SOLIDERS' LETTERS

Taneytown Men are Appreciative of Kits.

Very appreciative thanks from Fern Smith.

Thanks for your gift and for your thought. I want you to know it pleased me a lot.

LOY C. LeGORE.

My Dear Miss Annan:

Today I received a soldier's kit from the Taneytown community project. I did not know just whom to write my thanks to but I remembered that during the time I visited home you asked me for some advice on the subject. I want my sincere appreciation and thanks to be given to all of those who are responsible.

I know that I speak not only for myself but for all of the boys from Taneytown who have been called into the service. The kits have very well made up and include a great number of articles that are very important to us. It is not only the kit that means so much to us but the fact that this kind gesture helps the fact that this kind gesture helps us to realize that we are not completely forgotten by our friends at home, and through this thought perhaps we will be able to do our job just a little bit better so that we may help in keeping our democracy for us and our posterity. posterity.

Again I want to thank not only those who are directly responsible but all of those who are indirectly concerned and have made contribu-tions to such a worthy cause.

Sincerely, ROBERT O. LAMBERT,

My Dear Mrs. Hesson: I would like to thank you and all my other friends connected with the community project for the very nice

Thank you so very much for the kit. There's everything a service man needs and can use. It's nice, too because its so compact, for we do have to conserve space. I wish I could thank you and the rest of your organization in person, but as that is impossible, please convey my thanks to them all. Sincerely,

INTERESTING DECISION BY SUPREME COURT

Judge Forsythe Upheld by Opinion of Highest Tribunal

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

That the Supreme Court is becoming aware of the danger of pressure put on minority groups, was shown Monday in a decision, 5 to 4, upholding the expulsion from school children of Jehovah's Witnesses for refusive the school children of Jehovah's Witnesses for refusing to salute the flag.

The notable fact about it is that the same question was passed upon and the same decision reached in June, 1940, by a vote of 8 to 1. THE SALES TAX

We have noted the frequent editorials in the morning Baltimore Sun urging the levying of a sales tax. The matter seems to be taken for granted that a sales tax must be lev- pride and appreciation.

On Monday of this week there was a plea for fixing the tax at the retail level or making it a manufacturer's tax. The argument is that when the manufacturer pays the tax he must make a profit on the tax as well as upon the cost. Then the wholesaler must do the same and the retailer must follow the same course. Thus three profits are neaped upon the tax itself and the consumer must pay the

But the Sun is not as solicitous for the consumer as it appears to be. We fully agree that such piling up of profits where there should be no profits is unjustifiable, but we have a better way out.

The sales tax is wrong in principle and should not be levied anywhere. It is a tax where there is no income, but an outgo. It places the heaviest burden upon the ones least able to bear it. The principal of ability to pay is entirely forgotten. The man with a family suffers, while the man without a family gets off easily.

If more money must be collected, there is but a single source from which it may fairly be drawn-profits, income-graduated according to "ability to pay."

To soak the poor fellows who find tax a burden, but who are helpless, and cannot makes much resistance, is gross injustice and of the essence of L. B. H. despotism.

THE WORM HAS TURNED

For about two years Germany had things her own way so far as bombings were concerned, and England, especially, London, had to take it. But England is not accustomed to taking things lying down, as Hitler and his gang are now finding out.

The bombing by the R. A. F., of Cologne, and the destruction of seven-eights of the city is but a pattern. Fully half dozen other German cities, including Munich and Berlin are on the Agenda for like treatment. Before it is all over the Germans are apt to realize that two can play at any game. The American people-a are not naturally inclined to take sides or be prejudiced, but in this instance it is quite likely that more than % of us are rejoicing that the English are doing a good job over there.

When war ends and peace proposals start there are going to arise a whole flock of problems.

What pay shall civilization exact blood slay a hundred or five hundred must pay in such cases?

For our own part we should like to see the wronged people given free rein to exact the pound of flesh from the murderers.

What shall we do with Hitler and Gobbels, and Goering and Himler and the other head butchers? One effective thing could be done. Let all the wealth and all the property of all these fiends be confiscate and put into a common fund to be doled out at least one hundred thousand good marks to the heirs of each innocent one slain, and if the money don't hold out then let the German people who have tolerated the brutes, make up the balance. Your religious scruples and religious teachings may say "Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord," but for my part I want to see civilization help the Lord a little on the W. J. H.

DRAFT SYSTEM

The War Department has finally taken a step to correct one of the most obvious and serious mistakes in the draft system. It has announced kind." that after June 15 the Army will be directed to furlough draftees home for fourteen days following their final acceptance and induction. Under the system which has been n effect since the draft was started, draftees have been compelled to go through all the induction process without knowing, until their processing by the Army was under way, whether they would be accepted. They have then been rejected or sent home, or sent to training centers. This put the draft boards in an embarrassing position, for some of the blame fell unjustly on them. In many avoidable hardships and strains on family and work relations.

The new plan will enable draftees to continue their normal relationships at home until they are called for Army examination. In a day or two they will know whether they are in the Army, or are not to be taken into the Army under the prevailing requirements.

If accepted, they will have plenty their communities will have time to hold the farewell celebrations which Secretary Stimson has suggested and which the people are eager to provide as a means of expressing their

WAR AND AGRICULTURE

Much is heard of current high prices of agricultural products. What people often overlook is the fact that war has also brought the farmer many a tough problem.

The price of everything he must buy is substantially higher now than Shortages and priorities make it difficult and sometimes impossible for needed repairs, and building and maintenance materials.

Most serious of all, the agricultural labor situation is actually desperate in many localities. The best men have gone to work in war industry, attracted by big wages. The draft has taken many who would normally work on farms. Even when labor is yond the average farmer's power to

RAILROAD VERSUS PIPE LINES

Thus far the American railroads have kept themselves out of the clutches of their Uncle Samuel. Suggestions keep bobbing up that there should be a Government-operated pool of railroad rolling stock. And maybe there will be! But the history of World War I still stand as a terrible warning not to try that scheme again. It put the American railroads on the toboggan. J. M. IS TUNNEY WRONG?

