Pfc. Earl E. Copenhaver, who had been a prisoner-of-war in Germany for 4 1/2 months, arrived home last Friday, August 29th he is to report to a camp in Florida. Pfc. Copenhaver left the States Nov. 10, 1944, and was captured Dec. 17th. "No Meant?" What of it? How would you like to go without "anything" to eat for 5 days, and on the 6th day nothing but water? Well, that was one of the experiences of Earl's.

Miss Mary Jane Bready, Breadyville, Pa., and Mrs. Jodette Myers, of Jenkintown, Pa., were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Guy P. Bready and Miss Mary Ellen Leh at the parsonage of the Reformed Church over the week-end, and attended the annual reunion of the Bready family of Maryland on Sunday afternoon at Glenmont Farm, the home of Calvin Bready, near Rockville, Md. The first of the name in Maryland came to the State in 1776 from Breadyville and settled on a farm near Adamstown, where five generations of the family have since resided.

Week-end guests with Mr. and Mrs. S. Arthur Myerly, East Baltimore St., were: Mrs. Louise S. Yengling and son, Roy S. Yengling and wife, Hazel and their daughter, Betty Lou, all of Philadelphia. They report the food situation in Philadelphia, very unsatisfactory, of waiting in line at the meat stores, also having their name put on the waiting list for chickens they had not been able to get chicken since February. Mr. and Mrs. John Hoegland and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Huff, of New York, called on the Myerly's Sunday evening, to look over some improvements and to look around the house and grounds of their very nice home here.

BENTLEY HISTORY

An Interesting Letter with Regard to Clock Maker

Persons interested in the history of Eli Bentley and the Bentley clocks will find much of interest in the following letter which was handed to us by its recipient, James F. Burke.

Mr. James Burke, Taneytown, Md. Dear Sir:

After seeing you last week, we went to Frederick Court House, and there found that Eli Bentley died 7-1822, intestate, but the inventory and account of his estate are recorded there, so now we can write the following story of his life.

He was born 2-16-1752, on a farm near Doe Run, Chester County, Pa. A son of Joseph and Mary (Tatcher) Bentley. In 1765 his father leased the Red Lion Tavern, now Lionville, about seven miles north of West Chester, and lived there until 1777.

Eli Bentley married, 11-20-1772, Mary Hunter, daughter of John Hunter, and settler on the old Paxtang Road about two miles east of Lionville, and is assessed there in West Whiteland Township for the years 1774 to 1778 as the owner of a house and four acres of land. This old house is still standing and in good condition. Several clocks are known to be made by him, while living there.

He first purchased land in Taneytown, Md, in 1779 and probably left Chester County about that time. In a deed dated October 7, 1791 at West Chester, he was recorded as being 'of Virginia', but this might be an error. Do you have any tax records to check on his residence in Maryland?

While he lived in Taneytown he bought and sold a number of lots of land, so it was hard to determine just which house was his residence.

In 1787 he purchased lot No. 16 "lying on the Main St. leading from York to Fredericktown, whereon he now lives."

If you could locate this, it might have been his residence that year, anyhow.

In the inventory of his estate is found:

- 1-eight day clock without case, $30.00; 1 Regulator ditto, $10; 1-Clock movement and face, $10; Clock and watch making tools, including vice, etc, $20; also a long list of accounts due him on notes for money loaned to various residents, of which many were marked "desperate."

There were also many small book accounts due him for cleaning and repairing clocks and watches.

- In the expenses were such items as Paid Barnhead Rafett, for ringing bell, $.50 Paid Joshua Rospuger, for crying sale, 3.00 Paid Henry Reindollar, coffin and plank for grave, 9.00 Pd Abraham Linchtenwalter, for the deceased's burial ground, 5.00

Perhaps from this last item you could discover his grave and stone as I understand he was probably a Baptist.

The final account of his estate was filed October 25 1825 and showed a balance due his heirs of $6506.75 1/2. The widow, Mary Bentley, to receive one-third or $1868.912 2/3 and six children each to receive one-sixth of the remainder or $622.972 2/6.

Their names—Harriet Wales, wife of Roger Wales, Joseph Bentley, John H. Bentley, Ann Bentley, Geo. Bentley and Belinda Jacobs, wife of Richard Jacobs.

Eli Bentley, Jr had died before his father.

Do you know of any descendants of these children?

I would be much pleased if you could find the grave of Eli Bentley, with the date of his death. Also, I would like to have a picture of his residence, and I hope that some of the descendants might have kept his old account books, which would show to whom he sold his clocks and at what price.

Perhaps the Historical Society at Westminster would have some information about him. The building was closed the day we stopped there. Thanking you for any information, very truly,

FRANCIS D. BRINTON.

SOME ACTIVITIES OF OUR SERVICE MEN

Work Done by the Engineers in Italy Described

With 30 months service in North Africa and Italy behind him, Cpl. Technician Raymond M. Mikesell, whose wife Ethel and two sons, Edward and Donald live in Taneytown, Md., left recently for the United States. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Mikesell, of Westminster, he will return to the army for further assignment after a furlough home.

He has been a member of the 1st Battalion, 21st Engineer Aviation Regiment, which landed Nov. 13, 1942, at Casablanca, French Morocco as part of the second "wave" in the North African invasion. The unit since has built 121 airstrips in Algeria, Tunisia and Italy.

The battalion, previously commended for its contribution in the aerial campaigns that helped force the surrender of Italy, and later, Germany, recently was awarded the Army's Meritorious Service Unit Plaque. And while all its members wear three Battle Participation Stars, many also have been honored with such awards as the Legion of Merit, Silver Star, Bronze Star Medal, and Purple Heart.

Life overseas for members of the unit has been continual fight at alternate times against heat and subtropical diseases, ad rain, cold and mud. Despite these conditions the unit carried on its mission of airfield construction. In addition, the busy work program included the building of drainage systems, setting up of parachute and control towers, erection of wood and tin huts and stone structures for mess halls, shower installations, etc, graveling and oiling of roads, operation of rock quarries, and like engineering functions.

Highlighting the battalion's overseas service was the building, in 30 days' time, of 20 airstrips used by troop carriers and gliders in the Sicilian invasion, and the construction of a field on the island of Vis, off the Yugoslavia coast, that saved the lives of more than 6,000 Allied airmen the year preceding the war's end in Europe. This latter base, serving as an emergency site for planes forced down after bomb runs because of fuel shortage and damaged motors, was hurriedly constructed only 10 miles from a German-occupied island.

Among the unit's more memorable experience were bombings at Naples and Casablanca, a 1,000-mile truck convoy over the Atlas mountains in Algeria, and the long voyages across the Atlantic ocean and Mediterranean sea.

Hello Friends: I will take time to thank you all for the kit which came in handy as I got a shirt the first thing with buttons off. I do want to thank The Carroll Record for its good old home news. We are having more of the Kentucky sunshine which I called rain at home. The Sgt told us that it rained so much here that the grass turned over and started growing down in the ground and I believe him Kentucky is about the only place I know of where you can stand in mud up to your hips and still get mud in your eyes. It rains the better part of the time here. I will write my new address here and any of my friends who want to write to me just send it right on down and I'll answer as fast as they will give me time. Sincerely,

PVT. CH. ARLES B. LIVESEY 3899624. Co D-11-ARTC Fort Knox, Ky.

SAW THE BURIAL PLACE OF PVT. UNGER

Seaman 2/c John N. Feesser, son of Allen F. Feesser in a recent trip to Italy, aboard the U. S. S. PARISH MOURNS FATHER LITTLE

A 13-year pastor at Bethesda was closed Monday, June 11, 1945, when funeral rites were held for the Rev. Father Joseph A. Little, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church. His death Thursday, June 8, 1945, came suddenly, though he had been in bad health several years. He was the dean of Bethesda pastors.

