Fifty-Six Killed in Maryland in September

Fifty-six persons were killed in traffic accidents in the State of Maryland during the month of September. This was a decrease of 7% under the provious month but a 12% of the provious month that it was in pursuance of the direction contained in Chapter 528 of the Acts of the January, 1941, session of the General Assembly.

The Governor's proclamation antotal of 1,978 traffic crashes. Up to the first of October, 424 persons have been killed in the State this year, an increase of 19.7% over the same period last year. However, there has been an estimated 16.7% traffic increase which shows an actual fatality increase of only 3%.

"THE MORE WE PAY NOW"

This is the heading to an editorial in a recent number of The Saturday Evening Post. It refers to payments to and by the government, and thus far it sounds well as good advice.

The Record, however prefers to comment on it as it applies to our own little weekly newspaper. The Post does not know anything about waiting to be paid, but gets its subscription "pay" in "advance" or "more" as the Post advocates.

We must pay "more" whether we get more, or not, and whether we like it or not, and this "more" in- have had ample time to do so. The cludes wages, taxes, rent, and the general program of higher-up-ness, and "now," like it or not.

The editorial in the Saturday Evening Post, is generally good and as naturally to be expected, is wholly out of our range, and does not include the "more" as The Post sees it.

THE SWISS SYSTEM

Now that Hitler has turned loose the "dogs of war" in Europe, and the fear that this war may become world wide, as it seems now inclined, it would be the part of wisdom, if our government authorities conceived and executed some plan of universal military training, which if adopted, should be carried out without fear or favor, encompassing the rich and the poor, the high and the low alike.

We are advised thru the columns of the daily press that of the two million young Americans called up for military service, that fully one mil-few "brasshats" wants to get us into the rules. war, but that fact remains that we are not now prepared, and the only way we can hope to be prepared in the future will be to adopt compulsory military training along the lines used by the Swiss. To do that, such training should be started in late grammar school years, carried thru tions or peak service requirements high school and college, and if that were done, even if only three hours per week were devoted to military tactics, the youth would be so physically fit and mentally alert that competent army authorities could polish them off as competent soldiers, with a year or less of added training. Such training would make the youth so fit that the disgrace of having 50% of our youth unfit would be unthinkable. So trained we could have an army (potential) of 15 to 20 million men ready to answer the call at that there will be a bad industrial a moments notice, and with such a potential army available, we should never have to call them, for no enemy States has been completed. They would attack us, and it isn't in the American way of life to attack oth-

Such a system of training, in my opinion, would be our best guarantee for safety and peace. There would be a large number who did not go thru High School and College. These could be recruited for guard duty for owing to reduction in automobile prooutposts, and so recruited should have systematic training educationally that they might be able to pul? themselves up to the educated class. If we get fully prepared to protect ourselves, we shall not have to defend our position and rights. W. J. H.

of personnel, of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, at a hearing before President Roosevelt's Fact Finding Board.

The Board is concurrently examining the compulsory vacation plan for non-operating railway crafts and the demands for wage increases, averaging an overall 41 per cent for all union rail workers, as well as proposals advanced by management for changes in what have been termed 'archaic and obscure" working rules.

Mr. Perry told the five members of the Fact Finding Board that the vacation plan is interrelated with and superimposed upon an existing body of rules, numbering, in the instance of the eastern roads, 100 rules or separate provisions, embodied in more than 1,000 working agreements with non-operating union employes. Because of that fact, he added, the plan has been rendered complex and unworkable, and the "trial-and-error" procedure that its application would entail would result in "interminable confusion," disruptive of efficiency and of economical operations

The witness enumerated fourteen specific rules mitigating against the workable application of enforced leaves with pay, with as many examples showing how the intermingled | friends. minutiae of rules and vacation procedures would create complications that would vitiate the plan.

