Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Luckenbaugh, while playing, on Monday evening, ran into a music stand and injured her right eye very badly and was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital. So far it is too soon to know how serious the injury is; the eye was badly torn.

We are glad our attention was called to the error of the date of Taneytown's "big fire". It was Friday, Nov. 26, 1897, instead of Friday, Dec. 3rd., 1897. The Record that gave the account was dated Dec. 4, but the news was a week old. The dates for both articles—"Water System" and "Fire Company"—were checked and double checked, and are as printed.

PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR

To be Installed at Joint Service.

Rev. Charles S. Owen, the new pastor of the Presbyterian charge comprising Taneytown, Piney Creek and Emmitsburg, with Mrs. Owen and their small son, Neil, arrived in Taneytown from their former home at Romulus, N. Y., Tuesday, March 31. The household goods were brought in a large moving van, and no difficulty was encountered, as the great snow fall did not extend far in that direction, and was not deep until they approached Gettysburg.

There is a fourth member of the family, a daughter, Joyce, 11 years of age, who remained in New York to finish the school term there. After the close of the school year she will join the family in Taneytown.

Rev. Mr. Owen is a native of North Carolina, but since his graduation from the theological seminary has served churches in New York, his last charge being at Romulus, where he has been pastor seven years. Last Sunday was his last service there, and he will begin his work here next Sunday.

The new pastor will be installed at a joint service for the three churches, which will be held at Piney Creek, Thursday evening, April 9, 8 o'clock. The service will be under the direction of a committee of the Baltimore Presbytery, consisting of Rev. T. Roland Phillips, Rev. T. Guthrie Spears and Rev. A. Brown Caldwell. The charge to the people will be delivered by Rev. Marshall E. Bartholomew of the Geneva Presbytery, New York.

Rev. Mr. Owen succeeds Rev. I. N. Morris, who vacated the charge here about 11 months ago, to accept a charge in Baltimore.

His foot slipped from the running board and he fell to the street, causing three breaks in the limb. He was removed to the Annie Warner Hospital at Gettysburg.

LETTER FROM A TANEYTOWN SOLDIER

I would like to extend my thanks to you for sending me The Carroll Record since I have been in service. It means a great deal to me to receive my home town paper every week, especially when we are far enough away that we can't come home very often. Last month I was stationed in Virginia and I always looked forward to reading The Record. It tells you things people forget you are interested in when they write to you.

For the past two weeks I have been stationed at Fort Meade. I enjoy army life. At present I am cooking. That is one good thing about the army they give a man a chance in his own field of interest—as far as it is possible.

Since I have been in the Army I have seen parts of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. It's a life that affords great opportunities. Thanking you again for sending me The Carroll Record. I am sincerely yours,

LOY C. LeGORE.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETING

The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce met in regular monthly session on Monday, March 23, with President Mervyn C. Fuss, presiding; Chas. R. Arnold stated that we had been requested by the Taneytown Fire Co., to present the matter of standing one-half of the expense of the fire bomb demonstration which was to be held the same evening at the Taneytown High School. It was decided to pay half of this expense.

Pres. Fuss reported for the Exec. Committee. He stated that the executive committee had talked over a plan to have a meeting to which the employees and officials of our two factories would be invited, in order to better acquaint them with the work of the Chamber of Commerce, and as a general get-together meeting. He raised the question whether or not the Chamber would like to adopt the plan of other service clubs, by preceding the meetings with a meal to cost about fifty cents. Action on the question was deferred to a later meeting.

The matter of garbage removal was discussed at length, but in the absence of any definite figures as to the cost, it was decided to wait until some estimate of the cost could be prepared and also to see what other communities were doing in this respect.

The matter of publication of the minutes of the meetings of the Mayor and City Council was presented, and after some discussion, the Mayor was appointed a committee of one to present the matter to the City Council. The general opinion expressed was that a general summary of the proceedings of the Council is what the general public desires.

Mr. Terpenning presented some facts and figures on the critical farm labor situation at this time. Further discussion was deferred and the Chamber adjourned to attend the Civil Defense meeting at the Taneytown High School.

SUNDAY'S SNOW FALL RECORD BREAKING.

Wide-Spread Damage Done by Unusual Load of White Blanket.

It snowed. That is not news to anybody about here, but for the sake of the record, and for our readers elsewhere we tell it. It did snow, and snow and snow.

People woke up Sunday morning, March 29—mark the date—to see not only the heaviest snow fall of the year, but the heaviest for many years, and for many people the heaviest within their experience. The Baltimore Sun said it was the heaviest in the history of the city.

This section was in the very center of it. The depth here was reported as 26 inches. Littlestown had as much, while both north and south the depth diminished. It was heavy in nearby sections of Pennsylvania, but at Lancaster, 60 miles away it was reported as only 5 inches, while in western Pennsylvania, where a recent snow was heavy, they had only rain.

The snow was preceded by heavy rain on Saturday, and during the early part of the night the flakes began falling, but the real snow fall began after midnight and lasted throughout the day. By nine o'clock A. M. the blanket was more than a foot deep and it piled up rapidly. With the warm weather the snow was soft and it hung on trees, shrubbery and roofs until everything was buried. Parked autos were almost out of sight, and some of them were not moved for a day or two.

The damage to roofs, buildings, trees, wire lines and vegetation was wide-spread, but was kept within reasonable limits by the absence of high wind. The worst damage in Taneytown was to the clothing factory of the Taneytown Manufacturing Co., where a large section of the roof gave way, damaging the wall, crushing machinery and ruining stocks of clothing. We have not heard an estimate of the cost of replacement, but it will run into thousands of dollars, and many hands will be idle until the rebuilding can be done.

The Blue Ridge Rubber Company as a matter of safety sent most of its employees home on Monday, and put a large force to shoveling snow. The task of removing dangerous loads from roofs, opening paths and clearing crossings was one of major proportions, while the Highway Department had a job keeping the great plows themselves from being blocked by the enormous weight of snow.

Warm sun and clear sky after the fall ended helped greatly in removing the great amount of water without more serious damage by floods, which otherwise would have been inevitable. By Tuesday evening corn stubbles and other marks in the fields began to appear and thus a record breaking snow fall had a short time to remain.

The older folks tried to recall similar experiences years ago, but there were few who could find parallels. The writer recalls one in 1891—51 years ago and only one day earlier in the month—but we have no recollection of many such events. The year 1894 had a very remarkable snow on the 10th. of April, but not half so much as this. L. B. H.

HOMEMAKERS' CLUB MEETS

The April meeting of the Homemakers' Club was held in the Municipal building, on Thursday afternoon, April 2, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Walter Bower, the president, presided.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "Palm Branches." After the minutes of the March meeting were read and approved, each member responded to the roll-call by telling her favorite spring flower.

Mrs. Bower requested that each one fill out and return the Victory Garden cards to Miss Hoffman.

Mrs. George Baumgardner and Mrs. Bower volunteered to meet with the committee from the Chamber of Commerce to discuss the disposal of the town garbage.

It was decided that, beginning next week, the library will be closed on Thursday afternoon. It will, however, be open as usual on Thursday night.

The project demonstration, "New Ideas in Meat Cookery," was given by Miss Belva Koons. Many new and interesting things were learned. The meeting adjourned to meet the first Thursday in May.

SUGAR RATIONING

Plans are being completed affecting everyone.

Sugar rationing, dates for which have been set for April 28 and 29th. for commercial users and May 4th. through May 7th. for home consumers, was further clarified today by Louis C. Burr, State Rationing Administrator.

Industrial and commercial consumers who will register on the two April dates, are defined as all those who normally purchase their sugar through wholesalers or direct from the refineries, such as retailers, bakers, confectioneries, soft drink manufacturers, hotels, restaurants, bee-keepers, drug stores and institutions.

At educational institutions, such as private and prep schools, colleges and wherever students are boarded, each student must possess a rationing card and deposit the card with the school. During vacations the cards will be returned to the students for use at home.

In boarding houses each boarder will have to register and turn the card over to the housekeeper who will use the card as long as the boarder remains a guest.

It is important to note here that the sugar rationing card should be considered as valuable as money or securities, for although duplicates will be obtainable, the lapse of time between application and issuance may be lengthy due to the amount of detail and checking involved.

Home consumers will register beginning May 4th. at Elementary, Junior High and High Schools and receive their ration books immediately. One member of a family will be permitted to register for the entire family, reporting at the same time how much sugar the family has on hand. Stamps will be taken from the book at the time of registration to cover such supplies in excess of two pounds per person.

The War Production Board has not determined just how much sugar will be rationed to each consumer but OPA officials believe the individual allotment will be either ½ or ¾ of a pound a week.

