$1.00 A YEAR

COMMUNITY LOCALS

Tais column is not for use in advertising any money-making program, fair, supper, party or sale. It is intended for news, personals, and such matters as may be of community interest.

Churches, Lodges, Societies, Schools, etc, are requested to use our Special Notice Department for money-making events.

Churches are especially given free use of our Church Notice Column, for brief notices concerning regular or special services. Larger events will be cared for elsewhere in our columns.

Mrs. Helen Englebrecht, near Uniontown, is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stouffer.

Miss Lulu Brower, George St., spent from Saturday until Monday with Miss Florence Bostion, of Fred-

Miss Pauline Brining, R. N., of Jericho, L. I., N. Y., spent a week at her home before leaving for Palm

Mrs. Mary Gillis, Montclair, N. J., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Kephart and Mrs. Frank Yount, near town.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Goulden, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Thomas Garvin, of Akron, Ohio, were recent guests of Miss Mamie Hemler.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shaffer and daughter, Rhoda, of Hanover, Pa., called on Miss Nellie Selby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Angell last Sunday.

The Fire Company was called to a woods fire on the Charles Warehime farm, back of Baust Church, last Sunday evening. No damage of much other Roosevelt turnip, this week, this one weighing 5½ pounds from Albert Smith. The other one was sound and good, and the last one looks O. K. too.

Mrs. Norman R. Baumgardner, returned home on Friday after spending several days with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jester, at Wilmington, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newcomer were entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Flem-ing, at New Windsor, last Thursday evening, the event being in honor of Mr. Newcomer's birthday.

A remarkably beautiful northern and western sky was observed from Taneytown and vicinity, for about an Tuesday evening. No human could possibly have painted it. with its numerous shades and tints.

Mrs. Frank L. Brown, of Springfield, Ohio, her son Lieut. Frank L. Brown, Jr., and Miss Loyette Workinger, of Columbus, Ohio, were the guests of Miss Mae M. Sanders and other friends here over the week-end.

We call attention to the fact that Christmas Day is only FIVE WEEKS ahead. This means that every day between now and then, will be our busy days" with plenty of work on hand, right now. Help us to help

Miss Idona Mehring of the Training School for Nurses at University Hospital, Baltimore, and Richard Mehring, a dental student at Univer-sity of Md. Dental School, Baltimore, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mehring.

On Sunday afternoon about 70 members from Grace Reformed Church, Taneytown and Reformed Church, Keysville, joined in conducting a religious service at Homewood, a home for the aged at Hagerstown. This service is held annually by the two congregations.

Mr. and Mrs. William Naill and son Wilmer; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoke, of Emmitsburg, attended the funeral of Edwin J King, in Waynesboro, Pa.
Mr. King was Vice Consul to Ireland and died in Dublin, Ireland, on Sept.
26, 1940. His body arrived in Waynesboro, Oct. 11, 1940.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nau, Mrs. Katie Nau and Mrs. Mabel Ames, of Silver Spring, Md.; Mrs. Helen En-glebrecht, of near Uniontown; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lambert and sons, George and Carol, spent Monday af-ternoon with Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stouffer and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shipley entertained over the week-end: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Sullivan, son James, Jr. and Mrs. Viola Compton, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Whitaker, of Eastern Shore, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Waltz, of Westminster.

The family of Mr. Peter Baumgardner assembled at his home on Sunday where dinner was served in honor of Mr. Baumgardner's 77th. birthday anniversary. Those in the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Conover, son Charles; Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Baumgardner, Mrs. D. M. Mehring, of town; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumgardner, Mrs. Charles Devilbiss sons, Roger and Paul and daughter, Sylvia Ann, of Keysville, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jester, of Wilmington,

(Continued on Fourth Page.)

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION For Taneytown the Application will Close Nov. 22.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to fill the position of rural carrier at Taneytown, Md. The ex-amination will be held at Emmitsburg, Md. Receipt of applications will close on Nov. 22, 1940. The date of examination will be stated on admission cards mailed to applicants after the close of receipt of applications, and will be about 15 days after that date. The salary of a rural carrier on a standard route of 30 miles served daily except Sunday is $1,800 per annum, with an additional $20 per mile per annum for each mile or major fraction thereof in excess of 30 miles. Certain allow-ances are also made for the maintenance of equipment.

ance of equipment.

The examination will be open only to citizens who are actually residing in the territory of the Post Office where the vacancy exists, who have been actually residing there for six months next preceding the closing date for receipt of applications, and who most the other requirements set who meet the other requirements set forth in Form 1977. Both men and women, if qualified, may enter this examination, but appointing officers have the legal right to specify this examination, but appointing officers have the legal right to specify the sex desired in requesting certification of eligibles. Form 1977 and application blanks can be obtained from the vacancy office menobtained from the vacancy office mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications must be on file with the Commission at Washington, D. C., prior to the close of business on the date specified above. At the examination, applicants must furnish unmounted photographs of themselves taken photographs of themselves taken within two years.

Jester, at Wilmington, Del.	within two years.	do
Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hesson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Hesson, of town, and	VOTES CAST, AND REGISTERED.	tu
Mrs. Mary Benner, of Harney, were recent guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Sanders, at Gettysburg, Pa.	The following may be of interest concerning the official vote of Car- roll County, by comparison with the	fy: As ing
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nau, Mrs.	report the Board of Registration for 1940.	tio
Katie Nau and Mrs. Mabel Ames, of Silver Spring, Md., were dinner	Total votes cast—	T
guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bank-	Roosevelt, D
ard and son, Robert, on Monday.	Willkie, R8300 14,133 Radcliffe, D6835
The Editor was presented with an-	Nice, R	Se
other Roosevelt turnip, this week, this one weighing 51/2 pounds from	Cole, D	ar El
Albert Smith. The other one was	The Registered Rate—	Le
cound and good and the last one	Demograte 9783	NT.

Republicans Independents, etc 266 18,641 Perhaps the answer to the discrepancy is that less than 76% of registered vote was cast.

CORN HUSKING PARTY HELD.

A corn husking was held Tuesday morning, Nov. 5, on the farm of Elmer S. Hess. This was done through kindness of friends and neighbors as a means to help during the illness of expected to start at 2:00 P. M.

Mr. Hess extends his appreciation to the following persons who were present: Rev. Irvin N. Morris, Elmer LeGore, Harry Wolf, Mr. and Floyd Strickhouser, Howard Kump, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Zimmerman, Norville Shoemaker, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Conover, Peck Vaughn, Samuel Staley, Harvey Wantz, Walter Kump, Martin Zimmerman, Lester Cutsail, Walter Shoemaker, John Harner, David Kump, Mervin Conover, Ralph Vaughn, Martin Moose, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stambaugh and family, Wilbur Bowers, David Shildt, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Bowers, Mr and Mrs. James Lord, Wilmer Naill, Oliver Fogle, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weant, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reaver and family; Catherine Hess, Norman Hess, Joseph Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Lake Weant, Herbert Ridinger, Earl Bowers, Mrs. Carroll Shoemaker. Charles Shildt, Clarence Naill, Elmer Shildt, Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Ridinger, I. T. Shildt, Luther Ridinger and Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Six.

FROM CALIFORNIA THE DAY BEFORE ELECTION.

Henry Clay Englar, in a letter to home folks from Ontario, California,

"This is the night before election and almost the first evening I have not had an engagement for ten days. We have so many Mexicans, and riff raff from Oklahoma and states, that I am of the opinion that California will go for Roosevelt. Personally, I am not optimistic about

Willkie's chances. Seems to me too much to expect to overthrow the tremendous patronage secured by Roosevelt and built up by his machine during the past eight

THANKSGIVING DAY NEXT THURSDAY

As Thanksgiving Day will be observed next Thursday, Nov. 21. Our correspondents and advertisers are urged to be a day earlier with their

The Record can handle only a limited amount of material on Friday of each week. We hesitate to set a "dead line" at any particular hour for every week; but do not expect to be served after 9:30 A. M., and then only for very short articles.

The concrete used recently in superhighway built in one single American state would have built four pyramids equal in size to the famous Cheops pyramid in Egypt.

as much as a million dollars in new production facilities to aid in defense work without having received a single signed order from the Army.

12,564 MEN TO BE DRAFTED BY JUNE

Formal Notification from Headquarters Received.

Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor received formal notification from selective service headquarters in Washington that Maryland must furnish 12,564 men for induction in the army between now and June 30, 1941.

Maryland's gross quota for the graft until June 30 was set at 26,898. However, by deducting the number of Marylanders already in the armed services and those expected to enlist between now and that date the State's net quota was set at 12,564, the Governor was advised.

These 12,564 men will be called up in several groups. The first group, composed of 157 men, will be inducted into the army the last week of No-vember. The second group from the State, expected to be a much larger number than the first contingent, will be inducted into the army January 3, according to draft officials.

The 157 Maryland men who will comprise the State's first quota under the Selective Service Act will be noti-fied of their selection no later than November 20, draft headquarters announced.

Any man who is drafted must have at least five days' notice to adjust his personal and business affairs, according to selective service regulations. The first group from Maryland will be inducted into the army on November

Lieut. Com. C. H. Bryant, draft executive, pointed out that it is possi-ble that notices of induction may be sent out to Maryland's first draft be-fore November 20, although local boards still have considerable work to do before they are ready to name the men selected.

The boards are now receiving returned questionnaries and are classifying men according to the answers. As the men are classified they are being called up for physical examina-

THE FRANCIS X. ELDER POST SPECIAL PROGRAM.

Governor and Mrs. O'Conor besides Senator Tydings and Mrs. Tydings are to be the guest of The Francis X. Elder Post 121 of The American Legion Post of Maryland, on Sunday November 17, in Emmitsburg, Md.

Announcement has also been made by the committee in charge of the celebration that they expect Senator Radcliffe. Congressman and Mrs. Byran also Commissioner of Motor Vehicle and Mrs. Elgin to be on hand for this parade and special event.

The main address will be delivered by Governor O'Conor. Senator Tyd-ings also will speak. Following the noon dinner at the Green Parrot Tea Room all the distinguished guests

The faculties and student bodies of Joseph College and Mt. St. Marys College will participate in this celebration. After Governor O'Conor speaks there will be a presentation of a 12x20 ft. American flag by Commander Lloyd C. Mackley.

Program for Sunday, Nov. 17, 1940
Parade Sunday, Nov. 17, at 2:00 P. M. Route from doughboy on W. Main St. to East End Garage, counter march to Broad Alley, to Green St. to Gettysburg St. to St. Joseph's College. Exercises St. Joseph College campus.

campus.

Invocation—Rev. Francis J. Dodd, C. M.
Chaplain
Singing—"America" By Assembly
Remarks Richard Zacharias, Mayor
Singing: "God Bless America" by St.
Joseph College Student Body.
Introduction of Distinguished guests
Presentation: American Flag to St.
Joseph College by Lloyd C. Mackley,
Commander of Francis X. Elder Post.
Acceptance of Flag Miss Ruth B. Cohill
President of Student Body
Speech Miss Anita M. Conboy
Flag Salute By Student Body
Singing "Star Spangled Banner"
Address Honorable Herbert R. O'Conor
Governor of Md. Silent Tribute Benediction

Taps
Bugler of Francis X. Elder Post.

Hymn
Holy God We raise thy Name
Band Concert by Fairfield High School
Band, immediately after program.

REPORT OF CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

The Children's Aid Society of Car-roll County wishes to take this opportunity of expressing its appreciation to all persons who in any was assisted in its recent financial drive for $3000 There was a fine cooperation between the board members, district chairman, and solicitors, and a great deal of effect was put forth by all. The Society is also greatly indebted to the newspapers for their contributions toward publicity. Although not quite all the funds have been turned in, Mrs. Frank T. Myers, the president is glad to state that the campaign was a successful one.

The following districts are to congratulated upon obtaining their quotas: New Windsor, Uniontown, Hampstead, Westminster, Freedom. The Children's Aid Society wishes, also, to thank every individual, or ganization, business house, and school which contributed to the drive. These contributions, small or large, are invaluable to the work of the Children's Aid Society.

- 22 ' Today, according to a noted military expert, there are cases in which American companies have invested

THE ANNUAL GAME SEASON Laws and Regulations to be Observed By Hunters.

The annual hunting season for rab-bits, partridges, pheasants, doves and woodcock opened today and will close on December 31st.

Open season for waterfowl on ducks, geese, braut, coot and jack-snipe opens November 2 and closes December 31st. It is necessary before hunting waterfowl to purchase a duck stamp at the nearest post office for one dollar, and it is required that this be carried on the person who is engaged in hunting waterfowl, The bag limit per day is as follows: Rabbits, 6; partridges, 6; ringnecked pheasants (male only) 2 (not more than 6 per season); doves, 12; woodcock, 4. The hunting license fees are: Resident of the county, $1.25; state-wide license, $5.25; non-resicock, 4.

dent of state, $15.50. All hunters are required to have license in possession while hunting and to wear the tag displayed on an outer garment at center of back, between shoulders. Hunting without a license carries a penalty of $20 fine. The fine for failure to display license is $20. It is unlawful to hunt game on Sunday, the penalty for doing so being $25 to $100. It is unlawful to ship rabbits out of the county. A person killing a rabbit may sell same in the county where said rabbit was killed for food, but it cannot be re-

Reports throughout the county are that upland game in nearly every section in the county is plentiful. Hunters should familiarize themselves with the State Game laws before taking the field. Officials of the tate game wardens points out that state game wardens points out that there is no excuse for anyone to violate the laws.

The season for raccoon and opossum is from November 1 to January 31. Every law-abiding citizen should cooperate with the deputy game wardens in the enforcement of the game and fish laws of the state. J. G. Diffendal is the District Deputy Game Warden.

AMERICAN FARM BUREAU TO MEET IN BALTIMORE.

For the first time, the Maryland Farm Bureau, Inc., will be host to the American Farm Bureau Federation during its annual convention. It is a tribute to the Maryland organization that Baltimore was chosen for this important meeting of farm people and is a result of the outstanding work and accomplishments of the Farm Bureau in this State and the active part its representatives have had in the national organization.

Starting on December 8, the convention will continue throughout the entire week. The program has not yet been announced, but in line with the experience of past years and the importance of the convention, it can be said that the best authorities on the convention of the conve the most vital problems affecting agriculture and the nation at the present time will appear at the several sessions. The delegates will also ing the month and one new member map out the program for the organization during the coming year, which has especial significance at this time because of the efforts that are being made by agriculture and all other in dustries to determine their most effective part in the program for national defense. Apropos of the visit of this large delegation of farm people to the site of the birth of the Star Spangled Banner, a pageant depicting that event is being arranged. An experienced writer and director of pageants has been engaged and the performance is expected to be a feature of the convention. There will be the usual banquet, which has become a notable feature of all annual meetings of the Farm Bureau Federation. The Associated Women of the Farm Bureau will conduct their public speaking contest and have a prominent part in other programs. Members of the Maryland Farm Bureau have established a reputation for the large delegations that have attended the national meeting, when it has been held at distant points. Now, they are busily at work on various committees, along with representatives of the Extension Service and other agencies, in making arrangements to show the delegates from other states how well they can play the role of hosts in extending to them the hospitality of the Old Line State. It is their goal to make this convention the best that has been held in the approximately 25 years that the Farm Bureau has been in exist-

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

The Union Thanksgiving Service, sponsored annually by the churches of Taneytown, will be held on Thursday morning, (Thanksgiving Day)
November 21, at 9:30 o'clock in the Reformed Church. Rev. A. T. Sutcliffe, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, will deliver the Thanksgivbe ing sermon. Members of the churches and citizens of the community are cordially invited to attend this service

INCREASED TAXES SOUGHT.

U. S. Treasury officials are nunt-ing for one Billion and Five Million dollars in new taxes. The first fruit-According ful field likely to be worked is what is called "luxury taxes," then to taxes on incomes and incorporation excess profits. Why not cut salaries of government employees?

The buying power of the average in 1914.

PRESIDENT SAYS HE IS NOT INTERESTED

Whether Congress Adjourns or Continues in Session.

President Roosevelt told Congress in a brief message that it does not make any difference to him whether Congress goes home, or stays in ses-

He says he has no legislation in mind at present, and intimated that he would take things easy until the next regular session begins January

Following the information telegrams have been sent to absent Democrats and Republicans urging them to be present on Tuesday of next week. The prospect is that adjourn-ment will at once follow this meeting. As nobody can say, positively, what important events may be lurking around, there is naturally no present need apparent for Congress to be in session. Besides, it is not a long while before a session can be called together, should emergency so demand.

A VISIT TO "HOMEWOOD."

On Sunday, Nov. 10, about 75 persons from the Grace Reformed and Keysville Reformed Churches journeyed to Hagerstown, where they held a service at "Homewood" the Home for the Aged of the Reformed Church.

The following program was given: Greetings, Rev. Bready; Hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers"; Scripture Reading, Mr. Edward Reid; Prayer, Rev. Bready; Duet, Mr. Edward Fink and Delmont Koons; Hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross"; Recitation, Miss Miriam Duble; Trio, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Shryock and Mr. Guy Crumb; Recitation, Miss Rosenne Hahn; Reading. a service at "Homewood" the Home tion, Miss Rosenne Hahn; Reading, Mrs. Alvin Study; Solo, Miss Caroline Shriner; Sketch, Misses Ruth and Freda Stambaugh; Duet, Mr. Fink and Refreshments of cookies and ice cream were served to all at the conclusion of the program. M. G. S.

FIREMAN MEETING. -#-

At the regular meeting of the Fire Company on Monday evening the fol-lowing nominations were made: President-Donald Tracey, David Smith, Vernon Crouse. For Vice-President—Harry Mohney, Mervin Conover.

For Recording Se
Robb, Thomas Tracey. Recording Secretary-Doty

For Financial Secretary-Delmont Koons, Wilson Riffle.
For Treasurer—Charles Arnold,
James Burke, Curtis Bowers.
For Chief—Raymond Davidson, C.

F. Cashman.

was elected. There were 22 present.

ular meeting on Monday, December

"COOL KNIGHTS".

A three-act musical comedy was presented in the new auditorium on Tuesday night, Nov. 12, 1940, under the able direction of Miss Lillian Waldo from a North Carolina Com-Considering the short period of time in preparation, the play proved to be a decided success. The characters played their parts well and enjoyed participating in the play. capacity sized audience attended the performance.

The cast was as follows: Phil Sherwin, Richard Sutcliffe; Reuben Carter John Elliot; "Slim" Saunders, Fern Hitchcock, Ja; "Handsome" Harry, Albert Kelly; Percival Hall, James Elliot: Professor Grey, Arthur Claybaugh; Sam, the Steward, William Copenhaver: Betty Page, Rhea Warren; Helen Marsh, Margaret Lamb ert; Mabel Thorne, Louise Hess; Olive Branch, Alice Alexander; "Tomboy" Lake, Ruthanna Baker; Miss Dora

Dean, Esther Mae Wilson.
The so-called Class of 1890 afforded much humor between Acts I and II. The members of this class were as follows: Mrs. Conover, Mrs. Daniel Alexander, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Frank Alexander, Mrs. Royer, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Albaugh.

The pirate Chorus, All American Girls, Ballet Dancers, and Hula Dancers entertained intermittently throughout the play. Francis Shaum and Mary Louise Alexander were the piano accompan-

JOHN ELLIOT. ists. THE WAR IN EUROPE.

The Greeks claim decisive victories over Italian forces during the week, thereby showing an army strength that is somewhat a surprise in Europe Berlin has again been attacked by the Royal Air Force raiders. The British also appear greatly cheered because of claimed weakening of Italy's navy. Berlin minimizes the effect of at-tacks on the city by the British. The bombing attacks are claimed to be almost all suburban and were aimlessly unimportant.

According to last reports. has lost heavily this week, both to the Greek and British forces. It is expected that a big trial of Mediterranian strength will be made within a week between England and Italy.

The automobile industry uses more than two-thirds of all the leather up-American factory worker is estimated at 60 per cent higher today than holstery processed in the United States.

DRAFTEES TOLD HOW TO TRAV-EL TO INDUCTION.

Detailed instructions to Maryland draftees as to the manner in which they are to travel to military head-November 25 to 28 were sent out this week by officials at State selective service headquarters.

For men from Baltimore the problem of travel is by no means difficult.
The draftees will simply be provided with street-car tokens to pay their fare from their local draft area headquarters to Army offices in the Court Square Building.

But draftees in the Maryland counties are up against a more court.

counties are up against a more com-plex problem. Some of them will be expected to find transportation for themselves from farms to their county seats.

Once in their shire town, however, they will be given exact instructions as to how to travel by bus, boat or rail to the induction center.

