THE KIWANIS CLUB

Plans a Recreational Program for Taneytown

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening at 6:30, at Clear Ridge Inn, near Uniontown, President Clyde L. Hesson presiding. There were present twenty-three members and two visitors: Kiwanians William Flohr and Rev. Irving Swalwell, Field Scout Executive, both members of the Westminster Club. The period of group singing was in charge of Harry M. Mohney, with Mrs. Wallace Yingling as the accompanist.

The program was in charge of the committee on publicity. The speaker of the evening was Prof. George N. Shower, who presented a preliminary report of the committee appointed to arrange a program of recreation for the community. Mr. Shower called upon several members of the committee to report what progress the committee has made to date. Rev. Sutcliffe explained that the committee had in mind a program to continue throughout the year, to include outdoor recreation, including athletics for the summer months, and for the winter a program of entertainment, including home-talent dramatics, events in which the members of the community may participate generally; also such indoor athletic games as are possible.

The Committee called attention to the principal problems attendant upon carrying out such a program; supervision of activities and financial ability to carry on the program as desired.

A number of the members present participated in the discussion which was asked by the committee, including many suggestions, all of which will be considered by the committee at subsequent meetings.

The President read a letter from Kiwanian Raymond Selby, Chairman of the Boy Scout Association of Union Bridge, thanking the Club for its donation to the Boy Scout Troop of his community.

The program next week will be in charge of the Committee on Kiwanis Education. This will be a "Ladies' Night."

PVT. DINTERMAN WRITES

Sept. 12, 1944.

I will write and thank you for sending the Record while I am in the Marine Corps. I enjoy reading it a lot. It lets a fellow know what is going on in his home town.

I just came back Monday from a 13-day leave which I spent with my wife and children, although I was out near Dayton, Ohio, and in Pittsburgh, Pa., almost two days visiting some friends. I began to go to school Monday. It is in field telephone and it lasts for eight weeks, sorry I didn't get in to thank you in person but when I was in it was at night. So I would like for you to change my address too. Thanking you again. Yours truly,

LOSS BY FIRE

A rather serious fire occurred very early Tuesday morning at the home of Byron S. Stull near the Monocacy on the Keysville-Emmitsburg road. But for the fact that the house was built of stone the result might have been much worse.

The fire was discovered about 1:30 A. M. by Miss Mildred Stull who was awakened by falling cans in the summer house, adjoining the main building. The fire had already made such headway that it was impossible to save anything from the summer house.

The Taneytown Fire Company was called and saved the main house, though the building was badly damaged. The contents of the room next to the summer house were destroyed, including much of the best furniture, and the entire house was so damaged by smoke that the entire house will require renovation.

The fire started in the summer house, which had been in use the previous day, and where it was supposed the fire had been completely extinguished, but where there must have been some hidden spark in a log above the fire place.

We do not have an estimate of the damage or the amount of insurance coverage.

SATURDAY NIGHT FRACAS

Taneytown had a very unfortunate exhibition of disorderly conduct on last Saturday night at the square, when in the midst of a brief street meeting by some itinerant Evangelists, other persons started to make trouble. The action was probably due to too much "refreshment." Of course a crowd quickly gathered and traffic was congested. Officer Elmer Crebbs had difficulty in restoring order and had to use his riot club.

No arrests have been made but the Mayor and City Council have engaged an additional officer, Emory Hahn, and give warning that disturbers of the peace, whether within the town or from other sections, will be dealt with more severely.

NEW WINDSOR NOW A RELIEF CENTER

Church of the Brethren Are Active in World Help

Announcement was made recently that the Church of the Brethren had purchased the buildings of the Blue Ridge College. It has now been announced that the Brethren, who are active in relief and humanitarian work in general, will make that the center of their activities. The work is in charge of Rev. and Mrs. John Metzler who came to New Windsor six months ago to establish another working station, but the sale of the college buildings opened the way for larger operations, and from now on the other four centers—Nappanee, Ind., at LaVerne, Ind., at LaVerne, Cal.; at Portland, Ore., and at McPherson, Kan.—will serve as collection centers only. The goods will all come to New Windsor for distribution to the needy nations of the world.

One reason why New Windsor was selected as the world distribution center is its nearness to the Port of Baltimore, from which much of the material will be shipped.

Another reason is the fact that New Windsor is the center of several nearby Churches of the Brethren, the members of which are anxious to help with the work of preparing the food, clothing and soap collections for shipment.

At present only the gymnasium building on the campus is in use by the distribution center, but plans are under way to spread the work to the other three buildings—the boys' and girls' dormitories and the administration building.

One of the buildings probably will be utilized as a relief training unit where young members of the church will be taught the intricacies of foreign relief. The administration of the center, now carried on in the crowded gymnasium, eventually will move to more spacious quarters.

Much of the clothing is used garments, sent in by members of the church. It is supposed to be cleaned and mended and made ready for at least six months' wear by the receivers before it is sent to the distribution center.

The clothing is sorted, labeled, weighed, evaluated for cotton and wool and held for outlets—outlets that usually come through the relief organizations representing war-torn or otherwise stricken countries. The used clothing is baled, with a variety of garments in each bale, so that when each is opened it will be easy for needy persons to make their selections.

There is also new clothing. Soap is a major project. In one room 2000 tons are said to be stored. The major food project is the shipment of heifers.

The heifer idea has caught on nationally—not only among members of the Church of the Brethren but among farmers of other denominations. At present 1,000 heifers are being readied on farms of the country for shipment to New Windsor and then to foreign lands. An early shipment for Spain is being planned.

The heifers arriving at New Windsor will be kept in stock pens on the 25 acres of college land until shipping time.

With the exception of Rev. and Mrs. Metzler and Rev. M. R. Zigler, executive secretary of the Brethren Service Committee, most of the work is volunteer, or unpaid service.

CO. 4-H ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Saturday, Sept. 23, has been set as the date for the County Girls 4-H Achievement Day. This year the event will take place at Sunnybrook Farm, (Frocks) in Westminster. The contests have been divided into five main groups which are: 1, the style review; 2, individual and team demonstrations; 3, victory gardens; 4, exhibits, and 5, individual achievements and stories.

Carroll County is fortunate in having Miss Dorothy Emerson, State 4-H Girls Club leader and Miss Mildred Flanagan, Home Demonstration Agent for Howard county as judges.

The judging will take in the morning when Miss Belva Koons, 4-H Club leader for Taneytown girls, is leading the 4-H girls in games.

The afternoon program which will include club roll call, plus reports, group singing, team demonstration and a style review will open at 1:15 p. m.

THOSE TIRE INSPECTION RECORDS

Keep those tire inspection records until you get your new Mileage Rationing Record form along with our new "A" book, OPA says. Since discontinuance of periodic tire inspection last April, tire inspection records have been kept primarily as a record of gasoline issued each automobile, and will no longer be necessary when the new form is issued. Outside the East Coast States, the new "A" book will go into use September 22, and in the 17 East Coast States, February 9.

SHOE RATIONING STILL WITH US

Civilians cannot hope for an early end of shoe rationing, WPB says, unless imports of hides increase or unless there is a large cutback in military orders. Hide shortages continue in spite of a large domestic kill of cows and calves. Heavy civilian and military consumption and decreased imports account for the shortage.

TANEYTOWN JR. BAND

The Regular Rehearsals Resumed

The Taneytown Jr. I. O. O. F. Band resumed regular weekly rehearsal in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 12th—the band will rehearse each week on Tuesday night, until further notice. In the near future, the leader plans to start the annual class of beginners. Anyone wishing to join the band should contact the leader on a Tuesday night in the near future, in the band hall, between the hours of 8 and 10 A. M.

The parents of all band members are requested to attend a very important meeting of the Auxiliary at 9:15 P. M., in the I. O. O. F. Hall, on Tuesday night, September 19th. President Harry Mohney has announced that important matters are to be considered by the group.

COUNTY MINISTERS MEET

The Carroll County Ministerial Association held its first meeting for the fall in the Seminary Chapel, with an attendance of 21 ministers. Rev. Charles B. Rebert, pastor of the Carroll Reformed church, near Westminster, led the devotionals, with Mrs. Robert Sheesley as pianist. The nominating committee, the Rev. L. B. Hafer, chairman, with the Rev. Dr. John N. Link and the Rev. C. B. Rebert, reported the following slate of officers for the coming year: President, C. S. Owen, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Taneytown; Vice-President, the Rev. Franklin P. Brose, pastor of the First Church of God, Westminster; Secretary, the Rev. F. K. Seibel, pastor of St. Mary's Lutheran Church, Silver Run; Treasurer, the Rev. George A. Early Westminster. The Rev. Mr. Owen, who served as president last year, was in charge of the business session.

Resolutions of regrets were presented on the leaving of the Rev. Mr. Rebert to Littlestown, Pa., next month. The Rev. Mr. Rebert has served the Carroll Reformed charge for the past 17 years.

The Union also tendered the Rev. John E. Ainsworth, the former secretary, a rising vote of thanks for his untiring efforts as secretary for the past three years.

Talks on the Vacation Religious Experiences were given by the Rev. William E. Hoop, Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren; the Rev. Guy P. Bready, Taneytown Reformed, and the Rev. John S. Mitchell, Westminster Church of the Nazarenes; suggestions for church meetings on V-Day were given by the Rev. Dr. Lowell S. Ensor, Westminster Methodist Church; the Rev. Alfred T. Sutcliffe, Taneytown Lutheran; the Rev. A. M. Leister, Manchester Reformed; the Rev. L. B. Hafer, Taneytown, and the Rev. Geo. A. Early, Westminster. Two new members were received into membership, the Rev. Guy P. Bready, Taneytown, and the Rev. John S. Mitchell, Westminster. The president appointed a committee to prepare and publish a program of subjects and speakers for the entire year.

