The first rush to file income tax returns is over, and experience shows two things. First, the forms are simpler than last year, and yet there are so many things to be understood that the taxpayer generally can not safely make out his own return. There are many who could do it if they would give sufficient time to the study of the forms and acquaint themselves with the law.

Second, the extension of time for farmers to make their estimates to January 15 of the following year, or to make final returns instead of the estimates, has created a rush period during the first two weeks of the year, and at least some who gave as assistance were unmercifully driven during those two weeks, whereas formerly hardly anybody got down

The Army and Navy are asking all civilians to make greater use of Mail in writing to service men this year as a direct help in conserving critically needed transport space and as a means to providing fighting men with more frequent and faster com-munication from home. Great stress is placed by military officials on the value to soldiers and sailors of fro-quent letters, which is more possible by the use of V-mail. The fact that there are more men overseas disallows of the consistent sending of regular mail by airplane and this type of mail is frequently held up for lack of space, the military authorities say. LEGISLATURE IN SESSION

The law-making body of our State is now in session at Annapolis, and it will be well for all our people to be reminded of that. Of course all of us are supposed to know it, but certainly not all of us bear it in mind. FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

There is the promise of a "campaign until freedom of information becomes a living reality everywhere portation. This should cause those in the world"-made on behalf of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, at a meeting in Washington.

As usual, there was prompt tacit agreement on the part of the State Representatives.

No one needs to be reminded that a policy of "military secrecy" has been imposed on news throughout the war. Bad news has been withheld from the American public and denied by the United States government and all other governments, with the result that the press, radio and other media of information has been censored. In the judgment of the editors who have just met in solemn conclave, the freedom of the news has been denied contrary to "the right of people to read and hear news without hindrance."

The restriction placed on communications has gone so far that the newspapers and the radio have been kept so much in the dark that they have constantly adhered to the habit of exercising scrupulous care to "never spill the beans" for fear that they might be mistaken and misinterpret some legitimate object to control the "freedom of the press" by withholding information that might be "helpful to the enemy."-Industrial News Service.

Social Justice

Against 130 million potential entries in a race the winner must be pretty good - excellent, in fact. That's why occasional winners in America's business competition have been so distinguished. Out of 130 million, they were best in their line. Nobody is barred from competition in America. Anybody can take part who feels fit and has the Enterprise has been free here since 1776. Education was free in some parts of the country even earlier than that. By keeping the doors to competition wide open; by equalizing, as far as possible, opportunities to qualify for the game, Uncle Sam has managed to discover his most competent people automatically and quickly. Besides, he keeps the sport attractive by rewarding winners quite lavishly sometimes.

Theorists Are Busy Touting for government supervision of industry, government owner-ship of just about everything, has grown to epidemic size in the last year. With military victory near in the European war theatre, tantalizingly near, perhaps America's enemies think they must overthrow democracy by trickery if at all. Critics of America's governmental and economic system always make a lot of noise about inequalities they observe in the rewards of competitive business. Their strategy is to point out abuses of Private Enterprise rather than its normal results. This serves to throw a better light on whatever novelty they may be recommending for use 'After Democracy fails" - usually some embroidered version of Social-

The Best Ever

Practical and patriotic people never have claimed that America's competitive system was without defect. If it had been perfect there would have been no need for rules ver competition has existed, in America or elsewhere, recently or long ago, it has been necessary to enact laws forbidding the strong, the shrewd, and the rich from taking advantage of the weak, the trusting, and the poor. A nation that deserves liberty is capable of restraint.

Laws do not make everything right. Some injustices occur in spite of law. With the Ten Commandments still imperfectly enforced we can't expect too much of the Sherman Law. Just the same, both are needed, and Private Enterprise, judged, faults-and-all, by results to humanity, is still the most successful economic system on record. On the other hand, all the fancy forms of Socialism proposed in America have been tried elsewhere and failed

Proved in Service

Inventors, mechanical engineers, and fabricators of machinery have a handy language. They often suggest, concerning a new machine. "Put it in service and work the bugs out of it." They mean: find and correct its defects. Nothing is so useful in this regard as actual experience—a field test for a combine, a road test for a truck.

Private Enterprise is far advanced in this process. It has been used well by an intelligent watchful people, able to find defects and correct them. Beginning all over to 'work the bugs out" of some new governmental system would be downright folly: It never has worked. Discarding a system (political or economic because of imperfections, after it has made America the world's leading nation, is like scrapping a speed boat that never lost a race and setting forth on a raft.

Splendid Doghouse Made From Barrel

Should Be 1½ Times Size Of Pet To Be Used For

Gas rationing may have something to do with it, but wherever one goes these days in communities where single-family houses predominate, the kennel is playing almost as important a part in the home as the garage, the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City, finds.

A dog is a better companion, guard or worker for having a place of his own. A box or basket in the bath-room or kitchen may serve nicely for the smaller or more delicate breeds, but dogs of medium or large size, especially those of the heavy-coated varieties, require a separate all-year-round house. Ready-made houses of varied design and construction are available in many places, but one of the very best is the barrel type house (shown above) developed at the Gaines Research Kennels, and which anyone at all handy with tools can easily make up at almost no cost Anyone contemplating trying his hand at such a barrel doghouse may have detailed working blueprints without charge by writing to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

The barrel has so many advan-

The barrel has so many advantages as a doghouse that it is surprising that more has not been done with it. It is rain and snow proof; warm in winter, cool in summer. Its biggest advantage is that most of the work has already been done. Only three steps need be taken to adapt it for the purpose intended. An opening to serve as a door must be cut at one end, the bunghole must be developed into a ventilator, and a support must be arranged at each end so that the be arranged at each end so that the barrel-house does not rest on the ground. The last not only prevents rolling and early decay, but also dampness and drafts—big causes of dog illness. Finish with good paint. Almost any type of heavy-duty barrel will do. A wine or vinegar cask which had been thoroughly deodorized by washing with diluted odorized by washing with diluted creosote is ideal for the purpose. The size of the barrel should be in keeping with the size of the dog. As a rule, the barrel kennel should be 1½ times as large as the dog and wide enough so he can turn around com-fortably. Preferably the house should face the south or east, and it should be placed where the wind does not strike it directly. The best place for this house is where it will get the the rest of the day. For additional ventilation, several holes may be drilled in the front and back panels of the barrel house and the holes equipped with suitable cork stoppers. By opening and closing these holes ventilation may be regulated in line with outdoor conditions. The hinged door — leather or metal two-way hinges will do equally well — permits frequent sunning of the house and helps eliminate vermin and

