THE HARD CLIMB

A boy still in his teens longed to engage in the retail mercantile business. His first store, started when he was nineteen, was a total failure. Then came the California gold rush. If he could only get to California, thought the boy, and open a store there while the rush was at its height, how could he fail? He got to California, opened up a store, and found out how such a venture could fail, for fail it did.

Stunned, the young man returned to Massachusetts, started another store at Haverhill. And it failed too. But the young man was not to be daunted. He still had faith—both in stores and in himself.

He set up a tiny store in what was then the dirtiest and least promising section of New York. He struggled along for two years, but the store kept on going. It is still going. Royland Macy did not limit his thinking about the possibilities of the store. So it grew into R. H. Macy and Company, one of the largest stores in the world.

A small group of wise thinkers is better than a wilderness of dullards and stronger than the might of empires.—Mary Baker Eddy.

KIWANIS CLUB MET WEDNESDAY EVENING

Two New Members Added to Roster

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening at 6:30 at the Taney Inn, President, Geo. L. Harner, presiding. Twenty-seven members were present, also Kiwanian Willard Hawkins of the Westminster Club, and Clarence Jbach of Baton Rouge, La., as the guest of Geo. Harner.

The period of group singing was in charge of David Smith, Chairman of the Music Committee, with Mrs. Geo. L. Harner as accompanist.

Charles Hopkins, proprietor of the Taneytown Pharmacy, and Frank Alexander, retired farmer and trucker, were inducted into membership by Rev. Guy P. Bready.

George Doderer called attention to the annual Convention of the Capital District to be held early in October at Baltimore, and urged that as many members as possible attend the Convention.

The program was in charge of the Committee on Support of Churches, Edward Reid, Chairman. He introduced as the speaker of the evening, Rev. Charles Price, pastor of St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run. Rev. Price in his address recalled that his birthplace was within a few miles of Taneytown at Crouses Mill on the Middleburg road. He served during his Seminary course at the Eastern Theological Seminary of the Reformed Church as supply-pastor of a Methodist Church at Mt. Joy, Pa., and came to Silver Run about a year ago.

The title of his address was "The Glory of an Unbribed Soul". He said in part, "It must be acknowledged that not all of today's mechanization is not wasted or to be despised. The service rendered by the various gadgets which we all have in our homes, on our farms, and in the conduct of the various industries in which we are engaged, make our lives easier and our efforts more efficient. There are, however, three unfavorable situations or attitudes which grow out of our living in this mechanical age: 1. A man is to be judged by what he has. Everything is evaluated in terms of possessions. Judgment is made on the basis of possessions instead of on character. 2. If this is so, we become a slave to our possessions. We worship gold and what gold can buy. 3. Through our slavery to possessions and through fear of losing it, or losing what gives us what we possess or hope to possess, we are chained to our jobs. We tend to become "yes-men". We hold to our jobs that we can have more possessions.

Materialism leads to the loss of integrity. What can we do about it? 1. We can live our lives, if we want to, in the belief that a man's life, as Jesus said, consists not in what a man possesses. We can continue to be unbribed souls. 2. We can dare to be poor. As a matter of fact, due to the high standard of living in which we are privileged to live, we are not poor, we are not even thrifty. We can, however, if needs be, learn some of the lessons of self-denial which those who went before us learned, without losing self-respect or a satisfying way of living.

Riches promises to bring us what we want, also prestige and recognition, but it never fulfills the promise. Due to our rising change in standards of living, we only rise to lives of discontent. The more we have, the more we think we need. We will always have wants greater than can be supplied.

We can dare to be poor and dare to be honest. Integrity consists in doing what we want to. To every one is given a soul. Having a soul is being what you are, an individuality. One's integrity consists in being true to himself. "To yourself be true". That is the glory of an unbribed soul.

The meeting next week will be in charge of the Committee on Vocational Guidance, Felix Westine, Chairman. The topic will be "Our Schools".

DELAY OF MAILS

Complaints have been received from our subscribers in Westminster and Union Bridge and the rural routes that they did not receive The Carroll Record until Monday of the week following publication.

This delay in the mails has existed since the Train Mail was taken off Aug. 21 and every effort is being made to correct the situation.

We have the assurance of the Taneytown and Westminster Post Offices of their cooperation and we have contacted Dist. Supt. of the Railroad Mail Service in Baltimore and every effort is being made by the Department from that point to assist us in getting The Carroll Record to our patrons earlier.

At present it takes three days for the mail to go four miles east of Taneytown.

We ask the forbearance of our subscribers in our dilemma but we again assure you that every effort is being made for a better delivery service of The Carroll Record.

SUBSCRIBERS' LETTERS

Response to Our Notice for Payment Satisfactory

The notices that were sent to our subscribers who were in arrears in their subscription to The Carroll Record brought fine results.

