PYTHIAN SISTERS

Hold Memorial Service and Meeting of Past Chiefs

On Sunday evening the Pythian Sisters of Taneytown Temple No. 23 were guests in a memorial service which the order held in memory of the deceased members. The service was held in the Lutheran Church and Rev. A. T. Sutcliffe gave a very helpful sermon on memorials.

Two of the members Miss Catharine Hahn and Mrs. Sterling Ecker dressed in white evening dresses each carried a bouquet of white Calla Lilies and white Carnations, which they placed into baskets as each name of the deceased members were called by Mrs. Howard Baker who was also dressed in a white evening dress.

The members entered the church in a body and each wore a spray of white flowers. About 22 members were present. After the service the flowers were given to some member of the families of the deceased to be placed on the graves.

On Tuesday evening the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters Past Chiefs Club was held at the home of Mrs. Calvin Basehoar with 16 members and a few guests present. The meeting opened by singing America followed with silent prayer for our boys and girls in the armed forces wherever they may be, and the Lord's prayer. The Scripture Lesson was read by the hostess. Minutes were read and the roll-call was answered by members naming their favorite month and why.

Plans were made to hold a food sale on Saturday evening, June 17th, beginning at 6:30 P. M., at the side of Curtis G. Bowers' Store on East Baltimore St. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry Clingan on July 11th, the 2nd Tuesday evening of the month.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction after singing "God Bless Our Native Land." The hostess served refreshments.

PVT. DONELSON MEMBER OF HOSPITAL STAFF, NORTH AFRICA

A communication received from the Field Press contained a description of the work being done in hospitals in the war zone in North Africa. Pvt. Artemus E. Donelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Donelson, Route 2, Keymar, Md., is a member of the hospital staff. The letter says: "Hospital returns soldiers fit and ready. AFHQ, Mediterranean Theatre—when the American soldier leaves an Army hospital to return to his unit after recovering from a wound or illness, you may be sure he is in tip-top shape, mentally and physically, to perform his duties as a soldier. The 70th General Hospital, located in a hospital center in North Africa, is one of the Army's hospitals that sees to that."

The 70th has been assigned the special task of directing the convalescent training of all the patients in the several General and Station hospitals that go to make up the hospital center, centralized for the purpose of providing the soldier with the most expert medical care. This is the final phase before the soldier returns to duty and the Army makes certain that when he goes, he is qualified to resume the responsibilities of his place in our armed forces.

"In mind and body we bring the soldier along," stated Lieutenant Colonel Curtis H. Lohr, M. C., 7807 Walnica Terrace, Clayton, Mo., who is the executive officer of the hospital and president in absent of the Missouri State Medical Association.

The hospital is composed of members of the faculty of the St. Louis University Medical College. The President of the University resigned his post to come overseas with the unit as Chaplain. He is Father Harold Crimins, Captain now, of the Society of Jesus.

The hospital was activated in Sept. 1942, at Springfield, Miss., and came overseas in August, 1943, after training at the Harmon General Hospital, Longview, Texas. It is one of the few hospitals of the affiliated type to have a full complement of nurse before coming overseas.

From the flagpole of the hospital flies a large "E" banner below the Stars and Stripes. The hospital is proud of this banner for it represents exceptional proficiency and general excellence on the part of the personnel in the performance of their required duties.

CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICE

On Sunday evening, June 11, at 8 P. M., the Keysville Lutheran Sunday School will hold their Children's Day Service. The service is entitled the Garden of the Heart. The Primary and Junior Department will render greetings of welcome in song and exercises. A solo and reading "I come to the Garden Alone" by Theo. Motter; Dramatization with tableau. Story, how in Palestine also a Pageant, "The Hearts Desire" will be given. Everybody welcome.

COMMUNITY VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

The Daily Vacation Bible School will open in the Lutheran Church, on Monday, June 12th, and will continue for a period of two weeks (no sessions on Saturday.) Morning sessions from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock. Children from the ages of 5 to 13 years, inclusive, are urged to attend. The school will again be sponsored by the Sunday Schools of town. All children, and any visiting children in the community are cordially invited to attend.

INVASION STARTED TUESDAY MORNING

Allied Forces Cross Channel With Little Difficulty

The long awaited invasion of Europe started early Tuesday morning, between two and three o'clock A. M. at our time and the battle in the west for the march to Germany is now on. With the mightiest array of ships and watercraft of all kinds, and the greatest swarm of fliers that was ever gotten together in the history of the world, the Allies crossed the channel from England to the continent, meeting only a trifling of opposition, and landed a vast force of fighters for the attack on the west.

The Germans evidently reserved their strength for the land battle, and though greatly surpassed in strength they will put up a desperate fight to stop the invasion. Hitler announced that it must be turned back even if it means the total destruction of Luftwaffe.

The initial victories of the Allies have been all that was expected, though little detail of the conflict or its cost in men and equipment is available. During invasion day and the day following the invading forces had moved inland about five miles, had captured Caen and Bayeux thus cutting the railway and main highway between Cherbourg, on the Normandy Coast, and Paris. Indications now point to new landings on other parts of the coast.

On the southern front the Allies are pushing northwest from Rome, apparently aimed at Genoa, in northern Italy.

Russia has been massing its strength for further drives on the eastern front, so that the Germans are compelled to divide their attention among the three fronts, east, west and south. They are determined not to yield, but their situation seems desperate.

The United Nations are warned by their leaders not to expect a quick easy victory, but a great and decisive victory ultimately seems inevitable.

LADIES' AID MEET

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace Reformed Church held its regular monthly meeting in the Sunday School room on Tuesday evening, June 6, at 8 o'clock, President Mrs. Clyde Hesson presiding. In the absence of the Secretary, Mrs. Carel Frock served as Secretary pro-tem.

The first part of the meeting was in charge of the pastor, who read a portion of Scripture, and then called attention to the significance of the evening, and in observance of D-day, invited those present to offer prayer for the success of the Allied invasion, for speedy and just peace, and for the safety of the American boys in arms, especially those who from the membership of the Church and Sunday School are in the service of their country. Many fervent prayers were offered, and the spirit of the service was devout and reverent.

After the prayer service, the Society carried out the program of its regular meeting. After the business session, the following program was presented by the committee, Mrs. Samuel O. Mrs. Thurston Putnam and Mrs. Wilbur Reifsnider. Recitation and song by Miss Fairy Frock, with Mrs. Carel Frock as accompanist; Recitation by Arlene Senty; Song by Miss Mary Alice Rue, with Mrs. Marion Rue as accompanist; Instrumental selection by Miss Doris Koons; Address, "Taking Care of Both Sides of the Duplex Envelope," by Mrs. Edmund P. Welker. The entire program was much enjoyed and appreciated. The Society adjourned to meet on the first Tuesday evening in July.

NEW BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY

The regular meeting of the Taneytown Library Association was held on Saturday afternoon in the Municipal Building at 3 o'clock. Miss Amalia Annan presided over the session and the minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Charles Arnold. The Children's Hour being sponsored each Saturday afternoon by the Library Association, was discussed and it was hoped that this worthwhile project might be continued as long as volunteer workers were available to take charge. Miss Beulah Englar was named as vice-chairman to assist Mrs. Lillian Boach, chairman of the Children's Hour.

Howell Royer, Librarian, reported on the circulation during the past three months, and listed the following new books: "Plicka, Ricka, Dicka the new dot-dash dress," "Plicka, Ricka, Dicka and the Strawberry," "Snipp, Snapp, Snurr and the Magic House," "The Yellow Sled," "The Gingerbread," and "The Buttered Bread." Maj. Lindman; "The Road to Modern Science," H. A. Reason; "Pony for Sale," Ann Stafford; "Nature Games Book," Elmo Stevenson; "Fisherman Four," Hugh B. Cave; "Dexter," Stanley H. Silverman; "Women in Battle Dress," Russell Taylor; "Men in Motion," Henry Taylor; "William and his Kitten," Marjorie Flack; "Hello Judy," Charlotte Becker; "All About Copy Cat" and "Fuss Bunny," Marjorie Flack; "The Country Bunny," DuBare Heyward; "Marshmallow," Clare Newbury. Mr. Royer also reported that a benefit movie will be held in the near future, the date and feature to be announced. The next quarterly meeting will be held September 2, at 3 P. M.

SERVICE MEN LETTERS

Many and Varied are their Experiences

Dear Sir:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for sending me the Carroll Record. I received my first copy on the 29th of May. I appreciate this kindness very much as it helps to keep me informed of things back in my home town.

It is somewhat hot here in North Carolina, and it will get hotter later in the summer.

I am in the Light Field Artillery. I am training to be a wire communication specialist but I will also receive training in handling light artillery pieces.

I receive seventeen weeks of basic training here at Ft. Bragg. After that I will probably be transferred elsewhere.

In closing I want to thank you for sending me the Record. It means a lot to me to get the news from my home town. Yours truly,

ELI SHANK,
Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Tonga Tabu, 5-18-44

Dear Charlie:

I have for a long time now wanted to write you a little for the Carroll Record. The usual happens as you already know, I just never get it accomplished. I do hope this will answer as I feel I would like to write to many more of my friends in and about Taneytown than I do.

Just how to begin telling you about this island and its people. I have sent my mother a few articles from here that many of you have seen I know. Judging from mothers letters I have only aroused curiosity as to how they use them and for what purposes.

The coconut tree is very valuable to them. From it they can build their homes, obtain food, and a livelihood. Copra is their main export item. Fresh fruits come next. Then they make a cloth-like material from a beaten inner bark of a small tree. This is called "Toppa." The process is long and one needs to be skilled to get good results. Many kinds of baskets and mats are made from leaves of various trees and bushes. There is also a native drink, a mild drug I'd call it. It is made from the roots of a plant. They are dried then pounded between two stones and mixed with water. This is then strained by hand from a bowl and drunk from half coconut shells. This is called "Kava" which I enjoy never. I think of muddy water whenever asked to take.