Wartime Protein Substitutes Tested

Corn Gluten Mash With Linseed Meal Effective

Using not more than four pounds of the usual protein feeds in 100 of chick starter, compared with 12 to 16 or more before the war, University of Wisconsin specialists have devised rations giving results comparable to those of prewar times.

The basic wartime ration, which worked tolerably well, proved somewhat deficient in vitamins. It included: ground yellow corn, 45 lbs.; wheat bran, 15 lbs.; wheat middlings, 15 lbs.; alfalfa leaf meal, 5 lbs.; meat scrap, 4 lbs.; soybean oilmeal, 16 lbs.; limestone grit, 1.5 lbs., granite grit, 1.5 lbs.; iodized salt, 0.5 lb.; sardine oil, 0.5 lb.; and manganese sulfate, 0.8 lb.

When the protein feeds were three pounds of a special fish meal, with vitamin content preserved, and 16 of soybean oilmeal, the results were as good as with prewar protein com-

The basis ration was improved by using, instead of sardine oil, from 1 to 2 per cent commercial vitamin D powder of a kind which contains whey solubles and fish liver solids, and which therefore carries B vitamins as well as vitamin D.

Due to soybean oilmeal, it was found that part of the soybean oilmeal can be satisfactorily replaced by corn gluten meal and linseed meal, although a chick ration should not contain more than 5 per cent linseed meal.

One of the best protein feed combinations employing "substitutes for the substitute" proved to be meat scrap, 4; soybean oilmeal, 6; linseed meal, 5; corn gluten meal, 5.

Although a chick starter carrying 20 parts of protein feed in 100 is satisfactory where pullets are to be raised for layers, there is an advantage in using more protein where fast growth is highly important. In producing broilers it is well to use 4 parts of meat scrap and 20 of soybean oilmeal, instead of 4 and 16.

Bees' Importance

More than 10,000 years ago man was using beeswax in mummification and the coffins in which the embalmed bodies were placed were made airtight by means of beeswax.

belts, coils and machinery, as well as airplanes. Today as 10,000 years ago the bee serves another very essential use the pollinizing of flowers to aid in the increased production of fruit and many forage crops. While always recognized, the value of honey as a sugar substitute, has increased materially during the war.

Beeswax has played another important part in commerce, it has been employed in the making of artificial flowers and other articles of art. Its present war uses, however, have discouraged further development along this line.

Hog Cholera Danger

With the large number of pigs now on farms increasing the opportunity for hog cholera and other infections to spread, farmers in the important pork - producing middle - western states are immunizing their animals against cholera at an earlier age than in the past, according to U.S. department of agriculture reports. A small proportion are reported to have received treatment before weaning, but veterinarians recommend about two weeks after weaning for the best and longest lasting results. Immunization of pigs at about ten weeks is expected to result in smaller losses from hog cholera, as well as less danger of checking growth by means of the treatment when they are older, and especially while being fattened for mar-

Laying hens now average 142 eggs annually, or twice as many as they laid 20 years ago.

Coccidiosis in Lambs

Coccidiosis in lambs may be successfully prevented by the addition of ground crude sulphur to their feed in proportions ranging from 0.5 to 1.5 per cent of the ration, the U. S. department of agriculture has determined by experiments in cooperation with large feeding establishments. Coccidiosis is a parasitic condition that often has serious if not fatal consequences. It is commonly acquired from infected pastures or feedlots.

STORING FURNITURE

Question: I intend to move to my sister's apartment, leaving my furniture and other equipment in the apartment where I am now living. This is on the second floor. The radiators will be drained so that there will be no heat in the apartment. Will my furniture be safe from the cold during the winter? I am also leaving my living room outfit, rug, radio, gas range, refrigerator, chrome kitchen set and a wardrobe with my husband's clothes. He is in the army.

Answer: Unless the quality of the finish is poor, there is less likelihood of the woodwork of the furniture being damaged by cold than by dampness, which might be harmful. After sponging (without flooding) the woodwork with the thick suds of a mild soap, follow with clean damp cloths, and wipe dry. Polish with a paste wax, applied in very thin coats, each allowed to dry hard before rubbing. Then cover the pieces with heavy paper to keep out the dust. But if the pieces are upholstered in mohair or woolen fabric they should be thoroughly protected from moth damage. You should also moth-proof your rug and your husband's clothing.

Wash the refrigerator thoroughly and wipe all inside surfaces with a solution of bicarbonate of soda, about a tablespoonful in a quart of warm water. The door of the box should be left partly open. All exposed metal parts of the range, refrigerator, and the metal furniture should be given a thin coat of vaseline to protect them against corrosion. might be wise to cover the radio to protect it from dust. If it is a portable unit, place it in a carton. The radio should be kept in a dry place.

VENTS IN STORM SASH

Question: Please tell me if the little opening in a storm sash for ventilating purposes should be at the top of the window or at the bottom.

Answer: I prefer not to have any vents in the sash itself. With a holder or adjuster on the window, the storm sash can be opened whenever desired and at different points, depending on the weather. When the storm sash is closed, there is little or no chance of excessive cold air leakage. If, however, you wish to install vents, place them in the bottom rail of the window; it is more convenient there and ventilating efficiency is not impaired greatly.