"The introduction of any vacation plan under these rules would obviously generate countless problems of application and administration, to say nothing of cost incident to granting vacations under rules never contemplated to be applied to such a program," said Mr. Perry. "The employees have not yet explained to the railroad how any vacation plan could be administered under the present working rules although they conclusion is inescapable that any vacation plan must be predicted on the non-application of current working rules, in the granting of vacations, providing relief and incidental matters in connection therewith. Imposing a vacation plan on the rules not only does not evidence the coperation of employes, in the interest of making a plan as convenient radio, 72-dozen cather canes, 2dozen rocking chairs, extension table, flower stands, several other stands, 2 good rugs, 9x12; ice box, kitchen chairs, sideboard, 2 beds, bureau, stand, cot, old-time safe, old-time chest, 5 odd chairs, dishes of cold-time chest, 5 odd chairs est of making a plan as convenient and economical as possible, but is unjust and unreasonable to the railroads."

Mr. Perry's estimate of an increase in payroll cost of $17,868,700, which would result from adoption of the proposed vacation plan, was calculated, he said, on the basis of the 1940 payrolls of the eastern rail-

AFTER THE WAR DEPRESSION

Many people feel it almost certain slump after the war and after the Station on defense program of the United can't see how millions of people now employed in the defense industries are going to find work.

After the war there will be a big demand for goods from those unable to buy now because the defense industries are getting the materials. The man who could not buy a car duction, will be ready to buy that machine. People who couldn't build houses because priorities had taken materials needed for defense, will be staking out their home lots. So long as the people who have work keep spending their money, there will be jobs to keep all these people busy.

That does not mean that people should spend all their money and not save any more. If no money Application of a system of paid is saved, the amount of money that money needs to be saved to finance

AVE you noticed how often courtesy seems to go hand in hand with efficiency? Take the simple matter of talking over the telephone. Chances are the people to whom you most enjoy talking are those who

- answer promptly when you call ...
- give their names at once when they answer ...
- speak clearly and naturally all through the talk ...
- and when the conversation ends, hang up gently.

Right now, when times are tense, good telephone habits are probably more important than ever. We've got a big job to do and the thoughtful and courteous use of the telephone helps us all to do it faster and better.

FEESERSBURG.

We are back again in our small the weekly letter. Four weeks in bed makes one thankful to take up the old round but arthritis hates to et go so don't try it.

Another little rain on Saturday evening. 'Twas so welcome we opened the attic door to hear it patter on the roof. A letter from Boston tells of the scarcity of water in many towns and the burning of leaves has been prohibited because of fire hazard due to the drought. Few people realize what a water famine would, mother, Mrs. David L. Brown, who mother, Mrs. David L. Brown, who mother, Mrs. David L. wishes. Our neighbor Maurice Late had another kind of surprise on Saturday when two of his farm horses ran away from the warehouse at Middleburg, knocked him over and the wagon passed over his leg. He was brought home and search made for the horses. The Doctor made examinations and found no bones broken which seems miraculous, but he couldn't count all the bruises and pains. The wagon tongue was broken, and one animal was nearby, and the other soon found.

The Assistant Superintendent, Roger W. Sentz directed S. S. at Mt. Union on Sunday morning assisted by J. E. Dayhoff. They did very well, and there was a fair attendance, but we are still opposed to employees to work on the Sabbath Day. Mrs. Cleon Wolfe presided at the C. E. Service following. Announcement was given for the ingathering service for the Deaconess Home in Baltimore next Sunday evening, Oct. 26, and an offering devoted to missions. On Sunday evening we received a Mrs. Laura Satilla Huff, widow of telegraph message of the sudden Harry G. Huff, died Tuesday morn-ing in the Hanover General Hospital. Miss Lillie A Morningstar, who had been in frail health for a number of years, no particulars are known only that her body will be cremated by request. She was the youngest child of George W. and Margaret Bitzler Morningstar, who kept a grocery and china store in Westminster for many years. Expect a let-from her personal friends soon. Housecleaning is in order—but we'll not dwell on it only to say it gives a good chance to find lost ar they found so much money.