All of the Maryland conscripts except those from the Southern Maryland counties will be inducted into service in Baltimore. The Southern Marylanders have orders to report for induction at Fifth Marine Battlies benderotary at 158 Indiana talion headquarters at 458 Indiana Avenue N. W., Washington. The men will be called into service in groups over a period of four days. On the first day, November 25, Baltimore will provide 12 men, the counties of the State will furnish 23 men. Additional men will be inducted on the three succeeding days.

LOCAL SCOUTS TO REBUILD TOYS FOR NEEDY CHILDREN.

The local Boy Scout Troop No. 348 is putting on a campaign from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15 for 500 old toys which they are going to rebuild and repair for the needy children of this district and county.

The boys will go over the town every Staturday morning from 9:00 to 10:00 P. M. and collect toys from all those who may have any.

To those whom the boys do not see and wish to help in the work are asked to leave the toys at Reid's Food Market, as the boys will not be able to canvass the country. It is hoped that they will bring their toys in.

KIWANIS CLUB NEWS.

The Kiwanis Club of Taneytown had an Armistice Day program at their weekly meeting. The guest speaker was Father Murphy, of St. Joseph's Church, in Taneytown.

Dr. Lynn, a return missionary from Tokyo was a guest Other guest.

Tokyo, was a guest. Other guests were: Randolph Spoerline, Atlee-Wampler, Kale Mathias and Willard Hawkins, from Westminster Club, and Sergeants Eben and Langlay, of Bal-

George Showers, chairman of the Vocational Guidance Committee, will be responsible for the next meeting.

PROCEEDINGS ORPHANS' COURT

George B. Lippy, administrator c. t. a. of Jonas M. Lippy, deceased, reported sale of personal property.

Harry E. Reck, administrator of Charles Elmer Reck, deceased, returned inventories of debts and current money and settled his first and final Delmas A. Roll, administrator of William F. Roll, deceased, settled his first and final account.

Charlie C. Wantz, administrator of Elizabeth C. Wantz, deceased, received order to transfer securities and settled his first and final account. Theodore F. Englar, surviving executor of Charles Schaeffer, deceased, received order to sell securi-

-11-

MARRIAGE LICENSES. Albert C. McKenzie to Myrtle B. Linton, Catonsville, Md. R. Kenneth Barnes. Jr. to Charlotte E. Hobbs, Sykesville, Md.

Ober S. Knipel to Leola M. Miller, Hanover, Pa.
Raymond Drande to Barbara Y. Guest, Lancaster, Pa.

Francis Bosley to Dolly Timbels, Bristol, Pa. Bristol, Pa.
Karl H. Krellner to Agnes J.
Licker, St. Mary's, Pa.
Quentin Gobrecht Wentz to Arlene Annie Dayhoff, Westminster, Md
Robert Jackson Wilson to Ruby
Katron, Taneytown, Md.
Kenneth H. Simpson to Grace A.
Cokhart Hanover Pa

Gebhart, Hanover, Pa.

Random Thoughts

NOTHING TO DO.

If you do not have anything to do, do not take up the time of those who are busy. It is better to hunt somebody like yourself. and play checkers or swap talk for talk.

With some, time is money. unemployed, read a book—but don't borrow one unless you are honest enough to return it—and promptly, or add theft to unemployment.

If unemployed because of no fault of yours; or if it is due to age or incapacity for work, you are in a pretty bad fix; but there is the chance that you may find a way out of it—if you try hard enough-by helping some other fellow with good advice.

