JOHN J. REID WRITES UPON RETURN HOME.

Tells Among Other Things of His Visit in the East.

I am now home again, after spending two weeks with the good people of Taneytown, and I am writing this to let all my friends in there—young and old—know how much I enjoyed the visit. Not only myself, but the folks who came in to bring me back to Detroit feel the same way. This was the eighth visit I have made to the town since leaving it 25 years ago the town since leaving it 25 years ago and each one makes me wish I could come back and live the short balance

THE RUBBER CHALLENGE

America needs a $600,000,000 synthetic rubber industry by the end of 1943 if possible, and absolutely by early in 1944. It doesn't require many fingers to count the number of $600,000,000 industries already in operation. To replace a good portion of the vast business that has been based on natural rubber with synthetics is likely to stand as the gargantuan chemical achievement of the era.

It's a big job, a critical, throbbingly important one, that has been delegated to William M. Jeffers. #### DON'T BE DISCOURAGED

The news is dark today-doubly dark because of the rosy-colored optimism of yesterday, when, flushed with minor successes, we ignored the fact that the enemy was plugging straight ahead.

The news is dark-but the end is not yet. We are partners in history, in epoch making days that will go down in the schoolbooks of the future. Seen from that perspective will these days look darker than those troublous times after the rout of the battle of Long Island, or the dark days at Valley Forge? Will the advance of the enemy loom more ominously than the flames of the burning of Washington? Will the smoke clouds of the burning ships appear more of a threat to the nation than the flickering campfires Lincoln saw from the White House in the darkest days of the Civil War?

We aren't licked yet-and we won't be unless we get discouraged. To avoid this error we must seek an inner calm. We must remember that that end will not come until the right end comes, until God's purpose is achieved. We must pray for the strength that endures. We must avoid jubilatoin or gloom over victories and defeats alike.

We must learn to think for ourselves and not draw our opinions exclusively from the radio, the newsreels, the newspapers and the confidential statements of so-called exjudgment in believing what we hear -and we must keep our sense of humor. We must learn to surmount our fears with faith, to conquer ru-

Friendless and Dogged by Misfortune, Finds Real Heart in Court.

NEW YORK.-William De Witt, 18, homeless and friendless since his father died four years ago, found a friend at last.

It was a judge—who said he had to send him back to a reformatory from which he had escaped, but who promised to find someone who'd give Bill a chance when he came

Bill's brother, John, died in 1934. His mother died in 1937, his father in 1938. A year later, the boy was sent to the New York State Vocational school from which he escaped in July, 1941. Three months afterwards he was sent to the New York City reformatory for petty larceny, escaping February 13 of this year. Thirteen days later he was arrested on charges of breaking into a Bill looked at him, shrugged, and gave an answer from the store of his training of the last five years.

Flight of Widow From Malaya Is Long Nightmare

Arrives in New York After Trying Experiences; Husband Killed.

NEW YORK.—Next time anybody asks just what it will take to win this war think of Mrs. Olive Ander-

Her husband was killed in action in Kuala Lumpur. Her brother is lost somewhere in Malaya. She raced Japs 250 miles through jungle and air raids to Singapore, driving her sister-in-law and three infants to safety, writes Frank Farrell in the New York World-Telegram.

She got clear of Singapore, before the surrender, via plane to Sydney. The boat she caught there was rammed by another in blackout off the Florida Keys. Then, plodding with its bow stove in, it provided an excellent target for three Nazi torpedoes off Cape Hatteras, where the sea is roughest on the Atlantic

She arrived in New York recently, a "survivor." As such the British admiralty has charge. As such she wears a few things the Red Cross provided, has a few dollars the consulate provided, shares a small room at the Bryant hotel and patiently, graciously, courageously awaits the small ship that will run the gantlet of horror between here and home-dear England.

Bombed Every Day.

As Olive Moir just before the outbreak of the war, her wedding to John Anderson, son of Lady Anderson, was one of the most fashionable performed in Christ church, Lancaster Gate, London. He was a director in Guthrie, one of the richest companies in Malaya, and about to retire, but they decided on one last visit to friends out East as Mr. and

He could have been an officer, but he enlisted as a buck private in the volunteers. The Japs dumped their infernal cargo on Kuala Lumpur every day.

