be placed on soil that warms up early in the spring and which is well protected from North and West winds. In addition, the seed should be soaked overnight before planting and some growers ridge over the seedrow, scraping off the ridge as soon as the seeds sprout.

Southern grown plants may also be used if the grower knows of a good source of plants in the South and, where the production of these plants is properly supervised, good results are usually obtained.

NEW ELECTRIC RATES

Mr. Smith Makes Statement on Behalf of Company.

Mr. P. Paul Smith, President of The Potomac Edison Company, has announced that the Company had accepted the order of the Public Service Commission dated Feb. 28, 1935. The rate schedules provided for in that order became effective as applied to all meter readings after February 20, 1935. Certain exceptions were taken by the Company, in its acceptance, as to the basis used by the Commission in arriving at its decision, but these exceptions do not effect the new rates in any particular.

Mr. Smith stated that the only other course of action left open to the Company was to prolong litigation and this he felt was most undesirable. He went on to say that these decreases placed burdens upon the Company far in excess of those it felt to be warranted by the facts and circumstances and also from the standpoint of fairness to both the customer and the investor. He further emphasized that his position is one of balanced responsibility between these two factors of Company structure.

However, Mr. Smith held out the hope that the Company would, with the full co-operation of its patrons in taking advantage of the new rates for the increased use of the Company's services, be able to successfully meet the burdens imposed on it by the rate reductions provided for in the Commissioner's order.

He pointed out that many new electric appliances and devices for both home and factory use are now available. The new low rates enable the customer to make use of many of these without adding to his bill. It is his belief that the enjoyment and leisure to be gained by the additional use of such electric appliances, without increased cost, will be considered most desirable by the vast majority of customers.

It is on this belief and confidence in the co-operation of its customers and the future of electric service in home and industry that The Potomac Edison Company bases its hope of successfully carrying these new burdens.

GARDEN CLUB ENTERTAINED

BY MRS. A. ZOLLICKOFFER.

On Wednesday afternoon, March 6, the members of the Carroll Garden Club who have been enjoying a visit to the Scandinavian countries during the winter months, embarked on Denmark for the homeward voyage. After crossing the gangplank and presenting her passport, (an article about Denmark, a drawing of a Danish flower, or a picture of a scene or famous building in Denmark) each cruise member was given a life saver, and a vag of Denmark, as a memento of their visit.

Immediately upon getting under way, the members of the party were presented to the Captain of the ship, Mrs. Alfred Zollickoffer, who did much to make the voyage a pleasant one. The tourist leader, Mrs. Myers Englar together with Captain Zollickoffer planned a most interesting program to pass away the hours on the water.

We were fortunate in having among the members of the party, Mrs. Marie Smelser Thompson, who graciously sang a popular song of Denmark entitled "It was a Dream," as our vessel left the shore.

So that we might have a clearer and more permanent memory of the places we had visited, Miss Anna Wolfe showed on the map the places we visited, and the miles we had traveled.

At this point in our voyage Captain Zollickoffer heard strange noises coming from the forward deck of the ship. Upon investigation they found a young Danish girl who was so eager to meet some American girls and boys that she decided on stowing away, until the ship was safely out to sea. The Captain asked her some questions about her life at home in Denmark, and every member in the party enjoyed her answers.

Everyone was so thrilled at the finding of a stowaway, and so pleased at Captain Zollickoffer's kindness toward the girl, in spite of the firmness of her voice when she said our young friend would have to be returned on the next trip back, that we all felt inclined to sing. So we tried our voices on the Swedish National Anthem, "Charles John, our Brave King." After the song ended the passengers eagerly questioned Esther Sense, the young stowaway, for more facts about her home and family and friends.

As the lounge of our vessel contained a piano among its furnishings, and we were all so stupid in Scandinavian atmosphere, Miss Marianna Snader played a solo, "The Norwegian Wedding March."

Another member of our party, Mrs. Paul Reese was very much interested in the flowers and horticulture of Denmark. She told us of many species she had observed and their habits of growth and cultivation.

Mrs. David Snader was much interested in the farm life and agriculture of the land we had just left. She told us some interesting things she had particularly noted during the tour.

Mrs. G. S. LaForte was apparently devoting most of her time to a study of the culinary art as it is known in Denmark. She told us a great deal about the foods her Danish friends served, and their methods of preparing them.

While recalling some interesting things about that part of the trip which dealt with Norway, Mrs. Marie Smelser Thompson was prevailed upon to sing a song by the great Norwegian composer, Edward Grieg. The song she chose was entitled, "I Love Thee."

LEGISLATIVE DELAYS TAKING ACTION.

Comptroller Gordy Suspends Treasury Payments.

The week opened with failure to agree on the amount of State relief, between the Governor and his advisers on one hand, and legislative leaders on the other, but with a degree of co-operation nevertheless. The disagreement was largely over the amount demanded by the Federal government, the dissenters standing for $3,500,000 and no more.

The Senate, on Tuesday voted down the sales tax proposal of Gov. Nice and his advisers, 19 to 9, that was estimated to raise $8,500,000 for emergency relief for three years, and would have complied with the Federal FERA. The majority opinion was that only $3,500,000 could be raised.

The House voted to place the relief program on the table for further consideration and then by a vote of 56 to 53 voted for a two percent sales tax "as a last resort for relief funds."

Governor Nice's Banking Commission made its recommendations to the Legislature, on Monday. It deals in questions concerning the general conduct of banking looking toward greater safety and improved methods.

The House Judiciary Committee on Tuesday, voted 13 to 6 against compulsory military training in the infantry receiving state aid. It is believed that the military training bill will not come out of committee.

A measure directing the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to refuse markers for Frederick county automobiles unless municipal taxes were paid, was passed by the House.

A bill authorizing the Emmitsburg Bureau and Commissioners to issue bonds of $10,000 for general improvement, fire protection, construction of a sewerage disposal plant and improvement of streets was likewise passed by the House and awaits the Governor's signature. It was authorized by Senator LeGore.

The Civil Marriage bill that would have broadened the present law by allowing Judges or Clerks of any Court of record, or Mayor of any town or city, to perform marriages, was again defeated by a vote of 60 to 43.

The House passed to second reading, a bill abolishing the whipping post as punishment for wife beating. A prison sentence for one year was provided for the offense.

Urging that the "child be placed above the dollar mark," representatives of parent-teacher associations from 22 of the 23 counties of Maryland crowded the House of Delegates on Tuesday and presented a five-point school program that would add $617,775 annually to the budget.

Only Cecil county was without representation. Leaders in the legislature, on Wednesday, agreed on a recent sales tax to go into effect immediately on its passage; and a one percent tax on incomes in excess of $4000, to become effective next year. The sales tax is estimated to produce between $3,000,000 and $3,250,000 in a year, while returns from the income tax are expected to amount to $1,000,000 or more a year. The sales tax is to finance relief benefits, while the income tax will be used for old-age pensions.

The budget bill was debated in the House, on Wednesday, and ten amendments added to those already made in the Senate. A readjustment of (Continued on Eighth Page.)

FOREST FIRE LOSS SMALL IN CARROLL COUNTY.

A report recently released by Dist. Forester C. F. Winslow, of Laurel, Md., discloses that only four forest fires burned in Carroll County during the year 1934. The report further claims that 29.75 acres of forest land were burned, and that these fires did an estimated damage of $28.10, and that they cost $14.40 to suppress.

"Forest fire fighting forces are rated as to efficiency by the average size fire," says the District Forester. Therefore, on this basis, the citizens of Carroll County can take pride in their record of an average size fire or slightly less than 7 1/2 acres burned per fire. This record was exceeded by only Calvert, Prince George's, and Harford Counties where the average size fires were 4, 5 and 7 acres respectively.

Two of Carroll County's forest fires were the result of careless brush burning and two were of incendiary origin. In speaking of the latter case Mr. Winslow states that the Maryland Law considers the setting of fire maliciously to the land of another a very grave offense, and calls for a fine of $2000, or imprisonment of five years, or both such fine and imprisonment.

"Such drastic penalties are necessary to discourage vandals from destroying a great natural resource," says the District Forester.

Mr. Winslow further states that there is a dearth of high grade timber in Maryland and that uncontrolled forest fires in the past are largely responsible for this condition. It should therefore not be necessary to call attention to the fact that those counties having few forest fires in the years to come be in the front of heavily burned over sections as to the value of stumpage.

In closing District Forester Winslow wishes to draw attention to the approaching dry spring weather when forest fires are usually most numerous, and cautions forest users to be careful with fire while in the woods and while burning debris adjacent to woodlands.

WANTS AUTO DRIVING PART OF HIGH SCHOOL COURSE.

The American Automobile Association employed the entire time of one of the leading safety specialists in the country to produce a new and needed program in the safety field. This program is the result of a study of auto death rates over a ten year period which revealed an astounding increase in deaths of high school and college students. The average of deaths increased 96% over this ten year period. The student death rate, however, increased 165% for those of high school age and 185% for college students. These facts are astounding but regrettably justified by the "all-time high" toll of some 36,000 deaths on our highways in 1934.

The A. A. A. has been conducting a time-proved safety educational program for the lower grades. This is known as the A. A. A. School Boy Safety Patrol. The new high school program is a logical step upward, and is considered by safety leaders as "the next step" in constructive attack on the traffic accident situation.

Those who have studied the program are convinced that high school students and young drivers lack proper understanding or evaluation of traffic laws, causes of accidents, and the legal and moral responsibilities of both the driver and the pedestrian.

As a general rule, a youngster begins to drive a car during his high school career. How is he to acquire the necessary knowledge and training and develop the right attitudes which will make him a sportsmanlike and safe driver? Heretofore, only a few actively interested persons have viewed the situation as warranting organized action. In general, students are left to their own whims and resourcefulness to fit themselves for a common but involved activity of everyday life. This hit-or-miss way of learning to drive is not at all satisfactory, as the accident figures for this group indicate. What, then, can be done to make skillful and safe drivers of our high school boys and girls?

Leaving this problem to the home has already been tried and found wanting. The average parent is ill-fitted, technically and pedagogically, to handle the problem. Furthermore, he does not have suitable equipment, materials and facilities for doing credit to the subject.

