A few calendar buyers have not yet placed their orders? The selection is growing smaller, as time passes—and January 1 is drawing nearer. This is our last notice on the subject.

Our office has been completely torn up, this week, internally and externally, making it impossible to do anything in an orderly manner. Perhaps the same condition will extend over another week. Who has use for two right hand fur top gloves?

Our good neighbor, O. J. Stoner, Editor of The Union Bridge Pilot, drew a deserved complimentary mention from The Bentztown Bard, last Friday. The Pilot, we think, was first named "The Carroll News," and had as original Editor Edward Reiser and J. Ham Repp.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

Mrs. Frank T. Myers, President of the Children's Aid Society of Carroll County and all the members of the campaign committee wish to take this opportunity to thank all persons who contributed in any way to make the recent financial drive for $3000 a success. There was excellent response throughout the county, not only by individuals, but by churches, organizations, service clubs, schools, and business houses. Since the community has been asked for so many contributions in the last several months the Children's Aid Society officials more than appreciate the wonderful spirit with which the county responded to their appeals.

A special word of thanks is to be given all district leaders and solicitors for their untiring efforts.

Quite a few of the districts have not made their final reports as yet, but up to date six districts have gone over the top, namely: New Windsor, Union Bridge, Westminster, Hampstead, Uniontown and Mt. Airy.

Fall House Cleaning Days - and Fall

And now, the day has arrived called "house-cleaning" when the stumbling rug is waiting for victims, unaware of danger.

The good old Brussels carpet has disappeared, and even Mr. Olson made from old rags a number of designs that entirely covered our floors and preventing both stumblers and profanity, and Grand-ma or Grand-Pa did not have to summon an ambulance to take either of them to a hospital for needed repairs.

Stumble rug, and tumblebug, are close relations, these days, and we cannot help but wish them back again.

The minimum age limit for enlistment in the U. S. Navy is 17. All applicants under 21 years of age will be required to have the consent of their parents or guardians.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

REGULAR MEETING

Changes made in the Force of Teachers

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was held in the office of the Board on Tuesday, Nov. 4, 1941, at 9:30 o'clock. All the members were present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The bills were approved as listed and ordered paid.

The Board approved the appointment of Arthur Gambrell as teacher of mathematics and history in the Robert Moton High School.

The resignation of Emory Dickensheets, janitor at the West End School, was accepted, effective as of November 1.

The Board approved the closing of the Hooper school, transporting the pupils to the New Windsor school. The Board also approved making Oakland Mills a one-teacher school, transporting grades 5, 6 and 7 to the Sykesville school. These consolidations were made necessary because of the low enrollments in these respective schools.

The order to Joseph C. Hymiller to weatherstrip twenty-three windows at the Charles Carroll school was approved.

Specifications for resurfacing play grounds as compiled by the committee were outlined. This problem will be studied further.

The auditor's report was submitted and accepted. The superintendent was authorized to file one copy with the County Commissioners and one copy with the Clerk of the Court.

The revised report cards were presented to the Board by the superintendent.

The Board approved the installation of a sink and sump pump at the Sandymout school and authorized the superintendent to accept the lowest bid for this work.

The meeting adjourned at 11:30, and the Board members went to the Taneytown school for lunch, later visiting the Elmer Wolfe and Uniontown schools.

Help the Home Business Man

He comes closest to helping the interests of all classes that make up local communities. He is apt to be a local church member, and being a stand-by in all cases can be counted on for real old-fashioned Johnny on the spot.

The Farmer man, the carpenter, painter and brick-layer. Yes, this is familiar "old stuff," but even so, it is worth reading and studying about.

There are lots of wanted-right away folks near you, that sometimes seem to be unreasonable in their demands; but consider them too when you possibly can, and your home weekly and its print-shop are more a necessity than you may think and pay it a C. O. D. why not? If there is a good negative answer, we do not know it.

FARMERS ASKED TO INCREASE PRODUCTS

A pretty general movement is being made to urge all farmers to grow more produce. The difficulty is that farm help is very scarce, due to the draft, and the increase in factory workers.

All men in the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve are paid twice a month. They receive no coins but are paid to the nearest dollar.

New Addition at the Blue Ridge Rubber Company to house "ersatz" Leather Production

Construction of this new unit is progressing rapidly and is expected to be finished, ready for full production by November 30th. This new unit is approximately 50x100 ft. and will be used to produce a new product which the Blue Ridge Rubber Company's laboratories have just developed.

The new product is a type of rubber sole which is a good substitute for leather and uses very much less rubber than this Company's former product. It is one of examples of what lack of raw materials due to National Defense has brought forward in the way of new or "ersatz" products.

By next spring it will be possible to purchase in your local shoe store, shoes made entirely at this plant, using this new product with uppers of various colors and made of a cloth instead of leather.

BLUE RIDGE RUBBER CO.—Taneytown, Md. Substitutes for leather was developed in the laboratory at this plant. The new product will be used for shoe soles and make available more leather for Defense purposes. —Courtesy of Potomac Edison News.

COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

Women's Part in Case of War

Miss Adelaide Hoffman and Miss Josephine Doyle, Chairmen of nutrition for Carroll County, under the Maryland Council of Defense, are working on a plan which will be very helpful in taking up the problem of nutrition for this county. Since it has been found that so many of the young men registering for the draft present some kind of health problem, the proper kind of food to give one's family has been stressed as never before. The following slogan brings to mind its importance:

Food is defense, right food makes strong people, happy people.

There will be a special meeting to get chairmen throughout the county for this program. Miss Hoffman and Miss Doyle are planning a program especially for the schools of Carroll, and are working under the Women's Division, Maryland Council of Defense, of which Mrs. John Wood, Jr., is county chairman.

Mrs. William P. Cole, Jr., who resigned about a month ago as state chairman for knitting and sewing under the Council of Defense, is now accompanying her husband, Congressman Cole, on a trip to Oklahoma. Mr. Cole, who is chairman of the important Congressional committee which deals with the oil problem in the United States, is making an investigation in the west. Mr. and Mrs. Cole recently returned from a trip to North Carolina, where they visited their son, William P. Cole, 3rd., who is now in the United States service.

Next week, from November 11 to 16, has been proclaimed nationally by President Roosevelt and supplemented by Gov. O'Connor's State-wide proclamation, as Civilian Defense week. Isaac S. George, executive director of the Maryland Council of Defense, has called upon district councils to proceed at once with local organization for its observance. He asks the active interest and support of local authorities—Mayors and County Commissioners.

Mrs. John Wood, Jr., Carroll Co. Chairman for the Women's Division, is making another request for all women to register for defense work. Cards for registration may be obtained from Mrs. Harry M. Kimmey, chairman for registration, or from Mrs. Helen Ditman Harbaugh at the Historical House, 206 E. Main St., Westminster. Registrants denote on these cards whether they are trained for agriculture, automobile driving, knitting, sewing, music, nursing, stenography, telephone operating, unskilled labor, etc., Nov. 13th, has been designated as "Sign up for Defense Day."

Mrs. Wood is completing the list of chairmen for Carroll County those having been named as follows: Agriculture, Mrs. Michael Leister; Millers; Americanization, Mrs. John M. DeLashmutter, Woodbine; Aviation, Mrs. Robert Smith, Taneytown; Housing, Mrs. Howard B. Necker, Woolery's; Nursing, Mrs. Mercedes Brown Duvall, Westminster; Ambulance Driving, Miss Ann Reifsnider, Westminster; Nutrition, Miss Adeline Hoffman, and Miss Josephine Doyle, of Westminster; Recreation, Mrs. Paul M. Wimer, Westminster; Registration, Mrs. Harry M. Kimmey, Westminster; Press and Publicity, Mrs. Charles O. Clemson, of Westminster; Radio, Mrs. Paul M. Quay, Westminster; Conservation, Mrs. Randall Spoerlein; Knitting and Sewing, Miss Mary Cunningham, of Westminster; Chairman of Consumer Problems, Industry, Vocational training and U. S. Stamps and bonds will be named shortly.