This condition, partly our fault in not notifying subscribers when the payment of their paper was due, had to be corrected and at the insistence of the Post Office Department, we mailed a notice to every patron whose subscription was in arrears. Nearly every person that was notified has responded and with very few exceptions, the results were splendid.

Many subscribers that owed us, not only paid up but also paid an extra dollar that paid their paper in advance as required by the P. O. Department.

The spirit in which our subscribers accepted our position in this matter is greatly appreciated by us. Many persons calling at our office to pay up, was apologetic, saying it was their fault, and paid up in full, giving us a couple of dollars extra, saying "you have trusted us for several years—now we will trust you."

Many fine letters were received by us and we cannot resist the temptation to publish a few of them. We do not include the name of the sender of these letters but we do prize these fine and understanding messages that are now in our files. A few of the letters follows:

"Thanks for sending me the bill—I did not know it was due." "Enclosed you will find a check for $2.00 for our overdue subscription and for the coming year. Sorry for the delay but it was overlooked." "I am so sorry I did not know I was in arrears. I did not look on the label but am sending a check in full." "We certainly do enjoy your newsy little paper and had not noticed the subscription had expired."

A letter from Gettysburg says: "Enclosed find $1.00 in payment for subscription to The Carroll Record with an apology for my neglect. If it was $100, it likely would have been paid long ago. Here I find myself writing $1.50 to have a milk shake on me, I do not have time to write another check as I want to get this off in the next mail." (We did not have time to take advantage of this kind offer, so we credited the extra 50 cents to the subscriber's account. Thanks). "I do not see how I overlooked this. Sorry for such neglect. Enclosed find an extra dollar to continue our subscription." "I am very sorry that we had to be reminded of this bill, as I forgot it wasn't paid. Will watch the date on the label of the paper hereafter."

From South Dakota came the following letter: "Enclosed find check which will put me in good standing again. We are having a wonderful year here. The crops are fine and the cattle are fat and bringing high prices." Another letter says: "I cannot understand why I overlooked my subscription to The Carroll Record as we are very fond of it and look forward to it every week. I was really surprised when I received notice I was overdue but after looking over old stubs I found the last payment was Oct. 1944. Enclosed find check of $4 which will pay me to Oct. 1949."

Many letters were brief, as "I am sorry I overlooked this matter. It was not done intentionally." "I am sorry—was waiting for a notice." "I am really sorry for this 'slip-up'—it is not the way I do business. I thank you for calling my attention to this before it got any worse."

From Baltimore and Mt. Airy came the following letters: "I just got my Carroll Record out of the Post Office, and as I was reading the first page, I noticed that my subscription has expired again. It seems only a short time since last July but I suppose when time seems to go so fast, that that is a sign one is getting old. Anyway, here is a dollar, and it is one that is well spent, as I look the paper through and through each week to see what is going on over at the old town." "I am enclosing a check which I am sure is due, probably overdue. I have not received a bill for some time so if I owe more, let me know. I look forward to receiving The Carroll Record every Saturday and keeping in touch with news from our home area."

We have many more letters similar to the above ones, that we would like to publish but time and space will not permit.

We take this means in thanking every one of our loyal subscribers who responded to our request for payment.

RETURN TRIP TO TANEYTOWN DESCRIBED

Rev. G. H. Enfield Tells of His Trip Home from the West

The schedule time for the "City of Portland" train from Portland, Oregon to Chicago, a distance of 2272 miles, is 40 hours and 20 minutes. This train glides along so smoothly that you scarcely know that you are riding a train. The greatest elevation on this route is at Laramie, Wyoming, 7151 feet, the seat of Wyoming University.

The services and accommodations are out of the ordinary. The train crew is courteous and obliging, and the attractive stewardess adds to the comforts of the ladies. One thing strictly observed on the Union Pacific railroad, something not so closely followed on the coaches of the eastern trains, especially by the women, is no smoking. One reason for this may be the provision of spacious and comfortable "smokers". Here is a good place to exchange experiences, discuss current problems, and air political views. Even the conductor in passing will exchange greetings, and it is not unusual for the brakeman to spend several minutes, at intervals in general conversation.

From the latter official, I learned a few interesting things about the conduct of running a "streamliner." The Diesel can travel 110 miles per hour. However the average mileage is much less. We were told because of the necessity of being on constant alert and the tension, the engineer and firemen are replaced approximately every hundred miles, the conductor and brakeman every two hundred miles. In other words, for each time that a new conductor and brakeman take over, engineer and fireman change twice.

In the course of a general conversation, a brakeman remarked that he started to work for the railroad in 1902, that during the years he had seen many, and many a corpse transported but not one had pockets in his clothes. He made this remark not in any spirit of irreverence but intimating how people will work and struggle in this life to make money and then come to the end of life without being able to take any with them. These public servants, serving so faithfully in the capacity of trainmen, are not devoid of the human touch.