V-DAY OBSERVANCE

The Carroll County Ministerial Association, in its regular meeting held September 11, 1944, voted unanimously that all people of the county be urged to give thanks to Almighty God at some time during V-Day by attending the Church of their choice. We are fully aware of the Divine Power which is leading us victoriously through these days and call upon all the churches of the county to give their people opportunity to express their humble thanks in the House of God.

LOOSEN LID ON STOVE RATIONING

The rationing of coal and wood stoves to consumers will end October 15, the War Production Board and OPA have announced, although rationing of oil and gas stoves will continue. Supplies of coal and wood stoves have grown sufficiently since nation-wide rationing started in Aug. 1943, to make continued rationing unnecessary.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETS

Report Given by the Director in Charge of Activities

The regular Quarterly Board meeting of the Carroll County Children's Aid Society was held Monday, Sept. 11, at 2 o'clock in the Library room of the Times building, Westminster. Mrs. Frank T. Myers presided.

Following the regular order of business, Miss Custenborder read her service report. She made an urgent appeal for foster homes which are needed for so many children. This was followed by report from various committees. The amendments to the by-laws of the Maryland Children's Aid Society were read and approved.

Mrs. Myers read a letter from Mrs. John Nelson, Jr., President of the Maryland Children's Aid Society, regarding the organization meeting of the Howard County Children's Aid Society which Miss Custenborder and Mrs. David Taylor attended. She expressed her appreciation for the fine talk which Mrs. Taylor gave to the members of the new organization.

There was a detailed discussion of plans for the annual financial drive which will be held October 16-28. The goal will be $4000.00. The campaign will have its official opening, as usual, at the Westminster Riding Club. This campaign outing will be held October 14. Mrs. John Bennett was appointed chairman of the outing.

Mrs. Frank T. Myers will serve as campaign chairman. She appointed the following persons to be on the steering committee: Mrs. R. Henry Ackley, Mrs. Pearre Wantz, Jr., Mrs. David H. Taylor, Mrs. Charles R. Foutz, Jr.

It was decided to omit the December meeting due to the gas and tire shortage. All necessary business will be discussed at the campaign outing.

Mrs. A. W. Buckinham resigned as chairman of Mount Airy district and was replaced by Mrs. Henry Smith. Mrs. John McKinney, who resigned some time ago, was replaced by Mrs. J. Harry Koller.

Since May 12 twelve applications have been received concerning children reported to be neglected or presenting behavior problems. Two of these children were accepted and placed in foster homes; in seven cases the families have been visited and the difficulties have become adjusted so the children are able to remain in their own homes; the three other cases are being investigated and the children will probably be accepted for foster home care. During the quarter, two children were returned to their own homes; one boy was dismissed from care because of his age and he is now self-supporting and living with relatives. The agency lost one little boy as the result of a streptococcus infection; this was the first death to occur in the CAS since its organization.

BLUE TOKENS, FAREWELL

If you've got some blue tokens in your purse, better use them now, because after September 30 they will be good only for the kids to play with.

Administration says you can use them just as you always have used them. Beginning Sunday, September 17, retailers will cease giving blue tokens to consumers as ration change, and shoppers will be able to spend them only in groups of 10. If necessary, shoppers may pool tokens to make up groups of 10. Removal of practically all canned and bottled vegetables and fruit spreads and specialties from rationing September 17 makes use of blue tokens unnecessary. Beginning September 17 point values on canned fruits, canned juices, canned tomatoes, catsup and chili sauce will be designated in multiples of 10.

THE ELECTION IN MAINE

The early election in Maine, which has sometimes in the past been taken as an indicator of the general result in November, on Monday cheered the anti-fourth-term fighters mightily.

The Republican candidate for governor received 72.4% of the total vote while his opponent with CIO backing received 27.6%. The voters majority was 84,654, a vast gain over the majority of about 49,000 two years ago.

Republican Representatives Margaret Chase Smith and Frank Felton likewise rose to one-sided victories, Mrs. Smith defeating a PAC-endorsed candidate. She had the support of state AFL leaders. Felton was victor by better than three-to-one.

DETROIT LETTER

Political and Other Activities of That City

Another Labor Day has passed, and in some ways the observance of it differed from that of other years. As on Labor Day last year, a great many were compelled to work on war materials, others took a holiday and if they had the gas, went on a fishing trip, or a visit to one of the many parks, or visited relatives. But enough staid at home, who were not working, to take part in a large Labor parade, which ended in Cadillac square, where they listened to a speech by the Democratic nominee for the Vice-presidency. The crowd that was gathered in the square to hear what Senator Truman had to say was estimated at about 30,000, which was far below the number, often estimated at 100,000, which had been present on many former occasions.

Of course his address was greeted with much applause from the members of the CIO, under whose auspices this meeting and parade was held, but it was noted that not many members of the AFL were present, for while both labor bodies, or their leaders, at least are very much in favor of the Fourth term candidate, (Continued on Fourth Page)

TANEYTOWN 4-H GIRLS HOLD DISPLAY OF WORK

The annual Achievement Day program was presented Thursday, Sept. 7 by the Senior and Junior 4-H Clubs in the Potomac Edison building immediately following the September meeting of the Homemakers' Club. The 4-H girls modeled the clothing they had made during the year before the Homemakers, mothers and friends.

Ribbon awards were presented to the winners by Mrs. Pat Barnsby of the University of Texas, who with Mrs. Paul Wimer, of Westminster, served as judge. The cash prizes will be presented to the winners later.

Blue ribbon awards for jams, jarred fruit, jelly and pickles went to Maud Myers, and for jarred vegetables to Betty Lou Royer. Junior winners of blue ribbons for jarred fruits were: Janet Sentz, Julia Arnold, Betty Jane Hahn, Wanda Mehring, Janet Royer and Marian Martin; red ribbon winners, Estelle Hess, Caroline Shriner and Marian Martin.

Blue ribbons for tea towels went to Wanda Mehring, Janet Sentz, Marian Martin, Estelle Hess, Julia Arnold, and red ribbons to Laraine Sauble and Betty Lou Hahn.

Blue ribbons for aprons went to Laraine Sauble, Estelle Hess, Louise Weber, Julia Arnold and Betty Jane Hahn; red ribbons to Janet Sentz, Wanda Mehring, Marian Martin and Janet Royer; blue ribbons for pot-holders to Janet Royer, Laraine Sauble and Estelle Hess; red ribbons to Julia Arnold, Marian Martin and Janet Royer.

Other awards: Marian Martin, blue ribbon for stuffed animal; Janet Royer, red ribbon for pin cushion; Maud Myers, blue ribbon for pajamas made from seed sack; Mary Frances Six, for flowered print; Mildred Ohler for bathing suit; Caroline Shriner for knitting bag.

Blue ribbon party dresses were modeled by Maud Myers and Mildred Ohler; white blouse, Mildred Ohler; two-piece cotton dress, Maud Myers; cotton school dress, Mildred Ohler; Betty Lou Royer and Maud Myers; pinafores, Mildred Ohler, Betty Lou Royer and Maud Myers.

Blue ribbons were also awarded for skirts to Helen Arnold, Thelma Six and Mary A. Arnold; jumper dress, Mary Frances Six; coat, Maud Myers; skirt and blouse combination, Maud Myers.

Mrs. Olive Martin modeled a two-piece cotton dress made by her daughter Marian of the junior club. It too received a blue ribbon. Miss Belva Koons is leader of both clubs.

Mrs. Ernest Dunbar conducted the Homemakers meeting. Members answered roll-call by telling how many lunches they packed during the week. The appointment of members to assist at the public library was discussed and a committee is to be appointed. Mrs. W. O. Ibach told about Edgar Guest and read several of his poems. Miss Justina Crosby spoke on the preparation of the carried lunch.

ARE PEOPLE ASLEEP?

Excitement seems to be running high in political circles over the coming election, but what about the great mass of citizens? The Eastern Shore Times last week said editorially:

"By and large, politics is at a low ebb all across the country. It is not a healthy condition, but there is very little that can be done about it. The next few years will be rehabilitation and conversion years. It never was more important that members of congress who will carry out the will of the people be elected. The farmers, big and little business, the workers, the housewives, everybody has a stake in the future of governmental and governmental regulation. Yet the task of selecting these men is being shrugged off with a minimum of interest.

There is even far less than the usual amount of aroused interest in the presidential contest. Why? Well, the prevailing answer is that everybody is more interested in when the war will end and the boys will come back home than in who will sit in Congress or the White House.

The boys who are coming home, though, will have a lively interest after they get back and get settled in jobs or on farms or in other enterprises.

We hope the home folks don't let them down, by failing to choose the kind of public official who will do the right thing."

Is it true that the average citizen is sleeping at his post as usual? And if that be true, is it true that nothing can be done about it? We trust that many who are saying little are not asleep, but only waiting for a chance to act. And if there are many who are indifferent, then every intelligent citizen and especially every Editor and public speaker should bestir himself to awaken the sleeping sinners.