Her brother pleaded with her to evacuate with his wife and three children-ages seven, five, and an infant of three months. Otherwise she would have stayed. Their Sikh chauffeur refused to leave his family, so they had to go it alone.

Twice on the 250-mile race they pulled over into fields, locked the car and hid under trees and in a friendly Chinese hut as Jap planes strafed and tried to bomb the car. That was the day after Christmas.

In Singapore she had a letter from her husband every day until January 10. On the 15th a messenger from the war office notified her that a Jap tree sniper was responsible.

Plane Ordered Back.

Twenty-one Dutch transports sailed from Singapore with evacuees the day she flew to Darwin. A 10-year-old boy is the sole survivor. That plane was ordered back to Singapore and shot down en route. Another plane flew her to Sydney.

From February 24 until April 17 she and 239 others were aboard a heavily laden ship that wrestled with the Pacific and Atlantic on its way to England. Its troubled, cramped passengers slept in the blackness of April 7 at 1:30 in the morning. They were off the Florida Keys. Suddenly there was a thunderous crash. Another blacked-out ship had rammed head-on into them and stove the bow of their ship until it looked like a fishhook. It is amazing that it stayed afloat and that the skipper was able to navigate it at all.

April 11 off Cape Hatteras the first torpedo struck. Fortunately it hit a steel-beamed surface of the hull. The radioman sent out his SOS. Ten lifeboats went overside.

But for that the American destroyer that lifted them out of tumbling, treacherous seas two hours later might not have had so many to land when it got to Charleston. All aboard the stricken ship were saved.

Youth Risks His Life

To Get Into Air Corps NEW ORLEANS, LA.-Marechal O'Quinn, 18-year-old New Orleans youth, risked his life once to get into the United States naval air corps, and he's ready to risk it again now that he's in service.

O'Quinn is a former Louisiana State university student who tried to enlist in the air corps last May, but was turned down because of a physical defect that needed a delicate operation to correct.

Although the operation involved a gamble with his life, young O'Quinn accepted the risk.

The operation a success, he is now at the naval air corps, stationed at Norfolk, Va., and ready to risk his life again, if necessary, for his country.

4 1 0 1 3 needed for War

"What's it good for?" "Guns, tanks, and maybe part of a plane"

In the barnyards and gullies of farms and in the basements and attics of homes is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example.

Even in peacetime, scrap provided about 50% of the raw material for steel. It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel-with most impurities removed, and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

The production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined. But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead and tin.

The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help? First-collect all of your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

some one told me, it grows on treesbut I want to assure you that that was a mistaken idea. Every where you go, if you want money you must work for it, in some way, and Detroit, with its thousands of industries, is not in any way different from any other part of the world, in that line. Any how I was forcibly struck by the difference the town makes now, from when I first became a resident 62 years ago, and lived out in that new section, in the large house then owned by the late Charles C. Currens. We had no fine streets and pavements then—only a walk along where the fine lawns are now, on the right hand side of the street, going toward the Fair Grounds, and the mud hub deep during the Spring season, after the frost was

And my-well, I cannot say visitsto the place I worked for 23 years—the Carroll Record Office—I could rather say spent most of my there. The boys there sure tried to make we welcome, in spite of the "No admittance" sign on the door of the work room, and I enjoyed it hugelyespecially seeing a minister working the old mailing machine I had charge of in the old days and he did a good

Well, the visit has been made and is but a memory. I hope the same fate does not await me that did a brother of mine who made me a visit in 1935, and expressed the wish that he could sit and think of the pleasant time he had while here. He passed on a few months after the visit, I hoping the same thing does not hap-pen to me, but only Providence knows whether that hope and wish will come

In closing I again want to thank the people of Taneytown—all them—for the kind reception I received, and if in the kindness of the same Providence I ever get back to the old town, I hope that you may all be there greet me, and make me feel at home as much as you did this time. And if we never meet again in this world, I'll say goodbye and may the best of luck attend you. May all of your boys who are working for Uncle Sam come back safe, and may peace again bring them back soon. Having sons and grandsons in the same service, we can sympathize with you in your regrets that they have to be engaged in such a terrible occupation.

