Supper Served in Lodge Room Thursday Evening

Taney Lodge No. 28, I. O. O. F., of Taneytown, held its "pot-luck" sup-per on Thursday with a fine attend-ance of members, their wives and friends. It was not only a fine meal, but it was a highly successful social The supper was preceded by the singing of America, and the invo-cation by Rev. L. B. Hafer. group made three appearances and rendered several numbers each time. Five of the Grand Officers were present, George I. Seiders, Grand Master, who was installed Tuesday night, and made this his first official visit; Charles V. Tracey, Grand Warden; Thomas M. Jefferson, Grand Secretary; William K. Loftus, Grand Marshall, and Benj. Sklar, Grand Conductor. These were introduced in turn, and gave enthusiastic address-es, to the delight of all present. The "pot-luck" was better understood when an iron pot over an artificial fire was seen at the door, into which the diners dropped liberal contributions at the close of the evening, to help defray the expenses.

The supper was served under the direction of Howell B. Royer, with the assistance of a group of efficient women and girls, who made good on the promise to have the supper ready to sit down at radio time. Everything was splendidly prepared and well served, showing Mr. Royer and his helpers to be masters of the art of catering.

REFINANCING OF POTOMAC EDISON

Outstanding Preferred Stock To Be Called

At a special meeting in Frederick on April 11, the Board of Directors of The Potomac Edison Co. authorized President R. Paul Smith and other officers of the company to proceed with the plan for refinancing PE's outstanding preferred stock which had been submitted to them.

Under the plan proposed by President Smith, which will be submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission and other regulatory bodies, owners of the present 6% and 7% preferred stocks will be offered the privilege of exchanging those shares for the new stock. The dividend rate of the proposed new preferred stock has not been established as yet.

The plan calls for offering to owners of the 34,602 outstanding shares of 6% preferred stock one share of the new for each share of the old which is callable at $110 per owners of the 29,1821½ outstanding shares of 7% PE preferred stock under the plan would get one share of the new stock and $5 in cash for each share of the present stock which is callable at $115 per share.

In addition to the shares of new stock which holders of both the present 6% and 7% preferred stock will receive under the plan's exchange provisions, they will also get a cash dividend adjustment. This adjustment, taking into account the dividends receivable on the new preferred stock, will give each stockholder who exercises the right to exchange a dividend at the rate of 6 per cent of 7 per cent per annum, as the case may be, on his the unexchanged preferred stock. For the 7 per cent stockholders this cash dividend adjustment will be in addition to the $5 in cash which they receive in the exchange of their shares.

The exchange offer, when presented to the owners of the present 6 per cent and 7 percent preferred stock, is expected to remain open for several weeks and will become automatically effective when a fixed percentage of the shares of old preferred stock are deposited under the offer. This percentage remains to be determined. However, PE will reserve the right to declare the plan effective if less able to all stockholders and other parties of interest.

GET YOUR COAL File Now For Next Winter's Supply

Solid fuel users get new consumer declaration form from regular dealers who supplied them with fuel last year. Delivery of anthracite, bituminous coal, coke and packaged fuels will be limited to 80 percent of normal requirements. Dealers can deliver no solid fuel to customers until the consumer declaration and fuel order have been filed. Consumers must declare how many tons of solid fuel they use during a normal heating season, from April 1 to March 31. Government regulations limit them to 80 percent of that amount. All consumers who file declara-tions and orders by May 15 will re-ceive a minimum of 30 percent of their normal fuel supply by October 1, though they must accept any solid fuel the dealer can deliver. No customer can get more than a maximum 50 percent of his normal year's supply by September 1. The new allotment program is intended to distribute current production fairly among all solid fuel users.

MARYLAND COUNCIL ON PUBLIC EXPENDITURES

Interested in Proposed Government Control Act

The Maryland Public Expenditure Council recently called to the atten-tion of Taxpayer Associations throout Maryland the proposed Govern-ment Corporation Control Act, intro-duced recently by Senators Byrd and Bulter. The Bill, S. 469, would bring under the scrutiny and control of Congress the vast financial operations of 45 Government Corporations, many of which now escape such control completely.

The vast extent and the number of Government Corporations, as well as the fact that they had power to borrow on the credit of the United States up to $33 billion with little or no control by Congress, first came to public attention through a study made in 1943 by the Citizens' National Committee, a research organiza-tion now serving 36 State Taxpayer Associations. A Resolution of in-quiry in Congress followed the same year. Then Senator Byrd's Economy Committee looked into the matter and S. 469 was introduced to bring spending and borrowing by corporations financed by the government under the control of Cogress.