There is hardly ever such a condition of "nothing to do" that can't be compensated for, as the old saying has it "If at first you don't succeed. try, try again.

~~~~~~

THECARROLLRECORD

Member Md. Press Association.

Published every Friday, at Taneytown, Md., by The Carroll Record Company.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS. G. A. ARNOLD, Pres. D. J. HESSON, V. P. W. F. BRICKER, Sec. M. ROSS FAIR M. ROSS FAIR REV. L. B. HAFER: C. L. STONESIFER, Bus. Mgr. & Treas. P. B. ENGLAR, Editor.

General subscription rate $1.00 a year; 6 months, 50e; 3 months 30c. Subscriptions to 8th. Zone, Pacific Coast, $1.50; to Canada, $2.00. Advance payment is desired in $1 cases.

ADVERTISING rates will be given on application, after the character of the business has been definitely stated together with information as to space, position, and length of contract. The pub isher reserves the privilege of declining all offers for space.

The label on paper contains date to which the subscription has been paid.

Entered as Second Class matter in the Postoffice at Taneytown, Md., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Act of March 3, 1879.

All advertisements for 2nd., 3th., 6th., and 7th. Pages must be in our Office by Tuesday morning of each week; otherwise, insertion cannot be guaranteed until the following week.

All articles on this page are either original or properly credited. This has always been a fixed rule with this Office.

The publication in The Record of clipped or signed editorials does not necessarily mean that such editorials are indorsed by The Record. In many instances they are published in order to show varying opinions on public topics.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1940

LET US HAVE MORE DIGNITY AND FAIRNESS.

Now that the Presidential election is over for another four years, may we not profitably consider features connected with the nominating convention that always precedes what we call our Presidential campaign. First of all, we naturally expect that the delegates sent to the convention to represent the states are men of high class in every way-some of them perhaps Governors of states, or members of Congress some of whom represent what we call "Presidential timber."

Certainly, there are mostly men there fully conversant with the financial and business interests of the United States. They are not sent to participate in a bull in the ring show nor a horse race. It goes without saying, that they are men entitled to show courtesy to others, and to expect it in return.

Brass bands have no real right there, nor have claquers with noisy slogans of the "We want Willkie" class. Actually, a National Convention is properly a legislative body for the party it represents. It builds the platform, which stands for what their party stands for. With such an ideal make-up, courtesy is expected from beginning to end.

It has not been the rule pretty generally, for such a convention to be conducted, and this is not creditable to our American plan of government by a delegated democracy, sanely and fairly administered. We have a complex, and at the same time well planned system of conduction our elections state and county, but at the very Genesis of order and regulation, miserably surrender to gangs and noise making that we consider applause, but is in reality, mere noise.

Yes, we need decency in management, and dignity in action where we conspicuously do not have it. Actually, we have adopted a go-asyou-please style, with a win-at-anyprice motto and it does not represent the American square deal plan. -22-

THE POWER OF THE PRESS.

At no time during the history of our nation has a candidate for President had such wide support of the -many of them Democratic-and publications of the popular magazine saved. class; and yet Mr. Willkie received a sure enough defeat.

This must represent, largely, one of three conclusions (1) that such ment of thanks to the co-operating support has smaller value than has perponderance of voters are not realities, or that regardless of all other considerations, self-interest is strongest of all.

Weekly newspapers, being local, are influenced most by the "stick to the party" consideration that centres around securing local printing and advertising, and such plums as naturally fall to them, when faithful-and regard "business" as of being more important than any other course.

The "power of the press", therefore, does not seem any one thing, and independence-or non-partisanship—are both matters of minor importance.

STRIKING FACTS ABOUT THE VOTE.

A study of the election returns reworth consideration.

The election was not a landslide, even though the difference in electoral votes is great. The total vote was 5 to 4. A ball game with that score would not be one-sided. ever given to a Republican candidate. Even Mr. Hoover, who won in 1928 mittee, of Baltimore.

was several million votes short of the vote cast for Willkie.

As always, a large percentage of the registered voters did not go to the polls. The president was elected, as in many cases by a minority of the qualified voters of America.

A change of less than one percent of the vote cast, if divided as it could be among the states, would have changed the election.

The election of a smaller number of members of the House might seem to indicate a check of the swing toward the Republicans, but it was not so. Any loss in the House was offset by very distinct gains in the Senate, and the whole vote indicates such a swing from the Democratic strength of 1936, that it must be taken into consideration by the ma-L. B. H.

DID YOU HAVE TO EAT CROW?

I think most of us in the taxpaying orackets did, so just smack your lips and like it, for it is your only diet for four more years, and likely to be enlarged.

Let us hope that the name-calling of the past will be forgotten, and that business that must pay the taxes that run the government, and pays the wages of labor, be given a chance to go ahead.

The campaign just ended was in ome respects the most bitterly fought of any campagin in my memory, and that reaches back to the first Cleveland campaign.

Those who were on the losing side were in pretty fair company, we think. But now, all together to preserve, protect and defend America. W. J. H.

BALTIMORE, AND ITS DEBT.

Faced with a huge city debt and a spending program of $62,000,000 a year, citizens of Baltimore decided to call a halt to rising costs and in a whirlwind ten-day campaign stopped a proposed $5,000,000 new loan and started the City on the road to economy. Their quick and determined action saved the taxpayers at the rate of $500,000 a day for the period they were at work.

Leadership in the fight was given by the newly created Citizens' Emer- ly in that direction. gency Tax Control Committee, whose head, W. Frank Roberts, said he acbelieved it part of his duty as Chair- principles? man of the Maryland Council of Defense and Resources. Citizens were stimulated to action because "fiscal preparedness is the foundation of military preparedness" and "since we must stop non-vital spending and cannot stint on National Defense, we must reduce expenditures of our local government units."

These words in the striking preamble to the strong resolution passed by the Citizens' Emergency Tax Control | poses to unify the two parties for war Committee struck responsive chords by taking Mr. Willkie into the Cabinet in nearly one-third of the 300 civic, tions. Many immediately held special the incumbent party's program. meetings to consider the resolution of the Committee, and to endorse its thing during the campaign to disagree real estate groups, building and loan | flict with Mr. Roosevelt's program. associations, the Retail Merchants Association, women's clubs, and vari- Mr. Willkie might perfectly well beous improvement, protective and long in Mr. Roosevelt's Cabinet along home-owners associations. Thous- with Brother Knox and Brother Stimands of individuals also rallied to the son-ex-Republicans but not excause, and the propesd $5,000,000 interventionists. loan which was on the ballot, November 5, was denied by a majority of daily papers as had Wendell Willkie nearly 54,500 voters. Since the bonds

Immediately following the successful action of the citizens, W. Frank Roberts, Chairman, issued a state- party government. organizations and press, and challengalways been estimated (2) that a vast | ed the citizens to continue their efforts by working for a lower budget and tax rate. He said:

"This concerted action of the want. citizens during this crisis is a glowing example of efficiency in our democratic form of government and a splendid illustration of what the people can do when they have the facts and act on them intelligently. The new City budget for 1941 now under consideration presents a further challenge to continue the drive for economy. Without reflecting in any manner on the work of our officials, the citizens who must pay the tremendous cost of arming the nations must continue to express themselves and impress the officials with the citizens' desire to eliminate every dollar of unnecessarv spending.

"We must demonstrate unmistakably to our City government what we want and how much we are willing to veals some striking facts that are pay so the officials will know how to act. Facts on which to base intelligent action for maintaining essential services at lower cost while still carrying forward needed improvements have been clearly set forth by the expert studies of the Commission The loser carried the largest vote on Governmental Efficiency and economy."-Citizens' Tax Control ComGIVE BANKS A SHOW.

The average citizen has little realization of the extent to which government socialization of the banking business."

There are dozens of government agencies, well known and little known which carry on activities belonging squarely in the field of investment or commercial banking. Their total dealings run far into the billions. And their existence presents two distinct and grave dangers to the well-being of this nation.

First, government banking must necessarily be carried on with public funds-tax funds, belonging to all the people. And, even though widespread government "loaning" has been in effect for only a few years, losses so far incurred have reached a tremend-

Second, government "loaning" presupposes a diametrical change in the more concentration of the money power in the hands of bureaucrats, who are responsible only to other, higher-placed bureaucrats. It means that the present control which the people possess over the nation's money when it is held and administered by strictly-regulated private banking, is swiftly lessened.

Finally, it presents the possibility of this new political money power being used to create political machines of unimagined power and corruption.

According to the best authorities, there is little legitimate demand for money today that private banking is not able to meet. It's time we turned thumbs down on power-seeking politics in the banking field.—Industrial News Review.

A ONE-PARTY SYSTEM?

The following is a portion of an interesting article headed "In The News" in the Baltimore News Post, of Wednesday. It is quite well worth consideration as showing variety of

Are we creating a one-party system in America?

Apparently we are heading strong-

Oh, we still have parties with two different names but what does that cepted the chairmanship because he matter if both have the same set of

> What constitutes a party anywaythe name or the principles?

In what did the Republican party differ from the Democratic party in be for Cash. the recent campaign except in the question of who was to occupy the White House for the next four years? Both parties were war parties.

There WAS no peace party.

The incumbent war party was reelected and now Mr. Roosevelt pur-

The only proviso is that Mt. Willkie business and improvement associa- must not say anything to conflict with

As Mr. Willkie did not say anywork, and pass similar resolutions. | with Mr. Roosevelt he probably will Energetic support was given by not say anything now that will con-

It would seem on the whole that

When the Republican war party is welded with the Democratic war par- 3 beds and springs, mattress, 3 buwere to be issued serially, nearly ty we will have one great and only reaus, 2 wash stands, chest, four 9x12 this support was largely added to by $1,000,000 in interest was likewise amalgamated three-ring war partyand we will have war.

> ernment and the usual result of one-If that is what the people want,

That then will be one-party govhwever, that is what the people should have.

of the people to have what they can never do wrong and in democratic government the people can never BE

The public, like the customer, is HARRY TROUT, Auct. always right.

The duty of a government is to please the public. The duty of a free press is to serve the public. In a democracy there is no political standard of right and wrong except the will of the public. If then, in a democracy, the people want a one-party government they should have it.

But when they get a one-party government they will no longer have a

COOKING FOR CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

Traditional holiday recipes for deicious cookies that will thrill the appetites of the children. Look for this feature in the November 24th. issue of The American Weekly the big Magizine distributed with the Baltimore Sunday American. On sale at all newsstands.

Executor's Sale -OF-

REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY.

By virtue of the power contained in the will of Annie M. Knox, late of Taneytown, Carroll County, Maryland as well as by virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Carroll County, the undersigned Executor of the estate of the said Annie M. Knox, deceased, will offer at public sale on the premises on East Baltimore St., in Taneytown, on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1940, at 1:00 o'clock, P. M., the real estate of the said decedent, consisting of ALL that lot or parcel of land situate on the Northeast side of East Baltimore Street, in Taneytown, in Carroll County, in the State of Maryland, having a frontage of Fifty Feet on the said street and extending a depth of one hundred and eighty-six feet to a public alley; containing 9272 square feet of land, more or less, and supposes a diametrical change in the system on which our government and our economic order are based. It means that there will be more and the 18th. day of February, 1925. and recorded among the Land Records of Carroll County in Liber E. M. M. Jr No. 145, Folio 38 &c. The improvements consist of a rented and occupied.

DOUBLE DWELLING HOUSE. frame with slate roof, six rooms to each side, barn and other outbuild-ings, which was the late home of the owner, and one side of which is now rented and occupied.

TERMS—One-third the purchase money to be paid on the day of sale, or on ratification thereof by the Orphans' Court, and the residue in two equal payments, one payable in three months and the other in six months from the day of sale, the credit payments to be secured by the notes or single bills of the purchaser or purchasers, with sufficient security, bearing interest from the day of sale; or all cash, at the option of the purchaser or purchasers.

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

At the same time and place I will offer the personal property of the deceased, as follows: HOUSEHOLD GOODS:

Parlor suite, consisting of sofa, two arm chairs, 2 straight chairs, parlor table, fine wood chair, large wall mirror, other mirrors, fine clock, other clocks, lounge, rockers, lot straight chairs, double heater stove, good kitchen range, kitchen cabinet, buffet, tables, stands, lamps, lot of good carpet, linoleum, fine bureau, 3 bed room suites, sewing machine, kitchen utensils, dishes, glassware, large wardrobe, chest, canned fruit and jellies, 2 tons coal, and many articles not specifically enumerated.

CERTIFICATES OF BENEFICIAL INTEREST

A Certificate of Beneficial Interest of the Birnie Trust Company, on which there is an unpaid balance of

A Certificate of Beneficial Interest of the Taneytown Savings Bank, on which there is an unpaid balance of OLIVER E. LAMBERT, Executor of Annie M. Knox Deceased. EARL R. BOWERS, Auct. C. G. BOWERS, Clerk.

ANNOUNCEMENT

ciated with Dr. Carroll D. Dern, has now opened Dental Offices, at York Street, Taneytown, over Roy B. Garner's Hardware Store. Telephone 60. Office hours 9:00 to 12:30. 1:30 to 6:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 P. M. daily.

PUBLIC SALE

The undersigned will offer at public sale on the Arnold farm, near Bridgeport, Md., on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1940, at 1:00 o'clock, the following

HOUSEHOLD GOODS, ongoleum rugs, one 9x9 rug, one 7½x9 rug, 15 yds linoleum, 6 ft. ex-tension table, ½ dozen kitchen chairs, kitchen cabinet, cupboard, refrigeraor, sewing machine, kitchen range day bed, rockers, caneseated chairs, Kingsbury piano, double heater, coal oil stove, wash machine, gas iron, amps, dishes, quilting frames, mean benches, sausage stuffer, iron kettle benches, sausage stuffer, iron kettle and stands, brooder stove, meat benches, sausage stuffer, iron kettle and stands, brooder stove, meat benches, sausage stuffer, iron kettle and stands, brooder stove, meat benches, sausage stuffer, iron kettle and stands, brooder stove, meat grinder, single and double barrel guns, glass jars, gallon crocks, 5 gal. jar, CHICKENS by the 15; 3 SOWS and PIGS, 5 FAT HOGS, and many other articles. other articles not mentioned.

TERMS CASH. MARY ANDERS.

KARL HAINES, Clerk.

Trepass Notices Against Hunting, Trapping or Fishing

50c PER Dozen 25c ½-Dozen 5c SINGLE CARD

Also have them worded—"No Trespassing for any purpose whatever".

THE CARROLL RECORD COMPANY TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND

Notice of Transfers and Abatements

The County Commissioners will sit for the purpose of transfers and abatements on the following dates for the districts mentioned:-

November 13-Districts Number 1, 2 and 3. November 14-Districts Number 4, 5 and 6 November 15-Districts Number 7 and 8. November 20-Districts Number 9, 10 and 11. November 22-Districts Number 12, 13 and 14.

AFTER THE ABOVE DATES NO ABATEMENTS WILL BE ALLOWED.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF CARROLL COUNTY.

The World's News Seen Through THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

An International Daily Newspaper is Truthful—Constructive—Unbiased—Free from Sensational-ism—Editorials Are Timely and Instructive and Its Daily Features, Together with the Weekly Magazine Section, Make the Monitor an Ideal Newspaper for the Home.

The Christian Science Publishing Society One, Norway Street, Boston, Massachusetts Price $12.00 Yearly, or $1.00 a Month. Saturday Issue, including Magazine Section, $2.60 a Year.
Introductory Offer, 6 Issues 25 Cents.

Address_

SAMPLE COPY ON REQUEST

Take LIQUID, TABLETS, SALVE, NOSE DROPS

CHRISTMAS FOLDERS AND STATIONERY

MONUMENT BUILDER

WESTMINSTER, MD.

(1) We have two Christmas Folder Assortments, with Envelopes to match The one contains 20 folders; ten designs in the assortment. $1.00 box. (2) The other assortment contains 20 designs, all different, also having envelopes to match. $1.00 box.

(1) Stationery cabinet, with 50 sheets folded paper, and 50 envelopes 5x6½, 75c per box.

(2) 50 each ripple finish paper; Monarch envelopes long envelopes, paper 74x10½. A popular new size. $1.00 box.

(3) 100 each Vellum paper and envelopes 31½x6, paper folds into 4 pages. $1.00 box. (4) Our old standby 200 single sheets, Franconia bond paper 51/2 x81/2 with envelopes to match. $1.00 box. For mailing of Boxes of paper and envelopes, or Christmas folder assort-ments, add 8c each. One line of type

The Carroll Record Company TANEYTOWN, MD.

Good News!

HE same reduced rates that apply evenings and Sundays will also apply all day Thanksgiving - from 7 p.m. Wednesday to 4:30 a.m. Friday.

A Thanksgiving Day chat with distant friends and relatives by telephone is next best to seeing them.

The C. & P. Telephone Co. (Bell System)

Thousands get relief from aches or pains of Arthritis due to Sulphur deficiency, by taking SULPHO-KAPS, Colloidal Iodized Sulphur treatment. Daily cost only few cents. Money back if not satisfied. FREE Booklet today at

McKinney's Pharmacy

NOTICE TO CREDITORS. This is to give notice that the subscriber has obtained from the Orphans' Court of Carroll County, in Maryland, letters testamentary on the personal estate of ANNIE M. KNOX, on Folder—3 lines on Envelopes and stationery.

Orders for Christmas folders should be placed promptly. We do not expect to buy more after present stock is exhausted.

ANNIE M. KNOX, late of Carroll County, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, legally authenticated, to the subscriber, on or before the 6th. day of June, next; they may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefits of said estate.

Given under by hand this 4th. day of November, 1940.

OLIVER E. LAMBERT, surviving executor of the last Will and Testament of Annie M. Knox, deceased. 11-8-5t

FARM

PRODUCTION COSTS ARE DAIRY BUGABOO

Proper Choice of Feeds Results in Saving.

By R. H. RUFFNER

Low production costs are essential for profitable dairying, as for any other business, and the ability to choose and use feeds properly helps materially to reduce costs, according to the animal husbandry and dairying department of North Carolina State college.

Live stock farmers should take a tip from the automobile industry, which has lowered production costs by at least 25 per cent in the past 20 years, thereby making cars available to millions of Americans. Dairymen can reduce the cost of their products and make them available to more people by studying the advantages and limitations of feeds and their relative values.

A wide variety of satisfactory feeds are available for dairymen to choose the combinations which are most efficient and economical in balanced rations.

Among the low-protein, or carbohydrate feeds are corn meal, ground threshed grain sorghums, ground or rolled barley, hominy feed, ground wheat, or ground rough rice. About one-fifth to one-fourth more of the following bulkier feeds should be used when they are substituted in the ration: Ground ear corn with shuck, ground grain, sorghum heads, and corn and cob meal.

Excellent feeds that give best results when they make up one-fourth to one-third of the total ration are ground oats, wheat bran, rice bran, and alfalfa meal or other good quality legume hays that have been finely ground. These may be used interchangeably in dairy mixtures.

Milkweeds Poisonous,

Sometimes Kill Stock Whorled milkweeds are poisonous to live stock and sometimes cause losses among horses, cattle and Whorled milkweeds have slender stalks. The leaves are narrow and are from two to three inches long. They develop in clusters or whorls of several needlelike leaves around the stalk. The flowers are of greenish white. The botanist's name for this weed is Asclepias virticillata.

Common milkweeds have a heavier stalk than the whorled variety. The leaves are comparatively broad, oblong in shape, and placed on opposite sides of the stalk. The flowers are of a rose purple. The botanical name is Asclepias syriaca. The swamp variety is known botanically as Asclepias incarnata. It has a larger, deeper-hued blossom than the common milkweed.

Milkweeds are deeply rooted perpods, with a flosslike material inside the pods. The pods of the common milkweed are larger than those of the whorled or swamp milkweed.

Infertile Eggs Will Hold Flavor Better

Infertile eggs will hold their flavor better and will keep fresh longer in hot weather. To obtain this type of eggs, all male birds should be sold when hatching is completed, and plans made to replace them for another year with pedigreed males from a dependable breeder, or at least with males from a reliable

Experts offer these other suggestions for successful flock management: Don't sell out the flock of hens, but cull out instead. Keep the birds that are and have been heavy layers as indicated by worn feathers, plump red combs and wattles, bright and wide-awake eyes, bleached beak and shanks, and a full, soft, flexible abdomen free from hard lumps of fat.

Since summer days are long enough for birds to consume enough mash without stimulating them, as is the case when a wet mash is fed, it will pay to start cutting down on the amount given each day until the practice is stopped entirely.

Farm Topics

Cold frames, hot beds, and sash houses are used to start early or tender crops.

Farm economists are recommending that farmers pay cash and buy in quantity.

With other things equal, the larger cows within a breed produce more milk and make more profit than smaller ones, according to animal husbandry specialists.

Mechanical milk coolers are becoming popular on farms but the dairymen should remember that low temperatures only slow down the growth of bacteria and do not remove them. Strict cleanliness in handling milk should complement cooling.

The many new materials for slip covers that are on the market this spring offer the enterprising homemaker an opportunity to deck her furniture out in new finery at a comparatively low cost.

SERVE A SUCCULENT STEW (Recipes Below)

one sort or another appears on the family table fairly regularly.

There are stews and stews, of course-lamb stews with feathery light dumplings and an assortment of vegetables to add flavor (and vitamins!); hearty Mulligan stews; and stews of chicken that masquerade under all sorts of fancy

There are even "Cinderella Stews," which start out as leftovers and end up as a well-seasoned onedish meal.

Remember that "serving a stew" is an economical measure, and a time-saving one, as well. Stews and meat pies usually make use of the less expensive cuts of meat. Their preparation is simple, and they make a satisfying "One-dish meal,"

Lamb Stew With Mint Dumplings.

- 1/4 cup butter 2½ pounds lamb (cut in pieces)
- 4 cups boiling water 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3/4 cup carrots (sliced)
- 3 cups potatoes (cut in cubes) 3 onions (sliced)
- 1½ cups tomatoes (canned)
- 1/4 cup flour 1/4 cup cold water

Heat butter in large saucepan. Add meat and brown. Add boiling water, and seasonings; cover. When boiling, reduce heat and simmer 11/2 hours. Add vegetables and continue of Gumbo File. cooking slowly for 1 hour. Mix flour and water to a paste and add slowly. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Increase heat and when boiling vigorously add dumplings. Mint

- 2 cups bread flour 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt 1/4 cup lard

dumplings:

2 tablespoons fresh mint or parsley (chopped) 3/4 cup milk (approximately)

Sift together dry ingredients, cut in fat and add chopped mint. Add milk and mix gently with a fork. Drop by spoonfuls into boiling stew. Cover and continue to steam for 15 minutes without lifting the cover.

One-Dish Sunday Dinner.