The OPA pointed out that a number of administrative details remain to be worked out, including the question of special allotments of sugar to home food canners. Mr. Burr noted that the ration registration is more involved than all other previous registrations. It is a bigger job than either the selective service or the census enumeration. More people will be covered than in the draft registration and more data will be compiled on each individual than in the census.

It was estimated that the registration in Baltimore City alone will require between six to seven thousand registrars and it is likely that volunteers may be called if there is not a sufficient number of teachers. An equal number of registrars will be needed through the State.

A rough calculation indicates that 1 registrar can register approximately 100 persons in the designated 16 hours—4 hours on each of the 4 days.

Considering the importance of this rationing to the government in the defense program, Mr. Burr urged that every Marylander give his fullest cooperation by registering promptly and not waiting until the last day.

FINE LETTER FROM

JOHN J. REID

Continues with its Items of Great Interest.

Ever since I sent the last letter to The Record, I have been trying to think up something worth while to write about next, and had about decided to wait a while, at least until something turned up that might interest your readers. But after receiving such a generous supply of supplies in the way of stamps and stationery from the manager, I felt as if I must do something to repay him and also at the same time, help the Editor in his task of getting out the interesting paper that The Record is.

So, first I want to thank my friends for the kind expressions of appreciation of my efforts, I have received, both by personal messages and through your columns. I can only say that the writing of that article on Old Taneytown, gave me more pleasure, than it did those who read it, as for years, I have wanted to try my hand at just such a task, and years ago—more than I like to think about now, I wrote to the Editor about doing so, but he rather discouraged me, saying I should not do so, that it would only make me feel older than I really was.

But he evidently changed his mind on this point, and started myself and others on the same track he was going. And so you can really give him the credit for what little I have added to your enjoyment of "Old Taneytown" as it appeared in these columns.

The first article in the issue of March 27, that caught my eye, when I received the Record, was the one by my friend, Prof. James Heaps, in which he tried to give me some comfort and advice, in regard to the future outlook of our country, and tried to prove by some ancient prophet that Hitler & Co., are due to defeat by the end of 1943 at least.

Now, I do not believe much in fortune telling or prophecy of any kind, and still do not see much hope in this clearing up this mess the whole world is in, in the near future. And here is why I hold such a belief, that if the whole thing is settled in the next five or even ten years, we will be in luck. I think I am as patriotic as anybody else, but I am also of the opinion that I am practical.

I do not know if industrial conditions are the same in Baltimore as they are out here, but when we pick up the daily paper, and see accounts of strikes and sabotage everywhere

LUTHERAN CHURCH SUPPER

The Lutheran church of Taneytown will return this year to a practice in vogue several years ago, of having a congregational supper after Easter.

The supper, which will be a covered dish affair, will be held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday evening of next week, at 6:45 o'clock.

An attractive program will be rendered after the meal. Theodore McKeldin, Esq., of Baltimore, will be the principal speaker. Miss Mary Frances Hawkins, a music student at Western Maryland College will be soloist, accompanied by Prof. Olive Spangler, teacher of piano at the college, who will also render piano solos. The Novelty Band of Taneytown will play for the occasion.

The supper has been arranged and will be served under the direction of committees with the leaders as follows: M. C. Fuss, program; Mrs. Merle E. Ohler, refreshments and decorations; Mrs. Edith Baumgardner, kitchen gang; Mrs. Norman Sauble and Mrs. Luther Luckenbaugh tables.

RECAPED AND RETREAD TIRES AVAILABLE

Applications can be made and certificates issued for passenger car retreads and recapped tires to list "B" eligibles at any time on and after April 1st., Louis C. Burr, State Rationing Administrator, announced today.

Many letters and telephone calls received at the State Rationing Office indicated that a misunderstanding as to the time of filing application prevailed and the announcement was made to clarify the confusion.

He warned, however, that even though eligible it is possible that many people will be disappointed as the April quota for passenger car retreads and recaps is relatively small. The April allotment for the entire State is only 5992.

FIRST VISIT TO COURT HOUSE

Mrs. Celia A. Toms, 81 years of age of the vicinity of Thurmont, visited the office of the Clerk of the Court, Frederick, on Tuesday, March 31, for the purpose of releasing a mortgage. It was the first time for her to be in the court house in her life. She was feeble, and was accompanied by a younger lady.

FACTORY REBUILDING

The Taneytown Manufacturing Co., very quickly got on the job of rebuilding the section of the factory which was wrecked by last Sunday's crushing burden of snow.

A force of men under the contractor Allen Feeser are at work and expect to have the place ready to resume operations about the middle of April.

BLACKOUT FEARS

To Be Avoided, Says Col. Barrett.

"Test blackouts will not be held without sufficient warning," Colonel Henry S. Barrett, State Director of Air Raid Precautions, reiterated today. Rumors of a surprise blackout have been circulating throughout the State which have caused many people to swamp their local control centers with inquiries and interfering with their vital work. Test blackouts can only be conducted with the authorization of the First Interceptor Command and any community that proceeds without this authority is subject to censor.

"Blackout jitters and their tendency to create hysteria must stop," Colonel Barrett cautioned. "There is only one thing to do during these critical days and that is to be prepared for any eventuality. If the people are ready the cause of worry and alarm ceases. Certainly the enemy is not going to give us an advance notice of attack."

VICTORY DAYS

Housewives! let's make Saturdays Victory Days. Every Saturday nearly all housekeepers bake cakes or some form of pastry. In doing this one uses sugar. Due to the sugar rationing program you must either eliminate some of these desserts or find substitutes for sugar.

After studying foods for several weeks and learning what our bodies need in order to be kept healthy, the Sophomore girls feel that this rationing program should prove to be a blessing; for many of us have been eating far too much sugar, most times at the expense of those daily requirements—vegetables, milk, fruits, eggs, cheese, fish, and meat.

In our foods laboratory we have been learning how to change some of the old recipes into Victory ones. Corn syrup can be substituted for one-half the amount of sugar in cakes or we may use a recipe for a sugarless cake. Save sugar by not frosting the cakes; it's better for you. Other substitutes are maple syrup, honey, molasses, and condensed milk in some desserts that call for milk and a small amount of sugar.

Check your recipes for milk puddings, gelatines, ice creams, frozen desserts and sauces for many of you are adding more sugar than is needed.

Enroll your family in the spoon-stirring contest, for many people leave sugar in the coffee or tea cup.

Stop making or buying candy, eat dried or fresh fruits instead.

We would like to pass on to you one of the dessert recipes which we prepared and enjoyed in our foods' lab.

MEETING OF W. I. L.

Random Thoughts

HONORS—AND THEIR COST

It is difficult to secure honors without at the same time, the cost of additional responsibility. Any attitude that does not accept this, is an attempt to secure something unearned, or without regard to the responsibility attached.

An ambition alone, that is unwilling to pay the price is not only dishonest, but a representation of greed for power, with no real honor attached.

Many a man feels his limitations, and realize that he may not be able to measure up to the expectations of those who are depending on him for guidance; and has the real manliness to decline, and certainly not to seek, a proffered honor, that may have been courted.

Avareice is not always connected with seeking wealth, for we also seek notoriety, rather than await its voluntary coming. There is a modesty that has real merit, and pays best in the end. Shakespeare said something like this—"Life, every man holds dear; but the dear man holds honor more precious than life."

Aviators Must Train Muscles

Army Cadets Conditioned Specifically to Meet Strain of Flying.

MONTGOMERY, ALA. — What muscles does a pilot use in flying? This question arose in the office here of Ernest Smith, director of athletics for the U. S. army air corps in the southeast.

Smith was on the spot. Twenty-eight assistant physical directors, charged with whipping aviation cadets into shape, wanted an answer.

"I don't know," said Smith, watching a formation of planes nose up from a near-by flying field, "but come on—we'll find out."

And so 28 men, scheduled to go out to as many airmen as trainers for aviation cadets, followed the director. All, like Smith, were experts in their line—many of them college coaches—but conditioning a man to handle a military airplane was something else.

And Maj. Gen. Walter R. Weaver had ordered that all American and British cadets in the Southeast be conditioned specifically to meet the strain of flying.

Make a Test.

Smith halted on the flying line and said to a cadet:

"Mister, take off most of your clothes and get in that airplane there." When the cadet was in the cockpit, he added: "Now, please go through all the motions of flying."

The cadet "flew" as he had never flown before—without leaving the ground, without flying tools—almost without any togs at all. He went through all the motions of banking, looping, diving and spinning. And more unspectacularly, he flew for long stretches at a time on a steady course.