The December bulletin of the United States Treasury published a com-bined statement of Government Corporations and credit agencies which showed outstanding loans of nearly $7 billion as of September 30, 1944 or approximately 28 percent of the figure of outstanding loans of all the 14,553 banks in the United States as of June 30, 1944. The same Treasury statement showed that the government had put approximately $37 billion into these corporations and agencies since their inception, and that their net deficit was more than $14 billion on the statement date. Senator Byrd's Committee stated their report that "the magnitude of Government Corporations is now so great as to rival government proper. In many cases they exercise power and influence even greater than do departments and establishments." The Byrd-Butler bill is now in the Banking and Currency Committee of future experience.

WORLD CONFERENCE

San Francisco to be Scene of Big Parley

When the representatives of the United Nations meet in San Francisco April 25, they will bring with them the support of their peoples, found-ed upon the belief that there must be drafted there a Charter for a world organization with the power and the will to maintain world peace and security.

As we go into that Conference, it is essential that we understand exactly what is its purpose. For it will not be a peace conference. It will not deal with boundaries, or reparations, or questions concerning the disarmament and control of the Axis countries. The Conference will not be concerned with the trial and punishment of war criminals.

The United Nations (Conference will have one purpose, and only one:
To prepare the Charter of an international organization for adoption.
This is, however, the basic task, the foundation stone for the structure of international cooperation. In working toward this accomplish-ment, the delegates must reach ment, the delegates must reach agreement upon the most effective machinery for the peaceful settlement of disputes, and at the same time how best to employ force to settle disputes, if force should prove necessary. They must decide upon such questions as the most effective way of stimulating internafective way of stimulating internatiional economic, social and humanitarian cooperation, and the relation-ship of regional organizations to the proposed general organization.

proposed general organization.

The Dumbarton Oaks Proposals will provide a good basis for this discussion. Nevertheless, it will be a difficult task. The Charter which will emerge from this Conference will of necessity be the result of compromise and adjustment. It may not meet in its entirety the wishes of any one nation; rather, it will be a syntheses of the wishes of all those nations concerned. But the real purpose will have been accomplished if the San Francisco Conference creates a framework for world organization that can command the support of the great majority of all those who believe in freedom, and one that will be flexible enough, at the same time, to permit changes and improvements in the light of

LEBENSRAUM

German fanatics proclaim to the world that they must have lebensrauin (living space) in which to grow and expand, while the hypocrites even now hold in Africa and the isles of the sea untold possessions, and hold in Germany itself ten million unwilling slaves taken there from occupied territory, yet the cry for "lebensraum" for the German people. Hypocrites and liars all of them not Hitler alone. If living room is needed why don't Germany send her surplus people to Africa or other unoccupied territory. The world has more unoccupied territory that occupied. No Germany, like some others prefers to go where others have blazed the way and made the forests blossom like the rose. They gaze over the line fence at their neighbors and envying them determine to take their possessions. Such criminals with us are caged until they show signs of sanity. Germany must be caged likewise until such eign to the stuffier sections of mastime as she sues for peace and acknowledges that after all hers are not supermen. #### A PRAYER FOR THE SUCCESS OF THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE

Almighty and most merciful Father of all mankind. We thank Thee that Thou has vouchsafed to us another opportunity to work together, WARMTH OF BODY AND SPIRIT men of all nations, that we may in the spirit of obedience to Thy Holy laws, seek to bring Thy kingdom, in which all men are brothers, to reign in war-torn countries on earth.

Grant, we pray Thee, wisdom to those who are about to meet in solemn conclave. Keep their minds ever alert to Thy call, their hearts free from selfish ambitions and from personal pride. Fill them with Thy spirit. Let Thy love for all men, Thy sons, motivate their actions. May Thy truth be ever before them-a cloud of smoke by day and a pillar of fire by night, to guide their thoughts and speech.

Give to them understanding and patience and above all the willingmess to seek a way out from the recurrent threat of war and a way in to a world of peace and prosperity for all men.

Grant to us, the humble foik of the earth, loyalty to Thy will. Keep our minds clear so that not by any careless speech of ours may we hamper or hinder their deliberations. Accept our daily prayer for them as they work to seek a common understanding and a common goal.

We ask Thy blessing upon this Conference and upon those who represent us. May they be given strength and courage to do their duty to the glory of Thy holy Name. Amen.-Ruth Taylor.

want to take over economic operations of the islands. Once the need for emergency help is passed, the Philippines will be on their own. Already their own government has been restored. The United States will extend a helping hand only so long as that seems necessary.

Independence for the Philippines had been promised before the war. This promise will be fulfilled, perhaps on the date previously set. It has been suggested that an appropriate date would be August 13, the 47th anniversary of occupation by American forces during the Spanish-American War. More conservative elements contend the date should be postponed, that the islands will not be in position to manage their own affairs that soon. Whatever the date of their independence, Filipinos can depend on continued support from Uncle Sam, having earned it by three years of bravery and fortitude.—The Frederick Post.