States having compulsory examinations do carry on a helpful educational work, but it is far from adequate, as is demonstrated by the accident records of the State of Maryland (much better though they are than records of other states.)

Does not the logical solution to this problem lie in the high schools? They have the necessary organization, facilities and discipline, and teaching personnel familiar with the problems of the age group now ready to assume the responsibilities of driving a motor vehicle. What other agency can even begin to approach the qualifications possessed by the high schools for engaging in this important activity?

THE AUTO AS A KILLER.

During 1932 the number of persons killed in auto accidents in the United States was 29,000; in 1933 the number was 29,900; in 1934 the number was 36,000, and nearly 1,000,000 were injured. During the world wars of the past 15 years 300,000 citizens of the United States were killed, while in the same period 325,000 were killed in motor accidents.

These facts most urgently demand more careful driving, closer observance of protective laws, and less liquor influence back of the wheel. And all of these, call for more state police for a more complete highway patrol.

Up in Lawrence, Mass., the employees wouldn't take a pay cut and the boss wouldn't hear of it. That's more news than if six men had bitten six dogs at the same moment.—The Memphis Commercial Appeal.

About $17,000 has been raised for Hauptmann's appeal, so the defense lawyers have confidence in their client.

Random Thoughts

THE "BIDDING" PLAN.

The "bidding" plan of having work done, is now very generally practiced, even when only a small outlay is involved. We want to know "the price" beforehand, for otherwise, we may be "overcharged." When we get the lowest bid, then we are reasonably sure that we have an "honest" bid, and that those who bid higher, tried to "put it over" on us.

But, as in almost every other transaction, our opinions are not always well-founded in such cases. The "low bid" may be a bad guess, or it may be unfair practice; or it may represent a cheaper grade of work. Usually, we pay for what we get, and sooner or later, find this out.

Certainly, there are often good reasons for low prices, and wrong reasons for high prices; but as a rule, like quality and workmanship should command near the same price, no matter who the seller may be. And it is equally true that the bidders must know this, and that it is not "good business" for any seller to try get prices that are too high.

Honesty is always the best policy, and the price-cutter finds this out. Usually, too, the buyer, has his or her own, varied experiences connected with the "shopping" around practice—not always fully satisfactory. P. B. E.

FOR GREATER PROSPERITY.

These recommendations are rather radical as experiments but they have the merit of being free: and, they might help to reduce unemployment, and increase industrial development, as well as public confidence, without fear.

1—To make it impossible to patent, or manufacture, improved machinery of any kind that would further reduce employment, during the next ten years.

2—That no law be passed by National or State Legislatures, that ends in the increased cost to consumers, of any manufactured product belonging in the "necessaries of life" class.

3—That the theory of higher labor and material costs, be abandoned, as directly tending toward restriction of normal spending and improvement.

4—That more thought be given to the old-fashioned plan of inviting industry to function, though the prevalence of lower, rather than higher prices.

5—That more consideration be given to aiding old, or slow, persons to get work, through a system of wages that would pay for the amount of work done.

6—That preference be given to men as heads of families, for jobs, rather than to many women who do not support families.

7—That the credit system be hedged about, to a reasonable extent, that would discount the chances of the irresponsible to get credit for goods that they do not actually need.

8—That a certain amount of reasonable restriction be exercised over professional charges, from which the public at present has no protection.

9—That the small business of the country be given real protection over the monopolistic business concerns, and that no "codes" shall be fixed by law that do not represent the actual consent of the majority in each class of business.

10—That "the government in business" shall be restricted to the actual business of the government; and only extend to private concerns, on the protest of large bodies of their patrons, after being clearly established by evidence, of the need of governmental restriction.

UNFORTUNATE SENATOR LONG.

Right or wrong, the indorsement by Senator Long, of Louisiana, of any project, or question, is pretty apt to do it more harm than good with the administration in Washington. His opposition to NRA is a case in point.

While there are a good many men prominent in public life, who intimate that Long is more right than wrong, in many of his attitudes, his style of opposition has comparatively few open champions.

And this is perhaps unfortunate—a handicap to the Senator's views, no matter how sound—for the country now needs outspoken independent thought, especially in Congress. Men can not so easily be blustered into changing their minds and adopting new views as they can be through calm and dignified reasoning.

The old fable about the Sun being more powerful than the wind, in causing a man to take off his coat, still applies—in Congress and out. His effort to have the Senate investigate Postmaster General Farley, lost out, of course, although he may be expected to try again—and with like results. This is not Senator Long's "day," nor is he in the company that he can lead.

A statement appeared in one of our daily papers this week, to the effect that the Republican party was depending on such figures as Senator Long and Father Coughlin to disrupt the Democratic party, and give the G. O. P. a show in 1936. Of course, such a statement did not come from a Republican writer. In our humble opinion, the Republicans will hardly look in this direction for the support they will need.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

What information does Congress have that this country is in danger from war? Where is the enemy at present located? What is the new, urgent need, for a larger armed force now, than two years ago? There must be "inside" answers to these questions, back of the Senate's action, last week, in increasing the standing army from 117,750 to 165,000 men, and for an appropriation of $400,000,000 for the War Department, the vote being 68 to 15.

The few Senators who opposed the bill made statements of inquiry that were not answered in any satisfactory way. Senator Myers, North Dakota, said:

"We are continuing the game of bullying, of encouraging and of enticing the thing no one here desires to engage in.

"We are justifying this increase on the basis of activities of other lands which have seen fit to increase their armies in preparation for war. While we are seeking to justify expenditures on the basis of what others are doing, the others are doing the very same thing on the basis of what we are doing."

One need not be a hide-bound "pacifist" to wonder whether he was right. Perhaps some actually favor another war, because it would "help business?" But, to this we must add the consideration of another "bonus bill" to follow the present one.

DAWES, AS A PROSPECT.

Former vice-president Charles G. Dawes, predicted four months ago that business recovery should appear, as a natural result of long depression, this coming mid-summer. With only two months to go, and recovery still back of the corner, he again predicted, at Tucson, Arizona, in an address.

"Due to the accumulation of five years of postponed demands, June or July of this year should see the beginning of a great sustained demand for durable goods."

Mr. Dawes is a banker of prominence. He has been noted, in the past, for numerous very pointed and somewhat inelegant statements, as well as for wearing an upside-down pipe. Altogether, he is worth while listening to on such an important matter.

He is also, not an impossible guess for the next Republican candidate for President. But, as a prophet, he has not yet gained much prominence. Perhaps this is his big bid for the honor, and is willing to take the chance.

PARTNERSHIPS WITH GAMBLING CAN'T PAY.

Indiana's Legislature set a good example to other general assemblies when it turned thumbs down on a proposal to legalize pari-mutuel gambling on horse and dog racing. Apparently the Hoosier State's lawmakers had studied carefully the effects of the various race-tracks adjacent to Chicago, in the neighboring State of Illinois. Doubtless they learned that the income from these gambling institutions had been disappointing, though metropolitan handbooks reaped a harvest.

Possibly Arkansas's legislators might have acted as did Indiana's had they paid more attention to conditions over the border in Texas. Carrying out his pledge to repeal legalized betting, if elected, Gov. Jas. V. Allred, of Texas, appealed to the Legislature and that body now has under consideration such a measure. The facts, as reported to the Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock—a journal not mesmerized by the gambling lobby's glittering promises—are that though betting at the three Texas racetracks amounted to nearly $1,000,000 a day, the total revenue to the State from a year's racing amounted to the disappointing sum of $352,000.

But failure to produce revenue was only one charge against the racetrack gambling evil. Merchants of the Texas cities complained that the pari-mutuel machines drained millions of dollars from legitimate channels of business. Moreover, the demoralizing social influence was so apparent that Governor Allred gained considerable support in his campaign from parents, wives, and others who had seen their kinsfolk and friends become victims of the gambling fever.

In Kentucky, where there are increasing signs of a popular effort to retrieve the state government from the hands of an all-powerful political machine headed by racetrack lobbyists and owners, the years of racing control have seen track licenses reduced in size, the pari-mutuel "take-out" by the track operators increased, their real estate taxes lowered, and litigation inaugurated which, if successful, would deprive the State of any license fees whatever. Legislators and state officials often believe that they can control gamblers and make gambling "honest," but actual experience shows that the gamblers core often control officialdom, while the inherent immoral elements of the act of profiting at one's neighbor's expense contaminate whatever they touch.—Christian Science Monitor.

KINDS OF CO-OPERATION.

The farmer has learned that there are two kinds of co-operative effort.

One kind obtains co-operation through governmental fiat—through a process of regimentation, whereby the farmer's actions are dictated by a bureau in Washington.

The other kind is obtained through the work of the farmer himself—when he and his fellows join and support a farmer-controlled co-operative organization.

The first kind of co-operation may be necessary in a temporary national emergency, but if it is continued indefinitely the American farmer will undergo drastic and unhappy change. Once a free man, he will become a serf. Once an independent entity, thinking and working to advance his own interests, he will be at the mercy of politicians. Money made at the expense of freedom and independence could avail him little.

The second kind of co-operation does not destroy independence—it builds it. It makes for individualism and development of character. Farmers who band together in co-operative organizations to fight their battles and thrash out the issues affecting them, are hardly likely to become peasants, under the thumb of bureaucracy.

Which kind of co-operation does the average American farmer want?—Industrial News Review.

TOY PIGS OF DENMARK.

When you can't do one thing as you would like to do it and you have been doing it, why not try another or another way? This is a question the Danes have been asking about the work of her people who must have work in order to have food and homes and clothing. Denmark sells lots of bacon, along with cheese and butter and green stuffs, to the other countries nearby, particularly to England. But something has happened to the sales of bacon. They are nothing like so large as they used to be. And this is what the Danes are doing to keep up sales and incomes. They are making toy pigs and are these toy pigs selling and bringing in money? They are. And cunning! Real artists are designing them.

The pictures of them with a spot here and there on their fuzzy sides, an ear turned this way or that, tails up and tails curled, are fascinating. What is more the artists designing them are so pleased with unexpected success that they are making dogs and dolls and ships; soon they may be making other things. They are finding that beechwood can be easily carved and used for heads, can be made to show, what the artists term, "entrancing expressions." Perhaps Christmas 1935 may bring some of these toy pigs and dogs and dolls and ships to America.—Freneds Co-operating Committee.