"I believe in smoking. As a doctor I recommend it. I claim tobacco is one of the greatest boons to man-

So writes Dr. Louis E. Bisch, noted psychiatrist, in the July issue of Click magazine. Dr. Bisch takes issue with Lt. Commander Gene Tunney, who opposes the use of tobacco by men in the armed forces. Dr. Bisch contends that tobacco is a stimulus to alert thinking, that alert thinking rather than brawn will win the war, and that men in their sixties and seventies who are inveterate smokers are fully capable despite Tunney's claim that smoking shortens the life span. In this connection Dr. Bisch cites an interesting example of how, by careful selection instances inductees were subjected to and compilation of statistics, almost any conclusion can be drawn.

The average life span in America, has, since 1932, been increased by seven and a quarter years in the past two decades. In the same period the annual consumption of tobacco has risen in leaps and bounds. But Dr. Bisch states categorically that smoking within reasonable limits does not cause cancer, heart ailments or any other afflictions equally severe, and of time to arrange their affairs, and that man develops a tolerance for tobacco which resists the supposed effects of nicotine. In short, he concludes, if you have a boy in the army and he smokes cigarettes, send some to him. Total war calls for mental conditioning more than athletic training .- National Industries News Ser-

"ORDER" BY MURDER

The evil that men do lives after them in another sense than that expressed by Shakespeare. Unfortunately the death of Reinhard Heydrich does not end the evil of which he, as surely as the hundreds of innocent people murdered by his orders, was a victim.

If the Nazis knew any more effective way to rule Europe than through in pre-war days. His taxes, like the methods they are now applying to everyone else's, are at record highs. discourage further attacks on their officials they doubtless would use them. For the firing squad is obhim to obtain new equipment and viously an inadequate answer to the hopes and indomitable aspirations of a civilized continent. The Nazis must know that for every man that falls before their bullets, ten or ten times ten band themselves together to insure the downfall of this new order-by-murder.

Why waste more words on Heydrich? Why honor him with hate? available, the price demanded is be- More eloquent than Nazi paeans, or the epithets of tortured peoples, though these be sung or hurled by masters of verbal art, are the unadorned lists of Czechs who have died in the wanton reprisals with which the Nazis habitually satiate their lust for revenge. It is of these truly gentle men and women that we shall think—unless we permit ourselves to be infected with the mad inspires Nazi policies toward nations and individuals alike.

There is little enough satisfaction for civilized people in the circumstances and consequences of Heydrich's death. There was hardly a man, woman or child among the victims of the vengeful Nazis who did not hold more promise for the improvement of the race and the benefit of civilization. - Christian Science Monitor.

THE WAR AND BOOZE

There has been a rising tide of sentiment against the booze business, especially for the duration of the war. The strange part of the argupresent system work, as experience traffic while the war lasts, but that conflict is over.

Just last week we had an editorial question is being debated in the col-

> "It can hardly be argued that inindividual, liquor is a detriment. There never was a greater need for clear-headed, sustained, uninterrupted application to duty. If anything meddles with that, it should go out of our national life. As Curtin of Australia said the other day: "Brawn and brain come before bets and beer"

> I am not as a citizen to be influenced by the profits made by the various treasuries from the liquor business In fact, the increase in these profits convinces me that much wealth is being diverted to a purpose which has nothing to do with the winning of the

Are we prepared to deal with a lawbreaker of this class in such a time as this? A fine for a convinced bootlegger with prohibition would be entirely out of line. Production of Aircraft Leaps Finished Output in 1941 Is Worth $1,500,000,000, Expert Declares.

NEW YORK .- The giant strides of the aircraft industry toward the goal of 125,000 planes in 1943 were described by J. Carlton Ward Jr., president of the Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation, in a resume that gave $1,500,000,000 as the value of the finished production of the aircraft industry in this country

Mr. Ward showed, with the aid of graphs and charts, the progress of the American aviation industry since the outbreak of war in September, 1939.

Military Secrets Deleted. The following facts that he presented were authorized by the army and navy, certain others having been deleted from the graphs as military secrets:

A four-engine bomber costs approximately $352,000. Add to that the cost of training the pilot and crew, and the value of such a bomber rises to "nearly half a million

There were 75,000 persons employed in aircraft manufacture in September, 1939, and 400,000 in January, 1942. Until the end of 1940 the impetus for expansion came almost entirely from British and French orders and not from American requirements.

Plant area had increased four-fold in the same period from 12,000,000 square feet to 48,000,000 square feet. From the graph, from which all figures had been erased, it appeared that war plan production had also quadrupled.

The number of non-military planes rose from 16,000 to 27,000 and the number of licensed pilots from 53,000 to 100,000. Up-Curve in Dollar Value.

The most startling up-curve in the whole series of graphs came in the presentation of dollar value of production. No figure was given for 1939, $1,500,000,000 was given for 1941 and $10,000,000,000 for 1943.

Mr. Ward gave no promise that the aircraft industry would or would not be able to meet the President's request, but pointed out that Americans could "take pride" in the in-dustry's response to "the biggest war job in the world." He also pointed out that aircraft would account for 17 per cent of the country's total war expenditure.

At the end of his speech, Mr. Ward declared that there had been waste in the preparedness program beeither politicians nor the public, in peace years, had been willing to spend money for arms.

"Peace in modern parlance is an armed truce," he said. "It is only the strong who are not at-

Historic Drum Still Is

In Use After Five Wars SAN FRANCISCO.—A drum whose rolling beat helped inspire George Washington's frost-bitten forces at Valley Forge is still being used here by Charles J. Bessette, a recent arrival in San Francisco. The instrument has been through four wars since the American Revolution. Bessette once used it in recital at Carnegie hall. The drum is insured for $5,000 by the Smithsonian institution, which will inherit it when Bessette dies.