"Old Taneytown's" Important East End

About miraculously the big fire of Nov. 26, 1897 did not extend east of the railroad. We do not remember how long after this date it was, but T. H. Eckenrode dug out the clay and made the "present brick" for the building on the southwest corner of the square, owned by A. C. Eckard. Dwellings were built between the brickyard and the corner buildings owned by Edward Morelock and the Brining family, marking the beginning of "George Street," so named after George A.

Shoemaker and George Henry Fair. (The continuation of these reminiscences will follow in an East-end review, covering, present very important section ending at the Fair Ground). Just as the section north of Fairview Avenue will be treated. The space occupied by "Ran Frealing's is now occupied by the Central Garage owned by Harold and Wilbur Mehring.

This instalment will also include "Antrim" though this property belongs to a "South Side" write-up

The fact is, we are becoming a bit tired of the whole job, but trust that our readers are not.

OLD TANEYTOWN 25 YEARS AGO.

White shoes were predicted to be much in evidence the following Spring due to a scarcity of leather. The Federal Trade Commission, which was studying the news print paper stiuation, strongly advised all publishers to cut down the size of Sunday papers in the interest of saving the supply of paper, the outlook for the future of which is not promising. Labor troubles at the mines, and shortage of cars were given as causes for fear of exhorbitant prices of coal for the winter. The price had already advanced about $1.00

Chemical Properties of Seaweed Being Studied

It is only within recent times that the scientists have given serious attention to the chemical properties of seaweed. Few people realize what a valuable marine plant this is and how it might be used as a substitute for various essential materials which are likely to become scarce on account of the war situation.

Seaweed is well known as a useful source of iodine, bromine and potassium salts which are widely used both in medicine and in industry. Experiments show that we can obtain the basic substances for making paper, clothing and even things like glass and imitation rubber and leather from this plant. Fresh discoveries are always being made too, especially in the United States of America, where the government has financed experimental research stations in connection with the great kelp beds off the Pacific coast. In the years ahead seaweed may become one of the world's most valuable and indispensable raw ma-

Advance in Cancer Treatment

Science, through the use of surgery, now has attained a firm foothold in its fight against cancer of the esophagus, a disease once considered 100 per cent fatal.

Successful removal of the malignant growths by surgery has been reported by University of California surgeons.

The surgeons stated the success of their treatment should encourage all to look more hopefully on the treatment of cancer of esophagus. Here, they said, as in other parts of the body, if the cancer can be diagnosed early and surgical treatment instituted without undue delay, means are now at hand to provide a satisfactory number of cured

The success of the surgery is due to the highly co-ordinated action of a "surgical team" backed by a corps of laboratory workers and specially trained nurses and mechanized by highly specialized equipment. At present cancer of the esophagus is responsible for about 5 per cent of all cancer deaths.

The older woman went suddenly "Ben" - what memories stirred at the name. The hand holding the sandwich trembled visibly.

"What did the man look like?" she asked, trying to steady herself. "Big brown eyes and red hair, with a curl over his forehead like a little boy's."

Then it was true—her Ben arrest-

"My God, Stell, what's the matter? I thought you was going to pass out on me," said Marge slipping an arm around her. "You pick good places to faint."

"I'm all right," said Stell, bracing herself. "Guess I must have been eating too fast, and then somehow it upsets me to hear of men going to jail." "That man you're spending your life grievin' over isn't in jail, is he? Gosh, you're a simp, Stell." "I don't know where he is definitely," added the other. "But I know he'd play an honest game." "If that's what you call it to walk off and leave a woman," returned Marge loftily. "Better take my advice, forget him and step out with Big Jim. He likes you and would marry you, if you played your cards right. The boy's got a future," she added. "He'll be head of the lamp department some day.

The older woman did not reply. Instead she took another bite from her sandwich before inquiring, 'What was the man arrested for?' "Don't know exactly," said Marge.