C. Ray Hanesen, lawyer, criminologist and investigator, will be the lecturer for the evening when the Woman's Club of Westminster sponsors a benefit at the Westminster High School on November 12th., at

PRESIDENT CALLS

FOR HITLER'S DEFEAT.

Week of Nov. 11-19, set for special efforts.

The President wants to defeat Hitler, but does not come out strong in the open against Labor Unions as though afraid to do so, which some regard as a sign that he may be a candidate for re-election.

He is reported to have said at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y., that civilian defense is of paramount interest now, and if united, we can distinguish our way from "Pagan Slavery" proposed by the would-be dictators of the world. And this, would appear to include Labor Leader Unions.

As news reports that come to us from various sources in Europe, it seems that Hitlerism is growing in strength, even against Russia.

Better Health for School Children

"Better health for every child now enrolled in Maryland's public schools is," according to Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, "the goal toward which the school, the parents and the health authorities should strive."

When the school year started the Department of Education and the State Department of Health resumed the health services which have for many years been a part of the regular school program. Dr. Riley says that, besides making the school a safe and healthful environment for its pupils, educational and health authorities must concern themselves with the physical condition of every child under their care.

During 1940, the County Health Officers examined a total of 41,571 children, and a large number have already been examined this year. The usual plan calls for an annual examination of the younger children in order to detect unfavorable conditions before they have progressed too far, and for re-checks of older children whenever the examiner believes it necessary or if requested by the teacher.

Besides general health and nutrition, the examination places particular emphasis on the nose, throat, teeth, chest, vision and hearing. Parents are always welcome at these examinations; and, whether present or not, they are urged to take the children to their family physicians for prompt attention to any weaknesses or defects revealed. The combined efforts of Parent-Teacher Associations, county health departments, and local service clubs furnish needed medical care to children whose families cannot pay for private care. Through the school dental clinics, free or low-cost dental care is provided for children unable to pay for private care.

To reduce to a minimum the spread of communicable diseases from child to child, health officers and public health nurses will, upon the request of the school authorities, make routine inspections of children who have been exposed to such diseases and of those showing symptoms of measles, mumps, scarlet fever, diphtheria, skin infections and other diseases that they could transmit to their classmates. Children who are ill and those who would be a possible menace to others are kept out of school until the danger is past. Parents are asked to keep infected children from all contacts with other children.

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS DECREASING

Baltimore, Nov. 1—A further fall in unemployment benefit payments by the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board is shown in the figures for October, the aggregate for the month being $338,955, which sum is about eleven per cent less than the outlay for September.

This brings the payments for the current calendar year up to $4,223,099, a reduction of nearly thirty per cent from the corresponding ten months of 1940. The payments for the entire year of 1940 aggregated $6,661,848.

The average weekly benefit payment in October was $11.20. The maximum payment per week was $17.00. The law permits no more.

Payments since the beginning of the full operation of the unemployment benefit system in Maryland have grown to $26,780,949, while the balance in the State's reserve fund available for future claims was more than $33,000,000 on October 31.

THE WAR NEWS

The news of the war in Europe, this week, appears to have been pro-Hitler, providing we regard war source reports reliable.

Russia is depending on a bitter cold winter, but as a sole dependence, it is uncertain.

England is still pursuing its steady invasion on Western Germany, and the yet unconquered German forces may become an important ally of England.

Taken as a whole, and including the U. S. peace, or any other treaty, is far off.

3,200 cooks and bakers prepare 720,000 meals every day for the U. S. Navy.

WARNING VIOLATORS

Of Maryland Motor Vehicle Laws

Annapolis, Nov. 5—Violators of motor vehicle regulations who fail to answer summons will face suspension or revocation of their license, under a plan adopted by the Enforcement Committee of Governor Herbert R. O'Connor's Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

Hereafter, when a violator does not appear on the day set for the hearing, a second summons will be sent by registered mail, and then if he still disregards the summons, all papers in the case, including the receipt for the registered summons, will be mailed to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, who will require the violator to appear and show cause why his license should not be suspended or revoked.

This new procedure is just another step by the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission towards insuring improved policing on the Maryland roads, in the interest of greater safety.

In the past quite frequently violators have evaded summons and, while according to law, the sheriff to whom the warrant is sent must apprehend such violators and physically produce them before the Magistrate who issued this warrant, this seldom is done in automobile cases.

Under this new procedure, either the violator will appear in Court, or he will be prohibited from driving until such time as he stands trial.

It was the unanimous opinion of the Enforcement Committee members that violators who failed to appear for hearing after summons, should be classed as "irresponsible," and as such should be barred from the highways of the State.

115th. INFANTRY REPORT

Col. D. John Markey, commanding officer of the 115th. Infantry, writes in a letter to the soldiers' service committee of Carroll County from the base camp at Morven, N. C., that the regiment returned from the field to its home camp earlier than usual last week. They came in on Wednesday night. Thursday was a welcome opportunity to clean and overhaul equipment, and Friday morning all was ready for inspection. The inspection showed that personnel, equipment, arms and transportation are in fine shape for the more intensive maneuvers which lie ahead. The sick rate continues low, and the only serious illness that has yet appeared is one case of malaria. Col. Markey stated that the Regiment has also been fortunate in the avoidance of serious accidents. The Regiment, therefore, can be said to be in fine shape for the strenuous days to come. The relatives of some of the men who have visited the camp have been agreeably surprised at the fine physical appearance of the men, and as a matter of record there has been an estimated average weight gain of from five to eight pounds per man since induction.

Saturday, All Saints Day, there was a Second Corps Field Mass at the Morven Ball Park, and Sunday, All Souls Day, there was a Protestant Field Service at the same place. The services are under corps direction. While the men are not ordered to attend these services, they are encouraged in every way to do so.

The "ghost walked" on Saturday—it was pay day. The men were paid before noon and after that were excused until noon on Sunday. One group of 375 men was transported to Charlotte, N. C., where they were entertained in private homes and attended dances arranged by the people of Charlotte. Col. Markey stated that it is difficult to praise too highly the extent of the hospitality to soldiers received from the people of the Carolinas. He said, "The men who have shared it—and there are few who haven't—will find that one of the lasting memories of their experiences here."

The Colonel further said, "The sweaters have been very useful during the past week. We experienced some exceptionally cold nights. We are glad to learn that other bundles of sweaters are on the way and that some of them will be distributed before we take to the field for the coming week."

THE PRICE IS NOT "UP"

One cent Postal Cards and Three-cent Stamps can still be had at old prices. Why not buy a few and send them with cheering messages to the "old folks at home"—and others are waiting too.

Random Thoughts

WORDS FOR THINKING ABOUT

We are not doing much "Random" thinking, these days, but centralize on most things we think of doing.

The old saying "you can't eat your cake and have it too" makes the housewife who has to buy eggs at 42 cents a dozen wonder whether it is advisable to think of "cake" unless it be humble Johnny cake.

The coal bin is not in the random class, but if we are to have fire for the cool days coming we feel a lot better when we know where it is to come from.

A very good dictionary can be made without any "random" word in it.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1941

NOBODY WANTS TO PAY TAXES

But, everybody needs to be governed; our children need schools; our churches are an expense, and we even want goods from abroad that we can not grow.

Keeping our homes in good repair costs, the equivalent of a tax. So, one is foolish in not wanting to pay for a thing that we must have.

When we used to have the tariff "question" as a practical issue we heard a great deal about the "tariff" being a tax—now, we appear to have, (we think), what are called "trade agreements" between governments, which, we suspect, if we knew the truth, cost us more than the old tariff.

Governing ourselves by elected officers, means that they must be paid, and again we meet with "taxes" in order to pay their salaries. Yes, like it, or not, we must pay taxes.

OUR AFFLICTIONS

A little better paper and a little more ink, would be appreciated by hundreds of thousands of newspaper readers who are afflicted with failing eyesight.

Of all of the senses, seeing, hearing, feeling, smelling and tasting, the first named is the most important.

Why does not some enterprising publisher specially cater to this great need of thousands?

