CHURCH ACTIVITIES

In connection with the regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church, a birthday party was enjoyed, Wed-nesday evening. The topic "The Rural Pastor at Work" was presented by the leaders, Mrs. Paul Shorb and Mrs. Daniel Alexander. After this the following program was given: Poem by Mrs. Lillian Ibach; given: Poem by Mrs. Lillian Ibach; piano solo, Dorothy Alexander;read-ing Miss Mary Reindollar; song by 16 members; solo, Jean Luckenbaugh Dorothy Alexander at the piano; reading, Mrs. Ernest Dunbar; vocal solo, Blanche Shorb, Louise Shorb at the piano; slight of hand tricks by the sociatias youngest member Pob the societies youngest member, Rob-ert Harner; piano solo, Louise Shorb; reading, Mrs. F. T. Elliot. In the front of the room was a long table attractively decorated in a color scheme of pink and white. On the table were pink and white layer cakes one for each month. The center one was a huge birthday cake with can-dles, on either side of which was a candlebraum with pink and white candles.

Those present were seated in the pews according to the months in which they were born. February seemed to be the popular month and naturally collected the most money. Besides cake, ice cream and coffee were served.

LETTERS FROM

I wish to thank you for sending me-the Record at my new address. I shall be here at the St. Petersburg base for approximately two months more and will appreciate reading the home town news. Yours truly, WARREN WANTZ, ICo. B 14-4, U. S. M. S. T. S., St. Petersburg, Florida.

Davis Monthan Field, Tucson, Ariz., May-Opl. George B. Marshall 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Marshall, Route 2, Taneytown, has recently completed intensive training as a crew member of a B-29 Superfortress at this very heavy bombardment training base, and will soon go overseas to aerial combat service.

Cpl. Marshall, an aerial gunner on a Superfort, has been taught his crew position by overseas veterand instructors, who have imparted to nim their invaluable experience gathered first-hand in combat. Bombing missions such as he will soon carry out over enemy territory have been rehearsed to the most minute details possible in order that he and his crew will have every advantage of accuracy and protection. Cpl. Marshall entered the service in April 19th. He is a graduate of Taneytown High School and was employed in Gettysburg, Pa., before-joining the Air Corps. His wife, Lula, also resides on Route 2, Tanevtown.

FLAGS AT HALF MAST

It is not often that all the flags in the country fly at half mast as they do now, but there seems to be a wide interpretation of the term "half mast." Either through carelessness or ignorance of the correct way of hanging the flag in time of national mouring, some flags are flying above the halfway mark on the staff and others below.

Flags are symbolic and likewise the various methods of displaying them have a deeper meaning. When flying at half mast, the flag must alall cases. Ornamental Plants Grow Well in Shady Places Ornamental plants for shady places are not so rare as some people seem to think, and some are among our most attractive flowers.

The columbine, one of the attractive perennials, prefers the sun not more than half the day. Plants grow four feet high and the flowers are large. Among the perennial phlox, the white variety, Mia Ruys, does very well in shade, according to the floriculturist. All of the plantain lilies are shade lovers. Hosta sieboldiana and Hosta plantaginea grandiflora are large-flowered sorts whose bold foliage masses add a fine contrast to the delicacy of columbines.

The large-flowered forms of clematis are good for trellises in the shade. This is especially true of such delicately colored forms as Ramona and the very large-flowered white, Henreyi.

All these flowers are fine for the north side of a house. Where the shade is caused by trees or shrubs, it must be remembered that there is a shortage of water and nutrients as well as light. Frequent waterings and occasional applications of commercial fertilizers will enable the gardener to grow these shade plants even in the difficult location under trees.

Right Brooder Ventilation

Necessary in Chick Raising The right kind of windows and proper ventilation in the brooder house play a big part in successful chair. chick raising. The wrong kind of windows will cause chilling of the chicks and lead to overcrowding. Poor ventilation results in damp floors and litter, which encourages coccidiosis and other diseases. Also, the chicks grow out and feather very irregularly.

The shed-roof brooder house, which faces the south, is easy to ventilate. Windows that pull in at the top with shields on each side to prevent drafts from reaching the floor are recommended. There should be air outlets between the rafters on the south side.