It was a week-end of mourning for its parishioners. The body lay in the rectory, on Watkins Ave, Saturday. Sunday afternoon it was escorted to the church by a guard of honor composed of parishioners. Members of the Holy Name Society provided an honor guard Sunday night. The church was open all night. The body remained in the church until after the Solemn High Requiem Mass at 10:30 Monday morning.

Born at Bonneauville, Pa, April 4, 1879, Father Little was educated at St. Bonaventure Seminary. He was ordained in the priesthood in 1908. He came here in 1921 from Taneytown, Md. Four years ago he was awarded the Oliver Owen Kuhn Cup for having contributed the most in that year to Bethesda's upbuilding. That was the year the present church was erected.

Masses for Father Little were said each day that week and were repeated at the 8 A. M. service Saturday—Bethesda Journal.

CAR CONSERVATION

A word of caution issued by the Westminster Office of the Automobile Club of Maryland and AAA states that car conservation is just as necessary now as ever and motorists, the AAA says, can protect their cars and themselves by driving safely and sanely. Skillful and sensible driving is closely related to conservation maintenance, and the continued use of one's car will depend as much on the way it is driven as on the conditions under which it is operated. Just as thoughtless habits can offset the effects and advantages of the best mechanical attention, so can good driving habits multiply for months of economical and dependable operation we may obtain from our cars until such time arrives that new ones are available.

"Lubrication, urecision in adjustments, judgement in driving and cleanliness are the four main principles of car conservation," says the AAA.

POTOMAC EDISON RECEIVES AWARDS

Best Examples of Advertising Copy

The Potomac Edison System has received official notification from the Public Utilities Advertising Association that it has received two National Awards and two Honorable Mention Awards in the Association's National Better Copy Contest.

The Contest was conducted by the PUA to ascertain and reward the best examples of advertising by public utility operating companies during the period January 1, 1944 to December 1, 1944. A National award and two honorable mention awards were given in each classification of advertising judged.

The local Potomac Edison Company is a part of the PE System and the advertising matter which won the awards has appeared locally as part of its advertising program.

Potomac Edison was notified by the PUA that at the annual meeting in Chicago this month its series of newspaper advertisements demonstrating the great amount of household work done by electricity at a surprisingly low cost was the best of its type sponsored by any company of comparable size in the nation.

The second National Award was given to PE by the PUA for the series of monthly calendar bill enclosures received throughout the year by each of the company's electric customers.

Honorable mention awards in the National Contest were given to Potomac Edison for a booklet explaining to prospective rural customers how to get electric service and its advantages, and for a series of newspaper advertisements developed for Blue Ridge lines. The Blue Ridge ads told the story of the handicaps surmounted by bus transportation companies in rendering good public service in wartime.

All of the Potomac Edison advertising material receiving the Public Utility Advertising Association's awards was prepared by PE's Advertising Department, under the direction of C. D. Lyon, in Hagerstown, Md.

CIVILIANS AT WAR

The Government needs and asks its citizens in the 184th week of the war against Japan to:

1. Be sure your overseas letters are correctly addressed and packages securely wrapped. Because of incorrect addressing, fifteen per cent of all overseas mail never reaches servicemen.

2. Replant your Victory Garden at once if bad weather has made it necessary, or start one if you have not. There is still time to ensure your own store of vegetables.

3. Keep on salvaging urgently needed tin cans. Japan still controls all sources of our pre-war tin supply.

HOUSEHOLDERS URGED TO BUY COAL DURING SUMMER MONTHS

To avoid possible delays in fuel deliveries next fall and winter, householders are urged by officials of the Solid Fuels Administration to fill their coal bins with whatever kinds of coal they can get from their dealers this summer. An OPA ruling cancels the extra charge to consumers of 25 cents a ton for one-ton deliveries of coal or coke that was allowed on deliveries restricted to that quantity of Government order. This extra charge should not be confused with normal charges for small lot deliveries. In view of the threatening fuel shortage, all consumers are advised to prepare homes and other buildings now to save heat later. Such measures can be taken as insulation, storm sash, weatherstripping, heat controls, cleaning and repairing heating equipment.

CIVILIANS AT WAR

The Government needs and asks its citizens in the 185th week of the war against Japan to:

1. Keep the Japs in the dark as troop transfers increase. Don't write or talk about the movements of men, ships or materials to or from the Pacific.

2. Stay off the already-crowded trains during the July 4th holidays, and spend your time at home. Troop furloughs and transfers must come first.

3. Take a vacation job on a farm when school is out. Farmers still badly need help to bring in the harvest necessary to prevent threatening food shortages.

OPA POSTPONES AUTO REPAIR REGULATION

Effective date of the new regulation setting specific limits on the hours of labor that can be charged for on 56 common passenger car repair jobs has been postponed 1 month until July 14, 1945, OPA announced. The regulation, originally announced as effective June 14, 1945, is designed to check a practice in some automobile repair shops of charging customers for more hours of labor than repairs actually required. OPA said that the postponement was requested by representatives of the trade who desired to have further consultations about the new provisions before they became effective.

KIWANIS CLUB MEETS

Rev. Reifsnnyder Explained the Origin of Kiwanis

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly meeting at the Parish Hall of Baust Church, near Taneytown, on Wednesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, President R.ymond Wright presiding. The period of group singing was in charge of Samuel Breth with Mrs. Wallace Yngling as accompanist. Twenty-five active members attended, also Robert Smith, Rev. Miles Reifsnnyder and Mr. Frank LeFevre, of Sebring, Ohio.

The president presented to Clyde L. Hesson, immediate Past President a framed Certificate of Service, in recognition of his service in that office during the preceding year. The Secretary read a letter of appreciation from the Superintendent of the Hoffman Orphanage, thanking the members of the Club for the evening of entertainment, a treat of ice cream and cake, and a donation to the boys and girls who served the dinner, on the occasion of a recent visit of the Club to the orphanage.

The program was in charge of the Committee on Kiwanis Education, Dr. Thomas H. Legg, Chairman, and was given in recognition of Kiwanis Week. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. Miles S. Reifsnnyder, Past Governor of the Capital District.

As an introduction to his address, Dr. Reifsnnyder mentioned some historical facts regarding the origin of Kiwanis, to the effect that the organization, now known as Kiwanis International with 2200 local Clubs and more than 170,000 members in the United States, was organized at Detroit on December 8, 1914, and the first Club, the Detroit Club, was chartered on January 21, 1915, the date which is regarded as the birthday of Kiwanis.

The name "Kiwanis" comes from two Indian words, "ake" and "wanis" meaning "to impress oneself". The first spelling of the word "Kiwanis" was "Kewanis". Members of Kiwanis express themselves in service, each a little different from every other person, in the field of service. It is significant, therefore, that the first motto of Kiwanis, "We trade," meaning that members of various occupations, professions, trades, etc, in Kiwanis meetings have an opportunity to express themselves through their occupations, and trade ideas. Later the idea of service was emphasized more and more, hence the motto, "We build" was adopted; that is, that in the association and contact of members of a club of inter-Club meetings, Kiwanis build their own characters and lives in service. Self-expression is, therefore, best found in service.

Kiwanis became Kiwanis International when the first Club in Canada was organized in Hamilton, Ontario, in 1917.

What we may expect to get out of Kiwanis are:

1. Fellowship in new contacts with fellow members of the same Club and larger contacts in association with members of visiting Clubs, and in visitation to other Clubs. Kiwanians are urged to make as many visits as possible to Clubs outside his own.

2. Self-expression. Kiwanis gives to each member opportunity to express himself through his vocation; that is to sell himself to others, not only by words but especially by his life and conduct in service.

3. The opportunity to build, to build himself into the lives of others, and to build others into his own life.

The program next week will be in charge of the Citizenship Committee, Dr. C. M. Benner, Chairman.

