SERVICE MEN LETTERS

Containing Thanks for Kits Given Them.

My service kit received and was much surprised when I opened the package. Kindly convey my thanks to each and everyone who makes this kit possible. All articles are very useful. Its certainly shows a good spirit of the folks we leave behind us.

Received the Record issue of Aug. 21. Thanks a lot. It keeps me informed of the news from good old Taneytown. My best regards to all the staff.

PVT. W. M. GILDS,
585th. Tech. School Squad
Flight 40
St. Petersburg, Fla.

August 27, 1942

Dear Mr. Stonesifer:
This is the third time I have started a letter to you and I am writing it on my knee, so I hope you will pardon the poor penmanship.

I want to thank you and everyone who has a part in making it possible for me to receive the Carroll Record each week. I actually look forward to reading it. Since I cannot be home I find that this makes up to a certain extent for it. Therefore want to thank all of you.

I hope you note the change in address. For two weeks I waited to be moved for most of my battalion had left. Another chap and I landed here at 2:00 A. M. yesterday morning. We found ourselves in a bread baking company and I started as company clerk today. Until I can thank you all in person I hope you will continue to send this paper. Yours truly,

HENRY REINDOLLAR,
CO. A 96 ON BN (BKRY-
Camp Forrest, Ten.

Dear Sirs:
I wish to thank you all for sending me the Carroll Record, I appreciate receiving news from my home town while I am away. Sincerely yours,

JOSEPH L. MYERS, A. S.
U. S. N. T. S.,
Great Lakes, Ill.

Dear Sirs:
Just a note thanking you for your complimentary copies of the Record. It helps me keep in touch with the other boys and all the news from home. Sincerely yours,

PVT. FREDERICK BOWER,

Jacksonville, Fla.

The Carroll Record Co.
Dear Sirs:
Let me take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks for The Record. Being so far from home it certainly is a great pleasure to be able to keep up with the home town activities.

I am classified as a radio operator and mechanic, and upon completion of my 21 day basic training period, I will attend radio school for three months; when, upon graduation, I shall be assigned to some air base as radio technician. Again, may I say, thanks a million for the Record.

PLAYGROUND NEWS

A meeting of the Playground Association was held at the home of Mrs. B. J. Arnold on Thursday evening, Sept. 3rd. Officers were elected for the coming year; they are as follows: Pres., Mrs. B. J. Arnold; Vice-Pres., Mrs. William Hopkins; Secretary, Mrs. Sterling Ecker; Treasurer, Mrs. Richard Schnably.

Plans are being made to hold a benefit party in the near future to raise funds for the upkeep and continuation of the playground. We gratefully thank the parents for their cooperation and aid in the past and we do hope that they will continue their support and loyalty in the future. The playground is a worthy unit and should be supported and boosted by the people of Taneytown.

The committee is indeed grateful and sincerely thank Mr. Harry Welk for use of his barn in storing the playground equipment during the winter months.

We again say thanks to all who have aided in keeping and making the playground a success and do hope their patronage will continue in the years to come.

Please keep in mind the benefit party; date will be announced later.

Two Petitions For Road.

Two petitions, one signed by considerably more than one hundred citizens of Taneytown District, and the other signed by persons in adjoining parts of Frederick and Adams counties, were presented to the Carroll County Commissioners on Wednesday, asking for the improvement of the half-mile of road from Harney to the Monocacy river near Anderson's Mill.

A committee of the petitioners consisting of John W. Fream, A. C. Leatherman, Howell B. Royer and Rev. L. B. Hafer presented the petitions. Owing to the number of projects already on the road program the Commissioners could not give assurance of the immediate building of the road, but the stretch was added to the program, and will receive attention when the way is open to proceed, either as a State project or as a county built road.

PRIMARY ELECTION ON NEXT TUESDAY

Both Parties Have Important Contests.

Next Tuesday the voters of Maryland will select at the Primary Election, the candidates of the respective parties for the offices to be filled at the November election.

Interest in the contest is running high, and is likely to increase after the primary. Voters who take a real interest in the November election will not fail to vote next Tuesday, as the result that day will have far-reaching effect upon the election in November.

For quite a number of offices there will be no contest, as only enough candidates have filed to fill the tickets, so that all will be nominated without their names appearing on the primary ballot. These offices include State Senate, House of Delegates, Judges of the Orphans' Court, Register of Wills, County Treasurer, Clerk of the Court, State's Attorney, and County Surveyor. In the cases of County Treasurer and County Surveyor there is no opposition to the present incumbent in either party.

The Democrats have more contests than the Republicans. For Governor the Democratic candidates are Thos. E. Cook, of Frederick County; John Kennedy, Baltimore; Herbert R. O'Connor, Anne Arundel county, and Stephen B. Petticoord, Baltimore.

The Republican candidates for Governor are Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, of Baltimore, and W. Pinkney West, Jr., of Baltimore Co. For Congress the Democrats must choose from among H. Street Baldwin, Baltimore county; C. Walter Cole, Baltimore county; William R. McClayton and Charles J. Wells, Baltimore.

The Republicans will have a choice for Congress between two, Walter E. Beuchelt, of Baltimore, and George R. Norris, of Baltimore county.

In this county there is great interest with regard to the judgeships. The Democrats will select a candidate for Chief Judge, choosing between the present Chief Judge, William Henry Forsythe, Jr., of Howard County, who has rendered long and faithful service on the bench, and Ridgely P. Melvin, of Anne Arundel county, now an Associate Judge for Associate Judge the choice is between James E. Boylan, Jr., of Carroll county, now filling the office by appointment, and John Wood, Trial Magistrate, of Westminster.

The Republicans have no candidate for Chief Judge and only one, Theodore F. Brown, of Westminster, for Associate Judge, so they have no contest.

For County Commissioners the Democrats will select three out of six. They are C. Scott Bollinger, David A. Hooper, Isaac Baile Rieckle, Benjamin F. Rigler, John T. Williams and Howard H. Wine. The Republicans will choose three out of five. They are Emory A. Berwager, Howard H. Brown, Norman R. Hess, Chester M. Nusbaum and W. Roy Pool.

For Sheriff the Democrats are J. Herring Brown, W. Tivis Buckingham, Wilbur C. Coakley, Charles W. Conoway and William F. Corbin. The Republicans are Frank J. Barnes and J. Wesley Matthias, Jr.

SOLDIERS IN ACCIDENT

Two soldiers, in a Plymouth car belonging to one of the two, had a serious accident early Wednesday morning near the junction of the Westminster and Mayberry roads. The driver is said to have fallen asleep and struck the abutment of a culvert.

Both soldiers were injured and were taken to the Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg in the Taneytown ambulance. The one was treated for cuts and bruises about the head, while the other required further hospital care. The car, which was considerably damaged, was soon removed from the scene.

"STILL THEY COME"

Mrs. Ethel C. Buckey, Baltimore, in sending her renewal to The Record says, "Thanks, I enjoy The Record and look forward to its coming."

Dear Sirs:
Kindly renew The Record for one years subscription for my little granddaughter, Miss Anna L. Koontz she enjoys it so much; she calls it her paper. Enclose please find $1.00 for renewal. Faithfully yours, Mrs. Herbert N. Koontz.

A New Air Raid Ruling.

The fire siren will not be blown on Saturdays at eleven o'clock as in the past as ordered by the County Air Raid Warden, Warfield Babylon. In the future the warning will not be given except in case of an actual alarm. When the alarm is given all auxiliary firemen and air raid wardens are requested to proceed according to prearranged instructions and the civilian population will be requested to seek shelter immediately. The blast signals of the fire siren will remain the same as in the past.

The Monday siren test will continue as in the past, just a trial blow to prove its working ability.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Charge of Manslaughter Against Driver

Walter E. Shorb, of Mount St. Mary's, was killed, John Kreitz of the same community was severely wounded and Russell D. Long, of Thurmont, lodged in the Frederick jail charged with manslaughter as the result of an accident in Franklinville early Monday morning.

Long, it is said, was driving a truck which upset near Miller's Store. Shorb and Kreitz were pinned under the truck but Long managed to extricate himself. He went to his home at the east end of Thurmont and went to bed, the State officer said.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeBerry, who reside near the scene of the wreck, probably saved Kreitz from death or more serious injury. They tried to lift the overturned truck when they heard Kreitz moaning in the wreckage. Unable to move the wrecked Mr. and Mrs. DeBerry rallied neighbors, who with the aid of chains and an automobile, succeeded in righting the truck.

They took Kreitz to the nearby storehouse and rendered first aid until Corp. M. M. Puncke and Trooper Harold Basore, of the State Police, arrived and brought the injured man to the Frederick City Hospital.

The rescue party was not aware for some time that Shorb's crushed body was in the wrecked truck. At the Hospital Monday night, physicians said Kreitz is in satisfactory condition with severe lacerations about the face and arms.

The county medical examiner said that Shorb was probably killed instantly by the crash, and that death was due to a fractured skull and crushing injuries to the chest.

State Police said that the accident probably was caused by excessive speed as the truck failed to clear a sharp curve in the road and rolled over into a ditch.

Fire Company News

Mrs. Sterling Fowble was taken to the Hanover Hospital in the Company ambulance.