Unless the moisture-laden warm air is allowed to escape through these outlets between the rafters, the floor of the house will be damp and the chicks will not make proper growth. Windows that slide up or sidewise, or windows that are hinged at the top and pull either out or in, should be changed. All such windows allow cold air to drop to the floor and cause crowding of the chicks.

Garden Soil

A good fertile soil is one of the most essential parts of a productive garden and it is important to select a well-drained loam or sandy loam soil for the garden site and applying an abundance of barnyard fertilizer early-15 to 20 tons of this fertilizer per acre is not an excessive amount for most soils. The fertilizer is scattered well over the area and the soil is plowed thoroughly six to eight inches deep. Start plowing in the center of the plot, throwing the soil toward the center of the garden. This type of plowing will tend to raise the center of the plot and the area will drain toward the edges of the garden. Another method of plowing the garden is to start plowing on the edge of the plot. throwing the soil toward the fences around the garden. Plowing in this manner, the plowman will finish in the center of the plot. In preparing the garden thoroughly, it is well to use both methods, using this system for the first plowing and the first mentioned system for the last plowing.

Mildewing of surfaces may occur in almost any region in a period of dampness, but is especially prevalent in warm, humid climates. On the paint film, mildew takes the form of a deposit, usually black, which spreads as the spores continue to germinate. Paint manufacturers have found that certain steps can be taken in the formulation of paint of a type which can go a long way toward preventing mildew from attacking the paint film. Zinc oxide and mercury are among the leading mildew deterrents used in mildew resistant paint.

'Glazing' Apples

A method of top-stove cookery known as "glazing" may be used instead of baking apples. But for ei-ther method of cooking, it is important to choose varieties of apples that hold their shape well in cook-Ing. To glaze, scrub apples well and remove cores. Cut a slit in skin all the way around the apple at right angles to the core to prevent skin from bursting during cooking. Place apples in a saucepan. Make a mixture of spice and sugar using a teaspoon of allspice or cinnamon to each half cup of sugar. Put the sugar and spice mixture in the holes left by removing the cores. Add a fourth cup of water for each apple in the pan. Cover the pan on top of the stove over low heat. Turn apples once during the cooking. Cook until apples are tender. The last minute before the apples are done, remove the cover. Take care not to overcook for once tender, apples cook to mush quickly.

Eastern Capital

Tokyo, signifying eastern capital, was formerly known as Yedo. This city, which is the capital of Japan, was until the end of the 14th cen tury a group of little villages at the entrance of an extensive lagoon which has since dried up. The city as it now exists stands in the midst of an extensive plain called the Kwanto Plain, in the province of Musashi. The city is 6.4 miles from east to west and 8 miles from north to south, covering an area of 29 square miles; the population is over 2,000,000. The city is built partly on elevated ground and partly on low-lying areas. The palace, the residence of the emperor, is on the western side of Tokyo with the legations and government offices southeastward of it.

"Maybe it will look right if I stand on my head," said Alice Alice couldn't seem to understand.

The Mock Turtle sighed deeply, drew one flipper across his eyes, and began again.

"This line is the cost of living going up-and that line is the cost of electricity coming down. Now do you see?"

"No," said Alice, doubtfully, "why don't they go together? One of them must be upside down."

Sobs suddenly choked the Mock Turtle.

Alice was eager to please. "Maybe it will look right," she said, "if I stand on my head!"

公公公公

There is an Alice-in-Wonderland flavor to the simple facts about electricity.

The average price of household electricity has actually come DOWN since war begant-while the cost of most other things was going UP.

There has been no shortage of electricity-the basic raw material of all war production-though most other important war materials have necessarily been scarce or rationed.

That record is the result of careful planning and hard work by America's business-managed electric companies. And it is your assurance of plenty of cheap electricity for peacetime job production—and for all the new electric conveniences you'll enjoy after the war.

DON'T WASTE ELECTRICITY JUST BECAUSE IT'S CHEAP

THE 7th WAR LOAN starts May 14. Americans, as individuals, are taking on their biggest quota to date—7 billion dollars, 4 billions in E Bonds alone. You may be wondering, "Why this biggest of all individual quotas now? Haven't we already reached the peak?"