We enjoy a very pleasant climate here most of the time. Some of the days are hot but evenings generally are cool. We are now coming to the cool season. Oranges and tangerines are plentiful now and to be sure bananas and coconuts are always handy.

Well, I've gone on about nothing much in particular but feel I have been most fortunate to have had duty here after hearing some reports of other places. Duty has naturally bettered itself since we arrived two years ago. We now have a very nice camp. We are also a much smaller group than at the start. Much has been accomplished since I left the States but feel we have a lot to do yet.

I've not said anything as to my work, feel you know I'm a cook and that about covers it. I've been given the job now of overseeing the galley, lend a hand with baking and meat cutting. So my days are rather full, maybe that is why time passes so easily. The tenth of this month some of us celebrated two full years here. It was a big day. The natives that work for the Navy had a big feast "bowla" for us, then in the evening we had a dance in our movie hall.

I know my description is weak and not in much detail but will be glad when the day comes when I can return to tell you personally just what it been like here.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the Record staff for all they've done for me in sending me the copies so faithfully. It is greatly appreciated. They as a rule get here in bunches but nevertheless its good to get the home town paper. Here's wishing the best to you all. Sincerely,

J. T. ALBAUGH, S. C. 1/c.

ATTENTION RED CROSS

The annual meeting of the Carroll County Chapter American Red Cross, will be held at Emmanuel Building of the Westminster Methodist Church, at 2:30 P. M., June 13th. There will be an election of officers, also reports from the Chairman of our various projects. This is a public meeting and all interested people are urged to be present.

PRISONERS OF WAR

Encouraging news comes to the parents of persons reported missing in action overseas, in the later news that some of them are definitely located as prisoners of war, and may have been captured unharmed.

This is true of both soldiers and sailors, and the report comes from both the western and the Mediterranean fronts.

"Industry's part in the (veterans) rehabilitation program offers an unexcelled opportunity for enlightened management to assume one of its much-talked-of and little defined social responsibilities."—Robert M. Gaylord, pres., NAM.

BOND DRIVE OPENS MONDAY, JUNE 12

Mr. Norman B. Boyle Again Chairman in Carroll Co.

Mr. W. Bladen Lowndes will head the Fifth War Loan Drive in the state of Maryland. He has appointed Mr. Norman B. Boyle as chairman for Carroll county.

As announced the United States Treasury Department's Fifth War Loan Drive will begin June 12 and end July 8th. However, all sales of Series E, F and G savings bonds made during the months of June and July will count in the $16 billions that the Government is asking for at this time.

The people of Carroll County will be asked to purchase $425,000.00 in Series E bonds alone, with the overall quota for the county being $900,000.00.

It is necessary, at this critical period of the war, to stress the importance of this campaign, for its success is so vital in support of our expanding military operations that failure is unthinkable.

Therefore, every effort should be made to purchase bonds during the Fifth War Loan Drive. Have the members of your family purchased bonds and stress the importance of the success of this campaign to your business associates, employees and friends.

We know that you will feel it a privilege to give your share in making the Fifth War Loan Drive a success.

FORMER CITIZEN COMMENDED

The following news article which appeared in The Dispatch, of Lexington, N. C., will be of interest to readers of The Carroll Record. Mr. Witherow was formerly a citizen of this community and is well known here.

Due to the efforts of a group of wide awake business and professional men of the city, Winston-Salem has attained a dominant position in the commercial life of this section of the state. One of the men who has justly earned credit for being a progressive member of that group is Charles W. Witherow of the Auto Spring Co.

It is because of the successful operation of such business as his that the city of Winston-Salem has earned the reputation of being one of the more progressive cities of this district.

Mr. Witherow is a man who has been conspicuously successful in business in spite of the fact that he has repeatedly neglected his own affairs to devote a part of his time and efforts to the successful promotion of some civic project.

The writer considers it a privilege to include Charles Witherow in our Winston-Salem review and we publicly give him credit for his contribution to the general welfare not only of his own city, but of the entire district as well.

DETROIT LETTER

Strikes, Marriages, Parades and Bribery Discussed

The strike of the drivers of the delivery trucks of the large bakeries was called off last Friday, thus bringing relief for a short time, at least, from a very disagreeable situation. However, the statement is made that this truce will be observed only for a few months, when another attempt will be made by the drivers to bring their employers to accept the terms for which they were striking this time. Of all the strikes with which this city has been cursed, this one has caused the most inconvenience, as a great majority of the housewives depend on the grocery stores for their supply of bread. Of course the private bakeries did a land office business, but even they had difficulty in supplying the demand, and adding it all together, it goes to show just what trouble a bunch of men can cause, when they make up their minds to do so.

With the settlement of this and the other strikes that were in progress, the papers stated that for once on a long time, or since the Labor Unions have been endeavoring to run things the way they want them, the city was free from strikes. But this situation did not last long—only one day—for on Saturday several thousand war workers walked off their jobs, most of where they were badly needed. We wonder if the peaceful days of the '20's will ever return, when strikes were never heard of and when even the men who are now stirring up so much trouble, refer to as "the good old days," and when Labor Unions were not strong enough to stir up so much trouble.

Detroit has always been bragging about being the champion industrial city in the Union, and now it can claim credit for having the champion in the matrimonial line. The papers say that the returns are not all in as yet, but that a woman is now locked up, charged with marrying 15 men in the space of the last 18 years. For 5 of these—four in the army and one in the navy, she is getting allotments as their wife, and the government is holding her for obtaining them unlawfully, but the charge of bigamy, with which she is being held by the State, seems to be pretty hard to prove, as all her husbands who can be reached by the Police refuse to sign a complaint against her, and No. 15 even has gone so far as to round up a lot of them and tried to convince them to help raise the amount, $4,000, in which she is in need of to get out of prison, where she is being held, pending further results of the investigations. Several of these husbands she is said to have divorced, but the majority she just lived with long enough to get her allotment papers put through, and several she left the next day after her marriage to them, and went on to further conquests. So now, Detroit is way ahead of Denver, where it is said, a woman worked the same game, but had only reached No. 7 when she was caught up with.

Decoration Day has always been elaborately observed in our city, and this year was no exception. An impressive parade, and the usual special features, such as strewing the waters of the river with flowers, in memory of departed sailors, with special observance of the day by the different patriotic and military bodies, made the observance of the day the equal of former years. We have not seen a Decoration Day parade since the first year we became residents of the city in 1918, when we, with thousands of others stood for hours waiting to get a glimpse of the distinguished guest of the day, "Teddy" Roosevelt, and we will never forget the reception he received, something we fear would not be accorded him at this time, after the coddling certain classes have received from the New Deal, for we are sure his methods of handling industrial troubles would differ greatly from those now used.

We have been experiencing some mighty warm weather the past week, the thermometer registering as high as 94 at the Weather Bureau station. And our section of the city was visited by a heavy cloudburst, on Thursday last, which in addition to doing a little damage, held up traffic on our street, as well as on others in this section. But over at Briggs Stadium, on the West side, not more than 10 miles away, our surprising Tigers were putting the finishing touches on the Yankee ball club, thus showing them what can be done when they are aroused, by taking all four games of the present series. (The above was written for the benefit of the followers of the great American games in Taneytown.)

The latest to be caught in the investigation of the bribery situation that occurred during the session of the Legislature preceding the present one, is former Lieutenant Governor, Frank Murphy, who changed his name to Murphy to take advantage of the prestige of the present member of the U. S. Supreme Court of the same name, and thus secured the nomination, and was elected in the 1940 election. He is said to be the payoff man between the Finance companies and the members of the Legislature who are now under indictment found by the Special Grand Jury at Lansing. He has declared his purpose of running again for the nomination, but this latest action of the investigating body may change his mind, although several of those accused have declared their intention, of doing so, in order, so they say, to vindicate themselves.

FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1944

THE DAY HAS COME

Probably not since Armistice Day 1918 have the people of America and other lands been so on the tip-toe of excitement as on Tuesday morning of this week when the reports of the invasion of France began to come in.

There are differences between the two occasions, and yet something of similarity. Then we knew that the fighting of that war was over. Now we have started on a battle that dwarfs all the dimensions of that conflict.

The physical equipment for the battle is almost measureless. Nothing in the history of the world can be compared for it. The number of men who stand ready to lay their lives upon the altar of freedom, together the number of those who have already made the supreme sacrifice is appalling. But the decision and the action is deliberate and there is no sign of flinching, either by the soldiers themselves, or by their parents and friends.

With bleeding hearts people are dedicated to their task. Even the enemy, though it must be with little hope, has staked all that they have and are on this battle. Hitler and the invading forces must be turned back, even if it means the total destruction of the Luftwaffe.

Such is the price of war. Such is the price of imperialistic history over all the world, in which our own country is involved along with others.

We are highly encouraged with the initial successes. While the battle is far from ended, and the sacrifices must be terrible in the days to come, gains up to this time give us the assurance of victory and may the Almighty Father be pleased to grant it.

The solemnity of the hour was marked by the way people turned to the churches or to the privacy of their own homes for prayer. It was a recognition of the fact that after all, God holds in His own hands the destinies of men. Let them seek to know His will, and may they not forget when the bloody task shall have been finished.

L. B. H.

PLAN NOW

Somebody connected with the government had better start right now doing some pretty careful planning about postwar taxes.

Under the present system about twenty percent of the average person's earnings are taken out of his pay envelope for income taxes. No one is kicking about it. A war boom is on, and money comes easily to a lot of people who never had easy money before. But when the war ends—what then?

Jobs won't be so plentiful. Wages won't be so high. And the nation will face an enormous debt. Taxes will have to stay higher than they ever have been before, to keep up with debt obligations; although the taxpayers won't have so much money with which to pay taxes.

Governmental revenues are bound to fall off sharply when war contracts are terminated and when payrolls descend. Who then, will have to take up the slack? Why John and Jill Zilch—the good old citizen referred to as the ordinary man—will be in the middle again as he has been so many times before. It will be the farmers and the businessmen, the professional and white collar classes and the honest working man who works year in and year out at his established trade. It won't be the plushy labor chiefs nor the industrial tycoons who will pay the bill.