"Just saw him being loaded into the patrol wagon as I came in. You should have seen the dick! It's the first guy he's nabbed in I don't know when, and he was tickled

Later that day Stell heard the girl in the credit cage say, "He told the cops his name was Good, and that he was looking for his wife who worked here. One of the cops laughed and said, 'Good, nothing! You're bad clean through!' The dick said he had followed him from one department to another on every floor of the store. And he was making the rounds the second time before they caught him with the goods-not anything much, just one silk stocking. What's a guy going to do with one stocking, I ask you? Unless he's got a one-legged girl?"

But Stell had heard enough. Ben had come back. Her Ben. He had been here in the store, wandering U. S. farmers lack easy means of from department to department preserving for their own use food looking for her-too timid to askand then they'd picked him up. Surely, there was some mistake. Whatever else Ben was, he was not a thief.

But they had arrested him. Now at least she knew where he was. Four years before he had left her. Left her sitting on their packed trunk, hatted and gloved, while he went to look for a drayman.

They were going to Iowa together -their first trip home since their marriage twelve years before.

"I'll chase down the street," he told her, "and get Connelly to come for the trunk. I'll only be gone a minute '

But he had never come back. Not until the wee hours of the morning. not until she had waited, and waited, and waited, did she remove her try's investment to $45,000,000. hat and coat and unpack.

The next day she went to work at the department store. And she had never heard of or from Ben until today. But she had kept on waiting, never going out anywhere, never looking at another man, just waiting for Ben, and working, often that car, else the original tires dreaming of her happiness with And now he was back.

Jefferson's Collections Included 'Enormous' Lion

Excited as a hungry terrier was Bryan Patterson when erosion re-vealed a deposit of old bones in a pasture near London Mills, Ill. Out of the glacial blue clay came parts of a hind leg, pelvis, forefoot, vertebrae, a molar tooth. Back in Chicago's Field museum, where he is assistant curator of paleontology, Patterson pieced the fragments together. Recently he announced that he had one of the finest fossil ground sloths discovered in the U.S. since In that year the huge, extinct beast was first studied and named "Megalonyx" by a great U. S. paleontologist, Thomas Jefferson.

When Col. John Stuart found some fossils in a Virginia cave, he naturally sent them to Monticello where Jefferson was known to include old bones among his strange (and, folk said, atheistic) interests. In 1797 Jefferson described the fossil creature before the American Philosophical society (of which he was then president) as a kind of enormous lion because of its eight-inch claws. Wrote he: "I cannot . . . help be-lieving that this animal, as well as the mammoth, are still existing.' When Jefferson sent Lewis and Clark up the Missouri river and Capt. Zebulon Pike into the Rockies, he half-hoped they might bag a live

This was not completely silly Megalonyx jeffersoni is so recent that its bones sometimes bear wisps of hair. Paleontologist Patterson thinks that cave men helped to exterminate the creatures though "an embrace from a sloth would have made a bear's hug look like child's In expecting to bag a Megalonyx, Jefferson was not "wrong by more than a few thousand years. As bone-diggers measure time, this was only day before yesterday.

University of California scientists find that acid soils are essential for citrus trees. A long-continued satisfactory growth of orange trees was found to be unlikely in soils which are on the alkaline side. It has been pointed out by other scientists that the alkaline soil content is likely to increase with irrigation, some alkali settling out of the water as the latter evaporates. Iron sulphate, it is said, is now being used in place of aluminum sulphate for acidifying soils. The acidity of California soils has been proved to be higher than previously was believed—a cheering bit of news for our orange industry.

CIVIC RESPONSIBILITY RE-GARDING BEVERAGE ALCOHOL

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 5:32, 33; 11:26-28; Isaiah 28:1-6; Habakkuk 2:12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people.—Proverbs 14:34.