We use the word sinners advisedly, for sinners they are, who are willing to let the ship of state drift as it will, our national barque has been roughly handled, and every patriotic citizen, man or woman, should be taking a part in saving it from the rocks. This applies particularly to the matter of registration and voting. Do your own thinking. Do not be swayed by those who are concerned only about patronage and jobs.

Remember, to vote you must be registered, so see to it that your name is on the list. No matter what may be your own convictions with regard to the candidates, do not let it be said that the American people do not care. Registration days will be October 3 and 10. If you are not registered, attend to it on the first day. Then on election day go to the polls and vote, and take your sleeping neighbor along. L. B. H.

TRIBUTE TO FARMERS

Under the caption, "The Farmer has performed a miracle in Production," The Saturday Evening Post, in its current issue, says editorially:

"Credit for holding down the cost of living during the war has been claimed by a number of Government agencies. There is no question that price and wage controls and rationing have beneficially served this purpose. But we believe that the biggest share of the credit for keeping the cost of living from soaring out of sight belongs to the American farmer, who in some advanced circles is denounced as the profiteering leech of the century. Without the great increase in food production achieved by the American farmer, nothing could have kept prices at reasonable levels.

"Many statistics have been issued showing the contrast between living costs during this war and World War I. But one item has generally been omitted. This is the fact that during World War I crop and livestock production rose only 5 percent above the average of the previous five years, while during this war farm production has increased 23 per cent.

This remarkable increase, in the face of labor shortages and reduced farm-machinery supplies, has met our expanded war needs and enabled us to help provision some of our hard-pressed Allies. No other item in our vaunted war production outshines this feat.

"A number of factors are responsible for this upsurge in food output. Among them are unusually favorable weather, the willingness of farm families to work harder and longer, and the great improvement in farm efficiency. The extent of this improvement was revealed in a recent report on county-agricultural-agent work. From 1890 to 1910, the increase in food production per farm was sufficient to feed 0.7 of one additional person per farm. But from 1910 to 1940 the increase would feed 5.1 more people per farm. Since 1940 there has been another marked advance. Power machinery, research resulting in better crop varieties and breeds of livestock, agricultural extension work, soil conservation and a more skilled and informed farm population, all have a part in this progress. New Deal restrictions on production partially concealed it. The needs of the war brought it out in full measure.

"This increased farm productivity has proved a blessing in wartime and will constitute a challenge when peace comes. Unless it is matched by expanded industrial production and employment, there will be counsels for farming to throttle down again."

TIME TO BE DEFINITE

Some of the members of Congress, both in the House and in the Senate, have shown that they are working seriously on the problems of domestic economy. This is quite different from the disgraceful rubber-stamping of any bill tossed into the hopper by New Deal officials a few years ago. But we are still far from having the whole group of legislators down to definite thinking. There are still many who are playing with catch words, without thinking of their practical requirements or effects. One of these words, or phrases, is "Unemployment compensation."

Of course we are all for taking care of those in need of relief, but to what extent and how? We dare not, on hearing the words, say, "Now you're got it. Go ahead." We must find the way that the country can stand, and that will not destroy the moral fiber of the beneficiaries.

Senator Tydings, in a speech early in August called the attention of Congress and the country to this in a very sane and practical way. His address was, in part, as follows:

"Mr. President, no sensible or sane man could help realizing the tremendous problem confronting the Nation in converting from a wartime to a peace-time economy. No one would for a moment want to withhold his support to any should reasonable program which would tide over the workman, who in most cases has done a fine job, until reconversion is a fait accompli.

I do not rise to oppose, in principle, unemployment compensation or payments; I rise to oppose the lackadaisical, unvisionary, and rather and unthought-through aspect of the whole program. It occurs to me that members of this body have not yet remotely visualized what a national debt of $300,000,000 will mean when the impulse of patriotism and sacrifice and wartime give and take are diminished if not altogether nonexistent in the post-war period. People will sacrifice and bear any hardship while men are dying on the battlefield, but when the war is over they will want to go back to something like a mors or less liberty—and I used the word "liberal" in its proper sense—aspect of government, rather than to live under the regimentation and direction which wartime makes necessary.

Here is our Government with a $300,000,000,000 debt, by the time we take up the loose ends, provide for relief here and there, and that is roughly a debt of about $3,500 on the average, against every family in America. That was a part of the war; that was understandable. There was waste; there was inefficiency perhaps, here and there; but it was a big undertaking; it had to be done as quickly as perhaps it could be done.

Now that the war is coming to an end, are we, even before the last shot is fired, going to continue down the road to a $400,000,000,000 national debt, and do it under the guise of giving the hand of help to the farmer or the workman or anybody else in this Republic? What we are doing is simply burying a cannon in a bouquet of orchids—and a loaded cannon at that—for the workman will be permanently out of work unless agriculture and industry can live, and of course, conversely, industry and agriculture will be out of business unless the working man can live.

So, Mr. President, my plea here today, in a word, is simply that the time has come, if we are to keep faith with all the elements which have served in this hour of danger, for Congress to provide so that from now on, in the post-war period, certainly within a year after the war is over, we shall appropriate no money that we have not or are not willing to raise by additional taxation. We are reaching the danger point, and bills which do not envisage that fact are only deceiving the people and threatening to wreak great harm on the great masses of the workers of the Nation."

PROPHETIC WORDS

In the light of trends in Washington today toward one-man government, it is interesting to look back to a warning given to America more than a dozen years ago by the governor of one of the great states of the Union.

In his inaugural address this governor said in part:

"There is a present dangerous tendency to forget a fundamental of American democracy—the tendency to encourage consolidation of power at the top of a government structure alien to our system and more closely akin to a dictatorship or the central committee of a communist regime. We have met difficulties before this and have solved them in accordance with the basic theories of representative democracy. Let us not at this time pursue the easy road of centralization of authority, lest some day we discover too late that our liberties have disappeared."

And, in one of his radio addresses, the governor again touched upon his basic theme through which he was appealing for election, saying:

"It was clear to the framers of our Constitution that any administration attempting to make all laws for the whole nation would inevitably result at some future time in a dissolution of the union itself."

The governor who uttered these prophetic words was Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Yet, after doing those very things against which he speaks, he again aspires to the Presidency under the cloak of the "indispensable man." Here's what he said about that:

"The genius of America is stronger than any candidate or any party. I still know that the fate of America cannot depend on any one man. The greatness of America is grounded in principles and not on any single personality. I, for one, shall remember that, even as President."

We are, then, on the threshold of a new era. The greatness of America is grounded in principles which the President now tries to violate, as he violated them four years ago. To save them to elect a new person.

Americans are fortunate this year. They have not only the opportunity to defeat the man who encourages radicalism in labor and dictator government, but at the same time elect Thomas E. Dewey, who has proved that he stands for government by all three branches of our democracy—legislative, judicial and executive—not just a government by executive order.—Republican, Oakland.

424,983 GALLONS OF GAS—WHEW!

Laurel Race Track is having a banner season. Five thousand cars visited the track on Labor Day. Other days have seen record crowds. The season lasts 50 days. A lot of gas will be used during that time.

How much? The answer is a simple matter of arithmetic. If we assume—and we can safely do so—that each car covered 50 miles to and from the track, we have 250,000 miles traveled by the 5000 cars. Dividing that figure by 15—the average number of miles for a car on a gallon of gas—we get as our answer 16,666 gallons of gas—the amount consumed by the cars going to and from the race track on Labor Day.

But there are 50 days to the season. We can assume that 2,500 cars, or half the Labor Day number, will visit the track on the other 49 days. By the method of calculation employed above, we find that the cars will consume an average of 8,333 gallons of gas a day, or a total of 408,317 gallons for the 49 days. Adding the Labor Day figure of 16,666 to 408,317 we get a total of 424,983 gallons of gas that will be burnt up by race track fans attending the Laurel races.

A war is going on. We are told to economize on gas. The Laurel races serve no useful purpose. In the interest of economy, the Laurel Race Track, we believe, should be closed for the duration of the war.—Union News, Towson.

HE'S WONDERFUL

The statesman throws his shoulders back and straightens out his tie, and says, "My friends, unless it rains, the weather will be dry." And when this thought into our brains has percolated through, we common people nod our heads and loudly cry, "How true!"

The statesman blows his massive nose, and clears his august throat, and says, "The ship will never sink so long as it's afloat." Whereat we roll our solemn eyes, applaud with main and might, and slap each other on the back, the while we say, "He's right!"

The statesman waxes stern and warm, his drone becomes a roar. He yells, "I say to you, my friends, that two and two make four." And thereupon our doubts dissolve, our fears are put to rout, and we agree that here's a man who knows what he's about!—The Speakers Library.

What? No Telephones!

New Service

WE HAVE today on the waiting list for Maryland about 25,000 applications for home telephone service. Some of these are many months old.

The reason for this is a wartime shortage of telephone equipment, the manufacture of which, for civilian use, was practically suspended late in 1942.*

Plainly stated, the chances of filling an order depend on (1) the disconnections of present services which release facilities that are promptly reused; (2) the demands for war and essential civilian services which cannot wait.

While a considerable number of older applications will be filled during the year, it is not possible to predict when any given service can be installed. Until conditions change, the waiting period for those who apply now will be long.

But we promise this: No application will be forgotten and all will be filled in their proper turn as facilities permit.

If You Are Planning to Move

So far, it has been possible to move many services from one address to another within the same town, but it does not follow that we can do it in all cases, so we suggest you call our business office if you are planning to move and if your need for a telephone might affect your plans.