According to Bessette, the drum was one of 90 ordered by General Washington from a cabinet-maker in Flushing, L. I., during the Revolution. A fire destroyed all but nine of them. Bessette's is the only one still in use. The others are in museums and private collections.

'It came into my family in 1848, during the Mexican war, when it was given to my grandfather's uncle," Bessette said. "My grandfather, Tommy Bessette, carried it in the Civil war, and my father, Mose, took it through the Spanish-American war.

"My father drummed on it for 28 years with Sousa, and when the World war came along he gave it to me and I took it to France with the 'Fighting 69th.'"

MEN WANTED

There's more than one way that advertising brings men to work.

The most important way is when advertising is used to increase sales.

Instead of "men wanted," it says, "customers wanted."

And more customers mean more jobs in the stores and factories that keep busy by using advertising.

He and three companions, none of them wearing lifebelts, fashioned a makeshift raft from floating hatch cover boards.

Soroko said that all knew they were in an area infested by sharks, and that fish frequently nibbled at their bare feet.

While it was still dark, said Soroko, a navy patrol plane appeared overhead, dropped flares and spotted his party. The plane finally landed on water "really too rough to land on," said Soroko, and after maneuvering for so long that the heavy seas split one of its pontoons and caused it to take on water the bomber came close enough for the men to swim to it from the raft.

Throughout the ordeal, even before the bomber came, said Soroko. the group joked, laughed and even discussed what they would like most before they died.

Alarm by Cruising Plane

Brings Firemen in Time IDAHO FALLS, IDAHO.-Marvin Jaeger knows now what an air raid is like. He heard a high-pitched snarl of a diving plane over his barn. He ran outside—sure enough, his barn was afire, and the plane was making another dive at it.

Pilot Rex Pilling, making a morning flight, saw the fire, dived his plane until he attracted Jaeger's attention and then called the fire department, a detail that hadn't occurred to Jaeger.

FEESERSBURG.

The dog-days are scheduled to begin July 3, but we've had a foretaste of their usual weather the past week; damp, humid, sultry and now one third of June has gone. One can scarcely keep up with time it passes so quickly.

Miss Betty Trite, granddaughter of George Crumbacker, deceased, was one of the 13 graduates of Tressler High School, Loysville, Pa., where she has spent the past 8 years. Commencement exercises were on June 3, their class motto, "Striving on for Victory"; Class flower, red rose; class colors, red, white and blue. Betty is gifted in music, can play a pipe organ well and has a scholarship for Susquehanna University.

The 7th. Grade promotion exercises of the Elmer Wolfe school on Thursday afternoon, June 4, were well attended, and a nice program was presented: Rev. Berkley Bowman offered the invocation; Mr. H. B. Fogle made the chief address, and two of the teachers, Grayson Shank and Miss Carmen Delaplane, presented certi-ficates to 22 boys and 13 girls, and school closed for 1942.

Miss N. Eaton a registered nurse, from service in Jamaica, is spending some time with her friend, Mrs. Millard Roelke, near Mt. Union while recuperating.

Mrs. John Shirk, of Taneytown, spent last Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Rosa Bohn, near Union Bridge; who entertained their brother, S. Franklin Koons and wife, and Mrs.

Carroll Dern to dinner.

Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Sr., spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Lulu Main and other relatives in York, where her daughter, Mrs. Josephine Filer and husband joined her and brought her home on Saturday evening, and the family were all together on Sunday including the soldier son who had just been on a 25 mile hike and some of the boys fell by the way. At Mt. Union on Sunday morning, Rev. Bowersox preached a fine Pentacostal sermon on the Trinity. MARRIED

ALLEN-GARNER

The marriage of Miss Rachel Garn- party was given on Tuesday evening. er, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Garner, near Westminster, and Rev. Galen Allen, of Iowa, took place on Sunday afternoon, June 7, 1942, at 3 P. M., in the Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren, with Rev. J.

Thomas officiating. Preceding the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Porter, of Oberlin, Ohio, and Mr. Luitpold Stern formerly of Vienna, now of Haverford, Pa., played Handel's "Sonata" for violin and piano. Glenn Bolden, of Somerset, Pa., sang "My God and I." Miss Porter played "Living for Jesus".

The bride wore a gown of ivory brocaded marquisette with a fitted bodice and a veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried an orchid with her prayer book with shower ribbons. Mrs. Carroll Rinehart was the matron of honor. She wore a pink net dress and carried a bouquet of pink and blue snap dragons, ragged robins and baby's breath. The groom had as his bestman Glenn Bolden. The ushers were Ralph Garner and Carroll Rinehart. The church was decorated with ferns, roses and spring flowers. Miss Porter and Mr. Stern played Wagners "Wedding March" from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March"

A reception was held at the home of the bride following the ceremony. The couple left for a wedding trip through the Middle West and to the home of the groom in Iowa. After June 15 they will serve as a summer pastor at the Church of the Brethren in Wetonka, South Dakota. In the fall they will continue work at the

Build Air Models, Navy Asks Youths

10,000 Each of Fifty Types Of Planes Wanted.

WASHINGTON .- The navy calls upon the youths in American high schools to take a direct and vital part in the training of its fast-growing air service.

Through Secretary Knox it asked urgently that these youths build 500,-000 aircraft models, 10,000 each of 50 types of fighting planes, for immediate and continuous use in the training of naval combat forces for aircraft recognition and range estimation in gunnery work.

Because of the projected employ-ment of the models in war training, Mr. Knox emphasized they must be built with scientific precision and accuracy, one inch on each model representing six feet on an actual plane, a scale of one to seventy-two.

Thus, it was explained, the proportions would hold true as to distance. A model sighted by a training aircraft gunner at 35 feet would appear as would a plane at just under a half mile. Studying the model through the standard ring sight used on aerial gun mounts, Mr. Knox said, would give "invaluable" training for the cadet ier, teaching him type, identification and range.