Another interesting aspect of a trip across the continent by train is the finding of people traveling from the same point and going to the proximity of one's own destination. To ascertain this fact, however, one cannot spend all one's time sleeping or to one self. And it should not be a revelation that there are other people going somewhere just as nice as yourself. There were passengers, whose acquaintances I made, going to Pittsburgh, Washington, Baltimore, Pulaski, Virginia, Paterson, New Jersey and Chambersburg, Pa. That was a soldier from Nome, Alaska, going to spend vacation with his parents in Chambersburg. I became sufficiently interested in him to make the inquiry as to whether he ever went to Woman's College in that city. His reply was that he had frequently attended but not to pursue courses.

One does get out of the smoke of his own chimney in a journey across the United States. The states wholly or partly crossed from Portland to Baltimore are Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Some who boarded the train in Iowa did not speak very enthusiastically of their "favorite son" as a presidential aspirant. To aspiring youth, let me conclude in the words of Horace Greeley, Go West, Young Man. Go West.

G. H. ENFIELD.

NEW LOCATION OF STATE COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE

The Baltimore office of James J. Lacy, State Comptroller, will be located, effective Monday, August 30, 1948, at Suite 535 O'Sullivan Building, 10 Light Street, Baltimore.

The State Comptroller's Office of Maryland, for the past thirty-two years have maintained a Baltimore Office in the building formerly known as the Union Trust Building, and recently re-named the Davidson Building by the new owners. The present owners of the building plan to use the larger portion of space for their business offices.

Also occupying the space in the O'Sullivan Building with Mr. Lacy will be the Executive Offices of the Retail Sales Tax Division, which have been located in the Davidson Building. The Accounting Office of the Retail Sales Tax Division will remain at its present location, 15 W. Baltimore St.

HUNTING SEASON ON SQUIRRELS OPENS SEPT. 15.

The open season on Squirrels in Maryland this year will be from September 15 to September 30 inclusive, with a daily bag limit of 6. No hunting on Sunday. This valuable little game animal prized for sport and food is showing a decrease in the forests of the State. It is believed with this short open season and a daily limit of 6, there will be a sufficient reduction in the kill to leave a large number of breeders to continue and increase the species.

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!

I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Notice how many of the "Gold Slippers" are being worn by our girls these days?

The roads surely are being improved on the Highways and the men continue to do a grand job!

Cutest apartment out the road a piece and it was converted by one of our local men into a delightful set of rooms. Made me think of those cute advertisements done so colorfully representing a high grade of linoleum. Without a doubt it is charming and that little wife, too.

What a sad case of the Russian School teacher! Just think, Folks "Afraid to go home!" and preferred self-destruction!

How wonderful "My Country Tis of Thee"—the land of the free and the home of the brave! What a thrill comes over every American as they stand on deck as the boat is in the New York Harbor and to gaze upon that tall erect lady with the light in her hand and held high and the crown upon her head—our "Statue of Liberty."

Every day, folks I thank God that I am an American!

Believe it or not the other day, Your Observer met an 'Angell' on the street and she said so many nice things to me! Ever notice always in pictures the angels are women?

To top that off, Your Observer laughed real heartily when the card arrived from Maine and this is what it said, "A great big smile from Daniel Webster!" That man is sure coming to life! You recall, folks what I had written in my column about that nice individual!

What a lovely soul CK must be! The poems she composes are sweet and the recent one of "Temptation" explained beautifully of life. How true!

Your Observer has always thought just this (although Ministers may contradict it). I have always felt it is easy to be good and hard to be bad not just the reverse as it has always been preached.

Always remember, you will be glad tomorrow that you have been good today!

Recently, I 'sat in' the Lutheran church and saw and heard that fine Minister! Goodness shines in his open countenance!

My Prayer.

Bow down Thine Ear, O Lord And list' to this my humble plea Make me today a tower of strength Of Rock, that I may e'er withstand the sea.

Give to me daily the will to do and dare Help me, Oh Lord, my daily cross to bear Guide me through life's tempestuous sea, Lead me through paths and lead me straight to Thee.

Teach me, O Lord, the meekness of the great To serve Thee always, let that be my fate.

And when at last I come before Thy Throne, Judge me, but let me ever be Thine Own!

So long, folks have a grand week end. Will be seeing you next week.

YOUR OBSERVER

DISAPPOINTMENT

Just a short time ago, the sun was beaming high; But down came disappointment in rain from the sky,

Rapidly it came down with enduring showers of distress Which spoiled all our pleasures and ruined our happiness.