CONSIDERABLE IMPROVEMENT.

It is reported now that, in connection with the proposed revamping of the NRA, the Administration proposes to scrap about eighty percent of the NRA codes. That means dropping 480 codes. It means only 120 codes left to administer.

Most people are by now convinced that the administration of the bulk of the codes has been highly unsatisfactory. Codification was conceived in the beginning as being a scheme for eliminating the "destructive" features of competition and at the same time, by providing for wage increases and the limitation of hours, to eliminate unemployment and increase the nation's purchasing power.

We know now that, in their wages and hours provisions, the codes have largely failed to achieve their purposes, and that on the other side they have promoted in many industries the growth of monopoly and wrought great hardships on the small producers.

In short, the NRA has strayed far, very far, from its purposes as they were originally conceived. Hence the elimination of eighty percent of the codes may be applauded. But why not eighty-five percent? Why not ninety percent? Why not still more?—Balt. Evening Sun.

WHAT ARE WE WORKING FOR?

What, after all, do the American people expect or desire of "Recovery?" What are we thinking about, primarily? What are we demanding of our political and economic leaders?

Of course we want a return of prosperity. We want work for the unemployed. We want security for the worker, for the aged and infirm. We want some reasonable assurance that such a catastrophe shall not occur again. These are good things, and we have a right to work for them, to demand that our leaders shall seek a solution for our economic problems.

But is this all we want? Have we truly learned anything by the depression? Do we covet beauty rather than luxury? Do we seek a higher, better informed intelligence?

Are our ideals any higher and purer than heretofore? Has adversity hastened our manhood and womanhood, strengthened our moral will?

A thoughtful liberal, who for years has been in protest economic exploitation of the masses, and has at times leaned rather strongly toward the red, or at least the deep pink, propaganda of socialism, remarked the other day that he was becoming convinced that the well being of society is at bottom a thing of the spirit; that programs and policies are less important than the character of men and women.

He has learned his lesson. The solution of human problems depends in the last analysis on whether we are bigger, steadier, wiser, deeper-hearted than before.—Minneapolis (Minn.) Journal.

NO PLACE FOR FUN.

A bill was introduced in the legislature last week which would require that a woman, before she could be granted a marriage license, to show that:

She has a regular and permanent job or position paying a salary sufficient to enable her to support her prospective husband in the comfort, style and manner to which he has been accustomed; or

That she has sufficient sound investments from which she receives an adequate income for the purposes above enumerated;

That she has a bank account which she will place in the joint names of her husband and herself;

That she owns an automobile which she will share equally with her husband or will purchase one for his exclusive use if he so desires.

This might be considered "funny" was it not for the fact that the taxpayers are paying the expenses of the legislature, not to produce rivals of Will Rogers, but to stick close to the serious business of law-making.

LITTLESTOWN.

Hauser and son, cigar manufacturers of Hanover, closed their factory here, a few weeks ago, not knowing when they would open. Since then they decided to close the factory for good, and are moving the tools to Hanover. This factory was making a two for five cent cigar until the union cigar makers closed the factory last summer. Then they opened under the NRA code and made a three for ten cent cigar and had to lay some of their slow workers off some time ago.

The firm got a building in Hanover and installed some machines. I am informed that one machine will turn out about four thousand cigars a day, after two hands understand the machine. This is a hard blow to our cigar makers. There were about 85 hands working.

Walter Hood, a Harrisburg barber, formerly of Littlestown, was arrested Friday by Deputy Sheriff Bollinger on a process issued by the Adams Co. Court, because Hood had failed to comply with a previous Court order on a desertion and non-support charge Hood was committed to the Adams County Jail.

Public sale of stock and implements of C. C. Lippy, near town, last Saturday, amounted to $4,380. Some prices realized were as follows: Mule $198; horses, $150 to $250; cows $60 to $90; Leghorn chickens 85c each shoats, $14.00 to $15.00 each.

The automobile of Malcolm Clouser of near town, was damaged by fire in Gettysburg, Sunday morning. He stopped at a stop sign, and when he started the car the engine backfired and flames broke out. Officer Culp obtained a hand fire extinguisher and put out the fire. About two hours later he was called back to the scene to extinguish a fire in the upholstery of the same car, and motor was badly damaged.

The Marc Weaver property, East King St., was sold at public sale to Mrs. Leona Ott, surviving daughter, for $3,800.

Mrs. Harry Ohler and Mrs. Austin Staley, remain seriously ill at this time.

Misses Florence and Ella Biehl gave a dinner, Sunday, in honor of Sterling Sell, who celebrated his 40th birthday.

Mr. Stonesifer is going to open a barber shop in the brick building across from the alley of the Littlestown cigar box factory. Success to you.

F. T. Shriver is indisposed with the common ailment and now pleurisy. Many persons are afflicted with grippy colds and feeling miserable. We suppose the ailment is prevalent over the country, so no need to mention names of all the victims. Here's hoping for speedy recoveries.

Mrs. Bruce Shirk was confined to the house last week with an attack of pleurisy, and their aunt Mrs. Rosa K. Bohn was in attendance; however she is coming back to normal again—facing a sale and their moving to Taneytown the last of this month.

The first Lenten service at Mt. Union last Wednesday evening was well attended by members of the charge and Rev. Kroh conducted a good service, assisted by the choirists. He spoke earnestly on the theme "Cross Bearing." The second meeting was held at Winters church this week.

Our former neighbor Walter Hape, of Hanover, now milk inspector for the Keystone Dairy Co., was calling in on our town on Monday evening. He reports the worst travel ever this past season, and had to be pulled out of mud and snow, but has enjoyed good health.

Recently John N. Starr and family including his niece, Mrs. Pearl Nussbaum, took a roasted goose to the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Starr Stuffle, in Hanover, and prepared a fine dinner for her birthday surprise.

This week all interest centers in the sale at Mrs. Frank Keefer's, on Saturday where the Mt. Union ladies will have food for sale. The Keefer's purchased their farm in 1929 of Jesse Reiser, and have resided there since then, but will move to Union Bridge next week. They will be missed in this community, but many good wishes follow them.

Wild geese are flying over—but those on Monday evening seemed to be moving southward. The next morning colder weather and snow were announced, so the birds must know.

Altho' our alert neighbor was one day ahead of us we really gathered a full mess of dandelion from the garden in March 7, the earliest we have ever had from home-ground; after such a frozen winter too.

Looking over the historical register we read under date of March 11, "the great Blizzard began, 1888," and that set us thinking of those big drifts, and how the men shoveled and piled up the snow by the road side. Some prophesied the trains couldn't get down the mountain for a month, and in less than a week they were all running on full time.

Here's a bit of weather wisdom; "When the wind is in the North The old folks should not venture forth."

Nom comes St. Patrick's Day commemorating the good work of that good Missionary to Ireland, with all its sweet Irish songs, and the "wearing of the green."

C. & P. TELEPHONE FINANCES.

Taxes of $89,500,000 or an average of $6.76 for each telephone in service in the Bell System last year are reported by Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. These taxes were included in the total expenses of $705,500,000 the company's annual report shows. Operating revenues of the Bell System last year were $884,500,000. Operating earnings were $179,000,000 and other earnings—net after reflecting the loss for the year of the Western Electric Company, Inc. were $3,900,000. The total net earnings were $182,900,000 or $14,000,000 greater than in 1933.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company's proportion of the net income of the system, that is, of the net earnings after interest deductions, and after dividends on preferred stocks of the Associated Companies, Mr. Gifford states, was $111,167,554 or 5.96 per cent of the company's stock outstanding compared with $5.38 in 1933. This was short of dividends declared in 1934 by $56,792,921, which amount was taken from the surplus of the system.

The company has 18,662,275 shares of stock outstanding for which it has received $268,749,078 in excess of par or an average of $14.48 a share in excess of the par value of $100.00, the report shows. The company's surplus together with its proportion of the surpluses of its associated telephone companies and other controlled companies, including the Western Electric Company, amounted on December 31, 1934 to $21,500,000. The $9.00 per share dividend was at the rate of 6.6 percent and the 1934 system's net income of $5.96 per share was 4.4 percent on the stockholders' investment, including the surplus.

Total assets of the Bell System amounted to $4,997,000,000 at the end of the year. System cash assets—including funds temporarily invested in government obligations—was $255,000,000 of which amount the American Telephone and Telegraph Company held $199,000,000. The company has no loans from its associated or subsidiary companies.

During the year plant which cost $167,000,000 was retired from service and that added to the system amounted to $174,500,000. This resulted in a net increase of $7,500,000 in plant. The property was fully maintained and adequate provision was made for depreciation.

By the way, Utah's proposed tax on unmarried men exempts widowers. Presumably on the theory that they have suffered enough.—The Dallas Morning News.

MARRIED.

GITZ-LIDAY.

Mr. Francis Gitz, of Emmitsburg, and Miss Nettie Eileen Liday, Thurmont, were united in marriage on March 6, at the Mt. Joy Lutheran parsonage by Rev. Herbert Schmidt.

DIED.

Obituaries, poetry and resolutions, charged for at the rate of five cents per line. The regular death notices published free.

CHARLES G. SHUEY.

Charles G. Shuey, died at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar P. Fritz, near Uniontown, on Sunday morning, following an illness of two weeks from pneumonia, aged 42 years.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Shuey, near Uniontown, and by two sisters, Mrs. Oscar Fritz and Mrs. Glennie Crouse, near Uniontown. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon, at 1:30 at Baust Church, in charge of Rev. Miles Reifsnnyder. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS.

Omar Brown, of Kane, Pa., spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Joseph Brown.

Mrs. Ida Sheeley, of New Oxford, Pa., visited Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Garner, on Sunday.

Large bundles of old newspapers at The Record Office, 5c per bundle, while they last.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowers, Mrs. Harry Lambert and children, and Miss Mollie Fogle, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Boyd, at Brooklandville, Md., on Sunday.