A BLOW AT CENSORSHIP

"I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to death your right to say it," was Voltaire's epitome of free speech which has become the essence of the democratic attitude. It is wholly consistent with this tradition, therefore, to applaud the United States Court of Appeals decision restoring the second-class mailing privilege to Esquire magazine without approving everything that Esquire has printed.

It will be remembered that Postmaster General Walker suspended Esquire's privilege at the close of 1943. Although Government attorneys at the hearings attacked the publication as "obscene," Mr. Walker insisted that his action rested on the magazine's failure to qualify under the law as a contribution to the public good.

The merits or demerits of Esquire have not been the prime issue in the case. The issue has been the degree of discretion which can be permitted a public official to abridge freedom of the press. It is true that free speech is not an absolute right. Law and custom define quite positively the form and content of much that cannot be freely published. Much more lies in a twilight zone. The easy way—and the way of the fascist—is always to silence what we do not like when we have the power. The harder way—and this is the way of freedom and democracy—is to tolerate as long as there remains a doubt.

Certainly freedom of the press is too precious a heritage to entrust to any one official's "notion of the public good"—to use the Court's phrase. If Esquire's privileges could be impaired on such a basis, so could those of other and more serious publications—Christian Science Monitor.

JAP'S LAST CHANCE

Completion of the conquest of Okinawa is a time for decision on the part of the Jap enemy. Okinawa not only is another in an uninterrupted series of American victories by land and sea, but it places American air forces virtually on the door-step of the home islands.

The Japs know, or at least their leaders can have no doubt, that they have not the slightest hope of ultimate victory. On the contrary, they need only have observed the history of Pacific operations since MacArthur undertook the reduction of Port Moresby to know that their doom is already sealed, that it is only a matter of time.

Their decision, therefore is whether, they prefer, as Hitler did, to invite and accept the almost total destruction of their country or to accept the verdict of fate and to bow to superior American strength at once.

They will have a little time to think the matter over. It will require several weeks, one may assume, for American forces in the Pacific to prepare the offensive against the home islands. There is the matter of transferring several millions of troops from Europe to their new Pacific posts.

In the meantime, American air forces will provide additional reason for consideration by the Jap leaders of the appropriateness of surrender. If given time, there is no doubt that American airmen will be capable of razing every Jap city, town and village to the kind of rubble that is all that remains of almost one hundred square miles of enemy cities.

Probably the rumors of peace offers now being placed through Moscow are inaccurate but if the Jap leaders have a vestige of brains there can be little doubt that such offers will be received before the American offensive against the home islands is launched.—The Frederick Post.

THE URGE TO LEARN

Throughout the County, and, in fact, almost anywhere in these United States during these few weeks, students are receiving diplomas signifying that they have completed one phase of learning on the ladder of education.

For some time it will mean just a step, to be followed by many more. For others, it will mean the last step in that ladder. But in no case is it necessary that it be the last step of learning.

During these war times there will be some elementary students who will feel they must remain at home and work. Some will be forced to do that against their will. High school students who longed for college, will be called into the armed forces, temporarily ending their advancement on the education ladder.

Whatever the individual situation is, let there always remain the urge to learn. High school and college offer opportunities not available elsewhere, but the urge to learn is not confined to those who accept these opportunities of higher learning.

Wherever you find yourself at the beginning of the next school term, apply the will and urge to learn and there is no limit to the distance you will travel in life. Whatever the job, learn to do that job well, and more important jobs will follow.

The will to learn is not restricted to any age or any place. It lies within each individual. Those who have it will go far.—Republican, Oakland.

UNEMPLOYMENT PAY

President Truman recommended a maximum unemployment payment of $25 a week, for 26 weeks in a year. This is not too much. Actually it would be only $12.50 a week for a year.

Many objections have been raised, but only one is worthy of consideration. That is, that when unemployment compensation legislation is enacted it must be stiffer and have more teeth than existing measures to make sure the payments are justly made. In short, payments should be confined to men and women who sincerely and honestly are looking for work and want to work. If they cannot find work through no fault of their own, they are entitled to payments. It is better that way, than to loose again a flood of charitable "welfare" handouts. Critics in Congress will stand on sound ground only when they protest against enactment of any bill which would make it possible for chronic loafers and fakirs to get in on the payments.

Some self labeled champions of state's rights are making a hullabaloo. State rights are something that should be guarded well. They have been invaded too often. But not all problems can be met by states. Unemployment compensation is one of them. It is a federal responsibility. It cannot be coped with by states successfully because there cannot be uniformity unless there is a federally uniform scale. Without federal supervision, one state would pay one amount another a different sum. Workers, as well as loafers, would try to crowd into the states where the unemployment payments were most attractive and could bankrupt the commonwealth.

No, unemployment compensation, and old age pensions too, should be, and must be, if they are to be successful, a joint enterprise of the taxpayers as a whole and the federal government. The states should always retain the right to pass, locally, on the fitness of those who apply for benefits; but the amounts paid should be uniform, and the funds come from the federal treasury.—Eastern Shore Times.

OPA WANTS JUST ANOTHER LITTLE "WHITE LIE"

Despite the serious shortage of sugar, the government is figuring on the nation's housewives to can more fruit and vegetables this summer than last year, and some experts estimate that home canning will be more popular this summer because of the high ration point values placed upon canned products purchased at stores by the OPA, and they say that when winter comes, more than 400,000,000 jars of home-canned food will be stored in the closets of the nation.

The hitch, however which will likely affect canning and preserving of fruit is the scarcity of sugar. But to counteract this threat, the government is planning to teach women how to make preserves and can fruit without sugar. Whether it will be successful or not, of course remains to be seen. It is also stated that the government is going to actually see to it that the little sugar supplied for preserving and canning is used for that purpose only, and it is understood that each and every person receiving sugar for this purpose will be compelled to sign a pledge that none of it will be diverted to other uses. In other words, this pledge signing will just be another polite way for the OPA to force many persons to tell another little "white lie" in addition to those which they have already had to tell under former OPA regulations. As we see it, instead of helping curb Black Markets, this pledge signing will only make them flourish all the more, especially those dealing in sugar. One thing is sure, the majority of the American people are going to make an effort to have a plentiful supply of canned foods for the coming winter, and if the government does not issue enough ration stamps to secure the necessary sugar in a legal way, those who can afford it will surely turn to Black Market dealers for their supply. It surely is high time for some one in authority to use a little common sense, for most any school child knows what the alternative will be if the American housewives are denied a plentiful supply of sugar for canning and preserving.

The OPA evidently knows this, too, but perhaps it is necessary for Black Markets to continue in order that some of the OPA snoopers can continue to hold their jobs and thus be kept from the front line trenches in the Pacific.—Roderick Papers.

PUBLIC STILL FALLS FOR QUACK REMEDIES

So-called cure-all concoctions, from live-ground bugs hung around the neck to a diet of castoff skin of a snake, are peddled by charlatans in many places where modern medicine and science have not penetrated. Read about these fake cures in the July 8th issue of The American Weekly Nation's Favorite Magazine with The Baltimore Sunday American. Order from your local news-dealer.

Telephone Lines Kept Working Under Fire

Four members of a U. S. Signal Corps unit stop to test a field telephone line that they put through.

"I don't think you can go more than half a mile when you're near the front without seeing telephone men working," writes Robert Lissell, Blue Network correspondent, from the Ruhr front. "Half the time they're under direct enemy observation. Most of the time they're dodging incoming mortar shells, but they keep the lines intact. You don't hear much about these GI's who work as linemen, but they're just as much a front line GI as a rifleman." He continues: "In uncertain country, if you're not too sure of just where the enemy lines are, follow the black wire. But if you suddenly come upon bright red wire, turn back and don't waste any time about it. You see, the Germans use red wire."

