BASEBALL

In another column we publish a letter* that suggests radical changes in baseball. The letter interests us. There are a few experts (mostly sports writers) who profess to get great joy out of a one-nothing game. We venture the humble opinion that, after witnessing such a game, 90% of the male spectators and about 99% of the female spectators leave the grounds feeling disappointed at the small amount of excitement which the game provided for them. The writer belongs to the 90%.

The home run hitting of Babe Ruth gave a great stimulus to the game because it provided additional action; but only one team had a Babe Ruth. Under the proposed changes every team might be expected to provide exciting base running. If so, the change should give to baseball a greater stimulus than was given by Babe Ruth's hitting.

The writer has never kept track of the amount of time that is taken up by the changing over between innings, but his estimate is that something over two minutes is consumed by each change. If our calculation of 17 changes in each completed game be correct then more than a half hour of the spectators' time is consumed during which there is little to interest them. It also means 17 times that their interest is slowed down to zero.

Many of us have lived long enough to see revolutionary changes in the methods of both manufacturing and farming. It is only a few years ago since Maryland farmers spent some months each year at the tedious work of corn husking. Now a machine does this work in a couple of days. In recent years football has been speeded up and made more attractive by changes in the rules. There have been no recent changes in the rules of baseball. Why should our National game lag behind?

Carroll County can boast that it produced the Mehring Milking Machine, a machine that revolutionized the milk business of the world. Our National game is important. If Carroll county players should initiate changes in baseball that will make the game more attractive they will have good reasons to feel proud.

The only way in which to tell whether the suggested changes will speed up baseball is to play a few games according to the proposed new rules. We imagine our local players have initiative enough to arrange this.

In addition we would like to hear from local baseball enthusiasts as to what they think of the proposed changes. If any of our readers can get an expression of opinion from players who have pitched for any of the big leagues, we shall welcome them.

THE BAY BRIDGE

For about a quarter of a century I have been boosting the idea of a bridge across the Chesapeake Bay which will connect the Eastern and the Western Shores.

I marvel at the lethargy—the indifference of the people of Baltimore. The bridge would make it easy to bring the rich and abundant supplies of the Eastern Shore to Baltimore. I have heard it stated that such a bridge would be the means of lowering the cost of living to the people of Baltimore by at least 10%. If these estimates are correct it is a crime to delay longer the erection of the bridge.

The Baltimore News-Post had a fine editorial of the subject in a recent issue of that paper. Governor Lane is favorably inclined so why delay longer this needed link that will connect Maryland's divided parts.

Is it the cost? That can soon be made up by a reasonable toll which the users would cheerfully pay.

W. J. H.

THE PRESIDENT STARTS HIS SHOW

In his Detroit speech President Truman told the Nation that voters must not "place power in the hands of those who hate labor"—and that appeal is perhaps the most hypothetical statement that any speaker will voice in the coming months—simply because there is NO group of voters or American citizens who "hate labor." Mr. Truman knows that much!

The National and State governments of the United States have always enacted LAWS to protect and benefit all of our people. Mr. Truman demanded the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law enacted by what he called "a do-nothing Congress." He vetoed that legislation twice—and each time the veto was overridden. Loyal American Democrats furnished the two-thirds balance of votes in Congress when they joined loyal American Republicans who recognized the importance of fair-and-square labor legislation.

The President called a futile extra session of Congress, but his own party members refused to be bossed by the little man in the White House.

The record of Congress was better than the country has known since the beginning of the New Deal. Truman has never indicated any ability to handle the Nation's labor problems. But he does know how to pack the Federal payrolls with party pets, principally in the Post Office Department.

Congress is strong. The top leaders of the Democratic party have no enthusiasm for their weak candidate.

—J. E. Jones.

HOLDING THEIR OWN.

A dozen years ago there was a widely expressed fear that the growth of chain retail system was imperiling the very existence of independent stores. This led to the passage of punitive chain store taxes in a number of states. A Federal law which would have heavily penalized the chains was also proposed—though, luckily for the consumers of the country, it was finally beaten.

In the light of all that, it's interesting to see just what chain competition has done to independent merchandising. And there's no guesswork involved, for the Department of Commerce provides the figures.

