THE RED CROSS

Facts and Figures Regarding This Work

The 1944 War Fund goal is $200,-000,000, ninety percent of which goes directly to render service to those in the armed forces. In this national drive, each state, county and district has been assigned its quota. To Carroll County has been assigned a quota of $24,500, and to the Taneytown district $1800.

May we suggest that you decide now to give to the 1944 War Fund Drive, to give all that you can possibly afford, and then add some more

The Red Cross operates under congressional charter and international treaty, and is supported entirely by the public. In this war, the Red Cross is an auxiliary of the armed forces, and its activities girdle the globe. During the past twelve months the American Red Cross lists the following record of accomplishments: U. S. service men and women given personal aid—6,300,000; 5,000,pints of blood collected through the blood donor program which supported entirely by the Red Cross; 350 overseas clubs for service men and women: 50,000 nurses recruited for the army and navy; 65,000 volunteer nurses' aides trained; 15,000 survivals of disaster at sea aided; 5,300,000 prisoner of war packages prepared.
All these services and more were rendered during the past year, and now that the tempo of war has been stepped up and the demands upon the Red Cross services increase, it offers all the more reasons why you should give to the 1944 War Fund Drive to the limit of your ability. You will be contacted within the next few days by perhaps your neighbor, asking for your contribution. We know that you will be proud to contribute to this worthy cause.

Miss Dorothy Alexander rendered Spring" and "Serenade." The program was in charge of President Hesson, who introduced Lieutenant Governor Helman as the speaker of the evening. Lieutenant Governor spoke of the splendid record of the Taneytown Club in meeting and exceeding in 1943 its quota of new memberships, and in token of the achievement presented to the Club a banner of triumph from the Capital District. He called attention, also, to the responsibilities of Kiwanians generally in maintaining the morals of the organization and the individual members therof during the present crisis and pleaded for a spirit of loyalty in meeting the unusual condition of the present times and in planning for the work of Kiwanis in the better times to come.

The program next week will be in charge of the Committee on Attendance, Edgar H. Essig, Chairman. The speaker will be Rev. Leeming, Superintendent of the Hoffman Orphanage, who will address the Club on the subject of "Under-privileged Children.'

LETTER FROM CORPUS CHRISTI

Lt. Chas. O. Hesson Gives His Views on Different Subjects

The rest of the men in service from Taneytown have been putting me to shame when it comes to writing hone. After reading the "Detroit Letter" of Mr. Reid in the February 11th. edition of the Record in which he mentioned that if the folks couldn't find any thing of interest in his letter, that there was plenty of other material in the Record to compensate them. I think he has something there.

I don't know how many folks will be interested in what I have to say about Texas, Corpus Christi, and the Navy. So I will take Mr. Reid's lead and give it to you anyway. No doubt one will find very little difference in one will find very fittle difference in conditions, habits, and mode of living from one part of the country to another. After covering some forty of the forty eight states of our country, I find very little difference between one city or town in the east, control states or the west. The central states or the west. The major difference is in the density of population in the east and the lack of population in the central part of of population in the central part of the country. One can scarcely crit-icize the way the North, the South, the Mid-West or West does things; for to those people our ideas may be just as queer to them.

No doubt many are wondering what goes on in all these Naval Training Stations, and why so much time is spent on schooling. old story—if you want to teach a dog tricks, you have to know more than the dog. In this case the dog is Hitler and Tojo. They have trained for over twenty years to show us tricks, while we are only little more than two years at the job. The enemy is plenty good, ingenious, and his equipment is first class; and don't think it isn't. Our men are being trained fast and well. We are learning in six to twelve months the tricks of our enemies and besides that we are learning how to whip them at their own game.

Much of our fighting today is being coordinated by radio and radar equipment. We can throw shells from battleships at targets out of sight, and destroy that target. We can bomb targets from the air with no visual contact to the ground, and destroy our objective. We can be lost and find our positions, and return safely. All these things are delicate pieces of equipment and require skill for their use and their maintenance. That is what we are being trained to do. The accomplishment of our missions and our (Continued on Fourth Page)

-----REV. WM. E. ROOP IN YORK

Rev. and Mrs. William E. Roop, in company with their son, Rev. John D. Roop, Jr. and his wife, spent Sunday. Feb. 13, 1944, in York, Pa. By special request, they were called to witness, "The Burning of the Mortgage," on the Madison Avenue Church of the Brethren, located in the city of York. Eight years ago, this congregation, in the purchase and equipment of this, one of the cities finest located properties, placed a mortgage of ten thousand dollars. Since that time, the congregation has grown marvelously, and now numbers between four and five hundred members.

Rev. M. A. Jacobs, who is an adept, in organization and evangelism, has been their pastor, during the past eight years. Pastor Jacobs presided at the different services of the day. He held the mortgage firmly in his hands in his hands, over a large metal waiter, during its being burnt, until the last fragment in flames was dropped into ashes. Just before the burning, two stalwart custodians of the finance, stepped upon the platform with long white candles, soon aflame, and touched off this legal document, as an arson would do. In an interim before the burning, the Rev. Jacobs had the entire large audience to stand. in gratitude to those who had made the mortgage loan. At the same time, warm gratitude was extended, publicly, to all who believed in this adventurous, necessary undertaking, and in these short years, helped to pay off the entire indebtedness, and made possible, the annihilation, of this legal paper today; Rev. Chauncey June. F. Trimmer, the pastor's assistant, Ser was with the pastor, on the rostrum,

In the morning of the same day, after Sunday School, Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser, of Elizabethtown College Faculty, preached an excellent and very fitting sermon, on, "The Challenge of Lengthened Cords."

The Roop family were pre-invited to dinner, in their niece and nephew's splendid home on West King Street; the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jacobs. They further visited, with another nephew Mr. Paul Long, a member of a galvanized roofing concern; and also, the President of the York County Bee Association. He has just recovered from a long spell of sickness.

Returning to Westminster in the evening, they made a pastoral visit, to Mrs. Ann Yingling, who is sick; the mother of Mr. Wm. B. Yingling Cashier of the First National Bank, of Westminster. Rev. and Mrs. John D. Roop, Jr., of Linwood, visited their uncle, Elmer P. Pfoutz, who lives on Pennsylvania Avenue, and is

RATION TOKENS

Will Make Their Appearance February 27

The bankers of Carroll County were in strong attendance at a meeting held at the Rationing Board of-fice in Westminster with regard to the new program of ration tokens. The meeting was called to order by Landon C. Burns, who in turn intro-duced Mr. J. Allison Ballenger, who spoke about the new plan of ration tokens. Mr. Ballenger emphasized the saving this plan would result in with regard to the cost of printing In less than two years individuals have used almost pected. three ration books, whereby under Jones this plan the War Ration Book Four will last approximately two years. The greatest savings though is with the consumer, store and bank, or in other words, all people who handle rationing. He informed the bankers that this plan will go into effect on February 27, and they were to be used mostly in making change. The floor was then open for questitons, which were answered in a satisfactory manner. The meeting was adtory manner. The journed at 9 P. M.