U. S.-French Agreement To Assist War Industry

WASHINGTON.—The state department announced recently an agreement with France by which French African trade will be conducted directly with private industry.

All civilian supplies for these areas from the first of this year are to be on a cash basis, the announcement said. France also agreed that after June 30, no French-African civilian imports will be bought through lend-lease.

A system of import licenses will be put into effect by French authorities to keep the trade within shipping limits.

Freed: Buys Bonds

PHILIPPINE SCOUT—When Capt. John B. Smith, Philippine scout, received his back pay and allowances after three years' internment in a Japanese prison camp, he bought War Bonds. The captain was wounded on Bataan and lost 55 pounds in weight during his imprisonment. At the present time he is making a War Bond tour, and buys War Bonds at each meeting. "The civilian," he declared, "is taking a poke at Hirohito each time he buys a War Bond." Smith hails from Houston, Texas.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

WOMEN'S WORK—IN WARTIME

"When greater dangers men environ
Then women show a front of iron."

WHEN WAR CAME IN 1776, THE WOMEN OF NEW ENGLAND TURNED FARMERS AND MUNITIONS MAKERS — IN MANY CASES MANNING ANVILS AND SHOEOING THE HORSES ON WHICH THEIR MEN-FOLK RODE FORTH TO BATTLE.

WOMEN OF AMERICA TODAY ARE SHOULDERING A LIKE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE EQUIPMENT AND MOBILITY OF OUR ARMIES IN THE FIELD — ON PRODUCTION LINES IN FACTORIES AND ARSENALS AND ON THE NATION'S FARMS THEY ARE WORKING TO FEED, TO CLOTHE, TO ARM AND TO INSPIRE THEIR FIGHTING MEN—
—A MIGHTY FORCE FOR VICTORY.

HOW MUCH TO MOVE A WAR?

AS SOON as we can, we'll bring to bear on the Japs all the additional might we've been using against Germany.

What will it cost, this Moving Day of War? Estimate it in these terms: The job of moving millions of men from one front to another. Thousands of ships to carry the supplies of battle. Swarms of new-type aircraft to blast the path into enemy territory.

You can get an idea of the cost from the fact that Uncle Sam needs 7 billions from us in the mighty Seventh War Loan—now!

The Seventh War Loan will call for the greatest bond-buying we have ever done.

If you have an income—whether from work, land or capital—you have a quota in the 7th War Loan.

FIND YOUR QUOTA . . . AND MAKE IT!

UNIONTOWN

Mr. Fred Moor, of Freeport, N. Y., spent from Monday until Saturday with his cousin, Mrs. William Dayhoff.

Mrs. Andrew Gagel, Mrs. Robert McGregor, Baltimore, and Mrs. J. E. Formwalt were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haines and Lt. Doris Haines.

Mr. G. W. Slonaker is visiting with his daughters in town for awhile.

Mrs. Stanley Eury and daughter, Joan, Unionville, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel King.

The Kenneth Lambert family, of Taneytown, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Dickensheets.

James Caylor who has been in the Army Air Corps since October 1942 has received his discharge and is at his home here.

Miss Margaret Hoy, Philadelphia, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bokard.

Mrs. Harry Fogle entertained on Saturday in honor of Lt. Doris Haines.

Miss Evelyn Crouse entertained the Bethany Circle on Thursday evening. About thirty-eight members and invited guests were present.

Delicious refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Alva Heltibrude, of Hagerstown, are spending their vacation with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Heltibrude.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith entertained the following guests on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Selby, Mr. and Mrs. John Selby, Mrs. Grace Lansinger and grandson, Mikey Noble, Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. Ray LeGore and family, Silver Run; Mr. and Mrs. Evan Smith, Westminster, and Sgt. Ralph Smith.

FEESERSBURG

Well, we've had a whole week of warm, very warm weather; air with showers at night and hot sun during the day...

Our tourists were out for another holiday the middle of last week: Mrs. Addie Crumbaker, Mrs. Edna Koons, Mrs. Lula Shirk and Miss Sue Birely, with Mrs. Ruth Zollicoffer driver and conductor.

Last Thursday we had a pleasant visit with two brothers and three sisters of the Jasper Garner family.

Rev. Holly Garner was home with his folks, looking so well. He had lived in Ohio for some years but now resides, and ministers in Okechobee, Fla. Both his sons are in service for their country.

Richard Lee Miller returned to service last Friday and is at Camp Meade at this time.

Woodrow Miller has sent his mother several pieces of money from the Philippine region, and we are surprised that it so nearly resembles our paper money.

Mrs. C. E. Six has sold her property and store in Middleburg to Robert Klipp, formerly of Frederick. We are especially interested as that was one of our childhood homes.

Monroe Pfoutz, of Union Bridge, has purchased the corner of land at the junction of the Middleburg-Union Bridge road off the Roger Hoop farm, with the probability of placing buildings thereon in the future.

Viola Dayhoff and her helpers—for they certainly spared no labor. The Smiling Sunbeams held their monthly meeting at the Parish House on Tuesday evening.

The Church Bulletin names the High School graduates of the Parish, and calls attention to special services in neighboring churches; announces joint Council meeting at the Parsonage for this Wednesday evening; and gives the correct quotas for Lutheran World Action from churches of the Parish.

Mrs. Lulu Grindler accompanied her youngest daughter, Vivian, to the Frederick hospital for removal of her tonsils on Monday morning and returned on Tuesday.

Last Friday evening a few of the neighbors met at the John Flemming place at Mt. Union and gathered the hay for his widow.

A letter just received from Mrs. Ruth Lawton Ritter, informs us that she entered the Fahney Memorial Home, near Boonsboro, Md., last Wednesday, and likes it. There are about 50 residents—including employees. The Home is nicely located, a quiet and pleasant place in the country.

Today the air waves are recording the great welcome given General Eisenhower in Washington—after his faithful service and leadership of the armed forces in Europe, and now his safe arrival in America. God be praised!

At the time called Summer Solstice—when the Sun is farthest north of the Equator—Summer commences. This occurs on the 21st of June, which will be the longest day also—15 hours and 1 minute.

EMMITSBURG

Since our last letter to you the whole world has celebrated Memorial Day. I say the whole world because so many of you are in all parts of the world.

To you boys in the Pacific Memorial Day must have been a real celebration because for you war was over, but memory of those friends who had made the supreme sacrifice must have been very fresh. To you boys in the Pacific Memorial Day must have been just another day—the sound of shot and shell was too closely present.

Some of you probably marched in a parade for the first time as veterans of World War II, how very proud you must have been. Yes, Memorial Day to all of us must have been the urge to fight to the finish. We must always remember those men who gave their lives so that peace and freedom could be our children's most cherished heritage.

In the last couple of weeks we have given a glad hand shake and a hearty "welcome home" to several boys just back from overseas. We know you'll be interested in some of the things these boys have been doing—so here are their stories:

S/Sgt. William (Bill) Garner is back after 3 years in England. "Bill" was with the 8th Air Force Service Command stationed near London. "Bill" was very fortunate to be able to spend several passes in the last year with his brother, John who is in England with ATC. "Bill" is just on furlough—he will rejoin his outfit after 45 days. The only furlough he had in three years he spent in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Our man with the nine lives is home again. You're right I mean Flight Officer, George Baker. Of course you all remember how George was reported killed in the Pearl Harbor attack. Well, I'll bet the Japs didn't think he was very dead after what he's been doing to them in the last year.

For the benefit of you boys who are behind on the news George was commissioned at Williams Field, Arizona, in Dec. '43. In May '44 he went to Fort Morsey, New Guinea and since that he's flown 97 missions as a P-38 pilot with the 35th Fighter Squadron, 8th Fighter Group. After his furlough he will return to his outfit. You see George plans to make Army his career. Good luck fellow!