Now old John Public, willing and hard working as he is, can take so much and no more. There are gentlemen in congress today who think the limit has been reached. If the tax limit has been reached—it would appear something would have to give. The thing that should—and will have to give is governmental spending. Extravagances for fools and fantastic experiments will have to be abolished. Millions of governmental employees will have to be taken off the taxpayers' backs.

If the next national administration will hew to the line of strictest economy, we can make it. In no other way can the taxpayers meet the task ahead of them.—Eastern Shore Times.

REMEMBER YOUR ABC'S

The wise man gets a roof on his house before it rains. Also he lays aside a few dollars to meet unusual expenditures which are bound to occur. Similar practices involving foresight and thrift are as essential in the largest corporation as in the smallest home. Thousands of post-war jobs depend on simple ABC lessons in "good housekeeping."

The president of the Missouri Pacific Lines points out that American railroads are carrying the greatest load in history. Wear and tear on tracks, bridges, locomotives, cars and other equipment is terrific. Material and labor for needed maintenance are not obtainable now beyond the minimum necessary for safe continued operation. Money from current revenues should be saved to pay for the needed repairs and replacements when material and labor are available—meanwhile it should be invested in war bonds for war purposes.

But the tax law prevents such savings. If money for needed repairs cannot be spent as it is earned, it is considered "profit" (by the Federal Treasury) and practically taxed away. But it isn't profit. It is the lifeblood of the railroads. Without repairs and replacements, railroads cease to run.

Congress has been asked to recognize these facts and permit the railroads to put aside sufficient revenue in war bonds to replace the things that are worn out in earning revenue. Favorable action would mean thousands of jobs for returning fighting men in the task of restoring railroads, and in the mills, mines and forests that will furnish material for the work. It would mean strong postwar railroads.

To tax this "repair money" as profit because the work cannot be done now, threatens the backbone of American transportation. — Industrial News Review.

THINGS MONEY CAN'T BUY

The late George Horace Lorimer, for many years editor of the Saturday Evening Post, once wrote these words: "It is a good thing to have money and the things that money can buy, but it is good, too, to check up once in awhile and make sure you haven't lost the things that money can't buy."

The things that money can't buy would make a long list. Here are some of them:

Money can't buy real friendship—friendship must be earned.

Money can't buy a clear conscience—square dealing is the price tag.

Money can't buy happiness—happiness is a mental condition and one may be as happy in a cottage as in a mansion.

Money can't buy sunsets, songs of wild birds and the music of the wind in the trees—these are as free as the air we breathe.

Money can't buy inward peace—peace is the result of a constructive philosophy of life.

Money can't buy good character—good character is achieved through decent habits of private living and wholesome dealings in our open contacts with our fellow men.

Continue the list yourself. You'll agree that among the things money can't buy are some of the most valuable treasures life has to offer.—The Republican, Oakland.

WOMEN PEACE-MAKERS

The idea is advocated that women should be included in the conference of the fighting nations that will settle the terms of peace after the war. It may be argued that there are not many women who have had sufficient experience in diplomatic relations to qualify them for this great task.

In favor of this idea it can be said that women are very strong advocates of peace. They might be willing to go farther than the average man, in creating systems that would tend to prevent future wars.

The women make very heavy sacrifices when the nation engages in war. Many will say they suffer more than the men who go to the front and do the fighting. As war thus burdens them so heavily, there are good arguments for giving them a greater share in planning measures for preventing a future conflict like the present one.—Caroline Sun.

SYNTHETIC'S FUTURE

In preparing for post-war resumption of world trade in the products of southeastern Asia, Britain is feeling out the attitude of the United States as to natural rubber. The British suggest an international agency, composed of both the producers and the consumers of natural rubber, to fix production quotas and set prices.

It is the contention of the British that there will be a rubber scarcity for perhaps three years after the war. Demand in the United States is expected to total more than a 1,000,000 tons a year, a 50 percent increase over the pre-war figure. There is a probability that almost as soon as these needs are met by synthetic production, natural rubber will start pouring into world markets again. Then there will be serious overproduction.

The American rubber industry does not favor joining the British and the Dutch in a Far East rubber program. America has put $700,000,000 into its synthetic industry, compared to a $35,000,000 stake in natural rubber plantations. The United States will continue to use natural rubber mixed with synthetic to get the best results. But reliance upon the natural product of the British and Dutch plantations will never snap back to pre-war levels.—The Frederick Post.

KICK OR BE KICKED

There has been general acceptance of the idea of rationing and reasonable price control as a war measure. Everyone understands that the problems of the OPA are multitudinous. But the public cannot understand why price and rationing control is allowed to develop into a method of oppression in many cases.

Take a ruling like the "highest price line limitation," adopted two years ago. It has been unworkable on a basis of fairness and equality. It is therefore heartening to read that at last certain adjustments will be made, although the public now takes such promises with a "spoonful" of salt.

Another practice of the price control program which is shaking public confidence, is denial of court appeal on OPA rulings. No satisfactory answer has yet been given for shutting a man out of regular courts when he objects to a ruling of the OPA "emergency court" where a complainant can be put to interminable delays.

While the war makes some restrictive measures necessary, it still remains highly important to seek corrections of rulings which, if unchallenged, leave the citizens outside the courts and at the mercy of political forces beyond their control.—Rhodrick Papers.

To the People of this Community

This is a home front communique on the most vital war action now in progress in every community of the land—the Fifth War Loan.

We are advancing on a subjective. However, we must make certain that we reach and pass our goal by July 8. This can be done if every one of us puts something extra of ourselves into the fight.

No one needs to remind you that it is an American trait to go into a sprint with the goal in sight. We started this push June 12. Reports from every city and town in America tell us that the number of individual buyers of extra War Bonds today has reached an unprecedented total. We all know that in addition to numbers we need fire power. Your extra War Bond is absolutely essential. The greater the stockpile of War Bonds, the easier it will be for us to get this war over. This very moment our boys are waging a life-and-death struggle. Every additional War Bond you buy will play its part in the outcome. Last month's War Bond, last week's War Bond, yesterday's War Bond are already in the embattled foxholes. Today is another day for the home front just as today is another day for the boys on the battlefronts. THE EDITOR.

Industry Grows

Although stock raising and farming are still the life blood of Argentina's national economy, city-building industry has grown rapidly in recent years. It is an odd geographic fact that this nation of vast ranches and horizon-reaching grain fields is also one of big cities. Nearly half its people live in centers of more than 100,000 inhabitants.

5th WAR LOAN UNDER WAY

Special Events Planned for State

Maryland's Fifth War Loan, scheduled to open officially on June 12 and continue through July 8, is well under way with all organizational plans completed and committees at work on a Statewide basis. W. Bladen Lowndes, Chairman of the Maryland War Finance Committee has announced the names of State regional and county chairman and the quotas which have been accepted by the various counties and Baltimore City. Maryland's share of the national quota of 16 billion dollars is 228 million—an increase of 37 million over the Fourth War Loan goal. Mr. Lowndes pointed out that while Maryland's efforts would be directed toward making the over-all quota, special emphasis would be laid on increasing purchases of the "E" Bond. He explained that $49,000,000 of the $228 million must be raised in "E" Bond sales exclusively. "This particular goal," Mr. Lowndes added, "is a matter of individual participation, pure and simple. The 'E' Bond is the people's Bond, and each individual Marylander must accept this responsibility to meet the 'E' Bond quota. Maybe this is a tough job for us, but we must realize that this is the toughest and most critical stage of the war."

Louis F. Cahn, State Publicity Chairman said that plans were under way to send a traveling army show throughout the counties. Colonel James P. Wharton, Public Relations Officer of the Third Service Command is working with Mr. Cahn on the project. On the opening night of the Campaign, June 12, an Army show will be staged in the Baltimore Stadium at 8 P. M. Troops will mass for a parade into the stadium where they will be reviewed by Major General Philip Hayes, Commanding General of the Third Service Command and other high-ranking military and naval officers. Troops from Aberdeen, Edgewood, Holabird, Meade, the Port Security regiment, Members of the Maryland State Guard, and WAACS stationed near the city will be included in the review.

Troops from Edgewood will demonstrate attacks on pill boxes and the use of the flame thrower. Personnel from Aberdeen will display a fleet of Army vehicles, some of which have never been exhibited to the public before. Troops from Holabird will demonstrate signal equipment.

An event of international proportion will take place in Oriole Park on June 15 at 8 P. M., when the Orioles play Toronto. At 7 P. M. the Don Cossack Chorus will give—Performance in the Park. The Edgewood Arsenal Band will play. Admission will be by War Bond only. The purchaser is instructed to take his bond receipt to the Bonney Concert Bureau at 327 N. Charles Street, where tickets, according to the value of the bond will be allocated. The range of seats include $25 to $100 bonds.

Mr. Lowndes said that many counties are staging their own local celebrations and urged that all county publicity chairman report their schedule of events to the Maryland War Finance Office, 601 Maryland Trust Building, Baltimore, Maryland.

CORRESPONDENCE

Latest Items of Local News Furnished By Our Regular Staff of Writers

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by fast mail, west on W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time.

All communications for this department must be signed by the author; not for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributed are legitimate and correct. Items based on mere rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted.

FEESBURG

Here is June—with all its luscious growth; sweet girl graduates and bright looking boys; with happy brides and grooms, a riot of bloom and delicious odors—just drive by a fence loaded with honeysuckle these dewy mornings! Good things growing in gardens and fields, and people enjoying outdoor living and pleasures. Stay with us O spirit of June!

After nearly two weeks furlough Tech. Sgt. Cleatus Grindler will leave this Wednesday for his new field of service in Texas.

Mrs. Samuel Lesight (nee Rosellen Willide), gave her parents a pleasant surprise on Friday evening when she arrived home from W. Va., where her husband is in service, to spend this month with them. They ought to be some pleasure about this war business!