This cadet had more eyes on him than ever before. The gallery of directors took notes, observing from time to time that there was stress on this or that leg muscle. They saw, too, that the cadet continually turned his head from side to side, watching the imaginary terrain "below" and the sky above as well as the air on both sides.

They jotted down certain exercises to strengthen the neck in the right places. They noted the rigid position of the pilot in the cockpit, the constant strain upon his abdominal muscles. They noted other ways to build up the muscles imposed upon.

Build Up Muscles.

The net result of this strange interview is that today every part of a gigantic physical training program now in swing in the Southeast is devoted to the building up of the muscles most used by fliers.

Aviation cadets bend, squat, stoop, wave wands and go through specialized calisthenics for one purpose and one alone—to become stronger and better co-ordinated combat airmen.

The new program ranges from hard toe-to-toe boxing to the gentle art of swinging Indian clubs to music; from horseshoe pitching to the grim business of disengaging oneself from a sinking parachute in the swimming pool. It includes 35 sports, with as many different types of athletic equipment.

Leading authorities are convinced there is no better insurance against accidents and loss of life than physical fitness—clear minds and steady hands in the cockpits of the nation's combat ships.

Two groups left basic and entered advanced school a short time ago. One group has had the benefits of the scientific athletic training, the other had not. In a series of three tests, it was found those men with the training scored 29 per cent higher than the others.

Director Smith believes it is a fair indication that the athletic program is doing a lot of good for a lot of cadets.

Even Queen Can Be Late, British King Finds Out

LONDON.—When your wife keeps you waiting you know how you feel. When a queen makes a king wait, well, even kings have their human side.

King George VI and his queen were due at 6:15 p. m. at an A.T.S. center in Berkshire.

The king strode up and down, glancing at his watch almost every minute, and the words he muttered to himself sounded very much like the words an ordinary husband might have muttered, and when the queen arrived exactly 15 minutes afterwards her greeting was exactly the one the ordinary everyday wife would have come out with.

"Oh, dear," she remarked brightly, "am I late?"

The king shot back his cuff and looked at his watch for the hundredth time. He spoke one word, "Yes."

Kidnaping Cases Prompt Three to Take Their Lives

Follows Well-Established Pattern of Crime and Its Consequences.

NEW YORK.—When Abe Reles, chief prosecution witness against New York's deadly Murder, Inc., plunged to his death from a Coney Island hotel window recently, he followed a well-established pattern of crime and consequences.

It is the experience of prosecuting officials throughout the United States that nearly every major criminal investigation and trial results in tragedy for some witness, or other incidental figure.

Often these victims of crime's far-reaching ripples are wholly innocent of any wrongdoing themselves. Women victims or witnesses in three of America's most famous kidnaping cases have inexplicably committed suicide.

Why do perfectly "innocent bystanders" in so many famous criminal cases take their own lives?

Psychiatrists attribute it largely to the nerve-shattering effect of a prolonged trial upon all participants.

Strange McElroy Case.

Vicarious sufferings of this type—which the psychiatrists call "substitution of personality"—was almost certainly responsible for the strange and pathetic sequel to the kidnaping of attractive Mary McElroy, 25-year-old daughter of Henry F. McElroy, former city manager of Kansas City, Mo.

Mary was driven to an isolated cottage in Merriam, Kan., and chained to a wall in a filthy cellar. Twenty-nine hours later, on payment of $30,000 by her father, the girl was freed.

Expected to show bitterness against her kidnapers, she defended them. Obviously, her father said, the experience had disturbed the victim's mind, although in body she was uninjured.

Despite Mary's pleas, Walter McGee was sentenced to die. His brother, George, was sentenced to life imprisonment. Clarence Click, an accomplice, got eight years.

For six years Mary worked to have the McGee brothers' sentences softened or a double pardon issued. She corresponded with them as often as prison rules permitted.

Mary's father died two years ago, the day before the grand jury was to examine him concerning income tax payments.

Three months later, in January, 1940, Mary killed herself with a pistol in the bathroom whence she had been kidnaped.

Father Kills Self.

A father followed his daughter in death after the Carroll-Mathiesen killing, three years ago. Donald Carroll Jr., 16, shot his sweetheart, Charlotte Mathiesen, 18, because she was about to become a mother. Fred Mathiesen, war veteran father of the girl, forgave the youth, then murmured:

"This may be the end of me, too. I have only the heaviness of life left."

He defended Donald at the trial and so did the slain girl's mother. The boy was acquitted on the ground that he had been insane when he fired the shot. Eight days after acquittal, he was discharged as sane.

Anxious to avoid further notoriety, Charlotte's parents moved to Creskill, N. J., where, a year later, the forgiving father ended his life by inhaling the exhaust from his automobile.

Man, 81, 'Loses' $901; Finds It in His Suit

PHILADELPHIA.—Eighty-one-year-old William Ruhl effected settlement of a property sale in Camden; then, pocketing the $901 cash sale price, started back for his home in Philadelphia. Just before boarding his bus, however, he slapped a pocket to be sure the money was there—and found it wasn't.

Weeping, he made his way to the police clerk's office and sobbed out his story. All the police were sympathetic. They asked him to make one more thorough search of his pockets. And there was the money, inside his vest.

Three Generations Are Wed in Triple Ceremony

CARSON CITY, NEV.—Edgar L. Myrah, Salida, Calif., his daughter and granddaughter were married by Justice of the Peace Richard L. Waters in a triple ceremony.

Myrah, who gave his age as "over 21," married Lucy Camp, also "over 21," of Empire, Calif. Myrah's daughter, Mrs. Grace Brooks, 36, Salida, was married to Irl J. Rhodes, 37, Vallejo, Calif. Mrs. Brooks' daughter, Shirley, 17, was married to Clarence D. Searl, 21, of Salida.

Splits His Home in Two And Moves It 153 Miles

MCALISTER, OKLA.—It has long been a custom to pick up one's bed and walk but L. D. Lackey has put that old adage to shame. He moved his six-room house 153 miles. When Lackey, a rural mail carrier, was transferred from Wardville to Okemah, he had his home split into two sections and trucks did the rest. He estimates he saved about $2,700 on the cost of erecting a duplicate house at the new location.

Stock your tray with such treats as Camembert, Brie, Swiss and Liederkranz cheese, which are all available with made-in-America labels at budget prices. Roquefort, a war casualty, has been succeeded by Blue cheese, an American-made specialty that's a tasty addition to any cheese tray. Blue cheese has also been added to the line of cocktail cheese spreads, packed in attractive reusable glasses.

Spiced Coffee 6 cups decaffeinated coffee
½ cup cream, whipped
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon nutmeg

Top each cup of coffee with a spoonful of whipped cream into which the spices have been folded. Sugar may be served with the coffee if desired. You can use your favorite method of making the coffee, with regular grind for percolated or boiled coffee and drip grind for drip or glass maker. Allow a heaping tablespoon for each cup. And if you "perk" it, give it a few minutes extra brewing to bring out its full flavor. This is a delicious brew to serve for supper on Easter Day when you and your guests will want to linger over second cups without worrying over sleeping problems later on.

After-Easter Games Games that all the family can take part in can play an important part in building good morale on the home front. Favorite parlor pastimes that school age children can share with their parents include Dig, a new version of word building played with little gold miners' picks and Thumbs Up, the V for Victory game that's based on matching tile symbols. El Dorado, the treasure hunting game and Monopoly are other parlor favorites that provide good competition for parents and children.

FEESERSBURG.

Hurrah! Here's the deepest snow for many years—covering the early made gardens, and no danger we'll gather dandelion for dinner. After a rainy day on Saturday, "The snow had begun in the gleaming and silently all thro the night"—until we were hemmed in, and could hardly get to the barn to feed the cattle in the morning. No traffic on the roads and no getting to church. It snowed furiously all day until evening and the radio announced "no schools in Frederick County, or the town tomorrow; and Prof. Hyson gave out the same message for Carroll Co." This is Monday morning and we were wondering about the mail carrier—and there he is! but how will we get our mail to the house? This is not exaggerated, but maybe in the future we'll doubt it—our memories are so short.

Instead of a "black out" we had a "white in" on Sunday and a quiet day; just reading, sleeping, writing letters, Sermons by radio, no callers. Personally we had an interesting evening with "Dolly Madison—the Nation's Hostess" loaned by a friend.

We welcome April—perhaps the most interesting month of the year—with a new adventure for each day; with its sunshine and showers, flowing brooks and spring flowers, bringing summer birds and blossoms, and lots of work.

Of course there was no service at Mt. Union on Sunday—altho' the pastor tried to get there, and failed, and the Cantata to be given in the evening had to be postponed for two weeks, April 12, at which time the new choir robes will be dedicated to divine worship. Because of the serious condition for travel Rev. Bowersox announced there will be no further Lenten services; but a full Easter service at Uniontown on Sunday.