The much used alley leading from Middle Street to York Street, was given a good coating of stone, this week, by the city authorities. This was a needed and justifiable expenditure. Another one would be to place a line of posts around the outer edge of the sharp curve at the corner of Middle Street and Fairview Ave.

CARD OF THANKS.

I hereby extend my sincere thanks to all neighbors and friends who visited me, and for the liberal use of their cars to my family during my stay at the hospital; also for the beautiful flowers and many letters and cards.

NEW YORKERS MOVE TO ESCAPE TAXES

Many Prominent Families Migrate to Rhode Island.

New York.—Faced with the prospect of increased state taxation, some of New York's wealthiest and most prominent families are reported to be migrating to Rhode Island, which has no state income tax and a comparatively low personal property tax.

The exodus was said to have been given impetus when Gov. Herbert H. Lehman announced a proposed tax levy of 7 per cent on income exceeding $9,000. Since Rhode Island asks only $4 on $1,000 of personal property, families which have been in New York for as long as 300 years have been prepared to establish residence in the New England state.

Among those who have moved to Rhode Island—some already had summer estates there—are Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Sands, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Whitehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe Wickes, Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Bogert, Mrs. Morris De Pyster and Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Williams. Most of them declined, when questioned, to say why they moved.

The Sands family has been among the foremost in New York since before 1820, while more than a century ago the foundation of the immense Goelet fortune was laid here. Bogert is a New York banker. Whitehouse is descended from the family which came to New York before 1600. Williams is a railroad official and Wickes an attorney.

The migration first was noticed last election day, when several social figures went up to Newport to vote for the first time there.

Furs Milady Wears Come From Various Countries

Little males bearing the best pelts, notes a writer in the Philadelphia Record, originate in Scotland. Ermine comes from Russia. Alaska encourages seals, and Canada and Alaska co-operate on beaver. Musk, many Americans are surprised to know, is collected in quantity from the eastern coast of the states, though some comes from Russia and Canada. Leopards are spotted over Abyssinia, India and Assam. Fitch hails in light color from Russia, in dark, from Germany. Kolinsky is Russian.

Lots of different kinds of lamb constitute the caracul family. Some of it is gathered from China and Japan. Some from Russia. Persian lamb is similar to krimmer, but practically the same fur, and originates in the Balkans, Crimea in particular. The hot countries—also Russia and China—"grow" another type of caracul, kidskin. Galayak is also a caracul, and gets its name from nakedness. From Russia, the lamb responsible for this smooth fur is killed while yet innocent and young, and before its skin is much ruffled. "Goly" is the Russian word for naked.

Educated Horses Are Not Used in the Trick Acts

Some people imagine that the horses which are used in the liberty and high school acts are also used by the trick riders. This is not so; the trick rider requires a far different type of animal. Their horses are huge and massive, for one sometimes has to support an entire family on its back! The trick riders' horses are usually of Flemish breed. A thoroughly-trained one is of inestimable value; it has been taught, no matter what happens, never to change its feet. Should it do so when an artist is somersaulting from one horse to another, the result might be serious.

When they are being broken for the ring, part of their training is to accustom them to unexpected noises and disturbances.

Not all, however, of these great horses come from Flanders. One woman rider bought the most reliable horse she ever rode straight from a milk cart. When this "milkback" led her whole family went into mourning!—Peterson's Weekly.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

The night club is coming back into its own along Broadway. It isn't the night club of prohibition. Nor is it the cabaret of pre-prohibition. The stuffiness and handkerchief-sized dance floors of the prohibition era have changed to wide expanses and fresh air. The old "intimate" character of the night club thus has been destroyed. Few regret that, however, since the "intimate" part used to consist of jamming together, and used air. Furtiveness of course disappeared with repeal. Instead of lookouts, peek holes, and "I'm a friend of Joe's," or "ask for Tony," there are signs in big electric letters. The cry "Hello, sucker," is no longer heard. The night club addict may pay as much as he desires. But he knows what he is paying. Split pencils are not used in adding checks. Checks are printed on cash registers and the items may be compared with menus.

Many well known figures are missing from the new night club deal. Texas Guinan exists only in memory. The Larry Fay type has been weeded out. Night clubs, instead of being outlaws, are licensed and licenses being revocable, they obey the rules. Curfew rings at 4 a. m., except when there are such special dispensations as New Year's eve. For those, an all night license must be obtained. There are also rules that cover the conduct of employees. Gigolos are out. Female employees who take part in the shows can't dance or mingle with patrons. Only occasionally is there a battle. Usually it is ended so quickly many of the guests know nothing of it. The corps of plug uglies who used to work on patrons who objected to the size of checks are among the missing also.

The difference between the present day cabaret and the pre-prohibition edition is principally in the matter of clothing, or rather the lack of it. Torsos were not considered entertainment before Volstead, even if knees might have been. For a long time now, even before repeal, the feminine body has been on display in Broadway as well as along the beaches—only more of it. Little has been left to the imagination. Occasionally, reformers have voiced vehement objections to the displays of white flesh. Nothing happened. Now a new French enterprise goes even further and as this is being written, there has been no complaint.

As has been said, dancing in the prohibition days was largely a matter of toe treading. The size of the floors made for intimacy all right. Occasionally, they also made for battles. Nowadays, a lot of dancing is being done on stages—by patrons as well as paid performers, the patrons going on the stage when the chorines and others leave it. Some of the grills, where there are no stages, have dance floors as big as those in some ballrooms. Also instead of but one orchestra, there are two and even three, sometimes taking runs and sometimes cutting loose simultaneously—with the director leading with a flashlight.

Those consulted say that tips are not what they used to be. Hundred-dollar bills are no longer slipped into eager hands. Nowadays, the tuba player is not the envy of the gentleman with the piccolo because play boys use the instrument as a currency repository. But things are looking up. Five-dollar bills are not uncommon and there is even hope that tenners will soon be much in evidence.

A number of theatrical producers are not in favor of the new night club deal. Shows are given with dinners and, in many instances, are so timed that they do not end until long after certain time in the theater. So there is some more competition about which to worry and about which, seemingly, nothing can be done.

Hen Numbers Output

Oakville, Wash.—John Gerrits, farmer, decided that his hens were under an NRA code when he found an egg in his henhouse with the number "3" easily discernible on the shell. Gerrits claims the fowl that laid the egg was numbering her output in compliance with a code.

Nature's Sculpture

Virgin's Island, N. S.—A nearly perfect figure of the Madonna, with the Christ-Child in her arms, has been found etched on the face of a steep, barren rock here. The rock cannot be reached. The etching, believed made by nature itself, can be seen only on clear days from a distance.

Here's Luxury Liner That Nobody Wants

Paris.—Nobody wants the burned-out hulk of the 42,500-ton luxury liner L'Atlantique, although it is worth a large amount of money as "scrap."

Recently the Paris appeal court decided the underwriters were liable to the owners for the full insurance, $11,390,000.

The decision made the bulk of the property of the underwriters, but they have no wish to become its owners.

If they do a bill for $3,330,000 awaits them from the French, Dutch and German salvage firms which towed the ship into Cherbourg.

It's Right
Two trumps stopped at the gate of the widow's cottage.
After a short argument it was decided that one should go and tell his tale of woe. He went up to the front door rather dejectedly.

A minute later he was back in the road again complete with black eye.
"Well," asked Weary, his companion, "did you get anything, Tim?"
"Yes," growled the sufferer, "the widow's might!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Church, will speak; on Wednesday, the pastor will bring the sermon; on Thursday, Rev. George Snyder, pastor of the Mt. Tabor U. B. Charge, at Gardner's, Pa., will bring the message, and on Friday, Rev. R. A. Strassbaugh, pastor of the Greenmount U. B. Church, will preach. The public is urged to attend these services in the interest of the religious cause of the community.

RUGGED CROSS REVIVAL.
The Old Rugged Cross revival, at Thurmont, Md., is in the third week of its progress in the U. B. Church and will continue until March 24th.

One of the impressive features of the evening services is the rough cross 10 feet high, decorated with a thorn crown, and used for the prayer period, during which time the lights are out, and various colors of light are played upon the cross. This develops a very impressive condition for prayer, and the singing of prayer hymns.

During the past Sundays, services in the M. E. Church it was noted that people were present from Emmitsburg, Lewisport, Westminster, Washington and Baltimore and Reading, Pa. The messages of Rev. Geo. Bennett, are especially interesting and helpful to Bible students, and to those who appreciate old time Gospel preaching.

Miss Hannah Dahlstrom, is proving herself to be a very effective soloist and song leader, and is doing a splendid work amongst children and young people. As many as 50 children and young people under her direction help with the music in the evening service.

March 17th, in the U. B. Church will be used for three services; first the regular Sunday School and morning worship service from 9:30 to 11:30 A. M.; second a U. B. Church Rally program to which all the U. B. Churches and pastors near Thurmont are invited. These churches include Gettysburg, Taneytown, Myersville, Gettysburg, Middlestown, Walkersville, Frederick and Waynesboro, Pa.; the third service will be the regular Evangelistic service, 7:30 P. M.

TEACH HORSES TO DANCE

in Real Pony Ballet

Boston.—This town has recently become so enthusiastic about horses that now certain favored individuals of the equine species are being sent to dancing school. This too, is being done without any thought of these nuns graduating into a circus from the everyday centers of life.

In brief, 16 horses of the mounted patrol will do a "soft-shoe" dance for the edification of the police commissioner. The term is easily explained. These horses have been prancing and keeping time to music at the head of parades for years. "Why not teach them some regular waltzes?" asked Sgt. Edward B. Kane, in charge of the mounted division.

Training of these animals for the dance had not progressed far when it was discovered, quite accidentally, that horses dance better without shoes. All 16 members of this genuine "pony-ballet" will complete their dance drills without shoes, and thus qualify for all the intricacies of the art before putting on their show for the police commissioner.

Wales Becomes Composer; Pens Air for Bagpipes

London.—The prince of Wales, son of the king and queen of England. Great Britain's trade ambassador, aviator, linguist, admiral, general, air chief marshal, Europe's most eligible bachelor, et cetera, now has broken into the music game.

The prince has written a little piece entitled "Majorca." It is no elementary exercise for budding piano and violin virtuosos either, but a full-blooded march for bagpipes which will be played at important ceremonies by no less famous bands than those of the Scots guards.