Kenneth Baker and family, of Pen-Mar, with her mother, Mrs. George Crumbacker, visited the cemetery at Mt. Union with flowers for her father's grave on Sunday afternoon and called to see the Crumbackers and Merle Crumbacker, at Keymer.

Miss Virginia Haines, of Woodbine, spent the first part of last week with the Misses, leaving on Thursday evening; then on Sunday evening; then on Sunday evening the Grindler family and friends escorted Miss Arlene Grindler, to Baltimore where she will enter the Georgia Maude School of Culture to study for a Registered Beaucian.

Our neighbor, Mrs. Joseph Bowman while preparing to attend the Baccalaureate service on Sunday evening, May 28, accidentally fell in her home and broke her arm at the wrist which required hospital treatment and now some nursing. We are all in sympathy.

Last Wednesday afternoon, May 31st, Mrs. J. Addison Koons (nee Emma Williams), aged over 70 years departed this life at the home of her son, Roland Koons, near Taneytown, where funeral services were held on Saturday morning, conducted by her pastor, Rev. G. E. Bowersox, Jr., who spoke from the text, "Set thine house in order, for thou shalt die." Her body lay among a bower of flowers—mostly carnations; and comforting music sounded softly from the radio. From her life she had a faithful member of the Lutheran Church at Mt. Union where her body was carried for burial, with many relatives and friends attending. It can well be said of her "She hath done what she could," for she was always ready to assist in the work of the church; and taught the Women's Class in the S. S. for many years, until she went to live with her children. Emma was a devoted wife and mother, and has only passed to her Heavenly Home.

Mrs. Stella Good and daughter, Miss Betty Jane Koons arrived on Thursday of last week, from Dearborn, Mich. by bus to Gettysburg, for the funeral of her mother-in-law—by her first husband, Leslie Koons. She is not only a splendid woman, but has been a model daughter-in-law—writing to mother Koons every week, and not missing one summer visit each year since Leslie passed away; a fine tribute to Mr. Good also. They returned home on Monday.

Those who attended the commencement exercises of Taneytown High School on Wednesday evening of last week were well pleased with the address of Mayor McKeldin, of Baltimore City.

Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Sr. with Mrs. Marshall Beall—who was present in honor of her niece, Miss Agnes Zent who was one of the 36 graduates.

Services at Mt. Union were not as well attended as should be on Sunday morning, when Rev. Bowersox spoke on that beautiful thought in Pilgrim Progress—when Evangelist asked the Pilgrim, "Do you see yonder shining Light?" and had for the theme of his sermon—Plowing a straight furrow; concerning Elisha's experience one day while plowing. The music was fine and a basket filled with roses had been placed at the front by Mrs. C. Wolfe. Announcement was made for Children's service in two weeks; and the delayed installation of church officers.

The little Bulletin is very interesting with a pencil sketch of the Artist pastor, illustrating a dime dropping into a tiny church—1/10 for the Lord and a pile of 9 logs or books—9/10 for you; followed by a good sermonette on Tithing, which does, or can make a difference. "Then there's a long pipe and a faucet at the end letting out drops to the end of the page, entitled 'Parish Dripping' were mentioned is made of Camp Nawakwa and its Director Rev. Marshall Breneman, who visited at the parsonage on May 25th, which our Caroline Baker will attend after the 18th of June.

Among the Parish donations for the Bulletin is $1.00 given in memory of Charles E. Buffington, who died one year ago—June 2 from his grandsons Master Charles and Harry Buffington, Jr. of Mt. Union.

The funeral procession with the body of Mrs. Maud Hann Collins passed through our town on Sunday afternoon, from the Hartzler Funeral Home, in Nid to the cemetery of the Reformed Church in Taneytown; the last member of the Isiah Hann family. Maud was a sweet young girl who grew up in this community, and a fine woman who was seized by paralysis about six months ago. John Bowman has sold his property—the former Geo. Hape home on Big Pipe Creek to Martin Hitchcock—now residing in Baltimore, and will take possession this month. The Bowman family will move back to one of their homes in Middleburg.

UNIONTOWN

At a recent meeting of the Maryland Synod of the United Lutheran Church, which was held at Gettysburg, Pa. Mr. Harry B. Fogle, of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, was elected one of the ten lay-delegates from the Synod to attend the convention of the United Lutheran Church which will be held in October 1944, in the twin cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Mr. Fogle recently retired after four years of service as president of the Maryland Synodical Brotherhood, the organization for men in the Lutheran church.

Donald Goodwin U. S. Navy, who is stationed at Washington, D. C., spent the week-end with his home folks.

The Charles Blaxten family, attended the Blaxten reunion at Mt. Tabor Park, on Sunday.

Philip Halter returned home from the Frederick City Hospital, on Friday after having his tonsils removed.

Mrs. Clarence Lockard in company with Miss Anna O'Meara, Gibson Island, who has been spending some time in the Lockard home, visited with the J. C. Hoy family, Philadelphia, from Sunday until Tuesday.

Mrs. J. E. Formwalt visited with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haines over the week-end.

Mrs. John Stuller visited with her sister, Mrs. Cora Riffe, Taneytown, for several days.

Ronald Repp, Baltimore, was a Sunday guest of the Myers Englar family.

Mrs. Glennie Crouse, Mrs. Hugh Heitbride and Miss Evelyn Crouse were shoppers in Baltimore, Thursday of last week.

Mr. Luther Wimer, Westminster and Miss Gladys May Wimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wimer, Portland, Maine, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Segafosse.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tucker, daughters, Lucille and Ellen, Baltimore, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Myers.

The Samuel Talbert family, Silver Spring, and Miss Beulah Heitbride, Westminster, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Heitbride.

Mrs. Cora Stem and Dr. Fidelia Gilbert, visited friends in Harrisburg on last Thursday and Friday.

The promotion exercises at the school on Tuesday evening were well attended. An address to the graduates was given by the Rev. Lowell Ensor, Westminster. The certificates were presented by Mary B. Fogle.

The following pupils received certificates: Ira Robert Albright, Jr., Mary Janet Cole, Stanley LeRoy Dayhoff, Betty Irene Dickensheets, Joan Dolores Frock, Alton Stewart Haines, Betty Jane Haley, Marlin Harold Hiner, David Robert Little, Edward Ralph Little, Ford Grant May, Audrey Virginia Myers, Marianna Pittsinger, Dolores Mae Powell, Robert Howard Reichard, Jr., Kenneth Marlin Stahley, Vivian Lee Stone and Shirley Mae Wimer.

Mrs. Howard Hymile delightfully entertained her Sunday School class and the class of Mrs. Harry Fogle, at her home near town, on Monday evening. Yard and indoor games were enjoyed and beautiful prizes given Mrs. Howard West and Mrs. George Bowersox, who had highest score. Delicious refreshments were served at the table which was adorned with candles and clever place cards made by the hostess.

Rev. Ernest Colwell will preach at the Methodist Church, Sunday morning at 9:15.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas J. Betscher, Dr. Herbert Hudgins and Rev. A. G. Lynch, of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church, called on Rev. Paul F. Warner and family last Friday afternoon.

Mr. Seth H. Linthicum and Miss Louise Linthicum, Linthicum Heights, were visitors at the Methodist parsonage on Sunday.

At the recent session of the Baltimore Conference Rev. Paul F. Warner was appointed pastor of the Arlington Methodist Church, Baltimore. The new Arlington Church is the result of a triple merger of the former McKendree, Arlington, and Whatcoat Churches. The Warner family will move to the new appointment some time next week. Rev. H. H. Miller has been appointed pastor of Pipe Creek Methodist Church. We regret seeing the Warner family leave our midst.

MEADOW BRANCH

The Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren will begin their annual Daily Vacation Bible School at the church on Monday morning, June 12, at 8:30 and continue each morning for two weeks. It will close Friday, June 23, 1944. Each day's work will end at 11:30 A. M.

During this three hour period each morning, the children will be taught Bible stories, prayers, memory verses, music, mission stories and handwork.

The school will be directed by Lavinia Wenger and Ruth Rinehart. The music will be in charge of Marguerite Arbuthnot. The beginners will be taught by Ruth Grove with Elsie Sles as a helper. The Primaries will be taught by Kathryn Hopkins Bixler, the Juniors by Glenn Garner and the Intermediates by Lavinia Wenger. Special assistance with the handwork will be given by Margaret Christ. The Secretary in charge of the records will be Dorothy Barnhart.

Outstanding speakers will be brought in each morning at 11 o'clock to give illustrated talks to the children.

All children of every denomination are invited and urged to attend. Any one desiring transportation to and from the school, please call Charles Geiman, Telephone, Westminster 129M.

Parents and friends are welcome at any time to visit the school.

LITTLESTOWN

Saturday morning about 8:30 the Firemen were called out to a fire in D. D. Basehoar's Garage. The fire was in the stock room which is on the second floor. Mr. Basehoar was in the room about a half hour before and there was no fire. Just as soon as the fire was discovered, the fire hose in the garage was used. The Fire Company was also called but could not do much as the smoke kept them out of the room. The damage is estimated by Mr. Basehoar up to $10,000. Another fire swept the garage on March 11, 1931.

We only got a little of the severe thunder storm on Friday evening which was severe in Carroll county. The storm hurt the Legion Carnival and on Saturday evening the cool air hurt them, too.

The closing exercises for St. Aloysius Parochial School was held Friday morning in the church. The Mass was celebrated by the pastor the Rev. John H. Weber.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tantone, Westfield, N. J., spent a few days with their son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Boltz.

Pvt. Russell Dehoff, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dehoff, was seriously wounded in Italy on May 12th. The War Department did not say how bad he was wounded, but will keep the parents informed of his condition.

The funeral of Miss Eva Bankard who died early Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Annie Halter, Silver Run, following an extended illness, was conducted Monday morning in St. Mary's Reformed Church, of which she was a member. Her pastor, the Rev. Albert E. Shenberger, officiated. Burial was made in the church cemetery.