Extension Telephones

SOME, for whom we have moved service, have learned that we could not give them the extension telephone they had at their old address. This is because of the Government order—a fair one under the circumstances—that only one instrument may be connected in a home. The purpose is to spread the use of existing instruments at a time when new ones are not being made for civilian use.

SPEAKING for all telephone people, we don't like to say "No" or "We don't know when." We think we understand your disappointment when, moving into a new place, you find the previous tenant's instrument must be put back into the "pool" to fill an order ahead of yours, or when you ask how long you may have to wait, we are unable to tell you.

But, so long as fighting men have first claim on telephone equipment and until the manufacture of it for civilian use can be resumed, we will have to keep on as best we can.

Meanwhile, we genuinely appreciate the cooperation and understanding you have given us.

*The War Production Board has announced proposals for the manufacture of a limited number of telephones. However, it will be necessary to retool and install machinery for this purpose, so it will be quite some time before deliveries of new telephones can start, and shortages of switchboard and outside wire capacity will still remain.

HERE COME THE RESERVES!

SHOCK TROOPS may capture vital beach heads. But then must come the reserves... to hold them!

In the same way the profitable farm must have financial reserves behind it to be safe. No owner or tenant can operate satisfactorily when one crop failure, one crisis of sickness, accident or weather, can push him over the edge of disaster.

For you, as for countless farsighted farmers and ranchers all over the country, War Bonds are an investment in farm security as well as an obligation to your country.

While they are helping to equip our Armed Forces, your Bonds are also building up a backlog of strength for you against emergencies. Just when you'll be needing money most for vital postwar replacements, every three dollars you've invested will come back to you at maturity increased to four... to help pay the bills!

So put every War Bond you can behind the war—and your farm!

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED... NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.
5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy... from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

For America's Future, for your Future, for your children's Future

FEESERSBURG

One-third of the month gone and another week beginning—but work is lessening and there are many kinds of indoor and out.

School begins today and the buses in demand this morning, and the little tots starting for the first time are bright eyed and eager—and life is really beginning for them.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. George Mitten, of Washington, D. C. Sgt. M. J. Rue who lives with them, their only daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews and her 17 year old son Richard, of Tacoma—called at Grove Dale, in their day's tour of visiting relatives along the way—all alert. The grand son Richard Andrews is in his second year of High School, and we envy him his fine opportunity.

After a pleasant summer with her daughter, Mable, in Charlestown, W. Va., Mrs. Ella Koons Crumbacker has been indisposed since her return to her son, Orville Crumbacker's home in Waynesboro, and is confined to bed with the Dr. and her children doing all they can for her.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. George Simpson fell from her chair at the table last week and broke her hip. She and Mr. Simpson now live with their son, Blair S., near Ladiesburg.

Our flying friend, Donald Utermahlen who had been in Corsica is now in Italy, where an enemy shell went through the tail of his plane, and badly damaged his ship, a close call, brother.

Our former neighbor, Earle R. Wilhide, S2/c has been transferred from Bainbridge, Md. to Virginia Beach, Va., where he is nicely located in a fine hotel.

Leverne Gilbert only son of Stanley and Helen Pittinger Gilbert is getting about our country on land and sea travelling from N. Y. to Bermuda and return, and now home for a short time. He and Miss Effie Blizard with his parents and sister, Miss Margaret, spent Sunday evening with his aunt Clara and uncle, Cleon Wolfe.

Mrs. Doris Devilliss, Pleasant Valley, spent last week with Miss Janet Devilliss.

Mrs. Clara Wolfe with her niece, Mrs. Doris Blacksten Rhinecker, spent one day last week with a sister of the latter, Mrs. Walter Crushong, living near New Oxford, Pa., where they had 10 bushels of peaches to pare and jar—and was that a busy day! 7 bushels were put away.

Miss Arlene Grinder's home after a very pleasant week-end on the Eastern Shore of Md. with her friend Miss Mary Ruth Wheatley at Federalsburg. They went sight-seeing to many nearby towns including Rehoboth Beach and Ocean City.

Mrs. Flora Davis Zimmerman, of Frederick, visited her sister, Mrs. Winnie Davis Miller, on Labor Day. Other guests at the same time were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tanner and Mrs. Lona Brown, of Baltimore.

Mrs. Maurice Brooks and child with a young man who boards with them in Baltimore, called to see Miss Grace Sullivan at the Stuffle home in our town, on Sunday.

Nancy Grinder, of Union Bridge has been spending some time with her aunt, Lulu Grinder, when her own girls were away; so on Monday evening her mother gave her a party for her birthday when she received some nice gifts and games were in order with refreshments and a fine cake with 10 candles on it completed their joy.

York Fair is on this week schedule and Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Sr., will enjoy it while staying with her sister, Mrs. Lulu Renner Main in that city.

Rev. G. E. Bowersox, Jr., was back in his pulpit at Mt. Union on Sunday and preached on "The Gift of the Holy Spirit." A basket of red Zinnias, and a jar of hedge blossoms were placed at the front by Mrs. Bruce Shirk and Mrs. Scott Crabbs—all beautiful.

The Church Bulletin announces the pastor's resignation, and gives a pen sketch of an interesting map of the route from Uniontown, Md. to Sallsbury, Pa. The pastors next location, and tells of his new field. The dates of Communion at the four churches he is leaving are given. New addresses and some messages from the boys in service; birth of babies, some doings in the Parish, and donations for the little paper are recorded.

A card from Auburn, Pa., gives a view of "The Old Hereford Memorial Meeting House erected in 1732, and a larger one of the present time built in 1899. Our friend, Miss Louise Reese, of Lutherville, is visiting near Pottsville and writes—"this mountainous country is beautiful."

The street dances each week in Union Bridge continue to attract crowds of young people and some oldersters. We haven't heard of any bad order, and know there's been some nice music.

C. S. Wolfe has had a new cement walk laid from his front porch to the mail box—which is fine when it's slippery with rain or ice. Good luck.

Tuesday morning the ground is very dry—although there were light showers during the night, but we are hopeful because it is cloudy this morning and next week (Sept. 22) brings the Equinox.

LITTLESTOWN

The school of Adams County did not open last Monday but will open on the 15th, the cause for the delay was that Wilbur Miller, 14-year son of Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Lincolnway, East New Oxford. The boy returned to his home two weeks ago after spending a month at a Boys Camp in the Pocomo Mountains and became ill on Sunday and developed acute Polio symptoms. He was taken to the Hanover General Hospital. This is the second case in New Oxford.

The military mass for Pfc. Theron J. Little, 25, Infantryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Little, Gettysburg R. D. 5, who was killed in action in France, on August 12 will be held on Saturday morning at 9 A. M., in St. Joseph Catholic Church, Bonneauville.

Henry Waltman, Littlestown, was elected president of the Adams County Fireman Association at the 23rd annual convention held at Fairfield.

Amos Palmer, well known retired pump maker, of near town, but of Hanover, the last four years, observed his 90th birthday on September 6. He is enjoying good health.

At the meeting of the Lions Club they had two of their members present who are in the service, Pvt. Will Mackley and Pvt. John N. Sell who are home on a furlough. They also had Pfc Stanley Bowersox present. The three had interesting accounts of their service.

Chief of Police H. S. Roberts has been receiving complaints of minors purchasing intoxicating beverages. Coal and wood burning stoves used for cooking or heating go off rationing Oct. 15. The OPA said however that rationing of oil and gas stoves will be continued.

Governor Martin has named Mrs. Emma Sheffer, widow of Howard W. Sheffer, to succeed her husband as Clerk of the Courts of Adams County until the first Monday in 1946.

Mrs. George Martin on Sunday gave a birthday party honoring her husband, Mr. Martin. He received many gifts.

Miss Mary Weaver attended the lay Woman Retreat of the Catholic Church, sponsored by the St. Agnes Reading Circle, of Baltimore, which was held at the Notre-Dame College for women.

T/Sgt. Earl Snyder, one of the six sons of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Snyder who are in the armed forces, is spending a 21-day furlough after serving 23 months in the Mediterranean. He is not at liberty to disclose his destination. Three other brothers are serving overseas.

Capt. Richard M. Phearer, who has been serving in the U. S. Army at base Hospitals as a dental surgeon for two and a half years and who was honorably discharged from service on Sept. 3, has arrived in town.

Pvt. Gordon Shuey, Camp Stewart, Ga., is spending a 13-day furlough with his parents.

A "DEAL" OF A DEAL

What is this system—woe or weal? That its proponents call New Deal? What has it brought to one and all? Who each have interest—rise or fall?

Six years it now has ruled the State. Six years its books will true relate. The things its advocates espouse, Some think it good—some ire arouse.

The New Deal found us in distress. With Business and Finance a mess! What has it done the past SIX years? To give us courage, calm our fears?

The New Deal made the Banks all sound. And our deposits now are bound. To be paid when we call for them, Without a whisper, "haw" or "hem."

The New Deal fed the starving horde. And made each such a King or Lord; It increased tax to pay the bill. And all these empty larders fill.

There was some good we must agree. To set these starving people free. And for this thing we all rejoice— It was for them a heavenly voice.

Beyond that, what has the New Deal done. During SIX LONG YEARS it has run. Has it put more men back to work. Who desired work and would not shirk?

Ten Million Men then unemployed. Were out of work and quite annoyed; Six years have gone and still we find TEN MILLION MEN are left behind.

