GOV. ON AUTO ACCIDENTS

Annapolis, Nov. 12—In an effort to hold down the rising tide of fatal traffic accidents throughout the State, Gov. O'Connor's Maryland Traffic Safety Commission has petitioned the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to enforce again the policy of suspending licenses for serious violations of the Motor Vehicle laws.

November and December have always been the most dangerous months for accidents, the Governor and the Safety Commission point out, and with the greatly increased travel on the roads this year, it is almost certain that the death list will be higher unless definite steps are taken.

Encouraged by the remarkable results obtained in July through the policy of suspending licenses, which resulted in a sharp decrease in the number of deaths throughout the State, the Commission is very hopeful that a renewal of this policy by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles will result in the saving of many lives on Maryland roads during these two months.

In making the request for stricter enforcement A. Burton Metzger, Chairman of the Enforcement Committee, said "The Governor's Safety Commission has had proof that strict enforcement, including revocation and suspension of driver's licenses will help reduce accidents."

"During July of this year, the motorist public was warned of the penalties to be inflicted, and they heeded that warning, with the result that there was a reduction of fifteen less Marylanders killed in traffic accidents that month, than in the corresponding month of the year before. There has, however, been a steady rise in fatalities since that time and it again becomes necessary to apply drastic measures."

"In the month of July, the newspapers performed a highly commendable campaign in cooperation with the Safety Commission, and their efforts were rewarded by the fact that many lives were saved, and a sizable reduction was made in personal injury and property damage."

Continuing, Mr. Metzger said: "With the tremendous increase in motor vehicle registration, and travel increasing daily, it behooves every motorist to exercise extreme care. Upon conviction of charges that produce accidents ordinarily, the Commission has requested the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles to make the guilty driver show cause why his license should not be suspended."

CROWDED OUT

The usual number of news and other articles have been crowded out of this issue, for lack of room and space, and the lateness of their receipt. This is our every week experience.

THE PRESIDENT FIGHTS FOR UNION.

And this means Freedom Continuously.

This means, not only fight Hitlerism, but for the completion of our Navy that is being held back by Union Labor leaders, who are said to be numb over this statement.

Brazil has given notice that it will fight alongside with the U. S. The Argentine Republic, the second largest division in South America, has given notice that it will also follow the lead of Brazil.

The "peace at any price" Pacifists are of course very much hurt, evidently forgetting that in case the U. S. should be invaded, would be hurt still more.

The House passed the Repeal of the Neutrality Act, on Thursday by 18 votes, by request of the President, and the inaction of strike leaders was strongly condemned, but the President failed to do likewise. The small vote was a disappointment to England.

WARNING TO AUTO DRIVERS

Danger to motorists and pedestrians on fog-shrouded highways is the subject of a safety bulletin issued by the Keystone Automobile Club.

Both drivers and walkers are urged to be on their guard against the fog perils, the Club asserting that only the utmost care will prevent deaths and injuries.

"Pedestrians," said Edward P. Curran, Safety Director of the Club, "should be extremely cautious when walking along highways obscured by fog, because their presence can be noted by drivers only under the most exceptional circumstances."

"Those afoot can see the lights of approaching cars and should govern their actions accordingly. They should realize that the lights are of little value to motorists in discerning objects on the highway. In fact the principal value of lights in time of fog is to warn of vehicles' approach."

"Motorists should always drive slowly under adverse weather conditions. There are those who believe their familiarity with highways over which they travel frequently gives them the right to drive fast in fog. Drivers in this class fail to take into account the possibility of disabled cars being parked along the highway. Another great danger is the absence of tail-lights on moving vehicles, and the confusion, leading to erratic driving, of operators unaccustomed to the road."

"Drivers of horse-drawn vehicles should not, under any circumstances, venture on fog-bound roads without lights on their vehicles."

HOMEMAKERS' MEET

The November meeting of the Taneytown Homemakers' Club met in the Firemen's Hall, Nov. 6, at 7:30 P. M., with Mrs. Robert Smith presiding. The opening song was "Thanksgiving." One new member, Mrs. Robert Clingan, Sr., was added to the roll. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer, Mrs. Rein Motter reported a balance of $19.09 on hand. The proceeds from the luncheon and flower show amounted to $21.56. The answer to roll-call was "A kind of handicraft work I would like to learn."

Mrs. Theodore Fair invited the club to her home for its Christmas party which will be held Dec. 4th. Mrs. James Lord and Miss Belva Koons to serve on the committees. Small gifts to be exchanged.

Miss Adelaide M. Hoffman, Home Demonstration agent, outlined the program for 1942. She told about the "rug school" to be held at her office in Westminster, Nov. 18 and 19. Miss Hoffman's demonstration was "Fitting of ready-made outer garments." The meeting adjourned to meet Dec. 4th.

Those present were: Miss Hoffman, Miss Belva Koons, Mmes. Robert Smith, George Harner, Theodore Fair, Norval Davis, Rein Motter, Robert Clingan, Sr., Ernest Ritter, Walter Bower, Ellis Ohler, George Baumgardner.

LENGTHY ARTICLES FOR PUBLICATION

We appreciate the fact that when anyone writes an article for publication, he feels that he should do his subject full justice, by telling details. But he is apt to forget the limited space of the paper to which he sends his story.

Many of these contributions are partly free advertisements and worth paying for and we know this very well.

LETTER FROM CHINA.

Can You Help This Worthy Cause?

The following letter explains itself. For quite a number of years The Record has forwarded various small contributions for the "Brownies." For those who feel so disposed we will do so this year, and suggest that response we made not later than Dec. 1st:

215 Missions Building,
169 Yuen Ming Yuen Road
Shanghai, China,
September 22nd., 1941.

DEAR FRIEND:
We are in a peculiar position as to the mails, as well as nearly everything—refugees indeed, and we hardly know whether our letters are going through to you or not—cannot know until after three months—after the time necessary for your reply to come in. I have received no letters, to speak of, after the American mail of the 7th. of July.

I wrote to you about a month and a half ago. I hope you received my letter. In order to make sure that you receive one letter at least, I write to you again. Please do not send me a gift direct. It might never come. Kindly send to my brother, Rev. G. B. Fallock, D. D., 10 Livingston Park, Rochester, N. Y., telling him it is for my work and he will arrange so that I can get it through my Bank.

My two requests in my last letter were for a gift to help give my Brownies a nice Christmas treat and a gift to help with the expenses of my regular missionary work. Do not feel that you must send much, but just what you can spare with a glad heart. I am asking others, and a number giving will enable me to make my 1000 Brownies have a glad Christmas. My brother will see that I get your letters also by and by. What you send will be greatly appreciated and my little China Chinks will say, "Zia-zia-noong." Thank-you. Tell me how much of your gift is for my Brownies' Christmas and how much for my work.

I am writing very near the end of my 45th. year in China. I arrived in China on September 29th., 1896. It has been a strenuous 45 years. I have seen many changes for the better; but I have seen many wars and famines and plagues. I suppose that the last four years have been the worst and yet also the most fruitful in souls saved throughout China. It has also been years of most bloodshed among the nations most closely related, among nations that ought to be loving each other.

I trust you will not be displeased at my using Chinese paper and signing with a pencil; but American paper is difficult to get since the war and Chinese paper smudges or runs when ink is used. I hope, however, that this paper will be "different" to you, so not amiss.

May you have a Merry Christmas, the happier because you helped my little "China Chinks" have a real Christmas. May your New Year be prosperous indeed. Pray much for my Brownies, refugees, and for me.

Respectfully and lovingly,
Yours in Christ's glad service,
(REV.) H. G. C. HALLOCK.