Arthur Frounfelter, W. King St., died Thursday evening in the Annie M. Warner Hospital, where he had been admitted Wednesday afternoon. Death followed an illness of several months. He was aged 65 years. He was a member of St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run. His pastor the Rev. Albert E. Shenberger, officiated. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

LOOKING AHEAD

Penny Wise

Victory in war can not be bought with money alone. There is fighting to do which can not be thought about in terms of money. Wars always take a priceless toll of life, limb, health, sanity and human happiness. And, along with all this, war calls for a vast amount of work. Actually most of the cost of war is work. Money is only a medium of exchange, a relatively accurate measure of the work performed.

The United States, now in the middle of the biggest struggle of all history, is spending money at the rate of 100 billion dollars a year. With the highest tax rates ever applied in this country, our government is raising money at the rate of 40 billion dollars a year, borrowing the difference. American taxpayers will be in debt for 60% of the war when it ends, if things go along as they probably will.

Lifting the Debt

Big obligations usually are made faster than they are paid, and nobody is expecting Uncle Sam to liquidate the war debt on armistice day. It will be 200 billion dollars by July 1, 1944. Fortunately for everybody this debt can be retired at a rate that is slower than the fighting speed at which it is being spent. Experts in various political camps agree that costs of running our government after the war will approximate 20 billion dollars a year. It's a safe figure.

Now 20 billion dollars is a big sum to work off in a year, but America can do it. We are raising 40 billion a year now with everybody working; surely we can raise 20 billion after the war—interest, payments on debt and care of disabled veterans all will be in the 20 billion. We can do it if employment is high, if jobs are still plentiful and well paid. We can do it with present tax rates cut in half, but not unless there is plenty of work.

Toilers Will Pay

People who work will pay the biggest share of post-war taxes. Last year two thirds of our national income was wages and salaries. Politicians may try to bleed Wall Street millionaires white, but it will not be enough. If all the people who pay tax on incomes of $25,000 or more were seated in one stadium, all our millionaires would be there, and other rich people besides. But the whole assembly could not pay half of 20 billion dollars a year—not even with a 100 per cent income tax. There are not enough of such wealthy people.

These men can't pay the entire expense of government but there is one thing they can do: They can, if permitted, keep factories running and jobs available for the rest of us who, in the long-run, will be obliged to work off that debt. And we would better be trying to keep it down.

Twenty billion dollars a year is twice what government was costing the United States at the peak of the New Deal's pre-war spending; five times what it cost in Herbert Hoover's day.

The Necessary Jobs

Concerning employment: Employers and employees both have to be considered. Strike pay-day from the calendar and work will surely cease. Just as surely investments will cease when chances to earn dividends are destroyed. Wages and dividends both are paid from earnings on investments, so employers (large and small) must be permitted to earn profits. Nothing makes new jobs but starting new businesses or enlarging old ones; both require investments.

Big investors can, at best, pay only a small part of the big post-war tax. If it is ever paid, people of moderate means will surely pay most of it, but they are looking to investors for work with which to create prosperity. One fact is clear therefore—any politician who advocates taxes on corporations, so big that they drive away investments and destroy jobs, is "penny wise and pound foolish." Such a taxing policy injures workers more than others.

Stewed Prunes

Stewed prunes for breakfast can use a little face-lifting now and then. Vary this dish by including thin slices of lemon, grated orange rind, nutmeg or cinnamon every once in a while.

Families Can

Three-fifths of the families in this country did some home food preservation last year, according to polls. And the average put up per family was 165 jars or cans.

Potato Production

Practical production of potatoes depends upon a soil adapted to the crop and on machinery for the work of planting, spraying and harvesting.

Castor Oil

Castor oil is an important pharmaceutical; also an indispensable lubricant for certain types of machinery and in aviation.

Machine Tools

During the years, 1941, 1942, and 1943, approximately 700,000 machine tools have been built for domestic use.

Under-Inflation, Heavy Load, Wear on Tires

Tire wear is increased by under-inflation and by loading beyond rated capacity. The average car owner will find it to his advantage to inflate tires to pressures two to four pounds higher than the recommended values. A pressure of 30 to 32 pounds "cold" will produce the greatest tire mileage for 6.00 by 16 tires.

Tires usually lose three to four pounds pressure each week in the summer and two to three pounds a week in winter. A rise or fall of 20 degrees in air temperature will cause a change in tire pressure of about one pound. This should be remembered particularly now that cars are not used frequently.

Overloading causes the same effect as under-inflation. The standard 4-ply, 6.00 by 16 passenger car tire is designed for a maximum load of 915 pounds at a tire pressure of 28 pounds.

Letting air out of tires in order not to exceed the recommended pressure while driving on a hot day is not favored. This practice causes higher tire temperatures which will contribute to more rapid tread wear on certain road surfaces and may be a factor in causing heat blow-outs on any surface.

Monte Carlo Picturesque Mediterranean Playground

Seen from the sea, Monte Carlo, in the days before the war, made a memorable picture of gaily tinted buildings set in green gardens. Gleaming yachts rode lazily at anchor in the Port of Hercules, big tourist steamers waited outside the harbor for passengers goggling at the sights ashore.

Upward, the eye ranged over the white terraces shimmering in the sun, the palatial hotels dotting the slopes of Mount Beausoleil, the railway climbing the hill to La Turbie, the snowy summits of the Maritime Alps. In this plush-and-gold setting, rainbow chasing became a fine art.

Monte Carlo was beautiful, clean, quiet. Streets were silent by nine o'clock. Once the crowds had entered the garish portals of the combination theater and casino, the town was stilled until the flurry of traffic at the end of the performance.

Chance was king in the casino that flourished in the domain of a prince. The grant for the gaming concession in the prosperous pre-war year of 1937 was about half a million dollars, half the Principality's public expenditures in a recent year.

Citrus Wastes

Arizona citrus growers have found a way to solve the problem of disposing of grapefruit hulls from the state's three largest juice canneries and at the same time show a neat profit on the transaction.

These hulls amount to 60 per cent of the fresh fruit weight and it has cost from $3,000 to $4,000 a season to have them hauled away. From now on, however, the procedure will be different. The cannery has arranged to sell this waste material for $7.40 a ton, dry weight, which will average about $1 per ton wet. Thus, instead of being a liability, the hulls become another asset.

H. E. Tedlock, a Californian, has been working with peels for some time and is responsible for the present arrangements. He found that by spreading the hulls out on the Arizona sands and letting the sun do the work, a very palatable stock feed resulted. His method is much cheaper than mechanical dehydration and tests made at the U.S.D.A. laboratory at Albany, Alameda county, Calif., indicate that the sun-dried product is a better, more nutritious feed.

After the hulls are thoroughly dry they are put through a hammermill to reduce the volume and also to make them more palatable.

Vitamin in Cabbage

Cabbage provides a goodly amount of vitamin C and deserves a place in menu plans, especially now when some other leafy varieties are short in supply. It can be served as a hot vegetable or the raw cabbage can be made into salads. The fact that it combines well with meats, seafood and many other vegetables makes it easy to adapt to menu plans.

Big Diamond

Biggest diamond find in South Africa was the "Cullinan," turned up in the Transvaal. In the rough it weighed 3,106 carats, more than a pound. Given to King Edward VII by the Union of South Africa, the stone was cut into nine parts, most famous being the 530-carat "Star of South Africa." Discovery of the 726-carat "Jonker" made world news in 1934.

Never Top Tree

Never top a tree. A tree from which the top has been lopped off will always be unsightly, and such treatment favors decay of heart wood and earlier breakdown of the tree. When a tree becomes too large it is better to take it out completely and replace it with a new tree, rather than remove the top of the old one.

Banana Business

In the United States, bananas are normally a source of income for about 400,000 retail merchants; a principal business for more than 2,000 jobbers of bananas; a loading for about 100,000 refrigerated railway freight cars and a direct source of employment for more than 25,000 workers of the United States.

Winterkilling Grains

An important factor in winterkilling with fall-sown grains is the amount of snow cover during periods of extreme cold. If the fields are well covered with snow during the greater part of the winter there is less winterkilling.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 11th.

The Golden Text will be from Jer. 30:11—"I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee."

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon will be the following from the Bible—Gen. 17:1—"And when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the Lord appeared unto Abram, and said unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect."

The Lesson-Sermon also will include passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, among which is the following, page 410—"Every trial of our faith in God makes us stronger. The more difficult seems the material condition to be overcome by Spirit, the stronger should be our faith, and the purer our love."

"Women are hard to get, and harder to keep."—Secretary Ickes, speaking of female help in Interior Dept.

"We are all enlisted for the duration—now we want to re-enlist for the postwar period."—Pres. Wm. Green, AFL.

"As far as I am concerned politically, I haven't turned a hand. I don't intend too."—Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt.

"William S. Hart has come into an inheritance of $700,000. Now he can afford to keep a horse."—H. I. Phillips, N. Y. Sun.

"Hoboes are the backbone of the nation, and that is why I represent them."—Hobo Benson, "Official King of the Hoboes."

"The high cost of 'cheap money' would make a good headline."—Lewis Haney, Prof. of Economics, New York University.

"The war will end October 28, 1944."—Publisher Amon Carter, Ft. Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram.

Brain Combines Double Images, Forms Only One

Because your eyes are set approximately two and one half inches apart, this gives a slightly different view of an object with each eye. The higher visual centers in the brain, combine these slightly differing images into one, thus producing "fusion" and a much improved sensation of reality by virtue of the impression of stereopsis. This faculty of depth perception is a vital factor in automobile driving and in hundreds of acts of our daily lives. Sometimes when the two eyes do not learn teamwork, to avoid seeing double (diplopia) the brain suppresses one of the visual images. As this habit grows, although both eyes are wide open and appear all right, one of them is doing practically all of the work and depth perception becomes a thing of the past. Without meaning to, many people are suppressing important facts about the object at which they are looking — seeing less than they should.

This reduction of the vision in one eye is called amblyopia. It is not uncommon to find one eye enjoying a little better sight than the other and this is usually evened up with the properly prescribed lenses, but where one eye is much poorer in vision than the other, visual training is now used with considerable success and usually good sight is restored to the dimmed eye. This tendency of one eye to become amblyopic, is just one of the concessions made by the visual mechanism when maintained visual tasks are required of a person and no outside help is secured. Most such concessions can be overcome and balanced seeing restored.