Pvt. Wilbur Miller, Jr. and his bride visited his home folks one evening last week then off to Camp Meade.

Callers at Grove Dale last Wednesday included Mrs. G. W. Baughman, after a week spent with her son Dr. H. F. Baughman and family, in Gettysburg, and a kind neighbor, Mrs. Katie W. Frock, of Uniontown; and on Friday Mrs. F. E. Shum, of Taneytown, with Mrs. Margaret Souder, Littlestown, who will have sale of her personal property April 18.

Miss Sue Birely spent Thursday of last week in Union Bridge, visiting former neighbors, and shopping. The same day Mrs. W. F. Miller, Sr., and Mrs. Addie Crumbacker visited the Dentist and friends in Taneytown.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moore have been quite ill the past week, with the Dr. in attendance but seem to be improving now—the two smaller ones, and now the oldest boy—aged 5 years.

Saturday was again too rainy to attend sales—as planned; but its like fighting mosquitos—there'll be others around.

This has been bad weather for baby chicks—and our neighbors have hundreds—but they've been getting along fine. Guess it has all been wisely planned that we must work to win—anything worthwhile.

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Maurice Late, received news of the instant death of her sister, Mrs. Lavinia Lambert at the home of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Long, in Ladiesburg. The funeral service was held at the home on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. H. H. Schmidt of the Lutheran Church officiated, and interment made in Woodsboro cemetery.

There is quite a difference of dates between the chronologists, but we haven't time to straighten them out; only one gives the purchase of Alaska by the United States as June 20 and another says March 30; but they agree on the year 1867. It was purchased from the Russian Government for over 7 million dollars, and was inhabited by an Eskimo population and expected to be of great value for its furs. In size it was more than a half million square miles, and has proven very valuable to this nation in many years. It is agreed that the U. S. Mint was established April 2, 1792; and it is one hundred years ether was first used, March 30, 1842—Wonderful!

—Where is now the merry party, we remember years ago who enjoyed skating on Big Pipe Creek? Here's the big snow, but haven't heard of any skating this past winter, nor whether the creek was frozen over—so that's only.

Now comes our glorious Easter—of Resurrection and Hope a friend once remarked—"I think our Easter music is the very best of all." Can we not make this a go to Church Sunday? May it be a joyous Easter to every one.

Officers and enlisted personnel of the U. S. Navy read about 2,000,000 books a year.

FRIZELLBURG.

Palm Sunday, March 29, 1942, made history, and will be remembered as one of the unusual happenings. Very few, if any ever dreamed of such a blizzard coming so late. Of course the general opinion was that the robin and peewee snow was still back. In fact it surprised everyone, even the weather bureau admitted it. To ascertain its actual depth careful measurement found it to be 28 inches. Well not many people like to work on Sunday, but in this case it meant dig your self out or stay in. Snow shovels were seen at work for three days, and it kept the snow plows busy equally as long to clear the highways. It was a common thing after it was over to hear one say "my muscles are awfully sore and stiff." People ventured out in their autos and many became stalled and had to call for assistance. Farmers brought out tractors, horses, wagons, etc., in an effort to break through. For fear of breaking down many removed the snow from porches, garages, and other outbuildings. Minor damage was done in many places but it seems that Lewis D. Wantz was the hardest hit. About 11 o'clock Sunday night a noise was heard by some of the family, and looking for its whereabouts discovered that the barn had collapsed. The building was about 50 feet long and sheltered one truck and two automobiles, one of which was only slightly damaged. Several jacks were procured and the car in peril was gotten out. The barn is a total wreck and possibly will have to be torn down and rebuilt. A portion of the roof on Mrs. Maud Lawyer's barn also went down under the great weight. Yes deep snows are few and far between. It is possible that many of us in advance years will never see another one. It is always interesting to the children of to-day to hear the older folks tell about big snows forty or more years ago. For them the recent one has banished all curiosity being convinced of its reality. Some argue that those of 92 and 99 exceeded this one. On this there seems to be a difference of opinion.

The Uniontown road was closed on Wednesday due to repairs being made on the bridge over Meadow Branch.

SAMUEL U. SCHULTZ

Samuel U. Schultz, 200 Fifth St., Laurel Md., manager of the Laurel business office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, of Baltimore City, has been awarded a bronze vail medal in recognition of the initiative and fortitude he displayed in rendering assistance to a soldier who was a victim of an automobile accident.

According to an announcement by A. B. Haneke, vice-president and general manager of the company, Mr. Schultz and a fellow employee were returning to Laurel from Fort Meade, on December 2, 1941, when they came upon an automobile wreck which had apparently taken place only a few minutes before. Soldiers who had been passing were removing two injured soldiers from the wrecked car. Mr. Schultz and his companion got out of their car to see if they could be of assistance.

Standing beside the wrecked car was a soldier bleeding profusely from a wound in the side of his neck. As soon as Schultz saw the condition of the man he immediately had him lie on the side of the road and then grasped the edges of the wound in his fingers and held them to stop the bleeding while waiting for an ambulance, which was approximately one-half hour in arriving. In the meantime, a doctor who was passing looked at the injured man requested Schultz to continue to hold the wound as there was nothing better to be done. Just before arrival of the ambulance some first aid material was obtained from a car which had stopped and the doctor then took over and attempted to stop the bleeding.

Schultz had acquired a knowledge of first aid as an employee of the plant department several years ago and his training enabled him to render effective aid in this emergency, which probably saved the soldier's life.

The Vail medal awards are made annually and are provided for by a fund established as a memorial to Theodore N. Vail, former president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Under the terms of the establishment, bronze, silver and gold medals are awarded to telephone employees for acts of service which conspicuously illustrate Mr. Vail's ideals in public service. Bronze medals are awarded by committees in the territory of each associated company of the Bell System. Silver and gold medals are awarded by a national committee.

Mr. Schultz has been engaged in telephone work in various capacities for 24 years.

A WEEK OF THE WAR

President Roosevelt proclaimed April 6 as Army Day and asked the nation to observe it by resolving firmly "to spare no effort which may contribute to the speedy creation of the arms and supplies indispensable to our citizens' army." He said "We are engaged in our greatest war, a war that will leave none of our lives wholly untouched. We shall win this war as we have won every war we have fought."

War Secretary Stimson announced the Army will train 100,000 men and women for civilian jobs as overhaul and repair mechanics, inspectors at Government arsenals, etc. Men must be outside the age requirements for Selective Service. Applications may be made at any Civil Service Commission local office. The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to create a volunteer Army Auxiliary Corps of women between 21 and 45.

Selective Service Director Hershey, tightening II-A deferments, directed SS local boards to put aside considerations of "mere convenience and comfort" in determining the deferment of persons necessary to the "national health, safety or interest." The local boards began distribution of four-page occupational questionnaires to obtain for the U. S. Employment Service and other agencies full information on the vocational background of men who registered February 16. Later the questionnaires will be sent the earlier SS registered.

The President set April 27 as the SS registration day for all men 44 to 64, inclusive. Director Hershey said as the war progresses, craft deferments will depend more on whether a man's civil operation is essential to the war effort than on his dependents.

The office of Price Administration announced individual or family consumers will register for sugar rationing May 4, 5, 6, 7 at public rationing schools. Commercial users will register April 28 and 29 at high schools. All sugar sales in the country will be halted at midnight April 27 for approximately 10 days. One member of a family can register the entire household. Each person will receive a war ration book of 28 stamps.

Oil Coordinator Ickes said a card rationing system for gasoline will replace within six weeks the present 20 percent limitation on deliveries in 17 Eastern States, Washington, Oregon and the District of Columbia. The war production board said new typewriters produced during the remainder of 1942 will go to the Army, Navy and other Government agencies. The OPA will ration to civilian users stocks of new machines now held by dealers.

War Production Chairman Nelson, in a radio broadcast, said airplane production has increased more than 50 percent since Pearl Harbor, "but this is no reason for false complacency. We are nowhere near our goals." Commerce Secretary Jones reported the Defense Plant Corporation had made commitments as of March 7 for construction of more than 700 plants. He said the Government is spending $600,000,000 for construction of synthetic rubber plants.

The War Department said a series of "Army Hour" broadcasts every Sunday beginning April 5, 3:30 to 4:30 P. M. EWT, over the NBC network will link men in the armed service fighting abroad with American friends in this country. The programs will attempt to promote understanding of military and morale problems. They will mark the first time in U. S. history the Army will directly sponsor and supervise a radio program to accomplish a military mission.