Such training can be given only with three-dimensional models, he

Plans and specifications are being prepared by the navy's bureau of aeronautics. Some are being supplied to the United States office of education, which will administer the program with the co-operation of all state departments of education and the local public and private schools. Approved models will be sent to aviation units, ashore and affoat.

No Help

By STANLEY CORDELL (Associated Newspapers—WNU Service.)

AY CANTRELL was disgusted. He had thought he might find a solution to his own problem by reading the stories in Peerless Weekly. But they proved a disappointment. Except for a variety of backgrounds they all began and ended the same. The heroine was either dark, light or medium, and always gorgeous, beautiful, exotic, different, popular, sophisticated, aloof and desired by every man who so much as caught glimpse of her. The hero was tall, thin, muscular, wealthy, athletfearless, Adonislike in build, handsome, yet humble in the presence of the heroine.

The plots were always alike. In paragraph two it always became apparent that the hero desired the heroine, but first, of course, the heroine must battle with her emotions, taste the fruits of a life wholly apart from the ordered, sensible existence which the hero offered her, become fascinated by some queer individual with chin whiskers, eccentric ideas and no money, and finally return to the hero, who saplike, had been waiting patiently, eager to have the girl of his dreams, whatever.

Sickening! Ray gave a disgusted grunt and switched off his bedside Why couldn't some author knock off a story that was different?

She called out to him, and there was something in her voice that made Ray's heart quicken its pace.

Why couldn't he cause the hero to tell the heroine to go to Hades when she returned from her dizzy interlude, as any normal man would do in real life?

Ray didn't know the answer, so after awhile he dismissed the matter from his mind and let his thoughts dwell on Natalie.

Ray had been engaged to Natalie for almost a year. They were to be married in the fall. Or that is, Ray hoped they were. Since Clinton Rich had arrived in town, Ray had become more and more doubtful. Rich was summering in Hampstead. He had hired a camp out on the lake, where, ostensibly, he spent his time communing with nature. He was, he claimed, a naturalist and had come up to Hampstead to study the ways of wild fowl. Which was a pretty good story, and made folks in Hampstead a little awed of him.

Natalie Was Fascinated by Clinton. Especially was Natalie entranced by him. Not so much because he claimed to be a naturalist, but because he talked with a slight lisp and recited poetry and possessed the manners of a courtier. Natalie was fascinated by him. She saw in him romance and glamour.

Ray had, at first, been disdainful to complain. He couldn't believe that Natalie was actually interested in such a queer specimen of mankind. To admit that she was would be more or less an insult to his own intelligence. But after a while he had to take notice. Folks were talking and grinning behind his back. Natalie was seen in Mr. Clinton Rich's company a little too often to give the impression her interests were wholly along the naturalistic lines. And so, after awhile, Ray mentioned the matter in an offhandish way and was sharply rebuked. Natalie had a faraway look in her eyes when she told him coldly he didn't, and never could, understand the value of a platonic friendship.

Ray, wholly disgusted, took to brooding, satisfied, through necessity, to wait; to wait until Natalie came out of the fog. He knew that sooner or later she would return to him and they would be married, even though it became necessary to postpone the ceremony until spring. She was merely having a lapse, that was all .

Ray Cantrell suddenly sat upright in bed and pulled on his bedlamp. He got up and stared at himself in the mirror. If this isn't just like one of those stories in Peerless, he thought, then I'm a monkey's uncle! Why, I'm acting exactly as those dizzy heroes act. He sat down and thought seriously for five minutes. He felt a trifle guilty for condemning the Peerless Weekly authors, because he was acting precisely as their heroes had acted. As a matter of fact, his own life was not at all different from their lives. And he, a moment ago, had advocated different reactions for both heroes and heroines. Well, by thunder, now was a good chance to prove his argument . . .

Ray glanced at his watch. Tenthirty! That dizzy naturalist would just about taking his leave from Natalie's front porch. They would stand near the gate a few minutes, looking up at the moon, and then Ray had a sinking sensation in the pit of his stomach. Would Natalie permit him to kiss her? Probably She was gone just about that far. Well, she wasn't going to get away with that. Not if she expected she could return to Ray. No, sir . . .

Ray dressed hurriedly, ran a comb through his hair, tiptoed downstairs and let himself out into the clear, cool, moon-flooded night.

The main street of Hampstead was deserted. Ray turned into Maple road, and hurried along under the shade trees. The fifth house was Natalie's and as he approached, Ray made out two figures standing by the gate. Drawing near he saw them merge into one, heard a faint scream coming from Natalie's lips. Then one of the figures drew away and started up the Natalie stood near the gate. She turned at sound of Ray's footsteps. She called out to him, and there was something in her voice that made Ray's heart quicken its pace.

"Ray! Oh, Ray! I'm so glad you've come. Ray, I—I—"

He stopped near her. "Well? I'm in a hurry Natalia. What is it you in a hurry, Natalie. What is it you

She looked as though she might cry. "Ray, I've just realized what a selfish, rude little beast I've been. Ray, won't you forgive me for the way I've acted?"

Ray's heart thumped. Only now was he realizing how much he loved this girl. But Peerless Weekly's stories were still fresh in his mind. He took a firm grip on his impulses. "How," he asked, laughing harshly, "would you like to go to Hades?"

"Ray Cantrell!" Natalie stared at him in amazement. "Why, what a perfectly dreadful, horrible thing to say! I never dreamed you were capable of such talk." She turned away. "Please don't ever speak to me again!"

Ray waited a minute uncertainly, wondering whether to follow out his plan and walk indifferently away, first delivering a few cutting remarks, or yield to natural impulses. Of one thing he was certain! His theory was all wet. And this discovery dispelled his indecision. Leaping the fence he caught up with

"Natalie! I didn't mean that! Honest! I don't know what I was thinking. But that guy had driven me nuts.'

Natalie eyed him coldly. "Very well, Ray. But I shall not forget. Mr. Rich leaving Hampstead tomorrow. I shall never see him again. He—he proved to be a disappointment. So you can set your mind at rest. I—I have decided to marry you, after all, despite the Walking home later, Ray wondered who was the most cockeyed, himself or the authors of the stories in Peerless Weekly.