The complete score, written in the prince's own hand, includes, it is said, even numerous grace notes, while at the top is tastefully inscribed the title, "March." The prince composed the tune primarily for his own use. He has been taking bagpipe lessons from Pipe Maj. Henry Forsyth, piper to King George, and is now able to play several pieces.

Motor Plant to Furnish Music While Girls Work

Pittsburgh.—Hereafter Westinghouse motors will be assembled to the strains of "Sweetie Pie" and other popular songs, so the girl workers may be content at their tasks.

"Some types of work are necessarily monotonous," one official declared, "if we can make such types less so by the installation of phonographs we'll do it, and we'll purchase records that the girls themselves select."

Phonographs already have been installed in the motor assembly and one of the electric parts assembly departments. Perhaps a big radio-receiving system to take in the entire plant will follow. The department where radio tubes, receivers and accessories are manufactured now has a complete system of broadcast reception, that has not been made general.

England's Foggiest Spot

In London, the empire's foggiest spot, statistics show that each of the inhabitants pays, on an average, a fog bill of about 30 shillings. This sum is expended between October and February in heavier lighting expenses and extra transport fares. It does not include chemists' and doctors' bills incurred through coughs, colds, and sore throats caused by fog.—Answers Magazine.

Quivering Aspen Leaves

One of the oldest legends in the Christian world concerns the constant quivering of aspen leaves, even in apparently still air. A large number of persons believe the aspen tree supplied the wood for the cross and has never ceased to tremble for the part that it played in the crucifixion.—T. B. Lawrie, Winnipeg, Canada, in Collier's Weekly.

Biologist Makes 5 Year Study of Fish in Texas

Houston, Texas.—Albert Collier, biologist at Rice Institute, has completed a five-year study of salt and fresh water fish in this region. His survey revealed more than 100 salt water and 25 fresh water species. The red-fish family, with includes the croaker, drum, sand trout, spotted trout, and the spot fish, is the largest of the salt water variety, while the bass species are the most prevalent of fresh water fish.

Can't Kick About Cows

London, Ohio.—Londoners are sleeping undisturbed by nightly bovine noises now. A city council ordinance has been amended to forbid the keeping of bawling cows and calves under three months old in sales barns overnight.

Potatoes Replace Torpedoes on Sub

Amsterdam.—Potatoes and onions—net torpedoes—are stowed in the tubes of the Dutch submarine K-18 now on a 23,000-mile trip from Holland to Sourabaya, Java.

The trip will be the longest ever made by a submarine, and will take eight months.

When provisions were stored aboard the 707-ton craft at Neuwedep, Holland, it was found that there wasn't enough room. The commander then decided it was better to leave two torpedoes at home, rather than bales of potatoes and onions.

The teacher asked her class "What are the properties of heat and cold?"
Frank answered, "I know. Heat expands and cold contracts."
"Correct. Now, give me an example," she said.

Lights of New York
 by L. L. STEVENSON

The loan sharks of New York lie in wait for their victims on street corners, up town, in mid-town, in the financial district, indeed all over the city. They prey on those in monetary distress. They are always willing to accommodate and their business conditions are extremely simple—far more simple than most legitimate loan agencies. The borrower merely signs a note. No co-signer is necessary and no endorser—just a name on a piece of paper. The shark has other security. On his pay roll are strong arm men. If the borrower doesn't pay up on time, things happen to him. None of those things are pleasant. In fact, more than likely, the victim has to go to a hospital—or be taken to one. Many of the sharks do not mind a loss now and then. The battered-up borrower is an excellent object lesson to those who otherwise might be inclined to be delinquent.

Profits of the business are enormous. The usual rate is "six for five." That is, the victim who borrows $5 pays $6 at the end of the week. That figures out 20 per cent a week. Often the victim merely pays the interest. That too is all right with the shark. Sometimes the principal is paid and the interest goes into a new loan. That, too, is all right since another 20 per cent is added to the first. But as has been said, woe to the victim who fails to meet his obligation at the time specified. Excuses are not considered. What the shark wants is cash and his strong arm men are always ready to go into action.

Victims are loath to make complaints. Recently down in the financial district, a twenty-year-old clerk was beaten up. He refused to sign a complaint, evidently fearing the consequences. Even his failure to do so didn't save him. When he left the court, three men attacked him—the shark joining in with his thugs. They didn't get away with it in that instance as a detective had followed the delinquent borrower and witnessed the encounter. So the three were arrested and are now being held for the grand jury on a felonious assault charge. There is other evidence against them than the testimony of the officer—the battered face of the clerk.

Arrests of unlicensed loan sharks are few as a result of the fear of their victims. Occasionally, however, something else happens. Not so long ago, a bullet-riddled body was found up in the Bronx. It was that of one of the "six for five" boys. The police are inclined to believe that a victim settled his account with a gun.

She is a young matron just a bit given to affectation. Her three-year-old is a bright child and she insists that he understands and speaks French more readily than he does English. "Mon fils!" she exclaimed during a conversational lull in her Riverside drive home. "Regardez le bateau." With that she pointed and the little fellow ran to the window and gazed at the Hudson. "Oh, mommy, see the boat!" he cried—and there was no further reference to the French language on the part of the mother.

The metropolis has a considerable Indian population, there being about 400 full blood members of various American tribes who make their homes here. Most of them are in the show business in its various forms and thus appear from time to time in their native regalia. Others are engaged in various lines of business and scorn feathers.

Wonder if I've told Maj. Chester B. McCormick's Indian story before? It was in the old days in Oklahoma when prices were high. The Indian went into a grocery store and asked for a quarter's worth of cheese. As the grocer cut it, so thin was the slice that the cheese curled with the knife. "Ugh, pret' near missed um," commented the redskin.

Says Divorce Laws, Not Marriage, Need Fixin'
 Akron, Ohio.—Greed and selfishness cause most divorces, believes Domestic Relations Judge Oscar A. Hunsicker. "People on the verge of divorce might as well admit they have made a mess of their own lives, and look to the welfare of their children," he said.

"The solution of the divorce evil does not lie in stricter marriage laws but in better divorce laws. Something should be done to prevent the throwing of children upon society."

FRENCH ROADS SEEK SPEED; USE DIESELS

Oil-Electric Power Is Proven Better Than Steam.

Paris.—After a year's experimentation with a locomotive operated by a Diesel engine driving an electric generator, the Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean railroad, which operates trains over the longest runs in France, has decided to replace steam locomotives by Diesel-electric units on its principal lines instead of continuing the more expensive project of electrifying the system.

Chief advantage of the new engine is that it can carry fuel for the entire Paris-Marseilles haul, which will make nine-hour service feasible between the capital and France's chief Mediterranean port.

Although the crack Cote d'Azur express, an extra-fare train carrying nothing but Pullmans, makes it in nine hours and a quarter, ordinary expresses take about thirteen hours and a half, and rapides something like eleven hours. With the new locomotive, the connection between Paris and Nice would be made readily in ten hours.

The steam locomotives now in service can only carry fuel for about two hours, so that there have to be five stops to change locomotives on the Paris-Marseilles service as it is now organized.

The Diesel-electric locomotive as developed by the P. L. M. is 50 feet long, weighs 100 tons, and can pull a useful load of 85 tons at a speed of more than 70 miles an hour.

Engineers are now working on a more powerful model which will be used to effect the Paris-Nice ten-hour trip. It will pull a tender containing fuel, a baggage car, and three Pullman-type coaches, all streamlined according to the most modern principles.

The P. L. M. is interested in the new type of trains for another reason—it operates lines also in north Africa where water is scarce. The company proposes, therefore, to put the new units into general service on its Algerian lines, where the original locomotive which has been used for tests is already in regular service.

Turks Picking Surnames Must Shun Duplications

Ankara.—The Turks have now received from the national assembly the regulations which are to govern their choice of surnames.

To prevent unnecessary duplications in surnames, it has been ruled that no two families within a registry district may adopt the same name.

Another restriction is that no one may henceforth adopt names ending in "is" or "ian," which are the terminations usually indicating Greek or Armenian families. This will mean that Greek and Armenian families in Turkey will be assimilated more easily in the population.

It has been ruled, too, that the surname Ataturk, "father of the Turks," which has been conferred by the nation on the Ghazi, shall not be adopted by anyone. It is to be sacrosanct, and even names resembling it are to be avoided.

The first comer to a registry office with a proposed surname has the right to it. A later comer may not buy it from him. If a later comer proposes the same name it shall receive a suffix meaning "Little" or "Big," or some other distinctive addition.

Spain's Night Watchmen Relieve Police on Duty

Every visitor to Spain, writes the Madrid correspondent of the London Sunday Observer, notices the "sereno," or watchman, who, with his pouch of keys and small oil lamp dangling from his chest and with his metalshod staff in his hand, forms one of the chief notes of city life after dark. Madrid's "serenos" come in large part from Galicia. They form the butt for much good-natured fun on the variety and musical comedy stages.

The fact that the "Madrilenos" live almost exclusively in large blocks of flats usually at least five or six stories high makes the work of the watchman relatively simple. The house porter, unlike his unfortunate colleagues in France, is free of all responsibility for the comings and goings of the occupants of his house while the "sereno" is on duty.

In some Spanish towns the "sereno" wears a typical uniform, but in Madrid a flat-topped hat is his only official distinction. He ranks, however, as belonging to the "armed forces," and two years' imprisonment is the minimum punishment for even the slightest assault on his person. His presence in the streets avoids the necessity for police patrols, and Madrid is probably the only capital in Europe whose streets are not regularly patrolled by policemen throughout the night.

Utopian Colony "Happy Family;" Have No Money

Belle River, Prince Edward Island.—Prince Edward Island's famous "Communitistic-Utopia" colony is steadily nearing its goal—complete self-efficiency.

The colony was founded by Hector Compton, administrator, and his brother John, spiritual leader, in 1909. It is "self-governing," has no banks and no money. The settlers live as "one big happy family." They operate community farms, manufacture their own lumber and have their own electric plant.

They "pool" all their resources, and when anyone needs anything he goes to the community store and gets it for nothing. He can come as often as he likes and no questions are asked.