This being a personal letter rather than a news one, maybe I have used too many "I's," but I know you will excuse me.

CHILDREN'S AID

The 14th, annual financial campaign of Carroll County Children's Aid Society will officially open on Saturday, Oct. 3, at the Campaign Outing. This outing is an annual affair and as usual will be held at the Westminster Riding Club. It will begin at 2 o'clock. Those expected to be present include all campaign workers and district chairmen, solicitors, foster parents and children, and any interested citizens who wish to attend Campaign workers are urged to attend this meeting as all campaign material will be distributed and final instructions given.

States Attorney Donald C. Sponseller has very graciously and willingly consented to serve ac County Campaign Chairman. Serving with him are Mrs. Samuel Bare, Mrs. Carroll Shunk, Mr. Ralph Hoffman, Mrs. Henry Ackley, Mrs. David Taylor and Mrs. Pearre Wantz, Jr.

The Children's Aid will make a drive for $5000 which amount is needed to continue the work of caring for Carroll County's neglectel and pendent children. It is more important than ever before to safe guard our children. In "A Children's Charter" adopted by the U. S. Children's Bureau Commission we read (Children's must be safe-guarded—and they can be safeguarded—in the midst of this total war so that they can live and share in the future free world. They must be nourished, sheltered, and protected even in the stress of war production so that they will be strong to carry forward a just and lasting

A strong Japanese naval force, including battleships and cruisers, was attacked by Army bombers northeast of Tulagi, with possible hits on two battleships, the Navy reported Sept. 19. After the attack, the Jap fleet turned and fled northward. U. S. Marines continued to hold their positions in the Selement despite. tions in the Solomons despite constant air attacks from the enemy and successful landings of small numbers of enemy troops and supplies. U.S. planes destroyed 41 more enemy planes in the Solomons fighting. Army planes in several raids on Japanese—held Kiska in the Aleutians destroyed many installations and inflicted the following damage: two minesweepers sunk, six ships damaged, 500 troops killed, seven large and small planes destroyed. Two U. S. planes were lost in a collision.

Army headquarters in London announced a force of American para-chute troops have been in Britain ome time undergoing intensive training. Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet Nimitz said the December 7 damage to Pearl Harbor has been repaired "far beyond expecta-tions." The Navy announced the air-Pipe Creek Methodist Charge, Rev. News of the Yorktown's sinking was withheld, the Navy said, because the enemy possibly was not aware of it. The Navy also announced three more United Nations merchant ships were sunk by enemy subs in August.

"Three-fourths of the nation faces the prospect of uncomfortably cold homes this winter," Price Administrator Henderson said in announcing coupon rationing of fuel oil which will reduce consumption by 25 percent. Machinery for the program will be set up by October 15. The area affected includes the 17 Eastern States and the District of Columbia, where gasoline rationing is already in effect, as well as Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas. Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Kentucky.

The Office of Price Administration said apartment houses and commercial, industrial and institutional establishments able to convert oil burning furnaces to coal, but which refuse to do so, will be denied fuel oil rations. Only hospitals, where such a move would present serious health hazards, will be excepted. Special provisions will be made in the rationng program for sections of the co try with "unusual" climate. The OPA said consumers in the rationed area may fill their tanks up to 275 gallons between now and September 30. but oil purchased during this time will be deducted from their allotments for the entire heating season.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard, acting on authority from Mr. Henderson, issued a temporary order to ration new farm machinery and equip-ment, appointing Fred S. Wallace, AAA Administrator, to administer the program at the national level. OPA placed a printing order for the first issue of 150 million "all-purpose' ration books. to be called War Ration Book No. 2 designed for rationing any article or commodity, and to be distributed throughout the nation probably before Christmas. War Manpower Chairman McNutt said he considers adoption of national service legislation inevitable in order to place talents where they will best serve the war effort. The mere existence of power to force an individual to serve where he is most useful is probably all that will be necessary.he said. Labor shortages are becoming more acute and now exist in 35 centers of war production, he reported. Selective Service Hershey said that to keen production going and at the same time furnish men for the armed forces, industry should establish now an orderly replacement program.