Private Air Raid Groups For Some Housing Projects

Tenants of large-scale housing projects will set up their own raid precaution organizations in addition to participating in other defense activities. In San Francisco maintenance staffs of the various projects are official air raid wardens for their areas. Social halls, kitchens and recreation rooms in the project community space have been made available to the San Francisco defense council. Women tenants will attend classes in first aid, nutrition and home economics. Hillside Homes, New York city, which had an air raid warden organization partially set up before the first bomb scare, is continuing its personnel training program. Knickerbocker Village project, also in New York city, is organizing 120 tenants for a 24-hour patrol of the project. The tenants' association is co-ordinating activities of all the clubs in the project useful for civilian defense. The Brownsville, Texas, housing authority has issued blackout rules in two languages—English and Spanish—for tenants of its two housing projects. Maintenance superintendents of the projects are captains of the air wardens and project tenants will be assistants. In Baltimore the housing authority is organizing 3,500 housing project tenants for defense by training volunteer air raid and fire wardens for service on the project and enrolling women tenants in the city civilian defense council for knitting, sewing, conservation and first aid.

Among Dinosaurs

The dinosaurs, which roamed the earth between 175 and 125 million years ago, were not uniformly monstrous, some of them being only 21/2 feet and others 90 feet long. But their brains were uniformly and absurdly small. The largest dinosaurs included Atlantosaurus (90 feet long), Diplodocus (80 feet), Brontosaurus (70 feet), and the most ferocious of them all, Tyrannosaurus (40 feet). Remains have been found on all the continents, some of the richest finds having been made in Montana and Wyoming. It is believed that the dinosaurs became extinct chiefly because of the decrease of carbon dioxide (a lung stimulant) in Tertiary times and because of the raids of smaller animals on their eggs.

Official U.S. Treasury WAR BOND QUOTAS

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today made known June War Bond quotas for the 3,070 counties in the nation to all State and County War Savings Staffs.

The June quota for the State of Maryland is $12,002,100. The county quotas, based upon a substantial increase over May quotas, are expected to reach ten per cent of income when the nation goes on a billion-dollar-a-month War Bond basis in July to help meet the war cost. "Everybody, every pay day, ten per cent," is the battle cry throughout the country. You can buy War Bonds at your Bank, Building & Loan Association, Post Office and at many department stores.

Quotas by counties are:

Allegany, $361,600; Anne Arundel, $231,400. Baltimore, $213,800; Baltimore City, $9,322,000.

Calvert, $29,400; Caroline, $32,900; Carroll, $122,700; Cecil, $71,300; Charles, $39,600.

SUNDAY: THE RISEN CHRIST AND HIS DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:33-48.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are witnesses of these things.—Luke 24:48.

The glory and gladness of the resurrection morning drove back the darkness of the tomb and replaced the disciples' sadness with holy gladness. God's message to His people is one of assurance and hope. The night may be dark, but the dawn will surely come.

Two of Jesus' disciples had been walking sadly along the road to Emmaus when suddenly a stranger was with them, telling them what the Scriptures taught about the Christ— His sufferings and His glory. Their hearts burned strangely within them (Luke 24:32), but they did not recognize Him until He broke the bread of their evening meal-and then He

But now they had a joyous message which sent them hurrying back to Jerusalem to the eleven who had gathered behind locked doors to discuss the reports which had also come to them of His resurrection. And suddenly-

I. "Jesus Himself Stood in the Midst" (vv. 33-43).

What a blessed and conclusive confirmation of their report. He, their beloved Lord and Master, stood were before them, alive and speaking His tender message of "Peace."

The disciples, however, were bewildered and slow to believe. Observe how kind and patient He was with these frightened and unbelieving men. And note what a splendid testimony it is to the truth of the resurrection that they who knew Him best expected proof before they believed.

Before we condemn them for lack of faith let us ask ourselves if we would have done better, and let us be thankful that their hesitation made assurance doubly sure. He was really there—alive. Partaking of food (which He did not need), and giving them opportunity to touch His body, He demonstrated the reality of the resurrection.

He next gave them a sure foundation for faith.

II. "Then Opened He Their Understanding" (vv. 44, 45). This He did that they might "understand the scriptures." Their minds had become confused and He literally "disentangled" them. We need to have the knots and kinks taken out of our thinking about God's Word. Then we too will un-

Dealing with the entire Old Testament (divided by the Hebrews into law, prophets and psalms), He thus gave it His endorsement. Men hay deny, but Jesus approved the Scriptures of the Old Testamentand we are ready to take His word. "All things must be fulfilled" is statement concerning Himself. There is our Lord's guarantee that the promises of His second coming, and all that is associated with it, as well as with His future

This time of fellowship with the Lord around the Word of God was strengthening to their faith, but it had another purpose. The blessings of God are not for our own satisfaction alone, for it is His will that there be-reign, will be fulfilled.

III. "Repentance Preached in His Name" (vv. 46-48).

There is a message to go, out through His disciples to all nations. He died for the sins of the world. He arose for the justification of those who believe. There is remission of sin for those who in repentance and faith turn to Him.

Fellowship with Christ and an understanding of His Word which does not result in aggressive witness for Him is quite useless. We meet Him and study His Word not only that we may grow in grace, but that we may be witnesses to all nations.

To be a witness involves knowledge of a fact, to the truth of which the individual can bear testimony. The disciples were called to be witnesses, "not speculators, philosophers, moralists or legislators. They had neither to argue nor to dissertate, nor to lay down rules for conduct, nor to ventilate their own They were witnesses, and their business was to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth" (Alexander Maclaren).

The Christian by life possibly more than by word is to "adorn the doctrine of God," as Paul put it (Titus 2:10), commending it to those round about him. Observe that such a witness is to start right at home, "beginning at Jerusalem" (v. 47).