NATIONAL ART WEEK

National Art Week in Carroll Co. and vicinity will be celebrated by an exhibition of the works of the local artists and craftsmen. The exhibit at Westminster will be but one of the many which will be held during the week, November 17-23, throughout the entire United States.

The slogan of the exhibit this year is "American Art for American Homes." It is the hope of the Westminster Committee of which Mr. Paul Harris, Western Maryland College, is chairman, that everyone will come to view this show which will be held in Alumni Hall Lounge on the college campus. The works of art and crafts which are to be exhibited will all be for sale at moderate prices. This appears to be a splendid opportunity for everyone to add to the attractiveness of his home and place of business through the purchase of a original work of art.

Mr. Harris requests that any artist or craftsman with whom contact has not already been made, but who would like to exhibit, to please get in touch with him immediately at the McDaniel Hall Office, Western Maryland College.

DEFENSE PLANS KEEPING O'CONOR ON THE MOVE

Annapolis, Nov. 11—National Defense preparedness, and the part Maryland must play in it, have engaged the attention of Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor with increasing force in the last four days. No less than six speeches and conferences have been required of him between Saturday evening and today, Armistice Day, which, by the Governor's proclamation, will mark the beginning of Civilian Defense Week in Maryland.

Chosen to inaugurate the defense program series of addresses sponsored by the Junior Bar Conference of the American Bar Association, Gov. O'Connor broadcast over Station WFBT Saturday evening a review of the State's accomplishments to date, together with a digest of continuing defense activities.

On Sunday morning, a lengthy conference was held by the Governor with Chief J. W. Just, of the University of Maryland, Fire Defense Coordinator for the State, and representatives of the Volunteer Fire Associations of Maryland, looking to the tightening of the defense plans throughout the State.

The Governor's engagements Monday were devoted almost entirely to defense, beginning with ceremonies at the Triumph Explosives, Inc. of Elkton, at which the Governor presented the United States Navy's "E" for unusual proficiency in production to officials of the Company. During the afternoon, he addressed the Cecil County Branch, Women's Division, Maryland Council of Defense, on "Women's place in National Defense." In the evening, he was the guest and speaker at the annual Armistice Day banquet of Susquehanna Post 135 at Perryville, Md.

Today, he reviewed the annual Armistice parade of the veterans organization of Baltimore City, from the Portico of the City Hall, later making the chief address of the day at the services on Memorial Plaza.

A New Industry in Taneytown.

A Frozen Fruit Locker System is being erected by Charles E. Sell, on Broad Street, Taneytown, and when completed, which Mr. Sell expects to be about Dec. 1, 1941, will contain 210 boxes or locker for the use of customers in storing food.

The building, 18x24x30 ft. is built adjoining his ice plant and is built of necessary material in creating an air-tight building that has walls 8 inches thick and will maintain a very low temperature.

About 2000-ft. of pipe, in coil design is being used, and through these pipes flow ammonia liquor that generates a temperature 5 degrees below zero.

This is the first building of this type in Taneytown, another building of the same character but smaller is operated by a Mr. Smith at Otterdale Mill. Mr. Sell says food, such as strawberries, lima beans, roasting ears, chickens, etc., even a quarter of beef can be kept in these lockers for an indefinite time at a small cost. He claims that the quality of food is not affected in any way.

Some machine tools used in making defense equipment weigh more than 50 tons and stand as high as a three-story house.

Defense Program For Children

At the request of the U. S. Children's Bureau, Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Maryland Bureau of Child Hygiene, directs attention to cooperative measures which all communities are urged to consider in order that the welfare and safety of the children of this country may be assured.

In connection with the President's proclamation setting aside November 11-16, as Civilian Defense Week, Friday, November 14th., has been designated as Health and Welfare Day. It is hoped that special consideration will be given in the observance of these special days to the development of plans for protecting the health and guarding the welfare of the children of the nation.

Adequate provisions for safety and health for every child, lead the list of objectives in the defense program for children. Emphasis is laid on the importance of advance planning to assure safety in case of grave emergency; and on the continuation and extension of the health services now available for mothers and children, including maternity care, continuous health supervision of all children; medical, surgical and dental care of children and young people beyond school age.

Measures that will keep children well and strong physically, with particular reference to their nutritional needs, come next on the list, with special reference to the education of parents and children in the selection and preparation of foods; extension of school lunch services; extension of the food stamp plan for low-income families; and utilization of advisory services of nutritionists in health and welfare agencies.

Security in home life comes next among the objectives, including provision for proper housing, care of dependent children; aid to mothers and responsible care and supervision of children whose mothers are employed; social services through county or local agencies to help conserve home life and make good school and community relationships possible for children with special needs and handicaps.

Recognition of the need for maintaining and extending all possible safeguards against the employment of children in hazardous occupations in industry and agriculture is urged as a further objective; and particular emphasis is laid on the importance of character building and the training of children for citizenship through the continuation and extension of educational and other services, to learn to accept responsibility, to understand the rich heritage and purposes of our civilization, to develop high standards of personal integrity and intelligent loyalty to democratic ideals and institutions.

RUG MAKING DEMONSTRATIONS

An exhibit or homemade rugs will be held at the Home Demonstration Office in the Postoffice building, Westminster, the third week in November, including Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday; it is announced by Adelaide M. Hoffman, Home Demonstration Agent for Carroll Co.

On Tuesday, November 18, at 2 P. M., Miss Hoffman will speak on the preparation of materials for rugs, history of hooked rug making and the selection of color and design appropriate for rugs. The hooking process used in rug making will be demonstrated by Mrs. David T. Gaver, Mt. Airy, who will be guest demonstrator on Tuesday. On Wednesday the 19, the guest demonstrators will be Miss Marguerite Giller, Millers, and Miss Belva Koons, Taneytown.

On Friday, the 21st., Mrs. Ira Dorsey and Mrs. Paul Leidy will be the guest demonstrators.

The exhibits will be open all three days and people who are interested are invited to attend. Anyone in the County who has made rugs is also invited to send one or more rugs for the exhibit, to make the occasion more interesting for those who come to see the rugs. The exhibit is not competitive but merely for the purpose of showing other people what can be made from materials which would otherwise be discarded.

A method of processing ordinary steel so that it may be used instead of aluminum and special alloy steel in the manufacture of certain airplane equipment has just been announced.

Random Thoughts

"LISTENING IN"

Unfortunately, we are partly ignorant creatures. We see things happen that we do not fully understand, and right away reach the conclusion that they are wrong.

Sometimes we receive real light by "listening in" on the Radio. The heads of our government take this means of letting us have "insides" openly made. They are doing this, too, through the radios, but still conducting a secret diplomacy that should remain secret, for the most obvious of reasons.

American citizens of the intelligent classes, are on the increase, and our Democracy as a nation is to be trusted. We have a Democratic Republic in fact and use in the U. S. of A.

"THE MORE WE PAY NOW"

The Saturday Evening Post recently said editorially, practically in the form of a question "The more we pay now."

We wonder how true to fact, this is? Some, of course pay more, but there are experts in paying as little as possible—and some, not at all.

As government demands, so we must pay—always remembering the suckers commonly know as "dead-head."

There are those who do not pay for their home paper, nor the home merchants who still sell "on time" but do not want too.

The manufacturers and jobbers know "the 30-day men" who would pay if they could.

The Saturday Evening Post is not sold this way. With it, pay in advance, or you miss this fine publication.

Telling "whole truth, and nothing but the truth" is more easily preached than practiced.