. . . Cleaning Stone Fireplaces

Question: I have an old fashioned granite fireplace, and two others made either of marble or marbleized plastic. Is there any way to clean them?

Answer: If the granite is rough (not polished) you can scour it with a paste made of coarse, scouring powder moistened with water and a few drops of ammonia. Rinse thoroughly afterward with clear water. Polished marble or granite can be cleaned by washing with a mild soap and hot water, followed by rinsing with clear water. For cleaning imitation marble use a mild soap and warm water (not hot).

Leak in Heating Plant

Question: My heating plant has opened a small seam in front about six or eight inches long. Can this be welded successfully without having to replace the entire front?

Answer: A welder with a portable welding outfit should be able to repair the leak for you. Your automobile service man should be able to put you in contact with a welder, or you may find one listed in the advertising section of this . . .

Crumbling Chimney Brick

Question: The common brick at the bottom of our chimney in the basement keeps peeling and chip-Can anything be done ping off. about this?

Answer: It will help to give the bricks a coat or two of cement base paint, which comes as a powder to be mixed with water. Most mason material dealers carry this paint. But it will not harden the bricks throughout; nothing will do

* * * Enclosed Porch

Question: Can an enclosed porch be insulated adequately so that it will be practical for a bedroom? We should like to use part of it in this way. Our house is a frame building about 30 years old.

Answer: Yes, that can be done. But if there is no celler under the porch, the floor should be very well insulated. With storm sash on the windows. he room should be quite comfortable. The heating of such room must be considered care-

Gambling in Life Insurance

For years in London many a person wishing to cash his life insurance policy has put it up at a monthly auction where it may bring from 5 to 20 per cent more than its surrender value. Every detail about it, except the name and address of the insured (which are never disclosed) is furnished by the auctioneer. As the successful bidder becomes the beneficiary and responsible for all further premium payments, he thus gambles that the face value of the policy will greatly exceed his investment in its purchase and premiums.

HOMEMAKERS' CLUBWORK IN COUNTY

Homemakers' clubwork in Carroll County is under way for 1945. Figures from the Home Demonstration Agent's annual report for 1944 show that the work in this county is reaching many Homemakers and 4-H girls. At the end of 1944 the total enrollment in the 20 Homemakers' Clubs in Carroll County was 623. Of this number 57 have joined a club during the year. One small club, Melrose, has increased its membership by 150%. In the 16 girls 4-H clubs there are 226 girls enrolled. The 14 adult leaders who help in this work are invaluable to the successful execution of girls

In meeting these people in their hemes and at regular meetings, Miss Crosby travelled 6982 miles to make 183 home visits during the year and conduct 226 meetings at which demonstrations were given. In addition to this number 171 meetings at which demonstrations were given were held by the local project demonstrators or local 4-H leaders.

The regular monthly Homemakers meetings for 1944 were devoted almost entirely to foods work. In April however, demonstrations on "Cleaning and Adjusting Sewing Machines." were given in each club. Special schools were held in the fall for slip covers and repair of spring cushions. All girls 4-H Clubs devoted the ma-jority of their time to completing clothing projects but food preservation and victory garden were also included and 4 of the girls included a unit on food preparation.

Bedding Dust

Protection of allergic patients from bedding dusts is an important medical problem. Up until a few years ago inflated rubber mattresses and pillows were the only recourse. According to a prominent New York physician, true relief for many allergic patients is now possible through use of special encasings for pillows, mattresses and box springs

Three on a Match

One theory of the origin of the superstition "three on a match" is linked with World War I where it was said that the military danger of keeping a match lit for a long time in the trenches led to a superstition against lighting three cigarettes from one match. Some authorities claim, however, that the superstition had its roots in the early funeral service of the Eastern Catholic church, during which three altar candles were lighted with a single taper. It was considered impious to make other lights in this manner

Cabbage Worms

Cabbage and its relatives cauliflower, broccoli, brussels sprouts, kale, kohlrabi and chinese cabbage are often severely damaged by velvety green cabbage worms which chew holes in the leaves and eat their way into the heads, leaving unpleasant deposits of moist green or brown pellets of excrement. Rotenone dusts or sprays are the best and safest materials to control this pest. They should be directed down into the developing heads and to both surfaces of the outer leaves.

Homespun Philosophy

I own an electric motor that is constantly breaking down. I have spent a good deal of money to have t fixed, but for some reason or other when ever I need it most it is out of commission. So, I decided to call in

I called George and told him about my troubles with the motor. He looked the situation over, made two taps with a hammer and the motor started running smoothly and efficiently. I thanked him profusely and told him to send me his bill.

A few days later I got a bill for $20.00. I was rather surprised at this amount and wrote an indignant reply demanding an itemized statement. It came as follows:

To tapping with hammer...$1.00 To knowing where to tap...19.00 Well, George had me there. I wanted an expert and I got one. I couldn't say anything because he fixed the motor. I have paid plenty to others who could not fix it.

George saved himself time and he saved me time. Of course, I would have been better satisfied if he would have dawdled away more of my time. It would have made the job look harder. I would have felt as though I was getting something for my money.

I believe that if we were all experts we could save a lot of time in a day's work. As it is we fuss and fume and poke now here, now there, until we happen to strike the right thing. The truoble is we do not have the desire to be experts. We are satisfied with less knowledge and more 'experimenting. How foolish some young people are to quit school while there is still much knowledge to be gained.

One day a young man came to So-crates the Philosopher and asked him what he should do to acquire more knowledge. Socrates led him to a pool, then down into the water to his waist. He plunged the young man's head under the water and held it there. When the astonished youth had released himself and re-covered his breath, Socrates asked him: "While your head was under the water, what did you most desire?"

"Air," answered the young man.
"Fine," replied the philosopher, when you desire knowledge as much as you wanted air under the water you will go after it!" Knowledge is an investment. Get knowledge and you will have the capital with which to start a business. You are an expert and you can charge for "knowing where to tan."

