FURLOUGH GASOLINE

Extra Gallons Given to Servicemen on Leave

A member of the armed forces on leave or furlough for a period of three days or more will be entitled to one gallon of gasoline for each day of his leave or furlough up to a maximum of 30 gallons, OPA announced today.

The new rule replaces one granting a flat five gallons to every member of the armed forces on leave, regardless of the length of the leave. At the suggestion of the Army and Navy this new ruling will not apply in the cases of Army or Navy personnel with leaves of less than three days.

To receive their rations, members of the armed services should apply to the War Price and Rationing Board having jurisdiction over the automobiles they expect to drive and present the proper leave or furlough papers. The ration will be issued in the form of coupons or gasoline permits, or a combination of both.

WIND CAUSES DAMAGE

The wind storm of Wednesday night caused a considerable amount of damage to electric and telephone lines throughout this community and in adjoining counties of Maryland and Pennsylvania. The storm was particularly severe in the vicinity of Waynesboro and through Frederick County.

Employees of the Potomac Edison Company and the C. & P. Telephone Co., were on the job immediately, but up to noon Thursday some isolated lines were still down, but feverish efforts are in progress to restore service. These men have worked without sleep.

Frederick called it the worst storm since 1931. The damage was to the breaking and uprooting of trees, the blowing over and damaging of poles and wires. Light was restored to Taneytown in a comparatively short time.

CASUALTY FIGURES—WAR—AUTOMOBILES

The casualty figures of the war make somber reading, but compare them with the deadliness of the automobile. Information issued by the American Automobile Association through the Westminster office of the Automobile Club of Maryland, reveals: From Pearl Harbor to April 1944 U. S. war dead 50,574, U. S. Auto dead 61,579, wounded, missing or prisoners of war, 171,569, auto injured 2,148,956. "Drive with care always."

THE BANK PLAN IS SUCCESSFUL

The Birnie Trust Company Will Retire Certificates

The Birnie Trust Company by advertisement in this issue, announces the success of its plan to retire Certificates of Beneficial Interest by the issue of capital stock and part payment of cash to the certificate holders. This will be good news to all who are interested in any way in the success of the plan, and who know what a handicap the Bank has been compelled to work under since the beginning of the bank holiday.

It will require several weeks to carry out the details of the exchange, but it is gratifying to know that the bank will soon be rid of its handicap. The officials and stockholders of the Trust Company deserve the hearty commendation of all the people of the community for the way they have carried on during more than eleven years, without being allowed to pay any dividends and without sharing in the war-time boom in salaries and wages.

The Taneytown Savings Bank announced earlier a plan somewhat similar and have been making good progress with their plan, but have not made any public announcement with regard to it.

NEW TIRE INSPECTION REGULATIONS

In an effort to conserve the rapidly dwindling supply of truck and passenger tires, OPA has recently issued a ruling restricting truck and passenger tire inspection to stations having facilities and personnel capable of doing the best possible job. This provision becomes effective July 25, 1944.

Official truck and passenger tire inspection stations will be authorized to inspect all types of tires for which replacements are sought. In addition, they will make periodic inspections required by the Office of Defense Transportation. Inspection of tires on commercial motor vehicle and trucks will be required every six months or every 5,000 miles. Inspections fees and charges for demounting and replacing a tire will be the same as in the past.

"The truck tire situation is extremely critical," said J. William Eggleston, District Rationing Executive "and it is imperative that every means possible be taken to get the most possible wear out of tires. Tires now in use must be given every care, since replacements can be permitted only when absolutely necessary."

ADDITIONAL HOME CANNING SUGAR

Second allotments of home canning sugar will be issued by all Maryland War Price and Rationing Boards beginning August 1st. OPA officials announced today. The Boards will continue to issue these allotments until October 31, 1944.

Persons who have obtained sugar for home-canning since March 1, 1944, but not in sufficient amount for their needs during the entire 1944 canning season may again apply at the same Board for an additional amount; the second allotment not to exceed the difference between 20 pounds and the amount previously obtained from the Board. Spare stamp No. 37 will not be required with the second application.

Applicants requesting canning sugar for the first time, may use spare stamp No. 37 for an amount not in excess of 20 pounds for each person listed on the application.

Form R-323 will again be used by the applicant in either case.

BUS AND TRUCK OPERATORS WARNED NOT TO WASTE GASOLINE BY IDLING MOTORS

The Office of Defense Transportation has requested that bus and truck drivers cooperate in conserving gasoline by turning off their motors when vehicles are not in use. "Critical shortage of gasoline, with military demands stepping up on all fronts, makes it imperative that bus and truck drivers cooperate in insuring the most efficient use of our limited civilian supply," Colonel J. Monroe Johnson, Director of ODT, said. "During the hot summer months, motors should be shut off on all stops of from one to three minutes or more, depending on the type of equipment and condition of vehicle parts."

KIWANIS DINE

S. E. Breth Had Charge of Program

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its weekly meeting, with dinner, at the Clear Ridge Inn, Wednesday evening. Dr. C. M. Benner had as guests two of his brothers-in-law, Calvin Basehoar, of town, and Dr. Curtis Basehoar, of near Washington.

After the meal a discussion program was carried out under the direction of S. E. Breth, chairman of the committee on public affairs. The general question for discussion was "What does Taneytown Need?"

Mr. Breth stated in the beginning that such a discussion could be either depressing or stimulating, depending on the manner of approach. He said they were not dealing in personalities or intangibles—no engaging in destructive criticism, but in constructive discussion.

The discussion took a wide range and was quite animated. Among the needs suggested were:

Greater playground and recreational facilities.

Farm to market roads.

Increased action in home construction.

Garbage collection and disposal.

Sewer system with disposal facilities.

Waste paper receptacles.

Building code.

Police protection.

No action was taken on any of these matters, but some of them may be taken up for discussion at future meetings.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE

The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission in its monthly report to Governor O'Connor, reported 961 traffic accidents with 29 persons killed and 517 injured. Six hundred and seventy-one of the accidents with 8 killed and 339 injured occurred in Baltimore City, and 290 accidents with 21 killed and 178 injured occurred in the counties.

Baltimore City experienced a 33.3% reduction in fatalities under June, 1943—while the counties experienced a 40% increase, which gave the State a 7.4% increase, over June, 1943. Fixed object, non-collision and R. R. train fatalities were substantially reduced, but the reduction was offset by the large increase in pedestrian and motor vehicle with motor vehicle fatalities.

These figures bring the totals for the first half of 1944 to 6,328 accidents with 184 killed and 3,262 injured, compared with 5,730 accidents, with 168 killed and 2,886 injured during the same period last year. This is an increase of 10.4% in accidents, 16.4% in deaths, and 13.0% in injuries over last year.

LARGE SAVINGS

A total of $2,544,000 has been saved in the State Government for the Taxpayers of Maryland during the fiscal year ending on June 30th. This figure, the latest available, is subject to upward revision. The complete figure is not yet compiled by State authorities. The savings were made by keeping State spending below the amount authorized to be spent by the General Assembly. The amount $2,000,000 was saved in regular departments of the State, and $544,000, in special war emergency funds.

Governor O'Connor and the men under him are to be credited with this economy.

NEW NON-HIGHWAY GAS COUPONS

New, non-highway, serially-numbered gasoline coupons, E-2 and R-2 are now being issued in strips to farmers and other non-highway users, OPA has announced. The new coupons will be good concurrently with the E-1 and R-1 coupons now in circulation. The five-gallon R2 coupons are printed in blue ink, and the one-gallon E-2 coupons, in black ink. While neither of the new coupons is good for highway use, the E-2 specifically carries the legend: "Not good for obtaining gasoline to propel registered vehicle."

OUR DETROIT CORRESPONDENT

Writes About Politics and The Record's Beginning

As one of the daily papers stated, "The National convention season is over," and, as we gave an account of our impressions of that meeting of the Republican party, in our last letter, we will be pardoned if we do the same in the case of the one that was held by our friends, the enemy. We must confess that we listened to more of the proceedings of the latter than we did to those of the former. There are several reasons for this. We wanted to hear what would happen when such different factions would get together, what the CIO, which was reported to have sizable number among the delegates, would do, in the matter of retaining their particular friend, the present day-dreaming Vice-President, as the running mate of their more powerful friend, whose renomination for a Fourth term has been conceded months ago. And we also wanted to hear what the South, with its hatred of the negro, would say and do with the proposed declaration of racial equality, and also what would be done about several other planks in the platform.