"I MIGHT BE WRONG—BUT"

About the best editorial we have ever read on the general subject of the war's problems, is one that was written by Editor Stromberg of the Ellicott City Times and appeared in its issue of last week.

We once knew Mr. Stromberg very well as he was connected with the N. R. A. in as that years ago The Editor of The Record then opposed, as it nearly put us out of business.

Mr. Stromberg, we think, followed Col. Powell as Editor of The Times, who usually staged a meeting of the Maryland Press Association, with some side attraction. His editorial reproduced below, says:

"In seeking a reasonable conviction as to a policy and goal in the present world crisis and the challenge to our American traditions, the problem is simplified when we eliminate all considerations except the one on which all are agreed. That consideration is that we must and we shall send all our energies and resources before paying tribute to a nation which threatens to dominate the world.

I say the conviction becomes simpler because, in the final analysis, we return to the inescapable proposition that whatever shortcomings might exist in our democratic institutions, we will never accept any substitute. On that basis there can be no real difference of opinion among true Americans. And what we need most in the United States today is unity of thought and purpose. There are so many by-roads in an analysis of the many angles directly related to the present crisis that many of us lost sight of the final objective. And the great misfortune of the entire problem is that too many important people use these by-roads in their obviously erroneous conception to lead the people to the wrong destination.

Unless we dismiss from our minds any fears and apprehensions regarding the course this country must pursue, we will not have the unity of thought and purpose so essential. We must keep in mind only the final outcome of the world conflict.

In its effect on America. In that type of thinking we cannot escape the fact that such problems as heavy taxes, arming our merchant ships, conveying shipments of arms, keeping sea lanes open, insistence on freedom of the seas, possibility of an expeditionary force, must be considered subordinate to the final decision. Any one of the above mentioned can be considered a major issue fraught with grave consequences in normal times. But in the present crisis there is nothing of paramount importance save victory for democracy. The very thought of an expeditionary force sends chills down our spines, but, when we consider the sacrifices and hardships which are the foundation of the freedom and liberty we have enjoyed is it not our obligation to future generations to preserve this freedom and liberty? Does not life seem less important and death seem less dreadful when contemplated in relation to ideals of religion, family, country?"

"PRESERVE LITTLE BUSINESS"

The quoted heading, as coming from Alfred Landon, former Republican candidate for President, nationally carries with it a Republican taint; but as a heading it is timely.

Little Business needs to be successful, if communities made up of small ventures can be expected to be a success.

Large corporations heavily capitalized may also be in a position to monopolize such articles, we think, have a place in the spot-light of the publicity that is going the daily rounds.

"Under the smoke-screen of national defense a little group of New Dealers are attempting to establish a collective state in America. The plight of the small business man in this country is partly because this little but influential group of New Dealers believe his day is past. They say that he is an economic anachronism, like the livery stable. While saying this they are working hand in hand with Big Business to make their words a reality.

Big Business fails to not the true reason the oil properties were confiscated in Mexico. That is, if the Mexican oil leases had not been based on huge concessions, and had been based on 80-acre and 160-acre tracts owned by individual owners, as they are in this country, there would not have been the expropriation by the Mexican government.

The answer that the New Dealers seek to our mechanized industrial civilization is big cartels, huge private monopolies managed by the state. Then comes the inevitable appearance of the man on horseback, who always follows the elimination of the eighty-acre farmer and the small business man."

CRACKING DOWN

The United States Government officials have under New Deal dominance been cracking down on industry and capital, but nary a crack for Labor. Why?

Can it be that a half million dollar donation to the Democratic political machine by John L. Lewis which helped elect Roosevelt and a lot of his plastic Congressmen, is now used by that same arrogant Lewis to close the captive mines with their 53,000 employees?

Looks like Lewis has adopted the slogan, "To Hell with the country, the miners must get their deserts." Where will this attitude lead us? Has the president "guts" enough to stop this nonsense? Let's hope so.

THE NAVY ISN'T NEUTRAL

Never before have the American people celebrated Navy Day with so much appreciation of the "first line of defense." Many who once thought that America's defense could begin at the water's edge now realize that the oceans become highways for attack unless held by ships and guns—and men. Many who hope for a world community of order, justice and freedom now recognize that the policing of sea and air lanes is as necessary as that of city streets.

New understanding of these things has given the United States the largest Navy ever set afloat. More than 700 small ships and sea-going auxiliary craft have been bought in the last year and building is at a faster pace than ever. Because the Navy was already on a war-footing it has been able to render invaluable service in the battle of the Atlantic without giving any encouragement to Japanese ambitions in the Pacific.

Indeed, while isolationists have been saying, "We don't want another A. E. F.," an American Expeditionary Force has been operating very effectively all the way from Iceland to Guam. And while Americans debate about neutrality, the Navy is fighting. If you don't call it fighting ask the men who stand by the guns night and day in the foggy North Atlantic, never knowing when a Nazi sub or raider will attack. Or ask the men who saw their shipmates killed on the Kearny. The Navy repealed the Neutrality Act months ago.

That Congress should still be debating it testifies to a lingering failure to understand the necessity for American and Britain to keep control of the seas. There has been also some desire not to add unnecessarily to the Navy's tasks and risks. Arming merchantmen ought to ease a bit the job of guarding them. Sending American freighters into belligerent ports would hardly increase patrol duties, which around Britain at least can best be performed by the British. But the American people should recognize that complete repeal of the Neutrality Act may increase the shooting on the Atlantic—Christian Science Monitor.

DO YOU NOW HOW TO MANAGE YOUR HUSBAND?

A novel questionnaire which gives every woman a chance, through self-appraisal, to find out if she is handling her husband the right way. Don't miss this unusual feature in the November 23rd issue of The American Weekly the Big Magazine distributed with the Baltimore Sunday American. On sale at all newsstands.

NOTHING ELSE TO DO

The big question before Congress at the present time calls for repeal of a provision in the Neutrality law about arming merchant vessels. The law states that whenever there is a war, anywhere, "it shall thereafter be unlawful—for any American vessel engaged in commerce with any foreign state to be armed."

In the first World War Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan took a determined stand against Americans engaging passage on ships that would go into the European war zone. He also opposed the arming of American ships carrying commerce between the United States and England and France. When the present war broke out the Bryan philosophy was approved by the American government. The sinking of the Lusitania and other ships influenced Congress when it passed the present Neutrality Act.

Our Neutrality Act is not based on international law. It is a statement of the policy of the United States, and under the operation of our Neutrality law American ships are already defying Hitler by going into waters that he has mapped for his war zone. The United States has also challenged Japan by navigating our ships in war zones prohibited by that nation.

Inasmuch as the neutral policy of the United States is so un-neutral that we do nearly everything Germany tells us not to do, the step to arm American vessels is a natural suggestion. It has been recommended by the President. The proposition will be approved by Congress because the Robin Moor and other boats have been targets for German submarines.

Elsewhere in this correspondence we have stated that the Senate is "all set for a bitter fight" against making any changes in the present Neutrality Act, and that is a true statement. Nevertheless, Congress has very definitely decided that "there's nothing else to do."—J. E. Jones in N. I. News Service.

Vicious Chulos Attack

Coon Hounds on Hunts

TUCSON, ARIZ.—Coon dogs and hounds, which are used to hunt wild mountain lions in Arizona, are born with exceptionally sad-looking faces—but these days they are looking even more sorrowful.

The reason for the sadness of southern Arizona hunting dogs, who can tree or kill a cougar, is the chulo—a small, vicious little animal called "tree-monkey" by the Mexicans.

The chulos took over the Tumacacori district of the Coronado National forest, according to Ranger Gilbert Sykes, and now are undisputed rulers of the roost.