O. C. Reynolds, Jr., Chief Clerk of the local War Price and Ration Board, is calling the public's attention to the new ration token plan, which goes into effect on February 27. In War Book Four the red A8, B8, and C8 stamps will be valid on February 27 for 10 points each, and will expire on May 20. In War Book Four, the blue stamps A8, B8, C8, D8 and E8 will become valid on February 27 for 10 points each, and will expire on May 30. In most cases consumers will begin to receive in change the ration tokens which may be spent at any time as they have no expiration date.

TO REVIEW FARMER DEFERMENTS

Local Selective Service Boards have been ordered to review promptly deferments of agricultural workers because of the sharp curtailment of available manpower for the armed forces, Selective Service announced. 'It is not expected that local boards will defer or continue to defer a registrants as necessary to and regularly engaged in agriculture unless by his own personal and direct efforts produces 16 or more war units each year", Selective Service asserted. About 1,700,000 men in agricuulture were deferred in Class II-c and Class III-c of January 1, 1944. Of this total, 400,000 are single men below 22 years of age and more than one million are non-fathers. In all other war production and war supporting activities less than 125,000 non-fathers below the age of 22 were deferred

THE INCOME TAX BLANK EXPLAINED

The Task Made Easier by Following Instructions

ample of step-by-step procedure in filling out Income Tax Form 1040A: John J. Jones filled out his income tax return the other day and found out it was a lot easier than he ex-

Jones is a clerk. He makes $50 a week. He has a wife and one small child.

Because his income is less than $3,000, he found he could use the short form of income tax blank, the one called 1040A. The short form was written especially for people like Jones, who haven't large incomes or complicated business affairs comes or complicated business affairs On this form, you don't have to figure deductions and things like that because the form gives you credit for an average amount of them. If you are like Jones, maybe it would help you with your own income tax return to see how he did it, step by step.

First Jones saved himself a lot of trouble by reading the instructions and the form carefully. Second, Jones made it easy by getting together the figures he would need.

Here are the figures he collected.

a. The amount of his 1943 wages and the amount of income tax and victory tax taken out of his wages by his employer. He got both of these figures from his employer on a receipt (Form W-2) which the law says your employer must give you.

b. The amount of his other income. Jones had some money in a savings account and he made a note of how much interest the bank paid or credited him last year.
c. The amount of his 1942 tax and how much he paid on it. Jones copied these figures from the slip (Form 1125) which was mailed him by the Collector of Internal Revenue. Now, Jones was ready to fill out his return. He put down his name, address, occupation and social security number. Now let's follow what he did according to the numbers on the return

Item 1-That's wages and other kinds of pay. Jones earned $50 a week last year, working as a clerk for the Henry Smith Company in his home town. Of course, there were a lot of things such as war bonds, taxes and union dues deducted from his paycheck every week, but Jones had to put down the full amount of his wages, which came to $2,600, opposite the name of his employer.

Item 2—Here he put down the $25 interest he received on his savings. Incidentally, Jones owns war bonds, but unless you elect to accrue bond interest you don't have to figure the cooperation of the Army and Navy

Item4—Jones has a young daughter, named Mary, so he wrote her name down and, as the form directs, wrote his credit of $385 over in the money column.

Item 5—He subtracted the credit

he got for Mary from the last figure. Item 6—He turned over the form and looked over the boxes at the top of the page to see which one fit him. No. 4 was "it", and he put a check mark there. That meant that Jones would find his income tax in column of the table. C of the table. Jone's figure in Item 5 on the front page was $2,240. He looked in the table for a line where that figure would fit. He found a line which said "over $2,225 but not over $2,250," and then looked across to Column C, where it said $159. That is Jones' income tax and he wrote it in Item 6 on the front page. Item 7—This time, Jones had to do some figuring at the bottom of the back page, where it says "victory tax." On line "a" he copied the figure he had in Item 3 on the other side, which was $2,625. On line "b" he put his victory tax exemption of $624. Then he subtracted and put the difference of $2,001 on line "c". Then Jones noticed the two-line table of percentages, found the per-centage which fit him (married, one dependent), and put a circle around it. His percentage was 2.9. He was a little rusty on decimals, so he looked in the examples to see how to multiply. He found he had to multiply $2,001 by .029, and again the examples helped him move the deci-(Continued on Fourth Page)

Miss Meehan said there is another hidden treasure we must look for—a good breakfast. We must eat the kind of breakfast which provides us with the nourishment we need to perform our daily tasks-not the sweet

SPECIAL SESSION

Maryland Legislature Will Meet in March

Governor Herbert R. O'Conor will call Maryland's General Assembly into special session during the week of March 6, to effect necessary revision of the State's election laws needed The Bureau of Internal Revenue has made available the following example of step-by-step procedure in filling out Income Tay Form 14404. ments until April 1, 1945, he announced Saturday in a broadcast over Radio Station WBAL.

Other announcements of vital interest to Marylanders of every section were to the effect that the State not only was ready to contribute another $1,000,000. for teachers' salary payments for the emergency, but that he contemplated further adjustments for those State employees whose situation had not been improved materially under the Standard Salary System.

As a move towards combating Juer Atkinson and Judge Charles E. Moylan of the Juvenile Court of Baltimore City to establish Boys' Clubs under Police supervision in the district police stations of the city, and, if suc-cessful, similar clubs will be formed in the counties. The Salvation Army and Boy Scouts are cooperating in the movement, he said.

As an aid to the many returning

Servicemen who are now being mustered out, the Governor announced that additional funds would be allotted the Maryland Veterans' Commission, to permit addition of Service Officers as needed in the counties; and that he would name a State-wide Advisory Council on Veterans' quesetions, to co ordinate efforts of the various agencies operating in that field.

In his discussion of the absentee voting question, Governor O'Conor recalled that "Continuously, since last fall, we have been in close touch with this situation. My announced policy has been that members of the armed forces should have the opportunity of voting, no matter where they were serving abroad. In a previous radio broadcast, I urged that arrangements be made for a Federal-State plan for soldier voting. I further suggested that the registration laws of our State be amended to permit servicemen otherwise qualified to be listed on the rolls without complying with the regular requirements

"Despite the fact that legislation has been pending in Congress since last October, there has been no final decision in Washington. The various developments, the proposals and counter-proposals, and the changing attitudes combine to show that we in Maryland would have been unwise to have rushed ahead and passed a State law hurridely, conditional upon a Federal system then thought to be likely of adoption. The issues as to Congressional action seem to be narrowed down to two possibilities, one, that Congress will pass a bill requiring the interest on war bonds until you cash them or they mature.