A fair question—requiring a straight answer.

The Money Is Needed for War

The Battle of Japan has just begun. It must be backed up, paid for, fought for by a free people, intent on sweeping the Pacific clear of fascist hate—forever.

With the war in the West our first and major concern, we have not yet been able to go all-out in the East. But neither has the Jap.

The war to crush Japan will be bigger, tougher, and longer than most Americans expect. The Allied Military Command has estimated that it will take years, not months.

The destruction of Japan's armies has not yet reached the annual rate of normal replacements —between 200,000 and 250,000 men a year. And the Jap, as our men in the Pacific know, fights to the death.

As far as Japan is concerned, the outer Empire and the men who defend it—are expendables. The Jap will fight the Battle of Japan from inside the inner Empire, of which Iwo Jima was an outpost. And Iwo Jima, according to Admiral Nimitz, was a pattern of the resistance our forces may expect to meet in future offensives. equipped—will have to be moved from Europe halfway around the globe; and supplied day-in, day-out by hundreds of new ships now building.

th

STRAIGHT TA

More of everything will be needed. More B-29's. More tanks, half-tracks, jeeps and trucks. More rockets, mortars, airborne radar.

A whole new air force is in creation—huge new bombers dwarfing the Superfortress—fast new jetpropelled combat planes, the P-80 or "Shooting Star," coming off the lines by thousands.

These are just some of the 101 ways in which your dollars are needed more than ever to bring America's might to its full strength—so that we may crush our foe the faster, make an end of killing, and bring our men back home.

And Lest We Forget

The sick, wounded and disabled will require medical attention and care.

Many millions of dollars will be required for mustering-out pay and benefits voted by Congress to help our veterans get started again in civilian life. That's the least we can do in return for what they've done for us.

Winning the Peace

There are other weighty reasons for supporting the 7th War Loan—reasons that take us from the present to the future. So save for your country—save for yourself. In helping your country, you are also helping yourself! Come peace, we'll all need money for education, replacements, retirement, new homes, a new start—and we'll need a lot of it. And there isn't a better or safer highroad to your goal than United States Savings Bonds. X

Making 2=3

This year there will be only two War Loan Drives, not three. But in those two drives the Government will have to raise almost as much money from individuals as in the three drives last year. That means bigger extra bonds in the 7th. Because only by buying more can we make 2 take the place of 3.

The 26 million Americans who buy bonds on payroll savings are already off to a flying start! These patriotic men and women began their buying in April. And they will keep on buying extra bonds through May and June!

It's now up to the rest of us. It's our turn to swing in line. To raise the vast sum needed, every American will have to dig deeper into current income—dig deeper into cash reserves. Only by buying bigger extra bonds can we stretch 2 into 3!

Let all Americans do their part—for their own sake, for their country's.

If you have an income—whether from work, land or capital—you have a quota in the 7th War Loan. Find out what that quota is—and make it!

The single greatest obstacle to our crushing of Japan is distance. While in the Battle of Europe supply ships from our bases in England had only an overnight run to make, ships in the Pacific have long-reach round trips taking up to 5 months to make.

To crush Japan will take time, heroic and backbreaking effort, overpowering equipment.

Escaped Prisoner Is Caught After 18 Years

WASHINGTON. - J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, announced the arrest on a farm near Currie, N. C., of an escaped Federal prisoner whom authorities had been seeking for more than 18 years.

Mr. Hoover said the man, Virgil Fred Burgess, 44, escaped from the U.S. Industrial reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio, on July 31, 1926, where he was serving a three-year sentence for participation in a postoffice theft at Stollings, W. Va.

"I don't need to tell you that we are still locked in a deadly struggle with our enemies—the enemies of our way of life—and the war is still the chief job of each one of us. The greatest pro-duction of which we are capable, faith-ful adherence to regulations that make it possible to supply our boys in battle with everything they need, and buying and holding War Bonds—these are things we at home must do to speed victory. "I don't need to tell you that we are victory.

ANDREWS was gone. We got the news from the C. O., Tex and I, standing in the sticky Italian heat while the colonel looked us over. "You two were his buddies," he said. "You should have some idea where to locate him. Get him. And remember, the general is to decorate him at 1500 hours. I don't pretend to know what made him skip like this, but try to keep him from making this outfit the laughingstock of the army." He handed over a requisition. "Take a jeep, and buzz it" it.'