Perhaps it would not be a profitable venture, but plain humanitarianism brings with it, many blessings in disguise that may pay good dividends, when least expected.

We think that in this great country of ours there should be some wealthy philanthropist who would give this experiment a real trial. Why not?

INFLATION

Inflation? What is it, and why? Inflation, as the word implies, is a "swelling up," and therefore after it starts and grows, apparently there is nothing more of substance back of it than when it started. Like a rubber toy balloon, it just swells out and gets thinner, but tho it looks bigger, has no more substance than when it started.

You purchase, own, and stick in your safety deposit box, a hundred shares of a first-class industrial corporation stock. You bought and paid for them as have hundreds of others. The company, from its safe, brings forth an additional equal amount of stock and gives you another hundred shares, and you think you are twice as well off. Wrong again! You are no better off than when you owned only 100 shares. The doubling the number of shares halved the value of existing shares. The shares were inflated, but the value was deflated. With every such inflation there is a corresponding deflation. We hear a lot of talk right now about inflation—most of it just talk. Why should prices now sky-rocket, as they are doing when there is no scarcity of any essential thing needed to fill the larder of the home? Why should I be compelled to pay 19c for three pounds of apples as I was the past week, (almost $4.00 per bushel) when the farmer who raised them got only a cent or thereabouts a pound?

Some inflation there! Who made it, and how? My own private opinion is that Washington talks too much and does too little and the smart boys who run chain stores and the like, are cashing in on their folly, and we (the people) pay the bill. Of course we are going to have a terrible case of inflation if those with whom we deal are going to set prices that will net them 300 or 400% profit. It seems to be about time those chaps down there at Washington began to put a ceiling on prices, to curb those unprincipled merchants who haven't the decency to be satisfied with reasonable profit.

I am of the old school economists who believe the law of supply and demand would settle rightly all these affairs if left to do so. And I do not like government control of prices, but if that is the only way we can now get decent treatment, let's have government control? W. J. H.

THE POWER OF LABOR LEADERS

The Westminster Times, last week had the following to say concerning the power of Labor leaders of the C. I. O.

"If anyone doubts that the power the labor leaders of the C. I. O. and other unions have and the strangle hold they seem to have on the Government is one of great menace to this country in this present crisis their doubts should be removed by the defiance of John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers Union of three personal appeals by the President of the United States to have 53,000 soft coal miners continue work. He either ignored the President's appeals or answered with an emphatic, no!

He assumes the attitude of being greater and having more power than the Government and will continue the strike until his demands are complied with.

It is of vital importance to many industrial plants, engaged in defense work that there be no shortage of coal.

Operators of the mines and industries have been forced to grant all demands for higher wages, shorter hours and many other concessions, but some refuse to agree to employ only members of a certain union or to refuse to employ non-union workers.

No one question, that to put in the mildest terms, this sympathetic attitude of the New Deal for the labor leaders has been a large factor in the autocratic position and power the union leaders now have."

WHEN HITLER IS DEFEATED

When Hitler is defeated, what are the plans of those who defeat him? Is Germany, again defeated, to be treated as she was after World War No 1? Is there to be another Versailles? If so we might just as well begin right away to prepare for World War.

Of course Germany should be disarmed; of course the Hitler gang should be punished, and in kind with the punishment meted out by them to those they conquer. Brutes that they are, the only lesson they know is brute force. Let it be so.

As a matter of justice, reparation should be made to the innocent sufferers, and Hitler and his war-lords should be made to feel the force of the blow.

The German people themselves, tho now apparently the willing stoogs of Hitler's gang, are not exactly responsible. The avarice and greed in them has carried them far on the road toward barbarism.

If Hitler, Goering, Gobel and the rest of the gang who have become multimillionaires were stripped of all their wealth, and this wealth used to ameliorate the suffering they have caused the world would feel that condign punishment had been meted out to the guilty.

Small molly-coddles treat them softly, kindly? Away with such blarney! Adequate punishment will teach them a lesson; inadequate punishment will but infuriate them and cause them to act more bestial next time then they have this time. You cannot indict a whole people but you can at least require reparation for damages done.

But, these matters are the affairs of England and her colleagues at war. We are not yet at war (or are we?) and should stand on the side line and watch the procession and not get in the parade. Unfortunately there are some people who want to carry the ball when the game is most exciting, and our president seems of that stripe.

Anyhow we should get so well prepared, starting NOW, that no power or combination of powers would ever dare attack us. W. J. H.

WILL STRIKES BE STOPPED

The support of President Roosevelt and the Department of Labor backed the notorious sit-down strikes several years ago. This riotous weapon in industrial disputes was outlawed by the United States Supreme Court, February 27, 1939 when the National Labor Relations Board was denied the right to compel reinstatement of sit-down strikers in the Fansteel Corporation of Chicago.

When the Wagner Act became a law and the National Labor Relations Board was told its primary purpose was to solve the problems existing between employers and employees and to prevent and stop strikes, principally through the process of collective bargaining. Many thousands of labor disputes have been adjusted in past years by the Labor Board and by persuasion of the Federal Government, and the results proved two things. First: A good start. Second: A golden opportunity, neglected and evaded, to plug the leaks and holes in this legislation that was an experiment in the first place.

Meanwhile the Congress of Industrial Organizations has grown so fast that it is now regarded more powerful than the American Federation of Labor. President Roosevelt appealed to both organizations time and again to stop fighting, but those appeals ceased when Phillip Murray, successor to John L. Lewis as head of the CIO, in taking office last year, declared that it would be small use for the Roosevelt Administration to attempt "to force shotgun agreements between the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L."

The President and Mr. Lewis dissolved their friendly co-partnership during the last presidential election; and therefore the latest coal strike and the stubborn defiance of President Roosevelt by Mr. Lewis, president of the miners' unions, served to emphasize the need for improved labor legislation by Congress, and something stiffer and stronger than investigations, recommendations and attempts to mediate.

The President is said to be convinced that labor strikes must yield to the power of the Federal Government, and that laws and Administration power should prevent and stop strikes in National Defense works. "A burnt child dreads the fire."—N. I. News Service.

INDIAN SUMMER

There is a period of poetic and mellow charm in the latter days of autumn, often called Indian summer. According to tradition, the indolent Indians of old times depended upon these days of late fall to complete the tardy harvesting of their crops.

The poet Longfellow thus described these days of late fall: "The wind is soft and low. It wafts to us the odor of forest leaves, that hang wilting on dripping branches. The birds have taken wing, and have left their roofless dwellings. Not the whistle of a robin, not the twitter of an eaves-dropping swallow, not the carol of one sweet, familiar voice. All are gone."

There is another side of Indian Summer. It is a period of great calm. The earth seems to lack the feverish activity of spring time, in which it is set for a great and mighty effort. There is now a kind of hush, of waiting for the storms of winter.

The earth has just accomplished mighty deeds, has produced great stores of grains and fruits, and now it is resting from its labors. Under the sun of cooler days, it seems cheered and comforted by the work it has done. There are no more pleasant days in all the year than a fall day when the weather turns warm. It seems like the rich old age of some grand man or woman who has performed great deeds, and who now rests quietly contemplating the things that have been done.

The sun still shines with genial light. It gives life and cheer, without the scorching fierceness of Aug. With many or most of the trees bare of foliage man can see long distances and obtain views that were hidden in the full tide of summer.—Frederick Post.

THE RIGHT TO DO BUSINESS

It is no tribute to the intelligence of American voters that a preponderant part of the debate surrounding the efficacy of public versus private undertakings, hinges on which can do a thing the cheapest. Naturally a subsidized, tax-free agency of government may create a mirage in every business enterprise it operates from power dams to banks. The real question is, Does this country want big government? It is safe to say it does not. Big government means socialism and socialism means the termination of liberty.

This is the reason why, during the present defense emergency, every possible use should be made of private enterprise and private credit. Wherever government extends credit it places a mortgage not only on property, but on future liberty. Keep credit and business where they belong—in the hands of private citizens.