Since Aug. 29, 1942 Lt. (jg) Emmett Norris has been riding herd on the Japs all over the Pacific. He was with Service Sqd. 10 and as to what he's been doing that's a military secret. He spent a great deal of time stationed with the Marines on Samoa in what is known as the Samoan Defense Group. Emmett says that for any of you boys who might be looking for a nice gal Samoa is the place to find her. All you do is stand on the beach and yell—pronto you are surrounded by beautiful women. Be careful boys Emmett always was quite the prankster—this might be another gag. Seriously though Emmett has been on every island in the Pacific owned or taken by the United States in the near future he will return to Service Squadron 10—you see.

Emmett plans to make Navy his vocation. This means good wishes for luck from all of us. In case some of you didn't know Emmett was married, may I introduce his wife—she was the former Miss Zita McKnight, of Hancock, Md. Zita at one time was a student at St. Joseph's—that makes her almost a home town girl.

Everyone was so glad to see S/Sgt. Lumen Norris around town again. Lumen was only overseas 7 months but in that time he took an awful beating. He was wounded very seriously on Jan. 24, 1945 at Echter-nack, Belgium. After being hospitalized for 4 months in England he is now back here at our own nearby Army Hospital, the Newton D. Baker, Martinsburg W. Va. Lumen entered the service, Feb. '43 trained at Camp McCain, Ga and Fort Jackson, S. C. While overseas he was with the 87th Division, 3rd Army. He served as Inf. Int. NCO with the 1st Bn. 345th Inf. While overseas Lumen met his brother-in-law, Lt. Eddie Remavaga, and "Bill" Garner. Have you ever heard any one say, "Speak of angels and you'll hear the flutter of their wings." Well, just as I was writing to you about Lumen he walked by the window. Oh! yes, he limps slightly but don't let us limp when our feet hurt.

Attention Air Corps Men! How would you like to fly just 50 ft off the ground in a Liberator, with German machine guns opening up all around you? S/Sgt. Donald Martin had just such an experience. He flew on the mission over the Grossbuck Area in Holland where the boys were called on to fly supplies to our Paratroopers caught behind enemy lines. Donald joined the Air Force in Jan. '43 and trained at a dozen fields from Texas to Maine. He went overseas in July '44 to join the 446th Bomb Group, 704th Bomb Sqd, 8th Air Force. Since then he has flown 35 missions as nose gunner on a Liberator. Some of the places Donald has seen from the air are Brunswick, Rostock, Kiel, Grossbeck, Cologne for three missions when they dropped 10,000 tons of explosives, Hanover, Metz, Hamburg, Rowland Oil Works. Donald says the old burg looks just the same but he misses his friends. He is now stationed at Tyndall Field Fla. If any of you had gone down Trinidad way in the last 7 months you might have met S1/c Leo Topper. Leo is with the Navy Air Corp and can't tell us much about what has been happening to him or what he's been doing. I'm wondering if he found much "Rum and Coca-Cola" down Trinidad way? How many of you remember a little blond that answered to the name of "Bill" Kerrigan? Well, now it's S/Sgt "Bill" Kerrigan and that same little guy has done a really big job. Big enough to entitle him to wear the Distinguished Flying Cross Air Medal with 6 Bronze Oak Leaf Clusters, Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with one Bronze Star, Philippine Liberation Ribbon and American Defense Ribbon. "Bill" was in the Pacific Theatre of Operation for 11 months. In that time he flew 40 missions as nose gunner in a B-24. He was stationed on Peltus Islands. The only fellow from town that "Bill" met while he was away was "Tom" (Coombs), they met in Sioux Falls, S. D. Purlough in the past month: S/Sgt. "Bink" Mondorf. "Bink" is stationed in New Jersey. Sgt. Jack Stoney—"Jack" is stationed at Menter Field, Baker's Field, California. Pvt. "Dick" Rosensteel—"Dick" is convalescing at Fort Story, Va. Ensign "Vic" Wolfe—"Vic" is instructor at a Navy Air Base in Fla. S/Sgt. David Frailey. David Kerrigan. Bud Warthen. Mrs. James Saylor announces the marriage of her daughter Mary Ellen to Cox. Bernard J. Fink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Fink, of Thurmont, Md. They were married on May 11th in the Chapel at Portsmouth Navy Yards, Portsmouth, Va. by Chaplain Whitcomb. Mary Ellen is living at home while Bernard is somewhere in the Pacific. We wish them all the luck and happiness in the world. Dr. and Mrs. Oscar Stinson announced the engagement of their daughter, Ann Marie, to George Howard Gillelan, of Baltimore. The wedding will take place in the Fall. Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Wood announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Louise, on Saturday, June 9th at the Annie M. Warner Hospital. Most of you will remember Mrs. Wood as the former Margaret Gillelan. Chaplain and Mrs. Frank Myers, announce the birth of a son. The baby was born some time the last of May at the Norfolk Naval Hospital. Mrs. Myers was the former "Nellie" Pryor. Three local girls, the Misses Helen Frailey, Peggy Fitzgerald and Eileen Norris graduated from St. Joseph's College, on June 7th. Helen Frailey was awarded a special prize for excellence in the Science and Nutrition Course. "Peggy" Fitzgerald was awarded a special prize for excellence in the Journalism Course. Miss Gloria Carletti, of Gettysburg, was also graduated. On June 6th Peggy Fitzgerald was hostess at Open House for the members of the Senior Class, their families, friends and teachers. On June 7th Helen Frailey was hostess at a reception and supper for approximately 60 guests. 1st Lieut. George F. Combs having recently completed a course of specialized training at Ellington Field, Houston, Texas, has been transferred to the Air Transport Command, and is now stationed at Nashville, Tennessee. He is expecting to go overseas in the near future but is not permitted to tell his destination. Lieut. Combs formally a lead navigator with the 94th Bombardment Group flew his tour of missions over Europe—before, during and after D-Day. He now holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters and the ETO ribbon with four battle stars.

FRIZELLBURG

On Monday evening a hail storm visited this section. The lightning flashed, thunder rolled, the wind blew, hail pelted the earth and rain came pouring down. "Hail bigger than marbles," yes almost as large as guinea eggs, fell. A few measured 5 inches in circumference and 3/4 inch thick. I know because I measured it myself. Little damage was done in the Burg, but farmers nearby report tomato plants and sweet corn were badly damaged. The heat wave was broken and the rain came in time to make a bumper potato crop. Our children attended Daily Vacation Bible School conducted in Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren, Lavinia C. Wenger and Ruth Rinehart are the directors of the school. In a letter in the Record, telling us about peace-time conscription, and what it would mean to us if it is ever forced upon the people of our country, I single ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Ensign Irvin G. Jackson.

MARRIED

MEHRING—JACKSON

At four o'clock on Sunday afternoon, June 17, Miss Carole J. Jackson, daughter of Mrs. Christine Jackson, of Norfolk, Va., was married to Dr. Richard S. Mehring, Lt. USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Mehring, of Taneytown, Md., at Trinity Lutheran Church in Taneytown. The church was attractively decorated with white carnations in the altar vases by the lighted candles, white gladiolus, palms and ferns around the altar. Rev. Robert S. Benner officiated as the groom officiated at the single ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Ensign Irvin G. Jackson. The bride was attired in a white satin gown which had a scalloped peplum, and neckline. The long full skirt terminated in a train. Her fingertips veil fell from a stiff satin coronet. She wore a double strand of twisted pearls. The bride's bouquet was of baby's breath, tiny white flowers and two white orchids with lavender centers.

Miss Ruth Manor, sister of the bride was the maid-of-honor, and she wore a yellow mousseline-de-soie gown with a yellow, wide trimmed crownless headdress. The bridesmaids similarly attired, two in pink, and two in green, were Miss Shirley Mercer, Miss Frances Shue, and Miss Alvina Burton, of Norfolk, Va., and Miss Idona E. Mehring, sister of the groom of Western Maryland College. Their bouquets were alike—pink, carnations, pink and white larkspur, blue delphinium and baby's breath.