With lavish prodigality. This spending has been one mad spree. Because those who the New Deal run. Find spending to be lots of fun.

Who'll pay this Bill that has been made. Twenty-five Billions more tis said? Who'll pay this Bill? You must agree That's up to you and up to me.

A lot of things since have been done. To keep this money flowing on— And on the whole—tis but a guess— Things are in such a jumbled mess.

The CCC we all agree. Has done some good—this all can see. And now as for the AAA? Sure, it did well the farmers pay.

The most pathetic thing of all. Is how the Cities and States call Upon the New Deal Treasury, For things that never ought to be.

We'd better change courses in the middle of a dream, Or we'll sure hit stormy weather.

Much good food will go to to waste if there aren't enough people to eat it. If there is a canning plant near by, why don't you give one or two days a week to help preserve this year's crops?—By Anne Goode.

"We cannot let the men whose lives depend on this equipment pay the price for our quarrels at home." —Six labor leaders returning from French battlefields.

LETTER FROM DETROIT

(Continued from First Page) in whose support the speaker eloquently spoke, they are not on speaking terms. And the regular Democratic leaders were conspicuous by their absence, too, for they are not very enthusiastic in the matter of the CIO taking over the party, as it now looks as if they are trying to do so, after the invitation was accepted by the Senator, and he found out how things stood politically in Detroit, he decided to try to please all three of the groups, and gave the morning to the Democratic leaders, the afternoon to the parade of the CIO, and the evening to the banquet of the AFI. Thus he avoided any trouble between the Labor organizations, who, as I said before, are not on speaking terms, although both are supporting the so-called Democratic ticket.

Senator Truman's speech consisted in praising the efforts of the labor leaders but he did not say anything about the fifty to a hundred or more strikes a month that were pulled off every month last year and the year before, or the loss of time and shortage of war materials caused by these strikes. Of course, the Commander-in-chief string was played on, but not a word about the waste and extravagance in the management of things at Washington, he had discovered while he was at the head of the committee on hunting up such things, before he was nominated—that's all forgotten, as it might not look so nice in a report just now. Taking it all together, his visit must look like a grand success, as he seemed to please all the different factions, and avoided any unpleasant incidents.

Right in the middle of the canning season, when fruit—especially peaches—are so plentiful, we are up against a sugar shortage. Not a store in our vicinity has any for sale at present, and all say that it will be weeks before the shortage is relieved. In the meantime, quantities of peaches are being destroyed, as not being able to take care of them, and owing to the reluctance of the wholesale and retail dealers to take a reasonable price, people will not buy them, and we notice that on one day 200 bushel of this useful fruit, most of it usable and half in first-class condition, were destroyed by being thrown into the public incinerator. Up in the great peach belt, instead of holding up the high prices, the growers are offering peaches at 25c a bushel. Makes us think of the time when we could buy them at such a low price in Taneytown.

The war on the rats goes merrily on, but we fear that it will not end as successfully as it now looks like that one will in Europe. It seems as if when we catch one, a half dozen continue to be as hungry and destructive as ever. A rat must be pretty hard up for food when he will eat a green tomato, and that is what they are doing in our little patch. The main trouble is that so many people do not seem to care how many of these pests are around, and do not obey the law relating to garbage cans.

The so-called "cut-back" is being talked about a good bit, and commented on in the daily papers. Especially is this so when the comment is directed at Willow Run, the huge Ford plant, which has been producing B-24 bombers at the rate of one an hour for some time. Since the newer and much more powerful flying fortress which is being used with much success in the Southwest Pacific, has been turned out in quantities, the output of the planes at the Ford plant has been curtailed, and the company is trying to avoid a layoff, by reducing hours of work. So we are informed by an employee of the company. It is a queer thing when one large concern is reducing hours, others are advertising for men. It is true, however, and the majority of men who are now coming into Detroit, looking for work, are very much out of that class, for they are mostly from the farms of the South country—and cannot, without a great deal of instruction, do the work that the different concerns stand in need of men to do.

There has been considerable change in the weather from that of a few weeks ago, as now it is uncomfortably cold in the mornings, at least, while then it was just the opposite. We could stand a lot more rain, and if we do not get it, may look for a shortage of water next winter, as far as the need of it applies to the farms and truck patches around Detroit are concerned. But I suppose you folks are up against the same thing, and the mention of this is no news to you.

USE OF ALUMINUM IN FORD-BUILT LIBERATOR BOMBERS

Enough aluminum to supply every man, woman and child in the United States with at least two aluminum utensils has been used at the Willow Run bomber plant since production of B-24 Liberators was started by the Ford Motor Company.

Deliveries to August 1 totaled approximately 133 million pounds, with 120 million pounds being in sheet form. Sheet aluminum is used to fabricate internal structures in the bomber, and to form the outer surface, or "skin" of the entire assembly. Approximately six million pounds of aluminum wire, rods and bars have been used. Most of this amount went into the manufacture of rivets, 400,000 of which are used in each bomber.

The remaining seven million pounds of aluminum was in the form of tubing and extrusions. Tubing alone is one of the most vital items in the Liberator. There are more than 3,600 feet of tubing in a bomber, providing the arterial system for hydraulic fluids, gasoline, oxygen, vacuum and pressure pipes, speed indicators, engine oil, electrical conduit and ventilation. Nearly nine million individual tubes have been fabricated in the Willow Run manufacturing section.—Crouse's Auto Sales & Service authorized Ford Dealers, Geo. W. Crouse, Prop'r, Taneytown, Md.

THE FREDERICK FAIR

The Great Frederick Fair opens, this year, on September 26 and closes on September 30; first four days and five nights.

This Fair at Frederick, Md., is known over the entire country as one of the oldest agricultural fairs. Practically every variety of farm and garden produce grown in Frederick County, the largest in Maryland, is shown at the Frederick Fair. This is one of the few fairs emphasizing National, State and County exhibits in stock, agriculture, poultry and household departments.

Frederick is proud of its modern Fair plant, with the best half-mile track in the State.

The Frederick Fair with its mid-way of fun, its fine exhibits in all departments, popular prices of admission, large grandstands and plenty of parking space within the well kept grounds, is always a good one and worth seeing.

Shows will be held every night and will include all the regular George A. Hamid attractions.

The sale of grandstand reserved seats for the season of day shows will be on Monday, September 18, at the Secretary's office, 114 North Market Street, Frederick, Md. Beginning Tuesday, September 19, reserved seats for any single day will be sold. The prices of admission to the Fair Grounds and Season Exhibitors' Tickets have been slightly increased, due to Federal tax. All mail orders for admission, grandstand or reserved seat tickets must be accompanied by cash. No mail orders will be accepted by phone.

Silver Wings

By BYRON McCURE

WNU Features.

"CARE to dance?" Captain David Holbrook had been drawn by some irresistible force across the ballroom to the uniformed girl sitting alone at the corner table. Cool gray eyes appraised him and time stood still for a moment as they gazed into each other's eyes; then the girl nodded. Gradually they drifted to the edge of the floor and through a door opening on a small balcony. Neither spoke. Speech was unnecessary. It was enough to be together, complete in each other. Finally David broke the silence, "Just . . . like . . . that!"

She smiled tremulously. "Yes, just . . . like . . . that. I had never believed it could happen so suddenly."
"Neither had I. Gives you a sort of all-gone feeling inside, doesn't it?"

She nodded. "Just like pulling out of a dive."
David grinned. "Exactly! But what do you know about pulling out of dives, young lady?"

She pointed to a pair of shining silver wings pinned to her jacket. "I'm in the Air Corps," she said simply, unable to conceal the pride in her voice. David laughed gaily. "What's so funny about that?" she demanded.

"Funny? Why, I was just laughing happily at finding that we're in the same outfit."
"You know that's not true," she retorted, anger in her voice, "it's just that you men are all alike! You're not willing to admit that women can do things you can . . . just as well and sometimes better! If men aren't the stupidest, the most conceited . . .!" she paused, searching for words. Finding none, she gave him a stinging slap.

Almost roughly he grabbed her arms. "Listen, you little idiot! I get so sick of seeing you women carrying chips on your shoulders, daring anyone to suggest that you aren't really doing men's jobs. Why does a uniform have to go to a woman's head? You could punch that typewriter in some office just as well without it." She started to answer him but, instead, struggled from his grasp and disappeared in the crowded ballroom.

David fell asleep that night dreaming that he was falling through space. But an angel swooped down on silver wings to catch him before he crashed. When he arrived at the airport in the morning the dispatcher approached him. "Your plane has already been warmed up for your ferrying mission, Captain. Lieutenant Winters is ready to take off whenever you say so, Sir."

"Thank you. I'm all set. Let's go." David was anxious to get into the air, where he was at home, where he could think. His mind was still filled with thoughts of that girl.

So preoccupied was he that he ran straight into the storm before he realized it. A blinding streak of lightning zigzagged across the sky just in front of the nose of his ship! With senses newly alert, he glanced hurriedly at the instrument panel. The compass indicator was spinning crazily. That bolt had knocked out its delicate mechanism. David knew it was useless to turn back. He would be just as hopelessly lost as he was now. Drat that girl! If he'd had his mind on his business instead of on her, he'd have paid more attention to the weather report.

He pulled back on the stick and pushed the throttle forward, attempting to rise. Almost immediately ice began to form on the wings and propeller; his rate of climb decreased rapidly. He shuddered as he envisaged the jagged peaks below. Then he remembered the other plane. He craned his neck and peered back, not daring to hope. There it was, doggedly following, just a few hundred feet behind! Hastily he flipped the transmitter switch. "Flight leader to flight! Flight leader to flight! Can you hear me? Come in, flight!"