Now disappointment is expected sunshine covered by rain It should have, but for some reason the rain didn't abstain,

Oh, what bewitching happiness we intended to achieve; A most melodious and jovial time we did believe.

But suddenly how broken hearted our heart became, You just don't think you can ever feel quite the same,

Disappointment is really rather a peculiar thing, But anyhow, it always leaves a bitter sting.

Completely crushed are all your plans, And tied securely are your trembling hands,

So be careful and don't build your castles too high Just to have them showered by rain from the sky.

THE FARMER'S DAY

This is the farmer's day with wheat at $2.50 per bushel and corn at $1.50. How different from my youth when we thought the millennium was here when wheat reached $1.00 per bushel and corn three dollars per barrel (10 bushels). Then the farmer got 8 to 10 cents per dozen for eggs, which now cost about eighty cents per dozen. While the farmer gets more for what he sells he must pay much more for what he buys. Then calves sold for $4.00 to $5.00 per head, now you can scarcely buy the head alone for that price. Then farm hands got $8.00 to $12.00 per month and keep, now they demand much more. Where will the spiral end? W. J. H.

WHEAT STRAW PAPER

Recently a midwest edition of the Chicago Tribune, which goes to 150,000 farmers, was printed on paper made from the straw of wheat, oats and other farm crops. The straw was produced experimentally but it was proved that it can be used as newsprint.

Not a single break occurred during the press run. The new paper was equal in every way to that made from wood pulp. Newspaper workers had difficulty in telling the difference.

Paper made from straw is costlier, although costs would be reduced with volume manufacture. Experts say straw is more adaptable to high quality paper than newsprint. If so, used straw would reduce the drain on wood pulp and result in the production of more paper.

If a market is to be developed for straw, farmers in the great wheat belt would find it necessary to revise their methods. Wheat straw is dumped on the ground from the combines, no attempt being made to save it. Some farmers burn the straw and the stubble, although this is contrary to soil conservation and wind erosion practices.

If wheat straw pulp becomes an important source of paper, some of the large wheat producing states will miss an opportunity if they do not bid for paper mills. The economical method to manufacture paper from wheat straw would be near the source of the raw material.—The (Frederick) Post.

SUNDAY PUNCH

Poultrymen! When you cull your flock at housing time, give each bird one of Dr. Salsbury's Rota-Caps for easy, speedy removal of large roundworms and intestinal capillaria worms. Help those layers off to a good start in the laying house by eliminating these parasites. Rota-Caps are gentle, easy on the birds. They get the worms without shocking the bird's system.

Grimacing as the needle sinks in, a youngster in Greece is inoculated with anti-tuberculosis vaccine. Like 50,000,000 other European children, this girl was examined under an anti-tuberculosis program in which the World Health Organization (WHO) joined forces with the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund and the Danish Red Cross. Children found free of tuberculosis infection are inoculated to protect them against the dreaded White Plague.

KA-CHOO!

Old Hay Fever's Done Got You

Every year around this time somebody comes up with an idea or a device to help hay fever sufferers, most of whom keep right on suffering despite everything.

Latest gadget is a sort of pollen barometer which can tell you where to go to keep your adenoids in place. It will indicate where the irritating pollen is most scarce.

Already it has determined one fact: The central states are no place for the hay fever victim when the rag weed starts to get ragged.

"Arrange to take your vacation beginning the last week in August," is the recommendation of Oren C. Durham, chief botanist for the Abbott laboratories of Chicago.

And then hit for the hills—the Pacific Northwest, if possible, he said. Of 20 national parks tested for rag weed pollen, Olympic, Mt. Rainier, Glacier and Crater Lake parks showed up as being the least offensive.

"Rocky mountain parks are quite good for hay fever sufferers, too," Durham said, "along with Southwest parks and the upper Great Lakes."

The pollen detector showed that irritating pollens abound in full strength in the middle states from the second week in August through the first of September.

Although the new pollen recorder, representing five years' research, is not intended for home use, there's no reason why you couldn't set one up in the front yard if you care to keep tab on just how miserable—or well—you ought to feel according to the amount of pollen that is lurking about.

V-J Day Guard the Peace

This year, on September 1, the nation ends its third year of freedom from war.

That it remains a rather uneasy freedom should not detract from the significance of this V-J day. For the world still is holding on to the peace that was signed, sealed and delivered on September 1, 1945.

It was on that day that American and Japanese officers gathered on the deck of the Battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay to sign the articles of surrender.

It was then that Americans flung themselves into a joyful frenzy of celebration over the brand new peace.

Today the hysterical happiness that overlay the ending of the war is gone.

What remains is something better: A deep, abiding resolve to hold firmly to the peace that was so desperately won.

Love That Education . . .