It may be difficult in our times to send witnesses to distant lands. for ships are busy carrying the men and implements of war. But right in your Jerusalem there is a spiritual need, in your little town or rural community, in the city where you live, in your bome, office, shop, or school. You who read this who are in the service of the country will find a "Jerusalem" in your camp or on your ship.

Saratoga Abundant With Herring; Health Spot

Saratoga is an Indian name and was applied to one of the favorite hunting and fishing grounds located on either side of the Hudson and extending for many miles in all directions. Several meanings have been ascribed to the word. One is that it means the "hillside country of the great river"; another, "the place of the swift water," in allusion to the rapids just above Schuyler-ville; a third, "the place where the track of the heel shows," from depressions resembling heel prints in certain rocks; and perhaps most probable, "the place of herrings," because of the great number of these fishes that swim to the outlet of Saratoga lake and thence into the lake itself in the spring of the year. The fish weirs that the Indians constructed were the source of much gonquins. The Indians have known of the medicinal value of Saratoga's springs since time immemorial. In the winter of 1777 or 1778, General Philip Schuyler, one of the heroes of the Revolution, moved to Saratoga with his family. He had heard of the health-giving properties of a spring in the wilderness a dozen miles west of his new home and personally investigated. As a result, he determined to cut a road from his residence through the forests to "High Rock," as the spring was then known. This he did in 1783 at his

Precious Gems Cheap in

Ceylon Before World War A jumble of scattered rock covered with moss is all which remains of Anuradhapura, ancient capital of Ceylon which was once as large as the London of today.

Anuradhapura, which flourished between 457 B. C. and 1109 A. D., was built in an inner and outer circle and comprised 236 square miles. Most of its people were Buddhists who spent their time in spiritual contemplation. They depended on the people for support and, as a consequence, declined.

The ruins display a high degree of craftsmanship and provide an insight to the formation of the Buddhist religion and culture.

Before the war sealed the international boundaries, travelers were able to purchase precious and semiprecious gems in the country at low prices. Those stones which could be obtained for $50 in Ceylon brought hundreds in New York.

The jewels were cheap because they were mined from "poor man's diggings," from the surface operations rather than from lode forma-

Salt on Fire Bombs

An efficient and economical agent for extinguishing incendiary bombs has been found in ordinary table salt. Tests begun at Columbia university and carried out in demonstrations by the New York state police show that salt is at least as effective as the finest grade of dry sand in smothering magnesium bombs commonly used as incendi-

Three advantages are claimed for salt. It can be purchased in any corner grocery store, it is cheap, and it is packed in sizes which make it easy to handle. Sand is commonly obtainable only in 100-pound bags which present a serious problem of handling and storing.

Salt on the other hand can be purchased in 25-pound bags which can be readily stored and, in case of an air raid, easily carried to where they may be needed.

Famous Silversmith Family

The Richardson family of Philadelphia silversmiths was active for a century and a quarter, beginning with Francis Richardson (1681 1729); his son, Joseph Sr. (1711-1784), and ending with is two grandsons, Joseph Jr. (1752-1831) and Nathaniel (1754-1827).

Joseph Richardson Sr. was a Quaker and like all members of that sect he was a great lover of peace, writes Raymond A. Dego in "American Collector." To aid in cementing friendship between the colonies and the Indians the Quakers formed the Friendly Society for Propagating Peace with the Indians by Pacific Measures. To further this purpose, in 1757, they had silver medals made which were presented to friendly Indians. The die from which these medals were made was designed by Edward Duffield, famous Philadelphia clockmaker (1720-1801).

Uses of Silver

Silver has been prized as a precious metal and used for personal adornment ever since the Bronze age; in fact, around the eastern Mediterranean, where deposits of native silver were scarcer than deposits of native gold or the natural gold-silver alloy known as electrum, silver was more precious than gold. The large deposits of native silver in Spain were discovered about 1300 B. C., and in the next 300 years they were thoroughly exploited and the metal was distributed throughout the Mediterranean area by the Phoenicians, who, according to tradition, used silver anchors.

Silver has been used as money since at least 1500 B. C., and for coins as long as coinage has been known, writes Frank T. Sisco in "Mining and Metallurgy." Bimetalism has been practiced at least 3,000

RUBBER ON FARM MUST HAVE CARE

Rural Food Production Increased Use of Rubber.

By M. R. BENTLEY
(Agricultural Engineer, Texas A & M Extension Service.)

Motorists-and aren't we all?have been so busy worrying about the tires on their cars that rubber on the farm has not received much

Rubber has played an increasing-ly important part in food production in recent years. Rubber tires for tractors and farm implements; rubber tubing in milking machines; rubber rings for canning in glass jars—the list is almost endless.

Here are suggestions for care of rubber on the farm:

Block up the wheels to keep weight off the tires when machines and implements are out of the fields for any considerable period.

If rubber-tired implements are stored on cinder floors, block up the tires or place planks under them. The sulphur in the cinders breaks down the rubber. Tractor Tire Slippage.

Excessive slippage of tractor tires causes heavy wear, just as skids and quick stops do on automobile tires. Over-loading the tractor is one cause of slippage, and pulling in snow or mud without chains is another. Keep rubber-tired implements out of the sun when not in use. Under-inflation damages both rubber and fabric in the tires. A solution of calcium chloride to prevent freezing is recommended for northern areas if water is used in tractor tires to add weight.

Rubber tubing in milking ma-chines will last longer if it is kept clean. After each cleaning and ster-ilization, the tubes should be hung up to drain and dry.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

Goat Herd Value

"The poor man's cow" has always had a variety of uses. In Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Oregon, goats run in sizeable herds. Often 300 to a farm. They grow fat on coarse vegetation on which other animals would starve. In these western states, the clip amounts to about 16,000,000 pounds of goat hair each year. This does not nearly supply the raw material for plush fabrics for upholstering furniture and automobiles. Texas has more than 3,000,000 goats clipped annually while New Mexico is next with 201,000.

Goat and kid skins make fine leather for shoes, book bindings, leather purses and cases. Our goat herds do not yield enough to supply the need and 68,000,000 pounds of skins are imported annually.