The WPA and the U.S. Employment Service set up a system whereby capable, certified persons on WPA rolls will be directed to jobs in industry and agriculture as needed. Approximately 850,000 persons were employed or awaiting asignment to WPA projects July 1-20 percent of the total active file of the Employment Service

At the request of WPB Chairman Nelson, the Defense Plant Corporation authorized Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, to construct three giant experimental cargo planes at a cost of $18,000,000. The first is expected to be completed in 15 months, the second in 20 months, and the third in 25 months. Mr. Kaiser also was asked to draw up plans for a factory in which the planes could be produced in volume in the event they are needed. The Senate passed and sent to Machine tool output in July exceeded a year ago by 96%. A total of 28.300 new machine tool units were private transportation facilities for the carrying of Federal employees and war workers to and from their jobs—only, however, when existing facilities are entirely inadequate.

Price Administrator Henderson said if farm prices are allowed to rise under existing price regulations the cost of food to the American people will be increased by two billion dol-lars in the remainder of this year. Agriculture Secretary Wickard said Gen. MacArthur's Australian head-quarters reported September 21 that Australian troops have cleaned out

The OPA announced it will place its first ceilings on fruit at the producer stage on dried prunes and raisins.

War Secretary Stimson told his press conference that the health of the Army in training in the U.S. is better than ever before during war time, and it is expected the general hospital admission rate will be about percent lower in 1942 than in 1941. Throughout 1941 and so far this year, the death rate has been the lowest in the history of the Army. Through the Army Administration Officer Candidate School, enlisted men who have been accepted for limited service and enlisted men between the ages of 45 and 50 may receive commissions and if they have equal qualifications, they will be given preference over men eligible for combat duty, the War Department said.

Selective Service Director Hershey said the size of the Army this year has been increased from the 4,500,000 total announced as the 1942 objective by Chief of Staff Marshall in June. Gen. Hershey said he expected married men with children would be call ed "the last quarter of 1943 at the very earliest, but I would like to hedge to the extent that the Army's requirements may go up"; 18 and 19year-olds must be drafted next year, or 1,000,000 or 1.500,000 family men will be taken; and it is expected unmarried men with dependents will be called this year.

One of the best ways to know a man and learn to appreciate his good qualities is to work with him for a common cause. When those soldiers and sailors and flyers of ours come home again, every single one of them is going to be a better citizen because he has lived and worked with "buddies" from all walks of life. He will have learned Kyes that the other fellow has some mighty admirable traits, once you get to know him.

Society in our modern world is group rather than individualistic society. We are through with being isolationists at home as well as abroad. In the future, we shall have to recognize, more and more, that each of us is a member of a nation or a state or a community -a political unit, or a school or some kind of a mutual welfare association.

Our group, no matter what class it seems to belong to, must be based on the idea that no one person shall have all of the advan tages. Each member must have at least the opportunity to gain for himself a full share of the benefits the group affords for all.

Old-time prejudices and traditions, and old habits of thinking and living, tend to disappear under war conditions. For war is necessarily a community effort, where each man must merge his own selfish interests with the interests of all. One of the few good things about war is that it makes for unity—in a people or a nation.

Just consider for a moment the organized group activities that have sprung into being diving the past few months!

Every community has its bond and stamp drives, its Red Cross work, its organized scrap collections, its part in the USO, its workin Civilian Defense.

Agricultural machinery clinics. community gardens, and Government-inspired county activities are bringing us all closer together. And we have the 4H Clubs, the FFA, the Boy and Girl Scouts, to help mold the characters and ideals of our future leaders.

Farmers are going to their elected and appointed officials, and to their own organizations such as the Grange and the Farm Bureau for help and advice, more than ever before.

We are beginning to see that the basic reason for Government is not to rule over us, but to help us.

At no period in the history of our country have we ever had more reasons and more occasions for being together with our neigh-

The Early Days

VIC YARDMAN

Associated Newspapers-WNU Features.