The surest way to destroy the whole free enterprise system would be to place the nation's financial credit entirely in the hands of government. The majority of bankers recognize the danger. That is why they are doing everything in their power to loan money to meet legitimate needs. They realize that it is not a question of promoting business. It is a question of retaining the right to do business in the traditional American manner, a right that if lost spells death to all other free enterprise and eventually to the representative system of government.—I. N. R. Service.

DEFENSE PRODUCTION GOING INTO HIGH GEAR

Typical of the speeding up of defense production and deliveries is the activity in these General Motors plants, from which machine guns, Allison liquid-cooled aircraft engines, and shells are being delivered in large quantities. These are only three of a myriad of important defense products being turned out in G.M. plants throughout the country.

WITH every manufacturing division of General Motors now engaged in supplying one or more defense materials, production and delivery of defense goods are being stepped up sharply week by week, according to a recent statement by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Chairman of the Corporation.

Sixty G.M. operating units are actually in production on defense goods, Mr. Sloan revealed, and already defense products totaling considerably in excess of $200,000,000 have been delivered on government contracts.

It was just about a year ago that General Motors received its first emergency defense contract from the Government. Within the year 14 new plants have been erected for defense production, or are in the process of being completed. Thirteen plant enlargements have been made and in 26 instances existing buildings have been re-equipped with machinery. Many thousands of men have been trained, or are now in training in the special skills of defense production.

As a sidelight on General Motors fulfillment of defense orders, a study of only 11 operating units reveals that parts and materials are being purchased from 200 communities in 21 states. One G.M. division alone gets defense parts from 83 outside suppliers and raw materials from 37 others.

Tot in Coma 104 Days After Fall

Is Recovering After Waging Long, Hard Fight.

WHITEN, IOWA.—Life is flowing back into the body of Roger Arnold, four, who lay in a deathlike sleep for 104 days.

Last October 21 Roger toppled off the Whitten Sunday school steps and fell on his head. Three days later he was taken unconscious to a hospital.

From then until April 9 he waged a struggle there, first against spinal meningitis, then against pneumonia and finally against encephalitis (sleeping sickness). He conquered all of them and came back to the modern little farmhouse of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Arnold, still only half alive.

When he had barely recovered from meningitis, he contracted a cold that developed into pneumonia and gave him a fever of 107 degrees. Then on December 27 he lapsed into a sleep that continued until April 9. During that time he was fed through a tube.

Now he lies in his bedroom while his mother feeds him strengthening foods and attempts to develop his speech.

His progress is gratifying to his parents, who still take him twice a week to a physician for examination.

His sight has not returned completely and he blinks his eyes—closed for so long—at the shadow of a hand. His toys are unfamiliar to him but he chews gum now, something he could not do when he came from the hospital.

As if his three hospital ordeals weren't enough, Roger incurred an attack of measles after his return home. They slowed his development for 10 days.

While he was in the hospital he grew taller. His weight has increased from 27 pounds in January to 34 pounds now.

When his mother counts "one," he manages to say "two."

Watchmaker in Steel Plant

Watchmaker in a steel plant, his familiar eye-piece, delicate tools and tiny lathe in strange contrast to the roaring furnaces and thundering rolling mills, is G. B. McGarvey, who works in a small room in one corner of the vast J & L Seamless Tube Mills. He replaces broken hair-springs, worn bearings, and makes delicate adjustments, not to watches, but to precision gauges that contain jeweled bearings, hair-springs, and other fine parts. These gauges are used by inspectors in tube mills for examining the pitch, taper and depths of threads on each end of all seamless oil country pipe and couplings produced in the J & L mills. Measurements of gauges must be accurate to one-tenth thousandth of an inch.

Pruning Ramblers

An examination of rambler roses reveals the considerable amount of new growth that is being sent up from the crowns of the plants. Checking this with your earlier season experience will show that this year's flowers were produced on the new canes or wood which grew from the clumps last year. A close examination will reveal that few if any blooms were born on the wood which developed season before last. Taking a tip from this habit of the plants, the good gardener prunes out all of the two-year-old wood on his rambler roses and from which last year's growth has not been removed without greatly changing the shape of the plant.

Hen Mothers Litter Of 7 Squealing Pigs

DECATUR, ILL.—One of Ira Weatherford's hens, denied accommodations for hatching chickens, is mothering a litter of seven squealing pigs.

The clucking biddy spreads her wings and shoos the porkers from one spot to another. The unprepossessing sow sleeps in the same pen.

Controlling Moths

Suggestions for controlling moths in clothes closets:

Brush all clothing and clean the closet thoroughly. Seal all cracks in the plaster and about the baseboards with crack fillers. Equip door frames with rubber or felt gaskets against which the door can be shut tight at all points. Place on the top shelf, or hang in muslin bags from hooks, one pound of flake naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene for each 100 cubic feet of closet space. The fumes given off by the slow evaporation of the crystals quickly stop moth larvae from feeding and ultimately will kill them if the fumes are retained long enough in proper concentration. It is therefore important that the concentration of the fumes be maintained by making sure that the closet is perfectly light with a tight-fitting door.

3,000,000 Volts! Car and Driver Unharmed

In a spectacular demonstration of the safety of an automobile during an electrical storm, a Ford Sedan was "struck" by 3,000,000 volts of man-made lightning recently at the Westinghouse high voltage laboratory at Trafford, Pa. At the wheel of the Ford is Dr. Gilbert McCann, research engineer, who said the demonstration proved for the first time that occupants of a steel-topped automobile are safe from natural lightning attacks.

The bolt (as shown above) hit the Ford just six inches above the 29-year-old engineer's head and streaked harmlessly to the ground in a hundred millionths of a second. It can be seen jumping across the left front tire to reach the ground.

MINISTERIAL UNION MET

The Carroll County Ministerial union had its meeting last Monday morning at the Westminster Theological Seminary with an unusually good attendance. The meeting was in charge of Rev. H. C. Gonso, who was elected vice-president; Rev. Ernest Caldwell, of New Windsor conducted devotions.

Rev. Lumberg, rector of the Episcopal church, of Westminster, gave an address on "Religion in the Orient." He was a missionary in the far east, but was barred from Japan by the war.

Rev. A. W. Garvin and Rev. L. B. Hafer were in attendance from Taneytown. Several new members were elected from other parts of the county.

One of the most popular hobbies of sailors in the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve is that of collecting "covers" from the battleships that maintain their own Postoffices. Several naval magazines devote regular departments to stamp collections.

There are four Naval Training Stations where Naval recruits are trained before going aboard ship or entering one of the Trade Schools. They are at Newport, Rhode Island; Great Lakes, Illinois; Norfolk, Virginia, and San Diego, California.

The days of sleeping in the swinging hammock are over, as far as the majority of Uncle Sam's sailors are concerned. Most of the new ships are outfitted with steel bunks which, when not used, fold against the casemate, or wall.

"Old Taneytown's" "South" Side

There is no such thing as a "South" side to Taneytown, though we have been writing of the North and East sides. The only correct map of the town that we know, is the Sanborn map made for the use of insurance agents; and the nearest this comes to "south" is Southwest, as our streets run.

Sauble's Inn is at the head of this street. It is important because three of our churches—Lutheran, Grace Reformed and St. Joseph's Catholic—are located on it.

It was the building—or rebuilding—of the Catholic Church that landed the writer in Taneytown in 1877. The contractor in charge of the work was Joseph Wolfe, of Union Bridge. One of his employees whose home was near Union Bridge, on hearing that Frank H. Elliot—who then kept store at the location of the present A. C. Eckard building—was in need of a clerk. The writer applied promptly, and landed the job.

This famous "South side" was rather foggy for its fights brought about by the use of alcoholic drink, the best known of which was held "south" of the public well. We will not go into details, but think it was on an election day, and that the best man was defeated by an outsider who jumped into the fray from the stone wall at the stone hotel.

McKellip's Drug Store and the Adam Good Tavern with its George Washington and Martha story, which was not verified by facts, was on this street.

The Stone (Crouse) hotel, became the property of D. J. Hesson who built the fine brick store that he operated, for years. It (this building when being torn away, contained a very old date roughly cut in a stone on the Frederick Street front, but we have lost our record of the date).