"He would a thought this over," Tex said, his eyes on the road. "Jest naturally bein' careful, he wouldn't stow away in a truck, knowin' the stow away in a truck, knowin' the M.P.s would get him quickest that way." "So we gotta be mind readers and figure what he plans?" "Yeah." He squinted into the dust ahead. "That village on the side of the mountain beyond Aretulia, I dis-remember its name, but I know how to get there. He has a pal there would hide him out for a few days." would hide him out for a few days."

"So maybe we ought to figure how come he wants to hide and have some nasty explaining to do when he's in line for a gonging, he being a machine-gun-nest-wiping-out public hero."

Tex grunted. "Reckon I know all about why he wants to stall this off, and so do you if you'll churn your sawdust a little. I wish he coulda done better than this, but now I reckon the thing to do is fetch him back before he gets into worse trouble.'

A big black-browed technical ser-geant in this little half-ruined town didn't like us as visitors at all. "If you are Andy's sidekicks you should know enough to let him alone," he told us. "All he wants is to lie doggo for a few days."

Tex scratched his left ear. "How long is it till his birthday?" "Ten days. Can't ya just go look somewhere else?"

"We just wanna talk to him," Tex said. "I hate to see him in a fix when he don't need to be." Andy was in the storeroom, behind supply boxes: "If you're pals you haven't seen me," he said.

Tex clucked. "He can't take it," says he to me. "One of these guys who can get so hopped up in a bat-tle he can shut his eyes and still go knockin' over enemies. But when it comes to standin' up and takin' credit for their wild ways in public, they can't take it. Got to run and hide."

"Oh, yeah?" Andy flared. "Don't hand me that. You know it's because I'm under age. Heck, I'd take a chance, now I'm this far, but the general happens to know me. Once he gets a load of my pan he'll savvy right away that something's fishy. Then he'll investigate. Aw, no medal's worth that. I'd rather duck this time, if it gives me the chance to stick around long enough so I can go in again with you mugs on the next push, instead of being sent home."

"That's jest it, Andy," Tex said. They already know about you. They aim to let it ride until you get your brass. Right now you're booked out. The only thing is, do you go all clear with an honorable discharge, or the other way? Kid, I hate to see you do this to yourself. Will you

Andy looked mighty low. "If that's the way it is, I might

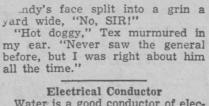

We made it with about two sec-onds to spare. Tex kept stealing looks at the general's face. "How come you knew so much about them finding out about Andy?", I asked. "You know we been guarding that secret for months, and there was not even a peep of a rumor."

"One of those critters they call a white lie. I knew well enough they'd be diggin' into his record, find him, bust him and send him back before the time is up. I'm gamblin' on the general's bein' a certain kind of feller."

They began to read Andy's citation. The general pinned on the medal and shook him by the hand. He was smiling. "Andrews, your face is darned familiar, your name too. Haven't I seen you prowling my yard on the end of a lawn mower?"

"Yes, sir." "I've been looking up your record, Andrews. Always do before giving a decoration. Seems to me you must be a little young to be here until your next birthday. Am I right?"

Andy swallowed. "Yes, sir." "When is this birthday?"/ "In ten days, sir." "You know," the general said, "I always like to make a complete in-wetigation Hardly see how I can

To Foreign Commerce Japan was first known to Europeans through Marco Polo, who heard of it from the Chinese, at the end of the 13th century; but the country was not visited by any European until it was found by the Portuguese adventurer Mendez Pinto in 1542. Christianity was introduced into Japan by St. Francis Xavier, who landed at Kagoshima in 1549.

Early in the 17th century the first visit of English and Dutch to Japan took place; the Dutch concluded a commercial treaty, but the Eng-lish would not accept the conditions under which trade would be allowed by the Japanese, and intercourse between the last two countries soon ceased. In 1854 Commodore M. C. Perry negotiated a treaty for the United States with Japan, which virtually opened the country to foreign commerce, as soon after, Great Britain, France, Russia and Prussia also concluded treaties with Japan.