It's like this about the first day of school when summer vacation is over—there just isn't much you can say about it. At least that's the way most of the young prides-and-joys feel as they wander disconsolately back into the classroom after two or three bookless months. But be of good cheer, children, and take a look at these cheery tots who anyway are acting as though they like school. And bear in mind that on some older and wiser day you will recall your hitch in the school room and think: "I never had it so good."

DOGDOM'S ALL-AMERICAN TEAM

Here are the outstanding personalities in American dogdom during 1947, as determined in a series of polls conducted by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York. Each winner received a "Fido," the Center's trophy which in the dog world corresponds to the "Oscar" of the movie world. The center picture shows Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research Center, presenting her "Fido" to Mrs. C. Groverman Ellis, president of Chicago's International Kennel Club, voted Dogdom's Woman of the Year, while Dudley P. Rogers, Danvers, Mass., president of the American Kennel Club, who was chosen Dogdom's Man of the Year, looks on. The other winners: 1. R. Kenneth Cobb, Whitehouse, N. J., Dog Breeder of the Year; 2. Alva Rosenberg, New York City, Dog Judge of the Year (the only one so honored two years in a row); 3. Harold Correll, Bernardville, N. J., Dog Handler of the Year; 4. Arthur Roland Kilbon, New York City, Dog Writer of the Year; 5. James Farquharson, D.V.M., Fort Collins, Colo., Veterinarian of the Year; 6. Robert F. Sellar, Albany, N. Y., Humane Worker of the Year.

FEESERSBURG

A friend of mine came across an interesting and sort of truthful philosophy on boys which she sent to me. I do not have any boys of my own but they have always seemed to be something that was needed here on the farm and as I liked the clipping she sent in regards to them I am sure you will too, especially if you happen to be the mother of one: "A boy is Nature's answer to that false belief that there is no such thing as perpetual motion. A boy can swim like a fish, run like a deer, climb like a squirrel, bark like a mule, bellow like a bull, eat like a pig—all according to climatic conditions. He is a piece of skin stretched over an appetite. A noise covered with smudges. He is called a tornado because he comes at the most unexpected times, hits the most unexpected places and leaves everything a wreck behind him. He is a growing animal of superlative promise, to be fed, watered and kept warm, a joy however; a periodic nuisance, the problem of our times, the hope of a nation. Every boy born is evidence that God is not discouraged of man. Were it not for boys the newspapers would go bankrupt each year. The zest with which a boy does an errand is equaled only by the speed of a turtle on a July day. The man who invents a clock that will stand on its head and sing a song when it strikes will win the undying gratitude of millions of families whose boys are forever coming to dinner about supper time. But a boy if not washed too often, and if kept in a cool, quiet place after each accident, will survive broken bones, hornets, swimming holes, fights and nine helpings of pie."

Miss Hazel Hess presented her piano and voice students in two recitals on Monday and Tuesday evenings at her home. The programs were greatly enjoyed by the parents and friends of the students and quite a few of the pupils showed exceptional musical ability. Miss Edith Hess assisted her sister in greeting the guests and served refreshments after the musical program.

Did you know that women of today live 18 years longer than grandma did and is also thinner and about 1 1/2 inches taller than she was?

Mrs. Maurice Grinder has as her guests on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zudley, of Dundalk.

Money will buy a fine dog, but only love will make him wag his tail. While visiting in Glen Burnie we were shown thru Harundale a complete "satellite" town of 1200 homes just recently built for veterans and also non-veterans. The homes are all alike and are built of steel frame work and insulated with Fiberglas which keeps out the weather in every season. They are heated with radiant heat, the modern underfloor heating system. I said they are built alike but as soon as the owners move in they show their individuality. Each home has six rooms and they are so compact and modern that to keep house in one would be like playing with a doll house.

Cards from vacationers are still coming through the mail although its almost time to turn ones feet toward home. Had a card this morning from Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Willhite who with their daughter, Doris and son Fred are touring the west. So far they have covered 10,500 miles and visited 22 states besides British Columbia. They have seen all the Canyons and dams in the West and took a swim in the Great Salt Lake. Time was that when a friend visited New York City it was something to talk about for months. Now one receives letters from China, Russia or the South Pole with the same matter-of-factness that one received a letter from the neighboring village. Wendell Wilkie was right when he wrote a book and called it "One World."

Did you know that when you call "sooey-sooey-sooey" to the hogs that you are speaking Latin although in a slightly mangled version? The five persons who have had the most books written about them are: Jesus Christ, William Shakespeare, Abraham Lincoln, George Washington and Napoleon I. The historical records of Jesus Christ (made in His lifetime) cover but a few days of His life—50 days in all. Mrs. Myrtle Sentz is on an extended trip through the west with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zollicoffer, of Uniontown.