Sykes reported several packs of lion-hunting dogs had tangled with the chulos and that the hounds came off second best.

Some Helpful Hints FOR TELEPHONE USERS

In the rush of business, domestic and social duties, the simple little things which must be done to get the most satisfactory telephone service are sometimes forgotten. The hints given below are not new—they are just reminders:

CONSULT DIRECTORY

Memory is often faulty. Look up the number when in doubt.

WHEN ANSWERING

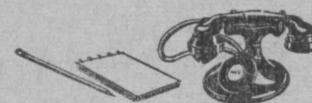

Always answer pleasantly. It may be your best friend. It may be someone who will get a lasting impression of you from a first call.

BE SLOW—BE FAST

Be slow to hang up. Give the person you're calling time to answer.

Be fast to answer when your telephone rings. The person calling you will appreciate it.

PAD AND PENCIL

You'll save time and steps and have a written record of important messages if you keep a pad and pencil by the telephone.

IF YOU WOULD BE UNDERSTOOD

Keep your lips about one inch from the mouthpiece and speak directly into it, clearly and naturally. Chewing gum, pencils, cigars, pipes and cigarettes make it almost impossible for your words to flow clearly into the transmitter.

HANG UP GENTLY AND CAREFULLY

It may annoy the person at the other end of the line if you hang up roughly. Also, if your receiver doesn't rest properly on the hook, people who call you will get a "busy" until this condition is corrected.

There's always time to use the telephone properly and to keep a smile in your voice.

Modern Pied Piper Needs More Than Pretty Tune

You're tossing $1.80 down the sewer every time you let a rat live . . . for that's the yearly cost of feeding a rat. This startling fact is disclosed in an article in Coronet which declares that the modern Pied Piper needs more than a pretty tune to bring the rats from their holes. To prove it, Coronet tells about Chicago's "ratzkrieg," the latest move in that city's rodent warfare.

One of the biggest difficulties in fighting a rat war, says Coronet, is to convince people it isn't only the poor in the slums who have rats. The rich have them too; perhaps sleeker, fatter rats, but they have them, and most people don't realize the amount of harm a rat can do. He starts fires by eating away insulation and causing short circuits. His worms may pass on trichinosis. He leaves his excreta everywhere and through that his parasites and germs. His fleas spread bubonic plague and perhaps infantile paralysis. His lice carry the typhus germ.

The interest in eliminating rats in Chicago began when the commissioner of public works became interested in rats as part of the city's sanitation problem, and he selected Charles S. Eaton to be Chicago's Pied Piper. Mr. Eaton chose a bait made from red squill, a dried sea onion and from the eastern shores of the Mediterranean, because it will not kill cats or dogs or humans. The squill was mixed with crumbs or coarse meal, moistened to a dough and squirted with oil of anise to remove the human odor.

Sequoiah

Sequoiah, Indian genius, was born about 1770 in Tennessee to a white man and his Cherokee Indian wife. Illiterate—he never attended school and could not speak, read or write English—Sequoiah is nevertheless celebrated as the only man ever to invent an entire alphabet, the Cherokee alphabet of 86 characters. He accomplished this feat, which enabled his tribesmen to "talk on paper like the white man," in the face of menace from superstitious fellow Indians. Sequoiah, who in later life was active in establishing better relations between the Indians and whites, has been immortalized in the giant California redwood trees—named "sequoia" after him.

Smiling to Rest Face

Buying a Dollar

A buyer should look for a number of things in judging the quality of a rug. A good backing increases the serviceability of rug or carpeting. To test the quality of the backing, grasp it in your hands and feel it. Note whether it seems firm instead of limp.

In a pile rug examine the density of the pile—that is, the number of tufts per square inch and the length of the pile. Bend the rug over your hand and notice how thick the pile is.

The length of the pile varies in different types of weaves and so can't be considered alone as an indication of quality. Obviously a long pile that is sparse (having fewer tufts per square inch), would not be as serviceable as a shorter pile that is thicker.

Domestic Rugs

A knowledge of the types of domestic rugs on the market may help you to make a good selection.

Axminster is a rug with a pile fabric and cotton, linen or jute backing. A peculiar characteristic of an Axminster rug is that it can be rolled only lengthwise because it's made stiff by the crosswise ridges on the back.

Broadloom is not a particular weave or quality, but means any seamless rug made on a broad loom 54 inches or more wide.

Frieze is a rug made with especially twisted yarns which gives the top surface a pebbly or nubby effect.

Canine Wired for Sound; Receiving Set on Back

Zoe, an Alsatian police dog attached to the Bourke Street police barracks, in Sydney, Australia, probably is the only dog in the world who plays the role of four-footed radio car. This highly-trained animal is equipped with a light-weight receiving set, which is strapped to her back.

At a recent police show in Sydney, Zoe and her master, Constable Denholm, put on an act that attracted considerable attention. The constable concealed himself behind a clump of trees, where he talked into the microphone of a small portable broadcasting set. Zoe took up a position more than a hundred yards away in the center of the big field where the maneuvers were being staged. The radio set on her back was tuned in to the wave-length of the broadcasting outfit and she took a series of orders from the master she couldn't see.

Denholm told Zoe to break into a trot, then commanded her to stop and sit down. She did. She also rolled over at the command of the voice that came out of the box on her back, leaped over a low wooden barrier, climbed a ladder, filled a can from a tub of water, fired a revolver by pulling a lanyard with her teeth, and did other stunts—all by remote control.

It would be possible, of course, to recall dogs on a manhunt to headquarters and to direct their movements, to a certain extent, so long as the broadcasting officers could see the dogs, either with the naked eye or through binoculars.

Screened Sand Gives Up Gold as a By-Product

FRESNO.—Recovery of thousands of dollars worth of gold each month—more than some of the early white settlers in this area obtained in a lifetime of panning—is just a sideline to the builders of Friant dam on the San Joaquin river east of here.

The sand and gravel dug from the river bed with great scoop shovels provide the source of the gold.

Thought Should Be Given In Choosing Fertilizer

When the need for additional garden fertilizer has been determined, some thought should be given to the kind of fertilizer to use, and never should we grab up anything without consideration of what can be accomplished by its application. Previously heavy manured ground is generally in good physical condition.

Chemical fertilizers are the ones which give quick results and stimulate growth. Among the offerings are dried blood, which is essentially a nitrogenous fertilizer with marked solubility. Dried blood is valuable for top dressing leafy crops of vegetables. Blood, when mixed with bone, is a better balanced fertilizer, although we are not likely to derive the benefits from bone as rapidly as we do from dried blood.

Bone meal, by itself, or mixed with another fertilizer, decomposes rather slowly; and while it is a long-lasting material that adds potash and phosphoric acid to the soil, it should be applied well in advance of its need.

The complete fertilizers available at dealers combine the essentially needed elements, carefully blended and reduced to a form which makes for most immediate solubility. Because of this, they can be highly recommended.

One of the most rapidly acting nitrogenous fertilizers is nitrate of soda. Be careful with its use.

'Scissors Cut Friendship'

"I'll give you a cent for them," said the recipient of a pair of exquisite embroidery scissors which had been tendered as a gift—thus evading the law of lore.

For it is written into the archives of superstition that a present of knife or scissors cutteth in twain the love or friendship between him or her that giveth and receiveth.

Among the middle classes during the reign of Elizabeth in England, the staple for wedding gifts was a pair of scissors.

UNCLE SAM'S SAILORS ON HORSEBACK SEE PANAMA FROM THE SADDLE

No, the U. S. Navy doesn't have a cavalry unit, but many a sailor straddled leather before giving up his bucking broncho or plow horse for the bounding main.