WOMEN AT SAN FRANCISCO

The time is coming when the appointment of women as delegates to great conferences will no longer be news. In 1945 it is still news-but good news; and the presence of at least eight women at San Francisco will not pass without favorable com-

Those who feel that women's interests need more representation in political affairs, national and international, may well consider San Francisco as one more triumph for their point of view. But they may also note that the role of women in conferences often transcends a mere representation of women's ideas as contrasted with those of men. Fundamentally there is no such division

In other words, women delegates go to conferences with much the same intellectual equipment as men take with them. They are often as expert-and sometimes more so-on questions of boundaries, political organiation, economic problems, as their male colleagues. And they talk the same language, though sometimes so straight to the point as to make it sound momentarily for-

The women going to San Francisco are all distinguished, not because their achievements are remarkable for women, but simply because they are remarkable, These delegates go as public leaders, not representing a special interest of their sex, but fortunately taking with them the special mental qualifications and qualities of their sex which can aid clarity and charity to the discussions -Christian Science Monitor.

Death and disease from exposure now surpass the tell of starvation

Salvation for millions of suffering war victims is to be found in closets, attics, drawers and trunks of the American people. Discarded clothing -butgrown, butmoded, long-forgotten and unworn, can bring untold relief to the stricken people of warravaged lands.

A concerted effort is now under way, sponsored locally by the Lions Club, to make it easy for all to give help where it is most needed.

It seems like Garrett countians are always being called on to aid some cause or other. But it is like that everywhere, and in most cases the call for assistance is genuine and the need is great. Persons respond to calls for financial aid, for time in planning and carrying our community programs and projects, for blood to save lives, and to appeals for many

Now they want good used clothing to provide coverings for people whose meagre clothes have long since worn threadbare. There is hardly a man, woman or child in the United States who is not ten times as well dressed as the majority of persons in Europe. In Europe alone there are more individuals than in the entire United States in dire need of aid.

Reports that have come out of war devastated countries are heart-rending. Confirmed stories tell of count-Although the Philippines have not less deaths due to exposure-of bodies. All are in desperate ' need

HERE COME THE RESERVES!

CHOCK TROOPS may capture vital Deach heads. But then must come the reserves . . . to hold them!

In the same way the profitable farm must have financial reserves behind it to be safe. No owner or tenant can operate satisfactorily when one crop failure, one crisis of sickness, accident or weather, can push him over the edge of disaster.

For you, as for countless farsighted farmers and ranchers all over the country, War Bonds are an investment in farm security as well as an obligation to your country.

While they are helping to equip our Armed Forces, your Bonds are also building up a backlog of strength for you against emergencies. Just when you'll be needing money most for vital postwar replacements, every three dollars you've invested will come back to you at maturity increased to four... to help pay the bills!

So put every War Bond you can behind the war—and your farm!

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED . . .

2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this

3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.

4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair form equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.

5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy . . . from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

For America's Future, for your Future, for your children's Future

FEESERSBURG

We've had April showers the past few days and nights; the fields couldn't look greener, nor vegetation more thriving, now we can sit in the shade of the trees only every one seems too busy just now with indoor and outdoor work. One woman says she can get four kinds of early vegetables from her garden now, and we can use greens from ours which hasn't been plowed yet.

On March 29th Miss June Brunner became the bride of Carlton D. Fleming. The ceremony was performed in Westminster by Rev. Lippy, and after an evening dinner and a days at home they went to Tioga Center, N. Y., where Mr. Fleming has purchased a farm on the Susquehan-River. May happiness attend

The sudden death of President Received always a shock to every one; but it as good to know the Nation knew to whom to turn, and never did we have three days of spiritual devo-tion like the end of the week—of Scripture and Prayer and music—all sacred and beautiful. We followed the funeral train from Warm Springs, Ga. to Washington for the service at the White House on Saturday evening: then to Hyde Park for burial on Sunday morning. Enough was said of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, said of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, but, all the time one verse kept repeating itself in our mind—"Be still and know that I am God;" (Ps. 46:10) and that he was working out His plan. It was splendid too—the way the Nation rallied to the support of the National Plane (Park, N. Y., and characteristic to the song we have often heard recently, which is the National Plane (No. 1) and the National Plan may it all prove true and good.

Without any eggs, or setting a hen, now we have 300 black peeps in the brocder house—lively little birds and J. Kalbach is training them in the way they should go. We've heard of less loss of chicks this spring than for many years.

We have been reading one of David Grayson's books again, and getting a lot of statisfaction from it. How he "adventures in understanding" the small affairs of life and humble people-and makes one enjoy them too, especially in country places.

Crushed between a truck and the wall of a barn, Ray James Miller, 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller, near Melrose, Md., was instantly killed Saturday afternoon. accident occurred when Mr. Miller was engaged in hauling feed at the home of a neighbor. The lad had been helping his father to load the truck. When the father started the truck which was in reverse the truck moved backward pinning the child against the wall of the barn. The funeral was held Tuesday morning at the J W. Little and Son Funeral Home, the Rev. J. Austin Cline, of Hanover, officiated. Interment was made in Christ Church cemetery.