The oldest business place on this street, still occupied for business purposes, are likely the Harris Bros. Dept. Store owned by Chas. E. H. Shriver, the David Smith Store, owned by Ernest Ritter, then Davidson's hardware store, Dr. C. Bernis also had his office in this hardware store and later on, in the building owned by the Misses Bernie.

(We are getting a bit tired of these "Old Taneytown" write ups, and expect to end them in several weeks. We welcome corrections, comments and criticism from our readers.)

Old Taneytown 25 Years Ago

At the State C. E. Convention, held in Middletown, Mrs. John D. Belt, of Westminster, was elected Junior Superintendent.

Virginia's prohibition law went into effect at midnight, Tuesday night. This made this state the eighteenth state with state-wide prohibition laws.

The "Deutschland" reported to have been sunk, appeared again in the United States, this time at New London, Conn., with a cargo of chemicals, in charge of the same captain who made the trip to Baltimore. The British steamer "Marina" was torpedoed without warning off the English coast, according to survivors. There were twenty-eight American survivors, and a number were drowned.

One hundred and forty suits were entered in Frederick County court against as many policyholders in the defunct Grangers Insurance Company of Carroll County, who were residents of Frederick County. The suits were for unpaid assessments said to be due the Company, and were levied on premium notes. The suits were entered by Francis Neal Parke and Charles O. Clemson, of Westminster.

Kenneth Koutz fell off a fence and broke one of his legs just above the ankle. Mrs. David M. Mehring went to the Frederick City hospital and had a needle removed from her left foot that had been there for three or four years.

The Reindollar & Leister Garage was sold to the Taneytown Garage Company, Chas. E. H. Shriver bought the equipment of the shirt factory and made a contract with the former owners for all the work that can be manufactured here for one year.

P. B. Englar was elected at Maryland Synod, held in Baltimore, as one of the lay delegates to General Synod, that met in Chicago the following Spring.

Wheat was quoted at the Taneytown Markets at $1.78 per bushel and corn at $1.10; hay from $11.00 to $17.00 per ton.

During the training period U. S. Navy recruits gain an average of fifteen pounds each.

NAVY COURTMEN PRACTICE BASKETBALL ON SHIPBOARD

Perfect physical fitness is required of sailors in the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve. Excellent athletic facilities are provided both afloat and ashore. Pictured above are bluejackets on the aircraft tender U.S.S. Wright holding basketball practice on shipboard. Almost every ship in the U. S. Navy has its own basketball team. Rivalry among the crews of the various craft runs high. In addition to basketball—football, baseball, boxing, bowling, wrestling and tennis all rank high as sports with Uncle Sam's sailors. Organized intrafleet competitions are held for most sports. Trophies and individual awards usually are presented to the championship winning teams and players.

Say-Whatever You Please!

WE believe our readers will be interested in the variety of letters that come to an editor's desk these days, in the course of only two weeks. Some written after the President's speech, ordering our Navy to shoot first, some written just before. Some angry, some reasonable, but all of them thoughtful. And all these correspondents, it is important to remember today, saying whatever they please.

Look over our shoulders for a minute as we pull out the old shears and slit open the last lot of letters in our small share of the staggering mail-bag of democratic America. For among other things, the right to say what you will is what America is; its citizens have always had the precious right, and its forces have always protected that right, to speak their mind, to say whatever they please.

A well-meaning, irate gentleman from rural Kentucky has this to say of his neighbors: "We have had too much both of Senator Wheeler and Dorothy Thompson, of Colonel Lindbergh and Herbert Agar, of the Chicago Tribune and President Roosevelt, of Fight for Freedom and America First."

He says — and gets his say in print — whatever he pleases. By a woman in not-so-distant Louisiana we are reminded, sliding open another letter, that "our revered dead of the last World War have now turned over to us, the survivors, and to the new generation which has sprung since they made the supreme sacrifice, the great and brightly burning torch of liberty which they so heroically and so victoriously defended." And she quotes, a Gold Star mother, the unforgettable lines, "If ye break faith with us who die, we shall not sleep, though poppies grow in Flanders Fields."

That is what this graying woman says, and is able to say, out loud.

Or consider another letter, from Worcester, Mass. Pointedly and poignantly, this correspondent informs us:

"I am a housewife. My husband served eighteen months in France during the last war as an enlisted man. We have two sons, seventeen and sixteen years of age. Personally, I think war is not only hateful, brutal, completely fruitless, and to the new is the most stupid, the most futile experiment conceived by the mind of man to get anything. I also think murderers, gangsters, kidnapers, burglars are senseless people, yet each newspaper tells of many crimes committed daily and sometimes of brave policemen killed or injured in catching the culprits. And it seems to me that just as the police have to hunt down enemies of society, so our forces must stand ready to protect us against our national enemies."

"Up to that point we are probably all agreed. But now we face the question, Has the United States enemies? I am convinced we have."

"Twenty years ago, I went to the French battlefields with my husband. I saw place after place with nothing but a few walls to show that villages had once covered the spots. I saw Soissons, Rheims, Amiens, Verdun—all of them scarred beyond description by the guns and bombs of that war. Today, war is more horrible. Not only are planes, tanks, guns, bigger and better; the rules of war have changed. Or rather, there are no rules. Today children, women, homes, hospitals are targets of equal value with soldiers, tanks, airplanes, industrial plants. Perhaps if I lived in Montana, as does Senator Wheeler, or in Wisconsin, as does Senator LaFollette, I would not be so deeply concerned."

"But here in Massachusetts I see that all-out aid to Britain, now, is the easiest and surest way of saving ourselves and our American way of life. . . . This is the way I have thought it through, as honestly and sincerely as I could."

That is the way she speaks her piece in an America where speech and press are still free.

And finally, consider another note, written by an Iowa youth whose sincerity is transparent: "You see, we do not believe that the question facing America today is one of war or peace. If it were, we would all choose peace. We believe that it is only a question of when we will fight, and whether we will fight alone or with strong allies. We believe we will have to fight a war, not because of actions by President Roosevelt or anyone else in this country, but because of the bungling and dishonest appeasing forces who bred and encouraged nazism, some of whom now are calling on us to defeat it with our lives."

We still are able to say, in free and democratic America, whatever we please.

Salt Solution Spray Relieves Sinus Trouble

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
 (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE of the great advances made in recent years is in the treatment of sinus infection. Formerly the main thought was to operate so that mucous or pus in a sinus could drain out properly. Operation is necessary in those cases where all other forms of treatment have failed.

Many patients received relief from cutting down on acid foods and table salt as recommended by Dr. A. E. Ullmann in his book "Sinus Infections and Colds." Acid foods are: Eggs, meat, fish, poultry, breads of all kinds both white and whole wheat, cereals, pastries, puddings.

Dr. William D. Gill, San Antonio, Texas, in the Medical World also advises the use of foods which leave an alkaline ash in the body and in addition advises cutting down on starch foods. As starch foods are necessary to the system to provide energy, Dr. Gill advises that they be cut down but slightly and only those starch foods which experience shows cause head colds and sinus disturbances; cane sugar, beet sugar and maple sugar apparently causing more disturbance than bread and potatoes.

Ultra violet and infra red rays are considered of great value by some authorities and also inhaling of warm air.

X-ray Treatment.
 Dr. Gill is one of a number of physicians who have had success treating both early and late cases of sinus infection by X-rays, when other methods have failed to relieve the pain. Also, as recommended by most nose specialists now, Dr. Gill recommends ordinary salt solution—a teaspoonful of table salt to a pint of water—as a spray to help shrink the swollen lining tissue of the nose. Ephedrine is the most effective shrinking solution for spraying the nose but it should be used only in the strength recommended by the physician in charge of the case.

The point is that, aside from treating the nose or sinus direct, it should be remembered that the individual may be sensitive or allergic to foods and also that, in general, foods which are acid should be eaten in less quantities.