One didn't have to look at the Calendar this morning to know that it was the first of September for the thermometer had taken a nose dive during the night and the fire in the kitchen range felt mighty comfortable. The outside air was crisp and cool and one could detect the smell of autumn in it. School days are here too, once again and there is a little third grader in our vicinity who is very happy that she will soon be hurrying out the lane to meet the school bus.

Last week we were the guests of Mrs. Carrie Hyde and son, Paul, of Salisbury. We had a lovely visit except for the intense heat which one day reached 112°. Ocean City even felt the heat wave and one had to stay submerged in the ocean to get any relief. The chicken farmers lost a great many broilers since they are not equipped to turn the chickens out. Some bought ice and put in the pens but it didn't help very much. The tomato crop too was almost a total loss.

In Memoriam of our son and brother, CHARLES U. MEHRING, JR., who passed away four years ago, September 2, 1944

There is someone who misses you daily, And feels alone since you are gone, There's someone who grieves daily for you But tries to be brave and strong.

The tears in our eyes do not glisten, Our faces are not always sad, There never is a night or morning But what we think of the dear son and brother we had.

God gave us strength to bear it, And courage to fight this blow, But what it means to lose our son and brother, No one will ever know.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES U. MEHRING and FAMILY.

TANEYTOWN WINS SECOND PLACE HONORS PENN.-MD. LEAGUE

Sunday's Scores:

The Taneytown baseball club captured second place honors as they won their last game of the regular season by defeating Blue Ridge Summit 4-0. These two teams were previously tied for second place.

Last year the Taneytown team ended in a tie for second when they lost 6 games, and went on to win the play-off series. This year they bettered their standing in the league when they lost only 5 games and will start playing in the series as soon as they get underway.

Sunday's game was one of the cleanest and best played games of the season. Taneytown played errorless ball and Blue Ridge Summit only made one fumble. They played beautiful defensive as well as good offensive ball. Although the score was 4-0, Blue Ridge Summit had 7 hits, (all of them singles), while Taneytown collected 8 hits, 2 of them homers. Fred Shank's homer down the right field foul line got the homesters off to a good start.

John Witherow pitched Taneytown to their victory, striking out 8 batters, including 3 in the sixth, and allowing 7 scattered singles. Calmer was the losing pitcher and gave up 8 hits and struck 3 men out.

Sunday Taneytown will play an exhibition game in Emmitsburg, the game to start at 2:30. There are also arrangements being made for a possible game Saturday or Monday, Labor Day. Sunday's score:

Expert Decries Lack Of Children in Family

CLEVELAND. — The two-child family may be fashionable, but "it is socially unhealthy," a University of Chicago professor declared.

Addressing the fifty-first annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education at the University of Chicago, said that because of "the rapid and continuing spread of birth control knowledge and practices, a significant section of our population now have too few children to reproduce themselves." "If the universities of Princeton, Yale, Harvard and the colleges of Wellesley, Smith and Vassar were to limit their enrollment to children of former students, and if all such children were to attend these institutions, their enrollment would drop to one-half the present size in fifty years and to a quarter in 100 years."

He urged "individual acceptance of responsibility for having children" plus "government-paid family allowances in addition to a basic salary paid by the employer, and substantial income tax exemptions for children."

The problem of supplying enough school teachers is becoming more acute and only federal government aid can solve it, the congress was told earlier.

"Within 10 years, according to reliable statistics, we shall have 6 million children for whom no teachers will be available," Mrs. L. W. Hughes of Arlington, Tenn., president of the organization, declared in her address.

Snaggle-Tooth Thief Leaves Trademark on Stolen Salami

EAST MILLINOCKET, Me. — Police Chief Edward Sheehan has a memory like a bear-trap. He looks at a criminal, soaks up the man's characteristics, and once he gets them he holds on.

Investigating the theft of salami at the grocery store of Dominique Moscone, Sheehan noticed the discarded butt of the sausage. The salami had been nibbled by a man with a broken tooth.

"Reckon that would be Wallace Tapley," Sheehan mused. "Recollect he's got a broken tooth would fit that bite just right."

The 22-year-old parolee was arrested and confessed to the break and to two others.

Lead pellets in Gizzard Cause Poisoning of Ducks

ST. PAUL.—Lead shot that never hit any ducks may nevertheless be responsible for the present alarming decline in the duck population, suggests Vincent H. Reid, of the Minnesota division of game and fish. Gizzards of 1,084 wild ducks which were analyzed in his study contained lead shot in slightly over 9 per cent of all cases.

The ducks had picked up the pellets along with their food from the shallow bottom mud.

It is known that such gizzard pellets can cause lead poisoning which may affect the ducks' ability to reproduce, if it does not kill them outright.

The problem of lead poisoning from spent shot is becoming more acute, Reid says, because increasing numbers of hunters are now shooting over Canadian and western waters where the main breeding grounds are.