President Roosevelt said by fall labor shortages will begin to develop, although at the present time there is sufficient manpower for war industry. The President stated nowhere in the country is anyone prohibited by law from working more than 40 hours a week. WPB Chairman Nelson, addressing CIO leaders in Washington, asked labor to suspend for the duration the privilege of getting double-time pay for work on Sundays and holidays.

The President ordered the Office of Defense Transportation to seize the strike-bound Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and to operate it "for the successful prosecution of the war." The President acted after the railroad management rejected repeated Government requests that the strike be submitted to arbitration. Labor Secretary Perkins said of the 15 million workers to be employed in war industries by next January, about one-third will be women.

The WPB ordered manufacturers of domestic laundry equipment to halt production by May 15, and manufacturers of certain vending machines, of juke boxes and other amusement machines by May 1. The Board directed retailers of men's and boys' clothing to omit trouser cuffs after March 30. Priority assistance was granted materials needed for repair and maintenance of existing plumbing and heating installations on farms, in residences and office and apartment buildings. The Board limited metallic plates for State and local auto licenses to 10 percent of the weight issued during the year ending July 1st.

The Senate completed Congressional action on the Second War Powers Bill, which includes provisions for a fine of $10,000 and a year in prison for priorities violations. The WPB said it will begin investigations soon of pig iron distribution in foundries as well as inventory conditions of copper scrap dealers.

April quotas for tires provide 102,000 new tires and 470,000 recapped tires for essential passenger cars and motorcycles, 275,000 new tires and 250,000 recapped for trucks, and a limited number of recapped tires for war workers, taxicabs, farmers, salesmen and Government agencies. The OPA released for rationing several classes of higher-priced cars and those ordered by State and local agencies during 1941. The Office of Defense Transportation will ration ambulances, hearses and station wagons.

The President signed a bill providing Federal insurance for homes, factories and farms damaged by enemy action. Civilian Defense Director Landis said establishment of first aid supply centers which duplicate equipment already existing in the OCD Emergency Medical Service threatens to cause a serious shortage of medical essentials. The OCD said an air raid siren that could efficiently serve an area of eight of 10 square miles will be in production soon and might cost as little as $1500.

Maximum prices for gasoline and fuel oil in 17 Eastern States and the District of Columbia were set by the OPA. To stimulate production of Pennsylvania crude oils, the Office authorized an increase of 25 cents a barrel for all grades. OPA asked retail meat markets not to raise pork products, prices above mid-March levels. From April 1 to May 30 "standard" newsprint prices will be frozen at the current price of $50 a ton, and a permanent price order will be issued before May 30. The OPA set retail price ceilings for new typewriters at March 5 levels, and for radio receiving sets, phonographs domestic washing and ironing machines, domestic heating and cooking stoves at March 19 levels.

The WPB ordered manufacture of electric toasters, flatirons and other electrical appliances to cease after May 31, preparatory to converting the $60 million industry to war production. The Board ordered production of straight and safety razors and blades held to the 1940 total of 2,400 million, about 600 million less than last year's output. The Board also prohibited manufacture of metal furniture after May 31, curtailed manufacture of floor lamps and portable electric lamps, frozen manufacturers' stocks of unit heaters and ventilators, and restricted tea deliveries and sales to 50 percent of amounts delivered and sold in 1941. It also placed pig iron under a complete allocation system and curtailed use of iron and steel in metal office supplies.

The President signed the second war powers bill which provides criminal penalties for priority violations and extends the President's property seizure powers. The WPB said a Modified Production Requirements Plan has been developed for firms with an annual volume of less than $100,000. To conserve critical materials, the WPB prohibited destruction of certain used rubber products and ordered simplification of plumbing fixtures.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard said farmers are making shifts in operations this year which ordinarily would require several years, but with normal weather conditions wartime goals for several commodities probably will be exceeded. To increase 1942 production of pack-canned tomatoes and peas for military use, the War Department told canners it will pay higher prices for the pack of those agreeing to guarantee fixed minimum prices to the grower. The Agriculture Department said it will continue to support market prices for designated types of 1941 crop dry edible beans.

A word of appreciation goes a long way—our reason for passing this on.

TANEYTOWN KIWANIS CLUB

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly meeting at Sable's Inn on Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, President Robert W. Smith, presiding. The musical part of the program was in charge of Raymond Wright, Mrs. Wallace Yingling accompanied. There were present 28 members, and a number of ladies, and the following visitors: Messrs Arthur Hungerford and Arthur Luttrell, of Baltimore, Mr. Murray Baumgardner and Rev. Mr. Owen, the new pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Taneytown.

The program was in charge of the Committee on Kiwanis Education, George N. Shower, Chairman. Mr. Shower introduced as the speaker of the evening, Mr. Tewksbury of Charlotte, North Carolina. Mr. Tewksbury is a member of the Pan American Commission, and gained considerable fame last summer as an explorer, when alone and unarmed he penetrated the jungle south of the Panama Canal, and succeeded in passing from the Canal Zone overland and for the most part on foot to the southern border of the Republic of Panama. Mr. Tewksbury spoke interestingly of his experiences along the way, giving a good description of the people, their habits, religion, political set-up, and especially their generally hostile attitude toward strangers. He said that there are about 16,000 Indians, in the region which he visited. He does not claim to be the first white man to make the trip through the jungle but he has reason to believe that he is the first white man who ever visited some of the communities which he visited and whose people he came to know. The people live in small communities, in small grass houses and do not intermingle with the inhabitants of other communities close by. People of one community speak a different dialect from those who live not more than 10 miles away. From Chepo, his starting point, he spent more than three weeks in reaching Yavisa, less than a hundred miles away. Part of the journey was made in native dug-outs, and guided by natives; part on foot alone. When traveling alone, in order to avoid wild beasts and snakes, he waded in the shallow rivers of the region.

Mr. Tewksbury is much interested in the Pan American Highway idea, in whose interest the journey was made, to determine if it is possible to build such a highway through the Isthmus of Panama. He said that the highway has actually been started, inasmuch as the link from Fairbanks, Alaska, is now under construction, the part from the border of the United States southward is now completed to a point fifty miles south of Mexico City, and that several South American Republics are building stretches of road which eventually will form parts of the through highway. A branch will also be built from Toronto in Canada through Washington to connect with the main highway on the Texas border. Mr. Tewksbury thinks that the highway will be completed in its entirety within the next few years, and says that the difficulties of construction through the region which he visited are no greater than those of our own communities.

Vitamin A is one of the toughest of all vitamins in resisting the destructive effects of cooking. Frying and stirring are its worst enemies. It can be dissolved in fat or destroyed by the oxygen in the air introduced by stirring. So you'll do well to boil, roast or broil foods containing vitamin A.

Vitamin A helps to build resistance against infection. It also benefits eye health and is a definite aid against certain types of night blindness. Eat plenty of vitamin A every day.

When it comes to properly cooking foods containing Vitamin A, you'll find the absolute heat controls of the electric range will do the best job. However, with care, it CAN be done on any type of stove.

For the complete story on vitamins and the nutrition so important to strong, healthy bodies in these war days, ask for the services of your Home Service Representative. They are FREE.

STORY OF THE WEEK

How a "Poet" Proved a Point

By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON
(Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

DELLA knew she was going to have difficulty in making Andy understand how she felt, and she did. It was hard putting the thing into words—telling a man that you didn't think he could make you happy because he was unromantic and unpoetic and placed too much value on material things.

"But you do understand what I mean, don't you, Andy?" she pleaded almost desperately.
"No," said Andy, "I don't."
Della rested a hand on his arm and smiled up at him. "Andy, you're big and strong and dependable. You're security personified, and everyone will think me crazy for not marrying you. But it wouldn't be fair to myself."

Andy bit his lip and punched a hole in the soft earth of the terrace with his heel. "Maybe," he said, "you'll get a chance to meet this poetic guy."

"Now, Andy, what's the use—?"
"I mean it," said Andy gloomily. "There's a guy coming up tomorrow. A classmate of mine. He's a poet." Andy said "poet" with the same inflection of tone with which he would have said "rattlesnake."

"Andy—not a real poet?"
"Yup," said Andy, striving to conceal his disgust at the ecstatic look in Della's eyes. "I was going to warn you against him. He was always queer. And now that he's started writing rhymes he's turned into what I'd call a nut!"

"Oh, Andy!"

Andy stood up. He hesitated a moment, looking down at the girl with an expression of misery. He sighed, and recalled how once during the days when he was a football hero in college, he had been fool enough to think he understood women.