S/Sgt. John R. Leister, 21, was seriously wounded in Germany April 4 according to a War Department telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leister, R. D. 1. Mr. Leister's wife resides in Harney. Sgt. Leister was wounded for the first time in France on Aug.

A special assembly was held by the students of the High School on Friday afternoon to honor the memory of President Roosevelt, and special prayers were said after the masses in St. Aloysius Church, Sunday morning, and services were held Sunday evening for the repose of the soul of President Roosevelt and for spiritual guidance for President Harry Truman.

All the business places of the town were closed Saturday from 4 to 6 p. m. in tribute to the late president.

Fire spreading from burning brush burned over about ten acres of wood land owned by Edgar Berwager, located about three miles from town. The Fire Co. was called and was aided by about 40 persons, booster lines, Indian fire fighters, rakes and shovels. The fire for the most part was to underbrush. Little damage being done to the timber.

Dr. Fidelia Gilbert spent the week-end with the G. Fielder Gilbert family and spoke at the Carrollton Church of God on Sunday morning. Dr. Gilbert has been obstetrical resident physician at the Woman's Hospital, of Philadelphia, since the first of this year. She will return to India this fall to take up her duties there again after having been in the States since July of last year. Since her return home, work has been under way to raise funds for the erection of a Hospital in Bengal, India and for the endowment of the Indian Staff. At this time about $61,000 has been subscribed. Miss Beulah Heltibridle, Westminster, has been at her home here for several days helping care for her mother, Mrs. Hugh Heltibridle who has been suffering with an infection.

The Raymond Kaetzel family, of Boonsboro, were weekend guests in the G. Fielder Gilbert home. Miss Emma Garner, Linwood was a Sunday dinner guest in the home.

A play entitled, "Let's plant a tree," was presented. 'The breeze"—is all astir about the news that a tree is to astir about the news that a tree is to be planted. She breaks the news to the woodland fairies, blue birds, car-penters, farmers and fisherman as they appear. Each in turn tell how trees are useful to them. "Mother Nature" reminds them that trees inspire poets. The poem, "Trees," by Joyce Kelmer, was read. The "tree-givers" and "plante." appear and plant three evergreen trees on the chool lawn, after which the "planter" gives a wish for the trees we plant. The program was concluded by the singing of "Naming the Tites"

Homespun Philosophy

Well, spring is here! And with it has come all the lovely things of wood and meadow. The green grass, the green leaves, the flowers, all the glory of Nature at her best. And they say in spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love. For the sale of the satisfied us older fellows we must be satisfied with the trees and flowers, sometimes we can throw in a bird or two, if it is not on Nellie's hat.

With the different signs of spring come also lumbago and creaky joints. For, underneath the green grass is the damp earth and from above the deep blue sky sheds tears of joy-cold, chilly tears. There are a hundred and one jobs to do on the lawn and in the garden, hard, difficult, back-breaking tasks. When we are finished with these tasks we take great pride in showing off our lawns as nature's beauty spots.

As I said before, there are many problems that present themselves before such dreams are realized. There are those who think when all else fails, the government will have a solution to the worst problems. Of course, they fail to take into consideration. ation such a governmental answer as were given to the man who asked what he could do to save his horse's shoes. The government agency wrote back and said that he should take them off when the horse was not working. And another answer came in response to a question as to the proper way to handle sheep that brought forth their young when the season was still too cold. This agency re-plied that the only thing that could be done was to have the ewes bring forth their young at a later date.

Wally sells insurance, but there is nothing he likes better than to putter around his lawn and garden. He took particular pride in his lawn but was distracted at the increasing was distressed at the increasing number of dandelion plants he dug up and threw away. He worked all last summer and failed to get rid of them. He tried everything he could think of, He listened to his friends give him suggestions of eradicating course, the answer came back. The Department of Agriculture suggested that he learn to love the dande-

I don't know if the Department of Agriculture was passing the buck or not, but it was a pretty good answer. There are a lot of things that we must put up with, so we might as well learn to like them. For instance, you may not like your wife's face since all those crow's feet settled beneath her eyes but you might just as well learn to like them because you are going to see a lot of them from now on. Or you may not like her hat, or her dress, or her shoes. Just grin and hear it. Remember she has put up with you. Goodness only knows, that's some sort of an ordeal, too.