We heard the fuss the Texas crowd made, and the fiery denunciation of the big city bosses, by Frankenstein, one of the labor racketeers from this city, but the most amusing thing we heard was the slip made by one of the delegates, who, after an eloquent and flowery speech, in seconding the nomination for president, wound up by saying "that great and beloved leader, Theodore Roosevelt," which produced a hearty laugh from the delegates. But, outside of the throwing of the present vice-president out of the picture, and the disappointment of the CIO in not gaining their purpose, we do not think that anything was done that will cause the loss of a single vote to the party, at the November election.

We almost forgot to say that the "Commander in Chief" note was played too often to make it sound good to any one who was listening to the proceedings. While it is true that the President has that title, it seemed that a deliberate attempt was made to impress that fact, not only on the soldier vote, but on their relatives, of the boys who are doing the fighting, in order that they may feel obligated to vote for him, which certainly is not the case. And only one did we hear the word "Indispensable." It seems that they were afraid of it.

Maybe your readers have read about one of the latest activities of Henry Ford. The old gentleman, as you may know, is greatly interested in anything old. So when the time came to thresh the so-called "Biblical" wheat, he was in his glory. This crop of wheat, comprising 14 acres, is the result of a cubic inch planted by a farmer near Tecumseh, Michigan, four years ago, and a tenth or tithe of all the wheat raised each year given to the little Friend's church to which the farmer belonged, reached this year to the amount stated above, and when the time came to harvest it, Mr. Ford and his grandson, Henry II, were on hand to help, and all the work was done with tools taken from the Museum, in Dearborn, as was the case when the wheat was threshed. Mr. Ford himself, ran the 1882 model engine, which furnished the power for a threshing machine equally as old. While an old horse power, similar to those owned by nearly all farmers of our younger days, and which was powered by five teams of horses, ran another thrasher, while at another place an old man was using a flail. The tenth year will be given to the Cleveland Bible School and sold for seed to farmers, with the proviso that one-tenth be given to some church. The tools used in cutting the wheat were equally as old as those used in threshing it. Even a miniature engine and thrasher, made for the use of his grandsons, years ago were used in threshing the "gleeings."

Unfortunately we forgot that the Record was nearing the end of a half century of existence, and as we did not receive a copy of the last issue of that period, until two weeks after we should have, we will take the liberty to add a few words to what has already been said about the events that led up to the establishment of the paper. For some time before steps were taken to do this, the matter was discussed by a few, among which I was numbered, and when the "Carrolltonian," in Westminster, gave up the ghost, Mr. Englar and myself drove down to the county seat, where its assets were being offered for sale. Our bid was not accepted, at the time, but later on a stock company which had been formed, in Taneytown, acquired them, and Mr. John Davidson and myself were delegated to get the machinery and stock ready for removing it to its new home in the old Reindollar warehouse, which occupied the space where the Opera House now stands. David Renner hauled it for us, and outside of what we used in getting out the paper, I remember an old Cast-iron boiler steam engine, from which the water had not been drawn when the former owners went out of business, and which was badly cracked by freezing when it stood idle during the cold winter months. As welding castiron was not practiced much then, it was sold for scrap after a short time.

MAN POWER PRIORITY

Priority ratings have been established in all War Manpower Commission areas for Maryland and no employer may hire any male workers, any immigrant (male or female) or any woman who was previously employed in essential occupation, without clearance through the United States Employment Service, Lawrence B. Fenneman, State Director, War Manpower Commission, announced this week.

Under the new national priority-referral plan, which went into effect on July 1, 1944, Local USES office-managers recommend priority ratings for individual establishments and services, to the director in each area. In making these recommendations, office managers are guided by: (1) The relative essentiality to the war effort of the establishments products or services as indicated by the Production Urgency List of the War Production Board; (2) The actual need of the establishment for additional manpower; (3) The available supply of labor in the area.

Mr. Fenneman said that manpower priority may be refused to an establishment if there is evidence that the establishment requesting priority is not making reasonable efforts to solve its own manpower problems.

He pointed out that employers for whose firms priority ratings have been established, may request review of their rating and that upon recommendation the Area Director may revise the rating whenever necessary to meet changed conditions or circumstances.

ELECTRIC IRONS COMING IN FALL

Of the 2,037,838 electric irons already authorized for civilian production, about 99 per cent will be household models, mostly automatic, and the remainder, commercial models, WPB says. The irons will not be rationed and some of them are expected to be available in the fall.

OPA REDUCES OATS CEILINGS

An average reduction of five cents a bushel in the ceiling prices of oats has been announced by OPA. New base prices at terminal base points range from 71 cents at Seattle, Wash, and Portland, Ore., to 83½ cents at Philadelphia, Pa. OPA says the new prices will reflect parity to producing farmers during the current crop year.

FOOD ALLOTMENTS FOR FARM HELP

Farms, ranches and other non-institutional employers of seasonal workers may now apply for allotments of rationed foods to feed workers hired for 60 days or less, the Office of Price Administration announces. Previously, allotments were granted for 30 days or less. Farm workers employed for more than 60 days must continue to turn in their ration points to their employers for food served that requires points.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

We refer to the scrap at the Chicago convention last week over the nomination for the vice-presidency. That it was a real fight everybody who followed the proceedings knows. To fathom its meaning, however is not so simple a job.

Vice-President Wallace let it be known that he is no quitter. He stuck to the guns, and by his own prestige and the backing of CIO, mustered 429 1/2 votes on the first ballot, with 589 necessary to nominate. On the second ballot he climbed higher, until the favorite sons began to withdraw and change their votes. These were the more conservative elements, who centered on Senator Truman, and they soon piled up more than the number necessary to nominate, so Wallace is down and out.

There are puzzling features about the matter. Roosevelt, who in 1940 demanded and obtained the nomination of Wallace, endorsed him again, but in such a spineless way that it was plainly intended to kill him off. What does that mean so far as Roosevelt is concerned? He has tried to drop the term New Deal, which has become a millstone about his neck, and of course he must get rid of the arch-New Dealer, Wallace. Thus Roosevelt appears to be coming back to try to appeal to the conservatives. The question now is whether he can recover by that strategy more support among conservatives than he will lose among the left wing by dumping Wallace?

But there is a further puzzle. Hillman and Murray of the CIO seemed to be king bees in the convention. They financed and directed the fourth term campaign. They were openly consulted in the convention with regard to platform, etc., but they were defeated in their demand for the renomination of Wallace. Now what? Do they lose standing by this set back? CIO had it all set to run the convention, and then, if they could win in the election, to run the government, but a cog slipped, and the machine seems to be out of gear. It remains to be seen how the leaders are to bring order out of confusion. To the outsider it is a great puzzle.

WEASEL WORDS

The late and great Theodore Roosevelt was a man of action and held in contempt those who used weasel words to express their meaning. The fourth term candidate has intimated his desire to be freed from the cares of office that he might get back to Hyde Park to complete the architecture of the monument he is erecting in his own memory. Is he sincere in his desire to get back home? If he is those who vote to send him their will be doing him a favor. For my own part, taking him at his word, I shall so vote.

The president has done some very commendable things during his long term of office, and he has done some things that should be beneath the dignity of one who is chief executive of the United States.

Every one should commend him for restoring confidence when the banks crashed; and few there be except rabid partisans who will not condemn him for his attempt to pack the Supreme Court, or his cynical allusion to the Justices as nine old men; few will forget his attempt to purge from public life those congressmen of his own party who would not bow to his mandate to demean themselves; only those who benefited by his squanderomania during the depression will forgive him for spending on boondoggling and other trifling ways the billions now needed to conduct the war.

Personally, we think two terms as president long enough, and a third too long, and a fourth unthinkable by any honest patriotic American. The fate of America will be sealed in the election to be held this November. Those who desire a totalitarian state will vote Roosevelt; those who desire a free democratic form of government will not vote for Roosevelt. For once women stand in the majority. This election will determine womans right to rule; or her uniteness for such rule.

GLOBAL THINKERS, INC

From Nashville, Tenn. comes the news of a new kind of corporation. It is about a year old, and is organized by women. We might think from its name, "Global Thinkers, Inc," that it is concerned with political problems relating to the post-war period, but such is not the case. In their own words, they hope to beam to the world its appeal for "a return to finer femininity so that our men won't come home from the battlefronts to marry drunken, immoral women."

The year-old organization's fight against smoking and drinking among women was outlined, in an interview, by Miss Grace L. Donaldson of St. Petersburg, Fla., national director.