The flower girl wearing yellow net with a ruffled headdress was Wanda Mehring, younger sister of the groom. She carried a basket of mixed flowers.

The groom who wore the white dress uniform of the Navy, had as his best man, his uncle, Dr. Wilbur B. Mehring, of Silver Spring, Md.

The ushers were Mr. Robert Bankard, and Mr. William Teeter, of Taneytown; 1st Lt. Henry Reindollar, U. S. A. and Mr. James Mehring, of Silver Spring, Md.

The bride's mother wore a rose crepe dress with fine black print, black accessories and black hat and pink flowers. Her corsage was a lavender orchid. The groom's mother wore a brown and white summer print dress, brown and white crownless hat, white accessories and a lavender orchid as a corsage.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Esther Harner, played appropriate organ music for the occasion, and Mr. Hively Gladhill, baritone, cousin of the groom sang "I Love You Truly," "O Promise Me," and "Because." The ceremony ended with the soloist singing "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately after the wedding, many friends and relatives from out-of-town, attended a reception held on the lawn, and in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Mehring, on East Baltimore St. After receiving the guests and cutting the four-tier wedding cake, the couple left for a week's wedding trip. As her going away outfit, the bride wore a white crepe dress with a red leaf print, white picture hat and white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The newly-wed couple will spend the summer at Chesapeake Beach, Norfolk, Va., where the groom is stationed.

TRACEY—STUDY

Miss Gloria June Study, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Study, Taneytown R. D. 1 and Howard Tracey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tracey, Sr., Westminster, were married last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Mary's Lutheran Church, Silver Run. The single ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. Frederick Seibel, in the presents of relatives and friends. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Anna Mae Kiser friend of the bride sang "I Love You Truly." The wedding march was played by Miss Emma Shaffer, church organist. The bride was attended by Mrs. Anna Mae Babylon as matron of honor and Mrs. Harold Study, Miss Helen Kohler and Miss Trosia Tracey as bridesmaid. Miss Betty Swonger was the flower girl and LeRoy Swonger, Jr., of Baltimore, was ring bearer. The bridegroom had as his best man Chief Petty Officer, John Babylon, of Norfolk, Va. The ushers were: Seaman Robert Geiss, New York; Jack Scott and Kenneth Beard, of Westminster, all serving in the United States Navy. The bride wore a bridal gown of ivory slipper satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline trimmed with lace and long tight sleeves ending in points at the wrist her long veil of ivory tulle was fastened to a tulle coronet trimmed with seed pearls and she carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and rose buds, she wore a single strand of pearls the gift of her aunt.

The gowns of her attendants were of rainbow colors. The matron of honor wore a pale blue gown with lace top and net skirt and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers, she wore a tulle headdress to match. Mrs. Study wore a lavender gown of net with matching headdress. Miss Kohler wore an aqua net gown with matching headdress and Miss Tracey wore a gown of yellow net with matching headdress and all carried arm bouquets of mixed flowers and wore single strands of pearls.

The flower girl wore a pink net dress floor length, a matching headdress of rosebuds and carried a small straw basket lined with pink satin and filled with rose petals.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The rainbow color decorations were carried out in the table decorations. A three-tier wedding cake bearing a miniature bride and bridegroom formed a center piece for the table which was set on the lawn. Many gifts were displayed in the living room. The couple left on a short wedding trip, upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents for the present. Guests attended from Taneytown, Littlestown, Hanover, Westminster, Norfolk, Va., Washington, D. C., Baltimore, New York City and Philadelphia.

KIDD—ASHENFELTER

Miss Alice H. Ashenfelter, daughter of Mrs. Preston J. Smith, of Taneytown, and Lester E. Kidd, son Mrs. Anna M. Kidd, of Patapsco, Md., were united in marriage on Wednesday, June 20, 1945 by Rev. L. B. Hafer, at his residence on Fairview Avenue. They were accompanied by their respective mothers. The bride is one of the well known young ladies of Taneytown, and the groom is in the service of the U. S. Navy.

Bet on the APO

By MARION TAYLOR

McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

I DON'T know by what stroke of fortune three boys who grew up together in the same little town of Prairie Junction, Iowa, should land in the same flying outfit in the Pacific, but here we are. And one of us has become an ace with more knocked-out enemy planes to his credit than any other Yank in this theater. That's Roger Barnes. But Tom Norris still has the handsomest face and the most devilish eyes and the most broken hearts along his trail of all men on our island. That is, he did until Roger's fame and daring made headlines in most of the American newspapers.

Roge is a big fellow, awkward and shy as a newborn colt. That's why he never even had a girl back in the old home town, I guess. Although I know plenty who would have been glad enough to step out with him, if he'd given them a chance. Especially Polly Meacham. And Roger was plenty fond of Polly, too. But the only time he ever scraped up enough nerve to ask her for a date, she already had one with Tom Norris. And he was too darn bashful ever to ask her again.

For weeks Tom had been bragging about getting the most letters from dames of all the guys in our gang. On the other hand, Roge probably got the least mail of all of us. But after all those high-powered write-ups about Roge and his bravery, and his Gary Cooperish face appeared in all the newspapers and magazines, things sure changed.

"Dearest Roger," it said.

Of course the fellows in our tent weren't slow to let Tom know that there was one guy in the outfit getting more mail from dames than he was. Tom bet Roge two hundred dollars that, given a month's time, he could still be top man so far as such missives were concerned. Roge took him up, stipulating that everything must be on the up and up or the wager would be off.

I offered to help Roge with his answers, and didn't spare the roses. I described the moonlight and the wide sweep of sand and said how lonely I was, and how I wished they were here beside me, and we signed Roge's name. And the results were good.

But the strangest thing was that letters started pouring in by the bucketful for Tom, too. He let us examine them, and they all seemed to be the McCoy.

The worst of it was that there was a letter to him from Polly Meacham. Beside those she sent poor old Roge, it sizzled and scorched.

Things went on like this for a while, with Tom gradually nosing Roge out.

I dropped a personal note to Polly, telling her about the bet and how Roge really loved her and asking her please to do a little sleuthing about Tom at her end.

Two days before the month ended, Roge sat on his bunk reading a long letter from Polly with smiles chasing themselves all over his face. And, after he had finished, he handed it to me with a wide, bashful grin.

"Dearest Roger," it said. "Yes, I'm going to begin my letter that way because I've been in love with you almost forever, and I think you care a little about me."

"But I have another important thing to take up with you first. The bet you made with Tom Norris."

"About a month ago a letter came from Tom, asking me to marry him. Naturally I was flabbergasted. But men are pretty scarce here, and your notes were pretty stiff and formal, so I want to be definite in my refusal. I—well, I thought I'd stall a bit."

"One afternoon at the Red Cross Lucy Beemis came in, her face shining like a Christmas candle. 'Girls,' she shouted, 'I'm engaged to Tom Norris and I want you to be the first to know it.'"

"'Like heck you are,' glared Gertie Simons. 'He just proposed to me via air mail, and I accepted him.'"

"There were ten girls in that one group Tom had proposed to by A.P.O."

"So, Roge, you really win. You can tell the boys that Tom violated the terms of the agreement by asking more than fifty girls to marry him just to beat the bet on the A.P.O. . . ."

THE NEW CHURCH IN THE PAGAN WORLD

LESSON TEXT—1 Timothy 6:11-16; 1 Peter 4:12-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness.—Matthew 6:33.

The church is world-wide in its ministry. Its first experiences of both advance and attack were in Jerusalem, but in due time the Lord pressed its members out into the Gentile world to preach the gospel.

These believers had to meet the challenge of a pagan world, rich, powerful, and steeped in age-old philosophies which ran counter to the teaching of Jesus Christ.