A familiar feminine voice came clearly. "Flight to flight leader! I can hear you. Go ahead, Sir!"
David thought he was dreaming again. "Wh—who are you?"
Again that cool voice. "I'm Lieutenant Winters, Sir. The girl punching a typewriter in some office. Or don't you remember?"

"Why didn't you tell me you were a Ferry Pilot?" he demanded.
"You didn't give me a chance. You probably wouldn't have believed it, anyway. Women aren't supposed to be capable of doing such things, are they?"

After a moment of silence David said meekly, "Will you take command of the flight, Lieutenant? My compass is knocked out. I'm completely lost."
"Yes, Sir." Crisply she ordered, "Let me pass." David marveled at the ease with which she out-manuevered the storm. In a matter of minutes they emerged into the glorious sunshine.

David slowly eased up alongside. As they flew wing tip to wing tip he could almost reach out and touch her. "Lieutenant Winters?" he asked.

"Yes, Sir?"
"I . . . well, I . . . there's something I'd like to say to you tonight, Lieutenant. Do you think you'd care to listen?"

There was no mistaking the emphasis she placed on her answering, "Yes, Sir!"

Restaurant Sanitation
Eighty-one cities of more than 10,000 population and 169 cities of less than 10,000 have adopted a restaurant sanitation ordinance. It is also in effect in 137 counties and has been adopted as state board of health regulations in 18 states. The law can be enforced without local adoption in Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia. There are 144 cities in these states which have not adopted the restaurant code, but in which it may be enforced. Proper restaurant sanitation has been given credit for much of the effectiveness of war measures dealing with war workers.

Seedless Tomatoes
By evaporating a very small amount of an organic compound known as beta naphthoxyacetic acid in the greenhouse as tomato plants just about come into bloom, every plant in the place set fruit, which ripened into high-quality, luscious tomatoes without seeds in tests conducted by Dr. P. W. Zimmerman of Boyce Thompson institute. The substance is an organic compound which comes in crystalline form, and at relatively low temperatures melts, then turns into a vapor. It was warmed over an electric hot plate, causing the evaporation. The vapor treatment was also tried on the holly plant with the same result. Investigation is being made for its wide practical application.

Continents
Seven grand land divisions are now regarded as continents—Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, North America, Australia and Antarctica. Greenland, being entirely separated by water from North America and being much smaller than any of the continents named, is often referred to as an island-continent, although a few geographers classify it as a separate continent.

Chemicals Used to Build Ships
One thousand chemicals are used in the construction of a battleship and 800 in a tank.

Flat Tires
Eleven million flat tires occurred in 1942—an increase of 1,500,000 over 1941.

lem of our time. It seems to me that much of our success in war has come from the sense that every individual has a personal job to do. While there has been a maze of regimentation, some necessary, some inexcusable, our strength at home has come wholly from the genius of our free men in industry and the devotion of our workers and our farmers to their jobs. Our success on whether the war will depend on whether we take to heart the lessons the war has taught us. If we permit the continuance of the regimentation which some so earnestly desire, we shall fail."

4-H Club Goes All Out in War Bond Effort

The Four-H Clubs of America, 1,700,000 strong, are making a vital contribution to the war program helping in the gigantic problem of keeping the food supply line strong and in buying War Bonds. Here are some scenes of 4-H boys and girls at their war work. No. 1 shows Glenn Whittenberg, of Hidalgo County, Texas, with his fine litter which will help the food supply. Glenn is putting his profits in War Bonds. No. 2 shows an ambulance purchased by the 37,000 members of the 4-H Club members of Virginia. Representing the Virginia Clubs in the picture is Carolyn Steele, Fairview, and Richard Fleming, of Branesville. Major Barnard Sobol, USA, is accepting the ambulance, with Director M. L. Wilson of the Extension Service Department of Agriculture, looking on. No. 3 shows Billy Fleming of Fairfax County, Virginia, helping Dad with the chores. Billy is putting his earnings into War Bonds. 4-H Club members own 90,000 head of dairy cattle. No. 4—4-H Clubs make a mighty contribution to the poultry and egg supply, raising 9 million chickens in 1943. Here is Helen Wheeling, Brown County, South Dakota, with a couple of her birds. She also buys War Bonds with her profits. No. 5—4-H Clubbers are also Victory Gardeners. Here is Jane Budder of Frederick County, Maryland, in her garden. These farm youngsters raised 5 million bushels of garden produce last year. Back the Attack—Buy More Than Before.

HOUSING

Did you ever notice Sam walking down the street, his head high and a cheery "hello" for everybody. Well the reason he holds his head so high is because he's got something in it. Have you ever talked with him about post-war planning? If you ever do you'll find out that he knows something about it.

He is a comparatively new arrival in our town but he surely has us sized up. I talked with him about the above subject several times. He says, "What this town needs is not a good five cent cigar, but more houses. Where are we going to put the families that are getting jobs in our town. Is it fair to them to make them drive five or ten miles to work every morning; is it fair to the town if they earn twenty-five or fifty dollars a week and then spend it in another community because they live there. Our trades people can use that money." And then Sam continues, "I am committing political suicide by making an issue of this, but, by gum, somebody's got to do it."

I admire his spunk and I don't think he is committing political suicide. You know Dewey thought he was doing the same thing when he drove the racketeers out of New York. Watch out Sam, next you'll be running for President of the United States.

I admire his spunk because he is willing to raise an issue. I shy from men that are always on my side. I love an argument. How in the world are you ever going to argue about anything if the person you are talking to always agrees with you.

Not that I think that I would like to argue with Sam about housing for Taneytown. Even a high school boy or girl has studied enough civic improvement to know that Taneytown needs better housing facilities. And when I say that I don't mean just more houses. You can't attract people to our fair city by building barns for them to live in. The houses they want to live in must have all the modern conveniences and improvements and a rose arbor over the front gate. Build such houses and the population of Taneytown will increase by leaps and bounds.

Go ahead, Sam, raise the issue—there are enough fair minded citizens in Taneytown to assure your political career. Perhaps even I will live long enough to vote for you for President of the United States, that is if there are any more elections for that office by that time.

WAR QUIZ CORNER

WHO IS HE?

(40 points)

1. Wartime president of one of the biggest Allied powers. This one will fool you.
2. Which of these is the largest military unit: (a) corps, (b) battalion, (c) regiment.
3. True or false: Japan's Far East aggression started with 1937 attack on China.
4. What is meant by "scorched earth" policy?

ANSWERS

Count: Question one, 40; rest, 20 each. Score: 100, perfect; 80, good; 60, fair.

1. President Kalinin of Russia.
2. Corps.
3. False. With Manchuria attack in 1931.
4. Retreating army destroying everything it leaves behind.

Short Roots

Cultivation of tomatoes should be shallow, as many roots are only a short distance below the surface. The heavier the soil, the poorer the drainage, or the greater the rainfall, the closer the roots will be to the surface.

More Cattle

The supply of cattle rose for the sixth consecutive year to 82,192,000 head at the beginning of 1944 from 79,114,000 head at the beginning of 1943, an increase of 3.9 per cent.

Starch Garments

Sheer cotton garments, unless they have a permanent finish, look better if given a light starching. Piques and other heavier fabrics are firm enough without this.

Apply Limestone

Limestone may be put onto meadow stubble any time after the hay crop has been harvested and before the land is plowed for a cultivated crop the following spring.

When Baby Travels
When you and your baby are traveling in hot weather, take the bottom of a suit or coat box, folding a blanket in the bottom and using it as a car or train bed. The baby can sleep undisturbed while being moved from lap to lap, or from train to train.

Wash Separately
To be on the safe side with colored accessories, always wash each color separately, and quickly, in cool suds. When washing single garments, use a wash basin or small container rather than a big tub. That conserves hot water, and serves as a reminder to use soap without waste and only in proportion to the amount of water.

IS IT AN IDLE DREAM?

Or Will Your War Bonds Make It Come True?

PLAN AHEAD NOW. Now's the time—when you're having to get along with all kinds of old equipment—to be making practical plans for your future. That's what thousands of foresighted people, on farms all over the country, are doing. They're saving their money against the day when a full line of new replacements will be available again. And the wise ones are saving it in War Bonds.

BACK YOUR PLANS WITH WAR BONDS. War Bonds are the best and safest way to invest your money against your future needs. The money you lend to the Government now, for war uses, will come back to you—$4 for every $3 you put in—at maturity. And it's such an easy way to save! Large or small denomination Bonds—which ever you want—can be bought at your bank or post office or Production Credit Association. Your rural mail carrier will get them for you—or you can buy by mail yourself when it's hard to get to town.

IT'S YOUR DUTY TO THE BOYS. Those youngsters—your boy and your neighbors' boys—are fighting to preserve our American way of living for us. And when it's over it'll be our job to help build a better peace for them. Don't let them come back to run-down farms, with wornout equipment, and no means with which to do anything about it. That's where War Bonds come in. The money you put into them will help to establish the farm on a prosperous peacetime basis.

YOU NEVER GET LESS THAN YOU LEND! And you can get 1/4 more than you invest. When held 10 years, Series E War Bonds yield 2.9% interest compounded semi-annually. You get back $4 for every $3.