Use of Bile Salts For Gall Bladder

FOR years physicians have been trying to persuade patients with a slow or sluggish liver and a slow emptying gall bladder that better than all kinds of medicine is avoiding large meals, especially the foods rich in starch or fat. By eating small meals, four times a day instead of three large meals, there will be less work for and less congestion of the liver.

When the patient is willing to exercise, exercises that squeeze the liver—bending exercises with knees straight, deep breathing exercises—will stimulate bile flow, prevent congestion of liver, and empty the gall bladder in less time.

What, however, can be done for those who continue to eat heavy meals or for those who will not or are unable to exercise?

If there is not enough bile being manufactured by the system or if the bile is not flowing freely, then the use of bile or gall from cattle is coming into considerable use by physicians. When there has been an operation that has interfered with the manufacture or storage of bile, giving bile or bile salts stimulates bile formation and bile flow.

Drs. A. C. Ivy and A. L. Berman, Chicago, in Minnesota Medicine, state that many of the tablets containing bile salts contain other laxatives or purgatives also, whereas it is the bile salt (or gall) that is needed in liver or gall bladder patients.

When it is desirable to give patients bile salts some dried animal bile or some preparation of bile salt should be given. These physicians point out that bile salts should not be given unless the liver or gall bladder are not working properly. The bile or gall acts as a self-starter to the liver and gall bladder.

No one should go to the druggist and ask for bile salts, because many preparations contain other purgatives.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What causes warts?
 A.—The cause of warts is thought to be a small virus or organism.
 Q.—What causes my temperature to be subnormal? Is one plus sugar considered serious?
 A.—It may be natural for you to have a subnormal temperature. It runs in some families as does low blood pressure. Your physician will advise you if he considers the amount of sugar too high. Have you had your blood sugar tested?

SHORT STORY
He Understood Women

By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON
 (Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

AT TWENTY-FOUR Rance Fiske was a handsome lad and very much aware of the fact. He knew women and understood them. He delighted in conquests, prided himself on the long list of broken hearts for which he was responsible, possessed no scruples and believed himself infallible. In brief, Rance was a maker of love par excellence.

That was why Lorna Simms puzzled him. Lorna was the belle of Holbrook where Rance had gone to recuperate from a slight nervous breakdown. He met her the day after he arrived, and the forlorn, unhappy look left his eyes. It wasn't going to be so bad having to spend a month in this hick town, after all. In fact, he was rather glad he'd come, because Lorna looked as though she would be worth the effort of conquest.

Still she puzzled him. She didn't rise to his bait, didn't display any more interest in him than she did in the local youths, didn't seem at all flattered by his attentions. At first he was amused. He'd seen 'em act this way before, and knew exactly the system to use to bring 'em to terms.

And so Rance bided his time, waited two days, in fact, before making another try—and discovered she'd practically forgotten him in the interval. This was annoying. For a moment or two he was actually upset. No girl he'd ever known had reacted quite in this manner before. He analyzed the situation, assured himself that pretty Lorna was, after all, only a woman, despite her background, hence human, and sure-fire methods of approach.

He buckled down in dead earnest to the business of making a success of this new conquest and succeeded, much to the annoyance of one Gerald Niles, a local youth who had designs on the gorgeous Lorna, in causing her to display toward him what he identified as keen interest. But the keen interest was, as far as Lorna was concerned, nothing more than an amused attraction. She accepted an occasional invitation to attend a movie and go for a drive with him, but she never encouraged his attentions, never laughed more than was politely necessary at his wisecracks.

After two weeks, Rance took account of stock. There was only one explanation: Lorna wasn't the yokel he'd supposed. She was smart and she was playing the game as subtly and as cleverly as he. Well, all right. If that were her attitude he had a means of frustrating any female when it came to matters of the heart.

And so the next time Lorna accompanied him on a drive into the country he said casually: "Well, it looks as though I'll have to cut my visit short. Had a telephone call from New York last night and I guess I'll have to pull up stakes early tomorrow morning."

"It doesn't pay," said Lorna indifferently, "to stay away from your work too long in these times."

Rance coughed and looked away over the hills. "I don't suppose," he mused, "I'll be missed a great deal."

"That," said Lorna, "is because you haven't made many friends here. Folks think you're cold and hard and distant." She laughed apologetically. "I can understand why you feel you won't be missed. Though, frankly, I think it's your own fault."

"And I suppose," he said icily, "the interest you've displayed in me was out of pity?"

She looked at him in grave concern. "Oh, I didn't want you to feel that way! You mustn't!"

Rance stepped on the starter of his hired car and headed it for town. He was grimly silent and annoyed. So she was still playing the game, eh? She thought he would swallow that line like these local apple knockers. So she knew that that telephone call business had been a gag and she wanted to impress him with the fact. Well, he'd show her she was wrong! He'd actually pack up and leave, and see how she liked that! He'd give her three days before he came back and if she weren't ready to come to terms by then—well, the system had never failed him yet.

And so the next day Rance packed his bags and walked around by Lorna's house a good hour before train time, to say good-by. Much to his disgust Lorna took his hand warmly. "It's really been nice knowing you, Rance. I—I hope you don't think that my interest was wholly out of—" She broke off, laughing and Rance felt a wave of contempt surge through him. She was, after all, pretty crude about it. Telling him in such a sloppy manner that she really did care! As if he didn't know that! Well, she had gone a little too far. There was a limit to what a man could stand. He decided in that moment to go through with his plan, actually leave town for awhile and let her suffer.

"It's been nice knowing you, too," he told her with nicely gauged sarcasm. "Perhaps we'll meet again sometime."

"Oh, I hope so. I'd love to have you come up for the wedding."

"Wedding?"

"Mine and Gerald's. We're to be married next month, you know."

"No," said Rance, "I didn't know. But I think that's splendid. Just dandy!"

He turned and left her and during the five minutes it took to reach the station, a host of thoughts paraded through his mind. He couldn't settle on anything definite, however, couldn't convince himself of the reality of the facts that kept pounding against his brain.

The station platform, save for a solitary figure, was deserted, because it was still 45 minutes before train time. The solitary figure approached Rance and blocked his path.

"I guess," said the figure, "you know me. Well, I'm Gerald Niles, and ever since the day you arrived I've wanted to punch your nose. In fact, I promised myself I wouldn't let you get out of town without doing it. Only reason I haven't is because of Lorna. Sometimes she makes me mad with that kind heart of hers. Just because everyone else thought you were a conceited, ignorant fool, Lorna took pity and thought it was her duty to befriend you. Well, that's O.K., except that I don't like the way you've been treating her. Why, damn it, you've acted as though you were doing her a favor, letting her ride around with you like that. And I maintain that a guy like you needs his nose punched, if he ever wants to learn anything, and in view of the fact that Lorna and I are to be married next month, I feel that it's my duty."

Whereupon Mr. Niles swung into action and presently Rance Fiske found himself sitting on the station platform with blood spurting from his nose and a dazed expression in his eyes. Presently his distorted vision cleared and he saw Gerald Niles shuffling disinterestedly out toward the village. He felt tenderly of his injuries and a smirk appeared on his face. The facts which had been pounding at his brain suddenly gained admission and asserted themselves. And Rance Fiske, maker of love par excellence, was for the first time in his life abruptly convinced of something besides his own ability in his chosen profession.

Chief Joseph Retreat

Epic Military Move

Chief Joseph, upright, intrepid sachem of the Nez Perces (that's French for pierced noses), is renowned for a masterful military retreat that ended in his betrayal by the white man. Early in 1877 the government ordered the Nez Perces to move from their home in the Wallowa valley of Oregon to the Lapwai reservation in Idaho. Joseph, refusing, said that his claim to the valley had been upheld by President Grant in 1873. Attempts to eject the Indians were resisted, some white settlers were killed, and war was declared. After several battles which the whites lost, Joseph displayed remarkable generalship in a retreat that is famous to this day. Though soldiers were in front and behind him and on his flank, he brought his warriors, with their wives and children, to within 50 miles of the Canadian border before reinforcements compelled his surrender. When he yielded, it was with the promise that he would be permitted to return to his own country. The promise, given, was not kept, and the valiant sachem and his homesick warriors were sent to Indian territory in Oklahoma. But we can conclude on a pleasant note: Chief Joseph in time became the warm friend of his captor, Colonel Miles, and passed on in 1904, conscious that he was held in high esteem by his white brothers.