The story of how the church met that situation and came through victorious is one of the most thrilling and important sections of world history. We catch but a few glimpses of that time in the writings of Paul and Peter which make up our lesson today, but even those are full of instruction and inspiration. The church appears here as it went on:

I. Fighting the Good Fight of Faith (1 Tim. 6:11-16).

In the letter to Timothy, the Holy Spirit used Paul to instruct the early church regarding its life in the midst of an unbelieving world. In the verses immediately preceding our lesson we find a solemn warning against the wrong attitude of heart toward worldly possessions. "Godliness with contentment" is declared to be great gain.

But there is more to Christianity than inward grace, for that must show itself in daily fighting "the good fight of faith." That is done in three ways:

1. By godly living (v. 11). Believers are to flee those things which hinder spiritual progress, and give themselves to the cultivation of graces of a true Christian life.

Space does not permit discussion of these fine virtues of the faithful follower of Christ, but note how tremendously effective they could be (yes, and are today) against paganism. It is so true that the best argument for Christianity is a Christian, but he must be a real one.

2. In holy warfare (v. 12). Living for Christ is not accomplished by sitting in a spiritual rocking chair while the enemy is on the attack. No indeed. There is a good fight to be waged, both personally and as a body of believers.

"The Son of God goes forth to war" against evil in our day. "Who follows in His train?" Thank God, there are those who are on the battle line for God, but they need reinforcements. Who will volunteer today?

3. With blessed expectation (vv. 13-16). The soldier is ready to bear the "blood, sweat, and tears" of deadly conflict because he looks for victory. The soldier of Christ has a sure hope, for he follows Jesus Christ, already victorious over death, and one day soon to appear again as King of kings and Lord of lords.

In view of that expectation, the Christian is to live a consistent, clean and irreproachable life. And why not? If we look for the glorious and blessed and only Potentate, should we not be ready?

II. Meeting the Fiery Trial of Persecution (1 Pet. 4:12-16).

As Peter comforted the sorely tried believers in the early church, he urged them to meet their persecutions:

1. Without confusion (v. 12). We should expect trials in this world; yes, severe, fiery trials. Such things are common to all mankind, and the Christian should not expect to escape.

To them, such trials are real tests of their faith, an opportunity to show to the unbelieving world that God is able to deliver those who put their trust in Him!

To be forewarned is to be forearmed. "Think it not strange concerning the fiery trial."

2. With exceeding joy (vv. 13-15). The believer is not to be ashamed of the troubles he bears for Christ's sake. A glory rests upon the one who is privileged to be a "partaker of Christ's suffering" (v. 14) as he stands with Him who was "a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief" (Isa. 53:3).

Note that the believer is not to do anything which would justify others in making him suffer. It is a disgrace, a shame, which injures the cause of Christ, when a believer has to suffer because he has broken the law, or because he is "a busybody" (R. V. "meddler") in other men's matters.

3. For the glory of God (v. 16). The entire life of the believer should be lived for God's glory. If, then, he is called to pass through trials or to be persecuted for his faith, that, too, is something to be so borne as to glorify God.

The follower of Christ does not hang his head in shame as the difficulties of life come upon him. He trusts God, and by his poise and grace in the midst of difficult circumstances, declares to all the world that God is able to deliver,

Roundworm Findings Led To Swine Sanitation

In 1916, a British medical officer stationed in Hong Kong had shown that the ascarid of man and swine follows a circuitous route through the bodies of rats and mice. Then, the American scientist, Ransom determined that the swine ascarid makes a similar journey in pigs. The roundworms, he found, travel in the blood stream from the intestine to the lungs, visiting many vital organs along the way, and back again to the intestine by way of the windpipe and esophagus. Damage to the lungs explained the coughing. Examination of the soil of old hog lots showed it to be teeming with roundworm eggs that contained live embryos. Half-grown and older pigs harbored scores of the adult roundworms in their intestines.

On the basis of their evidence, Ransom and his associates evolved the swine sanitation system which begins with a thorough cleaning of farrowing quarters with lye solution. The next steps are brushing the sows well, washing their udders with soap and water, and putting the sows in the clean pens a few days before farrowing. When the pigs are about 10 days old, together with the sows they are hauled—not driven—to clean pasture. This mode of travel keeps them from picking up infection on the way. The pigs remain on pasture for at least four months, after which danger from roundworms is largely past.

The plan described was first tested in 1919 in McLean county, Ill., where heavy losses of pigs had previously occurred. It proved to be 98 per cent effective in protecting pigs against parasites and filth-borne diseases.

Find Vitamin A Relief For Colds, Skin Disorders

Certain investigators feel that colds, sinus trouble, sore throat, and abscesses in ears, mouth or salivary glands may result from insufficient vitamin A in the diet. Although it has not been conclusively demonstrated that vitamin A can prevent colds, it has been shown that it will shorten the duration of colds.

More prolonged deficiency of vitamin A results in dry scaly skin with plugs of horny material about hair follicles. Certain cases of dry scaly skin have been successfully treated by using vitamin A. This vitamin is also essential for proper formation and maintenance of tooth enamel and for successful reproduction.

There are animal and vegetable sources of vitamin A. These are cod liver and other fish liver oils, liver, milk and dairy products, and yellow and green leafy vegetables. The vitamin A from animal sources is somewhat better utilized than that from vegetables, and both should be included in the diet.

Strange Fish

The paddlefish is among the strangest of all fishes. It resembles a marine shark more than a fresh water fish. In fact, when it was first classified over a hundred years ago, it was incorrectly placed with the sharks. However, when more thoroughly studied it was found to be a primitive bony fish and not a shark. It is lead colored and has a smooth skin from which the scales have practically disappeared.

The paddlefish grows to well over 150 pounds. It is rarely ever taken on hook and line, but is usually caught by seining. The flesh is excellent and is practically boneless, as the skeleton is cartilaginous. In some southern localities, this species is the most highly prized food fish. The eggs make excellent caviar and in many parts of the South constitute an important product of the commercial fisheries.

Equalize Heat

One of the most interesting new developments in the heating industry which will be available for post-war homes is the floor level radiant heating system. The system consists of a hollow metal baseboard which takes the place of the conventional wooded baseboard. The unit is installed around the exposed walls of the house or other type of building to be heated. University engineers found that the low source of radiant heat in the unit produces a uniform feeling of comfort among the occupants of a room. Remarkably small differences in temperature at the floor and at the ceiling level were observed. With outdoor temperatures of approximately 30 degrees, a ceiling to floor temperature difference of about 1.5 degrees was obtained with the new type of baseboard radiation.

'V' Belts

"V" belts can be used satisfactorily on a combination of "V" and flat pulleys, provided certain precautions are observed. The flat or driven pulley should be, at least three times the diameter of the "V" drive pulley, and that the distance between the pulley shafts be about equal to the diameter of the larger pulley. It is also well to have the face of the flat pulley perfectly straight instead of crowned, since otherwise the belts will tend to ride the high center. Although belt tension can be maintained by means of motor-frame adjusting screws, much more constant tension is secured by mounting the motor on a rocking or hinged support so that its weight is partially carried by the drive belt.

OPENING FRUIT JARS EASY WHEN YOU KNOW HOW

So you can't get 'em open? Well maybe you thought that circular with the jars was advertising matter and threw it away without reading. Don't worry, we will tell you about opening jars and sealing them too, because chances are that part of the trouble with opening is due to failure to follow instructions for sealing. Surely you know about sterilizing everything, leaving plenty of head space, and having the rubbers wet. So we will skip that part.

There are two types of home canning jars, and all have a trade name lettered in the side. The ones with screw-thread necks are Masons. Those with glass lids held in place with wire balls are lightning type or Ideals.