Item 3—He added the $2,600 and qualification of voters and the validity of ballots. under their sovereign rights

> "In either event it appears necessary for the State of Maryland to enact further legislation in order to safeguard the voting rights of those in the service. I intend to call such a session to meet possibly during the week of March 6th unless special reasons develop before that time to make it inadvisable."

DISPOSAL OF WAR SURPLUSES

On its industrial side, total war operates on the principle of maximum production within the shortest time possible and cost is a secondary consideration. The nation is fighting for its survival, and when the old homestead is ablaze one usually does not stop to haggle over the price of fire-

Consequently, in this war as in the other World War, present indications are that, in numerous lines of goods, there will be immense surpluses for which the government will have no further use. The problem is what to do with them. There are at least four parties with an interest, though not necessarily an equal interest, in the handling of this matter: the government, the big manufacturer, the small businessman and the general public who foot the bills in one form

TAX BARGAINS

Americans have always had a reputation for seeing the funny side of things-even very serious things.

That's why most of us can laugh at the story of the man who went bargain hunting among internal revenue advisers to get the best figure he could on what he actually owed the heard the story the first adviser told over the same data presented to the other two, figured that he was entitled to a $30 refund. It makes a good story, but it also throws the limelight on a situation which should not be allowed to exist in our country. If the men trained can an untrained wage earner hope to file a correct income tax return?

It is high time that Congress takes this tax business out of the realm of higher mathematics and variable simple tax law which we can all understand. It's bad enough to have to pay the big taxes which we are obtained by the same with the subscriber, on or beefore the 4th day of September, next; they may otherwise by law pe excluded from all benefits of said estate. they have fought through bitter cold derstand. It's bad enough to have ligated to pay these days without having to shut our eyes and try to figure what we owe by guess-work. Valley Register.

The House conferees seem (all, which is to come home again. — convinced there is no Constitutional way in which to use a Fderal ballot, while Senate conferes are aware that provision only of State ballots will exclude millions of fighting Americans from voting.

It may be that in the present instance some Congressmen who are able to overcome their inclination toward upholding States rights in the interests of letting the soldiers vote are yet unable to see how a Federal not necessary to point out that they make the mistake of regarding the law as static, fixed, unmovable, when as a matter of fact law is under constant review.

For in the matter of soldiers' vote the letter of the law can be squared with justice, and we doubt whether the justice of permitting soldier-citizens to vote by means of a simple, uniform ballot can be questioned. Any shadow of doubt certainly should be removed by permitting the individual States to pass upon the qualifications of the voters and to count the ballots.—Christian Science Monitor.

USE CARE IN PICKING NAMES FOR CHILDREN

In olden days names were given to fit personalities, but nowadays in many cases parents give their children names that don't suit their individual characters. # PARTY LINES are PATRIOTIC LINES

The copper that used to go into new telephone lines is now going into war weapons. This means we must make the most of the lines we now, have.

Thus, party lines become a part of the all-out war effort—they take on a new name-PATRIOTIC LINES.

You will find that "Patriotic-line" telephone service is good telephone service it all users will follow these simple rules:

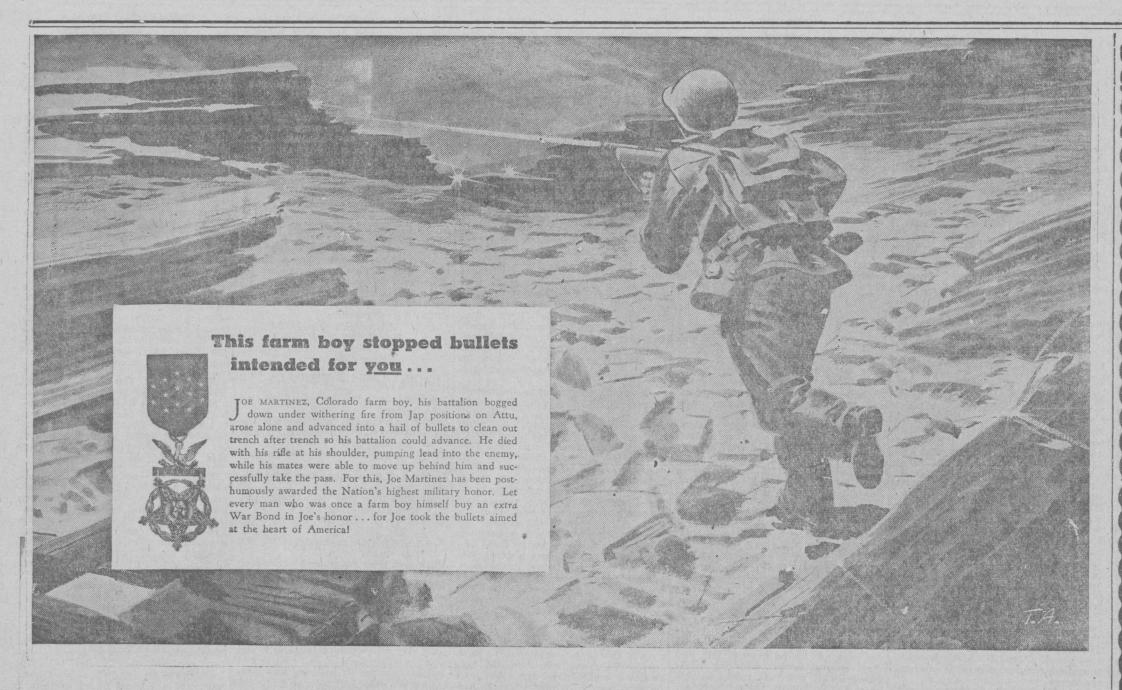

- If another is using the line, hang up gently and wait a reasonable time before trying again.
- Make way for your neighbor by being as brief as you can on your calls.
- Avoid making a number of calls in succession.

Replace the receiver carefully after each call so as not to prevent others from using the line.

The 4th WAR LOAN is your opportunity to do something about it!

It's Time to Take the Offensive. Your government has the men it needs to do the job in the front lines—great men all! But it doesn't have the money it needs, by a long way. That's your job! And the immediate task is the Fourth War Loan—Your chance to take the offensive not only in support of the men who are fighting and dying for you and your loved ones, but also in support of your own future!

What are you going to do about a wornout tractor, about repairing fences and buildings, about replacing depreciated machinery and equipment? Will you be ready with money in the bank when these things are needed?

You will if you take the offensive now! Put every extra dollar into U. S. War Bonds — the best form of financial reserve ever offered you. Think! You are asked to make a sound and prudent investment — not a sacrifice!