Horace Weatherby, the poet, arrived on the following day. The half dozen guests seated on the terrace stared in rather dumfounded fashion. One or two of them tittered, for they thought it was some kind of joke. But Horace was as oblivious to their reaction as he was to his unpressed and worn trousers, his rumpled coat, his black, flowing tie, his battered felt hat. He looked about him, clasped his hands, gazed up at the mountains, and began to babble something about the hills and the rills.

Then Andy came down the walk and with him was Della. "Hello, Horace," said Andy, grasping his hands, "how's the rhyming business?" He paused, took note of the fact that Horace was gazing into Della's eyes in a manner similar to that with which he had seen a frightened child gaze at a snake, cleared his throat noisily, and said, "Horace, meet Della Small. She's—er—interested in poetry."

"Beautiful!" Horace whispered. "Beautiful!" Then he took one of Della's hands in both of his own and kissed it. Della blushed, but there was no doubt in Andy's mind that she was enjoying herself.

Andy discovered before the afternoon was far advanced that, as far as his old classmate and Della Small were concerned he suddenly had ceased to exist. Moodily he watched from a distance as Horace led Della to a secluded nook on the wide veranda. It was not hard to guess from the many gestures toward the mountain, hand-clasping and soulful expression that Horace was reciting poetry. Nor was it hard to guess either that Della was thrilled, excited, fascinated, enraptured and, Andy thought dismally, infatuated. The sight sickened him, but he did not relax his vigil.

Toward evening the pair strolled along the trail which led to the fish pond at the foot of the mountains. Andy followed them, then concealed himself in some bushes near by. It was agony watching Della make such a fool of herself over a man who probably didn't earn $1,000 a year.

As the twilight deepened, Andy drew nearer. The pangs of hunger were gnawing at his vitals, but he told himself grimly that if Della could survive the evening on rhymes instead of beefsteak, so could he.

Presently the voices of the lovers were audible to him, and he realized with a shock that Della's tones were not altogether as rapturous as he had expected them to be. She was saying:

"But, Horace, we really ought to go back. It's past dinner time and I'm hungry and—"

"Dinner!" Horace's tones cut in with scorn. "How can you speak of dinner at a moment like this? Hunger? My dear, there is no hunger but the hunger of a soul for beauty; the hunger of a man like me for a mate such as you. My darling, look at the mountains. Does not their beauty, their grandeur—"

"Yes. Yes, they're beautiful, Horace, and your poetry is beautiful, only I had an early lunch and not much at that. I really think you'd better take me back."

"Take you back? Never!" There was a pause, and Andy, peering through the bushes, saw the outline of Horace's head as he leaned toward Della; saw Della shrink away from him. Horace's voice was hoarse, passionate, domineering. "You are mine! Mine! Do you understand? You have been in my life always, and today I found you. Never shall I let you go! My soul and yours are interlocked by the bonds of a love deeper than the deepest river and shall never be severed. Come into my arms, my dearest."

At this point it occurred to Andy that since college days his ex-classmate had become a little screwy. And he decided to do something about it. Emerging from his place of concealment, he strolled toward the fish pond, assuming a casual attitude.

There was rustling near the bench where sat Della and her poet had sat. Andy heard a little suppressed cry of relief, and presently a pair of white arms were flung around his neck and a voice was sobbing close to his ear. "Oh, Andy, Andy! I was mistaken. I didn't mean it. He—I—"

Andy stepped back. "What!" he exclaimed in well-feigned astonishment, "you here! Well, well, fancy that!" which he thought was as poetical a speech as anyone could make.

At this point Poet Weatherby appeared out of the gloom and said in strident tones: "Unhand that woman, scum!"

Whereupon Andy loosened one of his arms and smote Mr. Weatherby a very telling blow on the button. Della clung to him and whimpered. Andy said something about a beefsteak, and she nodded in a fashion that gave Andy the impression she would not thus to any old suggestion he cared to make. So he picked her up and carried her majestically from the scene of the battle.

Later that night Andy made an unobtrusive departure from the hotel and in a deserted section of the driveway came upon a man seated on a rock. The man was Poet Weatherby.

"Hello," said Andy. "Been waiting long?"

"About an hour, you big ape," said Horace. "Say, what's the idea of poking me one on the button? That wasn't in the bargain."

"It wasn't in the bargain either to try to kiss my girl. However, here's your money. Now scam before she sees you hanging around and gets suspicious."

"O.K." Horace thumbed through a wad of bills and grinned. "Nice going, Andy. Say, you sure know how to handle women."

"That," said Andy, "is because I take beefsteak with my rhymes."

Before Buying Used Car
Get Okeh From Mechanic

Best insurance of all when buying a used car is to pay a mechanic you trust to look it over. Here are some of the things he will do:

Before taking it out, he will stare at the driver's seat, the floor boards, foot pedals, running boards, door catches and snubbers. These things are among the least important on the car, but they give him an idea of the car's real mileage, rather than the speedometer which can be adjusted to any lie. Under the fenders he peers and if one of them is new, it suggests an accident and makes him alert for other clues.

If the rear seats show unusual wear, he gives the body a hard look for spots where signs and lights may once have been and pecks off a bit of the new paint. Should he find the kind of paint usually used on taxis, he walks out. It is all he needs to know. Should the car stand a preliminary once-over, he takes it for a good long demonstration. It runs sweetly without any knocks. But why does he stop and smell the gas tank? It might contain ether, which prevents knocks but burns the cylinders out. While the car is stopped, he rubs off a smear of grease because this is an old trick for hiding the seam where a cracked engine has been welded.

Speeding the car up to 45 miles an hour, he takes his foot from the accelerator, then jams it down again, and looks backward. What's the idea? Well, if the piston rings are worn, there will be a cloud of blue smoke. Also he examines the oil. If this is extra heavy, it is another indication of the same weakness.

No War Shortages Likely,
Bulging Granaries; High Farm Output Cited.

WASHINGTON.—Reassuring news for housewives concerned over the possibility of war-time food shortages is offered by officials of the department of agriculture.

On top of a record production of summer food and livestock feed crops, farmers are anticipating a bumper output of perishable winter products, such as vegetables, milk, butter and eggs.

The United States entered the war with a two-year supply of wheat. Its store of corn, the basic raw material for meat, dairy and poultry products, is the largest on record. Huge reserves had been accumulated under the farm program.

Milk and Egg Output High.

Only in the case of spices, cocoa and some luxury items imported from the Far East is there the possibility of a restricted supply.

In a report just issued, the department said milk and egg production was at levels never reached before.

First estimates on the entire crop of citrus fruits show prospects for about 141,000,000 boxes, a quantity nearly equal to the record crop of 144,000,000 boxes last season. The orange supply will be the largest on record, but the grapefruit and lemon supplies will be below.

The department said the winter vegetable crop was coming along well. With continued favorable weather, production may be 15 per cent greater than last winter. A 50 per cent increase in early cabbage and a 25 per cent increase in Texas spinach were indicated.

Meat Supplies to Increase.

Already in the nation's larder is a record production of canned and processed vegetables from summer crops.

The department expects meat supplies to increase as the months advance under the influence of favorable prices and bountiful feed supplies.

Egg production this year is expected to be 5 per cent greater than last year and 4 per cent above the record output of 1933. Milk production per capita was said to be the highest on record.

Supplies of sugar, the bulk of which is obtained from offshore producing areas, continue ample for months ahead, the department said. Officials conceded, however, that the war in the Pacific may cut off supplies from the Philippines. They expressed a firm belief, nevertheless, that sufficient supplies could be secured from Cuba, Puerto Rico and South America as well as from domestic production of cane and beets.

Onions and Pineapples
More Fluid Than Milk

AMHERST, MASS.—Few persons have tried to drink an onion or a pineapple, yet Massachusetts State college experts say either is far more "fluid" than milk.

Prof. Julius H. Frandsen of the dairy industry department says both onions and pineapples are made up of less solid food material than milk.

CHRIST AND LIFE AFTER DEATH (EASTER)

LESSON TEXT—Mark 12:24-27; I Corinthians 15:50-58.
GOLDEN TEXT—But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.—I Corinthians 15:57.

V for Victory! By that sign have many peoples indicated their confidence in a victory to come. It is well to have a victorious outlook, but it is even better to be able to look back to victory already attained. That is just what we are able to do as we consider man's great and final enemy—death. That victory has been won on behalf of all who believe, by the risen Christ of whom we think in a special way on this Easter day.

He is the Lord of the living, not of the dead; those who, even though they may have left this world, have only laid aside the corruptible body for the incorruptible. They are victorious, even as we are, over death.

I. Living, Not Dead (Mark 12:24-27).

The Sadducees, a rationalistic sect of Christ's day, denied the resurrection, and so they were much distressed by His plain teaching of that truth. They therefore devised an intricate hypothetical case (see Mark 12:18-23) and sought to set a trap for Him. But they only caught themselves, for He pointed out to them and to the people that what was wrong with them was that they did not understand the Scriptures nor the power of God.