Police Orders Beyond Law

Magistrate Solomon ruled not long ago in New York city that the public need not obey police orders that go beyond the law.

Believe it or not, you don't really have to move on when a policeman orders you.

A Brooklyn man watching a sidewalk dice game dared to tell a policeman that it was a free country and that he was not going to move on until he was told the reason why. The magistrate upheld him, saying that he was well within his rights and not subject to such a dictatorial order.

DEBUTANTE DOES HER BIT.

There are no "play-girls" among Canadian debutantes these days. All young Canadian women are in war-work of some kind, many of them in industry. Typical of the debutante class is Miss Joan Holland of Montreal. Prominent in the social life of the younger set in that city, she gets out of bed at 6:30 o'clock each work-day morning and an hour later reports for duty in the shell-case manufacturing plant where she joins her fellow-workers, men and women, making, inspecting and stamping shell cases for beleaguered Britain. Canada is turning out ammunition of various types at the rate of millions of rounds per year.

CELLOPHANE FOR SILK

Since silk is unobtainable, an Atlantic City designer is using cellophane instead for her bathing suits. This new cellophane bathing suit will allow the sun's rays to penetrate, so that the bather gets sunburnt all over. Louise Sephton, the designer, is shown trying out the suit on the Atlantic City beach.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

REPENTANCE AND FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Luke 13:11-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Repent ye, and believe the gospel.—Mark 1:15.

Sin with its devastating consequences has its only remedy in the salvation which is in Christ Jesus. He died to set us free from the penalty, the power, and ultimately the very presence of sin. However, His death, which was for all mankind, is effective only for those who in repentance and faith accept His redeeming grace and turning from their sin.

I. Worldly Pleasure Brings Sorrow (vv. 11-16).

Selfishness is at the heart of sin, which is essentially self-will over against God's will. The younger son, who represents the sinner, wanted his own way. He suffered from

1. Restlessness Under Restraint (vv. 11, 12). The father loved his son and sought his welfare by proper parental control, but the boy wanted to be free to live as he pleased. God loves all men and seeks by loving and gracious restraint to lead them in ways of righteousness and peace. But they, while they want His blessings, are often eager to get away from His guiding hand.

2. A Request Resulting in Responsibility (vv. 12, 13). When the prodigal asked for his inheritance he took upon himself full responsibility for its use. The man who refuses to have Christ rule over his life assumes a grave and heavy burden which he is not able to bear.

It is an awful thing to rule God out of one's life, to attempt to steer a successful course through the stormy sea of life. Why do it? It will always result in loss and failure.

3. Riotous Living Leading to Reproach (vv. 13-16). In the "far country" he found for a time what we call "fun," but it led to bitter sorrow. To the flesh there are "pleasures of sin" (Heb. 11:25), but they are only "for a season"; that is, "very short lived—and they come high. The devil is not such a fool as to go fishing without bait. The pleasures of sin are the devil's bait, and they always have a hook in them. If you bite at the devil's bait you will soon have the devil's hook in your gills and be in the bottom of the devil's boat" (John W. Bradbury).

The end of Satan's "fun" road was a pigpen in a far country. That may not always be literally true (although it happens often enough), but it is always true spiritually. Men and women are in a state of spiritual collapse and disgrace because they have rejected God's way. But there is a way out.

II. Godly Sorrow Brings Joy (vv. 17-24).

Paul tells us that "godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation" and thus differs from "the sorrow of the world" which "worketh death" (II Cor. 7:10). The prodigal found his way back to the father's house. First, there came to him

1. Remembrance and Realization (vv. 17-19). He began to think. If men and women could only be made to think we would have more repentance, but Satan tries to keep them too busy to think. He remembered what he had as a son in his father's household. What memories will your boy have in his hour of need? You are writing that record now.

He "came to himself." The man in sin is really unbalanced, subnormal, not himself, spiritually insane. When he "came to" he knew that he was in the way of the perishing. Then came

2. Repentance and Return (vv. 20, 21). To repent means to change your mind, to turn your life in an "about face" from sin to God. Repentance calls for more than thinking or talking or praying. One must act. The young man "arose and came to his father." That was his part, and then came the father's part—

3. Restoration and Rejoicing (vv. 22-24). The son expected to return as a hired servant, but his father restored him to full family fellowship. God is gracious, and the repentant sinner finds himself clad in the spotless robe of Christ's righteousness, wearing the ring of sonship, with shoes on his feet, so that he may go on the errands of his Father.

God's plan of salvation brings no half-way redemption. There are no steps or distant relatives in His family. It is a full salvation which brings glorious fellowship in life and service.

You who are still eating the husks of this world, who are in the far country tending swine, we invite you too to come to God and share in the rejoicing in the Father's house.

Life a Struggle

Life is a struggle, but not a warfare; it is a day's labor, but labor on God's earth, under the sun and stars with other laborers, where we may think and sing and rejoice as we work.—John Burroughs.

Woman Killed With Fire
Catherine Bevan, the youngish wife of a 60-year-old New Castle farmer, George Bevan, who was the central figure in a notorious murder case of the Eighteenth century, is believed to have been the only white woman executed by fire in America.

In the early summer of 1731, Peter Murphy, manservant of the Bevan household, announced to the neighborhood that Bevan had died "in a fit." Rumors of family discord gave rise to direct suspicion when it was discovered that Bevan's casket was nailed shut. When it was ordered opened, Bevan was found to have been badly beaten to death and his widow and Murphy were arrested. Murphy was hanged and Mrs. Bevan died by fire, because an English law of the period provided that a wife who poisoned her husband should die by fire.

Electron Microscope

The greatest extension of human vision since 1677, when Anthony van Leeuwenhoek first focused spermatozoa under his crude lens is the electron microscope. The electron microscope turns a beam of electrons on a world invisible to light, and in experimental tests, has magnified it 25,000 times, 10 times the top power of the best microscope. First electron microscope available for immediate practical use in scientific research was announced recently by the Camden, N. J., laboratories of the Radio Corporation of America.

The 2,500 useful magnification limit of the best light microscopes is imposed by the nature of light itself. Microscopic details smaller than one-half the wave length of visible light are literally submerged from sight.

THE NAVY PHOTOGRAPHER ASKS...

Interviewed aboard the U. S. S. Prairie State, U. S. Naval Reserve Training Station in New York City, these midshipmen pictured below, in response to the question, "Why did you enlist in the U. S. Naval Reserve?" said:

Thomas P. Bryan, Jr., Richmond, Va.

"I have had many friends and relatives in the Navy and feel that my enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve offers me an opportunity to serve as an officer in that branch of the service I like best."

W. H. Harris, Jr., Baltimore, Md.

"I realize that at the present time all patriotic men my age should serve in some branch of the service. I have had my eye on the Navy Air Force and feel that my enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve will give me a chance to make good as a Navy flier."

William Powell, Princeton, W. Va.

"I have always been patriotic and now that the time has come to do my bit I want to do it in that branch of our armed forces that I feel best suits my aptitude. I was a teacher and I think that my experience in the Naval Reserve will be invaluable to me in the furtherance of my future career in civilian life."

E. J. Applewhite, Newport News, Va.

"Two years ago I never thought that I would be a Navy officer. I had expected to go into business, but since serving in the Navy I have found that it is just as efficient as the business world and feel that the same number of years in the Navy will be far more valuable to me than those same years spent at a business desk."

Robert E. Cox, Easton, Md.

"I think that service in the Navy or in the Naval Reserve, as an officer in the Air Corps, offers me an excellent opportunity to obtain the best technical and flight schooling. I had planned to go into the oil business but I think now my career will be in the Commercial Aviation field and there certainly isn't a better place to get this training than in the U. S. Navy or Naval Reserve."