When Your Boy Comes Home

Will your boy come back to a farm or ranch with no financial reserves, no future? Or will you greet him at the gate with a bundle of War Savings Bonds — for working capital, new machinery, better buildings? And if your children are going to college, why not be sure they get there by buying today the Bonds that will pay the cost.

No need, really, to tell an up-to-date farmer or rancher what he needs financial reserves for. You know more reasons than anyone else can enumerate for setting aside extra dollars to meet the future. Now is your chance to do it . . . and help fight the war, too!

Go on the offensive! Buy all the Bonds you can - today!

You Never Get Less Than You Lend! And you get 1/3 more than you invest. When held 10 years, War Bonds yield 2.9% interest compounded semi-annually. You get back $4 for every $3.

Cash When You Need It. If an emergency comes along, your War Bonds are like money in the bank. Uncle Sam will redeem them in cash—at full purchase price—any time after you've held them 60 days. Don't cash them unless you have to. And don't hold back a single dollar unnecessarily from the purchase of War Bonds. YOUR HELP IS NEEDED.

Facts About War Bonds (Series E)
You can buy War Bonds from your bank, postmaster, mail carrier or Production Credit Association. Don't wait. Do it by mail if you can't get to town!

DETROIT LETTER

In our mail on the 16th we received an envelope that, by the way it was addressed, took us back to the days when youngsters (and older persons, too) took advantage of St. tine's day, to send to any one whom they did not particularly claim as a dear friend, or maybe merely as a joke to one of their friends a comic valentine. The address was printed in letters nearly a half inch high, and we were sure that one of our eronies, of whom there are only a few left, had taken this method of reminding us of that old custom, but on opening it, we found that it contained clippings from several papers—our own letter to the Record of February 4th, the letter of Pegler in a daily which has a large circulation around Taneytown, and an article clipped from what appeared a trade paper.

The intention of these clippings was, no doubt, to inform me that I had wrongly accused the occupant of the White House of being a great friend of the Union Racketeers out here and elsewhere. The sender of these clippings seemed to think that the new tax bill is already a law, but we want to assure him that so far it has been spoken of as only "pending," and to date we have not seen anything that leads us to the knowledge that it has been signed. always write our articles nearly a week in advance to the date of publication of the Record, and it maybe that it will be signed by the time this gets into print, but in the mean time we must stick to the statement made in our article, that the present Chief Executive is regarded as the dear friend of these union leaders, and has always coddled them.

Well, we will have to wait and see what will happen. If we had received our copy of the daily referred to above, and read Mr. Pegler's article, and placing new ones along our highway. One wonders where such tall straight poles grow.

"Political ownership or management of business, or agriculture, or commerce, has no place in our free spending some time with home after spending some time with home after articles, and have also said that these opinions expressed are our own, and do not want our unknown friend to that he can call our attention to any mistakes we make, under their signature, and not in such a round-about way as was done this time. The people who live along the Michigan shore of that lake are won-dering what has become of the an-nual invasion of their shores by the immense schools of Smelt, a small fish which was introduced into those waters in 1912, and which had increased so greatly that up to last Spring, the catch has amounted to about five million pounds annually. People from all over the state would take part in the great catch of these tatsy fish, and it is estimated that more than half of this catch would be made by amateur fisherman, who did not need any special equipment to do their fishing, as besides nets, dish pans, tubs, large dippers, etc., were used. The commercial fisherman also took advantage of this opportunity to add to their income, and the markets, not only of Michigan, but of many other states were well supplied

But last year something happened, a mystery that the expert fisherman have not as yet solved. There was almost no run of smelt, and the shores of the lake were strewn with millions of pounds of dead fish. This scarcity of these small fish is not only noticeable in the Great Lakes, but also in smaller lakes into which they had been introduced. The sporting columns of the daily papers tell us that it takes about two years for these fish to mature and express the fear that they may never come back in as great numbers as they did before, which would prove a great loss to those fishermen who have been looking forward each Spring to this great addition to their income as the State yield has, for some years past, been second to all fish caught. Reading about this makes me think of the great flocks of wild, or passenger pigeons that only a few us old timers can remember. Back in the '70's, we lived along the Littlestown and Gettysburg pike and near us was a strip of forest, the principal trees of which were oaks of different varieties-white, black and pin oak. I distinctly remember the large flocks of these birds that would fly over these "woods" as we called them, and how many of them would stop to feed on the acorns, while the great majority would continue on their flight to their nesting grounds further South. Every man or boy in the neighborhood that could scare up a gun would be out in the woods, trying to get some pigeons for a potpie, and the nearby towns would also contribute their quota of hunters. But all at once the birds ceased coming, just as the smelt are doing now, and we did not hear anything about them until we came out here, when old men told us about them, and judging by what they said, the flocks were much larger than those which flew over where we lived—so large, they said, that in passing over they would hide the sun. Down South, where they nested, as we said before, men and boys would not take the trouble to use guns, but would go into their nesting places and kill the old birds on their nests with clubs, leaving the young ones to starve, and many barrels of these birds were sent to the eastern markets. But the end came to this, and we read some time ago that the last survivor of all these great flights had died in a Cincinnatti Zoo, wher it had been kept as a specimen of what was conceded an extinct species of bird. Maybe measures will be taken to keep the Smelt from the fate that the wild pigeons met. February is keeping up its record of having had more snow this winter than all the rest of the months preceding it, put together. We have had more than eight inches the past two weeks, and as we write, the prospect is good for more. But at I that we are not experiencing such deep snows as we did year after year when we lived "back home." JOHN J. REID.

Prepare for Shock Of Seeing Cripples

Families of Wounded Men Warned by Army Doctor.

ALGIERS. - A straightforward warning to American families of the psychological shock of receiving into their homes crippled and wounded sons, brothers and husbands was given by Col. Joseph I. Martin of Rockford, Ill., surgeon of the Fifth army in Italy. The explanation, Colonel Martin said, is simply that the increased efficiency of army surgeons is saving men who in the past would have died. The use of land mines, booby traps and air-exploding bombs is increasing the number of maiming wounds, he went on, but now more of the victims live.

"The point must be brought home emphatically," Colonel Martin said. "It is an unfortunate psychological shock that awaits many families in the United States who after the war must give sympathy and consideration to their invalids.

"Medical men are not miracle workers. We can only do our utmost to save lives and prevent permanent disability to those under our care. The people must expect to see the results of the war."

He reminded laymen that a land mine often necessitated amputation and also caused "terrible damage" to face and arms.

"The war is not over with the signing of the armistice," he con-cluded. "These men whose lives we are saving will be soldiers as long as they live. Their fight won't have ended with their discharge from the service as disabled veterans. It will only begin.

"Above all, the folks back home must be preparing themselves to accept this sad part of our victory."