Here, then, is the story: In 1929, the chains did 20.3 per cent of the total retail volume. In 1939 they did 21.7 per cent. And in 1947 they did 21.5 per cent, a trifle less than they did eight years previously.

As Chain Store Age describes the situation, "In the past two decades, despite all the economic changes wrought by the depression, the war, and the effect of national growth, the relative position of the chains and the independents has undergone no change. (The fact that the chains last year accounted for some $25,000,000,000 worth of sales is matched by the fact that the independents and other types of operations accounted for no less than $93,000,000,000 worth of sales!"

In a healthy, competitive retail system every worthwhile kind of operation holds its own and keeps up with the tide of progress. That's exactly what has been happening here. —Industrial News Review.

KILL RATS, SAVE FEED

Rats consume and destroy millions of dollars worth of food-stuffs yearly! One rat alone, it is estimated, spoils the equivalent of 1 to 3 bushels of corn every year. So kill rats and save your feed! Use Dr. Salsbury's Rat Death, containing antu, in powder or prepared-bait forms.

A typical day for Mrs. Gray. These are the people she called:

Mr. Tompkins, the plumber, to please hurry over to fix a leak in the kitchen.	Henry's Market, to order a three days' supply of meat, vegetables and groceries.	Her husband, to remind him to pick up his new suit on the way home.
Mrs. Davenport, to find out where the next Ladies' Aid Meeting was to be held.	Her mother, by Long Distance, to wish her well on her seventieth birthday.	Dr. Sellers, to make an appointment to see him, for a routine check-up.

... and these people called her:

Mrs. Pullen, a friend, to invite the Gray family to a picnic.	Her daughter, age twelve, to ask permission to have lunch with a friend.	Her son, by Long Distance, to say he was starting home on his furlough.
Her husband, to say he was bringing home a business friend for the evening.	Mrs. Walter, a friend, to ask about a new recipe and to chat.	Mr. Wolf, the carpenter, to ask if it would be O.K. to begin repairs next week.

Pacific Grave for Heroic Cruiser

Because of radio-activity, one of the navy's proudest fighting ships, the Salt Lake City, our oldest heavy cruiser, was sent to the bottom of the Pacific ocean. She was hero of several of the principal engagements in the Pacific war and a survivor of the Bikini atomic bomb tests. Her crew claimed she was the first ship in Adm. William Halsey's "shoe-string" raid of February 1, 1942, to open fire against Wotje Atoll in the Marshall Islands. Although stationed only 400 yards from the central bathtub, Arkansas, during the underwater bomb tests, she survived.

Fluoroscopic Examination

To make a fluoroscopic examination, the physician places the patient between the x-ray tube and a fluorescent screen. He then flicks a switch, sending the required amount of radiation through the patient's body. Some x-rays pass right on through and strike the fluorescent screen, creating light rays. Other x-rays are absorbed by the thicker, more opaque parts of the body and do not reach the screen. So what the physician sees is a shadowgraph of the internal organs.

World Champion Daredevils Present Many Thrillers

Twenty Hollywood Film Studio Stunt Men To Perform at the Great Frederick Fair, Saturday Afternoon and Night, October 9

One of the most thrilling stunts on the program of Ward Beam's World Champion Auto Daredevils show is the sensational jump of an automobile over a huge bus—this is just one of the twenty-eight events, some of the others are the human battering ram, rolling an automobile end over end and side over side, the dive bomber crash, the slide for life, the death drag, the rocket car leap—all these, plus 16 other great thrillers, will be performed at each performance.

A Difficult Feat

Aunt Sarah brought to church meetings an acrid wit which often dispelled the dullness of the proceedings like warm sunshine dispelling the morning dew.

Not long ago the dirtiness and slovenliness of the janitor, old Pete, came under discussion, and it was generally agreed that he would have to be discharged. But kind-hearted old Mrs. Smythe, as usual, intervened on the side of mercy.

"I hate to see the old fellow go," she exclaimed pityingly. "He may be dirty and unkempt on the outside, but, my friends, I am sure he is clean and pure on the inside. Do we have to discharge him?"