Sergeant Lynn Cheezum and Corporal Chester Poythess, U. S. Army, D. E. M. L. Camp Ritchie were taken to the Gettysburg Hospital 4:15 o'clock, Wednesday morning following an accident at the Mayberry road. Sergeant Cheezum's home is in Denton, Md. and Corporal Poythess' home is in Baltimore. They were enroute to Camp Ritchie when the accident occurred.

The sounding of the fire siren at 11 o'clock every Saturday morning as a test for the air raid signal has been stopped by order of Civilian Defense Council. There will be no more practice tests and from now on the company will test their siren every Monday at 12 o'clock noon.

The Civilian Defense Council has issued warnings to all Fire Companies and Defense Units that the sounding of the fire siren will be the "Real McCoy" and also to be prepared for daylight air raids as well as night raids.

OBSERVATION POST FOR TANEYTOWN

In an effort to get an observation post organized in Taneytown, the first fighter command at Mitchell Field, sent Sgt. H. J. Murphy and Pvt. M. Romae to give an instructional meeting. The meeting was held in the Taneytown High School auditorium. The Taneytown Minute Men under the command of Capt. Merwyn C. Fuss and James C. Myers attended the meeting.

An observation post will go into organization immediately and John O. Crapster, Chief Observer is now waiting for more volunteers.

Sgt. Murphy has issued a plea to the county as a whole to co-operate in this vital work. He feels sure Carroll county will have one of the finest setups in the State.

GOVERNOR O'CONNOR SAYS:

The danger to our country has awakened us to the fact that democracy is not all made up of rights. Democracy is also made up of duties. We have to unite and support our country, if we want a country and keep our rights. We must aid in all phases of the war effort and do our all in national defense.

These duties are a necessary price that must be paid for freedom. The threat of Nazi tyranny has shown us the real reason for paying that price.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MONTHLY MEETING.

Teachers' Resignations Received and Appointments Made

The Board of Education of Carroll county met in regular session Tuesday, Sept. 1. All the members were present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The resignations of the following teachers were accepted: Paul Griffith, elementary; Dorothy Kephart, high school; Edward Arnold, high school; Margaret Abrecht, elementary.

Leaves of absence were granted to Melvin Doweary and Andrew Black for military service.

The following appointments were approved: Lloyd Marshall, elementary Sandymount; Cora Holland, commercial, Sykesville; Barbara Ann Fogelsanger, social studies, Taneytown; Anna Belle Owens, elementary; Helen Stakem, elementary, New Windsor; Dorothy Lynam, home economics, Westminster; Kenneth Alling, orchestra; Marguerite Dawson, elementary, Winfield; Ralph Yealy, principal at Mechanicsville; Clementine Cheatham, mathematics and history, Robert Moton; Helen Butler, elementary, Ridge.

The established age for admission of beginners was retained; that is, a child must be six years of age or before December 1 to enter school this year.

The superintendent spoke briefly concerning the National Institution on Education and the war which he recently attended in Washington. The meeting adjourned at 11:45 o'clock.

Schools in Carroll county will open Tuesday, Sept. 8. School will be dismissed daily at 2 o'clock for an indefinite period.

Beginners must be six years of age or before December 1, 1942, and on the day of enrollment present birth and vaccination certificates. Parents unable to find birth certificates should write to Dr. W. C. Stone County Health Officer, Westminster.

Prompt enrollment of all pupils is urged. School buses will operate on the same schedules as last year. Attention is again called to the State law requiring all automobiles to stop both ways while school buses are loading or discharging school children.

Parents are urged to have diphtheria toxoid given to their children by their family physician. Principals and teachers will be in their respective schools Monday afternoon, Sept. 7, for the purpose of registering beginners, interviewing parents and pupils new to the county. Transfer pupils are urged to visit the school on this day. Colored principals and teachers will be in their schools on Monday morning, Sept. 7.

LUTHERAN MINISTER TO BE INSTALLED

Rev. Robert C. Benner will be installed as pastor of Salem Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oberlin, Pa., on Sunday evening, September 6th, at 7:30 P. M. The installation service will be conducted by the Rev. M. R. Hamsher, D. D., president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod assisted by the Rev. Alfred T. Sutcliffe, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, Md.

Rev. Benner accepted a call extended by Salem Lutheran Church, Oberlin and began his ministry there on August 16th. Rev. and Mrs. Benner moved into the Salem parsonage from St. Paul Lutheran parsonage, Newville, Pa. at which place Mr. Benner served for the past three years.

Rev. Benner is the son of Dr. Chandos M. Benner of this place. Mrs. Benner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earlington P. Shriver, of Harney, Md.

ALL COUNTY YOUTH ROUNDUP

"Fun for All" is the theme for the "All County Youth Roundup" which is to be held at Westminster next Wednesday evening. This is to be a social gathering of young people from all over Carroll County for the purpose of promoting christian fun and fellowship. There will be community singing, folk games, contest and other forms of entertainment. Refreshments will be served by the sponsors, the Carroll County Christian Endeavor Union. Mr. Lester Case, the new Field Secretary for Maryland C. E. will have charge of the program for the "Roundup."

Mr. Case is noted for his fine work, at this type of affairs, and a full evening of fun is expected. For those from Taneytown and vicinity who wish to attend this event in Westminster, there will be a truck leaving from Taneytown, on Wednesday evening at 7:15 P. M. This will be in the form of a straw-ride, leaving from the square at the above time and returning to Taneytown after the "Roundup" is over.

The United States steel industry thus far in 1942 has turned out 49,719,071 net tons of ingots and steel for castings, which is within 2 per cent of production in the whole of 1917, the peak year in the World War I.

The U. S. Naval Academy rules that an officer driving a car should not be saluted.

LUTHER LEAGUE

Will Hold Convention in Baltimore Churches

Delegates from all over the State of Maryland will assemble in Baltimore over Labor Day week-end, September 5, 6 and 7, for the 21st. annual convention of the Luther League of the Maryland Synod, which will be held at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Baltimore, the Rev. Robert D. Clare, D. D., pastor. The theme for the convention is "The Heritage we Guard."

The convention will open Saturday evening with a program of entertainment in the form of a country dance sponsored by the Baltimore District Luther League. The sessions on Sunday will begin the presentation of the convention theme, with the first presentation by the host pastor, Dr. Clare, on the subject, "Our Heritage of the World." Sunday afternoon will be devoted to the reception of the official delegate of the Luther League of America, Donald Bautz, Buffalo, New York, and discussion groups studying vital parts of the Luther League work. Rev. Geo. H. Plamann Lutheran Service pastor for the Baltimore area will present his work among the men in the service, and Merrill L. Carroll, director of the Baltimore Red Cross Chapter Blood Donor Project, will describe the work of the Red Cross in the present world crisis.

Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock Rev. Raymond D. Wood, Sunbury, Pa., will preach on the subject, "Our Heritage of Faith."

The Monday morning session will be devoted to business with the State President, Miss Sarah L. Leter, Hagerstown, presiding. Following the business session there will be a picnic lunch at 12:30 P. M. at the Luther Monument, Druid Hill Park, at which time the convention picture will be taken. A devotional service will follow immediately with an address, "Our Heritage of Freedom" by Rev. Franklin C. Fry, D. D., Akron Ohio.

The convention will conclude with the installation of the officers at 5:00 o'clock on Monday afternoon and the banquet at 5:30 o'clock. Rev. Arthur J. Pfohl, D. D., Indiana, Pa., will give the final message on the convention theme, "The Life our Heritage Demands."

A convention program for intermediate Leaguers will be held simultaneously with the program outlined above, with special sessions being held on Sunday afternoon at Calvary Church, and Monday morning at the Lutheran Deaconess Motherhouse Chapel. A special message for the intermediates will be given on Sunday afternoon at Calvary Church by the Rev. J. Harold Mumper, D. D., of Washington, D. C.

Random Thoughts

(This is a reprint of an article formerly published. Owing to the popularity of these Random Thoughts we will for a time reproduce others of the same type.)

NO NEWS—GOOD NEWS?

Not always true, but more apt to be, than not. If we can take this attitude, we can often save a lot of worry, for even if the news is not good, in many cases we can't help it.

But, it is not a good habit for anybody to form, of not writing letters when so doing would save worry on the part of relatives and friends. The cost of a stamp, or even of a postal, is often a good investment.

Just as neighbors should visit one another, so should our friends keep in touch with us, for a letter may easily be a visitor showing continued interest in the "old folks at home."

In many cases, letters should be sent on an established schedule; or as a debt we owe, for being in debt is partly a bad habit. Owe no one anything is not as difficult as it may seem—when one "settles up" regularly, say at least once each month. P. B. E.

SCHOOL DAYS

Following a teachers' meeting next Monday, Tuesday morning school begins. To the small child, its first year, this will probably be the most exciting and momentous event in its life. To the mother, as she watches her child walk off to school with that all-important tablet and pencil, it will seem that this is the end of her precious baby (To mother he or she has now grown up.)

To other children this day means entering into higher classes, perhaps entering into that important high school grade, meeting new teachers and making new acquaintances.

The person that completed his or her schooling last year, even though they were glad it was over, will again feel some regret and begin to wish that they could go to school again. This desire increases as years roll by and is experienced by nearly all of us.