Work Harder

On American farms today, four hired workers are doing more work than five did two years ago. With farm production up 28 per cent in the same period, farmers normally would require an extra man. Instead, fewer hired hands are working harder and longer.

Kill Young Quail

Under normal conditions, more than four-fifths of the quail killed by Missouri hunters in November and December are young birds hatched during the previous summer, and less than one-fifth are adults.

Colorless nail polish or a drop of mending cement applied when a thread is broken in a silk stocking stops the run until more permanent repairs can be made.

But do we give them the greatest weapon of all?

IN providing our men with the wonderweapons of all time, is our job complete? Have we given them our best?

No! Not until every free dollar in America is invested in War Bonds have we provided our men with the greatest weapon of all. For it is support from the folks at home-support that lets the soldier know we're backing him to our limit—that gives him the greatest part of his fighting strength.

Curiously enough, the farms of America need those War Bonds as urgently as our boys need the weapons and the supplies those Bonds will provide. For as those Bonds mature, they will replace machinery and equipment and provide cash to maintain those farms as profitable business enterprises.

Have any of us yet really done our best?

Let's give those boys the greatest weapon of the war-all the War Bonds we can possibly buy!

> 5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak, MORE MONEY IS NEEDED ... NOW! 2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business. 4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it. 5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy . . . from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

Monkey Business

By HELEN THOMPSON McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

WHAT d'you suppose those guys are up to now?" groaned Bill Simpson, Williams' Wonder Circus's advance agent, as he watched the gang from Dr. Lyle's Miraculous Medicine Show pulling up to our lot. The first man off Lyle's lead wagon was none other than Dr. Lyle himself. "Well, well," he bellowed, striding across the lot fanning himself with his broadbrimmed Stetson. "If it isn't Williams' Won-der Circus, famous in show history as the outfit that manages to get along season after season without any customers!"

"Sorry I'll have to run out on you, Doc," growled the boss, "but we're just getting ready to start our afternoon parade."

"I know," Doc announced. "And I'm going to follow with my new band. They've got a lot in common with your fellows so I want them to see your people work." Then he looked over at his wagons. "Send the new squad out here!" he bawled.

Eight little monkeys in red suits with gold braid, almost exactly like the uniforms of our band, came scampering across the lot. Each one was carrying a miniature cornet or trombone. And when they started to play, the racket was ear-splitting.

Well, we never had a worse parade in all our history. Doc and his monkeys tore ahead and waited for us on every corner. They sure wrecked our music. And, worst of all, the crowd didn't look twice at our procession. They were only interested in Doc and the monkeys. "How did Doc ever train those apes, Jim?" Bill was watching Doc's band go through its paces. "It's easy," said Jim. "Each one of those mouthpieces is pushed out a little bit. Inside there's a thin reed that'll sound on the slightest suction.

"How did Doc ever train those apes,"

And right behind that there's a place where you put a piece of hard candy. So, when the monkey sucks the candy he sucks the reed too, and you get this racket."

Just then Doc came alongside the calliope. "Nice of you guys to work for my show, especially when you're not getting paid for it," he gibed.

"Do you think we'd work for an outfit that stooped to put on fake acts like that monkey band?" Bill drawled. "They don't make any noise with those horns. They've got whistles in their mouths or something." "I'll stake my reputation as a showman on the fact that those brasses are genuine miniature instruments!" Doc raged.

"Can I come over to your lot and examine them?" Bill asked.
"Absolutely!" Doc bellowed.

"What's the matter with you?" Jim said after Doc had gone. 'Didn't you hear me tell you those horns are the real thing?'

Bill looked at his watch and straightened his tie. "I got an idea," he said with a wink. "Meet me at Doc's show tonight."

At eight o'clock Doc started his spiel about his Rare Simian Stunted

Apes. Then the curtains parted with a flourish and there stood the eight monkeys, each with his instrument up to his mouth and his tail curled around his feet. The audience applauded wildly. At a signal from Doc, the animals let go. But instead of the usual gala blast there was a series of little squeaks. The monkeys were amazed. First they shook their instruments and tried to take them apart. Then they looked at one another. Finally, they all threw the horns on the floor and sat down with their heads in their hands. And no amount of cajoling by Doc could make them try again. In a minute those cries which are a showman's nightmare began com-ing from the bleachers. "Fake!"

"Gimme my money back!"
"What'd you do?" Jim demanded as soon as they were out of the Bill offered Jim the contents of a small paper bag.

"No, thanks," Jim said. "And stop holding out on me. Give me the low-down." "So you don't like these things either," Bill said. "Well, I do, because from now on I can say that I made a monkey out of Doc by replacing eight little pieces of striped peppermint candy with eight little slices of very sour pickle.'

Finger Bowl

When peeling fruits or tomatoes, which have been scalded in boiling water, small fragments of skin stick to the fingers and the knife, and then deposit themselves on the surface of the fruit being peeled. To avoid this, place a bowl of cold water at the right of the operator in which to dip hands and knife at intervals. This serves as a large finger bowl and adds to the comfort of the worker as well as increasing her speed of work.

Pressure Cooker

Before closing the petcock on the pressure cooker, allow the steam to escape at least seven minutes. This gives sufficient time for all air to be released. If the petcock is closed sooner, the air pressure will cause the gauge to rise, but this is not an indication of the amount of steam pressure in the cooker. It is necessary to have steam pressure and not air pressure for proper can-

Steel Pipeline

A single steel pipeline can fuel a plane direct from the tanker even when plane and ship are 1,000 miles apart. And it can do this over territory no truck could negotiate. In North Africa, one flexibly jointed pipeline cut across 90 miles of marshland, 12 rivers, 47 streams and ducked under five railroads and 34 roads.

Carbon Compounds A survey of our knowledge of chemical compounds carbon reveals that ca. 300-400,000 different structures are known. These compounds differ in their arrangement of carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and a few other elements.

Room to Breathe

An electric refrigerator should have a free air space of at least three or four inches from the wall in the back and ten inches or more of space at the top to insure economy of operation.