Good Spray Aid to Economizing on Material

W. C. Krueger, extension agricultural engineer at Rutgers university, reminds fruit growers that the best way to economize on spray materials is to have your equipment in such condition that you don't waste any.

"Leaky valves and pistons increase pumping costs and prevent high pressures necessary for perfect application," Krueger said. "Worn and enlarged nozzle disks are a common cause of poor coverage and waste."

"Pump valves should be given special attention. Valve seats which do not show a continuous bright contact surface should be re-faced and tested with a new ball valve. The seat contact should be narrow. Wide contact favors lodging of foreign materials and subsequent leakage. Ball valves showing any signs of scoring or ridging must be replaced."

"Test pressure control valves. If they need reconditioning, this is a job for your dealer mechanic. Check and recondition your hose. With the pressure that goes through the spray hose, it's dangerous to tolerate a weak one."

Slack Suit Useful and Will Save Money for War Bonds

Every well-rounded wardrobe should include a slack suit. They are practical and appropriate, whether you play golf or work in a defense plant. Smart in its simplicity is this outfit of brown slacks and jacket with beige front worn by a Powers model. You will want to make and wear it, and buy War Bonds with the money you save by sewing. A suitable pattern may be obtained at your local store.

Shift 300,000 From War Jobs to Farm

Movement Intended to Solve Labor Problem.

WASHINGTON. — To the swift movement of younger men into military service there has been a new manpower movement — in operation for six months but only recently disclosed — the transfer of more than 300,000 from war industry back to the farm and the strongest deferment status.

Authorities say the shift is far too great to be considered merely a seasonal migration.

And as some semblance of order arose from the chaos of deferments, inductions, manpower shortages and the arguments of industry against drafting of key men, this was the picture:

1. The July manpower goal of the military is 11,300,000 — 700,000 over the estimated armed forces personnel of 10,600,000. But 460,000 additional will be needed as replacements.

2. Available sources of men not already marked for army call now have been narrowed down to farm workers and men holding deferments in nonagricultural jobs.

3. Selective service has ordered a halt to reconsideration of deferred men 26 and over until each local board has gone through its list of younger men.

4. Youths, 18 through 25, holding nonfarm job deferments — they number about 365,000 — may be called for preinduction physicals immediately, without being taken out of class 2-A or 2-B. The expiration dates of their deferments no longer mean anything if it is decided they should be in 1-A. If they are found unfit for military service or fit for limited service only, they may be given occupational deferments rather than be put in 4-F or 1-L (limited service.)

5. The new rules do not apply to men over 25 already in 1-A.

On the patriotic assumption that it was contributing to the war effort by saving gasoline, the Anderson Dairy of Las Vegas, Nev., started using horse-drawn wagons for retail deliveries, seven days a week. The result? A cease and desist order from the Office of Defense Transportation on the ground that permission for seven-day service must be obtained from the ODT district office in Reno, whether the vehicle is gas-propelled or horse-drawn.

When the Anderson Dairy announced its intention not to comply with the ODT's cease-and-desist order the ODT threatened to revoke the firm's gasoline allocations for wholesale deliveries still made by truck. The Dairy replied that it plans to use horses for wholesale deliveries also.

"The genius of America is stronger than any candidate or any party . . . I still know that the fate of America cannot depend on any one man. The greatness of America is grounded in principles and not on any single personality. I, for one, shall remember that, even as President . . ."—Franklin D. Roosevelt, in an address delivered at Madison Square Garden, New York City, Nov. 5, 1932.

DOESN'T MAKE SENSE

Appearing before the House Banking Committee on May 15th, Chester Bowles, Administrator of OPA, told the members of that committee that a return to general meat rationing is a possibility within 30 days. But the Price Administrator hedged his prediction somewhat and allowed plenty of leeway as to the time by making this qualification, "I am quite confident we will have to have rationing again of meat in 30, 60, or 90 days, or maybe it will be January or February."

Contrast this prediction with the report released, also on May 15th, by the War Food Administration which showed that the stocks of meat in storage thruout the country on May 1 were at the highest level for that date since 1920.

Meat in storage on May 1, 1944, totaled 1,215,501,000 pounds, as compared with 714,612,000 pounds on May 1st a year ago.

An official of the Anderson Dairy insists "we still think we are right and we will carry this fight to the highest authority."

Efficiency in High Gear

The OPA, it is said, is now "efficient." Here's what that means: OPA's price office decided several weeks before Easter to prepare a pamphlet on rules for selling Easter dyes to insure the trade full information on the subject. The completed work was said to be very clear and concise. The trouble was that the printed pamphlets, neatly baled, were not mailed from Washington until the day after Easter.

1944 is more than an election year. It is a year of decision for the American people: the year when they will decide whether to return to the American concept of government or go the whole way to collectivism.

Not Indispensable

It is odd that some advocates of a fourth term do not believe President Roosevelt is indispensable. Senator "On-Again-Off-Again" Barkley admitted in a recent magazine article that Roosevelt is not an indispensable man. The senator says he doesn't think anyone is indispensable.

Likewise, Charles Michaelson, the New Deal's smear artist, admits in his book, "The Ghost Talks," that Roosevelt is nothing more or less than another politician. He makes it plain that he thinks the politician in the White House is very dispensable.

In other words, the only people who are supposed to think F. D. R. is indispensable are the voters who don't know him.

ANOTHER "BLUNDER"

When 2700 jars of peanut butter were destroyed recently by federal marshals under a federal court order at Idaho Falls, Idaho, because the jars weighed 15.66 ounces instead of 16 ounces as stated on the labels, Dr. Paul B. Dunbar, acting food and drug administrator, admitted that such waste of food was a "blunder" on the part of representatives of his agency. The blunder could have been averted and the food conserved either by relabeling the jars, by adding peanut butter to increase the weight to label specifications, or by donating the food to a charitable institution.

The Raw Deal

Milk Dumped in Delivery Dispute

One thousand gallons of milk was poured into an Atlanta, Georgia, sewer recently following a dispute with the Office of Defense Transportation.

The milk had accumulated in the plant of the Georgia Milk Producers Confederation over Sunday, May 14, and according to James D. Gay, general manager, had to be disposed of. Delivery on Sunday is banned under an ODT regulation.

With inadequate storage facilities in their plant, plant officials appealed to the ODT for permission to deliver the milk but the request was denied. A Confederation official said, "We tried to give the milk away to charitable organizations but they took only 60 gallons. We tried to save all the cream we could and some of the milk had been skimmed. We don't want to keep the milk—people need it."

Not in the Book

CORP. JIMMY KELLER walked briskly over to Sergeant Dikes. Now was the time to ask him, and even if the answer was no, well, you couldn't get ruled off for trying. Maybe all those hash marks on the sergeant's left sleeve didn't mean that he was as tough as most of the boys thought.

Jimmy was twenty-two, and a corporal of just three weeks. His blue denim bagged at the knees. Sergeant Dikes' uniform fitted him like the bark on the bluegum trees of the hillside where the artillery detachment was located. His face was rugged and bleak.

"I've been thinking, Sergeant, that the boys would be happier and do better work if we fixed up the camp a little."

"As how?" The older man's gray eyes roved over the scattered pup tents, the neat piles of barrack bags, and back to Jimmy. "Looks regulation. What's the matter with it?"

Jimmy gulped. Maybe it was dumb after all. The boys had said that the Sergeant would mow him down. But he would make the attempt anyway.

"What I mean is, the boys have about four free hours every day. If they want to read, they have to sit on the ground. We could make a table and a couple of benches; fix up a spot to pitch horseshoes."

When the sergeant spoke, the words came from one side of his mouth. "Corporal, when I was your age I had ideas too. Sometimes they worked, but mostly they didn't. And when they didn't, it was just too bad. So all I can say is this, Me, I go by the book. If it says so in the book, I do it. And if it doesn't say so in the book, I don't do it. You asked me, and I'm telling you. I won't say yes, and I won't say no. That's all, Corporal."

"That's all, Corporal."

"What did the top say, Jimmy? May we?" About fifteen were crowded around the corporal.

"He didn't say yes, and he didn't say no," said Jimmy wryly. "He didn't even say maybe," he added with a grin. "But if you fellows will help I'll go ahead."

"If the old man doesn't like it he'll break you back to private," said Sam Johnson.

"Make it an order, Jimmy," brightly suggested somebody. "Then if the brass hats don't like it we'll be in the clear." Jimmy joined in the laugh that followed.

"Let's go," said Sam Johnson. "But remember, if there's a beef, you take it."

"I'll take it," said Jimmy. He looked at the chevrons on his sleeve. Six months to earn those two bits of cloth, and now he might lose them!

The material arrived the next day. The obliging landowner had driven his truck to the lumber yard and delivered it himself with eight large horseshoes, just the right size and weight to pitch. By sunset the rough table, two benches and four chairs were finished and placed. Stakes had been driven and two horseshoe courts marked out.

At four p. m. two days later, most of the boys were off duty until seven. Three sat at the table writing letters. Sam Johnson and others were on the courts. All the chairs were occupied. Jimmy had just repacked his bag when he heard a challenge from the sentry at the camp entrance. Then the colonel's big gray car rolled past the guard, and stopped within ten feet of Jimmy.

The colonel walked toward the table. Sergeant Dikes followed at regulation distance, his face expressionless. After what seemed an hour to Jimmy the Colonel spoke. "Who is responsible for these, ah—shall we say improvements?"

Jimmy stepped forward one pace and saluted: "I am, sir."

The Colonel looked at the others. "Anyone else accountable?" No one answered. "Very well, Sergeant, take the corporal's name." He turned to Jimmy. "I like the right kind of enterprise in the men of my command. These conveniences meet with my approval. Corporal, you will be acting sergeant from now on." To Sergeant Dikes he said, "Make a note of that, Sergeant."