"We are not reformers, we do not carry hatchets, and we have no quarrel with anyone," she said. "Our aim is to educate women to think themselves into a new and better way of life. It's a new approach to an old problem."

Mrs. Myrtle McLean Banister, of Nashville, founder of the organization, defined "finer femininity" as "abstaining from drinking and smoking, getting out of slacks, growing up in modesty, and generally raising moral standards from the mire where they've begun to sink."

Mrs. Banister, national supervisor of the Delphian Society, adult women's educational club, continued: "I have lived in hotels since 1916. I watched the terrific increase of smoking and drinking among women and girls until I felt a social obligation to do something about it. Global Thinkers, Inc., was the answer."

She added: "We expect to girdle the globe with this idea."

MORE SPEED ON THE RAILS

"That the rail lines do not intend to be caught napping, if advance planning may enable them to hold their freight and passenger traffic, is evidenced by the ambitious new types of motive-power projected by American railways. The Pennsylvania has a new steam-turbine locomotive nearing completion and visualizes a turbo-electric which will burn pulverized coal. New York Central finally has succumbed to the Diesel and will have both freight and passenger locomotives of this type, to be tested opposite steam power under precisely the same conditions, to decide which is more efficient. And car-builders urge that new freight cars have trucks capable of 100 mph speeds, with passenger cars capable of withstanding 150-mile speeds. One can scarcely say that the rails are disposed to rest on their laurels."

The foregoing is an editorial from an exchange, but we do not enthuse over it.

Achievements in air-craft show that there is almost no limit to what can be done with regard to the speed of modern engines, but here is a momentous question. What if something goes wrong? There are so many elements to be reckoned with that the best of plans must sometimes go wrong.

What is the need and what is the sense of wanting to travel on a track at 150 miles per hour? Many a trip may be made in safety, but every start under such circumstances is a possible suicide.

MUST THEY PAY FOR A JOB?

An issue is before the State of Oregon that will be common to each of the 48 states. The voters of the city of Portland have approved postwar projects involving the expenditure of millions of dollars in public improvements which will afford employment and opportunity to the boys returning from the armed services.

The question is now raised, Will the veterans of World War II be forced to join labor organizations and pay for the right to obtain postwar employment on public works jobs financed by taxation? In other words, when the taxpayers authorize a public expenditure, will that mean that a substantial percentage of such money must be allocated to organization dues rather than to the improvements for which the money was voted?

Veterans who risk their lives to perpetuate individual liberty, may well resent restrictions at home that force them to pay for the right to earn a living.—Industrial News Review.

TO SAVE EUROPE—BEAT GERMAN IN '44

Citing high military and political authorities in Washington as being convinced that the war with Germany can be won during 1944, John Gunther, noted author and reporter, in an article in the August issue of the Reader's Digest warns that failure to do so may well bring direct consequences to Europe.

Says Mr. Gunther: "It is vitally important that we beat Germany to her knees quickly. Quick victory in Europe will save precious American lives. Another and urgent reason is that it may prevent Europe itself from dying. Should western Europe be sapped of its remaining strength and vitality, Germany—even though defeated—will remain the strong power on the continent (Russia excluded). Germany will thus have won a major objective. The longer the war lasts, the more insoluble becomes the German problem."

The Germans think of every war including this one as a kind of battle or campaign in a "permanent war," he writes, quoting the German Governor of Paris as saying: "What does a provisional defeat matter to us if we have been able to destroy so much manpower and material in neighboring territories that we have obtained an economic and numerical superiority greater than before 1939? With the war booty which we have accumulated, the enfeebling of two generations of the manpower of our neighbors, and the destruction of their industry, we shall be better placed to conquer 25 years from now than we were in 1939."

In line with this policy, the Germans, according to the Digest, have deliberately sought to starve the rest of Europe after sucking out all available healthy manpower. Says the article:

"The number of citizens of occupied countries doing forced labor inside Germany is now estimated at between eight and eleven million. Many more millions of the people left in the occupied countries have been enfeebled by lack of food; innumerable children—whom Germany looks upon as future enemies—have been rendered physically incapable of normal, healthy development.

"This is biological warfare at its fiercest. And unless we win soon it will proceed until the vitality of the Continent is extinct. It is extremely doubtful that the body of Europe can survive another year. We must win in 1944."

The conviction that the Allies 'can' win this year rests upon "three broad, enveloping, overlapping factors": The strategic position of the Allies, which steadily grows more favorable; their enormous aggregate of power, and sagging German morale.

The German Army, Gunther writes, has been so severely mauled that its total strength is believed not to exceed 3,000,000 men, whereas the Allies can probably muster more than three times as many. The tremendous superiority of the Allies in the air is indicated by the fact that "in 17 days this spring the Eighth Air Force attacked Germany with 7,044 heavy-bomber sorties—the equivalent in explosive power of an 'invasion' by eight mechanized divisions of fighting troops."

According to the article, most experts think that a combination of lost hope on the part of the German Army and unendurably intense suffering on the part of the people in the end prove stronger than the Gestapo, bringing about the crucial moment when the army and the people fear our bombing and our invasion more than they fear their own police.

THE PRESIDENCY

Washington, D. C., July—It seems very clear to people in Washington that the coming Presidential campaign will resolve itself around the conduct of the war, the New Deal, the "indispensable man," or the "inevitable man"—meaning Roosevelt or Dewey.

The supporters of the Administration insist that there must not be any change in the Presidency because of the danger of "changing horses" in the middle of the stream.

The Republicans are already trying to prove that there are no war issues, and that Republicans and Democrats share the same opinions about carrying on the war to Victory.

To what extent the issues fail to balance is anybody's guess. The Democrats insist that there should not be any change at the White House. The New Deal is unpopular, but there is a question whether the dissatisfaction is widespread enough for the Democrats to lose the election.

So the argument goes—on the porches of homes and in places where all kinds of people met in Washington. Out of every gathering, either large or small, there is a clash of opinion. Which means that the people in Washington don't know any more about what's going to happen than the people "back home"—in those homes everywhere, between the two oceans, and the northern and southern boundaries of the Nation.—J. E. Jones.

Important Vitamin

Everyone who has studied nutrition knows that Vitamin C has a very important place in the diet. A diet rich in Vitamin C renders a human more resistant to infectious diseases. For this reason it is often called the anti-fatigue vitamin, also the anti-toxin vitamin. A shortage of Vitamin C is thought to be an important factor in tooth decay.

German Backdoor

Geographically, Hungary lies at the Balkan backdoor of Germany. The Danube, cutting through the heart of the country, is a natural corridor leading into Austria, and beyond into the center of Nazi-held Europe. From all directions, railways meet at Budapest, making Hungary a communications center between Balkan nations and middle Europe.

Color Fights Sharks

Certain colors are very displeasing to sharks. This trait of the shark family is being taken advantage of by life raft manufacturers who are using selected colors to help make life rafts shark-proof.

How much does it cost to bomb Berlin ?

SUPPOSE, in the dusk of an English evening, 1,000 huge bombers soar over the Channel and head for Berlin.

By the time those planes return to England, their motors will have consumed 2,400,000 gallons of gasoline!

The cost . . . of the gasoline ALONE . . . will be more than $380,000.

To pay for the gasoline used on ONE such raid, 96,000 Americans would have to invest at least 10 percent of their next pay check in War Bonds!

You get a big kick out of reading about those 1,000-plane raids. You know that such raids, if repeated often enough, will soften up the Axis. But . . .

What are YOU doing to help pay the cost of those raids? (In addition to the gasoline they use, it costs Uncle Sam TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS to build 1,000 4-motored bombers . . . plus the cost of training the 10,000 men who make up their crews!)

Modern war is expensive business . . . its cost runs into fantastic figures. 30,000,000 American wage earners are now putting an average of 10 percent of each pay check into War Bonds every pay day . . . but still it isn't enough!

Our air raids on the Axis are increasing in frequency and intensity. When land operations really get going, the cost will be staggering.

More and more Americans must join the Pay-Roll Savings Plan . . . more than those already in the Pay-Roll Savings Plan must begin to jack up their War Bond purchases . . . must start to invest more than 10 percent!

Remember . . . War Bonds are the finest investment in the world today. You get back $4 for every $3 you invest. And . . . the more War Bonds you buy now, the quicker the Axis will be licked . . . and the less the war will cost in the long run.

Think it over. And every time you're tempted to put a nickel in something you don't absolutely need—put it in War Bonds instead!