Mason jars are used with one-piece zinc caps and rubber rings, or with two-piece metal vacuum seals, or with glass top seal caps. The glass top seal is sometimes called a three-piece cap because it is made up of glass lid, rubber ring and metal band.

When sealing a Mason jar with zinc cap, place a rubber flat on the sealing surface (you may call it shoulder or ledge), screw the zinc cap down tight, then turn it back about half an inch. This is done to prevent steam forcing the rubber out of place or causing the cap to bulge. The cap is screwed tight as soon as the jar is taken out of the canner.

Use Pliers to Open Jar

The easiest way to get the jar open is to use pliers to pull the rubber out. Small dime store pliers are best for this because friend husband won't be tempted to borrow them when he has to fix the fence. If you have no pliers, the next best way is to run the sharp point of a knife under (not over) the rubber, wiggle the knife sidewise (not up and down), then unscrew the cap. If you can't manage this, turn the jar upside down in hot water for five minutes before unscrewing.

When sealing Mason jars with Glass Top Seal Caps, put the rubber flat around the rim on the under side (top side has the name on it) of the lid, then place the lid so the rubber lies flat between the top of the jar and the lid. Screw the metal band tight and then loosen by turning it back one-fourth turn. This band must be loose while the jars are in the canner. (Failure to keep this in mind has caused a lot of painful burns.) They are tightened after processing. The metal bands should be taken off the jars the next day after the canning is done. Yes, if the manufacturer's instructions are followed, the jars will stay sealed without the bands. When ready to open, run the sharp point of a knife between the top of the jar and the rubber. Move knife sidewise as moving it up and down is likely to damage both jar and lid.

Opening Vacuum Seals

When using Mason jars with vacuum seals, place the lid white side down so that the sealing compound rests on top of the jar. Screw the metal band tight as it will go with ordinary hand pressure and leave it that way until the next day. Then take it off and leave it off. No, you don't tighten the band again after processing. Metal lids, especially those which are slightly rounded or domed, are flexible. The compound is softer than a jar rubber. The flexible lid and soft compound permit steam and air to seep out during processing. That's why the bands are tightened before processing and need not be tightened again.

When ready to open the jar, flip the lid off with a bottle opener, or punch a hole in it and pry it off. The hole is all right because vacuum seal lids should never be used a second time.

When using a lightning type or Ideal jar, put the rubber flat on the sealing surface. Keep the lip out of the way of the wires. Place the lid so that it rests on the rubber. Then pull or push the long wire up until it fits in the groove on top of the lid. Leave the short wire up while the jar is in the canner. Push it down against the side of the jar just as soon as you take the jar out of the canner.

When ready to open, push the lower bail up and the upper bail down, then pull the rubber out with pliers or rub the sharp point of a knife under the rubber, but remember moving the knife up and down may chip the jar or lid.

Unwrinkled Traveler

If you've been traveling for several days hang the disheveled garments in the bathroom while the steaming water runs for your tub. Many wrinkles vanish with this treatment. Avoid the steam bath method for starched finishes or frills.

Early Eyeglasses

Queen Elizabeth was one of the first persons in history to wear glasses with a bridge fitting on the nose, according to the Better Vision institute. Previously spectacles were made like a hinge, working on a pivot. They had to be held in position by the hand when being used.

Flared Shade

Whenever possible choose a flared lamp shade in preference to a drum-shaped shade. A flared shade spreads the light over a wider area for better see-ability, whereas a drum-shade "hugs" the light around the base of the lamp.

FARM TELEPHONE SERVICE TO BE EXTENDED

When the war is won, our aim will be to extend telephone service to every farm family that wants it.

New devices and methods are in the picture. For example, stronger wire that requires fewer poles and is more resistant to storms, the use of power lines to transmit telephone conversations, and radiotelephones for remote sections.

When manpower and materials are again available, we will use all practical means to attain the objective in this state.

THE 7TH WAR LOAN IS ON!

Yes, the Seventh War Loan is on right now!

There are new planes to be built . . . new tanks . . . new ships. All to bring the war to an earlier close.

Our fighting men will do their job. But we must do ours!

And right now, the most important job we have is to meet our personal quotas in the Seventh War Loan drive!

Those quotas are big. Uncle Sam needs $7,000,000,000 from individuals. For this loan is really 2 in 1—there had been 2 drives in 1944, by this time. So now—we've got to do a two-loan job in one.

But Americans have never failed to meet a War Bond quota yet—and we won't fail now! So find out what your quota is—and meet it!

CARROLL COUNTY WAR MEMORIAL FUND

A fine gesture on the part of the Westminster Riding Club was the presenting of a check to the Carroll County War Memorial Fund Committee in the amount of $130.36, the proceeds from the Carroll County Spring Horse Show, sponsored by the club in May. With more such benefits being held over the county, the fund can be increased so definite plans can be made to go ahead when the time to build is possible.

Nearly two years ago, a group of interested persons met at the Court House in the interest of forming a Carroll County War Memorial Fund Committee. Feeling that plans should be formulated early in World War No 2 that a fitting memorial should be carried through, an organization was effected.

Claude T. Kimmey was named county chairman. At once Mr. Kimmey appointed a general committee in which each district in the county carried representation. With the officers and a most efficient and capable advisory committee, headed by Raymond S. Hyson, meetings were held frequently and a financial campaign was launched.

The goal was set at $50,000. This figure was arrived at after the expert services of O. E. Adams, architect of Baltimore, drew up plans for the Carroll County War Memorial. At a mass meeting held at the high school, it was unanimous that the Carroll County War Memorial be a combination of Memorial Hall, Library and Health Center, and of a colonial design and of brick structure.

The committee worked along these plans, which were generally accepted in all parts of the county. The bequest of $20,000 of the late H. Peyton Gorsuch, to be used for "home hospital" as set out in his will, caused a change on the part of some persons who felt that a hospital should be erected as a memorial.

Soliciting the help of the Carroll County Medical Association, the committee awaited on the physicians in the county to voice their sentiment. Their definite reaction was in favor of a maternity hospital.

Meetings were called and the county representatives were asked to ascertain in their respective districts the wishes of the people. The campaign for funds continued.

After nearly two years $33,718.85 has been raised. Finding inadequate fund for a hospital, the committee were again asked to find out from their districts if more money could be raised and their definite wishes on an appropriate memorial.

At a recent meeting the districts were polled and then, as through practically all the meetings, sentiment was expressed for a medical center with the chief thought in mind of a Memorial Hall.

Little has been added to the fund in the past months and it will be essential to reach the goal of $50,000 in order to build what has carried precedence—a medical center.

With the "mighty Seventh War Loan" now in progress and Carroll county's quota one million dollars, citizens are asked to give a thought to the sixty-nine gold stars already hanging in Carroll county homes of those who will not return and the near three thousand men and women serving in all parts of the world. They have given so gloriously—what can we do to repay them. V-J Day will add its toll over V-E Day, May 6th.

FARMERS TO GET MORE LUMBER TO REPAIR HOMES

An additional 2,000,000 board feet of lumber has been allotted to the War Food Administration for distribution to farmers for emergency maintenance and repair of farm dwellings in the third quarter of 1945, FPB announced. Farmers make application for the lumber to the County Agricultural Conservation Committees, and approved applications are rated AA-3 by delegation of authority from WFB to WFA. Emergency cases for which applications will be approved are limited to repair of damage caused by fire, flood or similar disaster, or repair of dwellings that would be uninhabitable or a definite hazard to the health of the occupants if not repaired immediately, WFB said.

ADVANCE IN ANTHRACITE COAL PRICES

The Maryland District Office of Price Administration announces that effective June 18, 1945, an increase in price for anthracite coal is permitted by dealers making sales to ultimate consumers. The permitted per net ton increase in Carroll County for Broken, Egg, Stove and Nut coal is $1.00; Pea, $.85; Buckwheat and Rice is $.50 and for Barley coal is $.25.