The sailors in whites above are seamen in the U. S. Naval Reserve on shore leave in Panama. No distinction is made between sailors in the Naval Reserve and those in the regular Navy. Enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve is for four years, but all men enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be released to inactive duty as soon after the national emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistment. If the emergency ends within a period of several months, those enrolled in the Naval Reserve will not be required to complete their 4 year term in active service.

Opportunities for advancement, to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure are identical whether a man enlists in the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve, and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

LITTLESTOWN.

Quick action on the part of Miss Mary Grimes, employed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weaver, M. Street, saved an infant daughter of the Weaver's from serious injury or death when a coal oil heater exploded in the dining room Friday morning about 9 o'clock. When the explosion occurred Miss Grimes picked up the flaming heater and carried it from the room in which the eight months old child was sleeping. Miss Grimes suffered burns of both legs, had her hair badly singed, before she got to the back porch where she had to drop the stove, with the burns she had suffered she went back into the house for baby and carried it to safety, meanwhile a small boy in the girl's care had run from the house. The infant was unhurt but was blackened by smoke, the burning heater fired the party enclosed porch, damaged the walls and floor. All was burned on the porch but the washing machine. Mrs. Luther Sentz who lives in the other half of the house carried water from her part, and put the fire out before the Fire Company arrived while the fire was confined to the porch furnishing and walls throughout the house were damaged by smoke. Mr. and Mrs. Weaver were at work in the Windsor Shoe Factory when the fire occurred.

The Most Rev. Charles F. Buddy, Bishop of San Diego, Cal., whose father was a native of town, was celebrant of the 7:30 A. M. Mass in St. Aloysius Catholic Church on Sunday, following a long desire to offer mass in the church in which his father was baptized in 1856. Miss Marie Buddy, noted soprano singer and a cousin of the Bishop presided at the organ. George and James Collins also cousins of the Bishop sang, Jesus, My Lord, My God, My All; O Lord I am not Worthy, was sung as a duet by Miss Buddy and James Collins.

The John W. Ocker Post American Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Post worshipped in a body Sunday evening at Christ Church. It was a union service of all the churches of town and vicinity. FEESERSBURG.

The High School girls of our town enjoyed the Alumni dance at the Elmer Wolfe School on Wednesday evening of last week; and it is a happy occasion when one can "smile at prettiest, laugh with the wittiest, and dance with the one you love the best."

Mr. and Mrs. John Weaver who resided near Crouse's Mill the past few years were conveyed in two large trucks, early last week to Mineral Springs, near Parkersburg, W. Va.; where they have inherited a home and possessions. They left on Tuesday night expecting to reach their destination by Wednesday evening. They will be missed as workers at home and in the church where Mrs. Weaver took an active part. She is a sister of our neighbor, J. L. Sellers.

On Sunday, Wilbur Miller, Jr., from the N. C. Camp made a brief call to see us, and produced seven rattles from a 4 foot snake he and his Lieutenant killed when they found it crossing their path while on maneuvers in S. C. The number of rattles tell the age of the creeping thing, and Junior's only regret is that he couldn't secure the hide for a belt—as it was so beautiful. Pvt. Wilbur Fritz, of Linwood stationed at Morven, N. C., was with the M. Grinder family at the same time, and the boys returned to camp together that night. Our soldier boys are looking fine, can it be because of regular hours for food and rest.

Visitors from Pittsburgh last week were: Mrs. Margaret Albert and daughter, Miss Martha, with a friend and her child at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sellers on Big Pipe Creek, near Hobson Grove, and with Roger Sentz and family, on Sunday.

No we didn't get to church on Sunday because of slow and uncertain movement, but Frank P. Bohn was back to take charge of Sunday School and everyone seemed at home. A letter was read from Sister Martha of the Deaconess Mother House acknowledging the donation from Mt. Union with grateful thanks; and informing us of the 80th birthday of Sister Sophia on Nov. 12th.

Preaching Service followed S. S. on Sunday morning at Mt. Union with good attendance, when National hymns were sung and a sermon on "The Armor of God", was given by the pastor, Bowersox in commemoration of Armistice Day a beautiful basket of yellow chrysanthemums from Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Beggs, of Baltimore, was placed at the chancel in memory of parents, Jacob S. Gladhill and wife. And another lovely jar yellow chrysies were presented in honor of Miss Lizzie T. Birely by Mrs. William Crabbs, Union Bridge, her own remarkable flowers. The annual Thankoffering service will be held two weeks later, Nov. 23, at 7:30 P. M., when they hope to have a special program with the assistance of the pastor.

The chicken and oyster supper at the Parish House on Saturday evening was more largely attended than usual; more plates served, 245; more profit financially. The men and women of the church gave liberally of food supplies and worked faithfully, and the young ladies served well and pleasantly at the tables. A donation of fine celery was made by C. D. Beggs. Many former friends were present for a social time together. A few useful articles were sold for the Missionary treasury. The only fly in the ointment was that one woman lost her dress; and several went home with others coats; but all's well that ends well, and adjustments have been made. Thanks everybody.

Mrs. Maurice Late and daughter, Winifred with Mrs. C. Wolfe spent an evening last week with the Birely's for a study of the comprehensive catechism of the Lutheran Church. Winifred aged 14 has proven a fine student, by the wise answers given the many questions—a just reproof to many of the participants on the radio Quiz program; we've noticed the most of them are ignorant of Bible history no matter how wise they are on other subjects.

Mrs. Ruth Ritter, of Johnsville, spent the week-end with Miss Sue Birely, attending the church supper on Saturday evening and S. S. and Church at Mt. Union on Sunday—meeting many earlier friends.

Miss Maxine Sinnott, Union Bridge, with her aunt, Mrs. Katie O'Connor, of Baltimore, were callers in this town, on Sunday afternoon, looking well and bright. Her sister, Mrs. Addie Sinnott visited their brother, George Delphay at the same time.

Rev. Arthur Schlatt and wife with her parents, the Elvin Cromwell family, spent Sunday evening at Grove Dale, where the former conducted a good Sabbath evening service—with a sermon "The Resurrection of the Body," some splendid gospel singing led by himself, and offered earnest prayer. He told of a case of miraculous faith-healing, and has had wide experience as an evangelist.

On Monday we had a pleasant evening with Mrs. E. Scott Koons and her sister, Mrs. Bertha Albaugh, of Keymar, with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Shirk, of Taneytown. Pvt. Frederick Crouse, of Camp Holabird, Baltimore—home for Armistice Day was present at the same time.

Miss Catherine Crumbacker was taken to Frederick Hospital, on Monday, suffering with appendicitis. She has been a faithful employee at the Rubber Factory, Taneytown, for a number of years—but has suffered with these attacks for some time.

Armistice Day! Here's hoping for another soon—and no more war.

BRUCEVILLE MOURNS A GOOD NEIGHBOR

The people of Bruceville are mourning over the loss of a good and steadfast friend. No one who has ever lived in Bruceville will be more missed. After almost twenty years of life here, Mr. Henry N. Lansinger was taken ill about five days before his death on Sunday morning at 3 o'clock. He never said an unkind word to anyone and never quarreled with anyone. He was willing to give time and help to anyone who needed it. His enjoyment was so great in simple things and life itself that just to meet and exchange a few words with him made one feel better one self.

His garden, his chickens, and his fishing were pleasures enough for him. He needed none of the excitement that so many of us waste our lives in trying to gain. During sixty years of married life he won more and more entirely the love and trust of all his family. His good influence began at home and spread as far as his acquaintance went.