KEEP ON BACKING THE ATTACK!

FRESBURG

"How beautiful was the rain" on Wednesday evening of last week, after some weeks of drought, dried grass and hot weather—then a steady rain fall, and every one was thankful, the lawns became green again, and corn revived. How helpless we are without water.

Mrs. Lucilla Grindler Cramer, one of the Beauty Artists of Union Bridge, was indisposed at the close of the week with a very heavy cold, and home to her parents for a few days rest and care—but is convalescing now.

Miss Grace Sullivan, who has boarded with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stuffle the past two years, has improved in health, and one day last week a neighbor took her to town for shopping; and on Sunday she was in S. S. at Mt. Union—after her long confinement of the winter and spring.

Quite a number of our folks were at Keysville Lutheran Church, on Sunday evening to hear Mrs. Anna Edwards in devotion and song; assisted by Miss Lucy Albrecht, of N. Y., who came to visit for two weeks and liked the work so well she remained 6 weeks, and Miss Winnie May Lint, of Brooklyn her fine pianist. There was a full attendance and a generous offering was given Mrs. Edwards.

Mrs. Minnie Buckley Thomas, is now with her daughter at Richmond, Va., and sent us a letter by six scenic post cards of buildings and places in and around that city. Always after gazing at such fine views we think—what a beautiful world we live in!

A letter from Mrs. Maud Kump Taylor, once our close neighbor but now of Baltimore, informs us of a pleasant vacation she and her husband are having at Ocean Grove, N. J., the most desirable place we've ever been. It is crowded this year, hard to find rooms, and have to stand in line to get to meals; but the services at the Tabernacle are splendid.

One morning they had "The Garden of Prayer" in action—as when a mother stood by the Cross and prayed for those in the armed forces—a beautiful and impressive service. Their oldest son Marshall Taylor, Jr., is somewhere in England—in the medical collecting Co., and Ambulance Platoon, and likes it there.

From our cousin, Mrs. Daisy Birely Kemp we learn that all are well and her son Harold A. Kemp, has been promoted to Chief Engineer of the District of Columbia Sanitary Commission. Her grandson, William Slemmer, Jr., will come home this week on furlough, to be with his parents a few days; then go to Lynchburg, Va., to stay with his young wife the remainder of his time out of camp.

After S. S., at Mt. Union on Sunday morning they were talking about a picnic and the Supt. will appoint a committee to select the time and place. By the 2nd Quarters Report the average attendance was 52 not as large as usual for this part of the year. 14 were present every Sunday and 12 missed once. The Men's class gave the largest offering $28.32, and the Young Women $16.24. Two children in the Primary Department will receive new Bibles for regular attendance one year, Linda May Miller and John Luther Angell. All are looking forward to the service by Mrs. Anna Edwards on Aug. 6th.

By the courtesy of a friend we received a program Bulletin for July 16th—and note the good letters received by the pastor from two young soldiers of his Parish; the first from somewhere in the Pacific telling of the good work done by the Missionaries and the kindness of the natives to the soldiers. He enclosed a money order for 5 dollars for missions—and wrote "I never thought mission work was worthwhile, but seeing is believing." The other writer tells of a glorious meeting of 25 persons where they sat on the sand with no over head shelter, but they had an impromptu altar with a silver cross and candles on it and a small organ. He says "I felt the presence of Almighty God as I never have before. I think because I felt so much in need of an assuring Hand, and I could feel my self cleansed of all impurities. I shall never forget—nor be afraid."

Speaking of Ocean Grove this summer they celebrate its Diamond Jubilee—75 years ago the first religious service there was held by candlelight in a tent and Rev. Elwood H. Stokes—presiding Elder of the District delivered the address from the text—"In the beginning God." The story of its beginning and increase is told in the Christian Herald for July, and reads like a religious romance. 19 persons participated in that first service of worship and prayer; now more than 50,000 people go to that heavenly resort every summer.

We are done hauling hay, and most of our neighbors have finished threshing. There's still plenty of work—but soon they can breathe easier, and take time to count their money.

Only one more week in this month, the days grow shorter, but so far the dog-days have not been unfavorable. The crickets are shrilling, there's a nice new moon in the evening sky—set for rain.

"Small independent enterprise is essential to high levels of employment and production after the war."—Chicago Round Table.

LITTLESTOWN

Friday evening was a big time when so many people turned out to see the Honor Roll dedication of our boys and girls serving their country. The Plaque was erected on the vacant lot of Mrs. Lesbia Crouse located between the Littlestown State Bank and Kump Apartment. It contains the names of over four hundred and three of this number have given their lives in the conflict. The Taneytown Band gave a short concert prior to the exercises. Karl Bankert, president of the Fish and Game Association, presided. Prayer was offered by Rev. John C. Brumbach, President of the Borough, and was accepted for the Borough by Burgess Evan Apple. The Plaque was unveiled by the three gold star mothers of the community. Mrs. Claude A. Snyder, Mrs. Calvin M. Sentz and Mrs. Lee Palmer. The Rev. Wallace J. Cummings offered the dedicatory prayer, after which Pres. Bankert presented the speaker, Judge W. C. Sheely, Gettysburg. He compared the great sacrifices which the boys and girls are making with those at home and their complaint about the shortage of gasoline, sugar and many other things. The Judge said all should do all in their power to help to bring this conflict to an early end. He concluded by saying that when the boys and girls come back and ask what you have done to end this war many will be put to shame because of the answer which they will be forced to give. LETTER FROM DETROIT

(Continued from First Page) As none of us had any experience in the mechanical part of getting out a newspaper, we hired a former employee of the Carrolltonian, by the name of John McDonald, to give us a start, mechanically, but I am forced to say he was not much help, and we had to get used to the work by actual experience. Anyway, we got the paper started, and I am sure everyone will agree that it is a credit to the town, credit for which must certainly be given to our friend, who has passed on, Mr. Englar, and to his worthy successor. I could write much more about our experiences, as time passed on, but my letter has reached too great a length already, and so will cut these reminiscences short.

JOHN J. REID.

THE SABBATH DAY

The Sabbath Day is a holy day. Quite freed from toil and care, But it should be a serious day. Given to thought and prayer.

The Sabbath day was given man To rest from toil and labor, But it should be a holy day. Devoted to Christ the Savior.

A Holy Day! This did I say? Yes, holy from the hand of God, With strong injunction that we pray. And tread the path that he has trod.

Six days are given man to toil And labor for personal gain; The seventh day was set apart For God's worship—man to retain.

How stand ye with your God today? There is no proxy we can bring— Each one himself before his God Must tread the path the Savior trod.

Prayer is the key for the bended knee To open up the hand of God; Prayer brings repose, consoles the mind; Prayer, man to God will safely bind.

Were there no God to guide mankind, Were man the master of his mind, Were man relieved from earthly care His hope would still be found in prayer.

God gives to man the breath of life And then God gives man food and clothes, And turns him free upon the earth Nor does God restrict where man goes.

Man has not turned in peace to God Nor yet full thanks to God to give Man thinks of self and self alone, Nor does he e'er his own wrong own.

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON President Harding College Searcy, Arkansas

Managed Economy

Business took me to Indianapolis in the last week of May, just in time to witness another sickening fluke of manhandled economy. Dead hogs lay uncounted on the ground by the roadside in the sun, 100% loss to their owners, to the nation's wealth and to the world's food supply. It was a blunder, of course. Surely this time nobody will say, "We planned it this way."

It was two years ago that the government named an arbitrary price on fat hogs and guaranteed it for two years. The aim was for the people of the United States to have the right amount of pork at the right price. Obviously, price-fixing was only the first step. In order to get just the right amount of pork, the government rationed corn, which is essential in the growing of pork.

Feared Piggishness The next measure was to ration pork so just the right number of hogs would feed just the right number of people just the right number of days. It was assumed that smart bureaucrats knew precisely how many pounds of grain it took to produce a pound of pork, and could figure how many eaters there were and how much ham and bacon they ought to eat per family per day, or per county per degree Fahrenheit, or something.

If there is one reader of this column who lacks such knowledge, I want to offer some facts of life about hogs: Just ten months from the day a farmer consents to tolerate another family of pigs on his estate, he can be selling 250-pound, prime shotes. America is now in the third generation of swine since the government guaranteed the price. Apparently pig culture has become a national hobby.

Grown for Profit Now when pigs are right to eat, they are ready to sell, and the creaking timbers of America's bulging pig-pen had been heard in Washington for several weeks before the OPA lowered the bars, took ration points off pork and released the squealing deluge. Had the big-wigs figured right? No! Hog receipts at eleven main packing centers exceeded processing capacity. Result: embargo.