The long chain of islands, which together with the peninsula of Chosen (Korea) comprises the empire of Japan, extends from south to north along the east coast of the continent of Asia. Kiushu, Shikoku, Honshu and Hokushu (Hokkaido or Yezo), which constitute the central group, are usually known as Japan proper, while north of Hokushu lies the Chishima Retto and Karafuto, the southern part of Sakhalin island, and south of Kiushu lie the Nansei Shoto and Taiwan (Formosa). The islands of the empire extend for about 2,100 miles with a width of 200 miles at their widest part, contain-ing an area of 175,476 square miles, about 15 per cent of this total area being taken up by Taiwan and Karafuto. Japan proper contains 147,652 square miles. Of this central group Honshu takes up 86,772 square miles; Hokushu, the next largest, has an area of 29,977 square miles; Kiushu is 15,587 and Shikoku 7,031 square miles in area.

Find 19 Different Types of Storage Needed in Homes

Roughly, 19 different types of storage space are needed for the familytype home. Space should be allotted for wraps for children and grownups; for vehicles, outdoor games, indoor interests, correspondence, clothing in daily use, and for sewing and mending.

You will also want to measure for kitchen equipment and materials and for food reserves, including canned and frozen foods and root vegetables. General storage for articles in seasonal use, such as porch furniture, screens and storm windows, and an air-tight space for woolens and furs must be considered

Also to be included in your planning is space for luggage, bedding, linen and towels; china, glass, vases, candle-holders, silver, trays and electrical equipment; medicine, first aid and toilet supplies; cleaning utensils, laundry supplies and equip-ment; fuel for furnace and fireplace; garden tools, stepladder, lawn mower and hose, and refuse and waste.

Make Woolens Last

Good woolens last a long time, and are properly cared for look better after they have been worn awhile than they do when new. Of course, they can't be thrown around, or just tossed into cupboards or closets. Brush woolen clothes often. Brush in the direction of the grain of the cloth, inside and out, around the pockets and cuffs. Air woolens often, out-of-doors when the weather permits. If clothes are put on hangers-padded ones for thin woolens, wooden hangers with cross-bars for trousers—the press will be saved, and they will keep their shape long-er. Regular cleaning, too, before the clothes are badly soiled saves wear and tear. If pressing is done at home, soiled spots should be removed first. Steam press with a moderately hot iron.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE

By virtue of an order of the Or-phans' Court of Carroll County, the undersigned administrator of the es-tate of Geo. W. Demmitt, deceased, will sell at his late residence on York Street in Tenewtown Md. on Street, in Taneytown, Md., on WEDNESDAY, MAY 23, 1945 at 2:00 P. M., all the following described personal property:

God had defied the wicked king, Ahab, and his more wicked queen, Jezebel; yes, and all the prophets of Baal, and had been gloriously victorious (I Kings 18:17-41).

The queen, who was devilish in her wickedness and determination to destroy the worship of the true God, threatened the prophet. He who had met the challenge of the hundreds of prophets fled in fear before the relentless hatred of this venomous woman

The prophet felt that all was lost, but God revealed to him that even in that dark day there were many who were still true to Him (v. 18). It is a precious and encouraging bit of light in an otherwise dark scene. Our main interest in this lesson is not the experience of the prophet, but in seeing the cause of Israel's downfall. Here we see one great reason-every king of Israel was a wicked man. Some were better and some worse, but all of them forgot God.

A nation is on the downward path when its rulers forget God. What about our own nation? What about the elected representatives of the people? Do we choose men for public office because of their Christian faith and character, or on the basis of political expediency or affiliation

III. A Nation Meets Its Doom (II Kings 17:7, 8).

The hour had struck when God's heavy hand of judgment had to fall on Israel, the northern kingdom of 10 tribes. Verse 6 of this chapter relates their carrying away into captivity to Assyria, and verses 7-9 tell us the reason for that judgment.