THE INCOME TAX

Item 8—He added the two taxes together and found the tax on his 1943 income was $217.03. Item 9—He already had made a note of the fact that his income tax for 1942 was $84.17, and he wrote it down here. Item 10-The figure in item 8 was bigger than the figure in item 9, so he put the item 8 figure of $217.03 Item 11—Since the item 9 figure was smaller, he put that figure in item 11-A. Next he had to figure three-fourths of $84.17, which $63.13. That's more than $50 so he put $63.13 in item 11-B. This was the forgiven part of his tax. Subtracting, he found his unforgiven

Item 12—By adding $217.03 and $21.04, Jones found his total tax was $238.07. That would be a lot of tax for Jones to pay all at one time, but now we have a pay-as-you-gosystem, and Jones soon found how that helps.

Item 13—From the figures he prepared before he started to fill out his return, Jones put down in Item 13-A the $171.60 tax his employer took the $171.60 tax his employer took out of his wages, and put down in Item 13-B the $42.09 he had paid on his 1942 tax. He didn't have anything to put down in Item 13-C because he didn't have to file a "declaration of estimated tax" last Sept. or December. So he added up the other two figures and found he had already paid $213.69 of his tax.

Item 14—That left the difference, $24.38, which is all Jones owed on account of his 1942 and 1943 taxes. Item 15-But Jones found he could postpone until next year what he owes up to one half of the $21.04 in Item 11-C. Half is $10.52 and he writes that in Item 15.

Item 16—That left $13.86, which all that Jones had to pay before March 15. Item 17-Jones didn't put anything here because he didn't have any refund coming to him.

Now, at the bottom of the page, Jones wrote the date, signed his name, and that was all there was to He put the return, a check for $13.86, and the statement (Form 1125) on his 1942 tax, in an envelope, mailed it to the Collector in his locality and he was square with Uncle

The average yield of Irish potatoes in the U. S. has increased from 112.6 bushels to 136 bushels per acre in the last 10 years. It is thought that this increase is partly due to the new varieties which have been introduced. One of these is the North Carolina "Sequoia."

Population Sag Perils Europe

Survey of Children's Health In Nazi-Occupied Lands Stresses Danger.

WASHINGTON .- Depopulation on a scale that threatens the power to recover is pictured in a pamphlet, "The Health of Children in Occupied Europe," issued by the international labor office, which has headquarters here.

Figures cited in the pamphlet show that excess of deaths over births in France in 1940 and 1941 resulted in a net population loss of 366,648. The population of Greece is said to have been reduced by 5 per cent, despite recent efforts at alleviation of the severe suffering there.

A death rate ten times as high as before the war is reported for the Jewish population in Warsaw in 1941, before persecution had reached full scope.

Among the 40 million children under 15 years of age estimated still to be alive in occupied Europe, the pamphlet says, vitality is sapped by a serious food shortage, aggravated by lack of clothing, shelter and fuel. Another shortage, soap, makes sanitation more difficult and accelerates the spread of disease.

Rationing to Continue. That food for Europe's children cannot be achieved by waving a magic wand is recognized with the quotation of the declaration of the United Nations conference on food and agriculture that "freedom from hunger can be achieved only by urgent and concerted efforts to economize consumption, to increase supplies, and distribute them to the best advantage."

These words, the pamphlet says, are a "recognition in abstract terms that certain restrictions must be established internationally to insure a fair distribution of the common stock," once the countries of Europe are liberated. In other words, for the occupied countries, the rationing systems introduced during the war would have to be carried over in modified form until national economies stabilize.

Specific shortages, usually of the food on which the nation depended most, are cited for each of the occupied countries. Food deterioration is named as an almost equal hazard to the health of children. Good flour is gone from the bread. In France and Belgium it is by law provided that the meat ration must contain 20 per cent bone. Milk is heavily skimmed. In France, cheese may not contain more than 30 per cent of fat. It is estimated that in the Netherlands the quality of food has deteriorated by 40 per cent in the course of the war. Improvement in Greece.

The one optimistic note in the pamphlet concerns Greece, where the whole population had been threatened with extinction until "a vast scale relief scheme" was extended in January, 1943, "to three million nersons w ration of 200 grams of bread, with a supplementary ration of 48 grams and also an issue of milk and dehydrated vegetables for children under 18 years of age.'

Attempts to meet the needs of little children, the pamphlet points out, have sometimes proved unfair to their older brothers and children. Whole milk has been reserved to small children and expectant and nursing mothers. The amount available to young children, if of good quality, would on the whole make up for other diet deficiencies.

This is not true of older children. Experiments in Belgium in 1941 show that the milk ration would maintain the level of 80 per cent of normal diet for children under 6; 50 to 70 per cent for children 6 to 14. and less than 40 per cent for adolescents.

Hastens Decay

Lime hastens the decay of organic material and speeds up the production of nitrates from it. It helps keep the phosphoric acid of fertilizers available to the crops for a much longer period than it would be otherwise. And, since the roots of plants grow much more deeply in well-limed soils, more of the natural supply of petash in the subsoil beeomes available for use.

Giant Carriers Try New Ideas

Bombers Can Use Decks of New 'Unsinkable' Ships Planned by Navy.

WASHINGTON. - The United States navy is looking forward to a period about two years hence-if the Pacific war lasts that long-when it will be able to test its new "unsinkable" giant carriers against the Japs, says the Milwaukee Jour-

There are five principal reasons, according to Rear Adm. Edward Lull Cochrane, chief of the bureau of ships, and other naval authorities, why the new 45,000-ton aircraft carriers, the first of which now is building, should be superior to any carriers now affoat. The reasons

1. Compartmentation. The carriers will not have to carry an excessively greater amount of machinery than the carriers of the 27,000ton Essex class; therefore, a great part of the extra space can be devoted to additional compartments. These compartments can be shut off in case of torpedo, bomb or shell damage to a specific area of the ship. Thus, the big carriers will stand a terrific amount of damage before they can be sunk.

New Arming Pattern. 2. Fire power. A somewhat revolutionary theory of arming the big carriers has been incorporated into the design. They will be able to offer more heavily concentrated antiaircraft fire; hit harder, and shoot farther. Designs call for this to be accomplished with a minimum of interference to operation of the carriers' planes. Navy authorities believe the armament pattern of the new carriers is far superior to the pattern of the Essex class.

3. Armor. As Navy Secretary Frank Knox pointed out in announcing that the navy was building 45, 000-ton carriers, the new giant flat tops will be more heavily armored than any existing American carrier. This armor will give the new carriers protection against certain types of damage equivalent to the armor protection on the navy's "inde-structible" new battleships. (This does not mean, however, that they will have the resistance of the battleships to all types of damage.)

4. Superdecks. Not only will the flight decks of the new carriers be a good bit longer and somewhat wider than the flight decks of the present carriers, but they will be heavier. This means that the 45,000tonners will support the weight of bigger planes.