THE city editor tossed me a piece of telegraph copy. "Write me a follow on this," he said. It was a story from an advance base in the Solomons. "Burke Hennessey killed six Japs with a tommy-gun," it be-

The clatter of the city room faded and, instead of the murky walls, I saw the scene in which I first met Hells Bells Hennessey a dozen years

It was a cold night. The north wind drifted down from the hills and through the valley. A little run-down shack was in flames, and there was a sharp odor of burning pine. The pitiful belongings of a stricken family had been carried into the bare sandy yard, and the old folks and children were standing around shivering in their night clothes. Hennessey began talking to one of the youngsters, a boy about seven years old, trying to hold six squirming puppies in his arms. "You like those pups pretty good?" Hennessey inquired grinning.

There was a light in Benny's eyes that wasn't a reflection from the fire. "Yes, sir," he said.

George Wilson, the relief worker, came along and gave Hennessey a shove. "Leave them alone, can't you?" he grumbled.

"Don't ever get in my way when I'm after a story."

Hennessey placed a neat left hook expertly on Wilson's chin. Wilson went down. He stayed there, rubbing his jaw for a minute, then started yelling for the cops. reporter yanked him to his feet and slapped him across the face. "Go on and attend to your business," he said quietly. "But remember-don't ever get in my way when I'm after

The next day Hennessey was booked for fighting, but his editor bailed him out and the paper carried his account at the top of Page One. It told a lot about those people whose home had burned. How they battled for existence and how, some way, they found things that made life good—things like love for a half-dozen straggly puppies.

But Hennessey got fired. The editor told me about it. "Happened on account of the publisher's wife," he said. "She's a big nanny in this welfare society that hires George Wilson. The old dame put her foot down. So her old man sent in a memo, and there you are."

Hennessey moved around a good bit, then. He was always being kicked out, but when I went to Bluffview he was there, working on the morning sheet.

A couple of years after that Hennessy came into the office of the newspaper I was on at New Brad-He had about him the look by which you can always identify a tramp.

He started bragging about how well he was doing. But just at the moment he was broke, and was there anything he could do to earn a few dollars. I told him I didn't know of anything.

"Well, how about letting me have a couple of bucks so I can get something to eat and a place to sleep?" he asked.

I let him have the money, for old times' sake. About that time the old man came in and Hennessey hit him up for a job. "I'd like to give you a break, Hennessey," the boss said, "but frankly I'd be scared to. First thing I'd know you'd jump on me, and I don't care about fighting except when a couple of other guys are doing it."

After that he'd drop in once in a while, mooch a dollar or two and move on. Once in a while he'd get work, but he never lasted long. Most guys spoke of him in the past tense, whenever there was any occasion to mention his name. "He could have been a good newspaper man," they'd

He dropped out of sight and nobody heard of him for a long time. Then-this yarn from the Solomons. I read the rest of it . . . "Hennessey, a Marine Corps combat correspondent, was assigned to accompany a patrol group and report its activities," the wire said. "He became separated from his men and, when he attempted to rejoin them, found his way barred by six of the enemy. He shot them down, completed his assignment and wrote his story, which is presented herewith."

Mental Hazard

Driving a golf ball over a pond requires a type of skill altogether different from lifting it across a like-size patch of green grass. I don't know golf but men who play well have made me understand the difference. They call it a mental hazard, and life is full of them. A mental hazard seems to be something that offers a threat but presents no actual hindrance.

Observation makes me believe that the magnitude of many world problems, currently discussed in print and on the air, creates a mental hazard. Utter bigness causes people to turn their thoughts away from facts that concern them vitally. Postwar planning is a good illustration. It is something that needs the serious attention of millions of thinking Americans.

Like Seeing Ghosts I have heard several intelligent people recently talk as if postwar planning might be something outside of their world; a job for some mysterious committee of mental giants or supernatural beings. Actually, only a small part of postwar planning needs to be central planning. It is a job for us all and the sooner we start it the more promptly prosperity will follow peace.

People who imagine they see ghosts are harmed as much by them as if they really existed. People who get alarmed at a big undertaking and run away from their part of it, are in much the same class. Planning is for everybody with a job, every firm with a business, every family with a farm. Things are going to be different soon, and we will need to be ready.

Millions Unemployed Spectres of unemployment shaped in the smoke of war are scary enough to frighten even the wizard statisticians who know how to tame wild figures. That street corner estimate: "20 million without jobs," is probably 25% high. America has 40 million people working now at jobs they can keep after the war. After the war, however, 55 million will have to work if the nation prospers.

The difference is 15 million. This many will come from our armed forces and from war baby industries; too many to be idle. job hunters than that made 1932 a very bad year. But (not counting the jobs that will die with the war) our industries are using 40 million people now and should use 55 million in peacetime. It does not divide exactly even, but call it a gain of one man in four.