For a practical, one-dish meal that can be left simmering while one is in church on Sunday, chicken rice pilaff is unsurpassed. Cut a 3-pound chicken in pieces and fry in butter to a golden brown. Add salt and pepper to taste. When nearly brown drain off all but 1/4 cup fat, add an onion, finely sliced, a little chopped parsley and 1/2 of a bay leaf and fry 10 minutes longer. Wash 2 cups rice and spread over the chicken; add 4 cups boiling water, one small sliced tomato (or 2 tablespoons canned tomatoes) and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir gently; cover, bring to a boil and then simmer for one hour. A small family might have the best parts of the chicken fried one day, and the rest cooked this way the next day, using only 1 cup of rice and 2 cups

Lamb Riblet Stew. (Serves 4 to 5)

- 4 pounds lamb riblets (rib ends of breast of lamb)
- 4 tablespoons fat
- 31/2 cups water
- 1 tablespoon salt ½ teaspoon pepper
- 5 medium size onions (peeled) 5 medium size potatoes (pared) 3 carrots (scraped, and cut in halves lengthwise) from breast of lamb, and cut between rib ends to form finger-like strawberry shortcake, deep dish appieces. Wipe meat with a damp ple pie, Boston brown bread, ham cloth, dry, and brown in hot fat. cheese rolls, baked stuffed pork Drain off the fat, and add 31/2 cups of water to the meat. Cover, and barbecued steak, oven fried chicksimmer for one hour. Add season- en, etc., etc. ings and the onions, cover, and cook for 30 minutes. Then add potatoes in coin to "Feeding Father," care and carrots. Cover, and cook for 30 of Eleanor Howe, 919 North Michi-

There's something so homey and with 2 tablespoons of cold water to tasty about a good stew, that most form a paste. Cook, stirring confolks feel cheated unless a stew of stantly, until the gravy thickens. Arrange lamb riblets in the center of a serving platter with the vegeta-bles around the sides. Pour gravy over top.

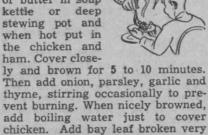

Creole Chicken Gumbo File. 4-pound chicken

- Flour, salt, pepper
- ½ pound lean ham 2 tablespoons lard or butter
- onion (chopped) sprig thyme
- tablespoon parsley (minced) Garlic, amount you like, rub bowl 1/4 red pepper pod, without seeds Boiling water dozen shrimp or more Creole Gumbo File

Clean and cut up chicken as for a fricassee. Dredge with flour, salt and pepper. Cut ham into small dices. Place lard or butter in soup kettle or deep stewing pot and when hot put in the chicken and ham. Cover closethyme, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. When nicely browned, add boiling water just to cover chicken. Add bay leaf broken very fine—and red pepper pod. Lower flame and allow Gumbo to simmer gently until chicken is tender-2 to 4 hours. Remove carcass and bones. Just before serving, add 2 dozen shrimp, diced. Heat through thoroughly. Remove from flame and add 1/2 tablespoon to 2 tablespoons Brunswick Stew.

Put one gallon of water in a large iron pot, bring to a boil, and add one tablespoon of salt. Add one onion minced fine, one pint of shelled butter beans, six potatoes peeled and sliced, six ears of corn cut from the cob. one-half pound of fat salt pork or bacon cut into shreds, onehalf teaspoon each of black and cayenne pepper. Two squirrels or one large fat hen, disjointed and soaked in cold water to draw the blood out, are next thrown into the pot. Cover closely and stew very slowly for two hours, stirring occasionally from the bottom. Stew one hour longer, add two teaspoons of white sugar and one quart of tomatoes peeled and sliced. Ten minutes before serving add one-fourth pound of butter cut into bits and rolled in flour. Bring to a boil again and serve on soup plates with dry rice. This is a dish men like and one they can excel in preparing.

Mulligan Stew. (Serves 6) medium size can corned beef-

1 onion - minced fine 1 No. 2 can peas

with liquid medium size bottle tomato catsup

1 cup water Salt and pepper to taste

Put all ingredients in saucepan and simmer gently over low flame for about one hour. The flavor improves with the length of cooking

Get This New Cookbook Now.

You as a homemaker-of coursewant to serve to the man of your family the food he likes best and it is for that reason that you should immediately secure your copy of this new 48-page cookbook entitled, "Feeding Father."

This book contains almost 150 recipes, and among them you will find Have butcher remove breast bone such tested men's favorites as a rare old recipe for plum pudding, chops, spare ribs with apple stuffing, minutes longer. Pour off the gravy, and add a tablespoon of flour mixed (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

'Dead' Rattlesnake Bites

Keeper, Then Dies Again FORT WORTH, TEXAS.—Harry Jackson, keeper of the reptiles, finally was bitten by a snake. And it took a "dead" snake to do it. The reptile "died" in the snake pit at the zoo and Jackson was about to skin it. Suddenly it came to life, bit the keeper and "died" again. Jackson slashed his finger where the snake had struck and went to a hospital for further treat-

"Never trust a rattlesnake, dead or alive," he said.

This particular snake was named Hitler because it had been dictator ever since it was brought from San Hitler had such a commanding disposition that a woman watching him for an hour one day made a remark to Jackson as she turned to leave the snake show.

"Betcha $5," she said, "that rattlesnake bites you before the week

Jackson wished he had called the bet when Hitler died, but later revoked his wish when Hitler proved deadly even in death.

Stallions Should Be Given

The Best Feed Rations The choicest, soundest feeds should be reserved for a valuable Main reliance will be placed on oats, bran, and light-mixed clover and timothy or timothy hay. A few ears of corn are of benefit to a stallion that is inclined to keep thin. Clean pasture grass during the season and carrots when grass is not available are valuable aids in promoting health.

The heavily used stallion requires as much feed as a hard-worked horse. A healthy, vigorous, muscular condition is greatly to be preferred to a soft, flabby, overdone condition. A stallion that loses weight rapidly during the breeding season is not likely to be a sure breeder. It is preferable, if possible, to start the season with the stallion in a lean condition and increase his weight a little during the season. The extreme fitting to which some stallions are subjected in being prepared for the show-ring has sometimes been a detriment to their future value as sires.

Turning Eggs

Some authorities assert that when eggs are hatched in an incubator they should be turned three or more times a day from the third to the eighteenth day. Be sure the hands are clean and free from oil or grease when the eggs are turned. If hatched under a hen, this handling is unnecessary as the hen will take care of the necessary moving. Howinfertile eggs removed.

Consider Price Reports

In Planning Egg Program

monthly egg prices before outlining karakul sheep should compare the their year's management program, karakul industry with the regular the New Jersey college of agriculinvestment, says Con S. Maddox, ture, Rutgers university, offers Washington State college extension some figures which indicate that animal husbandman.

ing spring months. such as use of artificial illumina- received for mutton lambs. tion in the laying house and date of Some southern Idaho bree greater receipts during these Because of its limited use, karakul months. At New York, in the period wool usually sells for one-half to 37, 7.4 per cent arrived during the ment of agriculture.

Karakul Sheep Raising

Of Questionable Wisdom In urging poultrymen to study Stockmen interested in raising F. P. Jeffrey, poultry instructor at sheep industry before making their large eggs are relatively more val- One of the best ways to learn uable in the fall, while small eggs about the industry is to visit farmare generally more profitable dur- ers who have been in the business for at least four or five years and "According to the United States find from them the prices they re-department of agriculture figures," ceive for lamb pelts, the clip from he says, "53 per cent of the annual ewes, the percentage of lambs proegg production occurs during the four duced by the karakul as compared spring months of March, April, May to farm flocks of sheep, the price and June. Management factors of breeding stock, and the prices

Some southern Idaho breeders are hatch bear some relationship to the reported to be saving their karakul seasonal distribution of the egg lambs for marketing just as they would regular mutton lambs, instead "During the last eight years, there of marketing the pelts. Those wishhas been a tendency for a rapid de- ing to obtain breeding stock could cline in the egg market during De-probably buy these lambs at fat-cember and January because of lamb prices.

of 1924-30, 5.6 per cent of the an- three-fourths the price paid for good nual receipts of eggs arrived during quality wool, according to research January, while in the period of 1931- done by the United States depart-

SAGAS OF THE SKIES

- Ey R. C. Oertel Manager, Aviation Division, Sales Department Esso Marketers

N 1937, over Central America, I swung the dreaded Green Dragon, a windblown banana fungus, that struck terror to the heart of the great banana industry. In ever widening circles the Green Dragon was destroying an industry worth hundreds of millions of dollars and employing thousands of men.

No one knew how to stop th pest, so little information was available; but the banana industry refused to quit and fought on, led by the "world's largest farmer", the United Fruit Company. A corps of scientists began a ceaseless search for a killing spray. Even when at length that was found, means had to be devised to spray among the thick foliage despite heavy rains of the tropics.

Every member of the company, air for the greatest battle in hispitched into the battle, frantic with the knowledge that each passing day meant the loss of thousands of dusting powder, took off for of dollars. Within six months, these resourceful fighters had found a way to spray every inch of the gigantic banana farms.

of dusting powder, took on the battle. Day after day, week after week, the fighting ships roared up and down the huge plantations, dealing death to the Green Dragon. of dusting powder, took off for But the Green Dragon plunged on while men plotted its destruction. While they worked, the Green Dragon attacked on a dozen fronts.

Then the banana men took to the line determined that helped stem the tide, more than 8,200 tons of dusting powder were sprayed on 208,000 acres of tropic plantations. Then the banana men took to the line 2,152 hours of flying time.

ever, all hatching eggs should be candled on the seventh day and all Read the Advertisements

Figure the Price Figure the Features-Figure the Savings AND YOU'LL BUY CHEVROI GIVE LOW-PRICED Price is important, of course . . . But most im-PHEVROLET NO.2 CAR NO.3 CAR portant of all is what you get for the price . . . Your CONCEALED own eyes and your own SAFETY-STEPS tests will tell you that you VACUUM-POWER SHIFT get the highest quality in the AT NO EXTRA COST lowest price field when you get BODY BY FISHER a new Chevrolet . . . That's why WITH UNISTEEL TURRET TOP people have given Chevrolet GENUINE KNEE-ACTION leadership in motor car sales BOX-GIRDER FRAME for nine of the last ten years! You'll Say FIRST BECAUSE IT'S FINEST! RIGINAL FISHER NO DRAFT VENTILATION TIPTOE-MATIC CLUTCH ONLY CHEVROLET HAS ALL THESE QUALITY FEATURES Again CHEVROLET'S THE LEADER!

OHLER'S CHEVROLET SALES

Taneytown, Maryland

CORRESPONDENCE

Latest Items of Local News Furnished By Our Regular Staff of Writers

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesd, or by Fast Mail, west on W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time.

All communications for this department must be signed by the author; not for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributed are legitimate and correct. Items based on mere rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted.

FRIZELLBURG.

Divine Worship will be conducted here this Sunday at 9 A. M. Sabbath following at 10:15. Rev. J. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Marker H. Dern, of Richmond, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dern, Littlestown, visited Mrs. Jacob Rodkey, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Warren, son

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Warren, son Donald, Baltimore; Mrs. Archie Wantz, son Martin Luther, and daughters, Hazel and Helen Marie, Pleasant Valley, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Jennie Myerly.

Mr. William Arthur who is confinded to the house with a severe cold is ed to the house with a severe cold is convalescing.

When Mr. Lewis D. Wantz arose on Thursday morning he was sur-prised to find his trousers had disappeared which at once aroused susfamily. An investigation soon revealed that burglars had pryed open several windows and entered and ransacked almost every room and also the store. It was then they dis-covered the telephone wires were cut and many things about the house disarranged. Several dollars in change were taken from his trousers but some money in the cash drawer was not molested. A close examination revealed that little or no merchan-dise had been stolen. It is believed their main objective was money, but it so happened his wallet had been hidden safely away. Their attempt to enter through the cellar was in vain. They made their exit through Sunday evening. He was accompanied at the piano by his wife.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carr on Tuesday night. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises. After the routine of business the host and hostess served refreshments. The wm. Souder came from Littlestown, next meeting will be held at the and took their cousins Mr. and Mrs. home of Mr. and Mr. William Sulli-

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sullivan, and daughter, entertained to supper re-cently, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sullivan well, and of a large family and daughter, also Mrs. Sullivan's children all have scattered and gone mother, all of Johnsville; Mr. Edw. to other homes and positions except Sullivan, Laurel, Md., and Mrs. Walter, Grimes, Westminster.

UNIONTOWN.

James and Eliza Zollickoffer are two more victims of scarlet fever. We are glad to see other children who have been in for several weeks, out

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fogle spent Armistice Day in Baltimore. G. F. Gilbert spent from Saturday until Tuesday in Boonsboro, Md., visiting his daughter, Mrs. Raymond

Rev. F. H. Snavely, Hagerstown, has been the speaker this week at the Evangelistic services which are in progress at the Church of God.

The Union Thanksgiving service will be held on Thursday morning, Nov. 21, at 10 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Rev. Harry Hagar, Rinaldo Repp, Charles and Stewart

Segafoose, Harold Smelser, Jr. and James Caylor, spent Sunday at their respective homes here. Several of our towns young men enjoyed the Navy-Notre Dame football game at the Baltimore Stadium on Saturday.

Mrs. Maurice Bankerd has some very choice chrysanthemums of her own growing. She has shared them with some of her friends who are proud to have them adorn their we should do our part to help them.

We are glad to see Mr. Walter Rentzel, our butcher, out again. Mrs. Charles Fritz who has been quite ill is somewhat improved. Miss Betty Englar was hostess on Saturday to a group of Girl Scouts, when they returned from a five mile Appetizing refreshments were

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Myers, Mayberry, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Putman.

Mrs. B. L. Cookson, Mrs. Harry Hagar, Mrs. Clarence Lockard, Mrs. Harry Haines and Mrs. Harold Smelattended the Homemakers' Club at Mrs. John Roop's, Linwood, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bankerd, visited Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Dubs, Hanover, on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. C. Edgar Myers and

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cookson, spent Sunday in Hagerstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flickinger and Mr. Samuel Flickinger, attended the funeral of Mrs. J. L. Aulthouse, in Hanover, on Saturday afternoon.
The John Klein play that was to have been given at Pipe Creek Church on Friday, Nov. 15 has been called Mr. and Mrs. J. White Hutton, of tha Singer and son, Sunday.

FEESERSBURG.

Ship ahoy! Well, here we are aboard that ship of State "The Roosevelt," which after a storm-tossed voyage sailed into harbor early last Wednesday morning with a full cargo. We passed a huge boat-load of people starting up Salt River but received no salute, and found out later that many who couldn't endure the long trip, were home with a headache, and the druggist had a run on Asperin and Alka-seltzer; while others were busy putting away their Willkie buttons and literature with sighs and sad faces, and we can truthfully say—"I told you so". Now we are landing for four more years-and may peace abound.

The election supper in the Church
Hall at Middleburg last Tuesday evening was a success. The regular patrons were present and many vis-itors, and all good food and kind attention were appreciated. We were told there never was better fried

Miss Sue Birely with Mrs. Mary Baughman Fogle, of Uniontown enjoyed a lovely drive to Lovettsville, Va., on Wednesday of last week to attend the Missionary Rally of the Frederick Co. Societies of the Lutheran Churches which was well attended and a good program given, under leadership of Mrs. Calvin Schildtknecht, of Frederick.

Many of our folks were attracted to Haugh's Church on Saturday evening to Armistice supper, where there was a crowd of people to partake of the feast of good things to eat. Some of the women of the church cleaned and prepared 15 turkeys at the home of the Harbaugh Sisters on Friday which were taken picion that something unusual had to a bakery for roasting, and some happened. On going down stairs he were prepared in the homes and lots found all the doors were open and of pumpkin pies baked. Friends found all the doors were open and of pumpkin pies baked. Friends immediately notified the rest of the family. An investigation soon re- lowship; but if the cooks and waiters breathed a sigh of relief when the curtain went down-we understand.

They exchanged services at Mt. Union on Sunday morning-having preaching before Sunday School so the pastor could get to Winter's Church for service at 10:45 A. M. The theme of Rev. Bowersox's sermon was "Debtor to Others." The anthem by the choir was "Oh! how lovely, Zion City of our God." Mrs. Cleon Wolf placed a jar of Chrysanthemums at the altar. The special offering was for Lutheran world action to save Lutheran Missionaries

The Smiling Sunbeams invited all the store, into the wareroom, and out interested in having an oyster supthrough the feed house. Mr. Wantz per at Mt. Union to meet with them (A Chevrolet auto was stolen from Earl R. Bowers, garage, Taneytown, the same night. Perhaps it was used in going to Frizellburg. Ed.)

Jean John, was seized with acute pain, taken to the house, and in the afternoon to a Baltimore Hospital, where an operation was performed for appendicitis. The family visit him each day, and he is doing as well as can be expected.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stuffle to see their niece, Mrs. Pearl Starr Nusbaum and family living on the Frederick-Washington highway near New Market, all were

Maurice Grinder promised his fam-ily a pig-roast if Roosevelt was elected, so on Sunday they had a 65 to pig roasted, and all their immediate family including his brother, Claude and family, of Linwood, the Wilbur Miller family and the Crouse Crumbackers to partake of it and all the accessories—finishing with mince and pumpkin pie, beside cocoanut cake. So that's settled. We faced the Doctor in a Dentist's chair on Tuesday and had a successful operation on a slightly broken tooth-but it gave relief at once, and things might be worse.

The Starr carpenters are working at the Raymond Wilson farm, now occupied by Robert Colliflower and family, turning the original stable into a modern cow barn.

The programs for Armistice Day, as heard on the air, were very interesting and impressive including good music. 'Tis well to remember, but many prayed for a second armisticeto end this awful turmoil of strife and war.

Here's Monday evening—and very rainy. We heard one man wail because his fodder wasn't hauled in: and others have much corn to husk

Now the Red Cross calls for annual payments and more members. Their work is heavy and so many demands are made on their treasury-

MANCHESTER.

Mrs. Burnell Jenkins, who had been a patient at Woman's Hospital in Baltimore, is recuperating at the ome of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert B. Weaver.

Mrs. Thomas Miller, of Alesia, is suffering from a leg injury.

The business men of town, won the Donkey Basket Ball Game from the eachers played in H. S. auditorium Thursday was visitors day in the

Patricia Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton W. Warner, Lineoro, Md., was baptized by their pas-

Callers at the Reformed parsonage Manchester, recently include J. V. Gill, Manchester, R. D.; Clarence Miller, Hampstead; Vernon Hann, of Manchester. R. D., and Rev. Dr. E.

M. Sando, Hanover, Pa.
Union Thanksgiving Services will be held in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Manchester, on Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 7:30 P. M. The Rev. W. I. Kauffman, pastor of the Manchester U. B. Circuit will preach the ser-Chambersburg, Pa., visited Mrs. Mar- ter U. B. Circuit will preach the ser-

LITTLESTOWN.

Charles R. Clousher, West King St, suffered a cerebral concussion and the fracture of a rib on his right side n a fall from a truck on Saturday. He was taken to the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, in the Adams County ambulance, and was admitted as a patient.

St. Aloysius Catholic Church was filled to capacity Sunday evening for the annual Armistice service, sponsored by the John W. Ocker Post. There was a large delegation of members of the Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary who marched to the church from the Post home on West King St. An appropriate sermon was delivered by the Rector of the Church, Rev. Joseph N. Wahler. Following the ben-ediction the hymn "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," was sung by the assembly and the service closed with the recessional. There were no services in any other church in town. The service was attended by the ministers

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Schneider, Helen Wisotzkey and Grace Stonesifer, spent Saturday in Chambersburg, where they attended a fellowship rally of the young people.

The annual Red Cross roll-call opened Monday morning in town and vicinity. Sunday morning services in the churches all the ministers spoke about the call and the need which faces the organization..

George Hornberger of the U.S. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Welty, Hamp-Army, stationed at Langley Field, Va, stead, visited with Earl Welty and spent the week-end with his parents. The members of Class Loyalty of St. Paul Lutheran Sunday School entertained their husbands and families this home. to a banquet in the social room of the church, on Saturday evening.

Girls in the Home Economic Department of the High School, under the direction of Miss Louise Neckey are sewing for the Red Cross.

The oldest person to vote in town last Tuesday was Mrs. John A. list.

Mayers, who will be 95 years old in February.
The Littlestown Manufacturing Company, Nat Gimberg, proprietor of town, will open a branch factory in Hanover this week. The plant town will continue to operate as the sewing unit. The entire product of better class dresses will be brought here to be finished. Draft Board No. 1 of Adams Co., of which William J Yingling, of town is chairman and which covers east-ern Adams County has opened an office in New Oxford.

A double birthday surprise party was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Eugene Kuhn, Cemetery St., honoring her daughter, Mrs. Fred Leister and her son. They received many gifts.

Elmo Jones, who has been confined to his bed at his home near town, with lober pneumonia is improving. His mother Mrs. Beulah Jones, of mr. Ross Heltibridle was soloist at the Home-coming service at the Edgewood Church of the Brethren on Edgewood Church of the Brethren on Jan John, was seized with acute the family.

With lober pneumonia is improving. His mother Mrs. Beulah Jones, of Delta, is spending some time with the family.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St.

the family.
The Ladies' Aid Society of St. John Church met on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Bloom, near town. The annual banquet of the Woman Community Club, of town and vicinity was held Thursday, November 14 in the social room of the Reformed Church. The guests were the husbands and friends.

Glenn Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude A. Snyder, Crouse Park, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy, and left for Norfolk, Va., while we have 12 young men who are serving in the U.S. Army and Marine Corps, Snyder is the first man to enlist in the Navy since 1927 when Joseph Angell served an enlistment in the Navy.

Wednesday evening game of donkey basket ball. score was 18-18. Ask any of The players if they were sore from riding the donkey and they will say "you bet I am.

Three young people of town, were hurt when the automobile in which they were riding ran off the Littlestow-Hanoyer highway as they were coming home from work. All three recoming home from work. All three received treatment at the Annie M. Warner Hospital. Ralph Bowers suffered a fractured collarbone and an injury to his spine. Donald Bedford, the operator of the car was X-rayed for a chest injury. Marian Bollinger was also X-rayed for an injury to her right leg. injury to her right leg.

On Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock fire broke out in the engine room of the Men's Clothing Factory. The Fire Company had it under control soon. The working force kept on working while the firemen put out the fire. The Adams County Firemen's Association will honor the memory of its dead at an annual memorial service to be conducted on Sunday at 2:30 P. M. in the Mt. Joy Lutheran Church near Harney.

Rev. Nevin Smith, pastor Emmanuel Nevin Smith, pastor of Emmanuel Reformed Church, Hanover, was the guest speaker Monday evening at the one hundred and ninth meeting of the Past Grands Association of the I. O. O. F, which was held in the Lodge Room. Rev. Smith's address was on "Armistice Day."

Mrs. S. W. Beck, left Wednesday for Concord, N. C., where she will visit her mother, Mrs. M. C. Barrier, who has been a patient in the Con-cord Hospital for some time.