Indianapolis was only a sample. Hogs arrived too fast to kill. Packers quit bidding for them. Farmers with trucks full of hogs formed caravans on the roads. Traffic jammed. Lines waited and waited some more. Pigs died of thirst and hunger and were piled outside the stockyards. Then the green flies came. They didn't have to wait on the OPA—purely unofficial.

To Err Is Human Carpenters hide their mistakes with putty. Doctors, it has been said, bury theirs. I hope no Washington braintruster was too disappointed when (after ration points were lifted off pork) the American people failed to eat up the consequences of his error. After all, enough pork is enough. And what happened was no worse than this nation had every right to expect.

The law of supply and demand is a law of nature, no less than the law of gravity. In like degree they are God's laws and no mortal can make headway against them. Even doubters say pork is probably the easiest market of all markets to guess; and what a flop! War caused no part of the ridiculous pig fiasco. If such tinkering should become a national post-war policy, we would be in for a sad season of man-made muddles.

Old History

Korea has over 4,000 years of history with a distinguished culture and a living language, and her relations with China are said to date back to 1122 B. C. when Kitzu, a Chinese sage, introduced Chinese culture to Korea. Subsequently Koreans adopted classical literary Chinese as the language of education and learning and Confucianism permeated Korean society and life. Because of the close cultural relationship Korea and China have been on friendly terms through centuries in spite of the fact that Korea became a vassal state of the Chinese Empire after the establishment of the Manchu dynasty in 1644.

Extended Fisheries

For several years before the war Japan had been extending her fisheries in the North Pacific and had conducted much more extensive investigations of the fishery resources of the area than had the United States. Having no nearby land bases, the Japanese did their crabmeat canning on factory ships which had been developed under government subsidy. The sea not only produces the most important protein element in the Japanese diet but before the war marine products constituted that nation's second most valuable export, being surpassed only by silk.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Love" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 30. The Golden Text will be from Jer. 9:24—"Let him that gloreth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord, which exercise loving kindness, judgment and righteousness, in the earth; for in these things do I delight, saith the Lord."

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon will be the following from the Bible, Romans 8:18—"For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us."

The Lesson-Sermon also will include passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, among which is the following, page 91—"Let us rid ourselves of the belief that man is separated from God, and obey only the divine Principle, Life and Love."

Discarded Oil Drum Much Used by U. S. Marines

One of the most versatile objects marines have is the discarded oil drum, reports Sergt. Bill Allen, a marine corps combat correspondent. After the drum has served its purpose, Leathernecks find many uses for it and convert it to meet many needs.

Split in half, the can makes an excellent bath tub. Tied to the branches of a tree, it serves as a jungle shower after the bottom has been liberally sprayed with rifle and sub-machine gun fire. Pontoons for homemade canoes or makeshift stoves are also fashioned from the containers. One marine photographer is said to have used a discarded oil drum for a portable darkroom during the recent Bougainville campaign.

Mess halls, quartermaster's tents, and other buildings have been completely roofed with oil cans that have been split, hammered out, and used in lieu of sheet metal. A barrel cut in half will make two tent tables.

Other useful purposes served by the discarded oil drums are (1) GI cans; (2) mail boxes; (3) foundations for smaller type buildings; (4) movie seats (placed end to end, barrels serve as rows of seats) and (5) ring lights over a tropical boxing arena.

SECOND STATEWIDE BIG VEGETABLE CONTEST OPENS FOR VICTORY GARDENERS

Committee of Judges Appointed

Amateurs Have Chance To Win 36 Prizes! County and City Gardeners Eligible for $100 War Bond!

The second state-wide "Big Vegetable" contest for Maryland Victory Gardeners will begin July 1 and close September 30, Henry P. Irr, Chairman of the Committee and President of the Baltimore Federal Savings and Loan Association which is sponsoring the contest, announced today. Thirty-six the event two vegetables are of equal size, judgment will be based on the finest quality and best condition of the entries. All entries must be brought or sent to the Big Vegetable Contest Committee, 19 East Fayette Street, Baltimore-2, Maryland. Thirty-six War Bond prizes will be prizes amounting to $380 will be awarded.

When he announced the opening of the contest Mr. Irr said: "Now, with the greater need for food and the scarcity of farm labor, the work of the Victory Gardener is of major importance."

"This year," he continued, "if there is a tendency to be discouraged by drought or rain, just remember that America did one of the finest jobs of food production imaginable last year—and in the face of difficulties! So don't let dry weather 'drampen' your spirits or wet weather 'dampen' your enthusiasm."

"Many persons," Mr. Irr added "have asked why we award prizes for big vegetables when size does not always mean quality. After consulting with leading horticultural authorities, the reason why we are encouraging gardeners to grow large vegetables was based substantiated by the following facts: (1) A good large vegetable is better than a good small vegetable; (2) Size is one of the indications of the ability of the gardener, which includes proper cultivation and fertilization; (3) A big vegetable is always an interesting wonder of nature."

Mr. Irr concluded with: "The state-wide 'Big Vegetable' contest will have an excellent committee of judges, including those who did such a fine job last year. To them and to the University of Maryland, the State Department of Agriculture and the Maryland State Fair Board we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for their fine spirit and cooperation."

City and county residents, as well as teen-agers, are eligible to enter the competition. Entries will be divided into two classes: Tomatoes of any variety; and all other vegetables.

As many as five vegetables may be entered in each variety class in any one week, and vegetables may be entered as many weeks as desired. In given for the largest and finest vegetables grown. Grand prizes will be awarded at the end of September to the Victory-Gardeners whose vegetables are selected in each of the two specified classes. The winners will receive the following: First grand prize—$100 Victory Bond; second grand prize—$50 Victory Bond; third grand prize—$25 Victory Bond; and $1.00 each in War Stamps to the first fifteen people receiving honorable mention.

In addition to the prizes of War Bonds and Stamps, through the cooperation of the Maryland Agricultural Society and the Maryland State Fair Board, official ribbons of the State Victory Garden Committee will be awarded to all prize winners.

The Committee of Judges is: Mrs. Bartlett F. Johnston, Chairman, State Victory Garden Committee; Dr. Charles H. Mahoney, Head, Department of Horticulture, University of Maryland; Mrs. Gilbert Moore, Chief, Victory - Garden Section, Baltimore Civilian Mobilization Committee; Miss Mildred Murdoch, Chairman, Victory-Garden Committee, Women's Civic League; and Mrs. Gail Tappan, Assistant to Chief, Victory-Garden Section, Baltimore Civilian Mobilization Committee.

Entry blanks and rules may be obtained at county newspapers, Civilian Defense Headquarters, seed stores, public libraries, through county agents, or by writing the Big Vegetable Contest Headquarters, Baltimore Federal Savings and Loan Association, 19 East Fayette Street, Baltimore-2, Md.

Each entry must be accompanied by an entry blank. Missouri's Columns

Symbolic of Missouri's earliest strides in education are the venerated columns of the state university's first administration building.

Missouri's class of '44 is now scattered throughout the battle fronts of the world fighting fascism so that learning may again be resumed in a world of peace and progress.

HOME CANNED PEACHES DELICIOUS WHETHER CLING OR FREE-STONE

Clingstone peaches are excellent, but a great many persons prefer the flavor of freestone fruit and also find it somewhat less troublesome to prepare for canning. Whether cling or freestone, good raw peaches make good canned ones, provided they are canned right, but right canning can do nothing for greenish, bitterish, poorly flavored fruit.

Glady's Kimbrough, Home Service Director for Ball Brothers Company, advises those who can peaches for the first time, and those whose canned peaches are below par, to select tree-ripened fruit, when possible, and sort it for size, color, and condition before washing and peeling it.

Skins may be stripped from some well-ripened peaches after they have been scalded in boiling water about a minute and then dipped in cold water, but the general run of them require other methods of peeling. The lye method, while practical when a large quantity is to be canned, requires skill. To lye peel, put four tablespoons concentrated lye in an enamel or granite kettle. Add two gallons water and heat to boiling. Put peaches in a basket and hold in the boiling lye from thirty to sixty seconds; then wash immediately in cold water. Rinse through several waters to remove all skins and all traces of lye. The fruit will darken if left in lye too long or if not well rinsed.