We older folks believe that this is one time that opportunity knocks—knocks at each child's door and is accepted more or less. We believe the opportunity of learning is one of the greatest gifts to mankind and no country offers the kind of opportunity for free education as our U. S. A.

WRITING TO SOLDIERS

Under the streamer headline "When you Write to Men Who are Away at War Write Right" the Southside Virginia News, published at Petersburg, Va., by Walter P. McGuire, devoted two-thirds of the front page of a recent issue to a patriotic project. Part of it was an editorial, protesting against the kind of discouraging letters which some people write to men in the armed forces, and the other part was the announcement of a prize contest for the best letters written "To a Fighting Man."

Here is part of the editorial, entitled "Why":

"The public has contributed millions for the USO and innumerable people who live near army camps and other military establishments devote much time to entertaining men in service, to keep up their morale. These contributions and activities help inestimably. But a soldier or sailor may play games in a service club or dance with a 'local girl' and at the same time have a heavy heart because of a letter he carries in his pocket—a letter from home which is so full of 'sympathy' that it has made him pity himself, and contains so much of fault-finding, doubt and fear that it unfits him for the job he is doing and for the bigger job that lies ahead.

This we knew from countless incidents revealed through our close association with men and officers of two army camps, as the publishers of the Camp Lee Traveler and the Camp Pickett Post, and through conversations with other army and navy men.

For instance: A stalwart soldier suddenly came upon in a woods near a camp, weeping—and giving as the cause a letter from him which had nothing in it but pity and complaining; reading the letter, at the corporal's request, we boiled with indignation that anyone should write so to a man away at war. A soldier who told of a buddy in his barracks waking him long after midnight with his cursing, and explaining, on being questioned, that a letter he had got that day from his dad "would make any soldier swear."—A captain who said that several of his men had told him of, and in some cases shown him, discouraging letters they had received.—A lieutenant who said that "it's bad enough for a soldier not to get such letters, but it's even worse to get such letters as some of them do."

It is far from our purpose to discourage any one from writing to the soldiers, and we are sure people mean to be helpful in writing, but it will be well for all of us to try to see all sides of the situation, and to temper our expression of emotion with calm judgment, and sometimes to smile even when the way is not so bright.

QUIT BEING SOFT

Japan must be invaded. The treacherous Japs must be crushed. It is time to get hard and stay that way until the other fellow is softened up.

There is no alternative. Either democracy and the democratic way of life survives, or die in this struggle.

It is autocracy vs. democracy. If autocracy wins, Liberty dies. This is your war and my war, we are all in it and must each do our part. If we fail all may be slaves. We must not fail, and if we "screw our courage to a sticking place" we will not fail.

The war is not over yet. Some think it will end in 1942, others 1943, and still other 1944 or later.

Hitler's victories in the Caucasus, with the oil fields there, may prolong the war for years. If the R. A. F. aided by U. S. and Canadian bombers destroy German cities and German industries war may be shortened. The result is in the lap of the gods. Our fear is it may be a long, long war.

BRAZIL IN THE WAR

The entrance of Brazil into the war makes twenty-nine nations now in the United Nations group. There was an exchange of messages between President Roosevelt and President Vargas, and also between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha.

This action of Brazil in declaring war on Germany and Italy was the outgrowth of wanton submarine attacks on Brazilian shipping within Brazil's own waters. It took great courage for Brazil to declare war because of the thousands of Italians and Germans in that country. But President Vargas, who had been absent from his official duties due to injuries received in an automobile accident, had just recovered and he did not hesitate to take a firm hand.

This silenced his political enemies in the great San Paulo district, who had been active during his illness. The declaration of war has united Brazil with the same response that a similar declaration unified the United States the day after Pearl Harbor.

Significantly, Brazil did not declare war on Japan. There have been several explanations for this, the chief one having to do with the fact that the relations between Chile and Brazil are growing more cordial, and Chile has some 4,000 miles of coast line which is undefended. The recent successes of the forces of the United States in the Solomon Islands has given Chile a sense of security it did not have before, throwing its friendship to Brazil rather than Argentina.

This action of Brazil has had a profound effect on South America. Informed observers say that this will now make Brazil first in influence in that continent, a place long held by Argentina, whose President Castillo continues to favor the Axis. Also, Brazil's declaration of war now makes it possible to utilize the 'bulge' which places its shores about 1,600 miles from Dakar, Africa. This would have enormous influence in protecting South America and in keeping open the sea lanes for shipping of the United Nations.—Scottish Rite News Bureau.

SCRAP IRON VS. WHISKY?

The junk dealer has his troubles, too. The OPA has placed a ceiling on the price he may charge the mills and foundries for scrap iron, and the WPA has warned him not to pay collectors or industrial plants any lower prices, with the result—he complains—that he is being squeezed. "If there is a shortage in scrap iron this winter," he warns the Government, "don't blame me."

One of the junkman's organs, the Waste Trade Journal, noticed that on August 1 the OPA gave the liquor industry permission to advance the price of whisky to cover increased production costs, lifting a ceiling price established in March, 1942. "If relief had not been granted," Administrator Henderson's office said, "many distillers and distributors of liquor could not have remained in business."

The Waste Trade Journal has no quarrel with Mr. Henderson's tender concern for the liquor trade, but it asks frankly whether whisky is more important to the war effort than scrap iron. "We are loath to believe," it says, "that higher-priced whisky is what this country needs to increase the production of tanks, planes and ammunition."

This newspaper strongly agrees that higher whisky prices based on higher production costs seem unnecessary—especially when the distillers are supposed to be making no more whisky but devoting themselves to turning out alcohol for munitions.—Christian Science Monitor.

WE MUST NOT HATE

We must not hate. The hour is too momentous, the danger too near. We cannot afford to indulge in the drug of hatred—in the virus of anger. The lives of all of us, our entire way of life depend upon our self control.

Hate is the weapon of the enemy. They stirred their own people to aggression by feeding them upon hate. They have conquered nations not merely by force of arms, but by first breaking them open to attack through the stirring up of hatreds of class against class, race against race, religion against religion. We must not let this poison gas of division and disunity lay waste our nation.

We must fight the enemy with every bit of strength we possess—both material and spiritual—in order to achieve the ultimate victory and eradicate the system we despise. We must not sap this strength with hatred of each other. As one of our leading editorial writers so trenchantly said—"It is mathematical—that the more energy we squander in fighting one another, the less energy we shall have to fight our enemies."

In the Bill of Rights, promulgated one hundred and fifty years ago; in the Four Freedoms from the President's Message to Congress in January 1942 lies the hope of the world. There is no mention made of race or creed or color. There is no mention of nationality or class. These are pledges for all the nations, all the people of all the world.

No nations was ever great because of its hatred. Nothing big was ever created out of anger. To say we must not hate is not a doctrine of pacifism. We must fight the evil wherever it exists, and fight to the bitter end, if needs be. But—if we are fighting on God's side, to use Joe Louis' great phrase, we must fight for the right. We must not be confused by the red mist of anger toward our opponent. We must stand firm on God's side—and we must not hate!—By Ruth Taylor.

ON LIFTING FINGERS

To be fair, fat and forty is not so bad. But to be forty and engage in a lot of unnecessary exercise is downright foolish and foolhardy, according to sound medical opinion.

This is no time, of course, for people over forty to indulge in a sitdown strike on the theory that exercise is not good for them, but there is no harm in resorting to nostalgic yearning for days when it was possible for persons of that age to take it easy. And this reference isn't to the depression era.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, in a provocative editorial in Hygeia, a medical association publication, asserts that the modern scientific attitude toward exercise after the age of forty is not "to lift a finger unnecessarily."

Doctor Fishbein quotes Dr. Peter J. Steincrohn, whose slogan is "Rest begins at forty," as having said:

"Exercise all you want up to thirty slow at thirty-five, don't lift a finger unnecessarily after the age of forty." Doctor Fishbein adds that the importance of exercise for the young, or the man in training for the Army, "is not questioned."

Then Doctor Fishbein adds: "Bear in mind, however, that being in training is not the normal condition of the average man. The opponents of exercise insist that the animals that exercise the least live the longest. They mention, for instance, the deep sea turtle, which may live thousands of years, and elephants, which live 300 years, whereas physically active animals like the dog live from ten to fifteen years, the rabbit, if it is lucky, seven to eight years, and the mouse only a few months. People who work hardest live the shortest time."

It wouldn't require much research to show that people always have known instinctively that they should not work hard as they grow older. One of the motivations for industry and thrift is the desire to enjoy ease in one's older years or at least in one's declining days. Insurance statistics prove that it doesn't work out that way—in fact, a great majority of the people are penniless when they reach the age of sixty. But the fact that they keep on trying to acquire a competence shows that there is an inherent belief in the human race that leisure in their declining days will not hurt people.—The Caroline Sun.

FARMERS AREN'T RICH

Those city dwellers who believe that agriculture is prospering tremendously from the war should look a little closer at the facts.

In a recent press release, Ernest C. Strobeck, secretary of the Dairy-men's League Cooperative Association of New York, said: "Dairy farmers have responded to the government's program of increased production. They have incurred extra expenses and experienced many inconveniences. With farm labor only 57 percent of normal and with farm wages higher than in any period in history, dairy farmers are now confronted with the prospect of prices being frozen at levels below even the low levels prescribed in the Emergency Price Control Act. Also, they face a constantly shifting price policy under the lease-lend program."