When a young couple decides to get married, the whole colony gets together and builds a house and furnishes it completely for them.

Texas College Students Coin Some New Words

Fort Worth, Texas.—First year students at Texas Christian university here have added some new slants on word meanings.

One student, impressed with the school song at a football game, wrote: "And we all stood and sang the Ar-mada."

A weary freshman penned this one: "I was so tired I went to my room and there sank in the arms of metamorphosis."

Other boners were: "An alumnate is an ex-student." "A hobby is a boy friend." "Girls are known as fair sext." "Homily means not exactly beautiful." "A gargyle is a throat rinse."

Take Uncertainty Out of Weather Forecasting
 Cambridge, Mass.—Uncertainty will be taken out of weather forecasting in the future through the use of radio-sounding balloons and other devices, Prof. Charles F. Brooks, director of the Blue Hill Meteorological observatory, predicted. He said: "By the end of the next fifty years I expect that radio sounding balloons will be sent up several times daily from a hundred stations in the United States and that our knowledge of the atmosphere will be so greatly increased that forecasts will no longer be so uncertain as 'unsettled, probably rain or snow.'"

Haircut
 By ELSIE F. WILSON
 © McClure Newspaper Syndicate, WNU Service.

CLARIBEL BRUNKE'S chauffeur eased to the curb in front of the most famous of Fifth avenue's beauty temples. Claribel's gracious entrance into the salon was greeted by a careful bow from the wax-mustached manager himself.

"Ah, Mademoiselle Brunke—good afternoon. We shall be pleased—"

"I'd like to have you personally do my hair, Seixas," she smiled. "It's rather important today."

"But yes, Mademoiselle."
 "I'm going to put myself in your hands, Seixas," she said. "I want a haircut entirely different from anything I've ever had. Something suited to my type and personality. You know what I mean?"

"But yes, mademoiselle." Seixas draped a snowy sheet around Claribel's shoulders.

"For you, mademoiselle, the smooth close cut is the best. Then to bring out the natural piquancy of your face, a fluffy bang across the forehead—yes?"

"I'll leave it to you, Seixas," she smiled. "Only make me as beautiful as you can."

Claribel hoped that tonight Rick Hollimore would ask her to marry him. She had known Rick for a year. Lately she had fancied that there had been something new in his eyes; something more personal when he looked at her.

"There, mademoiselle!"
 "Perfect, Seixas," she sighed. "You couldn't have done better."
 "Now a shampoo and wave, mademoiselle?"
 "Please."

Seixas proudly combed out the finished coiffure. It was a masterpiece. But then Seixas was patronized because he produced masterpieces.

"It is lovely, Seixas. And it is important that I be particularly nice tonight."

Claribel sat opposite Rick Hollimore in the dim dining room of the Cafe Brun. She was faintly disappointed. Rick who invariably noticed the details of her costume, had not yet commented on her changed headdress. She slipped her cocktail and tried to recapture the intimacy of the past few meetings.

"You're quiet tonight Rick," she said. "Tired?"
 "A little," admitted Hollimore. "This business of casting for a new play gets me every time. I think I have my finger on a type I want and then—pouff! She drops her atches or bites her finger nails!"

"Poor boy." But Hollimore did not react to her sympathy. Claribel felt chilled. At the moment she knew that she meant no more to Rick than the centerpiece of crystal tulips. If he didn't soon see her as an individual Claribel knew that she would always be just so much atmosphere in his life. He was becoming too accustomed to her beauty.

Suddenly his eyes lit up. She followed his glance.
 "Do you see her?" he exclaimed tensely. "The girl with the hair, red and crisp looking. I want her for the beggar girl in Scarlet Slippers. Can't you just picture her?" Hollimore's voice was eager.
 "She probably stutters," said Claribel.

"But her hair! It's a masterpiece of art and imagination. I wonder who her hairdresser is? He certainly knows his stuff. Funny, the difference a haircut makes to a woman, isn't it?"

"Yes, isn't it?" echoed Claribel bleakly. As Hollimore excused himself and strode off in the direction of the red headed girl, Claribel retouched her lips and ran a slim finger through her fluffed bangs. Her hands were cold.

Effie's reflection in the mirror above the kitchen sink gave back her vivid smile. Her crisp red-gold curls were almost completely obscured by the inverted pewter bowl.

"Don't cut off too much, Mom," she warned. "Just enough to smarten the edges."
 "Haven't I cut your hair enough times to know how to do it?" returned Mom Bailey brandishing her shears above the bowl. "Keep still and don't fidget."

Clip, clip, clip. The burnished ringlets dropped to the towel around Effie's shoulders. Snip, snip—

"A man in the restaurant offered me a part in a play last night," said Effie. "He said he liked my haircut." She laughed.

"You mean you're goin' on the stage?" asked Mom.
 "No," said Effie. "I'm going to marry Tommy. He asked me last night."

Effie's hair released from the confining bowl, crinkled and glittered as if each hair were individually endowed with vivid life.

"Gee, Mom," Effie leaned on the kitchen sink and admired her radiant mop. "Gee, Mom, that's swell." She turned to her mother. "The man in the restaurant said my hair was a masterpiece of art and sophistication. Tommy says it looks like a sunburned dandelion. You should've seen the dame with the man who offered me the job. Marcelled and sleeked and shellacked until she was afraid to move her neck for fear she'd throw a hair out of place. Swell looking, too, except for a scared look in her eyes. I guess she was afraid of spoiling that classy headdress."
 "Funny, isn't it, the difference a haircut makes to a girl?"

NO. 6599 EQUITY
 In the Circuit Court for Carroll County, in Equity.
 RALPH B. WARHIME, Plaintiff.
 vs.
 KATHRYN L. WARHIME, Defendant.
 ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONI by the plaintiff, Ralph B. Warhime, from the defendant, Kathryn L. Warhime, and the bill of complaint also prays for other relief.

The bill states as follows: That on the 11th day of February, 1921, the plaintiff and the defendant were united in marriage in Baltimore City, Maryland, by a duly ordained Minister of the Gospel, and they resided together as man and wife in Carroll County, Maryland, until on or about the 27th day of November, 1923.

That although the conduct of the plaintiff towards his wife, the said Kathryn L. Warhime, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach and he has behaved himself as a faithful and chaste husband toward her, the said Kathryn L. Warhime has without any just cause or reason abandoned and deserted him and has declared her intention to live with him no longer and such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than three years last past and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

That there was born on August 28, 1923 unto the plaintiff and the defendant as a result of said marriage, a son, Ralph B. Warhime, who has been continuously in the custody of the defendant, who resides at or near Yorkhaven, Pennsylvania, since she abandoned the plaintiff as aforesaid; that the plaintiff has paid to his said wife the sum of $10.00 per month for the support of their said infant son, regularly since that time.

That the said Kathryn L. Warhime, on divers days and times since the said marriage, to-wit: between the 27th day of November, 1923, and the filing of this bill of complaint, has committed the crime of adultery with a certain Lester B. Myers at or in the vicinity of York Haven, Pa., and Yorkhaven, Pennsylvania, and with divers other men whose names are unknown to the plaintiff, and near the places aforesaid; and that the plaintiff has not lived or cohabited with his said wife since he discovered her said adulteries.

That the plaintiff has been and is now a resident of Carroll County for more than two years immediately preceding the filing of this bill of complaint, and that the defendant has been since November 27, 1923 a resident of York County, in the State of Pennsylvania, and is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon, this 21st day of February, A. D. 1925, by the Circuit Court for Carroll County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper and published in Carroll County, Maryland, once in each week for some weeks before the 25th day of March 1925, give notice to the said absent non-resident defendant, Kathryn L. Warhime, of the object and substance of this bill of complaint, warning her to appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of April, 1925, to show cause, if any she have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON

LESSON TEXT—Acts 12:1-19.
GOLDEN TEXT—But prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him. Acts 12:5b.
PRIMARY TOPIC—How Peter Was Freed From Prison.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Peter Was Delivered From Prison.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Prayer Helps.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Power of United Prayer.

The young church had met and overcome some serious difficulties. She first had to face religious persecution at the hands of Jews. Then came internal troubles as to the support of certain widows. The separating wall of Pharisaical legalism was broken down in the admission of Gentiles into the church, but finally she had to meet the naked sword of civil authority. Through all these tests she was more than conqueror.

I. Peter's Imprisonment (vv. 1-4).
1. By whom (v. 1). Herod, the grandson of the wicked Herod who slew the innocent children of Bethlehem. His half-sister, Herodias, secured the death of John the Baptist.
2. The reason (v. 3). It was to gain the favor of the Jews. Herod was not a Jew but an Edomite. Therefore, he knew that his success was dependent upon his having the good will of the Jews. He seems not particularly to have hated the church, but to have loved popularity, for the sake of which he manifested a deep sympathy for degenerate Judaism. Since the church had so developed as to be a successful rival of Judaism, he saw an opportunity to curry favor with the Jews by putting forth his hands against it.
3. The method (v. 4). He was arrested, put into prison and guarded by sixteen soldiers, one group of four for each watch of the night. Humanly speaking it was impossible to escape. They had doubtless heard of Peter's escape from jail before, so they thought they would take no risks this time. However, they reckoned without God.

II. The Church of God in Prayer (v. 5).
The church was at a crisis. James, one of the brethren of the church, was dead, and Peter, the most prominent of all, was in prison. In this desperate strait, they betook themselves to prayer. This was a noteworthy prayer.
1. It was unto God. All true prayer is unto God.
2. It was united prayer. There is peculiar power in the united prayer of God's people.
3. It was more than unceasing prayer. It was the intensely earnest desire of the soul stretched toward God.
4. It was definite prayer. They specifically offered prayer to God for Peter.
III. Peter Delivered by an Angel (vv. 6-11).

This occurred the night before Herod's plan to make a public display of him.
1. Peter sleeping (v. 6). This shows that he was not disturbed over the matter. The Lord keeps in perfect peace those whose minds are stayed on him (Isa. 26:3).
2. Peter leaves the prison (vv. 7-10). A heavenly light shone in the prison. The angel smote Peter on the side. The chains fell off. Peter put on his clothes and passed by one guard after another, through the iron gate and into the city. The whole transaction was orderly and leisurely, showing that God is not in a hurry.
3. The effect upon Peter (v. 11). Although the matter was so wonderful to Peter, who thought himself in a vision, when he came to himself he knew that God had miraculously delivered him from Herod's wicked hands.