Usually, paring with a knife is the most practical way of peeling. The peaches should be washed clean and drained before peeling. After peeling, the fruit should be cut in half, and the stones discarded. Freestone fruit has better flavor and nicer, cleaner appearance if the red fibers are cut or scraped from the cavities.

Dropping the peeled peaches into weak salt-vinegar water (one tablespoon each to one gallon of water) helps prevent discoloring. They should not be left in the water longer than thirty or forty minutes and must be well rinsed before canning. Clingstone peaches are prepared for canning by removing the skins by one of the methods described above. Clings may be halved (before peeling) by cutting around the peach with a sharp knife, beginning at the stem end and following the crease. After cutting, hold the peach with both hands and twist in opposite directions. This pulls one side away from the stone. Use a regular peach pitting spoon, a teaspoon, or a knife to remove the stone from the other half of the peach. Peel the halves by scalding, by the lye method, or by paring with knife. If preferred, the peach may be peeled and then halved by cutting around the stone with knife. The easiest way to remove the flesh from the stone is to cut it in wedge-shaped slices.

Miss Kimbrough recommends hot packing and processing in a hot-water bath canner. Here are her two favorite recipes: (Use the longer cooking and processing time for clings and other very fine peaches.) Method I. Make a sirup of 1 or 2 parts sugar to 1 of water, depending upon the amount liked and the amount available. Add peaches, a few at a time, and simmer until hot through (4 to 10 minutes). Pack into hot jars, layers overlapping, cavity side down. Cover with sirup in which peaches were cooked. Process (cook in jar) 10 to 20 minutes in hot-water bath. Can left-over sirup for puddings or ice cream sauce. Method II. Add from 1 to 1 1/2 cup sugar and one cup boiling water to one gallon prepared peaches. Cook gently until peaches are hot through and sugar dissolved (10 to 20 minutes). Pack and process as instructed above. If there isn't enough liquid to cover peaches in jar, add boiling water after they are packed.

"MR. AND MRS. SAMUEL BARTON KITTRIDGE announce the engagement of their daughter Sarah Chilton Kittridge to Craig Harrison III of West Branch Road. The wedding date has been set for—"

Kit's hands crashed on the typewriter keys. Never in the three years since she had taken over the society desk of the Clarion Courier had a story been more difficult. Sarah Chilton Kittridge and Craig Harrison III! Clarion's glamour boy number one, the papers called him. A series of eastern schools, travel, vice president of the Harrison factories. The desire of every mother with an eligible daughter, the hope of each of those daughters. Yet Craig was well-liked. Easy-going, good-natured, a bit on the spectacular side.

Kit ripped the paper from the machine, viciously squeezing it into a hard ball. She aimed at the basket and hit Barry Bradley as he came through the door. "Ye gods, Kit, won't you ever learn to throw straight? See, you hold a ball this way." His fingers gripped an imaginary missile.

"The pride and joy of the sports department plays he's another Bobby Feller, does he? If a girl could throw straight she might be anything else, but with you she'd be O.K."

"Do I detect a trace of sarcasm from our Kit? It doesn't become you, darling. What's cooking with society today?"

"Nothing. Go 'way, will you? I've a deadline in an hour and no lead."

"You can always dig up the Harrisons, you know. They're good for a line or a column any day. Always reliable Harrisons, I call 'em."

"That's just what I was doing when you came in."

"Um, and what has Mamma Harrison joined this time, or is it our white-haired boy who is in the news again? Well, you keep him on your page, sister. My pugs are particular about the company they keep."

"I'm announcing Craig's engagement."

"No foolin'! So somebody hit the jackpot. Who?"

Kit hesitated a moment and her voice was low. "Sarah Chilton Kittridge."

Barry stared at her. His voice, usually so strong, was uncertain. "You're kiddin'."

"Am I? Look at the paper in your hand."

Barry unfolded the crumpled sheet. "Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Barton Kittridge announce the engagement of their daughter, Sarah—" he read aloud, easing himself to the corner of Kit's desk. The pain in his eyes made Kit wince. "So Sarah Kittridge is marrying our glamour boy! I suppose I should offer congratulations. I thought I knew the Kittridge gal pretty well. Seems I'm wrong. What a laugh! It doesn't make sense, Sarah Kittridge and Craig Harrison. What's she really like, Kit? You ought to know."

The girl raised her dark eyes to look deep into Barry's stormy gray ones. Her voice was weary. "I don't know, Barry. She's twenty-four, has had a good education, traveled a bit. Rides well, plays rotten golf, dances divinely I've been told. Not much to look at."

"I thought her very pretty."

"Did you? Well, if you care for that type."

"I do. Very much."

"Oh!"

"And this guy, Harrison," Barry probed, "what about him, Kit, is he a stuffed shirt?"

"Not at all. He's all right when you know him. Too much money, perhaps, but he's worked hard for honors at school, tennis titles..."

"Well, he can give a girl whatever she wants."

"Maybe."

"What d'ya mean, maybe? Position, houses, furs, jewels, cars. What more could a girl ask?"

"What more is there?" Kit walked over to the dirty window looking out on a brick wall.

"I suppose so. Sarah Kittridge has never missed much. Perhaps she's old-fashioned enough to think she owes her family a good marriage. Perhaps she wants to have a home and children. Perhaps she—" Kit's head dropped. Her small hands covered her face. The slim shoulders shook with sobs.

Barry was on his feet in an instant. He swung her around to face him. "Kit, don't cry. Look at me, darling." Slowly he tilted her head back until their eyes met. "You crazy little fool. You darling idiot. And I'm the world's prize dope." His lips met hers in a kiss. Sometime later Barry held her away from him. "Say, gal, you've a deadline to meet. Come on, let's write the story and get out."

"But I haven't a lead," wailed Kit.

"Oh, haven't you? I'll draft it for you. You type it. Ready?"

"Yes." Kit's voice quavered.

"Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Barton Kittridge announce the engagement of their lovely daughter Sarah to Barrison Bradley. The wedding date has been set for—"

"For when, Barry?"

"Just write 'darned soon,' darling."

WARTIME ESSENTIAL—YOUR OWN HOME-CANNED TOMATOES

Let there be no doubt about it, loss of home-canned tomatoes is unnecessary at any time and inexcusable in war-time, unnecessary because spoilage is caused by carelessness in selecting, preparing, packing, and canning, or by not following the manufacturer's instructions for using jars and caps, inexcusable because wasting food is wicked.

Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director for Ball Brothers Company, advises home canners to put up large quantities of tomatoes and explains how failures can be avoided. "First of all, use jars that were made for home canning and use them according to the simple step-by-step instructions furnished by the manufacturer—commercial cast-offs are expensive in the long run. Get the jars and caps ready before preparing the tomatoes."

"Next, get your water-bath canner ready. Any deep kettle, lard can, metal bucket or pail, or wash boiler will do if it has a cover and something to keep the jars from touching the bottom. A home-made wire or wooden rack will serve the latter purpose. The water in the canner must be steaming (not boiling) when the jars are lowered into it, and deep enough to cover the tops of the jars one or more inches.

"Use locally grown, garden-fresh, red-ripe tomatoes. Examine every tomato. Those having small spots or raw weather cracks may be set aside to use in chili sauce but should not be used for canning. Wash the tomatoes clean before they are scalded for skinning and scalded enough at a time to fill two quart jars and no more.

"Scalding takes from one-half to one minute and the easiest way is to put the tomatoes in the center of a square of cheese cloth, then gather up the cloth by its four corners and lower the tomatoes into a kettle of boiling water. Suit your own pleasure about dipping the scalded tomatoes into cold water. They are a bit more comfortable to handle if cold dipped. Cut all the core and any healed weather cracks out of a tomato, then slip off the skin, remove the black spot at the blossom end and any green or white spots that may show after the skin is off.

"Drop the tomato into a clean hot jar. Cut it into two or more pieces if it is too large to go through the

WHEN YOUR FACE IS TOWARD THE SUN THE SHADOWS FALL BEHIND YOU!

Life can be a very dreary place. There is a lot of sorrow and strife in our earthly pilgrimage. But too much of this sorrow and strife is brought on by our own backsliding. We are sneaking around in the shadows.

Look towards the sun! Let the light of day shine down upon your face and brighten every corner of it. Permit your eyes to reflect the light of that heavenly orb. Allow your mind to absorb its radiance. Suffer the heat of it to inspire your soul to noble deeds.

Let the light reveal every nook and crevice of your face so that others may see what you are like. Come out from behind that cloud and be your true self.