Lessons From Doolittle.

5. Arresting gear. The arresting gear, which halts the landing of a plane on a carrier's deck, will be of a new and stronger type on the new carriers. The combination of this gear and the heavier, longer decks will make possible the use of twin engined bombers from the 45,000tonners. Knox pointed out that the new carriers would carry a new typ of twin engined bomber even larger than the B-25s which flew from the deck of the Hornet to bomb Tokyo and other Japanese centers. Mai. Gen. James H. Doolittle's bombers, however, did not attempt to return to the Hornet's deck, because the arresting gear would not have stopped them.

Naval authorities are careful to point out that, simply because the big carriers will accommodate giant planes, the navy is not committed to using twin engined bombers exclusively on the mammoth vessels. The 45,000-ton ships, on the basis of what is known about the 27,000-tonners, should carry approximately 50 per cent greater weight in planes. However, the navy intends to "fit the plane to the job." The big carriers may carry fighters, dive bombers Navy, Aleutian Islands, 1942-43." and torpedo planes, just as the present carriers do, as well as the bigger bombers.

Admiral Cochrane referred to the new carriers as "a compilation of does the actual writing while Jimthe knowledge of ship design we have my dictates. learned from the Essex class of carriers, and the North Carolina, South Dakota and Iowa classes of battleships.'

Quit Ship, Board It, Sail to Port

Submarine Fails to Wreck Liberty Ship.

WASHINGTON.—Another Liberty ship is back at her home port ready for more war duty, after taking a torpedo explosion and an accidental ramming by another torpedoed ship.

The SS James Smith, built by the Richmond, Calif., yard of Permanent Metals corporation was bound for Brazil when her convoy was attacked at night, the War Shipping administration reported. The torpedo blast killed six merchant seamen and five navy crewmen, showered wreckage on another Liberty ship some distance away, and "tore holes in the James Smith's deck that made it look like a perforated tin can," reported Cadet-Midshipman Donald F. Fennessey of Northampton, Mass.

The Smith got a gun into action, but the U-boat escaped. The vessel's master, Capt. William H. Aguilar of Vallejo, Calif., gave the order to abandon ship because the stern was completely wrecked and it seemed impossible for the vessel to

But it floated. A second torpedoed vessel was seen by survivors to crash blindly into the seemingly stricken ship, which still refused to

At daybreak, Captain Aguilar, 29 years old, ordered surviving members of his crew back aboard. They gave burial at sea to the dead. Then a naval patrol vessel picked up most of the crew and took the James Smith in tow to a West Indies port, a five day haul. With temporary repairs the battered vessel sailed for home under her own power. The merchantman is operated by the Matson Navigation company, and now is commanded by Capt. Bernard G. Kuckens of Redwood City, Calif., Captain Aguilar having been transferred. The ship is named for one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Lenten Menus

You can keep your menus interesting during Lent if you serve well-cooked, good combinations of favorite foods. Keep in mind the same balanced menu patterns that you use during the rest of the year so that the family will be well fed and happy. That pattern includes a good protein food such as fish, cheese or eggs. Add to this a supplementary nourishing food like macaroni, noodles or spaghetti and milk, and use plenty of vegetables in the diet.

These sample menus will give you an idea of what the balanced meal should consist:

Spaghetti with Mushroom and Tomato Soup Sauce Grapefruit and Endive Salad with French Dressing Mixed Pickles Pickled Beets Whole Wheat Rolls Pineapple Upside Down Cake

Beverage

Carrot Puffs Creamed Asparagus Chopped Spinach Salad Hot Yeast Rolls Lemon Chiffon Pie Beverage

Here are recipes for two of the main dishes in the above menus: Spaghetti with Mushroom and Tomato Soup Sauce.

(Serves 6) 1 8-ounce package of spaghetti 1 can condensed mushroom soup 1 can condensed tomato soup 1 soup can of water or milk Hard-cooked eggs

Combine soups with milk in top of double boiler. Cook until mixture is thoroughly heated. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and arrange on platter for serving. Garnish with quarters of hard-boiled eggs. The tomato-mushroom soup sauce may be served from a side dish or poured directly over spaghetti before serving.

Carrot Puffs. (Serves 8) 11/2 cups sifted flour 2 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt 2 eggs, separated

1 cup milk 11/2 cups grated carrots 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Beat egg yolks, add milk and stir into flour mixture. Add carrots and butter to flour mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Fill greased individual baking dishes % full. Bake in a moderately hot oven (425 degrees) 25 minutes. Serve with a cheese sauce.

NEWSPAPERS

My friend, the mail man, brings to my house about eighteen newspapers a week. The other day I got a notion into my head to figure out how much news that would amount to. That old notion of mine led into complications, but as near as I can make out the following is the results of my

Each newspaper contains on average of about fifteen pages. Each page has seven or eight columns. There are about one hundred and fifty lines to a column. That makes about nine hundred words, or three thousand seven hundred and fifty letters. If you go to the trouble of adding up all these figures you get fifteen thousand words per newspa-per; multiply that with eighteen, the number of newspapers I get, and you have two hundred and seventy thousand words. Some news, eh!

Now, if I had the time and patience Now, if I had the time and patience to pour through all that literature—and, if I had the ability to remember all that I read, I would have a pretty good education by the end of the year Yes siree! I'd be no dummy. A lot of "ifs" you say? Yes! but I mentioned them because they are important.

Take the first "if,"—"if I had the time and patience." You see, there are lot's of people that don't read beyond the headlines. I call them "headline hunters." It is true that headlines carry a lot of dynamite. If you are only seeking excitement headlines carry a lot of dynamite. If you are only seeking excitement that's where to look for it. As for me, I'm stuck on detail. I want to know who was at the dinner that was held during the day of the butchering of a three hundred and fifty pound hog on the farm of Silas Green in Possum Hollow. You don't find that information in the headlines. You got to read down into the fine print. got to read down into the fine print. Well, if it is hard on your eyes, get a pair of glasses. You need 'em

Now for the second "if" -"if I had the ability to remember." I suppose nobody in the whole world could learn all those two hundred and seventy thousand words by heart. And what's more nobody tries. All they aim to get is the thought. As soon as we learn that words are the expressions of ideas, then we have learned to read.

So you see those "ifs" are important. If I had the time and patience and the ability to remember, those eighteen newspapers the mail man brings to my door would do me some good. As it is—O well, I like to read them anyhow.

Colonel Bawk Out by Sergeant

Officer Obeys March Orders, Later Sees Joke of It.

NORFOLK, VA.-Two non-commissioned officers at nearby Fort Story are trying to make themselves as inconspicuous as possible these days.