Similar situations are perplexing farmers throughout the country. Increases in farm operating costs have generally offset increases in prices. War, in short, has brought agriculture some of the toughest problems it ever faced.—Industrial News Review.

London Theaters Enjoying Big Boom

Any Sort of Entertainment Draws Packed Houses.

LONDON.—Theater seats have joined steaks, butter, onions, American cigarettes and rye whisky as being almost unobtainable in wartime London.

There's a boom in entertainment this spring the like of which has never been experienced on Broadway. Shows that wouldn't last a week on the road are playing to packed houses night after night here. Long runs are being established with entertainment material which in peace-time would never have found a promoter.

Authoritative opinion is that 30 West End London theaters are taking between a quarter of a million and $350,000 a week. At least two are taking $25,000 a week each. There are four London musicals that haven't had a vacant seat for at least three weeks ahead.

Top prices are slightly lower than in New York, but the fare offered, except in one or two instances, doesn't begin to compare with that showing on Broadway.

Restrictions on railroad, automobile and other travel, necessity for a "breather" at periodic intervals after long hours in offices and factories, desire of service men on leave to do all the shows in town, absence of bombing—these and probably a dozen other reasons have caused the current boom.

Movie houses are sharing in it. Long lines form outside most of the central London movie houses for even mediocre films. A good movie, given the right advance ballyhoo, can take almost permanent residence. Movie prices are way higher than New York.

Rapid Output of Weapons Spells Doom of U-Boats

WASHINGTON.—Increases in United States production of anti-submarine weapons are surpassing the enemy's capacity for turning out undersea craft, in the opinion of Chairman Vinson (Dem., Ga.) of the house naval committee.

"The antisubmarine warfare organization has now passed through its period of growing pains, is well established and is functioning smoothly," Vinson asserted in a statement approved by the navy.

He added that the committee "has full confidence that we shall defeat the submarine." Delivery of anti-submarine craft is proceeding "in increasing numbers," Vinson said, although this is the only phase of the navy's ship construction program that is not well ahead of schedule.

The navy, Vinson said, did not have an adequate supply of escort craft to protect both troop transports and cargo vessels.

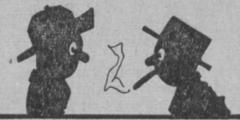

"Who shall say that the decision as to dividing these craft has not been sound, when it is realized that so far we have not lost a soldier of the many thousands sent overseas?" he asked.

Ah, Freedom

A Pole was passing through Berlin with his small son. The boy saw a statue of Hitler and inquired who he was.

"Why, he's the man who freed us from our chains," the father said. "You know, mother's nice gold chain and my watch chain."

IT WAS

"Could you lend me a dollar, old man?"

"Certainly. I could do lots of things I have no intention of doing. Nice day, isn't it?"

Please Don't Call Washington unless you must!

WITH the war effort of 27 United Nations centered upon it, Washington is probably the busiest city in the world. It is fast outgrowing its physical limits—and its telephone facilities.

Since Pearl Harbor, long distance telephone calls in and out of Washington have increased from 45,000 a day to about 70,000 or more than 50 per cent. Some of these calls, of vital importance, get caught in the rush.

Now, it is no longer possible to expand telephone facilities as in the past because critical materials are needed for the fighting fronts.

So we must ask you to cut down on every call you can to Washington and other busy cities across the country—so that the Army, Navy and the Government can have the right-of-way to get America's biggest job done.

If you must make a long distance call, won't you place it in the off-peak hours—

As the dim-out regulations continue night after night, more and more apparent becomes the change brought to Broadway by the army order issued for the protection of the lives of our men of the merchant marine as well as ships of the armed forces.

Just what effect the dim-out is having on the night life of the city cannot be determined as yet. Always at this season there is a slump and clubs that have been tottering on the brink fold up in numbers while others continue to struggle along.

Midtown traffic officers have lighter tasks these nights than in the past. Decrease in wheeled traffic, of course, is not entirely due to the dim-out since there are even more important factors.

New York's roof gardens are operating, or will operate, as usual despite the fact that many are above the 15th floor light limit.

The dim-out has brought a problem—a very minor one, true—to those of us who dwell above the 15th floor.

A young woman car owner listened to the troubles of the owner of the garage where she stores her motor.

Just learned that in New York there are between 2,500 and 3,000 apartments that rent for $7,000 or more a year.

Army, Too, Conserves On Rubber With Horses

Ol' Dobbin's comeback as a result of the rubber shortage took a new spurt with the announcement by the war department that it is replacing more than 1,500 administrative motor vehicles with animal-drawn vehicles at army posts, camps, and stations throughout the country.

The first phase of this new step in the army's campaign to conserve rubber and other materials classified as "critical" resulted in the replacement of 580 trucks at 47 posts by the Quartermaster corps, services of supply.

Vehicles to be replaced are of the administrative type, used mostly for intra-camp jobs such as collecting trash, ashes and garbage and hauling freight and coal.

Prior to issuance of the order, a survey was made of existing stable and forage facilities. These are being put to immediate use, with new facilities planned as the program expands.

Because of the mechanization of cavalry, an ample supply of horses is available. Some of these former cavalry mounts are being reclassified as light draft animals.

The Task of Preventing Arthritis Is a Big One

Correction of living habits, proper diet and removal of foci of infection do not always result in disappearance of pain or other symptoms in the joints in cases of arthritis, according to Dr. Maurice F. Lautman.

"The task of preventing arthritis is not an easy one to be sure, but one has only to contemplate the countless persons who are disabled or hopelessly crippled to realize that as far as arthritis is concerned, the ounce of prevention will be worth tons of cure."

High School Students to Farm

Farmers of central grain belt states, faced with a shortage of labor for July and August harvests, are watching with interest an experiment in Washington state involving use of junior and senior high school students in tending and harvesting truck garden, berry and other crops which contribute heavily to the food reservoir of this important defense industry area.

The program is necessary, according to the American Municipal association, because migrant laborers no longer are available, military service and war industries have taken many farm workers and the Japanese evacuation has taken many others.

Vote for Judge William Henry Forsythe, Jr. and keep in office a tried, able, just and fearless Judge

An Editorial Judge William Henry Forsythe, Jr.

Judge Forsythe has been an associate judge of Anne Arundel, Howard and Carroll Counties since December, 1907, and until he was appointed Chief Judge in February, 1941, to fill the vacancy in the Court of Appeals of Maryland caused by the retirement of former Chief Judge Francis Neal Parke.

Judge Melvin has not resigned as Associate Judge, but continues to hold his office as Associate Judge so that if defeated in his candidacy for the nomination as Chief Judge he will continue as an Associate Judge until the expiration of his term in 1953.

The possibility of such an undesirable situation arising is the least of the reasons for the renomination and election of Judge Forsythe, whose record has established him in the respect, confidence and esteem of this Judicial Circuit.

As set forth in an editorial published in "The Ellicott City Times" of May 28, 1942:

"At the time of his appointment as Chief Judge and a member of the Court of Appeals, which was after the election of Judge Melvin in 1938 as Associate Judge the ability, integrity and capacity of Judge Forsythe made his selection so obvious and desirable that he received the unanimous endorsement of every member of the Bars of Anne Arundel, Carroll and Howard Counties, and the executive sanction of Governor O'Connor, whose judgment had the general approval of the electorate.

The well-founded expectations of his judicial qualifications have been fulfilled by the career of Judge Forsythe in the Court of Appeals. Courteous, dignified, impartial and fair, his long experience as Associate Judge, his knowledge of the law, his firm grasp of its principles and his consistent and unswerving devotion to their wise enforcement have made him a valuable addition to the Court of Appeals.

At the general election in 1942, seven of the eight members of the Court of Appeals will be up for election. There is no certainty how many of these will be elected. At no time since the Constitution of 1867 has it been more imperative from the standpoint of the public interest and of a sound public policy for an able and experienced judge to be supported and retained in the Court of Appeals in order to assure the preservation of an unbroken continuity of judicial procedure and tradition in that eminent tribunal.

The fact that Judge Melvin is a younger man gives point to the wisdom of having the junior wait on the wisdom and experience of greater years and experience."

In these sentiments the Democratic Advocate fully concurs. It is, moreover, a notable circumstance that in their endorsement of Judge Melvin's rival candidacy, the members of the Bar of Anne Arundel County, who participated in that endorsement, were constrained by the facts to set forth in their document their recognition of Judge Forsythe's distinguished career "both as Associate and Chief Judge" and their appreciation of his judicial services.

In this estimate Judge Ridgely P. Melvin fully concurred. In this reply of January 28th, 1942, to the endorsement of his Bar, Judge Melvin concluded the announcement of his candidacy with this sentence: "I would like, however, to express my hearty accord, especially, with the tribute given Judge Forsythe in the Resolution."

So, it is of record that there is no sound reason nor public interest to be served by the defeat of Judge Forsythe, whose long experience on the Bench makes it all the more desirable that the Court of Appeals continue to profit by his ripe and rich judicial attainments.