Look towards the sun so that when others come to meet you, you may have enough light to see what they are like. Don't deal with those who come to you under the cover of darkness. Test every association, every relationship, every friendship with the verification of light.

Look toward the sun so that you have enough light to find the answer to what you seek. Ignorance lurks in the shadows.

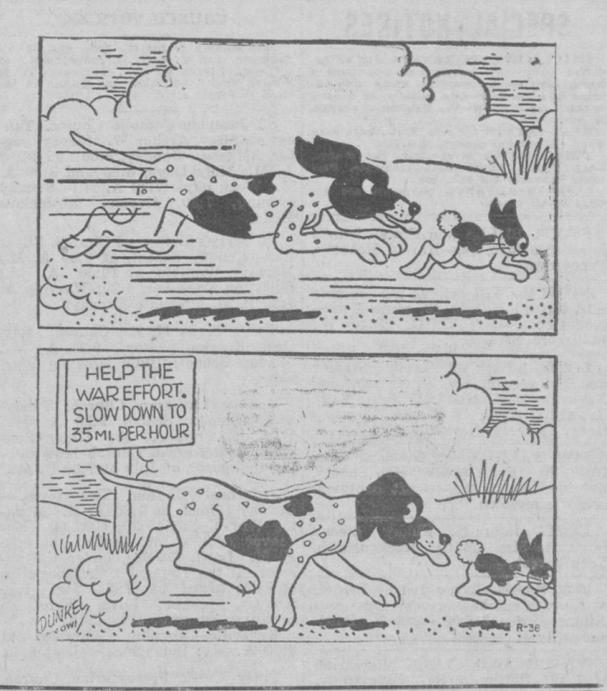

For centuries men struggled with existence by eating raw meat, shivering in the cold, and lurking in caves all because the light of understanding had not yet fallen upon the discovery of fire. Then suddenly someone looked towards the sun and intelligence dawned. Lo! the discovery of fire.

For generation upon generation men asked "Why" and "How," but the answers were wrapt inscrutably with the shadows of blindness. And, then, someone looked towards the sun and a new philosophical system was evolved.

For eons men suffered consequences of misapplied moral laws. They sought salvation from their sins. They wanted to repent but what is more they wanted personal forgiveness. Then someone (a poor fisherman) looked towards the sun and saw the Christ, the Son of the Living God.

Look towards the sun and the shadows will fall behind you! That's a good place to put things you no longer need. If they bother you or hinder your progress shove them behind, then keep on going.

Ignorance, superstition, intolerance cannot stand the light of the sun. If it strikes them they shrivel up and die. Let us all take a good sun bath.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

GIDEON'S FAITHFUL FEW

LESSON TEXT—Judges 7:4-7, 15-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—There is no restraint to the Lord to save by many or by few.—I Samuel 14:6.

Man power is said to be the secret of victory. Our nation is concerned about the shortage of man power in critical manufacturing centers. The armed forces are calling for more and more men and women.

That will all make it a little strange to study and teach the lesson for today, for here is the story of a crucial military campaign in which the leader, Gideon, was told by God to cut down his forces. This happened again and again, until he had less than one per cent of his original force, which was none too large, humanly speaking.

What singular thing was going on? God was at work and He did not want Israel to look to the arm of flesh, but to Him.

Three questions are raised and answered in this interesting story:

I. Quantity or Quality? (7:4-7).
The Lord is looking for men to do His work, but He cannot use men who are afraid or careless. This was the lesson Gideon learned, and it applies to our day as well.

When Gideon started out he had 32,000 men (Judg. 7:3). Not willing that they should glory in their own strength and knowing that many of them were cowards at heart, the Lord told Gideon to let those who were afraid, go home. When the mob had left there were only 10,000 left.

How sad it is that so many are "fearful and afraid" (v. 3) when it comes to going into battle for the Lord. They sing cheerily, "Stand up, stand up for Jesus, ye soldiers of the cross; let courage rise with danger," etc.; but when the bombs of Satan begin to fall, or the bugle calls for an advance into the enemy's territory, they have disappeared to places of comfort and safety. What good are such soldiers? The Lord told Gideon to send them home; perhaps the church should do the same.

Then came the second test which appears in our lesson. Those who took the comfortable and easy way to drink (v. 6), were not alert and ready. Down went the number to 300; but these were men who were ready to obey, who were alert and courageous.

The church needs to learn that large numbers are not the answer to her problems. God is interested in numbers, be sure of that, but He is more concerned about quality than quantity. Let us get more people who are truly regenerated into the church, and not just more people.

II. Man's Power or God's Power? (vv. 15-18).

Strange as was the plan for recruiting, the plan of battle was even more unusual. Lights, broken pitchers, and trumpet blasts are hardly the accepted weapons of warfare, nor does the method sound like military strategy.

This was no time for questions, for logical arguments, for the usual organization of war, for now God was about to work. He was ready to show His power quite apart from the ability of man, and He had a right to work as He would.

Wise and blessed is the church which knows that there comes a time when the thing to do is to put plans aside and let the Lord work. No one will question the value of organization and proper church "machinery," but we need to ask ourselves whether we have not become so organized that we impede the work of God.

Observe on the other hand that it was "the sword of the Lord and of Gideon"—not just the sword of the Lord. God is all-powerful. We must not hinder His glorious working. But He works through men, do not forget that! He used Gideon, and He used Gideon's little band.

God's power must accomplish God's work, but that power flows out to the world through yielded and obedient men.

III. Running or Standing? (vv. 19-21).

The enemy "ran and cried and fled." The sword of the Lord and of Gideon had put them to rout. Well may the enemies of God be terror-stricken when He begins to work through His servants.

All this was done "by faith," for we find Gideon's act of turning "to fight the armies of the aliens" listed among the exploits of faith (Heb. 11:34).

Now, see what Gideon's host was doing while the enemy ran (v. 21). "They stood every man in his place." No need for frantic hurry with them, no fear, no excitement. God works that way. Remember the children of Israel at the Red Sea? The water ahead, and Pharaoh's host to the rear. What to do? "Fear ye not, stand still and see the salvation of the Lord." (Exod. 14:13).

Perhaps the word is coming to us just now—Trust God rather than the power of man! Stand still and see what He will do, for His own glory!

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

King Cotton

Sitting on a throne, holding economic sway over 13 million loyal subjects, King Cotton was a liberal and lovable old character. Playing the part of a pensioner, however, he has not protected his future very well. Abnormal circumstances call for emergency measures, of course, but King Cotton deserves to rule instead of pass the hat and his friends should work to promote him.

People who know even a little about cotton as an industry want that crop to rule southern agriculture after the war for several years, at least. They have a good reason that is patriotic and unselfish: Cotton normally provides more jobs than any other industry and work is essential to national prosperity. A cotton depression could blast this whole nation's post-war hopes.

The "Parity" Plan
"How," you may ask, "can a single industry get in enough trouble to bring on a depression?" Answer: Simply by losing its markets. Normally, be it remembered, half the cotton raised in America is sold abroad. But Brazil, China, India and Russia, coming cotton countries, are looking our foreign markets by selling for less. They plant their best, level lands to cotton and produce it cheaply.

The U. S. has plenty of rich, level land too but foreigners undersell us because our price is money; pegged so a one-mule crop on a rutty hillside, worn out with a century of cotton, will pay. Government invented "parity price" trying to help the grower buy as much with a bale of cotton now as in the five years before World War I; then to prop the sham price, loaned 90% on cotton security.

Cotton's Arch Enemy
The result is well known. The government took America's cotton but the foreigners took America's customers and, unless we can get them back after the war, we will never sell half as much cotton as we are raising now. Even the home market is in danger. New fibres like rayon are cheaper already than the best of cotton and scientists are improving them every day. Nothing can save the U. S. cotton business after the war but ability to sell successfully in world markets.

Frozen acreage already has run its course. Price subsidy will have served its purpose before the war is over. Dependence is business suicide to any farmer. I am convinced that the Southern planter's wisdom and Yankee ingenuity can be relied upon to put King Cotton back in power where he can create wealth, pay good wages and laugh at Asia and South America.

Back in Competition
For more than a century it has been an excellent thing for this country to have cotton in the South, spread out over 11 million acres of land, employing 13 million people. These people buy a lot of what other American farmers grow, and sell half of their own production to Europeans. Thinking of post-war jobs, the South and its cotton is still a pleasant prospect.