FLAGS PRESENTED TO THE COURT HOUSE.

At the opening session of the November term of the Circuit Court for Carroll County, two flags, a National tor, Rev. Dr. John S. Hollenbach, during morning worship in Lazarus Church, Lineboro, on Sunday.

Carroll County, two flags, a National and State flag, were presented to the Court House. The donor of the flags is H. Peyton Gorsuch, of Westminster. The flags are made of heavy taffeta silk, four feet by six feet, with heavy gold fringe and double gold cords with tassels, and on nine foot poles.

The National flag is surmounted with a brass eagle, while the Lord Calvert flag bears the traditional botonne or trefle type cross. The flags bench and they are crossed.

Services at St. Paul Church next Sabbath: S. S., 8:30 Sermon by Rev. Beard, at 9:15 on Sunday evening, Nov. 24. A special service by the Brotherhood of the church.

Mr. Earl Welty who had been critical ill the past week is improving His mother is here helping care for

Mr. and Mrs. David Michael and family, Baltimore, visited Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Marshall and Mr and Mrs Morris Haines

Mrs. Vernon Ridinger who has been ill is improving. Mr. and Mrs. Quintin Eckenrode and son "Toby", spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Eckenrode, of Thurmont.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St.

Paul Lutheran Church are planning their annual turkey and oyster sup-per for Nov. 23. Prices Adult 35c; Children under 12 years 25c. They are planning to accommodate and serve a large crowd hoping not to have to turn any away as they have been doing for years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reck entertained over the the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reneker, York, and Chas. Reck, Manchester.

Mrs. Hannah Eckenrode spent Monday and Tuesday in Thurmont, with Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Kiser and son Charles.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Welty, Hampfamily, Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sherman and son, Middleburg, were visitors through the week in

Rev. Beard has announced special Thanksgiving service and the ingathering of vegetables, fruit, canned goods, jelly, etc., for the Loysville Orphans' Home on the the 24th. of Mrs. Jennie Benner is on the sick Mr. David Yingling who had been ill at the home of his son Daniel and wife, Gettysburg road, died on Wednesday. Funeral arrangements incomplete at this writing.

NEW WINDSOR.

On Sunday, Nov. 17, at 11 A. M., the Methodist Church will observe Young People's Day. The Blue Ridge choir under the direction of Miss Warburton will furnish the music. The pastor Rev. Ledford will have for his theme, "The Victorious Life." On Nov. 21 the annual community Thanksgiving service will be held in the Presbyterian Church, at 10 A. M. Rev. Ledford will bring the mes-

Jack Thompson, a student at the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, Pa., spent the week-end here with his mother.

Dr. Auchenpaugh and wife enter-tained on Monday evening, Prof. Beech and wife, Mr. Clark and wife, to dinner. Mrs. Daniel Engler entertained the W. C. T. U. on Tuesday afternoon Miss Rachel Garner, of Westminster was the guest speaker, who gave a description of her work among the migrants in Washington State, last

Prof. Beech and wife entertained a few friends to dinner on Wednesday evening, in honor of Mrs. Clark, of Massachusetts who is visiting her husband here.

The New Windsor Homemakers'
Club met on Monday evening at 7:45 Nov. 11 with 16 members present. The Club sang "America." Various committees for a Christmas sale and A large crowd turned out last the Community Christmas program were appointed. The demonstration, "Sanitation and Eradication of Household Pests" were given by Mrs. W. A. Ledford. Two original poems were read by Mrs. Homer Cooper, on "Armistice Day." After which she read a paper on "Mexico." The Club then sang "God Bless America."

CHURCH PARTY AND MOVING PICTURES.

A church party and moving pictures were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, on Friday evening, Nov. 8th.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner and children, James and Betty Mae; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grushon and daughter, Martha Gene; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuss and children, Rosella, Lloyd and Robert; Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgardner, and chlidren, Elwood, Robert and Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fuss, Mr. and Mrs. Oma Wood, daughter, Jane: Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bentz and children, Bernie, Richard, Donald, Robert and Reberta Mrs. Russell Ohler and sons, Joseph and David; Mrs. Raymond Roop and son, Murray and Catherine Wolf. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Naylor and children Wilbur, Janice and Arlene and Betty Cline: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ohler, Mrs. Edgar Glass and daughter, Ellen: Mrs. John Baumgardner, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Baumgardner, of Taneytown; Rev. Milton B. Crist, of Thurmont, who showed the pictures. Refreshments were served and a good time was had by all. -11-

ANOTHER GERMAN "WHITE BOOK."

The Record office has received, this week a handsomely gotten up 100-page book from the "German Library of Information," New York, titled "Allied Intrique in the low countries" and is No. 5 of a series so far, of "White Books."

It purports to be a review of diplomatic information, that deals with the campaign in Poland, Belgium, France and other countries, apparently dealing with itemized inside details, headquarters needs, etc. The whole of it, we think, is large-ly incomprehensible to the average American reader, especially those not familiar with the language of war To The Reecord is is only a nice job of printing, padded up to entitle it to be called a "White Book" filled with copies of Documents.

A NEW MIDWAY MAN INJURED.

William Fox, New Midway, sustained a broken leg Monday afternoon when his car skidded, on a curve and upset on Route 32, west of Frizellburg Carroll County.

Fox is at the Frederick City Hospital for treatment. He was brought to the hospital by Dr. C. M. Benner, Taneytown. Fox was taken to the office of Dr. Benner by a motorist, who passed the scene of the accident soon after it happened.

State Trooper Truman Moon, who investigated the accident, said Fox's car apparently skidded in rounding a turn, ran off the highway and upset. The car was badly damaged, he said, but Fox was able to extricate himself from the wrecked car and summon assistance

At the Hospital Monday night it was said that his condition is not serious.—Frederick Post.

AN UPPERING OF FLOWERS

By LEW ZARE (McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

ARCHIBALD J. MORTIMER raised himself on his toes and planted a kiss on his wife's lips. Then, snatching his hat, he scurried out the door to catch the 7:45, leaving a thoughtful wife behind, too dumfounded to move at this sudden display of affection. When her husband was long out of sight, Mrs. A. J. Mortimer bounced herself to the calendar and discovered that this day was not her birthday, their anniversary, nor even her mother's birthday. A sudden fear seized her. Was Archie losing his affection for her? Would little Archie dare to fall in love with someone else as he had so often done before their marriage? The next thing that entered her mind was the possibility that he had hired a pretty stenographer.

Before much time had elapsed, Mrs. A. J. Mortimer arrived at the office, rushed through the door marked private in expectation of seeing some beautiful siren on her husband's lap. She was almost disappointed to find the same unattractive secretary sitting at her husband's desk jotting pot-hooks in a notebook.

Mr. Archibald J. Mortimer was leaning far back in his chair, his hands folded over his waist, a big cigar in his mouth.

Realizing her mistake, Mrs. A. J. Mortimer stopped in the middle of the room, toyed with her pocketbook and then uttered a weak, "Hello." Calmly he queried,

"What is the matter, dear?" The secretary had meanwhile left the room, and for a moment Mrs. A. J. Mortimer thought of telling her husband everything; but seeing a wrapped-up bouquet of flowers beside his desk, supposedly concealed by two wastebaskets, she refrained. "Just thought I'd drop in, dear. I'm shopping today. Well, I'll just toddle along." Before her husband had time to urge her to stay awhile, she left the room, upsetting the office boy, who couldn't get out from under the keyhole in time. Left alone. Archibald heaved a sigh of relief, put the flowers in a more secure spot, and went back to work. Meanwhile, Mrs. A. J. Mortimer, outside now, was more perturbed than ever. Eventually she decided the flowers were not meant for her. Beginning to sniffle slightly, she further decided to have her husband trailed as she had done once before. The business-like man behind the desk in the office of the Aberjamb Detective agency assured Mrs. A. J. Mortimer that her wishes were their orders. "And you say that if he should happen to go to a cemetery, he should be trailed no longer? Oh, your father just died?' Meanwhile, Mr. A. J. Mortimer, having concluded his day's work, brushed his suit, straightened his tie, and used a mite of perfume. Leaving the office, bouquet in hand, he did not at all notice the man who, only giving him a casual glance, walked a little to the side of him. In a taxi Archie was too absorbed in his thoughts to pay much attention to the other cab right

Mr. Mortimer's car soon pulled up in front of the Wander cemetery. The detective had also alighted, and although he knew his directions, decided to follow his victim into the cemetery for a short space at least. Past the huge wire gates, Mr. Mortimer suddenly stopped in front of one of the graves and knelt down. That was sufficient evidence for the detective and he left the cemetery behind his.

to make his report to headquarters. After Mr. Mortimer had finished tightening his shoelace, he hurriedly rose to his feet. Then scampering over to the caretaker's cabin, he blissfully entered and was greeted by the open arms and sunny smile of the caretaker's daughter.

Good Old Days? Police Chief J. A. Grady, Pueblo. Colo., says that present-day bar flies aren't nearly as clever as some of the old timers. "For instance," he says, "the old time saloon keepers didn't like to have drunks dozing in their places. Unless a man showed signs of being awake he was hustled away. Many of those fellows developed the habit of crossing their legs and swinging one foot in gentle, rhythmic motions. That foot kept swinging, like a clock pendulum, even if the chair sitter was sound asleep."

COMMUNITY LOCALS.

(Continued from First Page.) John Null, of Frizellburg, was visitor at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Zepp and sons, on Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. John Cooper and son, Andrew, all of Collegeville, Pa., spent Saturday and Sunday with Rev. and Mrs. Guy P. Bready.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Trone, of Han-over, Pa., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Baumgardner and family several days this week.

Mrs. John M. Baumgardner, visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, of Emmitsburg, last week-end.

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Fackler and Mrs. George Becker, of Hanover, Pa., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Angell and Miss Nellie Selby. Mr. and Mrs. Murray Baumgardner visited Dr. and Mrs. George M. Baumgardner and Rev. Paul D. Emenheiser, Baltimore, last week-

Miss Agnes Elliot, of Silver Spring, Md., spent the past week-end and Armistice Day at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Francis T.

On Monday, Miss Louise Elliot was taken to the Annie M. Warner Hosp-ital, Gettysburg, and was operated on, Tuesday, for gall bladder and adhesions. She is getting along as well as can be expected.

A Chevrolet auto belonging to Earl Bowers was stolen from his garage Wednesday night, and has not been heard from this Friday morning. Also on Wednesday night a store was rob-bed, in Frizellburg, perhaps both were stolen by the same persons.

Contributions to the Red Cross are being received by all of the churches in Taneytown. Those who find it convenient to leave contributions at The Record Office may do so, and we will turn them in to any church desired. Miss Anna Galt is chairman, for Taneytown.

The Quarterly Conference of the Taneytown U. B. Charge will be held Sunday, at 6:00 P. M., in the Harney Church. The Rev. John H. Ness, Supt. of the Penna. Conference will be present to conduct the meeting. All officials of the churches are urged to Elmer Hess, who was taken sick a couple of weeks ago, is improving, and is able to be up in a chair. His daughter, Miss Nell Hess, Baltimore, is helping care for him. Miss Myrtle Morris, Baltimore, spent from Thursday until Sunday evening with the Hess family.

CARROLL COUNTY FARM BUREAU TO MEET.

An entirely different set up has been planned this year for the annual banquet and business meeting of the Carroll County Farm Bureau. This year the event will be held on Tuesday, November 26th. The business meeting of the Farm Bureau will be held at the Charles Carroll Hotel, on Tuesday morning, beginning at 10:00 o'clock. Much important business wil be discussed, including the adoption of the revised by-laws, and the election of officers.

A discussion of the work carried on during the year will be held. This morning session will be extremely important and all those who are inerested in the business of the Farm Bureau should make every effort to be present at ten o'clock. The committees working on various phases of activities will report, including by-laws committee, the standing committees, and also a report from the secretary-treasurer will be heard.

A representative of the Westminster Poultry Auction will be present to report on the progress of the auction and will ask for the whole-hearted support of the farmers of the county in developing the auction. The operation of the seed cleaning and treating machine will be discussed, and a report of the Associated Women's Clubs for the county will be

At one o'clock, the luncheon-ban-quet will be held in the State Armory. At this time the local officials have been successful in having Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, as the speaker. Officers of the State Farm Bureau are also expected to be present, including Philip C. Turner, Baltimore County, president of the state organization, and Mrs. Edwin Fry, Montgomery Co., president of the Association Women of Maryland.

During the past year the membership of the Farm Bureau has increased with about 175 additional members. About 500 persons are expected to be present.

MARRIED

WILSON-KETRON.

On Tuesday evening, Miss Ruby Ketron, daughter of Mr. John Ketron, of Kingsport, Tennessee, and Mr. Robert J. Wilson, son of Mrs. Maggie Wilson, of Kingsport, Tennessee, were married in the Taneytown U. B. Church, by the pastor, Rev. A W. Garvin. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson, Taneytown. The bride and groom will reside in Taneytown; the groom being an em-ployee of The Blue Ridge Rubber Co.

DIED.

Obituaries, poetry and resolutions, charged for at the rate of five cents per line. The regular death notices published free.

CARD OF THANKS.

We hereby extend our sincere thanks to all friends and bearers, for flowers and for many kindnesses shown during the illness and following the death of our father-

THE FAMILY OF FRANKLIN BOWERSOX.

SPECIAL NOTICES

BMALL ADVERTISEMENTS will be in-serted under this heading at One Cent a word, each week, counting name and ad-these of advertiser—two initials, or a date, counted as one word. Minimum charge, Bents.

BEAL ESTATE for sale, Two Cents cach word. Minimum charge, 25 cents.

THIS COLUMN is specially for Wants, Lost, Found, Short Announcements, Fersonal Property for sale. ctc.

CASH IN ADVANCE payments are de-wired in all cases.

NO "CALL AT RECORD OFFICE for information." Special Notices will be received, except when replies are SEALED and addressed to a NUMBER to be given by our office, for turning over to the advertiser.

STOCK BULLS for sale, or loaned to reliable farmers.-Harold Mehring.

THE LADIES' AID SOCIETY of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Harney, Md., will hold a Turkey and Oyster

FOR SALE .— 2 Fat Hogs about 250 fbs. each, 1 Falling-top Buggy in good running condition; 1 Buggy Pole Spread.—E. L. Crawford, near Taneytown.

SHOE AND HARNESS Repairing until further notice. Terms Cash.— Harry E. Reck, near Taneytown. 11-15-7t

TURKEYS FOR SALE also Cow Clipping wanted, electric or hand op-erated.—Sterling Brower, Taneytown Md.

FOR SALE-Delicious Pear Butter and three Alladin Lamps.—Mrs. Wm. Naill, Phone 46-F-12.

WOOD CUTTER WANTED. Will give two loads of wood to have one cut for me. Must have mine to my wood pile.—Franklin P. Reaver, near FAT HOG FOR SALE. Will weigh from 300 to 400 lbs.—Kiser Shoemaker, Taneytown.

CHICKEN and OYSTER SUPPER will be held at Keysville Reformed Church, Saturday evening, November 11-15-2t 28, from 4:30 on.

THE LADIES' AID of Baust Reformed Church will hold their annual Thanksgiving Turkey Dinner on Thursday, Nov. 21, beginning at 11 A. M. until 8:00 P. M., in the Parish Hall at Baust Church, along the Westminster and Taneytown State road. Reserved tables may be secured by phone 816F3, or 816F11 Westminster or 37F11 Taneytown. Price 50c; Children 25c.

FOR SALE-Good used L. C. Smith Typewriter.-Charles L. Stonesifer, Tanevtown.

LOST POCKET BOOK by George Deberry in Taneytown between Square and Warehouse. Finder please return to Record Office.

TOM'S CREEK M. E. Church will hold an Oyster Supper on Saturday evening, Nov. 16th. Everybody welcome. Suppers will be served beginning at 4:30 P. M. Children under 12 years, 25c; Adults, 35c. 11-8-2t

CHOICE TURKEYS for sale, alive or dressed.—William A. Myers, near Taneytown, Phone 14-F-11.

ANNUAL TURKEY DINNER and Bazaar will be held by St. Joseph's Catholic Church, in the Opera House, Taneytown, Saturday, Nov. 16th. Din-ner from noon on. Adults 50c: Chil-music by the Men's Quartet. 11-1-3t dren 35c.

WALL PAPER—We carry a complete line of modern price Wall Paper trimmed ready to hang—paste, glue and patching plaster. Window Shades Estimates cheerfully given on made to order shades.—Matthews & Myers, F. B. Stevenson, Owner, 195 W. Main 10-4-9t St., Westminster, Md.

DO YOU HAVE some unused pieces of mediocrity, or furniture, that you do not need. Why not offer it to somebody who does need them? Try a Special Notice in The Record!

WEDDING INVITATIONS and An nouncements. Have four grades. Work almost equal to engraved, and prices to please you. 5-31-3t

RADIO REPAIRING, all makes and models. For dependable service, see—Paul E. Koontz, Taneytown, Md.

FOR SALE-100 Pianos, $9.00 up. Easy terms. All guaranteed. Baby Grands Cheap. Steinway Baby Grand Bargain.—Cramer's, Frederick, Md.

TRY THIS Column for your needs, both for selling and buying. It brings customers and makes sales. Good customers and makes sales. Good business men make use of it. Many readers examine it. 1-14-tf

SALESMEN'S Order Books are supplied by The Record from the manufacturers, at standard prices. About six weeks are required for filling such 3-22-3t

NO TRESPASSING

The name of any property owner, or tenant, will be inserted under this heading weekly until December 15th., for 25 cents cash in advance.

All persons are hereby forwarned not to trespass on my premises with dog, gun, or trap, for the purpose of shooting or taking game of any kind, nor for fishing, or in any way injuring or destroying property.

This warning applies to both Day and Night Hunting or Trapping.

Arnold, Roger Coe, Joseph (3 Farms) Diehl Brothers Jenkins, V. V. (2 Farms) Keilholtz, G. J. Koons, Roland W. Krasmer, Percy Adelaide Shriver Mehring, Luther D. Morrison, Bernard F. Null, Thurlow W. Roop, Earl D. Six, Ersa Teeter, John S. (4 Farms) Wantz, David J. Whimert, Annamary

CHURCH NOTICES.

'This column is for the free use of all charches, for a brief announcement of services. Please do not elaborate. It is always understood that the public is invited to services.

St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run—Sunday School, at 9:00 A. M.; Morning Worship, at 10:30 A. M.; Christian Endeavor, 6:30; Worship, at 7:30 P. M. alternate Sundays.

Trinity Lutheran Church, Taney town.—Šunday School, 9:00 A. M.; Worship, 10:00 A. M.; Luther League 6:30 P. M.; Worship, 7:30 P. M.

Tom's Creek M. E. Church, Rev. Crist, pastor—9:00 A. M., Sunday School; Church Services, 10:00 A. M.

Reformed Church, Taneytown—S. School, at 9:15 A. M.; Morning Worship, at 10:15; Junior C. E., at 6:30 P. M.; Senior C. E. (in the Auditorium), at 7:00. An important meet-Dinner and Supper, Saturday, Nov. 23, at the A. O. K. of M. C. Hall. Adults, 35c; Children under 12 years 25c. Serving will begin at 12:00 morning service. Let every one be present.

Keysville-Sunday School, at 1.00 P. M.; Worship, at 2:00.

Manchester Reformed Charge, Rev. Dr. John S. Hollenbach, pastor. Manchester—S. S., at 9:30; Worship, at 10:30; C. E., at 6:45; Union Thanksgiving Worship, Wednesday, Nov. 20, in Immanuel Lutheran Church. Rev. W. I. Kauffman of the United Breth-ren Church will preach. Lineboro—Worship, at 1:00 P. M.;

S. S., at 2:00. Snydersburg—S. S., at 1:15 P. M.; Worship, at 2:15 P. M. "Using our all for Kingdom Service".

The Union Bridge Lutheran Parish Worship Service, 9:00 A. M.; S. S, at 10:00 A. M.; C. E. Society, 7:00.

Mt. Tabor Church—S. S., 9:30 A. M.; Worship Service, 10:30 A. M. P. H. Williams, pastor.

Uniontown Lutheran Charge, Rev. Geo. E. Bowersox, Jr., pastor. Baust
—Sunday School, 9:30; Church, 10:30
St. Paul's—Sunday School, 9:30;
Church, 7:30; Union Thanksgiving
Services on Nov. 21, at 10 o'clock, Rev. Harry Hagar, speaker. Mt. Union—Sunday School, 9:30;

C. E., 10:30. Winter's-Sunday School, 9:30.

Church of God, Uniontown Circuit, Rev. John H. Hoch, pastor. Union-town—Sunday School, 9:30 A. M. Mr. Edward Caylor, Supt. Preaching Service, 10:30 A. M. Theme: "The Soul Winner's Reward." Revival Service, at 7:30 P. M. Theme: "Prepare to Meet Thy God". Prayer Meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 P. M. Rev. John'H. Hoch, leader.

Wakafield—Sunday School at 10

Wakefield—Sunday School, at 10
A. M. Mr. James Staub, Supt. C. E.,
Sunday evening, at 7:30 P. M. Mr.
Harry F. Mitten, Pres.
Frizellburg—Preaching Service, at 9:00 A. M.; Sunday School, at 10:15

A. M. Mr. Marshall Mason, Supt.

Taneytown U. B. Charge, A. W. Garvin, minister. Taneytown—S. S. 9:30 A. M.; Worship, 10:30 A. M.; Prayer Meeting and Bible study, Wednesday, 7:45 P. M. Barts—S. S., at 9:30 A. M.

Harney—Quarterly Conference, Dr. J. H. Ness, Supt. will be present at 6:00 P. M., and Worship Service will follow.

Taneytown Presbyterian Church. Sunday School, at 10 A. M.; C. E., at 6:45 P. M. Evening Worship, at 7:30 P. M. Special patriotic service American Flag presented by Auxil-Piney Creek Presbyterian Church —Morning Worship, at 9:30 A. M. Sunday School, at 10:30 A. M.

OUR INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS.

An International Relations Conference under the auspices of the Peace Section of the American Friends Service Committee, will be held at the Westminster Church of the Brethren, Tuesday, November 19th. Kirley Page, author and lecturer will be the leader of the Conference, which is sponsored by the Board of Christian Education of the Eastern District of Maryland Church of the Brethren.

The program is as follows: 4:00 P. M., Opening session; Address and forum: "Religion's Answer to Total-itarianism;" 6:00 P. M, Dinner Con-ference, "Place of Religion in a World at War"; 8:00 P. M., Public Meeting; Address and Forum: "How Can We Defend American Democracy?"

This is one of a series of one day conferences in the Middle Atlantic States from November 6 to Decem-ber 2, 1940. Dinner will be served for 35c. Please telephone or write for reservations as early as possible, not later than Monday noon to Miss Elsie Roop, Westminster, Phone 73M.

PALMISTRY.

Speak up my palm and tell me what my fate!

Do not so silent be, 'tis growing late! You have not told me yet, ye Mounts and Lines What be my fate today-rewards or fines. You may of my Fate master be. Don't glare at me! I made you Lines and Mounts, and so I'm free Of any luck, or good or ill That you may dare bring me

Ye Line of Life, I stretch you out By exercise of thumb, and without You will thus lengthened be, and Life,

Ye Line of Head, think what you've If nothing wrong, there is no cause for dread.
Ye Line of Heart, from good ne'er and me.

part, It is your duty ne'er to start A fuss, a quarrel, or a fight; Act thus, and always all is right. W. J. H. 10-3-40

For every dollar paid to stockholders last year, railroads of this country paid nearly three dollars in taxes.

A LESSON IN LOVE

88 By MEREDITH SCHOLL Associated Newspapers. WNU Service.

HROUGH the screen door Tony saw Elinor leaning against the veranda post. Her back was to him and she was looking up at the moon. He glanced about furtively; the room was empty. Ruth and Ted had gone off somewhere. He turned, opened the door noiselessly and stepped out.

She didn't move, not even when he was directly behind her, not even when he leaned over and kissed her neck. She merely said, scarcely breathing the words: "Oh, Ted! Please.

Tony's heart seemed to stand still Ted! She had called him Ted! She had thought it was Ted who had kissed her. She had acted as if—as if she hadn't minded.

Ugly thoughts flooded Tony's mind and left him cold and trembling. He turned, went back through the door, paused once to glance over his shoulder and saw that Elinor was still standing as he had left her.

Alone in his room he sat down to think. The incident had opened his eyes, had explained many things. Had explained, for example, why Elinor had been acting strange of late. No, not of late. Only since a few days after Ted and Ruth arrived. She had fallen in love with Ted! He had made love to her, and neither of them had the courage to tell him. That was underhanded for you all right. Engaged to a girl, and she lets another man make love to her right under your nose

The irony of it made him bitter. He had been fool enough to believe that Elinor's uneasiness was caused by the fact that he had been displaying interest in Ruth. Could you beat it? He had been conceited enough to think that Elinor was actually jealous. Why, he'd actually been attentive to Ruth because it pleased his ego to feel that he had enough power over a woman to upset her emotions. And all the while she had been laughing at him, playing up to Ted.

Tony set about packing his bags. Unadmittedly it was pride that provoked the decision to go away. didn't have the courage to face the crowd again, to admit that he had been played for a sucker.