Intelligent Guessing Men who won the war, men from uniform and men from munition plants, are returning to peacetime pursuits and we must have work for them. Anybody can plan on a oneman scale. The first step is for each of us in his own shop or office to figure out about three things that might happen to his business when peace comes. Then line up these "could be" postwar changes in 1-2-3 order, the most likely one Step No. 2: Plan what's best to do in each of the three cases. Try to make plans justify four workers where three work now. Nobody can plan for you. Nobody knows your business like you do. war ends, every man should have quick access to his own deliberate thinking, and be ready to welcome peace. It is an idea for small business, but small firms normally employ 85% of America's workers.

In the future you may expect "on the spot" lighting for household tasks. For example, you may have a fluorescent light over your ironing board which, like the board, folds away into the wall when not in use.

THE FOUNDING OF THE NATION

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 18:19-24; 19:3-8.
GOLDEN TEXT—Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people.
—Proverbs 14:34.

God has a purpose for the lives of men and of nations. Happy are those who seek His guidance so that their lives may be directed in right and useful channels.

God's threefold purpose for Israel, which we noted in our lesson of last week, could only be worked out in a nation which was separated unto Him, following holiness in its life and service.

Moses, one of the greatest and most able figures of all history, was God's appointed leader. His success is explained by his willingness to follow God's leading. He sought:

I. God's Counsel (18:19).
Jethro, the father-in-law of Moses, having observed how he was bur-dened constantly by the affairs of the people, came to offer him advice. He started in the right place, by urging Moses to continue to seek God, yes, to spend even more time in the Lord's presence, asking His wisdom and guidance.

No man can lead a people in the right way if he does not have his own life in constant touch with the throne of God. Much of the failure of our day centers right there. We talk much to other men about our national and international problems. There are multiplied meetings and conferences. They do have value, but very little, unless there is a seeking of God's will.

A day of national repentance and prayer would do more for us than many weeks of discussion and de-We need to seek God's coun-

Note that the coming of Moses to God concerned the daily affairs of his people. That reminds us that not only the life of our nation, but that of our own homes—and our personal beings—all need God's counsel. To aid Moses in administering the affairs of the nation, Jethro recommended the appointment of men who were to serve as:

II. God's Counselors (18:20-24). There has been not a little criticism of Moses for accepting this advice. It is pointed out that when God puts heavy burdens on us, the way out is not to shift the load on someone else, but to seek God's special grace to bear it and to do it acceptably.

There is value in such an interpretation; but when one considers the devout and careful approach of Jethro to the matter (vv. 9-12) and his evident desire to glorify God in it all. there is ground for believing that he was giving Moses good advice.

sibly two million people were going through a very difficult experience. The result was dissension and strife, often over trivial things, which needed to be settled. For all this to come to Moses seemed undesirable; therefore other men were chosen to be counselors to the people, inter-preting for them the law and the

While each of us should carry every God-given responsibility with gladness, that does not mean that we are to assume that only we are able to do things. There is no more tragic figure than the pastor or church officer who tries to do everything. Why not put others to work?

How can our young people and new converts ever find a place of service if older Christians hold on to every job in the church? Let us train them; then trust them with real responsibility. Counsel, encourage, pray, direct if need be, but do not try to do it all yourself!

Now we come to the solemn and crucial moment when God was ready to establish His people and they were ready to accept: III. God's Covenant (19:3-8).

In the sacred and awe-inspiring meeting place before Mount Sinai, where the Lord was to give them His law (Exod. 20), they made a solemn covenant with God.

In preparation for it He reminded them of what He had done for them in the past. God is the unchanging One. If He was tender and gracious toward them in the past, they could enter the future confident of His blessing. And so may we!

Note verses 5 and 6, for they give us God's great purpose for Israel.
All they had to do was to obey His voice by keeping His covenant. This they, in solemn assembly, agreed to do (v. 8). How different their history—and that of the world—would have been had they kept their prom-

We lament their failure, but what about us who are so highly favored that we have Christ in our midst?

Are we obedient? Following the making of the covenant (which God will one day fulfill in spite of their failure), we have the giving of the Ten Command-ments, and the establishment of Israel's center of worship in the tabernacle. It was the dwelling place of God among His people. How

Heat and Acid Enemies

Of Vegetable Pigment

Green vegetables contain a pigment known as chlorophyll. Heat and acid are its enemies. From the color standpoint, the most satisfactory way to cook a green vegetable is to boil it in an open kettle. While acid destroys green vegetable color-ing matter, alkali, or soda, intensi-fies it but tends to destroy the vitamin content so it should not be used in vegetable cookery. High temperature is also destructive, the higher the temperature and the longer the cooking time the greater the loss of green color.