As Jimmy watched Dikes "make a note of it" he saw him close one eye. And what was intended for a smile played for a moment about Sergeant Dikes' lips.

Code for Stork Tidings

Gives Commons a Laugh

LONDON. — Sir Ian Fraser suggested in the House of Commons that the government devise a telegraph code to shorten messages from soldiers' wives to their husbands, saying, "I am going to have a baby."

Capt. Edward Cobb then urged a code for the message, "I am not going to have a baby." At this point, amid roars of laughter, R. Sorenson, Laborite, asked: "Are you aware that such a message will arouse great bewilderment?"

Control Chick Disease

A strict sanitation program should be followed in controlling disease in chicks. The maintenance of the proper temperature is important, but the house should be well ventilated at all times. Fresh air is necessary but it is impossible to furnish plenty of fresh air if the brooder house is overcrowded. Poultrymen should allow one square foot of floor space for each two chicks. Fresh clean feed should be provided and the feed and water containers cleaned daily. This program should be followed closely for every chick represents feed, labor and food.

Accident Toll

Accidents in 1943 killed approximately 94,500 persons. About 9,700,000 were injured, including 320,000 cases in which the injury resulted in some permanent disability—an amputated finger, a stiffened joint, blindness.

Costs amounted to about $5,000,000,000, including wage loss and medical expense of $2,250,000,000, overhead costs of insurance of $500,000,000, fire loss of $380,000,000, motor vehicle property damage of $550,000,000, and the so-called "indirect" costs of occupational accidents of $1,300,000,000.

The above total represents a decrease of 1 1/2 per cent from the 1942 toll of 95,889. Compared to the 1936 all-time of 110,052, however, 1943 was down 14 per cent.

Flag Etiquette Varies but Slightly in 50 Years; Display Variations Rare

The observance of flag day on June 14, 1944, is of greater significance than at any time in history. For today Old Glory is flying at the peak of flagstaffs not only throughout our own broad nation but in many of the remotest spots on earth.

Every American should be familiar with the proper etiquette and respect which is to be accorded our national banner at all times. What American hasn't felt the surge of patriotism as he has watched the flag go by and stood at attention to salute it?

The custom of display and homage to the flag has been a standard one for more than half a century and today it remains essentially the same. However, a few slight changes and one or two rather pertinent ones have been made in the flag code during recent years.

Congress a year or so ago amended several of the existing rules and customs pertaining to the flag code. The main change, however, deals with the pledge of allegiance. The variation is a slight but purposeful one. Civilians repeating the pledge should merely place the right hand over the heart and should not raise their hands and point to the flag as was previously the custom.

Occasionally in the observance of flag day there may occur an innocent violation in handling the flag. It might be well for us to refresh ourselves in a number of the salient phases to be adhered to in displaying the flag on this day.

The flag should be flown only from sunrise to sunset and on stationary flagstaffs in the open. Unless there is a special reason for doing so the flag should never be flown in rainy or stormy weather. It should always be raised briskly and lowered slowly. The flag should never be used for receiving or holding anything. It should never be permitted to trail on the ground.

But it is quite rare when an American permits any of these things to happen to it when handling the flag. And as for the display of the national emblem this flag day the traditional effect will be heightened by the number of our American men and women who are fighting and working valiantly to keep it flying everywhere it has been hoisted.

And those of us on the home front, when we unfurl the Stars and Stripes to the breezes this flag day, 1944, will again renew the allegiance to its proud colors and to the gallant fighters who carry the flag with them into the battles they wage to see that it flies forever over a free land.

"Hats off—the flag goes by . . ."

PAUL PLEADS FOR A RUN-AWAY SLAVE

LESSON TEXT—Philemon 4-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you.—Ephesians 4:32.

Brotherhood is one of those fine qualities or impulses of the soul of which men like to speak when all is fair and prosperous, and promptly forget in times of distress and struggle. That is just where Christianity shows forth at its best, for it is in the hour of need, sorrow, or affliction that real Christian brotherhood shows its depth and durability.

Paul was in prison when he wrote to Philemon. The one of whom he wrote, Onesimus, was a slave who had deserted his master and probably defrauded him (v.18). He had been converted, and now was being sent back to his master. So we have three Christian men dealing with a very delicate matter, and providing us a picture of brotherhood in action. We learn that it is—

I. Courteous (vv. 4-9).

After a fine spiritual salutation, Paul enters upon an appeal to Philemon which is a model of tact and courtesy. One could wish that those who think that being faithful to the Lord and true to His Word means being blunt and unkind, would learn of Paul.

First he lets Philemon know of his prayerful interest in him. Paul had been praying for him, that's why he could say such a helpful word. Praying for our fellow man prepares us for genuine brotherly love.

Then he recognizes Philemon's goodness, and his effective testimony for Christ. This is an excellent approach to the making of a request, but be sure that it was not empty or hypocritical flattery. We do well to recognize the fine qualities of our Christian brother, and we could profitably speak of them more than we do.

Then Paul was ready to make his request. See how nicely he does it. He skillfully reminds Philemon that he might make some demands, and especially in view of his age and his imprisonment. But he will not do so, rather he says, "I beseech thee." There is fine Christian courtesy.

II. Considerate (vv. 10-16).

Paul, the aged prisoner, had found in his new convert, Onesimus, a real helper. He would have liked to keep him. In fact, says he to Philemon, Onesimus could do for me the things you would want to do if you were here (v. 13).

Undoubtedly Paul could have been sure of the willingness of Philemon. He could have assumed that the request would be granted. And in any case, Philemon did not even know where Onesimus was, so why not keep him?

True Christian consideration respects the personal rights and the property rights of another. We must not assume, or demand, or put pressure on anyone (v. 14) to get what they have or to draw out their service.

Another expression of consideration is found in verses 15 and 16. Philemon had lost a heathen slave, now he is receiving back a Christian brother. No worker will give less in service, and no master will demand more, because the two are both Christians. We need to recognize that fact, for all too often men presume on their relationship as brethren. But the fact that they are Christians should make a great difference in their attitude toward one another.

III. Cooperative (vv. 17-21).

Partners share the benefits and the burdens of their joint enterprise. Partners in the gospel, like Paul and Philemon, shared not only spiritual blessings, but also the responsibilities. Paul was presenting such an item to Philemon in the return of Onesimus. Something had to be done about the debt of Onesimus, his failure as a servant. Paul says, "Charge it to me, your partner."

It has been pointed out that there is here a blessed example of the important doctrine of imputation, which is the "act of God whereby He accounts righteousness to the believer in Christ," because He "has borne the believer's sins in vindication of the law." So we note that verses 17 and 18 perfectly illustrate imputation.

Paul's promise "I will repay it" (v. 19) was the legal phraseology of a promissory note in his day. It was a bona fide partnership transaction, yet it was coupled with a reminder of indebtedness. Everything Philemon had and was he owed to Paul; but, says the latter, "I will not speak of that now." Consideration again, but opening the door wide for Philemon's cooperation.

No right thinking person is content always to be on the receiving hand. The humblest recipient of favor or the smallest child who feels the love of another wants to respond. The considerate friend will, therefore, not always insist on giving, but will graciously (like Paul) open the way for cooperation, for partnership.

Head Hunters To Fight Japs

Tribesmen With Hobby of Decapitation Enlist on Allied Side

SOMEWHERE IN BURMA.—The Wild Wa is honing his dah with the hope of lopping off heads again — Japanese heads.

He has enlisted enthusiastically on the Allied side against any Japanese intrusion into his remote highland domain.

The Wild Wa once was the terror of the northeast Burma hill country. Head-hunting was part of his religious practice, undertaken ceremoniously with the idea that a good crop of enemy skulls grinning from posts outside the villages would produce a good harvest.

His dah is his all-purpose knife, a chisel-shaped, razor-edged weapon constantly at his side. The Wild Wa was so self-sufficient, and perhaps so handy with the dah, that the British for years euphemistically listed his homeland as "unadministered territory."

Taming of Wild Wa.

(The Wild Wa tribesmen presumably are the Kachins now operating with Gurkha troops as British Commandos in the advance on Myitkyna, main Japanese base north of the Burma road.)

Missionary work begun by an American Baptist and carried on by his sons, and concurrent introduction of the law of the West have turned the dah almost exclusively to cutting bamboo and other utilitarian uses.

The taming of the Wild Wa was undertaken many years ago by William Marcus Young, who spent 44 years here, established four missions in the Wa and Shan States and baptized 40,000 hill people. When he died he left the Wild Wa to his jungle-bred sons, Harold and Vincent, both now serving as advisers to the armed forces.

They have carried on the elder Young's discouragement of head-hunting until it is practically eliminated. No white man is known to have lost a head to the Wild Wa since the '90s.

Warn Tribesmen.

With the war came the necessity of warning the Wild Wa of the Japanese menace. Vincent Young had devised a written language from the phonetics of the Wild Wa and the English alphabet.

Besides, there was the "jungle telegraphy" by which the character of any interloper is transmitted far ahead of him with incredible swiftness. (The Wild Wa transmits by runners and by mortar signals shot off with home-made gunpowder. Three mortar shots ringing through the hills mean "ambush all the trails.")

Burma's darkest days came the message, from the Youngs, that the Japanese were coming and that they were bad people.

The Wild Wa thought this over for awhile and then, with his retinue, approached Harold Young.

"These people you have been telling us about," they said, fingering their dahs.

Putting Satan behind him, Harold Young said the intruder could be met with the best weapon available, but he stuck firmly to the thesis that the destruction of an invader should not be interpreted as obedience to any spirit controlling the harvest.

School for Illiterates

Graduates 45 Students

CHICAGO. — The Illinois selective service school for men once rejected for military service because of illiteracy held its first formal graduation program with 45 men completing the course and reported to their draft boards as available for military service.

Selective service officials said the school was the first of its kind in the country. It was started in September, 1942, due to the large number of rejections because of illiteracy. About 75 men already have completed the schooling and 57 are in service.

When the 45 students started school none could spell his name or read it when written. Their average age is 27 and none is over 37.