He found the lower floor of the Dixon's summer cottage vacant. He paused in the living room, considering writing a note to explain to Mrs. Dixon his sudden decision to leave: thought better of it, and went out.

Unchallenged he rolled his roadster down the drive, let out the clutch when the machine reached the highway and went roaring away into the night.

Tony drove till nearly dawn. His thoughts were chaotic, confused, bordering on panic. With each passing mile the realization of the real depth of his love for Elinor, of the great emptiness caused by knowledge of her deception, became more poignant.

Exhausted, at last he drew up before a tiny vine-covered inn, roused a sleepy clerk and engaged a room. But sleep would not come. He lay awake until long after the sun had risen, reviewing each hour of the days that had passed since Ted and Ruth had arrived at the camp. Thoughts of Elinor holding secret rendezvous with the handsome Ted Fisher tortured him. It was unbelievable, beyond comprehension that Elinor, in whom he had put his trust and faith and love, had betrayed him.

Suddenly he sat bolt upright in bed. A startling thought occurred to him. Perhaps it was his fault! Perhaps he was to blame! Perhaps his attentions to Ruth had driven Elinor to retaliate. For the first time in his life, Tony Colbert faced a situation that involved own feelings, honestly. Was it any more right for him to practice deception than for Elinor, he asked himself?

After a while he lay back and closed his eyes. Sleep came at last. And his last waking thought was an admission of wrongdoing and a feeling of guilt.

Toward mid-afternoon he awoke. Dressing, he went over carefully the plan that had half taken form in his mind the night before. It took courage and suppression of pride to reach his decision. But eventually the battle was won. When he descended the stairs there was nothing but grim resolve written in his Darkness had fallen when Tony once more drove along the drive of the Dixon summer cottage. Through the trees he could see lights, and the strains of radio music came to him on the still night air. He parked his roadster in the garage and made his way along the flagstone walk that led under the maple trees.

At the foot of the veranda steps he paused. A figure was outlined against the lights of the room beyond. Tony's heart began to pound. He set down his bag and came slow-ly up the steps. A board creaked beneath his foot and the figure whirled. It was Elinor.

"Tony!" A gasp escaped her lips.

She looked frightened. Tony came resolutely across the veranda. His hands gripped her shoulders.

"Tony, I - I - thought - I was "Afraid of what?" he asked. She hesitated, looked deeply into his eyes. "I was afraid you wouldn't come back. Teny. do you love me?'

"Do you think I would have come back if I didn't-after last night?" He heard her draw in her breath with a peculiar hissing sound.

Tony-I-I knew it was you." "You knew?"

She nodded dumbly, on the verge of tears. "I was jealous, Tony, dreadfully jealous. Of you and Ruth. And when I heard you come up behind me last night I decided to-to try and pay you back a little. Oh, it was mean and horrible of me. But that's why I said what I did. I mean, making you think I thought it was Ted who kissed me."

"Then—" A glad light leaped into Tony's eyes. "Then you didn't think it was Ted? You-you haven't been holding rendezvous with him?' "Of course I haven't. I was merely jealous of you and Ruth.' 'There wasn't any need to be. Honestly, darling." He drew her into his arms. "It was rotten of me to let you think I cared about her. But I didn't. I guess I just wanted to show you what a ladies' man I was." He laughed. "Oh, darling, it was torture, thinking you loved Ted. I had to come back and ask your forgiveness."

"You mean you came back to ask my forgiveness even though you thought I was in love with Ted?"

He nodded. "That's it, honey.

That's how much I love you.' She lifted her face and he kissed her. "Tony, it's taught both of us a lesson. Let's never again try to teach each other lessons.

"The only lesson," Tony grinned, "that I'll ever try to teach you from now on, my sweet, is how to continue loving me forever."

Shorts and Middlings

Some 60 varieties of celery are cultivated in the United States.

Turkey raising conditions were so favorable in 1938 that a further expansion of production has been predicted for 1939.

Ten per cent of the total of eggs produced in the United States in recent years is estimated to have gone into cold storage.

Gooseberries and currants are hosts for blister rust, and for this reason many states have passed laws against their cultivation.

TOHN S. MEKEEL, young artist | get ample altitude under them beand writer of Essex Fells, N. J., fore attempting to fly over this conhas probably envisioned many an gested area. Tall buildings thrust exciting situation that would fit sharp fingers into the air-and it is doubtful whether even he would have put a character in the tight spot in which he recently found himself.

The young writer flies a plane in his spare time and one day some time ago took off from Belmar, N. J., enroute to the Wright airport at Caldwell, N. J., less than 100 miles distant.

Scarcely had he gotten into the air than visibility grew poorer and threw him sharply off his course. He drove his plane sary to disassemble the plane and through the fog, heading, as he take it out of the park on trucks thought, for Caldwell. To his aston-ishment, when he broke into an saga. open space, he saw that he was not over the rolling Jersey countryside but was instead over the Battery, the extremely crowded tip of New York's Manhattan Island.

Now, Manhattan Island, however beautiful from the air, is no place to land a plane. Experienced pilots

*R. C. Oertel, Manager of the Avia-

Revolutionary Method For Treating of Cancer

> Classic experimental subjects of cancer investigators are mice. On mice are tested serums, diets, X-rays, poultices—all manner of remedy and theory—before the treatment is made available for use on humans.

Two investigators who reversed this process are Drs. Temple Fay and Lawrence Smith of Philadelphia. They announced a revolutionary new method of treating cancerthe so-called "frozen sleep" treat-

Working on the theory that cold would kill the growth of cancer cells in the human body, they packed cancer patients in cracked ice until their temperature dropped below 90-previously thought to be the lowest body temperature at which life could be sustained. Though the cold did not kill them, it put the patients to sleep, with their normal body processes dropping to a point near death. The patients were kept in their cold coma for five days.

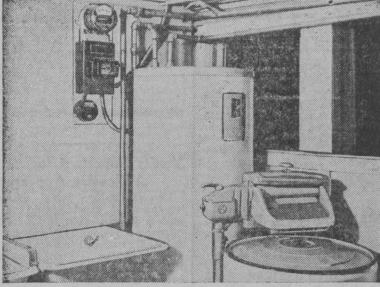

The result of this treatment, decheck tissue damage caused by cancer and to promote healing in a amount of sweet corn to be canned. number of cases

Other successes were reported. Meanwhile, three cancer researchers in Santa Monica, Calif., decided to apply the treatment to cancerous mice. The report of Fritz Bischoff, Louisa Long and J. Jerome Rupp to the International Cancer Research foundation in Philadelphia disclosed that so far as mice were concerned, "frozen sleep" was a failure. After subjecting mice to the cold coma (24 hours), it was discovered the size of the malignant growths in the mice had decreased, but only about as much as would have been expected by reducing the amount of food eaten. Most important, after a short time the cancer tumors regained their growth, thus proving the freezing had no permanent effect on the mice.

. . . . Commercial canners decided there may be some merit in production control since they went into the present marketing season carrying 25,657,000 cases of the 1937 sweet clared Drs. Fay and Smith, was to corn crop. They will try an experiment this season to control the

The Electric Water Heater Is Necessity Not Luxury on Farm

Electricity has taken all drudgery out of wash day in this farm home. By IRA MILLER

Farm Electrification Bureau

SHORT time ago we discussed A short time ago we discussed a time switch with separate meter, veniences of running water, under heats the water at night or during the farm home and other periods of low demand on the pressure, in the farm home and buildings. We also pointed out that the ideal and most economical methat at lower rates. If the supply of hot od of obtaining it was with electricity, where such service is available. However, the comforts of an automatic electric pressure water system are only half realized if it does for providing warm drinking water drawn from a 30-gallon tank. On for livestock and poultry. And for that basis, a 75-gallon tank will be of hot water for ordinary kitchen, average farm. For sizes between 30 dairy and toilet use, the non-pressure electric heater is cheap both er prices range from $2 to $1 per in first and operating cost. But for practically unlimited hot water, an Depending on its size and the tem-

140 gallons and, on special order, up cent, the cost thus would be $1.50 to 1000 gallons. They are available to $6.00 per month, with an average types, the latter providing additional either kerosene, gasoline, oil or gas working space in the farm kitchen. (except in a few localities). And it latter, having both vertical and hori | coal.

zontal immersion heating units, can be connected for a combination of off-peak and regular electric rates.

od of obtaining it was with elec- water in the storage heater is not not at all times provide an ample supply of hot as well as cold water. In average use, electric storage heaters will deliver twice their rated Electric tank heaters and water capacity in a day. For example, 60 warmers of various types are ideal gallons of hot water per day can be small quantities (two to ten gallons) amply large for all needs of the er prices range from $2 to $1 per automatic electric storage heater is perature and quantity of water used, the thing to use.

Such heaters are regularly obtainable with capacities of from 10 to month. At an off-peak rate of one in round, square and table-high of about $3.50. This is cheaper than Each of the models can be obtained is infinitely more convenient, cleanin single or twin-unit types—the er and safer than either wood or scarcely a parcel of land is around where one could land even an autogyro. But Mekeel had to land, so he headed for the first open place he saw, a tiny park set on the East River. Then, without so much as a bump, he set the plane down in the tiny park without damage. with only a few children near the park to witness his feat.

tion Division of the Esso Mar-keters, is a World War aviation pilot who has continued his flying as a business man. He has flown 3,000 hours.

Large Juicy Florida Oranges; 20 for 25c Large Florida Grapefruit, 3 for 10c Emperor Crapes, 3 lbs. 19c Sauerkraut, 2 no. 2½ cans 15c Salt Water Oysters, Extra Standards 39c qt. Selects 53c qt. OLD-FASHIONED HOME-MADE BUCKWHEAT FLOUR 5c lb. NEW MARVEL BREAD, 3 large 1½ lb. loaves 25c 2 for 17c; each 9c Assorted Soups, CAMPBELL'S, Except Tomato, Chicken and Mushroom, 2 cans 17c Solid Pack A&P PUMPKIN, Grade "A", 3 no. 21 cans 25c PURE LARD, Loose, 1-lb. 7c DEXO, A New 100% Pure Hydrogenated Vegetable Shortening, 3 lb. can 39c; 1-lb. can 15c Sunnyfield Top Grade FLOUR, 12-lb. bag 35c; 24 lb. bag 69c BAKING POWDER, Ann Page, 12-oz. can 13c 8 O'CLOCK COFFEE, 2 1-lb. bags 25c PANCAKE FLOUR, Sunnyfield, 20-oz. pkg. 5c N. B. C. SALTINES, 7\(^3\)-oz. pkg. 9c GRAHAM CRACKERS, N. B. C., 1-lb. pkg. 17c SPAGHETTI, Cooked, "Nationally Known" Ann Page, 3 153-oz. cans 19c PALMOLIVE SOAP, 3 cakes 17c SWEETHEART TOILET SOAP, 3 cakes 19c AJAX LAUNDRY SOAP, 4 Bars 11c OCTAGON LAUNDRY SOAP, 5 Bars 19c OCTAGON SOAP POWDER, pkg 5c OCTAGON POWDER, pkg 5c OCTAGON TOILET SOAP, 2 Cakes 9c MIXED NUTS, FINE QUALTY to 21c BRAZIL NUTS, to 15c BUDDED WALNUTS, 15 25c ANN PAGE SYRUP, 12 oz Jug 12c; Qt. Jug 23c LUSCIOUS TOMATOES, Red Ripe 2 No. 2 Cans 11c Above Prices Effective Until The Close of Business, Saturday, Nov. 16

- Commenter of the comm

Fancy Legs Spring Lamb, 23c lb.

Fresh Pork Loin Roast, 17c and 19c lb.

Lean Smoked Hams, 20c lb.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY OF CARROLL COUNTY

THE CIRCUIT COURT. CHIEF JUDGE-Francis Neal Parke, Westminster. ASSOCIATED JUDGES. William H. Forsythe, Ellicott City. Ridgely P. Melvin, Annapolis. CLERK OF COURT. Levi D. Maus, Sr TERMS OF CIRCUIT COURT. Second Monday in February, May, August and November. Petit Jury Terms, February, May and November;

ORPHANS' COURT. Chief Judge, J. Webster Ebaugh E. Lee Erb. Lewis E. Green. Court meets every Monday & Tuesday REGISTER OF WILLS.

Grand Jury Terms, May and Novem-

Harry G. Berwager. TRIAL MAGISTRATE. John Wood, Attorney. STATE'S ATTORNEY. Donald C. Sponseller SHERIFF. Walter L. Shipley.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS. Charles W. Melville, Oakland Mills.
Norman R. Hess, Taneytown.
Howard H. Wine, Manchester. A. Earl Shipley, Attorney. SUPERVISOR OF ASSESSMENTS. George W. Brown.

TAX COLLECTOR. E. A. Shoemaker. COUNTY TREASURER Paul Kuhns.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

W. Roy Poole J. Keller Smith, J. Keller Smith, Rey D. Knouse, Horatio S. Oursler, Manchester, Md. Edward C. Bixler, New Windsor. Edward O. Diffendal, Westminster Raymond S. Hyson, Superintendent Stanford I. Hoff, Counsel.

> COUNTY SURVEYOR. John J. John.

SUPERVISORS OF ELECTIONS. Wm. H. Hersh Harold Smelser Harry Bushey

> HEALTH OFFICER. Dr. W. C. Stone.

DEPUTY GAME WARDEN. J. Gloyd Diffendal.

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT. Adeline Hoffman.

COUNTY AGRICULT. AGENT. L. C. Burns.

COUNTY WELFARE BOARD.
Dr. C. R. Foutz, Westminster, Md.
Pearce Bowlus, Sec. Mt. Airy Pearce Bowlus, Sec.

H. G. Englar

Paul Walsh

Jonathan Dorsey

Mrs. Walter Bower,

Taneytown, Md. H. G. Englar Paul Walsh Howard H. Wine Manchester, Md. Mrs E. K. Brown, Director Westminster, Md.

TANEYTOWN OFFICIALS

MAYOR. Norville P. Shoemaker. CITY COUNCIL Dr. C. M. Benner, President. Merle S. Baumgardner. David H. Hahn. Pius L. Hemler Clarence W. J. Ohler Clyde L. Hesson, Clerk.

LOCAL HEALTH OFFICER. Dr. C. M. Benner.

> NOTARIES. Murray Baumgardner Wm. E. Burke, Jr. Mrs. Fannie O. Ohler Adah E. Sell. Mrs. Mabel Elliot.

> > CONSTABLE. Elmer Crebs. _===

TANEY TOWN ORGANIZATIONS

Taneytown Chamber of Commerce meets on the 4th. Monday in each month in the Municipal building, at 8:00 o'clock. Merwyn C. Fuss, Pres.; 1st. Vice-Pres., James C. Myers; Second Vice-Pres., William E. Ritter; Secretary, Bernard J. Arnold; Treasurer, Chas. R. Arnold.

Taneytown Fire Company, meets on the 2nd. Monday each month, at 8:00 P. M. in the Firemen's Building. David Smith. President; Doty Robb, Sec'y; Charles R. Arnold, Treas.; Raymond Davidson, Chief.

All other Fraternities and organizations are invited to use this directory, for the public information it carries. Cost fer one year, only $1.50.

SCHEDULE - OF THE -Arrival and Departure of Mails Taneytown, Md.

Window Service Opens Window Service Closes Lobby Service Closes 6:45 A. M. 6:00 P. M. 8:00 P. M. MAILS CLOSE MAILS CLOSE

Star Route, Hanover, North
Train, Frederick, South
Star Rout, Frederick, South
Star Route, Hanover, North
Taneytown-Keymar Route No. 1
Taneytown Route No. 1
Taneytown Route No. 2

8:15 A. M.
Taneytown Route No. 2

Star Route, Hanover, North
Star Route, Frederick, South
Train, Hanover, North
Train, Frederick, South
Route, Hanover, North
Route, Hanover, Route, Hanov JNO. O. CRAPSTER, Postmaster.

No Window Service or Rural Carriers on Legal Holidays. Helidays for Rural Carriers are, New Year's Day; Washington's birthday; Memorial Day, May 30; July 4: Labor Day, 1st. Monday in Sept.; Armistice Day, November 11; Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas. When a holiday falls on Sunday, the following Monday is observed.

Being Secret Agent Not Life of Immaculate Ease

Spy . . . secret agent . . . espionage . We have to admit that there is about these words something which, for want of a better name, we must call glamour. Much of that glamour, of course, is false-built up by books, films and plays in which the secret agent is shown leading a life of immaculate ease in a luxury hotel, or shooting his way to freedom in a sinisterlooking street.

Fiction never shows the spy as he really is-a lone wolf, working in surroundings where no man can be called his friend; working for a government which, ready to reward his services if successful, must entirely disown him if he is discovered and sentenced to death—or worse.

In the quarter of a century that has elapsed since the last war, much has been revealed about the workings of the secret service; the ways in which vital information has been transmitted. Clever, ingenious-yet how old-fashioned many of those methods seem now! Modern warfare is a matter of lightning decisions, swift moves, and the message written in the hem of a handkerchief or concealed on a coin definitely has its limits.

The man who stops his bicycle near a harbor and gets out his pump to pump up the tires may actually be getting out his camera. The camera spy today can be more subtle and less suspect than ever before, because of the amazing development in lenses and film emulsions which has taken place in recent years. One of the biggest shocks we administered to Germany when the last war was over was the revelation that we had been possessed of a large number of her very secret codes, and that thousands of "confidential" messages were translated for our own advantage.

Vanity Important for

A Pleasing Appearance Unquestionably, facial ugliness, whether due to congenital or acquired defects, even if superficial, imposes a serious handicap on one thus afflicted, which frequently destroys his happiness and endangers his chance of economic survival. Yet in nearly all cases, even the gravest, these defects can be eliminated or greatly reduced by skillful plastic surgery, and the individual can thereby be released from the bondage of abnormality.

The correction of deformity may often be likened to cutting the Gordian knot in a patient's psyche. Usually, after such a correction, there is a noticeable change not only in the appearance of the patient, but in his bearing as well. The sense of inferiority disappears with the abnormality which produced it, and its place is taken by a new confidence, a fresh, healthy outlook on

It is popularly supposed that those who seek the plastic surgeon's aid are prompted by motives of vanity. But if by vanity we mean the desire to look one's best, to cultivate the good will of society, and to present to the world an attractive appearance rather than a repulsive one, then it is important to be vain.

Safety for Bike Riders

Until recently very little attention was paid to safeguarding and educating cyclists but with an ever-increasing toll of fatal accidents occurring to bicycle riders, automobile clubs in many cities are campaigning to cut down these accidents.

Some of the safety rules suggested by these organizations include the following:

Ride in a straight line and do not change direction suddenly; keep close to the right side of the roadway; obey officers, stop and go signals and stop signs as motorists do: ride in single file on busy streets and never more than two abreast on any street; avoid riding too fast on hills and slippery or rough roads.

Never hitch on to moving vehicle; never carry anyone on the handlebars; cross all street car and railroad tracks at right angles; keep the bicycle in good operating condition with a suitable bell and an effective brake, and for night driving have a properly operating headlight and a taillight or good reflector; be sure seat and handlebars are properly adjusted. Wearing light or white clothing at night will help prevent accidents.

Natural Resources

Science has merely scratched the surface so far in utilizing natural sources, according to Watson Davis, director of Science Service. He suggests that the government lend part of its gold accumulation to be used in studying atomic breakdown. It is his belief that an investigation should be made in the utilization of natural resources, from commercial production of diamonds, to obtaining power from the breaking down of atoms.

Bad Pickers

Jack Dempsey, when he was heavyweight champion of the world, picked Gene Tunney as an opponent, instead of Harry Wills. Sharkey proved Dempsey could have flattened Wills. He lost his championship to Tunney. Spencer Tracy never has been happy with any role given to him. He is certain always that the role is bad. If M.-G.-M. ever heard Tracy say that he liked a part, they'd call off the picture.

IF YOU HAVE AN IDEA-

By RICHARD H. WILKINSON (Associated Newspapers.) WNU Service.

THE summer after Charlie Reynolds graduated from college I gothim a job as reporter on the Star. I'd been with the Star almost four years, and done pretty well, if I do say so, hence when I told the boss Charlie was my friend and a good man, it got him the Jobs were scarce that year and Charlie was lucky, though he didn't seem to realize it. I felt a sort of responsibility for the kid because our parents were close friends, and I'd made his mother a half promise that I'd keep my eye on him when he came to the city.

Before a month had passed he had me worrying. It appeared that the mania for thinking up ideas and trying to put them into execution that had characterized him as a boy had become more pronounced with maturity. But he was smart and I thought maybe he'd get by if he kept his mouth shut.

"Just keep those grand ideas to yourself," I told him, "and you'll get along all right."

He looked at me sarcastically. "What good are ideas if you keep them to yourself?" he asked. "What if Edison and Fulton and Marconi and all the others had felt that "You're crazy!" I grinned. "That," said Charlie, "was what they told Fulton." He looked thoughtful and dreamy. I knew that look. It didn't help my worrying

"Listen," I said, "if you've gotta tell your ideas to any one, tell 'em "You?" he said scornfully. "Who are you? I'm going to tell 'em where they'll do some good." I blushed. "All right," I said, "if you want to make a fool of yourself, go ahead. But when they throw you out on your ear, don't come bellyaching to me." He snorted and started away, and I ran after him. "Listen," I said, "don't get sore. Ideas are all right, but they're no good unless you're smart. This isn't any time to go telling the boss you've got an idea that'll jack up his profits. You've only been on the Star a month, and there's a mile-long line waiting for your job." He looked at me a minute, then nodded. "All right," he said, "I'll wait awhile, but ideas aren't any good if you keep them to yourself.' The brooding look was still in his eyes and I knew my talk hadn't done much good. It made me feel bad, because Charlie and I had been friends since we were kids. When we were youngsters I was always getting him out of jams in which he had involved himself because of his ideas.

The Star was one of a chain of large papers owned by a man named Weatherbee. Weatherbee had started out with nothing and gone places in the journalistic world, and his success was due chiefly to ruthlessness and lack of feeling as far as his staffs were concerned. If a man wasn't producing, Weatherbee gave him the air without so much as hearing his story. You couldn't feel much love for a man like that.

And so when I heard that the old man was planning to pay the Star a visit some time soon, I began to worry more about Charlie. There'd be a shakeup sure, and more than likely Charlie would be fired. He wasn't producing as he should. He was spending too much time brooding and thinking up ideas. At any rate, I planned to do all I could for the kid by saying a good word for him to Franklin, our city editor. Franklin thought well of me because I was steady and had never asked for a raise.

My interference might have helped, too, if Charlie, the fool, hadn't chosen the very day of Weatherbee's visit to suggest his idea to Franklin. At the time, Weatherbee was in conference with Michaels, the managing editor, whose office adjoined Franklin's with only a flimsy partition between. My desk was just outside in the city room, and I knew there wasn't any chance of both Michaels and Weatherbee not overhearing, because Charlie's voice came to me clear and strong.

"Listen, Mr. Franklin," he was saying, "I got an idea that will increase the circulation of this paper. I've been thinking about it for a long time and-"

"Oh, so you've got an idea?" I heard Franklin interrupt sarcastically. "Well, let me tell you something, young man. Ever since you came to work for the Star you've done nothing but think up ideas, and I'm getting sick of it. We're paying you to be a reporter, and nothing else. We've got enough idea-thinker-uppers as it is."

"That's just the trouble," Charlie said angrily. "Your ideas are no good. They're too old. Just like you. You've been here so long you're getting stale. And so's the paper. You're so pigheaded you're not willing to listen to any one else.

You're-' "Get out!" Franklin roared. "Get out and stay out! You're fired! Do | Elizabeth. you hear? Fired! Telling me how to run a newspaper. Get out!" There was a pause. Then the connecting door leading into Michael's office opened, and I knew it was all over. Nothing I could say would help matters any now.

But it wasn't Michael's voice that broke the stillness. It was Old Man Weatherbee's. "Come in here, young man," he said sharply, "what's your name?"

And that's how Charlie got to be managing editor of the Ledger in Fenmore, which is another one of Weatherbee's papers. I didn't understand it at all, and had to ask Charlie for an explanation.

"Well," he grinned, "most of it was due to taking your advice. Remember you told me that ideas weren't any good unless you were smart too? Well, I got thinking about that and figured you were right. That's why I waited for Old Man Weatherbee to arrive, and chose the moment he was in the office next to Franklin's before suggesting my idea. It was tough, waiting, though, and I had to talk in a loud voice, which I disliked doing. But it worked. I knew it would because I knew that that's now Weatherbee had gone places himself-always being willing to listen to other people's ideas. And I knew that's the kind of men he wanted working for him. It was tough on Franklin, but you have to be ruthless these days if you want to get places-like Weatherbee is.'

Which didn't mean anything to me. I didn't understand, not even after Charlie explained his idea which was something about a people's forum. Maybe I'm just dumb or unimaginative. Anyway, I don't know as I care, because I've got a new and better job—I'm city editor for Charlie on the Fenmore Ledger.

Two Girls for Bill

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD (McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

WILLIAM BRONSON, ordinarily known as Bill, had two slightly overzealous aunts. That is to say, they were too concerned with Bill's welfare. Nothing had ever been quite good enough where he was concerned.