Three things need prompt government action: (1) Encourage planting cotton on land where a crop is possible and where it can be chopped, perhaps even picked, by machinery. (2) Get ready to meet any price named anywhere in world trade. (3) Sell that hoarded fibre. Uncle Sam would look pretty silly after the war holding a shirt-tail full of cotton in a rayon shirt.

Industrial Alcohol

More than 100,000,000 additional gallons of industrial alcohol, wholly from sawmill wastes, may be made available annually, according to an official statement by the war production board.

Plastic Trays

Light-weight tough plastic trays molded in six compartments are used by the U. S. Army Medical corps in hospitals and institutions for feeding recuperating soldiers.

Device for Handling Beet Seed
The seed of the sugar beet is not a single cell but a cluster of cells as in beans and corn. A novel device splits the clusters into units of single cells.

Packed When Chilled

Pork and poultry are not aged but are packaged and frozen as soon as thoroughly chilled. Much is still to be learned about retarding the development of rancidity in frozen pork but many operators agree that freezing the meat as soon as the carcass is chilled (36 to 48 hours) may help.

Nylon Bristles

Nylon bristles are utilized by the food industry principally for brushes in dairying, beverage bottle washing and pipe cleaning, in bakeries, on candy machines, for flour sifting, fruit cleaning, the cleaning of sausage casings, and for pharmaceutical or laboratory uses.

Used as Records

A large user of electric motors mixes a little coloring matter with the insulating varnish used when overhauling the motors. By using a different color each year, the electrician can tell at a glance the year during which any motor had its last overhaul.

Sound Plastics

Lip mike and ear phones are only two of the applications of plastics in communications and controls now used in military and naval aircraft.

Cuts Fire Hazards

Cleaning out newspapers and magazines, old clothes, and empty cans from cellar, hall, closet, and attic reduces fire hazards.

Pigs Need Minerals For Healthy Growth

Rock Phosphate, Hay Help Supply Elements

The amount of pork produced by a certain given quantity of feed will depend on how well balanced the feed is, says F. H. Smith, nutritionist with the animal industry department of the North Carolina State college experiment station.

He points out that the feed should contain protein of good quality, carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins, and that it should be properly fed for maximum pork production.

"The practice of many farmers in confining their pigs to floored pens and feeding them rations composed chiefly of grains brings about mineral deficiencies," says Smith. "In some cases, after two or three months of such feeding, the pigs have difficulty in getting up and walking to the feed trough."

He recommends that the pigs be given a mineral mixture of equal parts of ground phosphate, steamed bone meal or defluorinated phosphate, and common salt. This mixture may be left so that the pigs may take it at will. For self-feeding, the mineral mixture is made more tempting by mixing a pound of tankage or meat scrap to nine pounds of the mixture.

"Grains may also be supplemented with a good grade of legume hay at the rate of 5 to 10 per cent for fattening hogs, and 10 to 15 per cent for sows and boars," Smith says. He points out that sun-cured hay is more effective than artificially cured hay because it contains more vitamin D.

Sun-cured, legume hay provides good protein, calcium, phosphorus, and other necessary minerals and vitamins. One of the best legume hays is alfalfa—which produces high quality mineral feed supplement, in large yield per acre.

Alfalfa can be grown on any moderately heavy, well-drained, and fertile upland soils. It is not suited to bottom soils because it gets "wet feet" when the water table is high. It must be grown on good land because it is not a "poor land" crop.

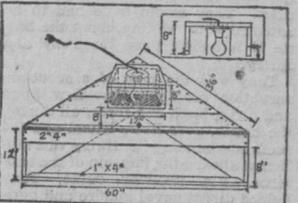

Electric Pig-Brooder Can

Be Easily Made at Home

Many thousands of baby pigs die annually from cold during their first critical weeks. Keeping pigs healthy and comfortable is the first big step toward a larger winter pork crop. An electric brooder will keep the little animals warm and cozy. If you cannot buy one, you can easily make one at a cost of $2 to $3.

All you need to do is to build a low ceiling in one corner of the shed. You cut a hole in the ceiling and set a big electric bulb with a reflector over the hole. The heat of the light warms the little pigs sufficiently to keep them healthy.

Electric Brooder

Materials Needed:

- 1—1" x 8" x 4' piece lumber
- 1—1" x 12" x 7" " " " sides
- 1—2" x 4" x 5' " " " front
- 1—1" x 4" x 5' " " " bottom
- 15 board feet plywood or flooring for top
- 1—15' rubber-covered appliance cord and plug
- 1—standard base—porcelain socket
- 1—100 watt bulb for warm weather
- 1—200 watt bulb for cold weather
- 1—12" square piece hardware cloth
- 1—1-gallon can for reflector—be sure to fix can at least 1' above cloth
- 2—hinges
- 1—screen door hook

Destroying Rats

County agricultural agents have recently pointed out means of killing or starving rats, to prevent feed waste, and to save money as well as feed. Each rat can do $4 to $50 worth of damage in a year, so it is worth a little effort to destroy him now.

Rural Briefs

The Argentine is producing 312 million bushels of wheat as compared with 235 million last year, according to preliminary forecasts.

The department of agriculture has announced a 1944 program for winter cover crop seed which will support prices on hairy vetch, common vetch, crimson clover, and rye grass seeds at levels from 5 to 40 per cent higher than last year.

The proudest title in the Army

IT CONSISTS of two simple words.

Yet every soldier who's worth his salt covets it.

This title is simply:

"Good Soldier."

It isn't just happenstance that so many women in the WAC have earned this title—the proudest in the Army.

For wherever Wacs are working, both here and overseas, there you find a job well done. And done with a spirit so gallant and fine that high Army officers everywhere say of the WAC...

"They're soldiers. Good soldiers!"

New GOP Chairman

Herbert Brownell's career is in many ways a parallel to that of Thomas E. Dewey. Both were born in the Middle West—Dewey in Michigan, Brownell in Nebraska. Both are graduates of their native state's university, where both edited the college newspaper. Both went east to study law and practice in New York City. Both went into public office in their twenties to fight against political corruption. Both are typical of the young, vigorous and constructive Republican leadership that means good government and hope for the future.

Mr. Brownell has been active in politics for some time. In 1941 he was prevailed upon by Governor Dewey to become campaign manager for a candidate in a local New York election. Brownell put his candidate over and the next year he managed Dewey's successful campaign for governor and later conducted the fight for the election of Lieut. Gov. Joe R. Hanley, of New York.

Mr. Brownell was elected to the New York Assembly five times, retiring in 1937. He was born in Peru, Nebraska, on February 20, 1904, and shortly thereafter his family moved to Lincoln where he graduated from high school at the age of 16. He attended the University of Nebraska from which he graduated in 1924. Going East he entered Yale Law School where he edited the Yale Law Journal in his senior year. After graduation in 1927 Brownell became a law clerk in the New York firm of Root, Clark, Buckner and Babintime. He is now a partner of Lord, Day & Lord, one of New York's oldest law firms.

Herbert Brownell Jr., chairman Republican National Committee.

Brownell was a delegate to the Republican national conventions of 1936 and 1944. He is president of the 10th Assembly District Republican Club of New York, a trustee of the Nebraska University Foundation and a member of the American Bar Association and the Bar Association of the City of New York.

Play-by-Play

No mention has ever reached the public prints of an unidentified navy pilot who delivered a play-by-play account of the battle for Tarawa.

There were some luckless marines on transports who were never called on to go ashore. The majority of the sailors on the ships engaged in the operation never left their stations. They would have had to be satisfied with reading about the battle if it hadn't been for Tony and Harry.

Tony was the pilot of a scout-observation seaplane that flew back and forth, back and forth, all during the battle, over Betio Island and the reefs surrounding it. Harry was stationed aboard the flagship of the task force. Via two-way radio, Tony helped direct naval gunfire and aerial bombing and also relayed the latest developments in the attack. Quite incidentally, he and Harry kept scores of frustrated, curious marines and bluejackets informed as to the progress of the fighting.

Carry Nation

Carry Nation (1846-1911), temperance agitator, came into prominence in Kansas in 1900 as hatchet woman for the prohibitionists. Supported by "visions" she toured the saloons, swinging her identifying hatchet at random, wrecking bottles, bars, furniture or whatever came into her path. She was imprisoned several times in her career and was target of many violent physical attacks by her enemies. She made lecture tours and published temperance literature, but kept little of her earnings, being easy prey for swindlers. A tour of the British isles in 1908 was antagonistically received. On her return to this country feebleness forced her retirement and she died in a Leavenworth hospital. Her friends erected a monument inscribed, "She hath done what she could."