A milk goat herd, maintained by the U.S. bureau of animal industry at Beltsville, Md., has proved that the Toggenberg and Saanen breeds supply milk similar to the Holstein cow. Goat milk has the advantage of more vitamin B, a softer curd and smaller sized fat globules and is highly recommended for invalids and people with delicate digestions. The milk is widely used for making Swiss cheese. The meat is nutritious but is little used in America except when the flesh of the angora is sold for mutton.

Domesticated goats are thought to be descended from the wild goats of Persia. Wild goats are found only in Europe, northern Africa and the Himalaya mountains.

Agricultural Notes

Repair

With so many automobiles at rest much of the time, many garages will find their usual work curtailed. However, according to the U.S. department of agriculture, garages, particularly those in the country, are likely to pick up much general repair work for farmers and others. Garage mechanics may be called on to exercise ingenuity in making parts normally supplied through other channels.

Average Acreage According to census figures, the average acreage per farm in the United States in 1940 was 174, compared with 154.8 in 1935 and 156.9

Save Baling Wire Farmers use between 90,000 and 100,000 tons of baling wire a yearequal in weight to three large warships-for baling hay, straw and other forage crops, the U.S. department of agriculture reported in urging farmers, dairymen, stockyard

operators and livestock producers to conserve baling wire. Watermelons Are Africans Watermelons, summer-time delicacy, are believed to be natives of Africa.

Trace History of Shaving;

Must Have Been Torture Pogonotomy (derived from two Greek words meaning "to cut the beard"), or shaving, was one of the early arts of history, rivaling the other arts of personal adornment in antiquity, says Elbridge J. Casselman in the Scientific American. Mr. Casselman spent five years in a comprehensive study of shaving technique and devices.

The excavations of archeologists, the writer continues, have uncovered in many places objects that they believed to be razors. The earliest razors were made of bronze and some examples are in the British museum. The Roman razors were of iron, as were the razors recovered from the ruins of Pompeii.

The writer has demonstrated the possibility of sharpening bronze, pure iron and even copper to the point where shaving is possible, which strengthens the claims of historians. The ancients must have been stoical he-men, as experience with these materials shows they would never shave comfortably.

With the introduction of steel that could be hardened by heat treatment (Damascus steel, for example) it was possible in ancient Greece to produce razors of quality about equal to those of today. Natural stones were available for grinding an edge and for honing it; textile materials and tanned leather had been in existence for centuries, so that an edge sharp enough for shaving could have been produced by methods much like those in present

Doctors Report Success In 'Cleansing' Blood

A new blood treatment to stop asthma and boils was reported to the Pan-American Homeopathic Medical congress.

Dr. Raymond E. Seidel of Philadelphia declared in a report that it is possible to treat such diseases by drawing blood from a patient submitting it to ultra-violet light irradi-ation for as little as ten seconds and putting it back into the veins in a continuous process. Studies at the Hahnemann hospital in Philadelphia indicate the light treatment causes toxins and viruses in the blood to become harmiess, Dr. Seidel asserted, and kills or stops the growth of bacteria, thus stopping such diseases as asthma, boils and similar skin ailments. The treatment of blood flowing through an artificial vein is similar to the irradiation of the air in an operating room with ultra-violet light to kill disease germs. With this method even a few stray germs on a surgeon's gloves or his instruments are destroyed within a few seconds to assure a completely sterile op-erating field and avoid post-operative infections.

The blood irradiation method has resulted in a great reduction of skin damage, Dr. Seidel declared. The blood thus is able to carry more oxygen to body cells to promote healing. Circulation also is improved by expansion of small blood vessels.

Policemen 'Ham' Operators

Providence, R. I., has made its "ham" radio operators full-fledged but unpaid members of the police department in setting up an emergency communications system for air raid work.

The amateur operators have been sworn into the Providence police mobile radio patrol, making them eligible to operate the police radio equipment as well as their own during an air raid, should telephone communications be bombed out or otherwise damaged. The city "emergency" network is composed of eight short wave stations each of which will have a "walkie-talkie" transmitter and receiver set that can be packed on the back of a station staff member. Such a staff member on air raid patrol could report from any damage scene to the district station, which would relay the message to the report center for counter-action by the various protective services.

Strike First Blow

"The role of U.S. marines in this war is similar to that of the tip of an armor-piercing shell," according to Maj. Gen. J. C. Breckinridge, retired marine corps officer.

Speaking before a group of military engineers, Maj. Gen. Breckinridge said that the job assigned marines is to strike the initial impact and bore in. He added that the results of their efforts, without the weight of the rest of the armed services, would be no more effective than the tip of a shell fired alone. Lauding the inspiring "Always Faithful" spirit of every member of the marine corps, Maj. Gen. Breckinridge declared that "their spirit will live forever."

Non-Metal Signs Shortage of metals is causing cities which need new traffic signs to search for other materials for 'stop' and "slow" signals, reports to the American Public Works association show.

Richmond, Va., is now using wood for its traffic signs, spray-painting them with a preservative before lettering. Police department workshops in Baltimore are making no-parking signs of a composition material, and salvaging all metal signs that can be repaired The composition material is twice as expensive as sheet metal, and also may be limited in supply, Baltimore officials said.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given to all property owners in Taneytown having trees and shrubbery extending out over alley lines interfering with free passage of traffic in said alleys are requested to remove same.

JOHN GUNTHER, who is the only man we know of to have successfully invaded three continents single-handed, has just completed a new War Edition of his book, "Inside Asia." The new edition of this excellent book brings the record up as far as the Japanese grab of the Dutch East

Mr. Gunther, who has a passion for statistics, reports that he made five thousand textual changes in the new edition, added 30,000 words.