On these grounds, this paper considers it of great public concern that Judge Forsythe be nominated and elected. In this conclusion, it is supported by those great newspapers, whose opportunities for knowledge of conditions and whose wisdom in judgment are far superior to this journal. In its issue of June 16, 1942, The Baltimore Sun has a leading editorial which, in its closing paragraph, declares:

"the public will save the court from unnecessary confusion and will preserve experience in office by electing the sitting members, Chief Judge Bond's election in Baltimore will be taken as a matter of course. In the counties, Judge Collins, FORSYTHE, and Marbury, Democrats, and Judge Sloan and Delaplaine, Republicans, should be elected without regard to party line."

An editorial in the Evening Sun of June 16th, voiced the same conclusion.

Aside from the ambition of Associate Judge Melvin immediately to displace Chief Judge Forsythe to the disadvantage of the State, the only basis remaining is the contention that there should be no further delay in having the Chief Judge a resident of Anne Arundel County. The residence of a judge adds no judicial attribute.

The Democratic Advocate has too high a regard for the intelligence and public spirit of the voters of Anne Arundel County to entertain the supposition that they would let their desire to have the Chief Judge a resident of their own County prevail over their duty to act in the public interest with reference to the selection of a member of the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

It is our opinion that after reflection, the voters of Anne Arundel County and of Howard County, as well as of Carroll County, will agree with this paper that they can serve the Fifth Judicial Circuit and the State of Maryland best by voting in the primary for Chief Judge William H. Forsythe, Jr. and thereby assure his experience and wisdom to the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Last week the Sunday School at this place requested that at least 60 of the 74 members of the Sunday School being in attendance on the following Sunday. There were 94 members and visitors. The offering $12.25 went for missions.

Rev. C. Sullivan and son, Ray, of Frederick, spent last week with Mrs. Sullivan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hailey, near this place.

Sgt. Howard Carr and Pvt. Edw. Hailey, spent the week-end with their home folks. We are glad to welcome our boys.

The Women's Bible Class of Silver Run Reformed Church of which Miss Carrie Koontz is a member visited the County Home, Sunday noon. They presented each guest with a gift. There was a very interesting talk by the pastor, the Rev. Shenberger which was enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. John Schaffer visited her parents last week at Snow Hill, and was guests of friends at Pocomoke City, Salisbury, Md., also visited her brother on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. McAllister, Newport News, Va.

Announcements have been received of the marriage of Donald Myers to Miss Eunice Louise Brown, on Saturday, August 29 at Finksburg. Congratulations.

Mr. Grace Bish, Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Devilliss, Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smelser, Bessey Zile were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Snader Devilliss, Uniontown. Mr. and Mrs. Grant Devilliss were recent callers in town.

Mrs. Lucy Fringer, Mabel Fringer, Ralph Fringer, John Robinson and Helen Galbert, all of York, were visitors at the home of C. B. Reifsnider.

Mrs. Rhyer Fisher, Thurmont, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Reifsnider.

HARNEY

Mrs. Hannah C. Eckenrode expects to return home Sunday evening after a two weeks stay in Baltimore with her children.

Mrs. Rosa Valentine spent Tuesday at the home of her grand-daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Yingling and daughter, Audrey.

Mrs. Ella Cornell, spent Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holland Weant and son Wade.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shorb and family, spent Sunday here with Mrs. Minnie Hefestates.

The Harney School will open on Tuesday.

Don't forget the date Sept. 5, rain or shine the annual S. S. of St. James Reformed Church, Littlestown-Harney road picnic. Supper which has always been the best ever. Served from 4 o'clock on. Music by the Taneytown band.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Worley, Littlestown, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hankey, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clabaugh and family entertained Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Gesey, Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. Theron Clabaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Clabaugh and son, Eugene, on Taneytown R. D. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wantz visited Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reaver, Littlestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, Taneytown R. D. 2, visited Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wolf.

Cleveland L. Null, who for the past year has been in training as an Aviation Cadet, was recently commissioned Ensign in the Navy Air Corps. Mr. Null is spending a ten-day furlough with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Null. He will be stationed for the present at Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Charlie Lee Russell, Jr., of Pampa, Texas, is a guest of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Null.

FEESERSBURG.

Here's September—ninth month of the year—when it may be hot or cold, corn will be in shocks in rows across the fields, leaves will be turning in color, late wild flowers will be in bloom and maybe Jack Frost will be around. The Indians called it the hunting moon—because game was plentiful then.

August had 15 clear days or rainless, and 16 of clouds or rain—an unusually wet summer month with much humidity, but the last week was delightful.

Pvt. Wilbur Miller, Jr., was home on a furlough the past week from Camp Blanding, Fla., and returned on Monday, expecting within the week to be sent to Fort Benning, Ga., to a school of instruction. Mr. and Mrs. Miller entertained a family party to dinner on Sunday including two young men from Baltimore.

Joseph P. Bostain and family, spent the end of the week at Atlantic City to parade the board walk and have a dip in the ocean; and there was much to interest the children June and Rodney.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilhite returned from their honeymoon trip on Saturday to the home of his parents where they were given a reception by relatives and friends and later serenaded by the young people; then useful goods by the Smiling Sunbeams in the evening, choice refreshments were served in abundance to all, and many good wishes expressed.

Recent visitors to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wolfe were Clarence Blacksten and his bride from New Windsor last Thursday evening; and on Sunday they entertained to dinner Mr. and Mrs. William Corbin (nee Catherine Crouse) of Clear Ridge.

On Monday Mrs. Lulu Grinder and Mrs. Addie Crumbaker assisted Mr. and Mrs. G. S. LaForge to move to their home in Union Bridge. The family from Ohio to whom they rented their fine country home—originally the F. Littlefield home will take possession at once.

We were at home again on Sunday when the Supt. of S. S., F. P. Bohn, and pastor Bowersox were both in charge again. The latter spoke well on the theme "Life thro' an enabling Christ." The choir sang "Guide Us Home" and the beautiful flowers on the altar—donated from five homes—were worth seeing. Greetings were cordial.

The Ladies of Middleburg Methodist Church will have a flower show in the church hall on Saturday afternoon and evening, Sept. 12. There will be five classes of flowers, ferns of all kinds, foliage plants, blooming plants, cut flower arrangements and specimen class; for which prizes will be awarded; also small growing plants for sale. There will be music in the evening, and home-like refreshments on sale sounds interesting.

A short time ago Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Sr., with her sister, Mrs. Lulu Renner Main, of York, visited their aunt, Mrs. Barbara LeGore Graham in Woodsboro. Each took her some ginger bread of their own baking—taste both, to see which was the best; and after eating she said "One is as good as the other"—wise old lady. She looks well, and her mentality is remarkable. She is fond of visitors. What a long journey.

One of our men took a lady out driving last Tuesday evening and forgot to bring her home; so had to go back for her, and in order to sing "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Our friends at Paradise Falls—in Pocomo Mountains, report the best season for a long time, and the others will be leaving next week, they will remain until the cold weather. The President of the Association, Rev. Kidd was buried on Aug. 23—a great man, who was pastor of the church at Sunderton, Pa., 38 years. 1000 people viewed his body and 800 attended the funeral. M. L. Koons and family are all well. His card gives a glorious view of the Delaware water gap "Wonderful World!"

Three of our regulars attended the Thomas Weishaar sale of household goods in Union Bridge on Saturday afternoon, at the home where Misses Florentine and Jane Ecker, spent their last years and was sold recently to Luther Devilliss.

A cow belonging to Roger W. Sentz is suffering with ptomaine poisoning and the Dr. in attendance. Do cows get all the diseases we have, or do the humans get cattle disease—now that things have got so mixed up.

Festivals to the east and west of us on Saturday evening called out the cars that had been saving fuel; but the picnic season is nearly over—there were not as many as usual this year.

Labor Day comes next—when the working man is given a holiday—and it has almost become an institution but workers keep on, and the half hearted celebrate a change—while some of the industrious do more work than any day in the year.

'Tis hard to regulate the affairs of others; but the resorts usually close up after Labor Day. Schools open and we are off on another season. Let's all go to school.

MAY DRAFT YOUTHS

According to dispatches from Washington recently the warning of Major General Louis B. Hershey that the selective service rolls soon would be exhausted of single men has led Congressional circles to speculate how soon the armed forces will renew their request for the drafting of youths 18 and 19 years old.

One well-informed member of the House, who refused to allow his name be mentioned, said he was sure the army and navy will insist upon lowering the draft age, and if the generals and admirals say that it is essential to victory, Congress would amend the Selective Service Act before Christmas.

It is the general belief, however, that the request will be deferred until after the November elections lest the question be made a political issue.

THE WEEK OF WAR REPORTS.

Departments' and Boards' Activities.

Gen. MacArthur's Australian headquarters reported in a special communique August 31 that Japanese invasion troops have suffered a disastrous defeat in the Milne Bay area of New Guinea. A force of Australian shock troops had been secretly concentrated along the Bay in anticipation of the Japanese landing Aug. 26, the report said, and as a result the Japanese lost all of an "enormous quantity" of heavy material they landed, including tanks and except for a few troops evacuated by an enemy cruiser and eight destroyers, the enemy land force was annihilated.