Legal approval of the sale of alcoholic beverages has largely taken the matter out of the hands of the home and the church and has made liquor a civic problem. That, of course, does not provide us with a convenient excuse for evading our personal responsibility, for the nation is made up of you and me, of your home and mine, of your church and mine. We must share the nation's responsibility gladly and actively if we are to be worthy of our citizenship. Especially is that true of the Christian, for he sees the spiritual and moral implications of the matter, and he also knows what to do about it.

I. "Righteousness Exalteth a Nation; but Sin Is a Reproach to Any People" (Deut. 5:32-33; 11:26-28).

That may sound a bit old-fashioned and it may appear that men have abrogated that principle, but if we wait a bit we shall see that it still

1. Righteousness Brings Blessing (Deut. 5:32, 33; 11:26, 27). In this callous and indifferent generation we need to repeat with emphasis the fact that there is laid down in the very constitution of the universe a moral distinction between right and wrong. Right is always right and wrong is always wrong.

The book of Deuteronomy presents the fundamental laws of God. In this fifth chapter there is a review of many of these laws and a practical appeal for obedience. It is pointed out that the way of liberty in the walk of life is to turn neither to the extreme of legal bondage nor to the opposite extreme of human license. but to "walk in all the ways which the Lord your God hath commanded you." Walking in His ways brings all the blessings of Deuteronomy 5:33, a promise which is repeated in 11:27.

2. Unrighteousness Brings Judgment (Deut. 11:28). Turning aside from God's ways must bring upon man His curse. It is no light matter to be under God's disapproval. We who know how much the approval or disapproval of frail human beings around us may mean, should consider what it means in the life of a man (or of a nation) to have the eternal, omnipresent and omnipotent God against him.

Then what about a people which countenances the manufacture and the sale of intoxicants, which they well know bring about wickedness and vice which can only call for the judgment of God. Many believe that the great war in which the world is embroiled is simply God's judgment upon the nations (including England and America) because they have turned aside from His holy ways. That means that the most effective way to stop the conflict is national penitence and prayer. Why not believe and practice II Chronicles

II. Civic Greatness Cannot Be Built on Sin and Oppression (Isa. 28:1-6; Hab. 2:12).

Yes, that sounds old-fashioned too! The theory of today seems to be that the road to greatness is by way of disregard of God's laws, and by the application of the mailed fist of cruel conquest. But let us remember that others have tried the same violation of God's law, and let us recall what happened to them. Did you ever hear of Napoleon?-of Alexander the Great?-of the "glory that was Greece"?-and the world conquering power of ancient Rome? Modern military leaders could well afford to spend less time on their books of strategy and their war maps and more time reading the Bible and the pages of history.

1. Drunkenness and National Decay Go Together (Isa. 28:1-6). The leaders of Israel (Ephraim) lingered long over their wine bowls as they spoke with pride of their nation, and especially of Samaria, its crown. It was a city beautifully situated on a hillside surrounded by a fertile terraced hillside.

Does not that all have a vaguely familiar sound? A great nation of our day which now lies in bondage to its neighbor dictator not long ago spoke with pride of its attainments and its security, while (according to the testimony of its own leaders) the use of intoxicants went on apace, even in the army.

2. Permanent Power Cannot Be Built on Oppression (Hab. 2:12). Here again history reveals the correctness of Scripture. Many a nation has sought to find its "place in the sun" by building with the blood of its vanquished enemies. It has never worked, and it will fail now just as it has in the past.

What about the city, state, or nation that attempts to promote its own growth out of the taxes on liguor and its sale?

HALLOWEEN TRICKS FOR OCTOBER'S FAVORITE PARTY (See Recipes Below)

WITCHES' NIGHT OUT

Spooks and fun while the goblins, black cats and ghosts make merryisn't that an inspiration to have one grand, merry party before the winter sets in? Come, let's plan stew and brew and set the witches' cauldron boiling and bub-

You'll need hearty sandwiches, plentiful and hot since the weather's slightly nipped with frost. Of course you'll have cider and doughnuts because they're wedded together and traditional. To top it off, have a witches' cake, a chocolaty, honest - to - goodness devil's food, moist and crumbly, and perhaps one of those pumpkin shaped molds of ice cream, or at least orange ice, to carry out October's orange and black color scheme.