All we in Bruceville will continue to feel his loss. Even his cat and pet goose will be treasured for his sake.

LUNCH PACKER'S SPECIAL

There's one bit of meal planning strategy practiced by all experienced lunch packers. It's known simply as: "Selecting tonight's meat with an eye to tomorrow's sandwiches."

If you like to follow such a plan and serve an occasional dinner with future lunches in mind, a beef tongue will fit your needs to a T, since it is a compact, boneless piece of meat that slices evenly without tearing or falling apart.

Probably the most convenient and economical place to simmer a beef tongue is in the deep well cooker of the modern electric range. The cooking period for a beef tongue varies from 2 to 3 hours, depending on the size, but because the electric well cooker is a heavily insulated kettle, no more current is consumed by the ordinary 100-watt electric light. More than that, the dinner's dessert may be placed in an inset pan above the meat and steamed at the same time!

Directions are given here for a rich steamed chocolate date pudding as well as for preparing the tongue from the cooking broth—a trick you'll like because it adds a new and piquant flavor to the hot tongue slices.

CURRIED TONGUE

(Serves 6-8)

- 3-pound tongue
- Water to cover (about 6 cups)
- 2½ teaspoons salt
- 1 medium onion, chopped (about ¾ cup)
- 1 cup celery, chopped
- 2 to 4 teaspoons curry powder (to suit own taste)
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/3 cup water

Wipe tongue with damp cloth, place in cooker and cover with water (about 6 cups). Add salt, cover cooker, place in well and switch to high heat. When steam escapes freely switch to the lowest heat that will maintain steaming and cook for two hours. Then remove tongue, skin, and return to the liquid in the cooker together with the chopped onion, celery and curry powder. (Note: If steaming a pudding with the tongue, place it in the cooker at this point). Cover cooker, switch to high heat until steam escapes freely—then again switch to the lowest heat that will maintain steaming and cook 1½ hours.

Then to make the gravy remove 2 cups of the broth from the cooker to a saucepan. Combine the flour with the 1/3 cup water and stir until smooth. Add this flour paste to the broth and place on an electric surface until over a high heat. Cook until it thickens, stirring constantly. Slice tongue and serve this gravy over it.

STEAMED CHOCOLATE DATE PUDDING

(Serves 6-8)

- 1/3 cups cake flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1½ teaspoons unsweetened chocolate
- 3 tablespoons butter
- ½ cup butter
- 1 egg
- 2/3 cup milk
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ½ cup chopped dates
- ¼ cup whipping cream

Sift flour, measure and sift again with the salt and baking powder. Place chocolate and butter in a small pan and melt on an electric surface until over low heat; then pour in a mixing bowl and cool slightly. Add sugar, unbeaten egg, milk and vanilla extract and beat vigorously to combine thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Stir in chopped dates. Grease the pan which fits in the well cooker and pour in the pudding batter. Cover top of pan with waxed paper and secure with a rubber band or cord. Insert rack in cooker and place pan of pudding on rack. (Note: If steaming pudding without other food in cooker, pour 2 cups water in bottom of cooker.) Cover cooker and insert in well. Switch to high heat. When steam escapes freely, switch to the lowest heat that will maintain steaming and steam for 1½ hours. Remove pudding and serve with whipped cream.

"Old Taneytown's" "North" Side

To Fairview Avenue belongs the fact that it had the first concrete sidewalk—in front of the home of Newton Augustus Reindollar, we are not sure of the width of Taneytown's streets, but "Avenue" seems to fit in this case.

Daniel H. Fair, owned the land immediately north of it, on which the Blue Ridge Rubber plant is built it having been owned by John and Samuel Reindollar, the main home of this company being Cambridge, Mass.

This is Taneytown's main industry, and now has about 800 employees, working in three eight hours shift.

A brick yard owned by Harvey Weant, we think was perhaps the first and oldest industry, but it was not long used. Where the brick made here was perhaps in the building of the home of Mrs. Stott and Miss Anna Galt built by Samuel Little who first owned it.

The cannery was operated for A. W. Feeser, then as now; doing a large business managed by Baxter Chenoweth.

A continuation of this same Reindollar land now includes the Taneytown High School, one of the best equipped in the county, and continues to the farm and home of Ernest Bankard and then on to "Stump-town" and the "Roberts' Mill" property, that we believe is not now in use, and is owned by Mrs. Ida B. Koontz and fronts on "Big Pipe Creek, along which is the extensive Park of that name owned by the family of Chas. E. H. Shriver, just beyond which is Pine-Mar Camp that is in charge of The Church of God.

Old Taneytown 25 Years Ago

The war in Europe was a stand-off, except that the Roumanians had stopped running and are again on the aggressive. The Russians also claimed slight advances. A German submarine was reported to be in the Gulf of Mexico, supposed to be looking for foreign vessels plying between gulf ports and Europe.

S. Raymond Senseney resigned as treasurer of the Union Bridge Banking and Trust Company, after having been associated with the company for more than sixteen years.

Levi D. Maus, of near Tyrone, left three whopper ears of corn at the Record Office, measuring over 12 in. each. He said that he had two acres of this corn that made him 54 barrels, some of the ears measuring 15 inches.

Mr. Cornelius Stover, a well-known farmer of this district, died at the Frederick Hospital, following an operation. His age was 68 years, 4 months and 17 days. He left his wife and four children.

The total cost of the walk from the Lutheran Church to the cemetery including purchased land, grading and draining, was $910.90.

Mrs. Daniel H. Fair, who had been spending four weeks in Baltimore, returned home, accompanied by her son, Robert.

E. K. Leatherman & Son, as successors to Mark R. Snider, entered the general merchandise business in Harney, having purchased both the store and dwelling property, and stock of goods from Mr. Snider.

The Taneytown Garage Company were dealers of the Overland automobile.

Mrs. Peter Graham, of Union Bridge, was taken to a hospital in Hagerstown, for an operation.

Ninety-four names were listed in The Record against trespassing for hunting, fishing, etc.

Many of Uncle Sam's Naval Reserve Midshipmen are receiving a part of their navigation instruction at New York City's Hayden Planetarium in the American Museum of Natural History. NOTICE TO ALL LICENSEES FOR THE SALE OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES, WITH RESPECT TO THE SALE OF CIDER

Numerous inquiries have been made of this Board regarding the sale of CIDER by persons who hold licenses for the sale of beer, or beer and wines, in Carroll County. The sale of cider containing one-half of one percentum or more of alcohol by volume is NOT PERMITTED under these licenses.

Section 34 of Article 2B of the Code of Public General Laws of the State of Maryland provides:

"No retail dealer, or other than the holder of a Class E or Class F license, shall purchase any alcoholic beverages except from a duly licensed manufacturer or wholesaler under the provisions of this Article, and no retail dealer shall at any time keep or permit to be kept upon the licensed premises any alcoholic beverages except those so purchased. It shall be unlawful for any persons to drink on the licensed premises of any license holder any alcoholic beverages not purchased from the license holder on said premises and not permitted by this Article to be consumed on the premises; and, likewise, it shall be unlawful for any license holder to permit any person to drink any alcoholic beverage not purchased from the said license holder on the premises covered by the license which he holds and not permitted by this Article to be consumed on the premises."