New Processes

Polymerization processes now make possible many thousands of barrels daily of high-quality gasoline from refinery gases which in the past were wasted or burned as fuel.

Supplied Oil

Our nation last year supplied nearly 80 per cent of the war oil requirements of the United Nations, with crude production 7 per cent higher than in any previous year.

Thermal Belt The thermal belt of Polk county. N. C., is so acutely located that grapes on one farm will prosper, and those on the next, a few hundred yards away, will fail.

Substandard Housing

About 7,000,000 units were substandard in 1940 and it is expected that about 2,600,000 will become definitely substandard between 1940 and the end of 1955.

Tip Given Antique Hunters When examining old iron hardware for antique value one should always bear in mind that the machine-made pointed screw was invented in 1846.

Need Stretch

Fabrics that have little stretch cannot be re-dyed because the shrinkage induced in them by the process cannot be removed by stretching.

My Doctor

Last spring a woman of culture left her home in one of America's principal cities to spend six months in Arkansas. Soon after her arrival she came down with a common ailment and needed a surgeon. Her new neighbors almost failed to convince her that the village doctor was safe to consult. She asked: "If he's so wonderful, what's he doing here?

A really good doctor can make a lot of money in a city."

She was right on one point. This doctor could make a lot of money in a city. He has not fared poorly where he is, but he never will be rich. He is not so much interested in money, however, as in a certain kind of success that's not measurable in dollars. He has a priceless estate of human lives. He can't leave his house without meeting people who owe their very existence to his skill.

A Rich Estate

This country doctor has the unfeigned love of his neighbors. His work and ethics have their unqualified approval, but that's only part of the story. He likes them too. Nobody suffers for medical attention where he lives. "He gets paid for it," do you say? Yes, he collects from about half his patients. But the humblest share-cropper can have the best doctor he ever heard of, and never see a bill.

Writing this, I have a particular physician in mind, but I'm satisfied you are thinking about another doctor as you read it. There is one in just about every country town; two or three in big places. America still has plenty of neighborhoods where men grow up and live to a ripe old age at one address. These are the spots where a doctor is a real person, not just a service.

The Case History Knowing the people of his neighborhood is worth a great deal to a physician's success. Even a specialist, who treats strangers almost exclusively, will agree that a patient's history is more helpful to the doctor than an examination. That's why I don't want to swap doctors with you, and I hope you feel the same way. Together, we can save this country from the political curse of socialized medicine. A firm protest from the forks of the creek, mountain coves and farming towns can keep the Wagner National Health Bill, now decomposing in a pigeon-hole of a Senate sub-committee, from ever coming to life. It was introduced with small hope of passage, its chief purpose perhaps was to raise the issue and start people talking about medical service as something to be standardized and rationed like gasoline.

Certain to Lose My doctor is a busy man. He works more nearly 16 hours a day than eight. A standardized working week of, say, 40 hours for him would make two new doctors in our neighborhood necessary. Of course both new men would community's health record, have to be as well schooled as the older doctor and have to receive suitable sal-

It would be a bad deal, three ways: (1) Some of my doctor's patients would have to accept treatment from a man with all to learn about them. (2) Since three men cost more to maintain than one, all of us would spend more money for medical aid. (3) My good doctor wouldn't be busy. This is the worst feature. The work he loves (his estate of lives) would be taken away from him. I figure his agile mind would turn to something else, and that he'd quit being a doctor at all.

Tungsten Resources

Next to antimony, tungsten occupies a position of great importance in the mining industry of China. Estimation shows that the tungsten ore reserves of China amount to about five times the reserves of the rest of the world. Starting before the last World war with a production of tungsten amounting to 0.1 per cent of the world's total, China had climbed to 85 per cent during 1926-29, but came down to about 40 per cent during 1934-37, the average production during 1913-17 being 37 per cent of the world production.

Air Shoes

Shoes should be aired after each wearing to dry perspiration, preventing odor and injury to the leather. Clean them occasionally on the inside by washing with damp cloth and soapsuds, using the water sparingly and wiping with a dry cloth to remove excess moisture. Don't wear shoes over bare feetwear stockings or foot protectors. When not worn, shoes may be kept in shape by using shoe trees or stuffing them with wads of paper.

The Doublecross

Two theories have been expounded for explaining the term "doublecross." One that "on the cross" is the antithesis of "on the square." The other came from testimony of a New York political boss in the 1880s who testified before an investigating committee that when a constituent asked a favor he made a record of it and indicated he would grant the petition by marking a cross after it. Sometimes he changed his mind and added a second cross. In his testimony he said, "I crossed Smith; I double-crossed

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT-Matthew 5:3-10, 43-43. GOLDEN TEXT-Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven .- Matthew

A kingdom must have laws, and here we have the laws for Christ's kingdom-the kingdom of heavenwhich He shall one day establish on this earth. In the Church we have the joy of living as loyal subjects of Christ, and hence these standards are for our counsel and guidance.

The verses of this greatest of all discourses are addressed to those who have actually taken Christ as King of their lives. These beatitudes are not a substitute for the gospel. They are not laws that the unbeliever can keep and thus be saved, for this would be uterly impossible. Only he who knows and has called upon the power and grace of God in Christ can qualify to walk as a citizen of Christ's kingdom.

We note two things in this wonderful and instructive passage from God's Word:

I. The Character of the Follower of Christ (vv. 3-10).

The eight characteristics of the Christian here presented are worthy of extended individual attention, but we can offer only brief suggestions. "Blessed are the poor in spirit" speaks of humility as a commendable quality. How contradictory the present-day philosophy, which calls for self-assertion and self-reliance. But Jesus was not mistaken. The way into the kingdom of heaven is not that of assertive self-sufficiency.

"Blessed are they that mourn." The world does not believe that statement. It shuns the house of mourning. It tries without avail to philosophize away the fact of sor-The Christian, on the other hand, feels with his fellow man and thus receives a blessing.' One can really learn from sorrow.