IV. Unconscious Unbelief (vv. 12-19).
1. The behavior of Peter and the church (vv. 12-17). Peter went to the house of Mary and knocked. The knock was answered by Rhoda, who was so overjoyed that she forgot to open the gate, and went right in and told them that Peter was at the gate. The disciples were not prepared for such good news, even accusing her of madness. She, undaunted, insisted. They offered as an explanation that perhaps it might be Peter's guardian angel in his likeness. Peter rehearsed unto them the Lord's dealing with him.
2. The behavior of the soldiers (vv. 18, 19). There was great agitation among them as to what had become of Peter. This was a serious matter, since they were responsible for him. Not being able to account for Peter's escape, Herod commanded that they be put to death. After this, Herod went down to Caesarea, where he was adored as a god. Because he arrogated this honor to himself, the Lord smote him. Herod died, but the word of the Lord grew and multiplied.

How to Love God

To love God is to love his character. For instance, God is purity. And to be pure in thought and look, to turn away from unhallowed looks and conversation, to abhor the moments in which we have not been pure, is to love God.

Good Rules of Life

It is a goodly thing to die with the blessed consciousness of never having taken advantage of another's infirmity, or poverty, or ignorance; to die able to say that one has not extended the empire of evil on the earth.

Puerperal sepsis, or childbed "blood poisoning," was described, last week, as the "most dreadful" way in which childbirth causes death. Some may wonder, since death in any form is dreaded, why death from this cause is singled out for especial attention.

Because pelvic infection, leading to septicemia (blood-stream infection) and perhaps death, comparatively often occurs in healthy young women following parturition, it seems more to be regretted than when a woman with a defective heart, tuberculous lungs or damaged kidneys becomes a victim of the hazards of maternity.

At this point, it might be well for us to do our bit in reassuring mothers prospective—immediate or remote—as to the safety of present-day obstetrical methods. Many of the accidents and bad results, as emphasized last week, are traceable to ignorance or wilfulness on the parts of the patients themselves. Aside from these, the risks of motherhood are not high, but low as they are they are too high, and continuous, intelligent effort must be put forth to the end that we shall be able to prevent even the occasional maternal infection which is now encountered.

Since, as stated previously, the death-rate from puerperal sepsis remains nearly constant, when annual fluctuations are averaged over a term of years, it is obvious that some improvement in the obstetric technique—routine to the layman—must be discovered or devised to meet the situation. This improvement, it appears, definitely must be in the field of prophylaxis, or prevention, since after a serious pelvic or uterine infection manifests itself, there is little to do by way of treatment. A large percentage of these patients get well if little is done for them, and some die under the same circumstances. The same is true when "thorough" treatment is attempted.

Dr. B. P. Watson, of New York, has suggested and tried out a modification of lying-in hospital technique, with the object of preventing infection from getting to the expectant, parturient, or post-partum mother. The bacterium most often at fault in the fatal septic cases is our ancient enemy, the streptococcus. Dr. Watson proposes, simply enough, that all attendants and visitors, before entering the maternity room or ward, shall have their mouths and noses effectively masked.

It is common knowledge that many persons, going about their daily work and apparently quite well, have streptococci growing in their throats. These persons are "carriers" of streptococci, in the same way that persons who for years grow typhoid bacilli in their bodies, and discharge the germs with their dejecta, are carriers and distributors of typhoid fever. Bear in mind that the bacteria of the carrier are ordinarily harmless to himself, but may be potent to cause disease in another individual.

Such a carrier (of streptococci) going into a maternity patient's room, may be a grave menace to that patient. By manual contact, by handling the patient's possessions or utensils, by means of an invisible droplet of saliva ejected in talking or laughing, a few bacteria may be conveyed to the patient, with most serious results. Would it be too much to ask that visitors to such patients don a light gauze mask, then carefully wash their hands, before entering the maternal room or ward? Judging by good results foreshadowed in Dr. Watson's preliminary statistics, and by figures from certain European hospitals where this precaution is observed, we shall all come to it in time. If eventually, why not now?

In connection with the problem we have under discussion, there always arises this question: Which place is safe for childbirth—home or hospital? This is another moot matter in which statistics are used to make facts jump through hoops and stand on their heads. Since it is a matter about which there is difference of expert opinion, it cannot be dismissed with a dictum. In a forthcoming issue, we will present some of the more interesting evidence which has been adduced in this longstanding debate.

Facts And Figures On Your Telephone

BY EDWIN F. HILL

Opportunities for women in the Bell Telephone System are emphasized by two words—"Number, please?" On something like sixty per cent of the 17,000,000 Bell-owned and Bell-connecting telephones which serve America (the sixty per cent connected with manual operated central offices) every local and long distance call is inaugurated by these two words—spoken by a woman.

Edwin F. Hill

More eloquently than bare statistics, says the Bell Telephone Quarterly, these two words bear testimony to the fact that women play an essential part in the provision of telephone service. If that part were played one whit less intelligently, efficiently and loyally than it is by the 150,000 Bell System women who are engaged in one form or another of telephone work, America's nation-wide telephone service could not be what it is today. This much is a fact universally accepted by all who know even a little of what goes on behind the scenes of this communication system which links a nation's millions of people and makes them neighbors. Perhaps it is a fact that has become altogether too easily accepted that it is taken as a matter of course.

Relative Humidity

Humidity has to do with the dampness of the air. Absolute humidity is defined as the actual quantity of moisture present in a given quantity of air, and it may be expressed as a certain number of grains per cubic foot or of grams per cubic meter. The relative humidity, expressed in per cent, is the ratio of the actual amount of water vapor present in the atmosphere to the quantity which could be there, at the given temperature. A method of determining the relative humidity at any time is to measure the drying power of the air with a wet and dry thermometer. The wet thermometer has its bulb covered with muslin that is kept damp. The difference in the readings of the thermometers, referred to a chart, gives the relative humidity.

Kept Many Indian Names

Southeastern Massachusetts has perhaps retained more Indian names of towns, rivers and other geographical units than any other section of the country. Among them are Apponaugset, Assonet, Assinippi, Cataumet, Chappaquott, Cohasset, Pocasset, Cohituate, Scituate, Coituit, Cummaquid, Cuttyhunk, Humarock, Manomet, Matapoisett, Megansett, Menaubant, Monomoy, Muskegat, Nantasket, Coataue, Nantucket, Quidnet, Siasconset, Tuckernuck, Wauwinet, Nonquitt, Nobska, Padanarum, Pautuisset, Ponkapog, Sassequin, Segrengnisset, Seekonk, Sippitwissett, Squantum, Squibnocket, Touisset, Titicut, Watuppa, Wianno and Pokonoket.

England to Hold Royal Jubilee Celebrations

London.—Visitors to London this year should time their holidays for May or June, for in those months not only is the season at its height, but England will be gay with royal jubilee celebrations.

May 6, the twenty-fifth anniversary of King George's accession to the throne, a chain of beacon fires will illuminate the length and breadth of the country.

Because of the jubilee celebrations in May, the first two courts of the season will take place in March, while the third and fourth courts will be held as usual in June. In June also will be the Derby and Ascot race meetings; the Wimbledon lawn tennis championships; the international horse show; the Aldershot Tattoo and the Hendon air pageant, which the king hopes to attend in person this year.

In May there will be the naval and military tournament at Olympia; the opening of the Royal academy summer exhibition, and jubilee celebrations in every district. During both months there will be a number of big charity balls.

Fake Antique Volumes

An ingenious trick of the makers of antique volumes is to print Bibles and other books on old paper. To make such spurious volumes convincingly aged in appearance, the plates from which they are printed usually are made from photostatic copies of the original pages of the literary work being imitated. Expert bibliophiles have ways, however, of easily detecting such counterfeits.—Montreal Herald.

Mechanical Toys Not New

Mechanical toys, which found their apotheosis in the toy nightingale of Andersen's fairy tales, are not new. The early Greeks had them. They were favorites of Louis XIV, and broke the monotony for women in the harems of Arabia. In the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries, when all moving toys were extremely complicated, those of Nuremberg became world-famous.

Gold and Lead

The only solid that can be permeated by another solid at ordinary temperature is lead—and that only by gold. When a layer of gold is covered by a layer of lead, the gold molecules will—in time—become diffused throughout the lead.—Murial E. Young, Petersburg, Alaska, in Collier's Weekly.

Recovers Wedding Ring Lost 33 Years

Stockholm.—Mrs. Liden, wife of a farmer near Falkenberg, lost her wedding ring 33 years ago, a few days after her marriage. The other day a laborer, spreading on a field some distance away a quantity of loam supplied by Liden from his land, saw something glittering and picked up the ring. As it was engraved with the name Liden and the date of the wedding, he had no difficulty in restoring it to its owner.

COMMERCIAL FLYING IS BEST IN WORLD

United States Makes Foreign Nations Jealous.

Washington.—America's stupendous strides in civilian aviation in the past two years have made other powers jealous.

England, France, Italy, Japan and Russia privately are expressing concern over the marvelous development not of military but of commercial aerial transport in this country.

Today they see the United States supreme in the air with planes and motors superior in many ways to any produced in Europe or Asia.

These sleek made-in-America planes, with three-mile-a-minute speeds, while designed for passengers and mail, are easily available for military use.

With their long cruising range, ability to fly at speeds of over 200 miles an hour at extremely high altitudes, they are a mighty aid to national defense.

Jimmy Doolittle, in a new type transport plane, recently crossed the continent in 11 hours and 59 minutes, making 2,750 miles nonstop at over 230 miles per hour.

A few days ago a regular plane on the Miami to Newark, N. J., run made the trip in 6 hours and 15 minutes.

Twenty-hour coast-to-coast service now is commonplace on three different routes. Fifteen-hour service, air officials say, will be achieved in less than three more years.