That is precisely what is wrong with the modernists of our day—they misinterpret God's Word, and they deny His power.

In then Jesus turned to them and in place of their fantastic "supposing" story He spoke of three real characters from the books of Moses which they taught. He said that God still calls Himself the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, because though they had long been in their graves, they were still alive. God's fellowship with His people is not merely for the brief life span of this earth, but for eternity. That fact, of course, carries with it the truth of the resurrection.

II. Incorruptible, Not Corruptible (I Cor. 15:50-54).

Man knows that his earthly body is marked for decay and death. That fact is written in its very members. He also knows that such a body would be entirely inappropriate for heaven—for eternity. Is he then barred from God's eternal kingdom? No, indeed, for there is to be a glorious change—the corruptible shall put on incorruptibility.

Whether we shall tarry until Jesus comes and be transformed without dying, or whether we shall await His coming for a time among those who sleep, there will come that trumpet sound, and in the twinkling of an eye we shall be clothed upon with incorruptible bodies like unto His glorious resurrection body (Phil. 3:21). There we have an assurance of victory already won on our behalf, which can and does strengthen our souls against the trials and sorrows of life.

III. Victorious, Not Defeated (I Cor. 15:55-58).

When Satan after a long struggle finally had Christ's body laid away in the tomb, he thought he had the victory, but just then came his great hour of defeat.

"Up from the grave He arose,
With a mighty triumph o'er His foes."

"Death could not hold its prey," for it sought to hold one stronger than itself—the Lord of Life Himself. He had broken the bonds of sin by His sacrifice on Calvary; and since it was sin (the violation of the law) which brought death in the first place (Gen. 2:17; 3:17-19), there was now a complete victory over both sin and death.

The one who knows Christ need no longer fear death. For him it is not a leap into the dark, or going as a trembling wayfarer into an unknown land. President John Quincy Adams was right when, aged and frail, he replied to a question as to his welfare: "Quite well, thank you. The house in which I live is tottering and trembling, and I may soon have to move out, but I am quite well." He was ready for the departure into a better land and a better body.

Such a hope has a splendid practical application, which Paul stresses in verse 58. With victorious assurance the believer stands steadfast and unmovable at the center of life, while always abounding in the joys and duties which come at its circumference. Like the wheel which can be useful only as its center is established and steady, so man can serve the Lord and enjoy a satisfying life only as he has the steadfastness of which Paul here speaks.

We trust that it is your possession by faith in Christ. If not, make it so on this resurrection Sunday!

TO YOUR Good Health

by DR. NATHAN S. DAVIS, III

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE HIGHER IN THE WINTER

Did you know that blood pressure, especially high blood pressure, is apt to be higher in cold weather?

Dr. Nathan S. Davis III
Dipping one hand or foot in ice water and keeping it there for a few minutes will also cause the blood pressure to rise. Mental and physical exertion, nervousness and excitement have this effect. All doctors know that the blood pressure reading obtained when a patient is first examined is often materially above that individual's average or normal blood pressure. Many have had difficulty in getting life insurance because nervousness at the time of the examination caused their blood pressure to rise above normal.

Did you know that high blood pressure in itself causes almost no symptoms? People who have it may have shortness of breath on slight exertion and tire easily but this is due to the associated scarring and weakening of the heart muscle. Kidneys may become weakened and may cause constant headaches due to hardening of the arteries in the brain or to the decreased function of the kidney. Dizziness is due to hardening of the arteries to the internal ear or to the nerves supplying it. Most of the symptoms are due to hardening of the arteries which is not the cause of the high blood pressure even though it is more marked in those who have it.

Increasing Death Rate from Automobile Accidents per 100,000 Population

Condition Often Found.

High blood pressures are almost invariably found in the course of routine physical examinations for insurance, or for periodic health audits, or when the patient has consulted the doctor because he has a cold, indigestion or some other complaint that is not due to high blood pressure.

Not infrequently during the winter months a patient who knows that he has a high blood pressure will consult his physician saying that he is not feeling at all well and is sure his pressure must be way up. This usually happens after a sudden and rather extreme change in weather; when after a severe cold snap with high barometric readings, there follows an unusually warm spell with low barometric pressures. The patient's blood pressure is probably much lower than it usually is. If he had come in when he was feeling good during the sunny cold snap, it might have been higher. Such rapid changes in weather may cause serious falls in pressure for at such times clots may form in the hardened arteries of the brain or heart and cause "strokes" or "coronary occlusions." Under such circumstances clots may also form in the arteries to the intestines or lower extremities.

Until more is known of the causes of high blood pressure and of methods for eliminating them, treatment will not be satisfactory. Treatment directed only at lowering the blood pressure may often do more harm than good. The blood pressure is high to give a normal circulation in the presence of a disease that causes a narrowing of the smaller arteries due to spasm or thickening of their linings. An individual who has a high blood pressure must learn to live with it and to avoid anything that causes it to rise or fall from its usual level.

From the medical viewpoint, all men, women and children are like the contrary women of whom the comedian sang: "You never see two alike at any one time and never see one alike twice."

QUESTION BOX

Send questions to Dr. Nathan S. Davis III, Winnetka, Ill. (Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

Q.—What would you suggest taking for gaining weight during the winter months? G. B.

A.—Your regular diet plus nourishment such as milk and cream, bread and butter between meals and at bed time.

Q.—When sitting in a theater, I get a dry burning sensation in my throat. Would nervousness be the cause of this? I. F.

A.—Yes.

Toasted Bunnies Parade for This Easter Dinner! (See Recipes Below)

Easter Time

As gay as red tulips with food as fresh and appealing as spring itself is the Easter dinner menu I have planned for you today. It's simple and economical as is in keeping with the times, but with spring-like accents that lurk in the fragrant mint leaves, spring lamb, green peas, crisp, bright salad and in the distinctive ice cream.

With Easter on the wing, winter is definitely on the way out, and our thoughts naturally turn to lighter foods and delicate, pastel table settings. For Easter brings out your loveliest white cloths or pastel yellows. As flowers jonquils make an inexpensive but effective centerpiece. Or, for something more dramatic, try red tulips in the center of the bowl banked on all sides by white snapdragons.

*Leg of Lamb Roast.

The paper thin covering or "fell" on your leg of lamb does not affect the flavoring of the cut and need not be removed until just before serving. In fact, when left on, it keeps the roast in better shape, cooks more quickly and keeps the juices well within the meat.

Mix ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 3 tablespoons flour with ½ cup cold water. Spread this over the leg of lamb. Roast uncovered in a moderately slow (325-degree) oven 30 to 35 minutes to the pound. Spread with currant jelly the last 20 minutes. Baste meat every 15 minutes.

*Apricot Garnish.

Use canned halves of apricots or stewed halves, well chilled. Place a nugget of mint jelly in the center and serve around the leg of lamb roast.

A touch of red is a hard color to resist especially if it's in a crispy, zesty salad as this one:

*Cranberry Apple Salad. (Serves 6)

1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ of a pound can of cranberry sauce
1 apple
½ orange
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Dissolve the gelatin in boiling water and chill until thickened. Crush cranberry sauce.

Lynn Says:

The Easter dinner I planned for you is economical but doubly so because you can make good use of the leftovers.

Cut the remainder of the roast off the bone, grind it with a fine grinder, ½ onion, the potatoes and green peas. Place in a buttered dish, bake until heated. During the last seven minutes of baking break eggs whole on top of lamb mixture and serve as soon as eggs have cooked.

If you have just a little of the cranberry apple salad left, cut it into small cubes and serve as a relish. For salad, use leftover apricots from the roast garnish and fill the center with cream cheese and nuts and serve in lettuce cups with your favorite dressing.

If you have a few leftover green peas from dinner toss them together with a few carrots, shredded for a change. You can cream these, or mix them with a few bits of crumbled bacon. For variation you might try a few tiny boiled onions with the leftover peas to make enough for a vegetable dish.

Rolls though leftover go over well even the next day. You can slice, toast and butter them. If you like them whole, simply put in a covered casserole with a few drops of water and allow a few minutes to heat through.

Dessert? This is easy. Spoon the ice cream on vanilla wafers, top with another wafer, more ice cream until all is used. Chill for an hour or so and serve sliced with a dab of whipped cream if desired.