Therefore, green vegetables should be cooked for as short a time and at as low temperature as possible. They should always be started in boiling water, as this shortens the time. Red vegetables, as beets and red cabbage, contain pigments which are readily soluble in water. This loss of red color we speak of as "bleeding." Acid intensifies the red color. If beets are always canned or cooked in boiling water to which a teaspoon of vinegar to each pint of water has been added, the red color remains. The yellow pigment is called carotinic acid; it is only slightly soluble in water and is not affected by acid or alkali. Because the yellow color is so stable, pre-serving it does not present a prob-

Here's Key to a

Cook-Book Vocabulary

Many expressions in modern cook books have been adopted from other languages. Increase your cook's vo-cabulary of foreign terms by learning these common French phrases: au gratin: food baked with a topping of bread crumbs, and generally with grated cheese; canape: crackers, potato chips, pastry, toast, or any other firm edible base spread with some highly flavored food and served as an appetizer; croutons: small cubes of fried or toasted bread served with soup; and entree: main dish of the main meal.

Other expressions include julienne: vegetables cut into matchlike strips. Julienne consomme refers to soup that contains such vegetables; puree: strained pulp and juice of vegetables and fruits; ragout: a thick, highly seasoned stew; souffle: baked dish made light and fluffy by the addition of egg whites; may be made of fruit, cheese, flaked fish, minced poultry, meat or vegetables; me-ringue: whites of eggs whipped to a standing froth with sugar, and macedoine: a mixture, usually vegeta-bles, with or without meat; sometimes applied to fruit mixtures.

Bells of St. Mary's "The Bells of St. Mary's" was written by Douglas Furber and composed by Archie Emmett Adams during 1918. It was dedicated to St. Mary's Church, the Mother Church of Southampton, England. The site of the original town of Hamptun was the district surrounding the Saxon Church of St. Mary. This, the earliest and Mother Church of Southampton, was rebuilt by Queen Matilda, wife of King Henry I of England. It remained until approximately 1550, when it was prac tically destroyed on account of danger of French attacks. It was reconstructed in 1711, and later was rebuilt entirely by Canon Wilberforce as a memorial to his father. With the exception of the tower and spire, the building was completed in 1884. The cross was placed on top of the spire in January, 1914, but dedication was postponed until 1920 because of the war. The bells, made famous by the song, were presented by Mary Wingrove and chimed June 27, 1914, for the first

Right Breathing Level Man is splendidly equipped for life at sea level, at the bottom of a deep ocean of air. His lungs work effectively at the concentration of oxygen produced by this tall air column, the composition of the atmosphere suits him admirably and the temperature almost anywhere on the surface of the earth permits life without too great discomfort. But man cannot stand the extreme cold, the low air pressure and the lack of oxygen encountered at great alti-

The problem of altitude is one of the utmost importance in military aviation, particularly for the pilots of the single-seater fighter planes or medium-sized interceptors, which are too small to permit the construction of a pressurized cabin. An important research of the day is therefore concerned with the physiology of high-altitude flight, and the behavior of instruments and equipment under severe altitude conditions.

Improve Purse

Some things can be done to help the looks of a purse. If the bag is leather, a good rubbing with vaseline will do it good. Rub the vaseline on with the fingers, being careful not to let the nails scratch the leather. Then rub off any excess so it will not get on the clothing. Any leather article should be rubbed in this way with vaseline. The heat in buildings causes the natural oils to evaporate from leathers. This vas-eline rub helps to replenish the oil. If a leather article is molded, rub vaseline into it with the fingers, wipe off with a soft cloth and then give the article another rubbing with the

Ladino Clover Aids Farm Production

Returns Far Exceed Costs of Handling

NOT so many years ago, Ladino clover was almost unknown except in the irrigated valleys of the western states. Believed to have come originally from Lodi, Italy, the seed was first imported into the United States about 1900.

Ladino clover is particularly valuable for grazing, according to U. S. agronomists, due to its high carrying capacity and large protein-mineral nutritive content, but it is also adaptable for hay and silage and is an excellent cover crop. These characteristics make it especially suitable for the limited farming areas of states such as Vermont and New Hampshire, enabling farmers to grow most of the protein needed for their livestock, dairy and poultion practices determining the length of time it retains its value. Despite heavy requirements for fertilizer and special care in management, results from the use of Ladino adequately repay the effort. Its particular value has been found to lie in the handling of dairy cattle and poultry where a highyielding, nutritious, high - protein feed is needed. This versatile crop is being used increasingly for hay and silage, particularly when grown with other legumes and grasses, although it is primarily for grazing.

Crop for Farmers

Sunflowers may soon rival corn and soybeans in food value as well as a cash crop. With sunflower oil selling at 14.5 cents a pound and an acre producing a ton of seed, the farmers around Monticello, Ill., expect to produce more than corn or million pounds of sunflower oil be-tween 1932 and 1936, mostly for edible purposes.

One hundred acres of test planting yielded 1,600 pounds of seed. It was harvested by a clipover combine, self-propelled, formerly used for soybeans. Tests made at the University of Illinois showed that the seeds contained 53 per cent protein and were easily digested. The oil was excellent for salads and

Pays to Fight Weeds

To control weeds the following points should be remembered: don't let weeds go to seed, buy only weedfree seeds and feeds, clean homegrown seeds carefully, grind or screen weed-freed grain, and don't let machinery spread weeds.