Ingratitude for God's blessing (v. 7) led to the worship of other gods (v. 8). They knew God's hatred for the sin of idolatry, and His judgment upon those who walked in that way, but they went right

Note in verse 9 that these things were done "secretly." "The same thing is true today of many who profess to be the people of God. The line of demarcation between the church and the world is not clearly drawn. We do well to note carefully the outcome of this course of procedure on Israel's part (vv. 6, 18). The fact that Israel did these things secretly did not hide them from the eyes of Jehovah (Ps. 139: 1, 2; Heb. 4:13)" (John W. Bradbury)

Delicious Scallop

Dabs of vegetables may look like pretty hopeless leftovers, but try combining them with a white sauce, or a tomato sauce and onion, for a delicious vegetable scallop. And how long is it since you've tried a vegetable "pastry"—a big turnover filled with mixed vegetables, and served with gravy or a barbecue sauce. Tag ends of vegetables can also go into soup, salads, or sandwich fillings. If you throw away the hard ends of cheese, you're wasting good proteins and ration points. These hard pieces of cheese, grated, add good flavor to white sauce, casserole dishes and soups. Leftover egg yolks, poached, make a nutritious and eye-catching garnish for creamed dishes, salads and green vegetables. Or, use extra yolks in sandwich fillings.

Jap Coastline Broken The southern coast line of Japan is exceedingly broken, affording a great number of sheltered anchorages; but much of the east and west coasts of Honshu and Hokushu islands are very little indented, and good harbors in these localities are rare. Nearly all mountains in Japan of more than 6,000 feet in height are of volcanic origin. There are about 200 volcanoes, of which 50 are more or less active, the chief being Fuji San, Chokai San, Ganju San, Iwaki San, and Mioko San. Fuji San, the highest mountain in Japan, rises to an elevation of 12,370 feet, and its appearance is remarkably like that of Mount Etna in Sicily, It has been dormant since 1707.

MOTHER'S DAY POEMS

This poem was written by Pfc. William D. Michael, who has served three years overseas with the 5th Army. His parents Mr. and Mrs. J. David Michael and family lived in Harney for a number of years and now reside in Baltimore. Mrs. Michael is a sister of Mrs. Ben Marshall and Mr. M. O. Fuss, Harney "TO MOTHER" "TO MOTHER"

Why is it Mom, that you toil and sweat,

That you kneel and scrub the floor so wet,

That your work is constant from day to day.

That you try your best to put away.

Why is it Mom, that I miss you so, When the time had come-and I had to go. You were always there to help me fight With all your strength and power and might.

You know Mom, that our love was

That it took me time, or is it to late That it took me time, or is it to late That you figured and planned the fu-ture for me, That you showed me right from wrong, I see.

You know Mom, that your holiday is near, That your thoughts of me should be, bright joy, not fear. That wherever I go, or whatever I do

I will always remember and think of you.

I send my blessing, Mom, across the

My sincerest wishes to you, from me My only wish and hope is this That your life continues with lots of bliss.

MOTHER

"Johnny" you'll hear mother say, "We're going away, please be polite, Don't forget any of your manners, And act your heat tonight" And act your very best tonight."

Mother tolerates their mistakes with patiences; But children seem inclined to forget All these don's they aren't to do, And will do the wrong things yet.

Mother is as old-fashioned as she can be, Children usually this attitude do take And really trouble themselves much To be better for their mother's sake.

Youngsters don't think they need her scolding,

Or ever have to be taught; That if they were left on their own, They no evil would wrought.

But mother is far wiser than they, And can see farther than their little

That children must be taught at home When older, they'll see the reason why.

He now deeply appreciates his se-cure position And now his mother he is able to understand.

Mother would never abandoned him, Her intimacy he will forever need, For all his ambition he has her only to thank

For, his life he will now lead.

So may we all praise our mothers, In her hands lays America's destiny

Color Illusion Blue-green end walls have been used to reduce the consciousness of employees re high temperatures in southern textile mills, says "Modern Industry." Warm buff has been used in northern mills to create the illusion of warmth in rooms that otherwise might seem cold and cheerless.

Steel Identified

Many "forging quality" steels having different physical properties are required for forgings used by industry and by the army and navy. Each grade of steel for forgings is identified by a color in the forge shop steel storage.

Clear Broth

If a clear broth or consomme is desired, heat the strained broth, from which all fat has been removed, with the crushed shell and beaten white of an egg. The egg white collects the solid particles in the broth.