66 HE Rusty Gulch lynching of the Sam Larrigan kid-napers," Tom Trainor was saying, "typifies the spirit of the old West. The spirit of the people who came out here and built an empire out of a wilderness."

Tom paused reflectively, and rolled a cigarette, lighted it, and blew smoke rings at the ceiling of his tiny adobe office.

That's the way those old pioneers of the early days handled things (he went on). If the law didn't mete out justice, folks took matters into their own hands. And it was by resorting to this method that the little wilderness settlements survived and became flourishing cities; that the honest folks triumphed and crime was suppressed.

Of course the thing was not accomplished without bloodshed and loss of life, but the victory was worth the sacrifice, for it meant progress, and progress was our watchword in those days.

Sheriff Hollis Barnard survived probably longer than any of the corrupt law upholders. But that's because Sheriff Hollis was shrewd and smart, as quick mentally as he was with his gun. And it wasn't until after Sheriff Barnard had been in office two years, and reaped a rich harvest for himself at the expense of the taxpayers, that folks began to get suspicious. And it wasn't until long after that that anything definite was proved.

Sheriff Barnard, it turned out later, was working hand in glove with a band of outlaw desperadoes led by the notorious Cy Morrison. Cy and his gang of cutthroats had been terrorizing and pillaging the ranch ers of the whole Salano valley for quite a while. Folks were getting fed up with him, and demanded something be done about it.

That is why they elected Hollis Barnard to the office of Sheriff. They figured he was dead set against crime and corruption; they figured on him being the fastest man in the country on the draw; they figured he had the courage and the spirit necessary to the job.

And so they elected Hollis and Hollis set out to establish law and order in the Salano valley. But it wasn't until a year later that he made his first arrest. It came out later that the arrest was made because those who had elected Hollis were beginning to complain of his failure in the capacity of sheriff and were threatening to put in a new And that wasn't at all what Hollis Barnard wanted.

And so, following the murder of a rancher and the plundering of his house, Hollis arrested two of Cy Morrison's henchmen, Buck Mercer and Hitch Crane, and installed them in the jail at Big Springs. There was talk that night of a lynching, because the rancher who had been murdered was well liked, and it was time, said folks, that Cy Morrison's gang was taught a lesson.

But Hollis wouldn't stand for a lynching. He made a great talk about his duty as a law officer and how he had to protect his prisoners, and backed up what he said by exhibiting a sawed-off shotgun and a couple of six-shooters.

So the lynching party dispersed and the next day Hollis set out for the county seat with his prisoners. Toward mid-afternoon his horse came loping back to town, riderless. Alarmed, a group of citizens galloped out on the trail. They met Hollis coming in on foot, a nasty wound on his forehead and a story to tell of how Cy Morrison's gang had swooped down on him, taken his prisoners and he, Hollis, had escaped with his life, only after a running battle, in which three of the desperadoes had bit the dust as a result of the sheriff's accurate shoot-

Of course no one could blame Hollis very much. As a matter of fact folks were heartily sympathetic, and complimented him on his fine marksmanship. A month later two cowboys from the S Bar 4 outfit were slain when they resisted some of the Morrison gang, who were conducting a rustling expedition. The honest folks began to grumble and demand that Hollis do something about it.

Hollis gathered a posse about him and rode into the hills, but without success. Morrison's hiding place was too cleverly concealed to be thus easily located.

Another two months passed, and then one day a cowboy from the Silver Horse ranch rode into town on a lather-streaked pony and announced that his boss, Old Jed Nason, had been murdered by Cy Morrison. This was the spark that ignited the fuse, for Old Jed was prominent in the valley and beloved by every-

Irate citizens demanded that Hollis Barnard do something or turn over his star. And Hollis chose to do something. He waited until the excitement caused by the Jed Nason killing had quieted down a bit, and then brought in a pair of prisoners, Johnny Streber and Smoky Lane, the former being Cy Morrison's righthand man. He installed them in the calaboose and announced that on the morrow he'd fetch 'em over to the county seat and lock 'em up.