The Navy announced that Marines holding six islands in the southeastern Solomons had killed or captured all Japanese troops attempting to retake the islands. The Navy reported Aug. 30 that seven enemy planes were shot down when they attempted to raid the airfield facilities which the Marines had captured on Guadalcanal, bringing the total of enemy planes shot down in the Solomons fighting to 78. The Navy also announced the Marines, with Navy support, raided the Japanese base on Makin Island in the Gilberts, killing all but 2 of an estimated 330 enemy garrison. U. S. losses were less than 1 to 10 of Japanese.

In the European theatre, U. S. Flying Fortresses bombed the air-drome of Wevelghem, near Coutrai in Belgium, in the eighth straight operation without loss. In other precision bombing raids, the Fortresses attacked the Rotterdam shipyards and an airplane factory at Meaulte in northern France. Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell announced August 31 in Chungking, China, that U. S. Army planes based in China have made heavy and successful attacks on Myitkyna and Lashio, the two large Japanese bases in northern Burma. The Navy announced the sinking of five more United Nations merchant ships by enemy submarines in the Atlantic.

Joseph C. Grew, former Ambassador to Japan newly returned from Tokyo, said in a radio address the Japanese will fight "with all the force and power at their command—until they are utterly crushed." Mr. Grew stated "we are up against a powerful fighting machine, a people whose morale cannot and will not be broken even by successive defeats, who will certainly not be broken by economic hardships, a people who individually and collectively will gladly sacrifice their lives for their emperor and their nation, and who can be brought to earth only by complete defeat in battle."

President Roosevelt said he would announce his new anti-inflation program in a nation-wide address the evening of Labor Day, and would send a message to Congress earlier the same day. He told his press conference that forthcoming steps to control the cost of living will include stabilization of farm prices as well as wages, because neither could be stabilized without the other. He said wage stabilization would be flexible and would not amount to flat freezing of wages and salaries. The President also said the Government is considering one meatless day a week as a plan to be used largely as a means of saving oceanic shipping space for the total war effort. He said under the plan American meat could be shipped to nations in need, and this would make 30 to 40 Allied ships available for hauling war necessities to world-wide theatres of United Nations war activities.

The Office of Price Administration announced it is planning a price ceiling for live hogs and similar action is contemplated soon for cattle prices. The ceiling would be worked out in conjunction with representatives of livestock producers. The Office said "vigorous steps" are being taken to enforce quality grading provisions of its beef regulations to prevent upgrading as an evasion of price levels. The Agriculture Department reported a 9-point advance in farm prices from July 15 to August 15, raising the general level to 163 percent of the pre-World War I figure, 32 points higher than a year ago.

The OPA ordered reexamination by local boards of all supplemental gasoline ration books, particularly C books for motorists in 14 designated occupations and S books for operators of commercial vehicles. New books will be issued for the amount the operator is fairly entitled to, if present coupons are found in excess, and deliberate violations or regulations will be prosecuted, the office said. The OPA announced 35,500 new passenger cars will be made available for rationing in September, compared with 13,250 in August, but all unused quotas were recalled and no carryovers will be permitted in the future. The quota of 90,000 bicycles for September is the same as for August.

All rented standard model typewriters manufactured since January 1, 1935, were ordered returned to rental agencies by September 15 to make them available for purchase and use by the armed forces and Government Departments. Persons eligible to purchase machines under existing OPA regulations are not affected.

The War Department raised from 45 to 50 the maximum age at which men "who have character, skills or aptitudes which make their enlistment desirable and who are otherwise qualified" and who have draft board permission may enlist in the Army. They will be assigned to overhead units or installations where they will release younger men for general military service, and if fit, they will be used for combat duty, War Secretary Stimson said.

Marine Corps enlistees, as well as Navy enlistees, may now apply for flight training to become Naval aviation glider pilots, who act as co-pilots for large transport gliders. During the week, the 45,000-ton battleship Iowa—heaviest vessel ever launched in the U. S.—the aircraft carrier Independence, the cruiser Boston, and two destroyers, the Glenn and Jeffers, were launched. The Red Cross and the Navy jointly announced a new rescue project under which buoyant waterproof bags containing emergency food, water and medical supplies, cigarettes, etc., will be dropped by Navy patrol blimps to seamen awaiting rescue, before they are actually picked up by rescue vessels.

War Production Chairman Nelson said 2,000,000 cars from automobile graveyards have been converted into 400,000 tons of steel scrap a month during the last 4 months, but the steel industry is now consuming approximately 4,800,000 tons of scrap metal a month, about 4 times as much as it took in 1938. The office of the Petroleum Coordinator reported New Englanders and others east coast consumers will obtain only 75 percent of their fuel oil requirements under normal weather conditions this winter.

THE YORK FAIR

York Inter-State Fair, which has carried on through peace and war for 91 years, will be held on September 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, three weeks earlier than usual. The Fair will have a day and night program.

Charming America in wartime will be reflected in the big York exposition. Located in the heart of an extensive agricultural and manufacturing area, the Fair has always stimulated farm production as well as having served as a medium to show industrial products. This year that function is regarded as important as never before due to increased wartime needs.

Larger crowds are expected because of the opportunities the fair will afford thousands of war workers and their families to obtain much-needed recreation and relaxation.

The program of entertainment has been expanded to fit in with the needs of the "soldiers of the production line" who are working long hours to speed wartime industrial output.

Special nationally known features will be added to the night programs. Other amusements and exhibits at the York Inter-State Fair promise to maintain the high standard for which the Fair is famous. Horse racing, stage specialties and a glamorous Broadway revue will be features of the grandstand entertainment.

A fully-paved midway with new shows and brilliant illumination at night will be the Fair's center of attraction.

The story goes that Charles II once bumped his head against a low ceiling when replying to a toast and thereupon ordered that royal naval officers would never again rise aboard ship to toast the British sovereign. American Naval officers, however, rise when their President is toasted.

BLUE RIDGE COLLEGE

Dr. Miles S. Reifsnider has been appointed Dean of the Blue Ridge College, New Windsor, Md., according to an announcement made Monday by Dr. Waitman F. Zinn, acting president. College will open on Sept. 29.

Dr. C. F. Waite will return to head the Department of History. He has been at the Blue Ridge College for five years.

Dr. Reifsnider, who was formerly Associate Dean at the College, is Capt. of the Minute Men of Baust Church, Civilian Air Patrol Radio operator, and pastor of Baust Church.

After more than three years, the American flag flies again at the college.

Clarence Bowers, Master Sergeant in the last war, First Sergeant in the New Windsor Minute Men, and member of the American Legion, had charge of the erection of the flag.

Captain Miles S. Reifsnider of the Baust church Minute Men, raised the flag which is being flown from the temporary administration building.

Word has just been received at Blue Ridge College that it has been allotted a quota for the enrollment of male students in the enlisted reserve corps of the army including the air corps. The figure is set for thirty-nine men.

This means that students who demonstrate officer qualification at Blue Ridge College, may be recommended by the college authorities for enlistment in the enlisted reserve corps. Freshmen and Sophomores in the enlisted reserve corps may enter the navy program at the end of their Sophomore year. Deferment is granted to these students to complete their studies in preparing to become candidates for commission. The various services however, reserve the right to call them to the colors at any time.

As the Blue Ridge College is operated today, students as well as boarding students, the assignment of a quota to the college means that boys in Carroll, Frederick and Washington counties may attend this college and become candidates for the enlisted reserve corps.

GEORGE C. OVERHOLTZER

George C. Overholtzer, retired farmer, died at his home in Taneytown, on Monday morning at the age of 85 years. He had been in declining health since the first of the year and was bedfast for the past twenty-one weeks. He was a son of the late Emanuel and Susan Overholtzer and had been engaged in farming until he moved to Taneytown some years ago. He was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church. He was twice married, his first wife was before marriage Mary V. Heck; his second wife, the former Martha A. Anders, survives.

He also leaves three children by the first union: Mrs. Norman Fox, Mrs. Maurice M. Overholtzer, and Emanuel N. Overholtzer, all of Taneytown R. D.; also six grandchildren, seven great-grand children, and following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Sarah Albaugh, Mrs. F. B. Crouse, Taneytown; Mrs. George Mine, Oregon; Mrs. John Eyer, Keymar, R. D.; Mrs. Jacob Fringer, York; Samuel Overholtzer, New Midway; J. D. Overholtzer, Taneytown, and John J. Overholtzer, San Francisco.

Funeral services were on Wednesday afternoon, at the late residence. His pastor, the Rev. A. T. Sutcliffe, officiated, assisted by the Rev. A. W. Garvin, pastor of the Taneytown U. B. Charge; burial was made in the Lutheran cemetery.

EDWARD L. CRAWFORD

Edward L. Crawford, well known race horse drover and trainer and farmer, died at his home in Keymar, Thursday morning at 5 o'clock. Death was due to complication. He was 75 years old and had been in ill health the past year, being bedfast the last three weeks.

MARYLAND SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND

In a few weeks, thousands of Maryland boys and girls will be returning to their schools. Maryland is generous with its educational opportunities but do all of its citizens take advantage of them. How many people realize that at Overlea, just seven miles from the center of Baltimore, is situated one of the finest schools of the blind in this country?

The Maryland School for the Blind is a boarding school, conducted on the cottage family plan, there being a cottage for the younger boys, one for the older boys, one for the younger girls and one for the older girls, in each of which is a housemother, housekeeper, cook and several teachers. Every effort is made to keep the cottages homelike so that the pupils will feel that they belong to them. Teachers living in the cottages are in charge of a table at meal times. In this way they help the pupils cultivate certain social qualities that are necessary and important.