I walked a mile with Pleasure; She chattered all the way, But left me none the wiser For all she had to say.

I walked a mile with Sorrow And ne'er a word said she;
But, oh, the things I learned from her
When Sorrow walked with me.

"Blessed are the meek." Poverty of spirit comes when a man rightly sees himself, and has a sympathetic touch with sorrow. Then he "inherits the earth," because he truly comes to enjoy it as a place of service and Christian growth, and not because he has a deed to a single foot of its soil.

"It is the hunger and thirst for righteousness (v. 6), and not the possession of it, that is blessed" (Plummer). Self - satisfied people know nothing of the glory of having eir nunger and thirst sausned by

We have here also the Christian's spirit of mercy which invites divine mercy; a purity of heart, cleanness of mind, and sincerity of purpose, which enable a man really to see God even in this impure world; that Christlike spirit which makes him a peacemaker in a fighting world— yes, that spirit which makes him like the Master in sweetly bearing unjustified persecution. These indeed are the marks of the man who follows Christ as King.

II. The Conduct of the Follower of Christ (vv. 43-48).

There can possibly be no more severe test of a man's Christian character than the manner in which he treats his enemies. Many who pass the other tests meet failure (at least in part) at this point.

It is no easy thing to love your enemies, but it is the standard of Christ, and He will enable us to live up to it. Now is a good time to put it into practice, not only personally, but nationally.

There can be no doubt that love for the brethren will be a more intimate and satisfying experience because they return our affection (v. 46). Anyone can do that and enjoy it. Enemies often return hatred for our love—they persecute us (v. 44). But we are still to love them.

That love must move us to treat them kindly and to pray for them. Someone says, "It can't be done." Yes, it can by the grace of God in Christ, and it is being done.

We need to exercise care lest we fall into the easy habit of speaking with derision or scorn of the ungodly - that wicked, dissipated neighbor who hangs around taverns and other questionable places. Let us never condone their sin—that we should hate—but may God help us to love them and lead them to Christ. This lesson is indicated as being a temperance lesson. The application can only be made indirectly, but it may have value. The use of alcohol is so destructive of everything that is good, that it is quite obvious it is not in accord with these standards of the kingdom of heaven. It is time some church people decided whether they want to belong to the world or belong to Christ. If the latter is their purpose, we believe the only consistent position to take is that of abstinence from alcoholic liquors.

Nursing Along 'Heart Condition' by Resting

A few years ago a physician visiting a southern city made the acquaintance of another visitor who appeared to be "resting" all the time. He informed the physician that he had undergone a serious operation three months previously and as he has a "heart condition" he wished to consult a local heart specialist and asked the physician if he knew of one he could recommend. The physician, being a stranger, was unable to refer him to a heart specialist but asked him the nature of his heart condition.

"I have a heart murmur and after having this operation I was told to be careful of my heart."

"But a heart murmur is not serious nor was your operation of a serious nature." Operation for rupture or hernia is just changing the structure of the tissues in this region; there is no pus, no inflammation, and little or no shock. "This should not have taken much out of you.

A short examination by the physician revealed no enlargement of the heart, the murmur likely present when patient was born, no history of rheumatism. The patient walked slowly up and down stairs; the increase in the heart rate was about 10 beats and the heart was back to its normal rate within one minute. He walked slowly up and down stairs twice. The heart rate increased 16 beats and returned to normal within one and a half minutes. He was told that his heart was strong and exercise, not so much rest, was

About 10 minutes later, he took his own pulse, walked up and down stairs twice, took his pulse again, waited the minute and a half and found the figures for the heart rate exactly the same as those found by the physician. He was therefore advised to take his daily rests but to take two walks daily, lengthening the walk one block every two days.

The point here is that while a heart murmur was present and he had undergone an operation three months before, his heart already had had all the rest needed and was ready for work or exercise.

Improved Milking Method Saves Labor

Massaging Udder Stimulates Flow

Because of the labor shortage on dairy farms, many dairymen are ooking to a new, faster method of milking. An improved system is described by Dr. George E. Taylor, extension dairyman at Rutgers U. The important steps, he says, are these:

1. Start milking at approximately the same time night and morning. 2. Have all equipment in readiness for use before starting to milk. 3. Properly prepare each cow just prior to milking by washing and massaging the udder with chlorinated water heated to 110 to 120 degrees Fahrenheit. 4. Remove a few streams of milk from each quarter into a strip cup just before putting the machine on each cow.

5. Examine and massage each quarter just before milking is completed, pulling downward on the teat cups at the same time.

"Preparing each cow properly for milking makes for cleaner milk and a more pliable udder and stimulates the cow to give down her milk more promptly," Dr. Taylor says. Drawing a few streams of milk into the strip cup is equally stimulating to let-down of milk. It discards a little milk that is low in fat and high in bacteria and detects gargety milk at its source. Many dairymen find that hand stripping is no longer necessary.

"Young cows and first calf heifers respond and adjust themselves more readily to the improved milking method than older cows. Even older animals will become accustomed to faster milking, but it may require a little more time and careful handling.'

Patch of Culinary Herbs

Helps Fill Spice Needs If you are planting culinary herbs for the first time, start with a few varieties. Select such old-time favorites as dill, sage, parsley, sweet marjoram, chives, and caraway that can pinch-hit for some of the seasoners now cut off because of shipping conditions.

Plant only what you can use to good advantage. Garden space is at a premium this year and seedseven of herbs-are none too plentiful. Flavors and odors of most culinary herbs are highly concentrated. and only a very small amount is needed to season a quantity of food. Overplanting means a waste of time and energy as well as a waste of soil and seed.

Most herbs will do well on any rich, well-drained garden soil. All annual herbs and most of the biennials and perennials are grown from seed, but the mints, pennyroyal, tarragon and chives are propagated by cuttings or by division.