While we're on the subject of statistics. here are a few more about John Gunther and his books. More than 1,250,000 copies have been sold of his three "inside" books-"Inside Europe," "Inside Asia," and "Inside Latin America." All three were distributed by the Book-of-the-Month Club, the first two as book-dividends given away to members, the last as a recent book-of-the-month. "Inside Europe" and "Inside Asia" were translated into sixteen different languages, and in England they enjoyed a wider distribution than any American book, since Mark Twain.

To gather material for "Inside Latin America," which is still riding high on all the best-seller lists, Mr. Gunther flew some 18,000 miles, talked with seventeen of the twenty heads of states, eighteen of the twenty foreign ministers.

With all the excitement there was in Hawaii on December 7th, there were at least three people who had no idea anything out of the ordinary had occurred, says Blake Clark, ex-professor of English in Hawaii, in his book, "Remember Pearl Harbor!" One of these was the artist wife of a Navy officer who painted the day through and who thought the bombs and guns she heard were part of the regular army manoeuvres. The other two were spinster ladies living in a secluded palm grove in Waikiki. The nephew of these ladies, Harlan Reynolds, a resident of New York, heard the news over the radio, and promptly cabled them: "DEEPEST SYMPA-THY DEAR AUNTS PLEASE COME HOME IMMEDIATELY." The women, upon receiving the cable, looked at each other in bewilderment. "What in the world is the matter with Harlan?" they said.

In the army, words often aren't what they seem, Colonel Elbridge Colby points out in his dictionary 'Army Talk." For instance, "bubble dancing" has nothing to do with chorus girls. It's the soldiers' term for washing dishes. An "angel's whisper" applies to bugle calls for air service. The old familiar "canned cow," applying to condensed milk, has been changed to "armored cow."

One million books for the Victory Book Campaign is the goal the Book-of-the-Month Club has asked its more than five hundred thousand members to set for themselves. Each member is being asked to contribute at least two books to the men in the service. The Club itself has already given 656 full v subscriptions to the Army.

THE WEEK OF WAR REPORTS.

Departments' and Activities.

Pacific Fleet Commander Nimitz reported two and possibly three Japanese aircraft carriers and a destroyer were sunk, and three battleships six cruisers and three transports were damaged in the battle of Mid-way Island. All planes on the two carriers definitely known to be sunk were lost, Admiral Nimitz said. One U. S. carrier was hit and some planes were lost, but casualties among the S. personnel were light, he said. Admiral King, Commander in Chief of the U. S. Fleet, said the enemy fleet has apparently withdrawn from the Midway area but battle maneuvers are continuing in the Hawaii-Dutch Harbor area. The Navy said the first Japanese attack on Dutch Harbor on June 3 resulted in few casualties and no serious damage, appearing to have been made "primarily to test our defenses." The Japanese planes which flew over the harbor six hours after the initial attack were "engaged solely in recon-naissance," the Navy said.

Gen. MacArthur reported within six days Allied naval and air forces sank seven and possibly eight enemy submarines, two heavily loaded armed supply ships and an armed transport, and also badly damaged a 7,000 ton vessel. Allied losses in the Southwest Pacific were two cargo vessels. In air raids over Rabaul, Lae, Salamaua, Atamboea, Koepang and Dili, and Burma, 12 enemy planes were destroyed, one enemy tanker sunk, and runaways, airdrome installations and parked planes damaged. Three Allied planes were lost. The Navy said Allied merchant ship losses totaled 21 during the week, including nine U. S.

U. S. production of planes has reached the level of "nearly 5,000 a month," and by next year we will have reached the President's goal of 10,000 a month, the Senate Appropriations. Committee announced. Committee announced. Army Air Forces Commander Arnold congratulated the Vega Aircraft Corporation at Burbank, Calif., on being six months ahead of schedule on production. WPB Chairman Nelson, after a tour of the automotive industry in Detroit, said American industry could "more than double present production by 1944." He also said the Government synthetic rubber program would be able to take care of "all war production and essential civilian needs" by 1944. Despite the fact that almost twice as many light arms are required per man since the development of parachute troops, the Army has enough weapons to arm every soldier in the U. S., and all it can send abroad under present shipping conditions, War Under Secretary Patterson reported. He said over-optimism regarding production schedules is unwarranted, however, here are of rubber pickel and comper because of rubber, nickel and copper A record total of 58 ships were delivered into service during May. while 65 other ships were launched and keels were laid for 75, the Maritime Commission reported. This compared with 36 delivered and 51 launched in April. The President asked Congress for an appropriation of $1,100,000,000 for the WSA to re and operate merchant vessels to carry Americans arms

Federal agencies asked labor-management committees in 800 war production plants to keep American workmen fit and healthy because sick and injured war production workers are now causing a loss of 6,000,000 work days every month.

The U. S. declared war against Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania. The President said the three countries previously declared war on the U.S. as instruments of Hitler, and currently they are engaged in military operations against the United tions and are planning to extend those operations. The Justice Department said enemy alien restric-tions will be applied against nationals of the countries in the United States. Assets of these countries here have already been frozen.

All motorists will receive A books containing a year's base supply of 48 coupons under the new permanent gasoline rationing system which will be established in the East about the first week of July, OPA said. Supplemetary B books with an additional 16 coupons will be issued to motorists who prove need for extra rations, providing they are members of a car pool. No unlimited privileges will be granted any one, but C books con-taining 96 coupons will be issued to some motorists. S books for trucks and buses, good for a four month period, will cover just enough fuel for the mileage allowed in forthcoming ODT regulations. Motorcyclists will receive D books, good for 40 per cent as much gasoline as A books. Under the new system service stations and distributors will be required to turn in collected coupons when purchasing new stocks. The OPA released about 10,000 bicycles to war production plants qualified to buy them for transportation of workers.

DON'T CULTIVATE CORN TOO DEEP

Since tractor cultivators have come nto use in Maryland, I have observed an increased acreage of corn and other crops suffering from cultivation that is too deep, says Dr. W. B. Kemp head of the agronomy department at Pkg Tender Leaf the University of Maryland. Apparently the available power in the tractor is so much greater than is required that the farmer has unintentional-Box Free