Easter Dinner

Fruit Cup with Mint Leaves
*Leg of Lamb Roast with Apricot Garnish
*Creamed Potatoes Green Peas
*Cranberry Apple Salad
*Honey Rolls
*Almond Ice Cream with Easter Bunnies
*Recipes Given

Grind apple and orange, leaving skins on. Combine cranberry sauce with fruits and lemon juice. Add to gelatin. Pour into molds and chill until firm, or pour into a refrigerator tray and cut in squares when ready to serve. Serve on crisp lettuce with creamy mayonnaise.

Crusty, fragrant honey rolls are a gracious addition to your Easter dinner. No need to worry about food shortages when excellent rolls such as this are minus sugar and only a small amount of fat and one egg. Rolled and cut to look like a swirl, these Honey rolls may be baked in buttered muffin tins, or may be shaped into cloverleaves. Have them hot or cold as you prefer, they're good both ways.

*Honey Rolls.

1 cup milk
½ cup honey
¼ cup fat
1 cake compressed yeast softened in ¼ cup lukewarm water
1½ teaspoons salt
1 egg
4 cups flour
Scald milk, add fat and honey. Add yeast, salt and 2 cups flour. Then add beaten egg and remainder of flour to form a soft dough. Knead lightly until smooth. Let rise twice, then form into rolls. Let rise until light. Bake in a hot (400-degree) oven about 20 minutes.

*Creamed Potatoes.

Method I. Peel new potatoes and wash thoroughly. Cook them in boiling water for 10 minutes. Add enough rich milk not quite enough to cover, and finish cooking potatoes. Be careful not to burn potatoes, stirring often, or cook in double boiler. Add salt, pepper and butter to taste.

Method II. Boil new potatoes in their jackets. Cool and peel. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, blend in 2 tablespoons flour, and add 1 cup of milk. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thick. Add potatoes to this, season, and heat through.

Easter dinner with the traditional leg o' lamb, peas and mint jelly touches demands a distinctive and at the same time a harmoniously flavored dessert. Almond flavoring is perfect foil, guaranteed to please, in this creamy, quickly prepared ice cream. No sugar required!

*Almond Ice Cream. (Serves 6)

¾ cup sweetened condensed milk
½ cup water
1½ teaspoons almond extract
1 cup whipping cream
½ cup finely shredded almonds
Mix sweetened condensed milk, water and almond flavoring. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Freeze in a freezing unit until half frozen. Scrape from tray and beat until smooth but not melted. Add almonds. Replace in freezing unit until frozen.

For the Easter bunnies you may use day-old sliced white bread. Cut the bread with a bunny-shaped cookie cutter. Spread all sides of the cutouts with sweetened condensed milk, then roll in dry, shredded coconut, broken fine. Brown under broiler at low heat, watching very carefully, or toast over coals if you prefer by placing the bunnies on a fork. These taste like coconut frosted angel food.

Star Comes Out For Inflation

Inflation is everything in the life of an automobile tire and Ella Logan, singing star of "Sons O' Fun", new Olsen and Johnson hit, has the inflation of her automobile tires checked once a week to help add to their life. She urges all motorists to do the same. Proper inflation is one of the real secrets of making the tires last as long as possible, Miss Logan has learned from the experts, who point out that tests have proved that one-third under-inflation cuts tire life in half. High speeds, sharp turns, scuffing against curbs when parking and permitting wheels to be out of alignment are other practices which shorten the life of an automobile tire.

FINE LETTER FROM J. J. REID

and when we see that 17000 or more men walk out, losing precious hours that should be used in making the war materials that are so sorely needed, simply because some man has been disciplined for an infringement of the rules of the factory, in which he works, such as "no smoking" or trying to "slowup" work, etc, we cannot help but think that there is something wrong with America, despite the fact that men are fighting and dying for the ideal that we always have held almost sacred.

Of course we are going ahead out here, as the exhibit of war materials now being on display in the General Motors building, will show. But much more can be done if the Union leaders and factory owners could get together, and formulate some plan that would do away with these strikes. A friend of mine said recently, in speaking of the situation out here, that the workers in the factories do not look very seriously on the trouble we are in but that they think this war was brought about for the express purpose of giving them higher wages. I do not believe that all of them think this way, but a very large number surely show by their actions that they are really of this mind.

So, Brother Heaps, you will see that I am not yet fully convinced that your prophecy is correct, although there is no one living that would rejoice more than I would, if your look into the future proves correct, if I am living at that time. But don't get the idea that one man can do the trick, for dozens of McArthur's, would be unable to do so, if he had not a united army behind him, which I think he has, or a united body of workers behind them, which I know he has not, by observing the events which are occurring out here.

I agree with the statement made in one of the articles on the Editorial page that a great deal of the fault lies in the management of affairs at Washington, and that there is too much of "I planned it so." I also think that it is a crime to waste money on things that at this time are not essential to winning the war. But what can we do?

I see no way out of it but by standing back of those who got us into this mess, which is almost the same way of expressing my feelings, only not quite as emphatic as Brother Heaps did. By the way was it a mistake of the printer, or did you mean it when you spoke of the devil being unclaimed and called Hitler the arch "friend"? I would have said "friend," I believe, as that fits him better.

It is queer, isn't it, that something is said or written, that brings back an incident that you have forgotten in that article about the Fire Company, I saw that I was the Secretary of the first meeting called for the formation of the present efficient organization. I have no recollection of it, not that I did not realize its importance to the welfare and good of the town, but realized that my physical condition was not what was required for the work of the members. However, I am glad I had a little to do with what I saw some time ago in a paper, was considered the best equipped Company in the county.

There is not much news in this article, and I hope your readers realize the difficulty in gathering interesting news in a large city, such as this is, where you hardly know your next neighbor, after living alongside of him for years. So if in the future, if I am able to write, I trust my letters will not be disappointed if my letters are more of the character of this one, than those of the other correspondents, who know everybody for miles around. As I have a many inquiries about my health, I want to assure my friends that I have not "gone backward," but am about the same as the past month, but am keeping my "fingers crossed," as the old saying is.

JOHN J. REID.

SUNDAY SCHOOL EASTER ENTERTAINMENT

The Lutheran Sunday School will present an Easter program in the church on Easter Sunday evening, April 5, at 7:30. The following recitations and exercises have been arranged: Recitation, "A Prayer" by Wayne Baumgardner; Exercise, "Easter Lilies," by Arlene Unger; Doris J. Zentz, Mary L. Zentz and Betty J. Hahn; Exercise, "Risen" by William Hopkins, William Amos, Pearl Bollinger, Ruth Ohler, Joan Fair, and Margaret Zentz; Exercise, "That is Why," by Ruth J. Ohler, Marian Martin and Lorraine Myers; Song, "The Birdies' Easter" by the Primary and Beginners departments; Recitation, "An Easter Light" by Lorraine Sauble; Exercise, "New Life," by Rhoda Rohrbaugh, Dorothy Rorbaugh, Larry Davidson, Earl Lookingbill, Julia Becker, Patsy Becker, Evelyn Wilhide and Dolores Becker; Exercise, "Christ is Risen" by Lois Clingan, David Wilhide, Lois Ohler, Donald Smith, Arlene Fair, Donald Hess, Estelle Hess, James Wilhide, Paul Sell, Evelyn Baumgardner, Bobby Harner and Wanda Mehning.

A pageant, "The Shadow of the Cross," will also be given. The cast of characters is: Ethan, Martin Zimmerman; Naomi, Mary Crouse; Benoni, Henry Alexander; Philip, James Fair; Joel, Herbert Bowers; Angel, Wilmer Nail; Syro-Phoenician woman, Catherine Crouse; the women at the Cross, Betty Cashman, Alice Cashman, Letitia Smith; the women at the Sepulchre, June Fair, Cecelia Fair; daughter of Syro-Phoenician woman, Phyllis Smith; people of Jerusalem, Wilmer Nail, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Nail and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Fair, Mildred Ohler, Dorothy Alexander, Betty Linton, Mary K. Linton and Ruth Hess. In the pageant, Benoni is pictured as one of the shepherds who were led to Christ when He was born. As the action begins, he and his household are reviewing the events centering around the birth. This discussion has been caused partly by the preaching of John the Baptist, who says that he has come to prepare the way of the Lord. Then Christ is baptized, and His baptism is described to Naomi and her son Philip by Benoni and his old friend, Joel. All of Benoni's household believe in Christ, with the exception of his proud son, Ethan. Finally, Ethan, who has beheld the Resurrection, and who cannot escape the shadow of the Cross, re-lives the Triumphant Entry and the Crucifixion, and is led by the Voice of the Spirit of Truth to belief and peace. The pageant ends in a hymn of triumph. Committee in charge of program—Miss Mabert Brower chm; Miss Helen Cashman, Miss Elizabeth Ohler, Mrs. Harry Shirk, Miss Virginia Bower and Mrs. William Hopkins.