Homemade Egg Cases

To convert a citrus fruit box to an regg case, nail a 7/8-inch strip of board to the end boards and the divider, to make the box deep enough to hold the standard 30 dozen eggs. A %-inch strip along each side also helps to make the box safe to use. Homemade boxes of half-inch lumber will last for years, if the farmer collects the empty ones each time he delivers eggs locally.

Million Farm Boys in Service

About one million farm workers have been inducted into the armed forces since 1940 when the selective service law became effective, according to War Food administration figures. During the past year approximately 250,000 were inducted from agriculture. In addition to the loss of these men, many others have left farms for various reasons and several million have withdrawn from agriculture without changing their residence.

Roof Caulking

Usually, roofs are the most neglected parts of buildings because they are awkward to get at. Small leaks may quickly become big ones and result in serious damage in a period of storm when it is practically impossible to plug them. Procrastination is easy, to be sure, but it is likely to cost a lot more than a timely caulking or paint job, by damage to the interior of the house Flashings, especially, need attention. All cracks, crevices or other small openings in the roof which | could admit water should be carefully filled with an appropriate caulking compound.

Grand Coulee

Second to Boulder dam power plant in capacity is the plant at Grand Coulee dam constructed by the bureau of reclamation on the Columbia river in Washington. Here six of the largest hydroelectric generators in the world, each rated at 108,000 kilowatts, and two units at 75,000 kilowatts, supply power for industries in the Pacific Northwest. This plant will be ready to serve the million-acre reclamation project in the Columbia Basin.

Defrost Refrigerator

Defrost your refrigerator regularly. Heavy frost on freezing coils acts as a blanket and cuts down effectiveness. A speedy defrosting method is to turn off the mechanism, fill ice trays with hot water and let frost drip into the tray belowwhich has been emptied of food. In 15 or 20 minutes the frost will have loosened.

...ze Jars Sterilize jars and glass lids unless the processing time will be long enough that sterilization will take place during this processing. Keep jars hot until used. In using lids with rubber or composition sealing agent, follow directions recommended by the manufacturer.

Sleeping Sickness
Research has shown that the barnyard fowl may act as a reservoir for the virus of horse sleeping sickness transmitted by mosquitoes and other biting insects, according to the department of animal pathology and hygiene of the University of Illinois.

Cool Kitchen

Check the ventilation in your kitchen or canning center, and try to cool it by air currents from open but shaded windows and by fans. Do not work for too long a period without a few minutes' rest. Wear suitable clothing-loose, light and thin.

Good Posture Practice good posture while you sweep. Stand upright, with your weight on the balls of the feet. To prevent stooping, use a long-handled dust pan to take up the dust. Hang up the broom and dust pan when you have finished.

Increase Insurance

American families increased their aggregate holdings of life insurance by $8,700,000,000 during 1943, the largest gain in family protection ever recorded for a single year.

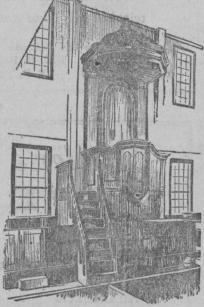

Made by Arabs

The first sulphuric acid is believed to have been made some 12 centuries ago by Arab chemists. The earliest trickle of production in the United States began in 1793.

Cooking Eggs

Never cook eggs in boiling water. Bring the water to a boil and use low or moderate temperature whether the eggs are to be soft, medium or firm.

SHOCK TREATMENT

Some mental patients receive home care, as the family do not want it known that such a thing as 'insanity' is in the family. Fortunately, in most cases the family physician is able to persuade the family that mental illness is the same as any illness of the body and can be due to the same causes - infection, anxiety, shock, injury and others. Further, at the mental hospital today treatment to remove any cause of the

symptoms is given; dentists, throat specialists, women's specialists are on the staff or make regular visits. One of the most effective methods of treating certain types of mental illness is by producing shock in the patient by insulin, metrazol and, more recently, by electricity. Because of accidents that occasionally occur during shock this form of treatment has heretofore been given in mental hospitals and sometimes in the ordinary municipal hospitals.

What should mean much to a patient and family is a recent report by Dr. A. Myerson, Boston, in the New England Journal of Medicine. Dr. Myerson reports the results obtained by the electric-shock method in the treatment of 123 patients, 74 by the outpatient method. The patients reported at a place fitted out in hospital fashion with nurses and a physician in attendance. They were given the shock treatment and usually went home within one or two hours. In cases where the patient was too upset after the treatment he received further shock treatment at a mental hospital.

Compared to the risk of other methods of treatment of the same kind of mental ailments, the electricshock treatment is much safer as to mental or physical injury.

The big point about being able to go to other than a mental or municipal hospital, receive the shock treatment, return home and continue the treatment for the weeks necessary, is that the family and patient have no feeling of shame or humiliation. To get this latest form of treatment so easily is certainly a real change from former days.

Control Nausea

Many a pregnant woman thinks she should stop eating if she is nauseated. This is often the worst thing she could do. It is likely to increase her discomfort and to deprive both herself and child of muchneeded nutrients. If she will take hot milk or milk and coffee and crackers before getting up, she will eat more often than three times a day, and if she will drink hot milk or egg-nog and eat crackers before she retires, probably she will be able to control the nausea.

Corn Uses

Flakes of cornstarch soaked in nitroglycerine fire our big guns. Corn is used in all foundry work in defense plants, such as casting aluminum, magnesium and other vital and critically needed metals. It is used in the making of penicillin, blood plasma and other drugs and chemicals used in the war effort. There are literally thousands of other uses, such as making soap and glue.

Keep Cold

Beans and corn should be kept cold from the time they are brought into the kitchen until they are used. Let them stay in the pod or husk unless you can store them in the refrigerator, tightly covered after shelling or shucking. Store washed, cooking greens either in a covered vegetable pan or in a waterproof bag in the refrigerator. Lettuce and celery should be kept as cold as possible.