Run-down weedy pastures should be renovated and good rotation and cultural practices resorted to with intensive cultivation. It is possible to eradicate perennials with sodium

RURAL TELEPHONE SERVICE

"The intensive program for extending service to farm families, which was being carried on before the war, will be resumed as quickly as possible. Rural telephone service in this country is already more highly developed than in any other. Despite this, the telephone industry would like to see many more farms with telephones. To bring this about, the Bell System has developed important new facilities and methods. High-strength steel wire, permitting longer distances between poles, reduces the cost of extending lines into areas not previously covered. A method of sending telephone messages over rural electric power lines was under development by Bell Telephone Laboratories before the war and it is clear that a successful system of this kind can be produced. These and other improvements, including possible application of radio to reach remote spots, promise a substantial post-war increase in the number of farms having telephone service."

MEETING OF THE D. A. R.

Mrs. Edgar G. Barnes, of "Crookabout," near Uniontown, was elected regent of the William Winchester Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, at the meeting held on Friday afternoon, April 13, at the home of Mrs. M. S. H. Unger, who has served as regent for the past three years. Mrs. F. Lamotte Smith chairman of the nominating commit-tee, presented the names for electee, presented the names for election and the officers were elected by ballot. The other officers elected are First vice-regent: Mrs. M. S. H. Unger; second Vice-president, Mrs. J. Pearre Wantz; Chaplain, Mrs. W. Carter Stone; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Edward J. Eckenrode; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Louise Matagonian Secretary, Miss Louise M ponding Secretary, Miss Louise Mat-thews; Treasurer, Mrs. F. Donald Shriver; registrar, Mrs. W. A. Pickens; Historian, Mrs. B. Walter Crap-ster; Librarian, Mrs. Howard E. Koontz; Editor, Mrs. Charles O. Clemson. These officers will take over next year. Mrs. John F. Massey was asked by the regent to take the chair during the election and proceeded in a very parliamentary manner.

The meeting opened with the mem bers and guests standing in a silent tribute to the memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and the Chaplain, Mrs. Stone, read a beautiful prayer as a memorial. The regent stressed the part of Daughters of American Revolution in these trying times.

Miss Cecelia Shower reported that under the direction, members of the Historical Society of Carroll County, Inc., have copied the marriage records of the Reformed Church in Manchester from 1839 to 1943 and that a copy will be available for the D. A.

The program for the afternoon was a most entertaining one,—a talk on "Mr. Currier and Mr. Ives," by Mrs. David H. Taylor. She told how these men had captured the events of the country and depicted them in prints that are now priceless. Mrs. Taylor has the happy faculty of selecting outstanding events and talling about. outstanding events and telling about them in fascinating way. She had copies of a number of the best known prints on display and several guests brought their treasured originals. Among the most interesting was a print of President James K. Polk, brought by his descendant, Mrs. Stone. In connection with this was shown an invitation to his inaugural ball, which was sent to Mrs. Unger's grandmother Shower. Mrs. Crapster, Mrs. Andrew Weagle, Miss Marguerite Shunk and Mrs. Walter H. Davis loaned prints.

At the close of the program, the hostess served refreshments. Her sister, Miss Shower, poured.

HAVING ANY FUN?

A man called on the news editor of a local paper and announced that his uncle had been taking the paper for 55 years.

"That's fine," said the news editor. "I hope he'll continue to do so." "Oh, yes, he will. I want to tell you about him. He has always been a model of propriety. He has never touched liquor or tobacco. He has never used profanity. He has never been mixed up with women. He indulges in no vices and no excesses. And tomorrow he will celebrate his eightieth birthday."

"How?" asked the news editor.

"We want a diplomatic, tactful, smart office boy." "Well, I used to send sister's beau away when she didn't want to see viien on

DE LAVAL MAGN

EVERY man who has milked cows knows that changing hand milkers results in decreased production until the cows readjust themselves. One of the basic reasons for the weeping success of the De Laval Magnetic Speedway Milker is its never-changing, uniform milking speed and action from milking to milking and from year to year.

It is the only milker with which this absolute uniformity is possible ... for it is the only milker having the pulsations for each unit controlled by one master control at the pulso-pump by magnetic force.

There is no guesswork with the De Laval Magnetic Speedway for there are no adjustments to make . . . no variations or experimenting at the whim of the operator. De Laval Magnetic Speedway milking is always uniform, it is always right and results prove that this is true. Get the world's best milking for your hard. world's best milking for your herd.

DELAVAL STERLING MILKER BEST MILKER OF ITS KIND The new De Laval Sterling Milker is a worthy companion to the great De Laval Magnetic Speedway Milker and provides De Laval milking at lower price.