These astounding speed records, maintained by huge streamlined cruisers of the skies, are not duplicated anywhere else in the world. America also is far ahead of other countries in development of the radio beam and other aids to blind and night flying.

One transport company alone has 65 huge metal two-motor transport planes of three-mile-a-minute speeds. More important is the fact that American plane factories now have facilities for turning out these huge planes in quantities.

Six Species of Hickory

Six species of hickory are native to the woodlands of the eastern states. The wood of all six species possesses a combination of qualities not found in any other hardwood. These are extraordinary hardness, strength, toughness and flexibility. In addition the wood is straight grained and moderately elastic. It is, however, hard to split, difficult to season and work, and does not hold its shape.

Speed of Light

Light, traveling at a rate of 186,284 miles a second, is many times faster than sound, which in dry air moves of a mile in less than five seconds. In water sound travels five times as fast as in air, and in iron or steel 15 times as fast as in air.

Long, Hard Battle

There are no definite figures giving the number of Indians killed, as the whites settled this country. However, 6 per cent or 7 per cent of the Indian population was estimated to have been exterminated.

NORMAL LIFE SPAN
140, SAYS VORONOFF

Gland Specialist Outlines a Plan for Longevity.

Calcutta.—"The natural span of life is 140 years, and I have every hope that one day we may prolong it to this period," declared Dr. Serge Voronoff, the famous exponent of rejuvenation here.

"Everybody who dies between the ages of seventy and ninety is a person who is 'killed,'" Doctor Voronoff added. "The problem is to find out how not to be so 'killed.'"

"Between sixty and seventy is a critical period. Death is awaiting us. Those who wish to survive in the unequal struggle have but one means of gaining their end—to replace their worn-out glands with young and active glands, which will impart a new impulse to the cells of all our organs, causing them to create new young cells and thus rejuvenate the whole organism."

His Methods Recognized.

Doctor Voronoff declared that the most eminent experts now recognized the efficacy of his methods and thousands of operations were being performed in Europe, and also in Japan. The only difficulty was procuring an adequate supply of animals for the purpose. The ordinary monkey was not suitable, the specimens of the genera required being the gorilla, orang-utang, chimpanzee or gibbon.

Together with his beautiful young wife, Doctor Voronoff intends to go to Java, where he will spend some time conducting experiments on the blood of the orang-utang. Afterwards he will go to Indo-China to conduct similar research on the gibbon.

Different Blood Types.

Recalling his early work, the doctor said that at first he presumed that the blood of monkeys was of one type instead of the four types present in the human being. Some of the early experiments were not very satisfactory, but after long research he found that the monkeys had four types of blood also, corresponding to those types found in humans.

He therefore altered his methods to include tests of the blood both of the patient and of the animal to make sure that the types of blood corresponded. Then he grafted onto the human being the thyroid, pituitary and sexual glands of the monkey.

The results, he claims, are "highly successful." The change observed in the aging human being could only be described as "something marvelous."

Medicinal Plants in England

London, England, is the great center for trade in medicinal roots, barks and herbs. Canada is the sole supplier of one important medicinal plant, senega root. Cascara bark is almost of equal importance and this comes from the Pacific coast, both Canada and the United States figuring as important sources of supply. The bark increases in value with age but most of the importing firms prefer to import the new bark and age it themselves. Other medicinal plants supplied by Canada are snake root, hemlock, grindelia and hydrastis or golden seal root.—Montreal Herald.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

month thereafter, should the Board wish to use it, for the high school children, and that the elementary and high schools had resumed work on the dates planned, namely, February 18 and 25, respectively.

The Insurance Adjuster reported an adjustment allowance of $5,000 on the contents of the Mt. Airy building and $29,678 on the building itself, this being $322 less than the total amount of insurance carried on the building. The Board accepted this report and adjustment as satisfactory. The Board directed that when the insurance money on the building is received that it be put, preferably, in at least three banks in the county at the best rate of interest obtainable for a short period of time, or in just one bank, the highest rate of interest being of primary importance. The $5,000 on contents will be used immediately upon its receipt to defray the expense of equipment purchased to set the school at work. The Board reserved for its own use the good pipe, radiators and furnaces in this building and directed Superintendent Unger to see that the specifications for the new building include the requirement that the bidders include in their bids allowance for the old structure as is, and to remove whatever has to be removed in the process of reconstruction.

Ernest P. Bear's request that he be allowed to remove 16,000 old bricks and all the blocks from the old building at Mt. Airy was disapproved.

A committee representing the citizens of New Windsor requested at a joint meeting of the Board of Education and County Commissioners that the Board of Education take over the Blue Ridge College buildings and grounds and remodel same to be used as a new New Windsor High School. The college authorities offered to sell this property for $60,000. As the buildings must first be inspected and approved by State Architect before action of any kind can be taken the Board took no action beyond instructing Supt. Unger to ask the State Architect to come up and look the plant over.

A committee composed of Dr. Legg and Supt. Unger was instructed to look into the matter of the location and erection of a colored two teacher school near Union Bridge and report back at the next meeting of the Board. The Board instructed the committee to sell the portable building housing the present Union Bridge colored school if it gets what it considers a satisfactory price.

The resolution of the Westminster P. T. A. giving a vote of thanks to the Board of County Commissioners, the Board of Education, and others, was accepted.

After a discussion of the matter the Board instructed Supt. Unger to direct Mr. Starr to include in his specifications for the Mt. Airy building automatic sprinklers, as an alternate.

Supt. Unger reported the removal of chips and sand from the new school grounds in Westminster by some unknown person. The board directed the Superintendent to advertise in an effort to get information leading to the conviction of this person.

The Board declined to authorize tuition to the Hoffman Orphanage for Walter Walking.

Mr. Koons was delegated to report back to the Board concerning the educating of the colored children in Taneytown for next year.

The Board authorized the Superintendent to have a fill of dirt from the sewer lines put in front of the West End School building.

The Board agreed to go fifty-fifty with the community on the improving of the road at the Uniontown School and authorized the Superintendent to put the amount necessary in the budget for next year.

The Board agreed in the future to pay for the Philgas service at the Uniontown, Pleasant Valley and Winfield schools.

The Board granted the request of Arthur Griffice to put a partition in the old Winfield building, which is renting, his rental contract having become effective as of February 1, 1935.

The Board authorized the Superintendent to secure the services of some prominent educator to address a joint meeting of the teachers of the County, the college body and citizens interested in education. This move has the co-operation of Dr. Ward, the President of Western Maryland College.

The Union Bridge Athletic Association having requested the use of the grounds back of the Elmer A. Wolfe School for games during the summer months, the Board authorized the execution of a contract with them to that end.

The Board adjourned at 1 P. M.

salaries was also decided on, as well as a number of appropriations for public institutions. The budget is expected to finally be passed, this week.

The finance program has been greatly interfered with by a debt of about $4,000,000, and a shrinking income.

The Senate bill providing for the election of County School Superintendents, was killed in the Senate, for this session, by a vote of 16 to 12. The debate was a spirited one, charges being made that such a bill would place the school system in politics, which was met by the assertion that it was already in politics, through the activity of some of the school officials.

Wm. S. Goudy, Comptroller of the State Treasury, has announced the suspension of all payments from the State Treasury. He blames the situation on the legislature for failing to take action on the budget and bond issues. How long suspension will last he does not say, but it will likely be until these measures are passed.

GARDEN CLUB ENTERTAINED BY MRS. A. ZOLLICKOFFER.

Of course we were all especially interested in our minister to Denmark, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, as she is the first of our own sex to hold such a position. Mrs. Edwin Meredith told of some interesting things she had learned about Mrs. Owen during our visit.

As we had already enjoyed some Norwegian and Danish songs, we begged Mrs. Thompson for some Swedish music. She willingly complied with our wishes and sang two Swedish songs, the first entitled "Last Night," and next "The Judge Dance."

As we neared our native shore we asked Mrs. Edgar Barnes to give us a "tourist's impression" of our trip. She told us of many things she had noted and enjoyed on the trip.

At this time Mrs. Charles Hesson and Miss Marianna Snader played a duet for the enjoyment of the party. Dvorak's beloved "Fumoresque" was the number they selected.

By now we were nearing the end of our voyage and our cruise leader, Mrs. Englar expressed our good wishes and farewells to Captain Zollickoffer, at whose table we had dined during the trip. As our ship docked every member joined in singing "America," glad indeed to be back again after a delightful visit to Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

After this part of the program was completed Mr. James Vigoro representative, gave a very interesting and instructive talk about the use of Vigora. He told about the Vigora spreader which Mr. Elmer Pi-tinger has purchased and has generously made available to Garden Club members, if they care to use it.

The president, Mrs. Harry Fogte, then gave the club some information about the April meeting, which will be on "Planning the Garden." Each member is to have a roll-call response relative to this topic.

Mrs. Charles Hesson asked the Club to meet at her home in New Windsor for this meeting.

Mrs. Zollickoffer served refreshments, and on each dish of ice cream was a paper ship sailing the high seas and thus a very pleasant afternoon came to an end.

AEOLIAN TRIO OF YORK TO GIVE CONCERT AT MANCHESTER.

This organization will appear in Trinity Reformed Church, Manchester, Sunday evening, March 17, at 7:30 P. M. The personnel is as follows: Mrs. Carolyn Herst Eicherly, soprano; Mrs. Edythe Patterson Warehime, piano; Prof. Chester Livingston, cello. Mrs. Eicherly, solo soprano, is also a teacher and has studied with some of the most renowned teachers. She is soprano soloist at the 2nd. U. B. Church, of York. She is distinctively and good states of surprising variety and interest which has commanded much attention.

Mrs. Warehime, is a concert pianist and teacher well known in York and vicinity. She has been a pupil in piano and organ of Prof. J. Frank Frysinger, world renowned musician and composer. She is an accomplished accompanist whose presentation is original and likeable. She wishes to encourage better music among the musically talented in the churches.

Chester Livingston is an accomplished music educator who possesses a collection of choice string instruments and a music library of unusual merit. He has spent a practical music life with bands, orchestras, etc., and has dedicated his life to the development and progress of musical talent.

The work of the ensemble has been attractive and pleasing audiences. While on the air the Aeolian Trio received favorable comment for their extraordinary programs.