And now the most difficult problem to settle was just where there was to be found a girl who was in any way suitable for their nephew to marry.

Now, ordinarily, these two good women got together on anything which concerned the boy of whom they were both equally fond, but at the time this story starfs, Aunt Elizabeth was engaged on a little scheme of her own.

After all, there was nothing very dreadful about Aunt Elizabeth's little conspiracy. It had come to her attention that the daughter of an old friend, a Marjorie Marden, was running a tea-room in the next town.

Therefore, without saying anything to anybody, she drove to the tea-room and dropped in casually.

"And we'll expect you to supper next Tuesday," were her last words, as she resolved that Bill should be at home that night to meet her.

Now it is impossible to live your life with a person and not get wind when there is something in the air. Tuesday morning when Aunt Louise saw that preparations for certain special dishes were under way she figured that her sister was going to ask a favor of Bill and was planning to approach him as from time immemorial it has been customary to approach a man-through his appetite.

It gave Louise an idea, however. Why not kill two birds with one stone? There was that nice young librarian she had been planning to have Bill bring to supper some night and what better night than one on which her sister was getting up a specially attractive menu? She could return a book to the library and make the invitation appear casual enough.

Bill was, as it happened, reclining in the couch hammock on the porch when his Aunt Louise went into the house by a side door. Only when he heard the strained tones of his Aunt Elizabeth did he become aware that something was going on.

"But Louise, I have already invited my old friend Marjorie's daughter to tea. She would make a nice wife for-" "So that is the idea!" said Aunt Louise coldly. "Well it was with some such idea in mind that I asked the little librarian. I am sure she would be more desirable wife for Bill than any tea-room manager." It was at this point that Bill woke up to the fact that his future wife was the cause of the whole trouble. "I guess," he said, "this will be as good a time as any to break the news." But first he stole upstairs to the telephone in his little study.

Ten minutes later he came downstairs to find two dignified women setting the table and not speaking to each other.

"I say, Aunt Lou and Aunt Bess," he said gently. "Set another place there will you? I've invited somebody to supper myself. A—a friend of mine. Want you to give her the once-over, and if she meets your approval, she's going to be Mrs.

"William!" the outcry came from them both. "Yes, sir," said Bill. "She's Janet Jean Johnson."

"The girl next door!" said Aunt "The girl next door!" said Aunt "The girl next door," said Bill.

"The darling."

Opportunities Offered

In Homemade Equipment Homemade equipment is only for persons who have ideas of their own. A farmer usually sees a neighbor's wagon, inspects it, and goes home to build one for himself, or lets his son do it.

Also, say engineers at the New York State College of Agriculture, rubber-tired tractors have convinced farmers of the practicability of rubber-mounted equipment. In their opinion, a start toward bringing all the equipment up-todate is the farm wagon which can be made easily and will cost about $35, without box or rack. Auto running gear, preferably with 600-16 tires, lends itself to easy tire replacement when the wagon is heavi-

The advantages of tires are lost, it is said, with more than 25 pounds pressure in them. Used tires are satisfactory if the wagon is used on the farm and not behind a truck or car on the highway. If used on the road as a trailer, New York state law requires that it be equipped with brakes, lights, and a license.

Ensilage carts that push easily over litter and other obstructions may be made at a cost of from $20 to $25 for material and labor, according to the engineers. A sturdy handy cart for carrying milk cans may be made from old auto wheels, he says.

Suggest Caustic Potash

To Remove Cow Horns In the wild state, cows may have needed their horns for defense, but under modern conditions they are of no practical value except from the standpoint of beauty, say Washington State college dairymen, who recommend that horns be removed from calves at an early age.

Horns may be removed with caustic when the calf is about a week old. Caustic potash in sticks may be used for this purpose. Tie the animal securely then clip an area over and around the horn "button" about the size of a half dollar. Cover this area with vaseline to prevent the caustic from burning beyond the horn area.

Wrap one end of the caustic in paper to prevent burning the fingers of the operator. Place the stick of caustic over the center of the horn button and rub with a circular motion until the caustic has gone through the skin and into the center of the horn button. Some practice is necessary to achieve the best re-

Do not turn the calf out in the rain for a day or two and do not allow other calves to lick the treated horn buttons.

Predict Drouths

Prediction that the worst drouths in 20 centuries are about to start has been made. The evidence for them is in the strata of rocks, which are easily seen layers, one over the other, in what are called sedimentary rocks. The report was made by Halbert R. Gillette, of Chicago. These rock layers were once mud and sand, which in time were pressed into Each layer depended for its thickness, Mr. Gillette claims, on rainfall. Thick layers depict lush cycles, thin ones drouths.

The rock layers resemble the tree rings and the layers of clay known as varves, both of which have been used by scientists to make reliable and proven predictions about recurrence of weather cycles.

However, tree rings and clay varves cover only a few centuries of the past at most. Mr. Gillette declares that the rock layers are a permanent record of the earth's whole past since rain first descended.

Studying them for the last 15 years, and checking them against what is known of tree rings and clay varves, he finds many cycles, some long, others short. Dry cycles, he says, are now about to superimpose.

Vitamins for Better Eggs

That the quality as well as quantity of vitamins in hen rations affects the quality of eggs produced is the conclusion of Dr. R. M. Bethke and associates after careful investigation at the Ohio experiment station. Among the results obtained were: 1. A ration low in vitamin D caused a low egg production, poorer shells, and low hatchability. 2. Good cod liver oil was superior to ergosterol as a source of vitamin D. 3. Hens getting the most vitamin D produced eggs richest in this substance. It was also concluded that the vitamin D secreted in the egg by the hen is the same biological form as that which she ate.-Country Home magazine.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this pussle will spell words both vertically and herizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the pussle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fift the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE (Copyright, 1925.)

| Horizonta)                                               | Vertical.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1—Container (physiol.)                                   | 1-Indian magical plant                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 4—Two-sided 11—Earth                                     | 2-Groups of electrons                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 14—River in Virginia                                     | 3—Bodily 4—Ordinary                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 15—Sweet potato                                          | 5-Suffix, pertaining to                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 16—Threatens 18—Love                                     | 6—Affirmative                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 19—Repose 20—Bivouac                                     | 7—Brown                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 21—Aid 25—Disturb                                        | 8-Printer's measure                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 28—Seize 29—Conjunction                                  | 9-Part of verb "to be"                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 30—Italian coin                                          | 10—Looks evilly                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 31-Murmurs softly                                        | 11-Pertaining to clothes                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 32—Preposition                                           | 12-Body of water                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 33-Italian particle often used in Eng-                   | 13-Writing rest                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| lish                                                     | 14—Make of automobile                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 35-Far 37-Preposition                                    | 17—Let stand 22—Wait 24—Sense                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 38-Heavy cord                                            | 25—Reland                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| 40-Pertaining to square area                             | 25—Frighten                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 42-Body of land                                          | 26—Species of sound                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 44—Golden one                                            | and the state of t |
| 46—Before 47—Joyed                                       | AN WAS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 49-Italian corn-meal cake                                | 39—Thrust forth                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 52—Rustic 54—Spice                                       |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 55—Reply 58—Railer                                       | 45-Prenx, irom                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| 62-War method                                            | 50—Measure of weight51—Conjunction 52—Wager                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| 63—Things 65—Shouted                                     | 53—Conjunction 53—Heroine in Spenser                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 67—Against                                               | 55—Indian princess                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 68—Optical instrument                                    | 56—Condition 57—Mixed type                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 73—One who utilizes                                      | 59—Negative 60—Bull-shaped                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| 74-3,14159 75-Strainedly                                 | 61—Bar 62—Cereal                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| 76—Musical note                                          | 63—Make over 64—Odor                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| 77—Symbol for copper78—Skin disease 79—Roman emperor | an The service                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|                                                          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Ol-Configuration                                         | 71-Prefix, pertaining to oil                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| 85—Masticate 86—Stands even with 87—Positive command     | 72—Fire 77—Intrigue                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 89—Antillean island                                      | 78—Seed of oak 80—Reed                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 91—Numeral adverb 92—Loving                              | 82-Monetary penalties                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| 94—Compound of oxygen and nitrogen                       | 84—Mountain lion 88—Ones                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| 96—Ordered 97—Beverage                                   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| os_Organ of public information                           | 94—Conjunction 95—Sun god                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

The solution will appear in next issue.

98-Written pages (abbr.)

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL CUNDAY

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CHOOL Lesson

Lesson for November 17

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts se-lected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by

JESUS' CONCERN FOR LIFE AND HEALTH

LESSON TEXT—Luke 7:2-15.
GOLDEN TEXT—I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.—John 10:10.

Physical life and bodily vigor are secondary in importance to spiritual life and health. Most people do not believe that, but it is true. Nevertheless our physical well-being is of great importance, for it is evident that the spiritual and mental side of man can function in a physical world only through a physical body. That makes it a primary concern of man to keep his body alive and, what is more, keep it as well and strong as possible, an effective instrument for the service of God and

With his emphasis on the physical, man tends, when sickness comes, to seek the help of man in overcoming the difficulty. Soon they find that only God is sufficient for their need, and He whom they have hitherto ignored is appealed to in Men and organizations prayer. quick to grasp an opportunity to set themselves forward appear as socalled faith healers. We need to stress the fact that men may come direct to Christ who is concerned about their bodies and their health and that 'hey may come without intermediary, simply by faith in Him.

I. The Outreach of Faith (vv. 2-8). Three things appear here and they each have value and importance.

1. Action (vv. 2-5). The centurion was a good man and so kind toward the Jews that he had built them a synagogue. (One wonders whether a Roman soldier of today would show such a spirit). He was compassionate, stirred by the illness of a slave. He had a need which no man could meet. Where should he turn? Someone told him about Jesus. Blessed and fruitful testimony! He acted in faith and sent word to the Master. He acted on his knowledge. Let your faith also become active.

2. Humility (vv. 6, 7). Socially and officially the centurion was far above Jesus, but he recognized His Lordship and knew himself to be unworthy that Christ should enter his True faith is humble. It has nothing to do with the brazen commanding of God which some seem to regard as such a magnificent evidence of faith. Watch for the mark of genuine and courteous humility if you would find men and women of faith.

3. Confidence (vv. 7, 8). There is nothing like this assurance of faith anywhere; in fact, Jesus said He had not seen it in all Israel. Knowmands were carried out within the realm of his authority and recognizing Jesus as the Son of God, the centurion without hesitation accepted His absolute power over sickness. "Thank God! the centurion was right about that. Sickness is absolutely subject to the word of Jesus and so also are demons, sea and wind, and death itself (Luke 4:35, 36, 39; Mark 4:39; John 11:43, 44)" (Bradbury).

II. The Reward of Faith (vv. 9-15). First of all we note that faith in God brings not only the individual but those round about him a real

1. Blessing (v. 9). The faith of this man delighted the heart of Jesus with a great joy. He commented on it and commended it to those round about. The story of it has come down through the centuries to stir us and stimulate us to belief in Christ. Faith in Him brings blessing, not only to the immediate beneficiary and at the moment, but lives on in blessing to others. Do we have that kind of faith? We also note that it resulted in

2. Healing (v. 10). Faith gets results because it releases the omnipotence of God. The young man was healed at the word of Jesus, in response to the centurion's faith. In the closing verses of our lesson we see also the

3. Raising of the Dead (vv. 11-15). The mighty and compassionate Son of man met a poor widow from whom death had taken her only stay and comfort—a young man. She was apparently too deeply stricken to even call on Jesus for help, but one can almost feel her faith leap to His words, "Weep not." His divine voice then reached into the next world and called the young man back to life. The day that had started as the saddest and darkest in her life closed as the most blessed and joyful in her experience, because she had met Jesus.

Reader, have you met the tender, loving, omnipotent Jesus? He wants to be your Saviour, Lord, and ever-present friend. Will you let Him into your heart? Now?

A Wise Evaluation What things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea doubtless, and I count all things but less for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ.—Phil. 3:7, 8. In Cricket 'What You

Don't Do' Counts Plenty

Cricket is played by bowling a ball up and down a "pitch" of 22 yards (roughly 66 feet, approximately) at each end of which are set three upright sticks called wickets. A batsman stands just in front of each set of wickets, a little at the side, and with his bat stops the ball from hitting the wickets. If the ball hits the wickets he is out, but otherwise not. Thus if he begins on Monday and his wickets are not hit on Monday he begins again on Tuesday; and so on; play stops all Sun-

Of course, when you are looking on at a cricket match, you are not supposed to shout and yell the way we do over baseball on our side of the water in Canada and in the States. All you do is to say every now and then, "Oh, very pretty, sir, very pretty!" You are speaking to the batsman, who is about 200 yards away and can't hear you. But that doesn't matter; you keep right on:

'Oh, well done, sir, well done. That day of the county match in England, an American heard an Englishman say, "Oh, very pretty! Very pretty, sir," and he asked the Englishman what was very pretty. But of course the Englishman had no way of telling him. He didn't know him.

A great many things in good cricket turn on what you don't do. You let the ball go past you, for instance, instead of hitting it, and the experts say, "Oh, well let alone, There are lots more balls coming; you've three days to wait

In one game the really superb piece of play was this: The bowler sent a fast ball through the air right straight toward the batsman's face; he moved his face aside and let it pass, and they called, "Well let alone, sir." You see, if it had hit him on the side of his face, he'd have been out.

Apples Good for Wounds,

Says Nebraska Physician Apples may have been dealt a body blow by the European war, as bankrupt nations can't afford fruit for their people, but the apple industry can well restrain its tears, according to Dr. James E. M Thomson, Nebraska surgeon.

At a recent convention of the American Medical association in New York, the surgeon discussed 'pectin therapy," an essence that jells. Pectin, he said, is indicated in treating compound fractures and all superficial open wounds and may prove to be valuable in treating war

Other authorities advocate its use in dressing poison gas burns, shrapnel wounds and shell fractures. Housewives have found that when some other fruit juice won't achieve the consistency they desire in their jellymaking operations, apples will provide the essence in abundance.

Dental Bridges Ancient

Many people have thought that the making of dental crowns and 'bridges" was introduced to man-American but in various museums of ancient Greece and Rome are to be seen excellent examples of gold bridges and artificial teeth, such as were probably used by the plutocracy, if not by the aristocracy, of those early days.

The ancient Etruscans appear to have been highly skilled in dentistry and many specimens have been found in tombs in Eturia of gold dental bridges and similar appliances employed to replace lost teeth. In the villa of Pope Julius III in Rome, now used as an Etruscan museum, is to be seen an excellent specimen of a gold dental bridge in actual position in a skull which was found in an Etruscan tomb at Civita Castellana, a town in Eruria formerly known as Falerii.

Crown and bridge work was again 'invented" in the United States in the sixties.

A Serious Mistake

Halliday Sutherland, in a book called "Lapland Journey" published by Dodd, Mead, N. Y., draws attention to the fact that the Encyclopedia Brittanica is a "mine of mis-information on the Finns." The revered compendium of knowledge, he quickly observed, has them mixed up with the Lapps, who are 400 miles to the north and have no racial connection with nor physical resemblance to their southern neighbors. The Finns are tall, light in complexion, possess a fine culture and live in a civilization that needs no apology. The Lapps are short and dark, with the broadest heads of any race. They live in a state of primitive culture, dwell in tents and are in no way related to any of the Scandinavian peoples.

Gibraltar Pregnable

Gibraltar is no longer impregnable, says Lieut. Com. Charles Moran of the U.S. Naval Reserve. The exposed position of Gibraltar, because of the great range of modern artillery, is well known to military men, he states. In the event of a war against Spain, siege guns could subject the Rock of Gibraltar to a continuous bombardment and airplanes could bombard it from Algeria and Morocco, a British war admiral recently stated. The rock, he continued, is untenable in a war against Spain and would be exceedingly unpleasant to live on in the event of a war with France.

FARM

URGES RUBBER TIRES FOR FARM TRACTORS

Work Faster, Rutgers Researchers Find.

By E. R. GROSS The rubber tire constitutes one more step in the progress of farm machinery. It costs about the same to operate a tractor at part load as at full load, and tractors on rubber tires work faster, more economically and last longer than they do on steel, it has been determined by tests at Rutgers university.

Farm machinery and wagons also have lighter draft on rubber. The rubber tire increases the effectiveness of the machine and the operator by making it possible to do more work in less time and with less wear

The farmer is interested in tractor use because it is cheaper to feed a tractor during the time of operation than to feed horses all the time. This is one of the reasons why tractors have superseded horses to so great an extent. Other reasons include: The tractor conserves man time; it does not need to rest at night; it can work in extreme summer heat; it reduces farm chores; it requires little attention when not working. These things the farmer recognized and appreciated as soon as he learned that he could place dependence in the tractor.

The tractor is being improved steadily. Additional operating speeds and rubber tires are among the important improvements made so far. The tractor will travel faster with less slippage and will pull more with less fuel on rubber tires than on steel rims with lugs. This is a general statement but conditions vary so much for different jobs that one cannot reduce it to an exact per cent of extra power and fuel or time saved.

Rubber tires are also being used on other farm machines and wagons. They reduce draft and make it possible to pull heavier loads with the same power. The rubber tire has opened new possibilities of tractor loading, using the right size machine, combinations of machines and selecting proper operating speeds. The greater use of high gear for field operations and for hauling on the road is now recognized. So, with rubber-tired tractors, farm machines and wagons, the farmer can work faster, save time and fuel and, at the same time, reduce the jolting and strain on equipment generally increasing its

American Oats Output

Exceeds Other Nations The United States' oats crop, like our corn crop, far outranks that of any other nation in the world. According to reports of the United States department of agriculture the American oats crop for 1937 totaled 1,146,258,000 bushels. This was 38.56 per cent of the world total of 4,429,-000,000 bushels.

In the drouth year of 1936 the United States produced 785,506,000 bushels, or 19.4 per cent of the world crop of 4,043,000,000 bushels. In the preceding year domestic production reached 1,194,902,000 bushels, or 39.4 per cent of the world crop of 4,715,000,000 bushels.

Other leading oats producing countries in 1937 were Germany, with 404,304,000 bushels; France, 313,987,-000 bushels; Canada, 291,622,000; Poland, 166,034,000; United Kingdom, 165,000,000; Czechoslovakia, 94,545,-000; Sweden, 86,475,000; Argentina. 48,915,000, and Finland, 46,159,000. Accurate figures on the Russian oats crop are not available but it is generally considered to be among the largest.

In bushels produced the oats crop ranked second to corn, which totaled 5,050,000,000 bushels. The other principal crops were wheat, barley, and rye in that order.

Hard Corns on Fowls

Hard corns may be seen upon the feet of many old fowls without appearing to cause the bird any in-convenience. When abscesses form through infection, however, the condition may be more serious. The commonly advised curative measure, says the Rural New-Yorker, is to open the abscess freely, flush out the cavity with some simple dis-infectant, and place the affected bird upon soft, clean litter. Joint abscesses may be caused by tubercular infection of the joint, when no treatment is indicated except to get rid of the possible carrier of the infection to healthy fowls.

Farm Population

Farms continue to be the chief sources of increased population in the United States. More than 719,000 babies were born on farms during 1937, and 341,000 of the farm population died. This leaves a net increase of 378,000 persons. In addition this result of the state of the sta tion to this number, 288,000 more people moved from farms to town than those that moved in the other direction. The net increase in farm population in 1937 was, therefore, 90,000 persons.

Picturesque Spanish Moss Now Has New Jobs

Long noted for its picturesque contribution to Florida's scenery, Spanish moss is developing into a definite economic asset furnishing employment and income to hundreds of Floridians, according to J. S. Foley, chairman of the industrial committee of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce.