All licensees in Carroll County are warned, in pursuance of the law as quoted above, that all alcoholic beverages sold by them must be those only which are purchased by them from a licensed manufacturer or wholesaler under provisions of said article, and since it is not possible to purchase cider from a manufacturer of alcoholic beverages licensed under the provisions of said Article, it therefore is not lawful to sell cider containing one-half of one per cent. or more of alcohol by volume. It further is unlawful for a licensee to keep or permit to be kept upon the licensed premises any alcoholic beverages not purchased from a duly licensed manufacturer or wholesaler. If cider is either kept or sold upon any of the premises licensed for the sale of alcoholic beverages within Carroll County, the license holder is liable to prosecution for violation of the law, and to a revocation of his license.

This Board has been advised that cider has been and now is being sold at a number of the places in Carroll County licensed for the sale of beer, or beer and light wines, perhaps under the misapprehension on the part of licensees that it is lawful for them to sell cider. This practice must be stopped. It likewise is unlawful for any person, other than a license holder, to sell cider containing one-half of one per cent. or more of alcohol by volume.

Dated at Westminster, Maryland, this 10th. day of November, 1941.

STORY OF THE WEEK

Quick Job

By JAMES FREEMAN

(Associated Newspapers-WNU Service.)

TWO hours ago, Leland Barth had walked in his, Nelson's house, a big, strong, healthy young man, wearing a faintly questioning look. He had come in response to a telephone call.

"It is important that you come," Nelson had said. "For the matter I want to discuss with you concerns Sheila."

Sheila was the cause of everything that had happened. Nelson had loved her, and she for a time had loved Nelson. She had loved him until Leland Barth came along. After that—well, things had been different.

Nelson had brooded for months, and brooding is not good for a man. Eventually he had begun to scheme and plan. The scheming and planning had taken months. But now—this morning—everything was in readiness, down to the minutest detail. Leland had said he would come, as Nelson knew he would. And no one would know, because Nelson had arranged to make his telephone call when he was sure Leland would be alone. He had arranged that with as much care and caution as he had arranged every other detail.

And so Leland had come and they had sat together for an hour or more in Nelson's living room and talked. Or rather Nelson had talked. He held a gun in his hand all the while, and told Leland how much he hated him and how much he loved Sheila, and how bitter he had become and what he planned to do. It had taken an hour. Leland's expression had changed from a good-natured willingness to humor would think of something that would bring the world to his feet.

What fools women were! What a fool Sheila had turned into! Curse her anyway! And curse Leland Barth, too. Curse them both. He hated them.

Nelson swore aloud and drove his hands into the thickening cement with a savage gesture. Abruptly then he got control of himself. This would never go. Not now. Time enough later for gloating.

Nelson sat back on his haunches and began to draw his hands out of the cement. Just a flick here and there now and the job would be complete. Then to burn the trough and go about his daily business as if nothing had happened.

The cement, he discovered, was hardening faster than he had supposed it would. Much faster. The thick ooze of it made drawing his hands out difficult. He had to exert a good deal of strength to get them loose. The cement clung to his wrists and pulled away, looking like molasses candy he'd once seen in a store window. He tugged harder and still harder. His wrists were free now, but the tips of his fingers were still quite deep, and they felt strangely numb, as if down there the cement had already hardened to solidity.

Perspiration stood out on Nelson's brow. He stood up, leaning over, bracing his feet. He shifted once or twice to attain a more comfortable position, and unthinkingly placed a foot on the pit's surface. The foot sank a little, and when he tried to withdraw it, he found the task impossible.

A desperate look came into Nelson's eyes, a sort of panic clutched at his heart. Horrible fear assailed him. He looked about, wildly, tried to get a purchase with his free foot, only to have it slip along the surface of the cellar floor.

Curious little whimpering sounds escaped his lips as he tugged and strained. Sweat dropped from his forehead and splashed on the surface of the pit. It was the fact that they splashed that told him the cement was now almost solid. His free foot slipped, and he went down on his knee, the knee making the faintest of indentations in the freshly laid cement. He tried to stand up, succeeded only momentarily. His breathing came sobbingly; exhaustion was close. He was worn out, tired, and the position in which the cement held him wasn't the most comfortable.

Suddenly Nelson raised his head and shouted, even though he knew the consequences, he shouted. It wasn't the shout of a sane man, nor a man in ordinary distress. The shouts became screams, then shrieks, then faded and were nothing more than whimpers.

They found him ten minutes later. A passerby had heard the shrieks and summoned the police. He was unconscious, lying on his right knee with his right leg buckled under him. They had to get a chisel to loosen the cement, and in doing so they dug deeper, curiously suspicious, and found the rug covering Leland's body.

When Nelson came to he was in a hospital, but he saw iron gratings at the window and understood.

La Conga Dance Tempo

La Conga—the dance that has taken the American public by storm—came first to Cuba as a single step in the tempo of today but with an accented fourth beat instead of kick. The kick was inserted later when it became a dance.

In the Congo river regions of Africa many slaves were used to cultivate the lands and do the heavy work. They were chained together in a long line, neck to neck and ankle to ankle. In their walkings they became accustomed to walking in definite rhythm so that their chains would not become entangled in those of their neighbors. They found that by taking three short steps and then, on the fourth step, hitching their chains along everything went smoothly and nobody was tripped up in the chains.

Thus originated the tempo. Well, when slaves from Africa arrived in Cuba they were still chained and walking in their peculiar Congo rhythm. Later they were unshackled by the Spanish but still they worked in the fields and walked in the "one-two-three-hitch" rhythm.

In their evenings they were wont to gather around a fire in front of their quarters and start a jam session. Their only instruments were drums of various sizes and pitch, some filled with water, others just an animal's skin tied over a hollow tree stump. They would beat out the basic rhythm of their walking tempo which was the definite "one-two-three-hitch."

The dancers would then merely revert to type and in groups of five or six would slowly pace out the rhythm, accenting the fourth beat with a hitch of their body in a convulsive movement.

Thus was born the modern version of La Conga.

Snow Rub for Frostbite
Medical authority today has reversed the age-old decision that frostbitten ears, cheeks and fingers should be rubbed with snow.

Condemning the fact that rubbing with snow or even ice frequently is used as a first aid measure in cases of frostbite, the current issue of Michigan Public Health corroborated the findings of top-flight medical authority by recommending the use of body heat to renew circulation.

"Use of the warm hand or other sources of body heat has long been recognized by physicians as the proper treatment," the journal stated editorially. "Yet," it said, "the old popular notion of rubbing with snow or even with ice persists."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY School Lesson

UNION WITH CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—John 15:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—Abide in me, and I in you.—John 15:4.

Our lesson presents deep spiritual truths concerning our union with Christ—mystical, but practical; precious, but too often forgotten or neglected.

I. The Conditions of Union With Christ.

There is a sense in which union with Christ is entirely unconditional, one is either united with Him by faith or he is not. However, there are conditions for the fulfillment of all that such union carries with it. It is in that sense we use the word.

1. Cleansing (vv. 1-3). Christ is the Vine, and the believer as a true branch is united with Him. There is a oneness here which is difficult to express but delightful to receive and believe. He who is the Vine needs no cleansing, but the branch needs constant, daily purification by "the Word" (v. 3). Are we permitting God's Word to keep us clean? Only if we are reading it, studying it, meditating upon it.

There is moreover a severer type of purging to which the husbandman subjects the vine that it may bear more richly, and that is pruning (v. 2). It may not be pleasant, my brother, but it is profitable, and remember whose loving and sure hand it is that wields the pruning knife (v. 1).

Some branches must be cut away altogether (v. 1) and burned (v. 6). They lack the evidence of life—fruitbearing—and must be destroyed. These words are evidently not written to dishearten true believers, but they are a solemn warning to those who bear a false profession of Christianity.