Lettuce Leaves

Lots of us have gotten into the habit of throwing away the outer, dark green leaves of lettuce, yet they are good for us. Actually, they are richer in vitamins and minerals than the inner bleached leaves. Shred them into the salad bowl or serve them wilted with a hot bacon dressing. Another trick is to put these outer leaves into the soup pot.

Chilled Jars

Jars should not be subjected to sudden chill. Steam should be dissipated completely before lifting canner cover, and then raise the far side of the cover first. Hot jars should be placed out of cold drafts on a wood or linoleum surface. Avoid further handling, except to tighten caps, until jars are cool.

American Indian

Origin of the American Indian has long been a major ethnological problem. Most authorities agree that they were Mongolians, coming here by way of the Bering Strait. Other anthropologists, however, claim that the American Indian originated in the hands of such heroes as Pfc. David Daily, U. S. Infantry, of Richmond, Texas. When the forward motion of two platoons was halted in a Pacific island attack, he stood up, draped an ammunition belt over his shoulder and opened fire from his hip, spraying enemy pillboxes. His action permitted fellow fighters to withdraw safely. He was cited for heroic action. Buy War Bonds. U.S. Treasury Department

Costly Dreams

Before the middle of 1945, end of the federal fiscal year, some weary worker in Washington will yank a crank or touch a button and watch a calculating machine grind out some tell-tale totals about Uncle Sam as a farm executive and plantation operator. The figures will not be flattering but enough preliminary data are available already to cushion the shock for his admiring pub-

About ten years ago a foolish notion grew suddenly, almost mysteriously, popular. The idea was that farmers got poor (anyhow didn't get rich) because they never had a chance. Big fat capitalists, it seemed, kept the juice squeezed out of them all the time. So Uncle Sam, with Rexford Guy Tugwell standing on his shoulder and whispering in his ear, dashed to the rescue.

Rescue the Farmer!

A famous federal project, one of many to fortify hand-picked relief cases "back on the soil," was the 2271-acre Deshee farm near Vincennes, Ind. It was taken for granted that 42 families could make a living there after the government had paid half a million dollars for the land and one of 20 agricultural lending agencies had helped out with $100,000 more. It was, however, too much to expect. They couldn't make

With 50 acres per family, homes clustered in artistic groups like chairs at a lawn fete, the "farmers" were supposed to do specialty production of top-grade produce and truck to yield fancy prices. Unfortunately, somehow, the plan didn't work. Deshee is being sold, as are many of the government's other pipe-dream farms. Among them is the 3453-acre Lake Dick farm near Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

Psychology of Relief.

An early discovery at Deshee was that specialty farmers don't often get on government relief rolls. The relief farmers knew little more than that they needed to plant seed and scratch the ground. By this method of operation, Deshee had 20 families too many. Finally the community shrank to eight families. Many of them left because they didn't like the surroundings. People on relief become fastidious.

High prices on just about everything of value, an aspect of warborn inflation, is what saves our country from charging off these highfalutin agricultural experiments, almost completely. Losses on Deshee, and others to sell soon, may be small because of well-timed sales, but this fails to prove that the government can farm, least of all with human misfits on the land.

No Future in This

Up to now, the Federal Security Administration has sold quite a few of the government's resettlement projects. The total number disposed of before the end of 1944 cost the taxpayers of America some 71 million dollars. All the government realized from the sales was 27 million dollars. It means that the FSA is, so far, liquidating these costly dreams at less than 40 cents on the dollar.

In farming, government management is showing a loss of 60%. We have no right to expect that losses from government management would be less in manufacturing. If they ran only 50%, it would mean production cut in half, wages lowered accordingly and prices advanced; per-haps doubled. Undertaken on a big scale, it would mean living standards, for all of us, half as high as we are used to. I'm in favor of keeping our private enterprise system.

Indians threatened to wreck their plans. In the vicinity of modern Nashville, Tenn., they realized a strong barricade around realized a strong barricade around their homes was necessary. Thus Fort Nashborough arose in 1780. Reconstructed, the Fort stands as a monument to another area's indubitable will to win, to live and work free men. Descendants of those pioneers, are today fighting for the preservation of liberty. War Bond purchases will keep them supplied with the accourtements of victory.

U.S. Treasury Department Table Delicacy

As a table delicacy the carrot ranks high only with home gardeners who know the supreme tenderness and flavor of young carrots as large as a little finger, pulled from the garden and cooked within an hour. Until you have eaten these, you do not know carrots. These infant vegetables may be pulled up as a first thinning of the carrot row. Carrot seeds are small, and germinate slowly, in 12 to 18 days. Sow thinly, and mix a few radish seeds with the carrot, so the radishes may come up to mark the location of the row and assist in cultivating safely.

Synthetic Tubes

Since synthetic tubes are rather easily damaged in mounting and removing, sharp pointed bars or screw drivers should not be used. Even with blunt tire tools care should be taken to avoid puncturing a synthetic tube. When damaged, synthetic tubes are harder to repair and usually require vulcanizing by competent repairmen. The old style cold patches are not dependable and should be considered for a short emergency only.

Even though it is a government job, the repainting and refurbishing of the Capitol presents the officials in charge with some problems in wartime help.

Fuel Purchases

Class I railroads in 1943 expended $527,296,000 for fuel compared with $426,335,000 in 1942. For bituminous coal only, their purchases totaled $375,398,000, a gain of $62,611,000 compared with the preceding year, while anthracite purchases totaled $3,715,000, a rise of $625,000 compared with 1942. Purchases of fuel oil in 1943 amounted to $136,905,000 compared with $99,767,000 in the preceding year.

A "treadmill" mortgage is one which keeps you plodding along paying interest year after year, without helping you to get any nearer to your goal of home ownership.

We have a plan which will give you freedom from this kind of mortgage bondage. Our amortized mortgage enables you to pay off interest and principal and all other charges in successive installments which will finally give you clear

It will pay you to see us about refinancing your present mortgage with the idea of some day having 'your own roof" over your head.