It started with the arrival at the post of Lieut. Col. Leon J. Meyung, new group commander. According to the camp's public re-lations officer he took charge of a practice march and bivouac and was in such a hurry to reach the main line before his men, that he donned fatigue clothes, snatched up a rifle and helmet and headed for the south gate. His clothing did not show his rank.

Colonel Meyung's fatigue clothes looked exactly like those of any of his men. A sergeant spotted him as a tardy private.

"What in — are you waiting for?" he demanded. "Get in line." Colonel Meyung meekly puffed into line, alongside a corporal attached to the medical corps. " "You're kinda old to be going through this, ain't you, Pop?" the corporal asked. Colonel Meyung started to reveal his identity when the corporal smacked him on the

"Buck up, Pop. If the going gets too tough, I'll fix things for ya to ride in the ambulance.'

Colonel Meyung is holding no grudges. Although the experience was "rather trying," he chuckles about it now. The story was approved for publication by the colonel himself.

experience. It all happened one day when Lindquist and the other members of the crew of "Dinah Might" were returning to England from a bombing mission over France. Running into heavy enemy flak, one of the engines was shot out, the wings and cabin were filled with holes and a leaking gas line sprayed inflammable liquid over the fuselage and

Commercial Radio In 1903, long before most North

Americans knew of the great 20th century phenomenon, commercial radio began in Middle America. That year saw the start of Middle America's first station at Bocas del Toro, Panama. A few months later a similar station was begun at Port Limon, Costa Rica. During the next three years, three more stations were built, two in Nicaragua, and a terminal station in New Orleans, for relay of telegraph messages to Middle America from the United States.

JESUS PRESENTS HIMSELF AS THE MESSIAH

LESSON TEXT: Mark 11:1-10, 15-18.
GOLDEN TEXT: Again the high priest asked him, and said unto him, Art thou the Christ, the Son of the Blessed? And Jesus said, I am.—Mark 14:61, 62.

As our Lord entered upon the last week of His earthly ministry, the time had come for Him to present Himself officially to His people as their Messiah. As He did so, we observe that He then had and now has a right to claim all that we have and are, as well as to exercise judg-

I. His Right to Property (vv. 1-7). We are so prone to call our possessions our own, and to hold them for our selfish purposes. Just a moment's reflection makes us aware that we are but stewards holding our things, as we hold ourselves, for the use of God.

That means that the Lord need only send for what we have, and we should gladly yield it to Him. "The Lord hath need" is the only requisi-tion we need. He has absolute priority. And yet the very fact that He has need of us and what we have, dignifies our service or sacrifice on His behalf.

How surprising it was that the One who made and upholds all things (Col. 1:16, 17) should have to say, "The Lord hath need of him," in sending for a humble beast of burden. Yet therein lies a marvelous truth. He has graciously so ordered the universe that He has need of us and of our possessions.

Let us also learn the important lesson of unquestioning obedience taught in verse 4. "They went their way" to do what the Lord told them to do. How greatly simplified and glorified would be the lives of Christian people if they would thus obey

As He came riding into the city,

II. His Right to Praise (vv. 7-10) God says, "Him that offereth praise glorifieth me" (Ps. 50:23), and the believer recognizes that "praise is comely for the upright" (Ps. 33:1). Jesus is entirely worthy of the praise of every heart and Presenting Himself as their Messiah, Jesus received the enthusiastic acclaim of His disciples and friends. who were probably joined by others who were drawn by the excitement.

The Pharisees did not join in (see Luke 19:39, 40) nor did the city, not even knowing who He was (Matt. 21:10, 11). So it is today; some love and praise Him, some hate Him, others just ignoré Him. Of which

He gave Jerusalem and the nation | quagmires. a final opportunity to receive Him It was not yet too late, but it was their last chance. Such a time comes in the life of everyone of us. They rejected Him. Do we?

But even though some did reject, let us not forget that there were those who shouted, "Hosanna," who cast their garments down before Him and waved palms of victory and joy. Thank God for their holy enthusiasm. Pray God that we may have a little more of it.

III. His Right to Punish (vv. 15-

People like to hear about a God of love, one who knows their weakness, and is kind toward their infirmities. But we must not forget that God shows His love by a great and holy hatred of sin, and a desire to deliver us from that sin. This means that He must and will deal in drastic fashion with those who persist in their sin.

A second time He drove out from His Father's house those who had made it a place of merchandise, of commercialized thievery.

This is a majestic picture. The Son of God and Son of Man steps into the center of this unholy traffic and with mighty, holy indignation (not anger) drives it out. The people who had suffered long because of this religious racket, which paid a nice "cut" to the priests themselves (probably as a "gift" even as such things are managed now), were jubi-

We read in the same story in Matthew 21:12-22 that the boys who were in the temple (for such is doubtless the meaning of "children" in verse 15) were so delighted at this magnificent exercise of His divine authority that they broke out into "Hosannas," which really amounted to a holy "Hurrah."
Well, why not? Hurrah for our Lord! He will not tolerate iniquity even though it hides under the cloak of religion. He is not afraid to speak out and to act against sin and cor-

Possibly the church would reach a good many more men and boys in our day if it would step out in faith to fight the wrong and support the right. Then maybe the young men would shout, "Hurrah for the

The chief priests and scribes were afraid and displeased, and began to plot against Him. The passage in Matthew indicates that their anger was aroused both by the acts of Jesus and the praise of the boys.

Find Cooked Cull Beans Good Feed for Hogs

Raw beans are unpalatable for hogs and should be cooked before feeding. Cooking not only increases the palatability but also increases the digestibility.

Good results have been obtained by feeding two parts of grain to one part of cooked cull beans. If the hogs are on dry lot feeding, add some animal protein, such as meat meal or skim milk, as well as feeding from 5 to 10 per cent ground alfalfa, 1 per cent oyster shell and 1/4 per cent salt. Beans should be cooked separately and never cooked with the grain or any grain mixture.

Other types of livestock, such as cattle or sheep, utilize beans quite well without cooking. In fact, cooking does not add anything to their feeding value, but simply makes them more palatable for hogs.

For best results in feeding beans to cattle or sheep, add from 15 to 20 per cent ground cull beans to a grain ration. Experiments have shown that each ton of cull beans is equivalent in feed value to over a ton of alfalfa and nearly a ton of barley. Feeding results will not be satisfactory when beans are fed to either cattle or sheep in larger quantities than 15 or 20 per cent.

ATC Hauls Army Freight On Many World Lines

Typical of wartime developments in the air-cargo field is the Air Transport command of the U. army air forces. Until June, 1941, this organization did not exist. It was created for the simple chore of delivering completed lend-lease airplanes from factory to points of departure in the United States. The ATC entered 1943, however, with a network of air routes aggregating 90,000 miles, radiating from the United States to every part of the United Nations world.