But this time Hollis' smartness failed him. For he had figured that, as before, he could forestall the inevitable party of lynchers with speech-making, sawed-off shotguns and six-shooters. And he figured wrong. About midnight a group of fifty men appeared before the jail and demanded that Hollis turn over the prisoners. Hollis' face appeared at one of the iron-grated windows, and he began to make a speech. A gun barked and a bullet ricocheted off one of the iron bars close to Hollis' face. He withdrew hastily and a moment later the sawed-off barrel of his shotgun appeared at the win-

But the crowd had been expecting that to happen, and they were prepared. Twelve of them were holding, concealed, a battering ram. And the moment the shotgun appeared they started toward the jail door. The shotgun roared, but the crowd was moving pretty fast, and before much damage could be done had reached the jail door. Once, twice they drove the heavy fence post against the panels. Then the door gave way and they were inside.

Tom Trainor paused and crushed out his second cigarette. After a moment he continued: "There was a cottonwood tree right handy to the jail, the mob strung the prisoners up in short order. Only when the crowd fell away it was discovered three, instead of two bodies were suspended from the limb. The third was Sheriff Hollis Barnard.

"Yep, someone had become suspicious of the cuss, and when they broke into the jail and found he'd been playing cards with the two prisoners in the outer office, they began jumping to conclusions.

"The next day the citizens organized a posse on their own hook and rode into the hills. They spent a week combing every crevice and canyon, and one day they rode into a hidden valley and found a couple of cabins there and guessed they'd rison which was exactly what had happened.

"Only Cy wasn't among those captured. And none of the prisoners would tell where he could be found. That is, none but one. And this chap, a mere kid whom folks believed had got a wrong start in life by running away to join the outlaw gang, squealed only after he'd been promised his life (which promise, by the way, was kept). The kid told us that Cy Morrison sometimes went under the name of Hollis Barnard."

Best Way to Use Honey Honey can be substituted for sugar in most recipes if a few changes are made, according to Miss Lydia M. Tarrant, nutrition ex-"Honey is a natural sweet that can be used in baking, candy making, preserving foods, sweetening sauces, making frosting, or in any other recipe where cane sugar might be used," Miss Tarrant said. "In addition, it is more quickly absorbed and digested in the body each cup of honey used. However, cakes with chocolate, dates, raisins, nuts or dried fruits require the same amount of liquid when honey is used because these added ingredients absorb moisture. To counteract the acidity of honey, one-fourth to one-half teaspoon of soda should be used in addition to baking powder in all baking recipes. A lower temperature than usual should be used in baking because honey carmelizes quickly. To measure honey, Miss Tarrant recommends dipping the spoon or cup in water first, or using a spoon or cup in which fat has been meas-

JOSEPH: AN EXAMPLE OF FORGIVENESS

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 45:1-15; 47:11, 12. GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Ephesians 4:32.

Forgiveness, opening the way for the restoration of fellowship and the showing of kindness, brought the story of Joseph and his brethren to a happy ending. Under the good hand of God the story which began with tragedy is brought to a conclusion of blessing.

Following the earnest plea of Judah, the heart of Joseph could no longer withhold itself from the full expression of affection and devotion to his family.

I. Love Overcomes Fear (vv. 1-4). Joseph tenderly shielded the family troubles from the eyes and ears of strangers by sending out the Egyptians. It was the first step of consideration which paved the way for reconciliation. How often just the opposite is done-airing family affairs before the world, and humiliating those who may be in the wrong, thus making it difficult for them to admit their guilt.

Then, too, this was a moment too tender and delicate to be seen by outsiders. The tears of a strong man like Joseph mean a deep movement of spirit—a solemn and often a sacred moment.

It should also be noted that the brothers were afraid, and well they might be, because of their sin against Joseph. After almost 50 years these unrepentant men found themselves face to face with the one whom they had supposed they had disposed of, and they knew their sin had found them out. It always does, sooner or later, but inevitably.

How great and noble was the forgiving love of Joseph; an example to us, especially appropriate and needed in a world of hate and bit-

II. Grace Overrules Sin (vv. 5-8).

The guilt of these men was none the less and Joseph could not remove it, but he encouraged them by showing how God had used their evil devices to work out His own good pleasure. He can make the wrath of man to praise Him (Ps.