Washington Zoo Acquires Air-Conditioned Arctic Fox

WASHINGTON.—The National Zoological park recently acquired an alopec lagopus, Arctic fox, that is, which has the secret of how to keep warm in winter and cool in summer.

Zoo experts said that the vicious little animals feel no cold until the thermometer plunges to 94 degrees below and are not affected by heat until the temperature hits 104 degrees above.

The trick is in the fox's fur which is a virtually perfect insulation against all known kinds of weather.

Man With Twelve Fingers Has Dozen Toes, Too!

GALVESTON, TEXAS. — John G. Lynch, assistant superintendent of the Galveston police department identification bureau, thought he had found something.

He was working on a set of fingerprints when he noticed that it included 12 fingers.

Lynch questioned the "printee," and learned that 12 fingers were nothing unusual—at least in his family.

The man told him he was one of 14 children. His mother and seven of his brothers and sisters each have twelve fingers, he said. The other seven children were, cheated—they have only 10. "But that's nothing," Lynch was told, "I'm the only one in my family who has 12 toes."

SHORT STORY
Fresh Air
 By MICHAEL TIFF

"IF THERE'S anything I hate," muttered Bud McDaniels, "it's swinging this pick."
 "It's the smart guys that get real joy out o' life," said Tim Lafferty. "Dumb galoots like us sweat our heads out for pennies and what we call three squares."
 Bud threw down his pick. "We're thinking the same. Let's eat."
 Climbing out of the ditch, they opened their baskets and began to wolf their sandwiches. As Bud relaxed on an apple, a torn portion of a newspaper was blown against him.

"What you reading?" asked his friend, picking his teeth and lying on his back in the sun.
 "Listen to this," said Bud. "Says here, 'Not satisfied with a new plane, Clarence Dunne bought a motorboat and took long rides up the Hudson.' That guy sure is one o' those smart ones we were talking about."
 "What's the headline?" asked Tim.

"That part's torn away. But here's some more. Clarence became known as Playboy Number One along the Big Stem. There wasn't a night club he didn't visit. When he stepped out with the chorines, he left a trail of dollars behind him.' Can you imagine a guy like that?" Bud looked up from the paper. "He knew how to enjoy life. Catch him going miles near a pick."
 "Wish I was in his boots. Any more?"

"Yep. It says here, 'Clarence stopped only at the classiest hotels and gave the bell-boys fifty dollars apiece. He invited the prettiest girls to his parties and the champagne ran free as a waterfall. With Clarence there wasn't any limit. His philosophy was to have a rip-roaring time while he could. He bought diamonds and rubies for his favorites. And he liked his food.' Bud looked up. "Get that, Tim? This guy liked his eats."
 Tim sat up. "Go on, read more. I bet he ate like a king, eh?"

"Bet he did. Well, it says here, 'Clarence was a modern Jim Brady, if there ever was one. He had the best meals, salads and sauces in the hotels. He ate three times as much as the average man.'"
 "Boy, he sure did have the right slant," said Tim. "Why, I'd call him the smartest man that ever breathed."

"Only fools like us work like slaves and for what? Some beef sandwiches and a hard bed to sleep in. And my wife, Ann. What does she get out of it? Why, Clarence Dunne had something to offer a girl." Bud turned the paper around. "Look, there's more on this side. Says, 'Clarence Dunne laughed when reporters asked him whether he liked to work. "Work," said Clarence with a knowing wink. "What do you take me for? I tried work once. I didn't take to it or maybe it didn't take to me."

"Only fools like us work like slaves."

 "Bud, after hearing about Clarence I'll be hanged if I care to go back to that ditch with the others."
 The other men were rubbing their sleepy eyes and putting their lunch kits in order. Soon the afternoon shift would begin, four hours of sweating and straining.

"Anything more about this Clarence guy?" inquired Tim hopefully.
 "Just a few more words down here at the bottom." Bud concentrated upon the bit of paper before the signal from the foreman would end their rest. "It says, 'Clarence remained quite calm and at ease as he was led away by the police'—hey, what's this about the police?" Bud leaned closer to the ground and Tim stooped forward, his ears cocked.
 "Go on, read, Bud."

"To the cell which will be Clarence Dunne's home for the next twenty years—the total sentence for the series of bank robberies."
 Bud and Tim exchanged silent glances. Then they picked up their tools and went back to the ditch.

Home Team

Lesson for September 5, 1948

HUSBAND AND WIFE: Team or tug-of-war? In times when more and more homes are splitting apart, it is refreshing to read the story of one home that stuck together. We do not know whether these two ever had children; no doubt their home was happier if they had. But we do know their names. No one who ever spoke of them mentioned one without the other. You could not think of Aquila without thinking of his wife Priscilla (or Prisca for short), or vice versa. They were displaced persons, but that did not keep them down.