G. A. Baker, Jr., Huntington, W. Va.

"I have had several close relatives, who in the past have served as officers in the U. S. Navy. My family physician, Commander Klump of the U. S. Naval Reserve, who is now assigned to active duty, told me of the vast opportunities offered in the Reserve. On his recommendation I enlisted as midshipman. My experience in my first three months of my recommending the Navy or the Naval Reserve to any young patriotic fellow."

LET'S MAKE A DATE FOR LUNCHEON

(See Recipes Below)

FALL LUNCHEON

As the leaves begin to crackle and fall's favorite flower, the chrysanthemum, stirs in the sweet smelling earth, and fruit hangs heavy and ripe on the trees—do your thoughts turn to luncheons and bridge?

If they do, prepare to have one now, using as your theme the leaves, fruits or flowers that fall has to offer as a welcome change from summer luncheons you may have had. If you are having a pre-luncheon bridge, try carrying out the fall theme on the bridge tables with small vases of fall flowers, in candies, and decorations. Favors can be had using the autumn theme and prizes may be wrapped in the burnished fall shades or tied with ribbons of that color.

Whatever you do, have your tables and especially the centerpiece stunning enough to stimulate interest and conversation. It'll make luncheon and bridge afterwards a real success, and star you as a smart hostess.

Play up the oranges and yellow in food for luncheon, picking it up here and there in this dish and that with a touch of green to heighten interest. Do something unusual in the main dish by having a frozen or cooked fish fillet lightly creamed and well garnished. Simple to fix, a dream to behold, yet delicate to taste, here's your main dish:

*Creamed Fillet of Flounder With Mushrooms.

2 packages quick frozen fillet of flounder, cooked or 2½ cups cooked fish
2½ cups fish liquor or light cream
2½ cups sliced mushrooms
6 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper
Watercress

If using frozen flounder, cook in a saucepan, adding 1 cup boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt, and cook until tender. If using cooked fish, be sure it is well drained. Flake fish. Cook mushrooms in butter, until well browned, add flour. Add fish liquor and cream, gradually stirring constantly and cook until thick. Add fish and seasoning. Serve on hot buttered toast or in patty shells. Sprinkle with paprika. Garnish with watercress.

When serving the vegetables, pretty the platter by serving both the green beans, cut in long, lengthwise strips, and the carrots cut lengthwise, side by side. Or have a mound of carrots or beans in the center, and then have alternating mounds of green bean and carrot strips coming out toward the rim of the plate.

If you were to take a poll among your luncheon guests, you would probably be surprised how many

LYNN SAYS:

Sit up and take notice of fall's possibilities for table decoration. Cornucopias and centerpieces of fruits and vegetables interlaced with burnished leaves and brightly colored flowers certainly have a way with them and will do very nicely for your luncheon table.

Take a tip from the outdoors and make the most of the humble squash, apple, pear, or a spray of bittersweet. Let your fruit glisten and shine by rubbing with oil and then polishing to a high luster. For more permanent effects, have the fruit laquered. Arrange pears, apples and grapes on dollies of autumn leaves and set on a mirror for the centerpiece, or have the fruit arranged from the opening of a squash. Dusky red or bright chrysanthemums look effective if arranged in a small squash. Any of these will give your table a smart note and also a piece of grand conversation for luncheon guests.

Speaking of nice touches, put a leaf of deep rich red, brown, or yellow, or a bit of bittersweet to the side of a placecard. This will be just fine to carry out the autumn theme of the centerpiece.

women confess to an extraordinary interest in rolls, bread and muffins. Here's a bread which highlights a luncheon perfectly and whose orange flavor gives just the right touch of piquancy to the meal:

*Orange Honey Bread.

(Makes 1 loaf)
3 tablespoons shortening
1 cup honey
1 egg, well beaten
1½ tablespoons grated orange rind
2½ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
¾ cup orange juice
¾ cup chopped walnuts.

Cream the shortening until light, then add honey gradually, and continue beating until well blended. Stir in the egg and the grated orange rind. Sift the dry ingredients together several times, then add them alternately with the orange juice. Stir in the walnuts. Pour the batter into a well-greased loaf pan and let stand 20 minutes before putting into oven. Bake in a slow (325-degree) oven for 1 hour or until well done when a toothpick comes out clean. If desired, ¾ cup of candied orange peel may be added to the batter to give additional flavor, or may be substituted for the nuts.

I shall pass lightly over the subject of salads. Ours today follow nearly the same pattern as recipes printed in old cookbooks. But I would like to give you a recipe for a dressing. Used on a salad of hard-cooked eggs, lettuce, chopped onions and sliced radishes it's tops.

Rub the yolks of two hard-cooked eggs together with 1 tablespoon of cold water until smooth. To this add 2 tablespoons of salad oil and 1 teaspoon each of salt, powdered sugar and prepared mustard, and blend well. Finally, add 2 tablespoons each of plain and tarragon vinegar.

And last, but not least, here's a recipe for ice cream. Serve this with sliced fresh peaches topped with whipped cream.

Uncooked Custard Ice Cream.

½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1½ cups top milk
2 tablespoons sugar
Pinch of salt
½ pint whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Dissolve the ½ cup of sugar and the salt in the cold milk. Beat the egg white until stiff, add 2 tablespoons sugar and then beat in the egg yolks, one at a time. Combine with the milk and fold in the whipped cream and vanilla. Pour into freezing trays and stir every 15 or 20 minutes until firm. This may also be made in a crank freezer, but the amount should be doubled for the ordinary size of freezer.

If you desire to vary this recipe, here are suggestions:

Maple Ice Cream—Add maple flavoring to taste in place of the vanilla; about 6 drops will be needed.
Butterscotch—Substitute brown sugar for the ½ cup of white sugar.
Chocolate—Melt two squares cake chocolate and add to custard mixture. Four additional tablespoons sugar must be added as well.
Peppermint—Peppermint flavoring, oil of peppermint and enough pink coloring to give the desired color are added.

MARYLAND GAME LAWS

The upland game season in Maryland, which includes rabbits, partridges, ringnecked and mitant pheasants, squirrels, woodcock and wild turkey, opens Nov. 15 and closes Dec 31st.

The open season for wild water fowl Nov. 3 to Dec. 31. It is necessary before hunting water fowl to purchase a Duck Stamp at your nearest postoffice for $1.00.

It is unlawful for any person to hunt any species of game on property other than that, which is owned or tenanted by them without procuring a hunting license, as the Clerk of the Court and his deputies are overruled by business early in November, all persons should procure their hunters license early and avoid the rush. When the hunter purchases his license, he is furnished with addressed postcard on which are enumerated the many different kinds of game which may be killed in the State. A law has been adopted at the last legislature which makes it obligatory for each hunter to report at the end of the season before Jan. 16th., 1942 the number of pieces of various kinds of game he killed during the season. Failure to comply is a fine of $2.00.

Bag limit per day: Rabbits, 6; partridges, 6; pheasants, 2 not over six per season (male birds only) squirrels, 6; woodcock, 4.

All hunters are required to have their license in possession while hunting and tag displayed on outer garment at centre of back. Hunting without a license, $20.00 fine. Licenses not transferable. Hunting on Sunday, penalty $25.00 to $100.00.

Four hundred ninety-five rabbits, 395 partridges, 448 pheasants have been released this year in different sections of the county by deputy game wardens and members of the Game and Fish Organizations for propagation purposes. One hundred seventy-five pheasant eggs were distributed to farmers for hatching.

Three hundred pounds of bird feed mixture has been distributed to farmers to plant wildlife patches and let it stand for food for the birds this winter.

This has been a good season for wildlife, rabbits, quail, pheasants reported to be plentiful in nearly every section in the county.

Deputy Game Wardens has been appointed in the county to assist Deputy Game Warden J. G. Diffendal to enforce the game and fish laws. Sportsmen and farmers should cooperate with the Deputy Game Wardens in the enforcement of the Conservation laws.

Sailors in the United States Navy and Naval Reserve do not lack for reading facilities. Practically every ship is outfitted with a complete library where members of the crew can read for either relaxation or study.