British Yachtsmen Are

Called to Stand By Again

LONDON. — The motley yachtmen's navy which saved the day for Britain at Dunkirk in 1940 has been called upon to hold itself in readiness during the next six months — presumably for some role in the invasion.

The admiralty asked sailors of river and tidewater craft, including yachtmen and others acquainted with motor and steam boats, to put their services at the disposal of the Royal navy for tours of duty up to a maximum of four weeks in this period.

Banana Market

Together, the United States and Canada ordinarily consume about three-fifths of the total banana crop of 100 million stems per year; with the British Isles the next most important buyer, and the Scandinavian countries and Central and Southern Europe as secondary markets. Also a relatively small but increasing percentage of the crop is being shipped southward into the temperate countries of South America.

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President, Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Prosperity

A toiling tenant farmer with several children became suddenly wealthy. A forgotten relative in another state died, leaving him a desirable plantation; broad, fertile fields and well built barns. The family hurried to move and take possession but, after three years, they returned to their former diggings as share-croppers. They complained that times had been hard; only one prosperous year. That was the first year, when they mortgaged the farm.

It is not uncommon to hear people say prosperous when they mean flush, but the words are not akin; the ideas are not alike. Squandering borrowed money is not prosperity. It is the enemy of prosperity. A thief in an underworld den buying drinks for the house is flush, not prosperous. On the other hand, a thrifty farmer who builds a fertile field out of an eroded hillside is prosperous although he may have no cash.

Punishing the Innocent

There are many prosperous people in America this year doing constructive things, helping to hasten victory and safeguard a lasting peace. Some are wisely freezing their good incomes by investing in war bonds—which amounts to buying dollar bills at 75c apiece for future delivery. But others are only flush, foolishly spending cash for what they consider fun, purchasing trinkets with little or no post-war value.

Unwise citizens are not alone to blame. Our government has set them an unmistakable example. Some government departments are flush, spending recklessly and wasting money on things that are worse than useless; downright harmful to human freedom. The foolish spendthrift who wastes his wages will suffer for his own prodigal deed, but it is the prosperous and thrifty in America who will finally pay for the blunders of public servants.

Spending Tax Money

By comparison with other countries, the United States is financially strong, but, as a nation, we are not prospering during the war. Wars, by their very nature, are destructive and currently we are spending money about twice as fast as our taxpayers are supplying it. Sad to say, it is not all being spent for liberty and peace. Like the newly-rich sharecropper, we (through appointed agents) have mortgaged our home and are squandering the money.

The executive department of the federal government has a monthly payroll of 650 million dollars. This sustains three million employees; more than three times as many as were feeding off that department at the end of World War I.

Baubles, of no account to the war effort, offering small hope of ever benefitting more than a few Americans after the war, include two oil pipelines on foreign soil; one 135 million dollar experiment in northern Canada and a venture in Arabia that's even more costly.

We Are Still Free

Ever since mortal man started recording useful lessons of experience to benefit posterity, the accumulated wisdom of the ages has warned against wastefulness. Siphoning off the wealth of America into remote places can serve only to weaken America, for war and for peace-time progress. People who do it ignorantly are unfit for positions of public trust, and those who do it knowingly are far more dangerous.

Swiftly our national debt of 175 billion dollars approaches what used to be considered the value of the nation's real estate. None of us can prosper in a bankrupt country; taxes would never permit it. All patriotic citizens have a grave, mutual problem and look to Congress for its solution: This nation must now conserve its financial strength in order to prevent insolvency at the close of the war.

Refinishing Wood
To get best results in refinishing wood surfaces, first remove all the old finish. A sanding machine, a scraper or a solvent is used. Home-made solvents may be used but the commercial ones are safer for both the operator and the furniture.

When preparing for the new finish, first take out all dark surface stains and discolorations with a bleach. Then smooth the surface and fill the deep holes or cracks. If the original filler has been removed, use a filler to fill the pores of the wood to give a smooth, even surface.

Then comes the finishing. Furniture may be finished with oil, varnish, seals, shellac, paint, enamel or wax.

OPPORTUNITY to change breakfast menu. Serve new Post's Raisin Bran the delicious combination of crisp wheat and bran flakes plus choice California seedless raisins.

Insect Destroyer

Methyl bromide was discovered as an insect destroyer in France in 1936. It is odorless, noninflammable, nonexplosive and has been used as a fire extinguisher. Its use as a fumigant in this country was developed by the California state department of agriculture and is carried on by the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, U. S. department of agriculture, for the fumigation of nursery plants and trees moving through quarantine, flour, dried foods, and other produce. It has killed every species of insect on which it has been tried. It was developed as a delousing agent by the bureau of entomology at the request of the surgeon general's office, and the bureau considers it by far the best yet tried, because of its rapid action and penetrating powers, and because it leaves no deposit in fumigated garments.

Glass Jewels

Tiny glass ring jewels, no bigger than the head of a pin, developed for certain aircraft instrument bearings, are now available for other applications. The jewels are listed in five sizes for use in precision measuring equipment, and other shapes and sizes are possible for such applications as thread guides, weighing scales, automobile and truck speedometers, and similar instruments and devices.

The glass ring jewels are an outgrowth of the work in developing glass "V" jewels, introduced recently by the company as the answer to the shortage of foreign-made sapphire bearings. The ring jewels, like the "V" jewels, are superior to sapphire in many respects according to the company and are available at approximately one-third the cost. The ring jewels are supplied ready to set at $120 per 100.

REFUNDS TO INCOME TAX PAYERS

While one million 1943 income tax refunds have been made by the Treasury Department, it will be several months before all of approximately 18 million taxpayers will get refunds to which they are entitled, according to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Each refund, however, will include interest at the rate of 6 percent per year from March 15, this year, to the date the refund is scheduled. First attention was given to claims of members of the armed forces. No action is needed on the part of the taxpayer unless he has moved from the address shown on his return, in which case he should send both his old and new addresses to the collector of internal revenue in the district in which the return was filed.

MEMORIAL DAY

It is pleasant to sit in my study today And think back thru the years that are gone And recount the times, and the great swelling crowds That assembled at day's early dawn. Full half a century has gone since that day I made first appearance, my tribute to pay To the valorous deeds to the men Blue and Grey, Who fought for the flag that each did display.

There were millions of them—valorous, strong Who believed in their hearts the enemy was wrong; Now full eighty years have all passed away And with these years ALL the Blue and the Grey. And none is now left their memory to cherish (All things on earth, like them) too must perish Or a flower to lay on the grave where they lay; Yes, I sit and I wonder, as here yet I stay At the majestic splendor of both Blue and Grey.

As the taps have all been sounded For each one of that great throng Who who tarry should remember What great deeds to them belong. They left us a flag unmolested— And a country proud and strong. Shall we pass it on to others Without blemish without wrong? W. J. H. May 30, 1944.

PROPER DIET

After listening to a long lecture on diet until she became disgusted, a poetess wrote the following lines to the editor of the local newspaper:

"Methuselah ate what he found on his plate, And never, as people do now, Did he note the amount of the caloric count— He ate it because it was chow. He wasn't disturbed, as at dinner he sat, Destroying a roast or a pie, To think it was lacking in granular fat, Or a couple of vitamins shy. He cheerfully chewed every species of food, Untroubled by worries or fears Lest his health might be hurt by some fancy dessert, And he lived over nine hundred years."

HOUSEHOLDERS WARNED TO ORDER COAL NOW

The Office of Defense Transportation has issued a warning to householders throughout this area to fill their coal bins during the Summer if they wish to be certain of a supply when Winter comes. The ODT explained that a shortage of motor trucks and drivers available for coal distribution is expected to reach a critical stage this Fall and Winter, pointing out that many trucks are over age or in need of replacement parts or rehabilitation. It may be impossible to obtain prompt delivery of coal this winter, ODT said.

"Money isn't everything. We've got money now to get anything we need, but we can't get any good cornmeal."—Mrs. T. D. Lewis, Heidelberg, Miss., after oil gusher came in on her farm.

"I lived on C rations for six weeks and that's what did it."—Actress Paulette Goddard, who gained eight pounds entertaining troops in India and China.

"Supporting towers of our liberty are representative constitutional democracy, civil and religious liberty and the individual's right to private property and economic activity of his own choice."—Pres. H. W. Prentiss, Jr., Armstrong Cork Co.

"Approximately $10,000,000,000 in new investments will be needed to provide the 6 to 7 million additional jobs required to maintain production and employment at the level necessary for postwar prosperity."—Paul G. Hoffman, chairman CED.

EFFORTS BEING MADE FOR SAFE AUTO DRIVING

"Again Carroll County can be proud of its clear record for another year—no traffic accidents to school children enroute to and from class at intersections protected by safety patrol members," Percy M. Burke, Westminster Branch Manager of the Automobile Club of Maryland announced today.

"We believe this fine record is made possible only by the splendid safety education work of school teachers, and the unstinting duty performed by AAA School Safety Patrol members," Mr. Burke said.

"It is particularly gratifying to report this fact to parents of school-age children. Highest praise is due the faithful patrol members who daily took their posts to protect class mates against traffic hazards. Patrol members of Maryland are among some 300,000 young 'Guardians of Safety' in 3,200 communities throughout the United States who are sponsored and equipped by AAA Motor Clubs."

"The Automobile Club of Maryland salutes this splendid record of the school-age pedestrian group which sets an example for older pedestrians."

More than 500 Merit Award Certificates have been awarded by the Westminster Branch of the Automobile Club of Maryland to Safety Patrol Students in the Schools of Carroll County. Besides the certificates a number of Bronze Pins were awarded patrolmen who had performed "outstanding work."

Traffic signals prevent accidents for both drivers and pedestrians when both observe them, according to American Automobile Association safety reports. Obeying traffic signals is one way of increasing war production by eliminating man-power losses caused by pedestrian accidents.

"Any competent student of economics knows that the relationship of profit to the system of free enterprise is much like the relationship of gasoline to the auto—profit, like gasoline, makes the machine go."—Dr. W. I. King, New York Univ.