2. Abiding (vv. 4-8). The branch bears the fruit of the vine. It has no strength or ability of its own to bring forth fruit. The Christian cannot serve Christ without abiding, and if he does abide the life or Christ will show forth in His living and serving. There can be no union without abiding in Christ.

3. Obedience (vv. 9, 10). The hall-mark of character in a child is obedience. That is also true in God's household. There is no use in talking sweetly and piously about abiding in God's love unless we obey His commandments. The Christian who disobeys the teachings of God's Word regarding holy living and does not respond to the leading of the Holy Spirit shuts off the blessing of God in his own life and stops its flow out to others.

II. The Results of Union With Christ.

1. Purity of Life (v. 3). "Now ye are clean"—how refreshing our Lord's words sound to us as we live in a wicked and filthy world. We sometimes wonder if there are any pure lives anymore. Yes, there are—those whom the Lord has cleansed by His Word. Would you like to be clean? Turn to Him and to His Word.

2. Prevailing Prayer (v. 7). At first one wonders why our Lord put in that word about prayer, but it is evident that one of the fruits of union and fellowship with Christ must be intelligent prayer according to God's will, in the power of the Spirit, and certain of an answer. Notice that the prayer promise here is absolutely unlimited, but that it follows an "if" which states a closely limited condition. Let us fulfill the condition and claim the promise.

3. Fruitbearing (vv. 2, 4, 5, 8). The fruit a Christian bears is the fruit of Christ who is the Vine, but as the branch he does have the joy of bearing "fruit" (v. 2), "more fruit" (v. 2), and "much fruit" (vv. 5, 8). The Christian's phraseology can be borrowed, the Christian's service imitated, but his fruit produced only by abiding in Christ.

4. Abiding in Love (v. 10). We have been talking about abiding all through our lesson and it may seem strange to list it as one of the results of union with Christ, yet it belongs here. Our Lord said (v. 10) that the cleansed and obedient disciple should abide in His love, even as He obeys the Father and abides in His love.

What a picture that is. Christ, the One who knew no stain of sin (II Cor. 5:21), always perfectly obedient to the Father (Heb. 10:7), who knows complete and perfect fellowship with the Father, reaches out His loving arms and draws the believer into the circle of that blessed union and love.

'Only Thee'

No one can ever become quite solitary, quite poor, quite miserable, who can truly say "Lord, if only I have Thee." That is just the time when God makes his consolation most gratifying and abundant, when we through distress of body and soul have turned from all temporal things to Him, and have learned that royal, overshadowing "only thee."—Theodore Christlieb.

WM. V. SNEERINGER & SONS PRODUCE CRUSHED STONE AND CONCRETE BLOCKS

An important enterprise in Littlestown, Pa., that serves a large trade in this section of Maryland, as well as Pennsylvania, is that of Wm. V. Sneeringer & Sons, which business was established by William V. Sneeringer, senior member of the firm well over a quarter of a century ago. His two sons, George B. and Clement A., both members of the firm, have been identified with the business for quite a number of years and are thoroughly familiar with the trade and the products produced and handled.

Mr. Sneeringer first began quarrying and crushing stone for road construction and general concrete work. Many roads in the local territory have been built of stone furnished by this well known concern whose reputation for quality materials, prompt service and fair dealings is well established.

About fifteen years ago this firm began the manufacture of concrete building units and has steadily improved its products and service. On the first of January of this year their vast new plant just built was put into operation, which is equipped with the latest type of mixing and heavy powerful tamping machinery which has a daily capacity of 5,000 block—all uniform in quality and meet with the stringent building requirements of both Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Sneeringer concrete block for dwellings, garages, barns—in fact, all types of structures, fully answer the problem of the builder who feels that permanency, quality and economy are the chief essentials in building. These blocks are recommended and sold by reliable and dependable dealers in this section of Maryland and Pennsylvania. They are delivered with dispatch by a fleet of heavy fast trucks to all points served.

W. E. KOONS, WELL KNOWN FLORIST OF LITTLESTOWN

One of the most interesting and pleasant places to visit in Littlestown, Pa., is the greenhouses of W. E. Koons, at 44 Princess Street. Here you will find a wide variety cut flowers and potted plants, many of which bloom the year round. And while a long way off it might be well to mention that this concern has available for the Spring trade many thousands of vegetable plants which have always been of unusual high quality.

Mr. Koons, proprietor of the business, is a man well and favorably known in Carroll County, Maryland. Prior to starting in business for himself at his present location he was identified with a like establishment in this section. He has had many years of experience in his chosen field of endeavor and the plants and flowers he furnishes the trade reflect the efforts of a skilled, experienced man in his field.

Service such as that rendered by Mr. Koons has bred good will and increasing patronage and keeping faith with his patrons has enlarged the plant and equipment and added to the service from time to time. Here any and all of your floral needs can be met in a most satisfactory manner and at prices that will be found by comparison to be fair and reasonable. Mr. Koons furnishes cut flowers and potted plants to the trade throughout the year and during the holiday season just ahead, will have for his patrons a wide variety of seasonable flowers, plants and wreaths for home and cemetery. He makes a specialty of floral designs for all occasions, making each piece to order of fresh cut flowers and deliveries of all orders when promised.

WEIKERT'S SANITARY BAKERY PRODUCE QUALITY GOODS

As the name implies Charles M. Weikert, and his son, Charles W., proprietors of the business which bears their name, operate a strictly sanitary bakery where a complete line of quality baked goods is produced daily for the trade in this section of Maryland as well as in their home community in and about Littlestown, Pa. This is an old established business that has built up its reputation for quality and service over a long period of years.

It is worthy of note that this enterprising concern has just completed an addition to the plant and has installed a New Century Revolving oven of the latest type which improves baking conditions and makes their products even better than before. In making bread, rolls, buns, cakes, pies, etc., only the highest grade ingredients are used, and the mixing and handling is done under rigid sanitary conditions under the personal direction of the senior member of the firm who is a master baker of the old school. An efficient delivery system is maintained, assuring deliveries of fresh baker goods direct to patrons' homes daily.

E. A. REBERT HANDLES COMPLETE LINE OF FARM EQUIPMENT

Success in farming, as in other lines of endeavor, is measured by profit. Farmers of this, as well as other sections of the country, have been quick to accept and apply modern machinery to their use which, invariably, has resulted in greater efficiency, better crops and hence more profits.

Mr. Rebert, proprietor of the business in Littlestown, Pa., which bears his name, is a practical farmer, and has made a successful effort to meet the needs of his trade for high grade equipment at comparatively reasonable cost. He is the local dealer for McCormick-Deering farm machinery, of the International Harvester Co., and Farmall tractors, which are made in sizes for every farm and power use. This concern is now showing the latest types of tractors and farm machinery which is available for immediate delivery.

In view of the steady and substantial increase in cost of practically everything needed on the farm it might be well to call attention to the farmers here that while equipment, such as is handled by this local concern, has increased from ten to fifteen per cent, and tractors has gone up about a hundred dollars, Mr. Rebert has advised the writer that he will fill orders up to January 1, 1942 at present prices without adding the increase. It is therefore a good time to place orders for any and all farm equipment needed and it is also good business to have present machinery repaired and put in first-class condition now by this concern which carries in stock an extensive line of repair parts, available at comparatively reasonable cost.

J. E. BRAINARD, NURSERYMAN AND LANDSCAPE ENGINEER

C., and makes shipments to distant points in the Middle Western States.

He has fifteen acres given over to the propagation and raising of flowering shrubs, shade, fruit and ornamental trees, evergreens, hedge plants, etc., which are of unusual high quality. Mr. Brainard is a landscape engineer and gives personal attention to this and other phases of the business, assuring satisfactory service.