For years the springy, hair-like fibers of the cured-and-"ginned," long, gray strands have been used for stuffing upholstered furniture and mattresses. But today many new uses are being discovered, and Spanish moss is being found in many guises, he declared.

One of these new uses for Spanish moss fibers has been developed by the modern air-conditioning industry. The fibers are woven into a mat, held in a wooden or metal frame, and placed in the air-intake to clean and filter the incoming air. Oft times the mat is moistened with a sticky, resinous oil, and it will then pick up all dust particles as the air wends its way through the labyrinth of small air passages in the fiber

Similar air-cleaning use of Spanish moss fiber is made in filters attached to carburetors on automobile, airplane, and other internal combustion engines.

Spanish moss has also been discovered to be a valuable source of nourishment for range cattle. And, while rather bulky for cooking in an ordinary kettle, man could use its broth as a vegetable broth if so

Despite its range of occurrence throughout the South, Spanish moss enters commercial channels almost entirely from the states of Lousiana and Florida, it is stated. Florida has 10 firms supplying commercial Spanish moss, according to the Florida Industrial Directory of 1935.

Lights for Poultry Houses

Once a mining post, Fort Yukon is now chiefly noted for its fur trade. Like other towns of Alaska, its chief problem used to be its chickens, for those canny birds tried to take advantage of their sunlit nights and to work and scratch around the clock. Distraught by their worthy efforts, they lost weight and would not lay, until Alaska solved the problem by providing them with houses which are artificially darkened during the night.

Guessed Wrong

Charles Laughton and Clark Gable battled to get out of "Mutiny on the Bounty," both of them telling Director Frank Lloyd that the story was ridiculous and unbelievable. It was one of the great pictures of the last five years, and Laughton's Captain Bligh will go down in screen Connie Bennett, Roland Young and Cary Grant were the unhappiest trio in the world during the making of "Topper." It was one of the loudest howls of the season.

FARM LOPICS

NAIL ASSORTMENT HELPFUL ON FARM

Cost Is Negligible, but Uses Numerous.

By E. R. GROSS

The well-equipped farm shop includes an assortment of nails so that the proper size and type may be chosen for each job, whether it be repairing a building, constructing a fence or mending a fragile chair, says the agricultural engineering department at the New Jersey college of agriculture, Rutgers university.

The cost of an adequate variety of nails is negligible. From one half pound to three pounds, according to size, of each of a dozen varieties makes an excellent kit of nails. Tin cans are handy containers.

The sturdiness of the nailed joint depends upon the friction between nail and wood, hence it is determined by the choice of size and kind of nail, the number used and the proper assembly of the wood parts. Good nailing is important, not only to get lasting results, but also to avoid accidents due to improper nail-

Using the proper length of nail requires that two-thirds of the nail should penetrate the piece of wood receiving the point. Thus the length should be at least three times the thickness of the outer piece. When thin materials prevent proper penetration, use additional nails to provide an equivalent area of surface contact in the wood receiving the Farm practice allows "clinching" nails which penetrate through the wood. Bending the point of the clinched nail across rather than with the grain of the wood greatly increases the strength of the joint. A firm blow in clinching should form a hook imbedding the nail point in the wood. Use plenty of nails as the strength of the joint increases directly with the number of nails. When the wood tends to split, use boxing nails which are thinner than common nails.

Whenever the use permits, drive nails perpendicular to the surface. The slanting drive to "draw the wood" has little advantage. "Shiners" or nails coming out of the side of the piece, weaken the joints and are likely to cause injury, hence should be removed at once. Nails in green wood, wet wood, or those driven into the end of the grain are not effective. Use dry, seasoned wood. Properly constructed joints usually permit driving the nails into the side of the grain and not the end.

Persian Inscriptions May Prove Big Historic Find

Recently discovered inscriptions. made about 290 A. D. by Kartir, a Zoroastrian high priest and power behind the throne, are hailed by University of Chicago archeologists as of vast importance in the study of ancient languages and history.

Dr. Martin Sprengling, internationally known authority on ancient languages, made the translations from photographic enlargements of the inscriptions. He compared them in archeological importance to the Rosetta stone, which unlocked the ancient Egyptian language.

Dr. Sprengling estimated the inscriptions were made about 290 A. D. by Kartir, a Zoroastrian high priest and kingmaker, whose career interlaced those of four ancient Persian rulers.

The inscriptions were in Pahlavi, a Middle Persian language which contains words of both Semitic and Parthian origin. They were discovered near the ancient city of Persepolis by archeologists from the University of Pennsylvania, and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

The Kartir stones reveal, Dr. Sprengling said, that the ancient Persians did not practice religious tolerance, contrary to previous conclusions from romantic literature. Religious groups using sacred writings for guidance were persecuted, according to the new translation.

It was indicated that the Zoroastrians then had no such sacred book of their own.

The Zoroastrian Kartir, Dr. Sprengling said, is revealed as having been one of the most important religious figures of all time. Inscriptions mentioning him were discovered in 1936, but he then was spoken of only as an obscure young church-

Dairy Industry to ...ake America Milk Conscious

Dairymen of America have awakened to the fact that they are not getting their share of the nation's food dollar and they are going to advertise their product nationally.

Details of the campaign to make America a nation of milk drinkers were revealed by Dr. Robert Prior.

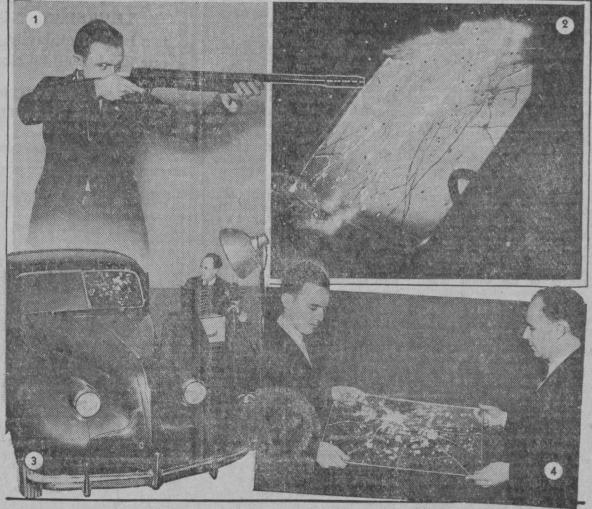

"Dairying is America's largest industry," he said. "The sum of $3,500,000,000 is invested in cows and dairy farms with a cow population of $25,000,000. Yet this industry spent only $61,000 in advertising its products in 1939."

As a result, dairying is suffering from under consumption, he added. Surveys show that only 25 per cent of the adult population drinks milk steadily. A like percentage drinks it occasionally and 50 per cent are nonusers, he declared.

Dr. Prior is secretary of the Washington State Dairy Products com-

The recently organized American Dairy association of which he is vice president proposes to raise a nation-

Not Bullet-Proof But Tough Enough . To Resist Shotgun Fire at 15 Yards

sedan. His shells are loaded with ratus, views the result of the test. pact-resisting qualities shown by 1½ ounces of No. 6 chilled shot, The shot has cracked the glass, but these tests.

TESTS to show the strength of and contain 3% drams of smoke- has failed to penetrate it, despite the new laminated high test less powder, the heaviest duck load the concentration of fire and the safety plate glass developed for obtainable. (2) Triggered by the vicious effect of the wad at short automobile use are recorded by sound of the shot striking the range. (4) Shaughnessy and Pro-Prof. Harold E. Edgerton, of Mas- windshield, Professor Edgerton's fessor Edgerton examine the pane sachusetts Institute of Technology, stroboscopic light illuminates the after its removal from the windinventor of the ultra-high speed scene with a flash lasting 1/1,000, shield. Though cracked on both photographic technique that makes on the photographic techni 1/1,000,000th of a second. (1) 50,000 one-hundred watt lamps if the "meat" of the laminated glass Standing but 15 yards away, Dick they could be concentrated in a "sandwich". Safety plate glass of Shaughnessy, 17-year-old cham-small area. Note that the camera this type is now used in all Genpion skeet shooter, takes aim with has caught some of the shot, trav- eral Motors cars, Fisher Body offia 12 gauge automatic shotgun at a eling 100 feet per second faster cials announced recently, at the pane of the new laminated high than the report of the gun, in mid same time cautioning against contest safety plate glass mounted in air. (3) Professor Edgerton, stand- fusing the new product with bulletthe windshield of a Buick Special ing beside his photographic appa- proof glass despite the high im-

THE LARGE CELL

88 By KARL GRAYSON Associated Newspapers. WNU Service.

HERIFF Roscoe Hull leveled his guns at the angry mob that surged toward the foot of the county jail steps.

"Stand back, you birds! The first man that sets foot on those steps gets plugged!"

The surging crowd came to a halt. Angry shouts and threats rose on the still morning air. But no man of them dared advance farther. They knew that Sheriff Hull made no idle threats. He was a hard, grim man, this Hull, a veteran law officer, a man who adhered to what he believed to be his duty, regardless of personal feelings. Until now he had been a credit to the community he served, an admired and respected public servant.

But the sentiment of the people had changed. For behind Sheriff Hull, on the steps cowered one Joe Marcus. An hour before Sheriff Hull had arrested Marcus for beating his own son, beating him so severely that even now physicians at the county hospital held grave doubts regarding young Tommy Marcus' chances of recovery. Joe had chances of recovery. Joe had clubbed the boy with a board because, he said, the youngster was growing into a "sissy." The youth had expressed a desire to continue his schooling and perhaps learn to play the piano.

Today's beating had been one of A passing neighbor had many. heard the boy's agonized screams and had put in a call for Sheriff Hull. The officer, summoned from a nearby town, had arrived just as a group of enraged and self-appointed vigilantes had succeeded in crashing in the front door of the Marcus farmhouse and was about to seize Joe Marcus.

There had been a lively time for a while. The pitiful figure of young Tommy, lying bleeding and bruised on the floor, saved Joe from being lynched on the spot. One man rode for a doctor, others improvised a stretcher, while still others made ready the Marcus buckboard. Sheriff Hull took advantage of the excitement to sneak Joe out the back door, and raced with him toward The infuriated and justicedemanding vigilantes overtook them at the county jail, and Hull had resorted to his guns to protect his

Once more the crowd in the court yard surged forward. But their momentary hesitation as the officer leveled his guns had been enough. Before the first of them gained the lower step, the door above opened and banged shut. Behind it, Sheriff Hull slid the heavy bolts into place and smiled grimly. He turned to look at the white and frightened face of Joe Marcus.

"Blast you, you're not worth it! I should alet them had yuh! You ain't deservin' of the protection the law offers a citizen.

A new fear flickered in Joe Marcus' eyes. "You gotta protect me," he whimpered. "You gotta. It's your duty and-and the kid ain't dead. I didn't hurt him much. He had it comin' anyway. He was turning into a sissy. Other kids were laughin' at him. I only meant to make a man out of him. A man, like his father-"

"Shut up your driveling!" Not ungently Sheriff Hull forced his prisoner toward the iron-grilled door at the back of the room. Behind this door were others, and one of these the officer opened and thrust Marcus through. "Get in there," he said, "with them other murderers. That's where you belong: in the murder pen, along with the rest of your kind. You'll be safe there."

The room into which Hull had precipitated his prisoner was large with three iron-barred windows high up on the wall. It contained eight or nine hard-faced men. Negroes and half-breeds and one or two whites, men without morals or human pity, desperadoes of the worst order. They had been rounded up by the sheriff two days before in a raid in the southern end of the county, and placed in the large cell awaiting

Sheriff Hull went back to his office and sat down at his desk. There was a worried frown on his face. For the moment, he knew Joe Marcus was safe. It had been a strategic move installing him with those other prisoners. The vigilantes would never think of looking for him there. They'd expect to find him in one of the more isolated single cells, or perhaps in solitary confinement. Yes, Marcus was safe for the present-among his own kind. But only for the present. Sheriff Hull's frown deepened. He knew the temper of justice-thirsty mobs. He knew that the crowd outside the jail were aroused to a dangerous pitch. They wouldn't rest until Joe Marcus' figure dangled from the end of a hemp rope. Down deep in his heart, Sheriff Hull sympathized with the sentiment of the mob. He knew their rage and desire for vengeance were justified. And yet greater than this sentiment was his sense of duty, an obligation instilled throughout the long years of his career. Plainly there was but one course open-to protect Joe Marcus and turn him over to the courts for trial. The man didn't deserve it; the heinous crime he had committed warranted but a single punishment: that which the vigilantes craved to mete out.

Carefully Sheriff Hull laid his plans. Tonight, under cover of darkness, he would whisk his prisoner away, ride with him to the jail at Benton where a greater force of officers was available to protect him against the vengeance of mobs. He would make the trip early, not wait until the dark hours before dawn as the vigilantes might expect

Outside the jail the crowd gradually dispersed. Later they met again in a deserted building on the outskirts of the town. Fiery speeches were made and plans laid. They would wait until darkness fell, until midnight, and then storm the jail en masse. To a man they agreed not to rest until the crime of Joe Marcus had been avenged.

At sunset, Sheriff Hull cooked himself a light supper and ate it in soli-Then he went to the window and looked out. The streets were deserted, but the silence that comes from empty avenues was unnatural, filled with forebodings. It was as though the air was charged with high explosives ready for the match.

Sheriff Hull turned away, strode to his desk and filled the empty slots in his cartridge belt. He worked the action of his ancient six-shooters and nodded in satisfaction.

Darkness had fallen when he unlocked the iron-grilled door and strode along the corridor toward the large cell. The place was only dimly lighted and so he did not at first see the ghastly sight that was there to greet his eyes. He opened the large cell door and stopped dead still. His eyes focused themselves on the thing at his feet, and into his hardened face there crept a look of horror.

Presently he lifted his eyes from the mangled form of Joe Marcus and looked across the cell into the sullen dark faces of the eight or nine prisoners there. They did not shift their eyes as usual, but gazed straight back at him, evenly, menacingly.

For a long moment Sheriff Hull looked from one face to the other. And then suddenly, as clearly as though one of them had spoken, he understood. Too late it came t him-the fact that for once he had underestimated the human qualities in desperadoes, failed in his anal ysis of human nature. For these prisoners, these men who claime to have no morals or human com passion, had resented his classifica tion of them with Joe Marcus, th man who had sunk low enough kill his own son. They weren't his kind, and they had proved it.

THE COMING GENERATION

By LILLIAN OAKLEY (McClure Syndicate-WNU Service.)

THIS morning Joseph, my little six-year-old neighbor, came down while I was busy in the kitchen. This visit didn't surprise me because I knew that he knew I had a fresh bottle of grape juice in the refrigerator, and Joseph had a decided weakness for grap mother is very particular about his manners and he has been taught never to ask for anything. But this admonition never keeps Joseph from getting what he wants. He uses an indirect method, but, having blue eyes and dimples, it always works.

Joseph looked over what I was preparing for lunch and I could see that he didn't think much of it. The asparagus he considered a total loss, the stuffed potatoes were too common to be interesting, and my salad of tomatoes, green peppers and lettuce had no appetite appeal for him.

He watched me work for a while then he went over to the sink and turned on the water. He filled a glass but emptied the water without drinking.

"I'm going to fill it up with a teaspoon," he told me as he rummaged around for a spoon. "I can't take but one spoon full of medicine but I bet I can take about a million spoons full of water." He counted up to twenty-five and then stopped. I was sure that he would because twenty-five is as far as he can count.

"Twenty-five spoons full is full enough, isn't it?" he asked me shaking the water around in the glass. "Just exactly the right size drink for a fat little boy named Joseph,"

I told him. "Yes, it is," he agrees taking a small sip. "You know, if Jesus would come along right now wouldn't have to drink water. He'd turn this water into wine if I asked

Since Joseph goes to school to a teacher who tells him a Bible story every morning I have become accustomed to having God, Jesus, and the prophets brought into our conversations in the most casual way. And so I just said,

"Could He?" "Sure He could. He did it in the Bible, didn't He?"

I acknowledge my acquaintance with the story and Joseph continues. "I never did drink any wine in my whole life. Is it as good as the grape juice the man brings you?" I explained that most people thought that wine was a much better drink than grape juice. But Joseph shook his head emphatically. "I bet I wouldn't. And if Jesus came in here right now and I could have this water changed into anything I wanted I'd have it changed into grape juice just like the kind you've got in the ice box." The indirect method always works for small boys with dimples.

TANEYTOWN INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE.

LEAGUE STANDING. Baumgardner Bakery Blue Ridge Rubber Co 6 Model Steam Bakery ... 5 Vol. Fire Co.. Industrial Farmers .....3 Chamber of Commerce 2

NEXT WEEK GAMES.

Nov. 18—Chamber of Commerce vs a Boxes XXXX Sugar above vs. Vol. Fin. Co.

Nov. 18—Chamber of Commerce vs
Industrial Farmers; Model Steam
Bakery vs Vol. Fire Co.
Nov. 19—Baumgardner Bakery vs
Blue Ridge Rubber Co.
The Model Steam Bakery team played the Chamber of Commerce team on Monday evening, winning two games and losing one.

On Tuesday evening. Baumgard—

On Tuesday evening. Baumgard—

and 1 Pick up Cake Cutter I

On Tuesday evening, Baumgardner's Bakery played the Volunteer Fire Co., and won all three games.

and 1 Pick up Cake Cutter Free 1 Box Soft as Silk Cake Flour 23c and 1 Hurricane Lamp Free The Industrial Farmers played the

| -  | Blue Ridge Rgames and los      | tubber st one. | Co., | won | two        |  |
|----|------------------------------------|----------------|------|-----|------------|--|
|    | Model Steam Bakery:                |                |      |     |            |  |
|    | E. Morelock                        |                | 118  |     | 32780  |  |
| i  | E. Hahn                            | 90             | 124  | 92  | 306        |  |
| 3  | C. Frock                           |                | 93   | 98  | 279        |  |
| 3  | E. Ohler                           |                | 119  | 117 | 332        |  |
|    | M. Becker                          |                | 103  | 90  | 193        |  |
|    | Total                              | 453            | 557  | 507 | 1517       |  |
| ď, | Chamber                            |                |      |     |            |  |
|    | H. RoyerP. Bollinger           | 93             | 106  | 111 |            |  |
|    | P. Bollinger                       | 87             | 85   |     | 172        |  |
|    | C Falsand                          | 96             | 97   | 90  | 283        |  |
|    | M. Dayhoff                         | 93             | 111  | 96  | 300        |  |
|    | T. Tracey                          | 100            | 99   | 118 | 817        |  |
|    | C. Ohler                           |                | -    | 81  | 91         |  |
|    |                                    | 469            | 498  | 496 | 1463       |  |
|    | Vol. Fire                          |                |      |     |            |  |
|    | W. Fair                            | 90             | 118  |     |            |  |
|    | W. FairC. Clingan              | 111            |      | 85  | 276        |  |
|    | E. Nusbaum                         | 404            | 76   | 110 | 76         |  |
|    |                                    | 101            |      | 110 | 328168 |  |
|    | M. OhlerC. Foreman             | 90             | 100  |     |            |  |
|    | R. Carbaugh                        |                | 100  | 99  | 99         |  |
|    | It. Carbaugh                       |                |      |     |            |  |
|    | Total                              | 468            | 493  | 473 | 1434       |  |
|    | Baumgardner's Bakery:              |                |      |     |            |  |
|    | N. DillerC. BakerB. Bowers | 99             | 75   |     | 174        |  |
|    | C. Baker                           | 100            | 104  |     | 303        |  |
|    | B. BowersH. Sullivan           | 87             |      | 90  | 177        |  |
|    | H. Sullivan                        | 94             | 112  | 116 | 322        |  |
|    | D. Tracey                          | 100            | 114  | 104 | 320176 |  |
| ij | C. Master                          |                | 93   | 83  | 110        |  |

| seo   | B. Bowers H. Sullivan D. Tracey C. Master | 8794106 | 11211293 | 9011610283 |   |
|---------------|-------------------------------------------|-----------------|------------------|------------------------|---|
| d             | Total                                     | 486             | 496              | 490                    | 1 |
| s l- e d l- e | Blue Ridge                                | e Rubb          | er Co            | :                      |   |
| -             | J. Bricker                                | 83              | 105              | 106                    |   |
| e             | R. Myers                                  | 91              | 85               | 102                    |   |
| a             | J. Garner                                 | 96              | 81               | 70                     |   |
| 1-            | H. Baker                                  | 101             | 123              | 100                    |   |
| 1-            | N. Tracey                                 | 169             | 97               | 89                     |   |
|               |                                           |                 |                  |                        | - |
| 0             | Total                                     | 540             | 491              | 467                    | 1 |
| S             | Industrial                                | Farme           | ers:             |                        |   |

1498 K. Shelton V. Flickinger 86 113 106 130 Baker J. Haines C. Shoemaker 109 106 103 97 473 524 532 1529

TANEYTOWN GRAIN MARKET.

HOLIDAY NOTICE

294

298

288

THURSDAY, NOV. 21, Thanksgiving Day, is a Legal Holiday in the State of Maryland, and our Banks will be closed on that date.

> TANEYTOWN SAVINGS BANK THE BIRNIE TRUST COMPANY

MONENACUONO DE SESENCIA DE SES

Box Swansdowne Cake Flour 25c and 1 Pick up Cake Cutter Free

24c

13c

1 Hurricane Lamp Free 2 Boxes Shredded Ralston

Shaum's Specials

2 Large Boxes Kellogg's All Bran 39c 1 lb Sanka Coffee 32c 1 lb Maxwell House Coffee 25c

1 lb Norwood Coffee
2 Boxes Minute Tapioca
3 Bars P. & G. Soap
3 Bars Lifebuoy or Lux Soap

2 Boxes Wheaties 2 Boxes Kix

2 Boxes Seedless Raisins

2 Boxes Shredded Wheat Biscuits 17c New 1940 Crops Red Diamond Walnuts

2 Cans Delmonte Sliced Peaches 29c
2 Pkgs Dromedary Pitted Dates 17c Buy 1 Qt. Dazzle Bleach 18c and get another Qt. for 1c
2 lbs Animal Crackers
2 lbs Ginger Snaps
15c
2 lbs Fig Bors
17c 2 fbs Fig Bars 2 Cans Red Kidney Beans 2 Cans Happy Family Giant Peas 25c 2½ lb Can Calumet Baking Powder 1 Can Esskay Skeet 1 Can Esskay Skeet

20 Large Juicy Oranges
7 Large Grapefruit
6 Large Seedless Grapefruit
2 Large Heads Cauliflower
2 lbs Tokay Grapes
2 Large Stalks Celery
2 Jumbo Heads Lettuce
2 lbs Spingel or Kala 25c 25c 25c 15c 15c 17c 15c 17c ths Spinach or Kale 2 lbs String Beans

Fancy Slicing Tomatoes
Don't forget McNaney's Oysters
they can be beat. Don't forget to ask for your S&H Green Trading Stamps and Book. It will pay you to trade with us.

Save Money As You Spend It F. E. SHAUM

Meats and Groceries Phone 54-R TANEYTOWN, MD.

Eckard's Meat Market LOCATED AT

Former Reid's Grocery Location

FRESH PORK Shoulders Hams by the piece Hams sliced Sausage Pudding Ribs and Backbone 40c tb 13c Pan 2 for 25c Scrapple

A. C. ECKARD

TANEYTOWN, MD.

Subscribe for the RECORD

The Ladies of the Keysville Reformed Church will serve their

ANNUAL CHICKEN AND OYSTSR SUPPER

at the School House in Keysvilie On Saturday, November 23, 1940 from 4:30 P. M. on.

You all know the good suppers those good people at Keysville serve. Come out and get it.

CHILDREN 25c ADULTS 35c

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

McKinney's Pharmacy

Taneytown, Md.

Just as the furnace needs coal to be effective, the human body requires some reinforcement.

Prepare for Winter by use of a good Neutrative Tonic or Vitamin Products.

A good Hand Lotion protects the skin from the ravages of Cold Weather.

Virginia Dare Candy is pleasing to the palate.

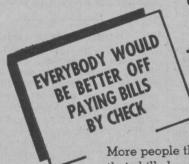

A box of nice Stationerý is always seasonable.

BUY MEDICINE AT THE DRUG STORE

日養

R. S. McKinney

Nobody has to be well-off to have a CHECKING

More people than ever before now pay their bills by check. They save time; they avoid risk; they spend less energy; they save money; they keep out of disputes about payments; they benefit in a dozen ways.

There are no reasons why you should not enjoy the same privileges. We invite you to open a checking account

The Birnie Trust Company TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND.

}

You can buy a DOUBLE W SPEED QUEEN, for less than most Single Wall Washers

If you're interested in washing ability ... wringing ability ... durability ... and serviceability ... you must see the Speed Queen before you buy a washer. Because here, absolutely, is the most for your money. Stop in.

only

Reindollar Bros. & Co.