Of course, no one should cash a Bond unless he has to; but if an emergency comes along, Uncle Sam will redeem them in cash—at full purchase price—any time after you've held them 60 days. BUY WAR BONDS!

FACTS ABOUT WAR BONDS (Series E)

THE KINGDOM STRONGLY ESTABLISHED

LESSON TEXT—II Samuel 2:4-7; 5:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be moved, but abideth forever.—Psalm 125:1.

Position and power are important to a king, but even greater importance is the winning of the hearts of his people. Only as he has them with him can he build a great nation.

David was the Lord's anointed. The kingdom was his. But God expected him to make the necessary effort and use his own abilities to bring it into a place of honor and usefulness. God gives us all we have, but He does not shower it down on us; we must go out and possess it.

Note in the three verses that precede our lesson (vv. 1-3) that David moved forward only after prayer and divine guidance. Little wonder that he succeeded.

I. The Southern Tribes Declare Their Loyalty (2:4).

The nation was divided into two parts, Judah in the south and Israel in the north. To bring them together again called for consummate skill. David had it.

When Saul had died, David showed his respect and genuine loyalty to the king by his actions and by his song of lament which we find in II Samuel 1. Then by the Lord's leading he went to Hebron, the national capital of Judah, and there awaited the will of the people.

Their declaration for David was not long in coming. They knew and respected him. He had shown himself to be their friend (I Sam. 30:26) and now they made him king. It was the first step and a long one in the right direction.

II. The King Makes Friends by Being Friendly (2:5-7).

The men of Jabesh-gilead, hearing that the Philistines had killed Saul, went for his body and gave it suitable burial. This gave David occasion to show his fine spirit of appreciation, which naturally warmed the hearts of all those who had loved and followed Saul. It was excellent strategy, but at the same time it was the natural expression of a kind heart.

He that would have friends must show himself friendly (Prov. 18:24). And why not? The friendly and open-hearted kindness of some Christians does more to win others to Christ than the brilliant discourses of some cold, exclusive Christian worker. Most of the Lord's work is done by ordinary people with warm hearts. Is there any reason why we cannot all be winsome and attractive in Christ?

III. The Northern Tribes Recognize Their King (5:1-5).

A period of seven years elapsed before this took place. The house of Saul was not willing to yield its supposed rights to the throne, and there was fighting and struggle. In it all David showed himself to be upright and considerate.

There is value in gradual development and in the struggle for the right. Had David found immediate success one wonders whether he would have gained the strength he needed for the future.

Then came the day when Israel, the tribes of the north country, of their own accord chose to put themselves under David. Note that it was because of their regard for him (vv. 1, 2) that they came to him (v. 3). That was great gain.

A united people! How important that is in the affairs of the nations. Nothing is more disturbing or a greater hindrance than internal friction. We ought to deal quickly and decisively with any group or force in the life of our nation which is clearly divisive or disloyal.

Think, then, how important it is that God's people in the Christian Church stand together in undivided loyalty to Christ, our King, and in loving devotion to one another.

IV. The King Established a National Capital (5:6-10).

Jerusalem, which was to be the "city of David," and which figures so prominently not only in history but in prophecy, had to be wrested from the hands of the heathen Jebusites, and be established as the sacred city and the capital of the Jewish nation.

Note that the kind and considerate king was not a weakling. He knew how to fight and to win. Verse 8 is difficult to interpret, but evidently does not mean that David was cruel. The Jebusites taunted him by saying that their blind and cripples could hold the wall against David's men. Then they doubtless put their best soldiers on the wall, and David said to his men, "Let us take these cripples."

We see in verses 9 and 10 that David was not only a fighter, but also a builder. He began then the development of Jerusalem, the great city of which we are yet to hear wondrous things.

Constitution Day, 1944, Marks Historic Milestone in History

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

SEPTEMBER 17 is Constitution day and this year it will have greater significance for Americans than ever before in the century and a half of their nation's history. It will have significance not only for them but for millions of people of other nations as well.

For it is entirely reasonable to believe that by that date they will be seeing the dawn of a new day, that they can look forward more confidently than they have during the last four years to being freed from the yoke of one of the cruelest and most ruthless oppressors in all human history. By them the words "establish Justice . . . and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity" will be a shining beacon of hope to all those who have dwelt in the darkness of Nazi domination and they, too, can look forward to enjoying "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

This will be true because the vigor, the daring, the skill and the resourcefulness of a young nation when thrown into the conflict will have tipped the scales in favor of freedom-loving men of all nations and will be helping them along the road to victory.

A young nation? That is what many Europeans have called us—"Young America" and "the infant United States."

As a matter of fact, ours is the oldest existing government of any importance in the world! Kingdoms, dynasties, republics, monarchies and empires have come and gone. But the United States of America has existed fundamentally unchanged since the little group of 55 men, free men, "common men"—lawyers, he fell in 1815, the Bourbons came back for a short time with the "Citizen King," Louis Philippe, but he was succeeded by the Second Republic which ended with the coup d'etat of another Bonaparte and the establishment of the Third Empire. It fell in 1870 and was followed by the Third Republic which ended in the disaster of 1940. Today there are two Frances—Vichy France, the stooge of Hitler, and Free France, a government in exile.

Russia? The Romanoffs ruled in 1787 but their dynasty ended 130 years later in the Bolshevik revolution. Since then it has been the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics over which rules the strong hand of Joseph Stalin, premier and dictator.

Germany? She was a loose confederation of duchies, kingdoms and principalities until Bismarck in 1870 welded them into an empire over which the Hohenzollerns ruled until 1918 when Kaiser Bill became a fugitive in Holland. There was a brief period of a republic, then the despotic rule of one Adolf Schickelgruber.

In Austria the Hapsburgs ruled longer than the Hohenzollerns in Germany but they, too, lost their crowns in 1918. Austria, also tried a republican form of government, then turned to a dictatorship and eventually was swallowed up by the armed might of an Austrian paperhanger turned German.

In neither Asia nor Africa is there a government which is "older," in the sense of uninterrupted continuity, than the United States. China was an absolute monarchy until 1912 when a republic was set up. Since then she has known civil war, internal dissension and loss of much of her territory to the Asiatic counterpart of the German war lords so that she, too, for several years has existed "half slave and half free."

In Japan the ancient shogunate

(From the painting by J. D. Stearns)
The Constitutional Convention in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, September, 1787.

farmers, merchants, bankers, educators, physicians and a soldier—met in Independence Hall in Philadelphia and there established a "government by the people, of the people and for the people."

The only modifications in our government since then have been relatively minor, as governmental changes go. So ours is virtually the same government that it was 157 years ago. What other nation can say the same?

Call the roll of these nations in Europe, in Asia and in Africa—our enemies in this global conflict as well as our Allies—and see how many can come near to matching that record.

England? While it is true that no dynasty has fallen since the United States was founded (it wavered, perhaps, when a king abdicated), John Bull's government of today is a far cry from the government of a century and a half ago. Then it was an autocracy, or, at best, an oligarchy. It was ruled by the few, the lords. The people were not sovereign. Now England, or rather, Great Britain, is a democracy, thanks to the first reform bill in 1832 and the second in 1867 which established practical household suffrage.

France? In 1789 the Bourbons still ruled France. Then came the Revolution followed by a period of chaos called the First Republic until Napoleon Bonaparte seized power and established the first empire. When ended in 1867, a senate was created in 1875 and a constitution was granted in 1889. But these gestures toward a more liberal form of government proved to be hollow mockeries when the Japanese war lords, who dominate the emperor, like their Prussian counterparts embarked upon a career of attempted world conquest. So they in Asia, even as Germany in Europe, violently "changed" the governments of nearly a dozen countries—Korea, Manchuria, Thailand (Siam), Indo-China, Assam, Burma, the Philippines and others in Malaysia and Polynesia.

That there will be more changes in all countries—European, Asiatic, African—in the future is a certainty. What that future holds for them is still an unsolved mystery. But because the Constitution of the "oldest" government—the United States of America—has "stood the test of time" it may be the charter upon which other nations may base their new or revised forms of government.

And—who knows?—out of the lessons learned from this world holocaust may come an association or family or federation of nations who may join together "to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity."

Summer Haven

For nearly a century the quiet, cool heights of the White mountains in New Hampshire which sweep in a jumbled mass from the waistline of the state nearly to the Canadian border, have lured summer residents. When eastern cities are sizzling under the torrid July and August sun, White Mountain resorts enjoy temperatures that seldom force the mercury above 80 degrees in the shade during the day. At night, comfort usually calls for evening wraps for wearers of hot weather attire.

Hot Peppers

The hot peppers are valuable for relishes and mixed pickles but they should not be grown in the same row with sweet peppers in order to avoid the mistake of getting a hot one mixed with the sweet ones in salads. In the large fruited types better production is assured by pinching out the first or "king" blossom. Like the cucumber, the plant often stops to develop its first born at the expense of the rest of the progeny.

Human Guinea Pigs
From the time of the ancient Greeks, scientists have needed human beings to test their theories—some have tried experiments on themselves, others have used volunteer convicts and soldiers. In this war, conscientious objectors have welcomed the opportunity to serve medicine and science by becoming "guinea pigs."

Timber Loss
Insects, disease and decay cost us an annual toll of $110,000,000, much of this loss being in old, overripe timber which should have been harvested long ago. Estimated destruction in an average year laid to these causes—over 1,000,000,000 cubic feet of wood.