If the parents cannot afford to pay, the school provides free education for children of Maryland and the District of Columbia who have defective eye sight and cannot progress satisfactorily in the public schools. Tuition, board, room and laundry, medicine and medical attendance, books and all other appliances necessary for the education are furnished. Students from other states may be admitted on payment of $600.00.

Children may enter at the age of five, in order to attend the kindergarten. The educational program cares for the child's needs through the first ten years of his academic training. The last two years of his high school course is generally obtained at one of the high schools in Baltimore.

The grounds are indeed spacious and beautiful. Some is in woodland but a good portion of the one hundred acres is given over to the raising of vegetables and fruits which add much to the well balanced meals served the pupils.

At one end of the grounds are the buildings for the Department of Colored Blind and Deaf. The same opportunities are given these pupils with additional training in shoe repairing, pressing, laundry, etc., which are trades open to the deaf. The school endeavors to give all its pupils, either colored or white, the type of education which will suit the individual needs of the pupils.

If anyone knows of blind or deaf children who are not attending school write Francis M. Andrews, Superintendent of the Maryland School for the Blind, Overlea, Maryland, for he is anxious to have the school serve the people of this state. Should a child live in the District of Columbia, make application to Robert L. Haycock, First Assistant Superintendent, Public Schools of the District of Columbia, Franklin Administration Building, Washington, D. C. Visitors are always welcome at the school.

VOTE FOR JUDGE JAMES E. BOYLAN, JR., and Keep In Office A Tried, Able, Just and Fearless Judge.

Associate Judge JAMES E. BOYLAN, JR.

(An Editorial from the Democratic Advocate)

It has been a consistent policy, with a few exceptions, for The Democratic Advocate to refrain from taking any part in the choice of candidates and, after the choice has been made, then loyally to support the nominees of the Democratic Party. There are sound reasons in support of the practice, but all general rules should be subject to justifiable exceptions since only with such a limitation may a general rule survive. Such an exception is now indicated. It arises in the necessity for the selection of a candidate for Associate Judge. The matter is so important and the proper choice is so obvious that The Democratic Advocate is moved to assign its reasons for its temporary departure from custom and its support of the nomination and election of the present Associate Judge James E. Boylan, Jr., of Carroll County. It is not the purpose to disparage his opponent from the standpoint of either character or competency, but to bring to public attention the superior claims of Judge Boylan for favorable consideration.

The voters of Carroll, Anne Arundel and Howard counties have in Associate Judge Boylan a candidate of such ability, character, courage and judicial temperament as make it highly important that he should be nominated and elected to the honorable office whose grave duties he now so creditably and acceptably performs.

The sacrifice Judge Boylan made in leaving his large and remunerative law practice to fill a vacancy caused by the retirement of former Judge Francis Neal Parke should not go unrewarded by the public whom he has so faithfully and diligently served since his appointment.

The qualifications of Judge Boylan have been acquired, developed and matured in the harsh school of experience. He had not the advantage of private fortune to enable him to go further than a high school education. When this was completed at the age of sixteen, he had to earn his living. These handicaps to professional status were overcome by native ability and assiduous application. Having been taught stenography and typewriting at school, he secured employment with the law firm of the late Judge James A. C. Bond and F. Neal Parke. While with them and under their direction, he read law and applied himself in his leisure time to his studies and a course in a law correspondence school with such success that he passed the Maryland State Bar examination and was admitted to the practice of the law by the Court of Appeals of Maryland on December 3rd., 1923.

During this period, the First World War was fought. While yet a minor, young Boylan entered the Army Training Corp and served until the war ended. He then returned to his position with the law firm of Bond & Parke. He became a member of the firm in 1924 when Judge Parke went on the Bench, and practiced law with Judge Bond until the latter's death in August, 1930. After that time and until his appointment as Associate Judge on February 25, 1941, Judge Boylan enjoyed a large practice in the State and Federal courts, and became well and favorably known as an excellent lawyer of the highest character and integrity. It was in just and fitting recognition of his prominence and ability in the profession of law and of his sterling qualities as a man and citizen that he was appointed Associate Judge.

Even in this brief sketch may be seen the tireless, persistent student and worker; the stern, conscientious and courageous performance of every professional and judicial act without reference to friendship, enmity, favor, fear or partiality, but solely as is given him to see the right, which makes Judge James E. Boylan, Jr., a worthy judge.

The test of quality and capacity is performance. The calm, the fair, the able, the independent administration of the judicial office will be continued should this tried and proved judge receive the deserved tribute of nomination and election. For these reasons, The Democratic Advocate urges the nomination and election, of Judge Boylan.

Proof of Love

By
BARBARA ANN BENEDICT
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

"It's only a matter of time, Malcolm Goss told the girl, before you'll love me. I'm sure of it."

There was nothing of conceit in his manner, and Angela shook her head. "Time hasn't anything to do with it. I'm—we're not the same kind of people."

Malcolm frowned. "You've hardly given me a chance to plead my cause. Stay a little longer anyway," he urged. "Wait until the first snow. It's beautiful on the mountains. You'll like it."

Angela gazed up toward the high-flung peaks of the Lockton range. Mentally she pictured their snow-laden slopes beneath a wintry sun. "Yes," she said. "They must be. Everything is beautiful up here." She turned to him, smiling brightly. "All right. Until the first snowfall, then."

It came sooner than they expected. Two weeks later the sun dropped into a bank of clouds at mid-afternoon. It began to snow shortly after dark, lightly at first, developing by morning into a raging blizzard. Angela was delighted, thrilled. But by the second day she began to

"Oh, I hate you for this!" she said. doubt. And on the third day with the storm still raging, she sought out the clerk in the tiny mountain hotel.

"When," she asked, will the stage leave for the railroad?" He looked at her curiously and smiled. "Next April. Possibly May."

"There's no way of getting out before then?"

"None. Ridge Peak is always snowbound from October to April." "But—but the Pass? Aren't there dogs?"

The clerk shook his head. "It's been done, once or twice. And attempted a half dozen times." "You mean the others failed?"

He nodded. "Mighty dangerous business. Only a fool would try it."

The door behind them opened. Malcolm Goss was standing there, watching her. Furious, she confronted him.

"You knew! You knew all the time! You thought if I had to stay I—you—!" She left the sentence unfinished. Her eyes blazed.

He regarded her solemnly. "You really mean that?"

"Of course I do. What else am I to think? Oh—I hate you for this!" She turned away, but his hand gripped her shoulder, swung her back.

"Listen. The storm's about over. It hasn't been as bad as it seemed. Mostly wind. We could make it—over the pass—if you care to try."

His voice was a challenge. For a moment their eyes clashed. Angela tossed her head. "When can we start?"

"In an hour. Get your things. Leave as much as you can behind. Dress warmly. I'll arrange for the dogs."

He left her. She went to her room, sorted over her things, made up a bundle of the bare necessities. Waiting for Malcolm, she wondered whether the new feeling that assailed her was renewed anger—or fear.

In an hour she went downstairs again. Malcolm was waiting, talking to the clerk. The latter looked worried.

"All right. We'd better get going," Malcolm came across the floor, glanced at her bundle approvingly and nodded toward the door. There were furs in the sleigh and he tucked them around her. The snow had stopped. There were rifts in the clouds. She lifted her eyes to the peaks of Lockton range. They were white, a whiteness that was sinister and mocking. A little tremor ran through her body.

Toward sunset she dozed; when she awoke they had stopped. A fire was burning and she could smell coffee. A full moon was riding high above the hemlocks in a sky free of clouds.

Malcolm arose from his squatting position before the fire. "You'd better get out and exercise a bit. Coffee and bacon ready in five minutes. Angela climbed out of the sleigh, conscious of cramped limbs. "Do we camp here?" Her tone was matter of fact.

"No. We'll not camp at all. The moon's bright, and the wind may rise any moment." He tried and failed to keep anxiety from his voice. Angela looked at him and then glanced up through the trees. Already their crowns were beginning to sway gently.

She had no way of knowing what a rising wind might mean—not until they reached the height-o'-land. A gale was blowing. It was as though another blizzard had come up, so thick were the swirling particles of snow.

Angela burrowed down in the robes. She tried not to think of what the clerk had said. Hours later they stopped. Malcolm Goss appeared beside the sleigh, a blur of white.

"Cold?" She heard his voice above the roar of wind.

"Not a bit," she flung back gayly. "I like it."

He hesitated a moment, then returned to the gee pole. Angela was secretly pleased with herself.

Angela never knew how close to death they came that night. But she guessed at least half of it. She remembered dropping off to sleep again. When she awoke it was daylight. The wind had died. Men on snowshoes were milling about the sleigh. She saw another dog team—and then she saw that they were transferring something from behind her to another sleigh.

She heard a man say: "Oh, I guess he'll live . . . Wonder why the crazy fool tried it? . . . Who's that came?" The voice died. Angela struggled to get out, but the sleigh was in motion again, and the other team had gone.

Later they stopped at a cabin. Someone came and helped her inside. She was surprised at her own helplessness. Looking around, she saw Malcolm stretched out on a bunk, and she flew to him.