It is worth stressing again that in the very hour when the prospects for Joseph's future usefulness seemed ruined, God was opening the door to the greatest experiences of his life and was preparing him to serve the thousands whose lives were saved by his wisdom and ability in the years of famine.

Nothing is more important in the life of a child of God than to be yielded to His will, unmoved by circumstances, abiding His time, responding to His guidance whether it be by the opening or closing of doors, prosperity or adversity. And herein is the marvel of it all-even sin may be overruled by God's grace for His own glory. That does not invite anyone to sin that grace may abound (Rom. 6:1, 2), but it does offer encouragement to the one who has fallen, that God can redeem the years that the locust have eaten (Joel 2:25).

Our lesson also sets us an example of how true forgiveness acts, something we need. So often when forgiveness is asked or granted there is an "I can forgive but I can't forget" attitude, which means that while hostilities have ceased, at least temporarily, there is no real friendship or the disposition to show kindness. Is there any real forgiveness at all in such an attitude of heart and mind? We fear not.

III. Kindness Provides the Best (vv. 9-15; 47:11, 12).

It might have been enough to send food and a kind greeting with the brothers to their own land, but love does not seek the minimum expression of its feeling. It asks not how little; but how much can I give or Bringing his aged father and brothers into the land of plenty was not enough, Joseph also gave to them the "best of the land" (47:11). His thoughtful consideration in sending for his father (Gen. 46:5-7) was part of the same piece of kindness.

Joseph puts to shame the modern "hard-boiled" attitude toward needy and aged members of the family. In their eager and relentless pursuit of fame or riches, many ignore or trample upon the members of their own families. Often they are ashamed of the broken bodies, the humble apparel, the broken or uneducated speech of their parents. They fear lest their new-found friends in the circle of wealth and supposed "position" will think them strange or ridiculous. God pity the man or woman who is ashamed of a humble or aged father and mother! Joseph, who really had an exalted position gained by merit and by the blessing of God, never forgot his place before God as a son in the family and as a brother. Let us consider him and do likewise.

HYBRID CORN

Total

Richfield Gas:

Over 12,000 entries have been received in the annual national hybrid corn growing contest conducted by the DeKalb Agricultural Association, it was announced this week by Thos. H. Roberts, general manager of the association who said that entries in the contest all close October 1. He added that 16 corn growing states, two more than last year, are represented in the contest, the most states ever competing. County, state and national champions will be announced

The war has stimulated competition to grow more and better corn, Mr. Roberts said. Thousands of farmers are competing for hundreds of county championship cups, chests of silver, and other rewards and for the state championship trophies. The defending national champion

The derending national champion is Evan Sanderson, of Flora, Ind, who raised 173.03 bushels per acre on his contest plot in 1941. Woman's national champion is Mrs. Lillian Barger, of Rochester, Indiana, who had the remarkable yield of 130.04 bushels the heat work sweet turned in hy els, the best mark ever turned in by a woman in the contest. Both are determined to recapture high honors again this year, a difficult feat among so many entries. Mr. Sanderson's yield was over five times the national average yield per acre.

WE ARE AT WAR

We are at war—let's see it thru, There is much that each of us can do; A great real now on each depends, What we each do the end portends.

The Japs are at our very door, The Germans threaten now our shore; This not the time for Labor strife, Such things but threaten each one's life.

We must build Airplanes, Tanks and Guns-Nor hesitate for lack of funds-We'll send an army over there To knock out Hitler every where. What we now do may seal our fate, And if we fail, it may be too late, Let every citizen now take heed, Let Army, Navy take the lead. W. J. H. 8-15-42.

a Second Front!

EITHER WAY, IT'S YOUR DUTY TO BUY U.S. WAR BONDS NOW

It is not for us to argue for or against "a second battle front" in Europe or elsewhere. As "good soldiers all" that is a highly technical problem that we must leave to our generals and their expert and trusted advisers.

But, don't forget that each of us is, or should be, helping to fight this war, too .. "soldiers on the home front." Ours is the job of producing the sinews of war, the ships, tanks, guns, planes . . . or the money which makes an endless flow of these other "sinews" possible.

Are you buying all the U.S. War Savings Bonds you can?