Wealthiest Man
The Nizam of Hyderabad (India) is alleged to be the wealthiest man in the world. He is reputed to have a personal fortune of 260 million dollars in gold and two billion dollars worth of jewels. His income is almost a million dollars a week.

Desert Training Camp Fades Into Lone Ghost Town

Large War Maneuver Area Scene of Grimmiest Mock Warfare.

SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF. — The California-Arizona desert training center, springboard for the North African invasion troops, has faded into the "ghost" town of Indio. Corps headquarters were removed to the command unit here, and a guard of Negro soldiers has taken over the lonely desert post.

Known as Camp Young and headquarters for the smaller reservations in the area, its existence began in April, 1942. One of the nation's largest war maneuver areas, the desert center was the scene of some of the grimmest mock warfare conceived.

From the southern California desert southeast into Arizona, tanks and tank destroyers, half tracks, artillery, and troop carriers rolled through the sandy washes and over the rubble hills in operations as much like actual desert warfare as man and climate could make them.

130 in Shade—No Shade.

Temperatures in midsummer were as high as 130 degrees in the shade, but the leafless palo verde casts no shade and the scrub lies close to the soil for sustenance. This was an area well calculated to try a man's mental and physical resources. Residents of Indio say as many as 85,000 men were in training at one time.

All the while Indio, population 2,200, was quietly engaged in raising dates and grapefruit. But the army spiraled the population and jeeps clogged the two main streets. Laundries went on a vague schedule, groceries sold out by midmorning, the telephone company erected a new building.

Air and artillery bombings shook the straw out of adobe ranch buildings. The Salton sea, paradise for ducks, became a bomber base. Indio went to war for two years.

Town Is Quiet Now. Now it's all over. The town is quiet. Horse trailers and hay trucks move slowly through the streets. There is a big pile of overseas caps in the dry goods store. Original price was $2.65; marked down first to $1.50, and now to 49 cents, they lure no buyer.

Camp Young's physical property will move away as it came, in sections. Tent frames and floors are to be taken up, the prefabricated buildings that housed bakeries, laundries, bathhouses, recreation halls, and post exchanges are to be hauled away.

The ghosts of thousands of sweating, sand-grimed men paced along the roads where rocks have been piled in unit insignias and cactus transplanted into gardens. Tar paper flapped disconsolately from board walls of the day rooms. The chapel door was agape, its only occupant a lizard.

The Negro sentry rolled his eyes heavenward: "Yes sir," he answered, "I'm the onliest man here."

Home of Judge Hearing Burglary Case Robbed

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Judge Samuel Leibowitz, famed jurist, was hearing a burglary case in Brooklyn when he was called to the telephone. "Come home at once," said his wife, Belle. "The house has been ransacked."

At the Leibowitz home police were told the loss amounted to "upward of $10,000," mostly in jewelry belonging to the judge's wife and his daughter Marjorie, 18.

Marjorie, who will marry Ensign Lee Ross, a navy air force instructor at Pensacola, Fla., June 18, and her mother were shopping when the robbery occurred. Judge Leibowitz said many of his daughter's wedding presents had been taken.

"One thing they didn't take," said the judge, "was the fountain pen I write sentences with. And there's still plenty more ink."

Drink Port, Used Pipe; She Reaches Age of 102

CHICAGO, ILL. — After having drunk port wine daily for nearly 100 years—recommended by her husband, a Greek neurologist, as relaxing—Mrs. Catherine Copulos now likes milk as her favorite drink.

Mrs. Copulos, who also followed her husband's recommendation and has smoked a Turkish pipe for 50 years, observed her 102nd birthday recently.

One of Mrs. Copulos' four sons, Milton, said his mother was still cheerful and healthy, and was active until two years ago when she suffered a hip fracture. He recalled that when his mother was 77 she went to New York and climbed to the top of the Statue of Liberty.

Find New Drug Addicts, Thyroid Gland Hormones

NEW YORK. — A new form of drug addiction, the secret taking of thyroid gland hormones, was reported to the medical society of the state of New York. The thyroid produces one of the body's most potent energy-making hormones. Addicts use it in the form of desiccated thyroid. Some use it for extra energy, some for mental stimulation. There is, perhaps, also, it was said, some mental intoxication.

One boy who was being supervised by the MCAS was returned to be placed in Saint Mary's Industrial School because it was found that he is not yet ready for foster home replacement but needs the discipline of an institution.

There have been a number of juvenile delinquency cases reported most of them as the result of the parents' lack of interest in and responsibility for their children.

Practically all of the children in the CAS foster homes have had routine physical examinations and dental corrections; one child was taken to the Hospital for an operation and another was taken to have his arm put in a cast after he fell and broke it; a little boy who has been taken to Wilmer Clinic several times this year for treatment now has almost normal vision and an operation will not be necessary; two boys were examined in the Chest Clinic and found to be in need of special care which is being provided for them in boarding homes. Several children need tonsils removed and will be taken to the hospital as soon as the infantile paralysis ban is lifted.

On August 31, there were 38 children under care and placed as follows: 1 with relatives, 2 in wage homes, 13 in free homes and 22 in boarding homes. 262 visits were made to or in behalf of these children and two families requiring advice with their domestic problems. 242 office interviews were held in the interest of these persons.

The Soroptimist Club paid the expenses of a girl in the Junior Training Camp at WMC for one week and another girl spent a week in the camp sponsored by Mrs. Charles Schaeffer. The Venture Club provided complete outfits for two school girls.

There were 9 requests from out of county agencies for information concerning individuals known to the CAS. Fourteen cases presenting domestic problems have been given considerable study. 33 children are involved in these families and the CAS is interested in keeping the homes intact if possible. More foster homes are needed to care for the children whose own homes fail them because of separation or death of parents or unsuitable home conditions. Much time has been spent this summer in finding foster homes and it has become necessary to increase the amount of board to provide for children needing foster home care.

COMMUNITY CONCERT ASSOCIATION

Mayor Joseph L. Mathias, Sr., will issue a proclamation, designating Monday, September 18, as the opening day of the membership campaign for the Community Concert Association. He will be a guest of honor at the campaign dinner Monday evening at the Charles Carroll Hotel, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. J. Edmund Lippy, president of the association will preside at the dinner. The principal speaker for the evening will be James Wolf, a representative of the Columbia Concert Incorporation of New York, of which this association is a unit. He will assist in outlining the campaign and will aid in relating experiences in other communities where concert seasons are already being arranged. His talk will be enlivened by anecdotes of the stars in opera, stage and radio.

Workers' materials will be distributed in addition to instructions given by the president. K. Ray Hollinger will again serve as campaign chairman. A number of the captains and their helpers have volunteered to serve again this year.

Memberships, which are the admissions to the concerts for the season can be obtained only during the week of September 18. There are no admissions sold for the nights that the concerts will be held. Saturday, September 23, at 6 p. m. the memberships will be closed.

The board of directors, with the officers, will meet Saturday night. Campaign manager Ray Hollinger will make his report on membership secured. At this meeting the concerts for the coming season will be arranged, dates set, and the artists selected.

The concerts will take place in the high school auditorium.

Mr. Hollinger has announced the captains in the various districts. They include: Taneytown, Mrs. Estella Yingling; Mount Airy, Mrs. Dorothy Ryan; Sykesville, Mrs. Wm. Shipley; Manchester, Mrs. Norma Wentz; Hampstead, Mrs. Charles Mans; Union Mills, Mrs. James Shriver and Union Bridge, Mrs. Blaine Broadwater, and in Westminster, Miss Evelyn Mather, Mrs. P. G. Coffman, Prof. Philip Royer, Mrs. Lou Hawkins, Mrs. Gerald Brickett and Mrs. Charles Fisher.

This is the time to plant Fall gardens. Snap beans, carrots, beets, turnips, radishes, lettuce and cabbage will thrive if set out now. So will greens, such as kale, spinach and collards.—By Anne Goode.

NOTICE!

During and after every war there is a crime wave during which period there is a certain element of people who have no respect for law and order—defy Almighty God—their town, county, State and Nation—Taneytown is no exception to this rule at present. We are sorry to have to state that a few citizens of Taneytown, and a number from other towns have cliques, together to defy all laws and threaten officers in the discharge of their duties—refuse to swear out warrants and appear as witnesses against violators of the law. We have determined to use every known means to preserve law and order in our beloved town of Taneytown and with God's help and the support of the citizens of Taneytown which support we earnestly request, we will be able to remove this stain from our town.

Taneytown has full Police power in the Corporation of Taneytown and for ¼ mile beyond the Corporation limits. No Corporation Police power was surrendered to the State of Maryland when the Corporation of Taneytown turned the two State Highways through the town over to the State Roads Commission. We have appointed a full time officer and if necessary will appoint more. This gives us two officers at present, and we request that the citizens of Taneytown aid and support these officers in the discharge of their duties. We have no other choice than to appoint a full time officer and to do so will take extra money, and we are sorry to be compelled to increase the taxes for this purpose. But we cannot do otherwise. Again asking for your cooperation we remain

Yours very truly,

THE MAYOR & CITY COUNCIL

POST-WAR PLANNING

FOR OUR OWN COMMUNITY

Peace will come, perhaps sooner than many of us believe. Then will be no time for folded hands, or for any mental let-down because one big job will have been done.

We shall be faced with an urgent new job—to swing our community smoothly back into the normal orbit of peacetime living.

We pledge the full cooperation of this bank with you in creating and carrying out constructive community plans for happy, fruitful years to come—after victory.