ATC planes carry all sorts of flying freight. Mail to and from soldiers is figured in tons. In a sample month of 1943 before the Christmas rush began, in the Africa-Middle East sector alone, ATC planes carried 29 million pieces of mail.

Ammunition and airplane engines appear on lists of ATC cargo, battlefront-bound. Homeward trips bring such raw materials as diamonds, rubber seeds, and silk.

Sparsely Settled The Pripet region of eastern Poland is sparsely settled. Pinsk, near its western edge, had a population of over 30,000 before German invasion in 1941. Elsewhere the inhabitants wrest a meager living from their inhospitable land by fishing and primitive farming, living in tiny villages along the streams where higher ground permits.

During the spring and fall rainy seasons, many Pripet families are virtually isolated on islands within islands, reached only by locally-made flat-bottomed boats poled and paddled along the rivers. For the unwary who may step off familiar paths, there is danger of meeting slow death in treacherous bogs and

After the winter freeze comes, toward the end of November, the flowing roads harden into land routes along which sleds normally transport crops and other supplies consumed within the area.

Versatile Material

Rayon is probably one of the most versatile of all textile fibers today, for it can be made into an almost endless variety of fabrics. It can be used for very sheer delicate fabrics or heavy ones of great strength. It can be bright or dull in luster, smooth, fuzzy or rough in texture. It can be warm or cool and can be made to resemble cotton, linen, silk, or wool, and is frequently found in combination with other fibers.

It is not only used for clothing of all kinds, but has been found to be important in the manufacture of household furnishings for draperies, upholstery, window curtains, bedspreads and blankets. And in the industrial field where fabrics must give long wear under hard service it has made a real place for itself.

Synthetic Primer

A special synthetic white primer produced by the protective coatings industry has replaced cadmium plat-ing to provide the light-colored background needed for magnetic inspection of steel parts for aircraft to find out if any hidden flaws are in the metal.

It has long been the practice to give all articles to be magnetically inspected a flash coat of cadmium to serve as a light-colored background material against which the magnetic indications would stand out sharp and clear. Conservation of cadmium, a scarce material, resulted in the use of the new coating, with highly satisfactory results.

Hardy Vegetables

Kale and brussels sprouts are among the hardy vegetables that may continue to provide fresh greens until well into December, or even later, if early winter weather is mild. To keep the plants in production long, they may need some straw for protection in freezing weather. A few plants may be put in a coldframe, if the gardener has one. A fence of chicken wire may be needed around the green plants, to keep out the rabbits.

Leap Year Day Necessitates Adjustment of Finances

In the field of finance and accounting, February 29—Leap Year day causes quite a flutter. Interest figured by the day, for instance, gives one side a slight gain, and the other a corresponding loss. All sorts of records and statistics have to be adjusted, too. Legal complications frequently come up. At least two states have a statutory provision that the twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth shall be called one day. People born on February 29 are something of a curiosity. Like the boy in "H. M. S. Pinafore," they have only one "birthday" in four years. Actually, they shove the kidding aside, and call the twenty-eighth their natal day.

American Diet Is Full of Nutrients

Food Expert Avers People Fare Very Well.

CHICAGO.-Frank L. Gunderson, secretary of the National Research Council's food and nutrition board, in an address here declared that despite rationing and other wartime difficulties, there is "greater consumption of important nutrients per capita by the American civilian public in 1943 than there was during the average year of the prewar period 1935-39

"In spite of the many shortages of certain foods in certain localities during the last year or two, the people of the United States as a whole have fared very well nutritionally,'

"There is no nutritional crisis and the probabilities are there will be

"The improved consumption is attributed to several factors, among which are the improved economic status of many people, resulting from the great activity of war industries, the progress of nutrition education, and the very substantial contribution to improved nutrition through the means of enriched flour and bread, and lastly because rationing helps to accomplish more equitable distribution."

Estimating that 75 per cent of the total food supply is available for the nation's 127 million civilians, he said that while the supply of some meats is lower, pork supplies are about the same and the amounts of variety meats and poultry are "considerably increased.

"Eggs, fresh fluid milk, margarine, citrus fruits, tomatoes, white and sweet potatoes, dried beans and peas are all available and being eaten now in quantities greater than before the war.'

Tobacco Apples

About 3½ million pounds of apple syrup were made in 1942. In 1943 it is said that at least 15 million pounds will be produced for the purpose of replacing glycerine used in processing tobacco.

Simplifies Chick Care

In poultry-raising, the use of wireoors has simplified the care of chicks, and for older birds, the use of a deep, highly absorbent litter saves changing it so often.

Latitude Is Same

Salt Lake City, Utah, is located at approximately the same latitude as New York, Madrid, Naples and Istanbul—41 degrees north latitude.

New Tools Help Rush War Work

By Revolutionary High Speed Methods Metal Is Now Cut Like Wood.

NEW YORK. - Development of revolutionary high-speed methods for cutting metals for airplanes, tanks, engines, gun mounts and other war equipment has made it possible to machine hard steel as much as 10 times faster than two years ago and to cut airplane aluminums 15 to 20 times faster, it was declared at the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engi-

Charles F. Kettering, vice president and director of research of the General Motors corporation, who addressed a luncheon meeting, defined an inventor as "a guy who doesn't take his education too seriously.' He added that an inventor must be careful about logic, because "logic is an organized way of going wrong with confidence." He also spoke on the possibility of developing fuels with ratings of 350 to 400 octane.

Harder Cutting Tools.

The high-speed metal milling has been made possible, it was reported, by harder cutting tools, such as cemented tungsten carbide and tantalum alloys. The idea, however, was said to have been conceived when a workman at Vultee Aircraft, Inc., used a high-speed wood saw as an emergency measure to cut a piece of duralumin. Cne of the chief obstacles to highspeed cutting of metals, it was pointed out, was that speed generated heat. It was discovered that after a critical speed had been passed the heat was carried off by the chips, leaving the metal itself cool. Further experiments led to increases in chip space-i.e., greater distances between teeth on the cutters. Microscopic photographs projected on lantern slides at the meeting revealed that new cutting tools removed metal chips in one 40,000th second, with cutting wheels turning at rates of as much as 40,000 feet a minute. These tools, it was reported, allowed war industries to cut finished parts from raw stock of steel or duralumin with the same speed as if such stock were wood.

Making Inventors. Mr. Kettering declared that, as one of the first steps to making inventors, "we must teach the college-educated boy how to fail intelligently." To these young men must be explained, he said, that "it is no disgrace to fail, and that the only time you don't want to fail on any experiment is the last time you try

"The next thing that we must teach these young fellows," he added, "is that tediousness is a thing that you must learn to endure and like, and not resent because you have an education. "Very much greater protection than any patent is to have your competitor think you are crazy, because he won't pay any attention to what you are doing as long as he knows you are crazy.