Family Trade Union

LIKE ALL JEWS of that time, they had a specialty, a trade they had learned. In this case someone had taught Prisca the same trade (or did she learn it from her husband?), so the two of them formed a sort of trade union. They were tentmakers, working not only in heavy tent-cloth but in the tanned skins of which many tents in that time were made. Their home was a workshop, their hands were bent by long use of hard tools, very likely they initiated their produce. P & A tents were good tents. Their business was good, for we know they always had room for another guest, for another hand at the workbench. That was one thing helping their marriage to stick.

How many husbands and wives today are working teams? One reason why divorces are more common in cities than on farms is that the city man and his wife seldom have any work in common, while a farmer and his wife are a working team in which each needs the other to succeed. Find some work you two can share, even if it is washing the dishes, and you have something to help you hold together through the years.

More Than Meals

ANOTHER bond that held these together was their hospitality. They had a long list of friends, some of them distinguished. We know about Paul and Apollos and we hear of many others. But when Apollos stayed at their house, he was getting more than meals. If you don't do more for a guest than feed him, he might as well be at a restaurant. If you don't do more than amuse him, he might as well be at the movies. What those two did for Apollos was to give him ideas, bigger ideas, truer and better than he had ever had, about the Christian faith. No doubt Apollos enjoyed Priscilla's lamb chops, but when he left that home he was not merely a well-fed man but one whose soul had grown.

Here again is something for husband and wife today. What are you doing for the people who come in your door? If they come for dinner you wouldn't insult them with trash or poison. What do you give their minds, their souls? Poison, trash or food?

The Church in Their House

EVIDENTLY the P & A tents made enough money for Priscilla and Aquila to have a spacious home, for we find Paul in a letter mentioning "the church in their house." This more than anything else kept these two together, a working team. You know in every church there are a few key people. They may not be conspicuous, but like the distributor under an automobile hood, if they are not there things do not run smoothly and maybe not at all.

Aquila and Priscilla were like that. Their church naturally revolved around them. This must have taken a good deal of their time, no doubt it cost them money, and it must have meant work. But if the church was in their house it was because they wanted it that way. It would be hard to believe that they asked for this so as to keep themselves from drifting apart; yet undoubtedly that was one effect of it.

The great majority of divorcees are among people who have no connection with the church whatever. Many, of course, are of persons who are on church rolls somewhere. But how many broken marriages do you know among persons who are active in Christian work?

OUR DEMOCRACY — by Mat

AMERICA the BEAUTIFUL
WHILE WE ENJOY THE BEAUTY OF OUR FORESTS AND WOODLANDS, LET US REMEMBER THAT A CARELESS MATCH, A FORGOTTEN CAMPFIRE EMBER, A SPARK FLICKED FROM A CIGARETTE, CAN TURN VAST SECTIONS OF VERDANT LAND INTO CHARRED WASTE.

LAST YEAR, DAMAGE BY FOREST FIRES IN THE U.S. TOTALLED 32 MILLION DOLLARS... BUT THE GREATER COST CANNOT BE MEASURED—DESTRUCTION OF RESOURCES THAT TOOK NATURE AND MEN GENERATIONS TO BUILD, THE LOSS OF WILD LIFE, THE TOLL IN HUMAN MISERY AND SUFFERING.

WE ARE JUSTLY PROUD OF AMERICA'S NATURAL WEALTH AND BEAUTY — LET US GUARD IT CAREFULLY AGAINST ONE OF ITS MOST DESTRUCTIVE ENEMIES — FIRE!

Who can pay CASH?

VERY few people who build or buy a new home can pay for all of it in cash out of their savings.

Most businesses have the same problem. Some can save enough out of earnings to expand and improve their plants, but many must go to investors for construction money.

In the telephone business the margin of savings is small even in normal times. Today the margin is smaller than ever — insignificant in comparison with the construction expenditures required to meet public demand for service.

A home builder makes a down payment from savings and borrows the rest. We can't make any down payment. All the money must come from investors — part from people who lend us money through purchases of Bell System bonds; the rest from people who buy stock in the business and become part owners.

These investors have faith in the future of the Telephone Company. They entrust their money to us because they believe their investments will be safe and will pay them a fair return.

They invest on faith. We spend on faith. We have faith that people will always want and need good telephone service — and will be willing to pay a fair price for it.

A Labor Day Message

Capital and Labor are the two hands of the American giant.

When one hand fights the other hand, the giant cannot use his strength for our good. But if both hands work together, America becomes the miracle-worker among nations and our people enjoy prosperity not equalled anywhere else on earth.

The story of our future economic progress will be a story of ever-increasing cooperation in human relations.