The party starts as soon as the invitations are sent out. These can be pumpkin, black cat or cauldron shaped, made double with the invitation written on the inside. Send them early so your guests won't make other plans. The more, the merrier.

Twirl some streamers of orange and black crepe paper around the room, bring out the frayed straw hats, checked shirts, and grandmother's costumes from that trunk in the attic. All set? Here we go:

*Sandwiches. These can be made on the buffet or at the table if you have a sandwich toaster. If made in the kitchen use the broiler. STRIKING A CHAMPIONSHIP WON AND Bill Striker won his title by accident but gave it up purposely. It all started with his old water heater and the necessity of lighting it up every time he or any of the family wanted hot water.

It so happened that Bill's heater was in a dark and droughty corner of the cellar. Matches piled up like cord wood, fingers were burned, shins were barked, tempers frayed and-worst of all-there was never enough hot water.

Then one day Bill heard about an Electric Water Heater—how it was absolutely safe, completely carefree and automatic, providing plenty of hot water at the turn of a faucet. And when he learned that, due to the special low electric rate for water heating, it costs no more, he lost no time in joining the ranks of the "has-beens" as far as his championship was concerned. You too can enjoy the advantages of economical Electric Water Heating. Ask your electrical dealer to tell you about them and don't delay.

THE BIRTHDAY OF THE U. S. NAVY

165 years ago a committee of three men, John Adams, Silas Dean and John Langdon purchased the merchant ship Black Prince of Philadelphia. Renamed the Alfred, this vessel had the distinction of being the first ship in the United States Navy. These men were appointed by Congress, through the efforts of George Washington, as a Naval Committee responsible for the purchase of two vessels. An original appropriation of $100,000 was increased several days later, making possible the purchase of four ships in all—the latter three named the Columbus, Cabot and Andrew Doria.

The date October 27, on which Congress in 1775 acted to establish our Navy, is celebrated annually as Navy Day. The purposes of Navy Day are to pay a deserved tribute to the splendid service the men in the Navy have rendered in making and keeping us a nation and to better inform the American people of what our Navy is and does for them. When originally chosen, October 27 marked not only one of the most important dates in U. S. Naval history but also the birth date of Theodore Roosevelt whose life was devoted to furthering a sound naval policy for H. the United States.

In its early days, the history of our Navy was a turbulent one. During the revolutionary period 73 vessels of all descriptions were used, D. Robb but through sale, capture and destruction only one was left in 1785 and during that year Congress abolished the Navy, leaving the burden of the protection of our country in the hands of any army of only 80 men. In 1794 our Navy was revived by a Congressional Act authorizing the construction of several frigates to deal with the Algerine pirates and the first U. S. Navy Department was established four years later. One of these new frigates purchased as a result of this act of 1794 was the Constitution -with the Constellation, United States, President, Congress and Chesapeake making up a Navy which through successful encounters with French cruisers and privateers, established an enviable reputation for itself. In 1801 a series of engage-ments with the Barbary states and the ensuing treaties rendered commerce in the Mediterranean safe from attack and ended the payment of tribute by Americans.

The outstanding performance of our Nayy and privateers during the War of 1812 insured freedom of the seas for our commerce and further increased our national prestige abroad.

The effective work of the Navy during the World War is still fresh in the minds of most of us. The astonishing fact that no American soldier escorted by the U. S. Navy lost his life in transit across the Atlantic amazed even those in the highest positions of authority.

All American foreign relations, all American participation in the life of the community of nations must find its expression through traffic on the Ships, both commercial and naval, are the means of giving effective outlet to America's right to participation in international trade and politics.

Sailors in Uncle Sam's Navy who are performing "night watch" receive an extra meal every night while on duty. It consists of many sandwiches and a beverage.