He was conscious, but she knew enough about frostbite to realize the danger. Turning, she ordered the men to bring her cold water and cloths.

Hours later Malcolm returned to wakefulness. He looked at her and grinned. Angela felt a twinge of pain, as though pricked with a knife, though she knew it was nothing more than conscience. She had been thinking about her gayety up there on the pass. Now it seemed like levity.

"I knew if you gave me time I'd make you love me."

She looked at him, suddenly realizing what a fool she'd been. She put her thoughts into words, and he grinned.

"We're both fools," he said. "Only a fool would attempt the pass—Glad we did though—otherwise—you might never have known!"

Suddenly she was on her knees, her arms about his head. "Oh, Malcolm, you are a fool. A great big, lovable fool. That's—that's why I love you so."

He nodded. "Sure. Every man has to make a fool of himself over a woman sometime in his life. I—I just chose a way that was different."

His eyes closed. She left him sleeping. Outside, she looked up at the pass. It was no longer sinister and mocking. It seemed to smile. And she smiled back.

Psychology Found in Greeting Cards Noted

A recent nation-wide survey conducted by expert psychologists reveals the importance to the public of greeting cards. It was learned that:

Greeting cards are a means by which people who find difficulty in expressing themselves may easily and gracefully convey their greetings and good wishes to others.

Greeting cards help to celebrate holidays and occasions of special significance. Thus, in providing rallying points for the closer unification of our people, they help to preserve, in our social structures, values which otherwise might be lost.

Greeting cards, at a time when many separations are occasioned, and many disruptions of family life take place, help to overcome the anxieties of loneliness, and make people better able to cope with the difficulties confronting them.

The emotional impact of the greeting card on the recipient is best demonstrated by the fact that most people who receive greeting cards preserve them for at least a little while before disposing of them. When discarded, greeting cards go on to serve a further purpose by yielding their raw materials for re-processing.

The survey further discloses that any restriction in the distribution of greeting cards would result in the use of some substitute for the exchange of greetings and good wishes—and that this substitute would require the use of paper in equal or greater amounts than now used in the production of greeting cards.

Thus, the greeting card serves the public interest, providing emotional outlets and social gratifications on a desirable non-wasteful basis.

Remarkable

Man is the only meat-eating primate. Goldfish can survive freezing of the water they swim in. A single housefly, if all its descendants lived and bred, would be an ancestor of 2,000,000 flies at the end of one summer. A male swan is called a cob; a female, a pen; a young swan, a cygnet. Natives of Burma believe the slow loris doesn't eat but lives on the rays of the moon.

Large Harvest Assures China of Food Supply

CHUNGKING, CHINA.—China will have no food problem, regardless of the outcome of the Japanese drives into southwest and central China, Adm. Shen Chung-Zieh, minister of agriculture, said today on his return to Chungking from a farm area tour.

He predicted the over-all harvest this autumn would be 20 per cent better than last year, while the wheat crop alone would be 40 per cent higher. Two bumper crops in 1938 and 1939 and two fair harvests in 1940 and 1941 gave China enough to feed her army and people, he said.

Soviet Girl Sniper Kills 257 of Foe

MOSCOW.—A girl sniper, Senior Sergt. Luidmila Pavlichenko, has been cited by the war council of the Southern Red army for killing 257 of the enemy on the Sevastopol front up to a few weeks ago.

Upon receipt of the citation, dispatches said, Sergeant Pavlichenko promised: "I'll get more."

PARENTS, SAFEGUARD YOUR CHILD!

Is your youngster one of the two and a quarter million about to enter school for the first time? You are planning to take the child to school and meet him afterwards. But you won't be able to do that every day. Sooner or later—probably sooner—your youngster is going to make the journey alone! What precautions can you take for "happy landings?"

Isn't it a parent's duty to teach the child how to use streets safely just as much as it is a duty to teach a child to brush his teeth?

In the interest of public safety, especially school children—although, in many cases grown-ups could apply them helpfully, Percy M. Burke, Westminster Branch Manager of the Automobile Club of Maryland offers the following safety suggestions:

- A. Youngsters entering School:
1. Often by a little planning, the most hazardous crossings can be avoided. Select the safest, most protected route and go with the child over it, explaining hazards and reasons for crossing where you do. It will often require a number of trips to fix these things in the child's mind.
 2. Choose intersections protected by: (a) Policemen (if intersection is never "stripped"); (b) School Safety Patrolmen; (c) Stop-and-go Signals.
 3. How to cross an unprotected street. Teach the child to: (a) Stop before crossing unguarded intersections. (b) Look in all directions for approaching traffic and wait until the way is clear. (c) Look to the left before stepping from the curb. (d) Watch to the left until near the center; (e) Watch to the right until all the way across.
 4. Explain the danger of running into the street.

B. Promise to Buy a better toy: Running out into the roadway after a prized ball for other toy) causes many accidents. Promise the child that if the ball is run over or goes down a sewer inlet, you will buy a better ball. After all, the cost of a new ball means nothing compared to a traffic accident.

C. Rules for safe use of Streets: The following few simple rules will prevent most pedestrian accidents if ingrained so that observing them becomes a habit: (a) Cross Streets only at corners. (b) Look! Be sure the way is clear before you cross. (c) Walk—not run—straight across streets. (d) Keep out from between parked cars. (e) Obey police officers, school safety patrolmen and signals. (f) Play away from traffic. (g) Be doubly alert on slippery streets. (h) Walk on the left side of highways, facing traffic, (where there is no sidewalk.)

GASOLINE RATIONING

No extra gasoline will be issued to any person who has used his original rations in less than the proper time. This applies to defense workers, salesman, maintenance men and anyone else, most supplemental ration books have been issued for a three month period, of which only a little over a month has expired. Drivers should have practically two months supply of gas and they must make their supplies last until that period has expired, for no additional gas will be authorized.

Ample public notice was given when additional ration books were issued, that these rations would have to last for the full period, and if any one has wasted his gas in unauthorized driving, he will have to suffer otherwise, the Board would be rewarding the unpatriotic at the expense of those who are doing their duty. At a time when salesmen are being denied extra gas needed to make their living, the Board will not give extra gas to those who waste it.

If anyone quits his job on the grounds that he cannot get to work because he has used up his gas sooner than he should have, and the case comes to the attention of the Board it will be referred to the appropriate Draft Board for action.

The members of the Board realize that some wasters may use their gas and that their inability to drive to work may cause inconvenience. But in the long run production will be increased, and public confidences in rationing will be improved more by supporting those who use their gas carefully and legitimately than by rewarding those who waste it.

The Board in many cases have investigated cases in which gasoline has been improperly authorized. Up to the present time hearing have been held, as a result of which a substantial number of books has been taken up. In suspicious cases the matter has been referred to the State Office of Price Administration for prosecution or other action. While it is to be expected that some chiseling and even fraudulent applications have been filed the experience of the Board is that the vast majority of the application have been made in good faith, and on true and reliable data.

If anyone knows of persons who have improperly obtained Ration Books the Board will be glad to have information from them so that appropriate action may be taken.

Enlistments during the first war month brought the Marine Corps to an all time high of 84,591 officers and

"WAR IS HELL."

Call them out—those sturdy fellows—Let them have their chance at war, Do not place barriers before them, Let them have abundant store.

Do not think our youth are softies Just because they like to dance; Give them arms and full equipment— They will 'gainst the foe advance.

"War is hell" as Sherman named it And it gets worse all the while, But the end will come, near doubt it, Buck up soldier, 'gin to smile.

Whose afraid of crazy Hitler, Or that shrimp, Hori hito? Both are cowards and conceited, Thinking us they'll overthrow.

What a funny little fellow With that Chaplain like mustache? Does he think he can defeat us With his arrogance so brash?

What a weakling gods the Japs have In their stogie—the emperor; They will know 'fore all is ended— Fools they are on us to war.

Just send over our Doolittle With his brains and magic touch, He will give them all they're seeking And they'll find it is quite much.

Get them Japs out of Alaska, Chase them from Australias shore, Drive them from Oceanica, Thrust them never-nevermore.

Puncture their inflated ego, Shrink them to their proper size, Give them over to Great China, Let them be China's war prize.

EARNING MORE?

SAVING MORE?

Sure, it's good to be earning more money. But the important question is: Are you saving more? Remember the last war, and those boom days in the late 20's. Lots of people earned big money then, but only a few had the foresight to save some of it. Look ahead, to tougher times that might come, and SAVE. We'll welcome your opening an account at this bank now.

USE A HIGH GRADE RED BARN PAINT

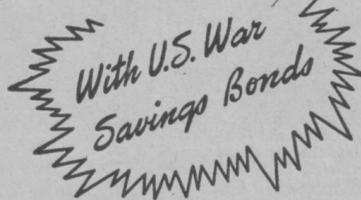

A good, dependable Barn Red made of really high grade materials is a rare thing. Most barn paints are made down to a price. Not how good but how cheap!

Your painter charges just as much to apply a cheap paint that will soon get dark and go to pieces as for a fine, satisfactory paint.

Our C. & D. Barn Paint is a bright red and will not disappoint you. It is made of pure Linseed Oil and Red Oxide. A splendid paint and only costs $1.75 A GALLON in 5-gal. cans.