"That or turn the dirty beggar inside out," Aunt Sarah wryly challenged.

For a Better City

Lesson for September 19, 1948

"FOR A BETTER CITY" is a good slogan. No one would think of objecting to it. If the great city of Ephesus, capital and metropolis of the wealthiest and most thickly populated province of the Roman Empire, had had a chamber of commerce, no doubt they would all have been in favor of a Better City. There would be no argument about that. The question is: What makes a city better? Four different ideas on that line—two very bad ones and two good ones—can be seen in the story of Acts 19.

You should read the story itself before looking over these comments. Because we are beginning toward the end of the story, with the very lowest and silliest of the four ideas how to make a city better. It is a very simple idea: Just "holler," yell, make a demonstration. Make it long, make it loud, and the city will be the better for it. For two mortal hours that absurd mass-meeting kept the uproar going: "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!"

A curious thing, the mob-mind. If something is true, how can noise make it truer? If a thing is a lie, how can all the shouting in the world make it respectable? But the mob-mind thinks that if a thing is said loudly enough and by enough people, it is bound to be true. So that theater-full of fools wasted a good afternoon shouting a lie into the deaf blue heavens. It did Diana no good. She was as dead as Marley's ghost, she had never lived, in fact. It was no use drumming up the decibels. Do you know people who think they can make your town better by shouting about it? It won't work. You can make a town or county famous if you shout long enough; but you won't make it better.

Making Money
THE SILVERSMITHS there in Ephesus had another theory. The way they looked at it, the big thing is money. They used to make money selling their little silver shrines. Now this fellow Paul had come along, persuading people that hand-made gods are no gods at all, and the trade in "sacred" trinkets had fallen off. It looked like a bad year for the silversmiths. To make things better, they decided, they needed more money. More business! More production! The fact that what they produced was not only worthless but actually harmful, did not seem to bother them. Do you know people like that today?

Abiding By the Law
THE TOWN CLERK of Ephesus had a simple idea, vastly better than these other two. He saw no sense in the mass meeting, he seems not to have been taken in by the silversmiths' crocodile tears. If anything was wrong in Ephesus, he said, the courts were open, and trials were open, and trials could be held. We have laws—let us live by them; that was the gist of his idea. That is not bad advice. All honor to the honest servants of the public who now as then give their best efforts to seeing that good laws are made and well enforced.

Changing Lives
SPEAKING OF LAWS, there are three kinds of people in the world. One kind will not obey the laws whatever they are. These are the criminal classes. A second kind stay "inside the law" but they never advance a step beyond them. A third kind, too rare, will go far beyond the law's requirements in personal living and in social helpfulness. Now Paul had been in the city of Ephesus for some months, and he had nothing to do with the laws of that city. Yet what he was doing was more effective in making that city better than anything the courts could have done. For what he was doing was nothing less than changing lives. "The trouble with people is that they're people," and the business of Christianity first of all is changing people. It is no use hanging out the slogan "For a Better City" unless you are working for better people. A tree is no healthier than its roots, and a community's roots are the characters of her people. And from St. Paul's day to this, the one and only organization which sets out to change people from the inside, is the Christian church.

THE DOVE OF PEACE

The Dove of Peace with olive branch is flying round and round; I saw her sit on poplar limb And then upon the ground. And as I watched she seemed to say No place have I yet found To build my nest and rear my young. With all this war-drum sound, So what can I'er hope to do To bring this war-torn world to view That things that mad man with his hate Will come at last them to berate. In days ago it was the rule When wars had once been won To bring a cannon to the park And place it where each one could see This emblem of their victory. The great thing that they'd done. True what you say my honest friend Wars still will come, they ne'er will end Because mankind is built that way; He wants his way from day to day. Were the whole world to prayer attend We think they'd make of war an end. Oh Dove of Peace, fly North fly South Return and build in cannons mouth A nest where it you may lay Eggs that will keep grim war away. While you thus wait to hatch your brood Let war-mad men be not so rude; Let him sit by and look a while Perhaps he may once again smile. A smile is but an ingrown laugh Just as a cow was once a calf; When smile and laughter once appear Wars frightful horrors are not near. W. J. H. 3-17-43.

Keep all oil, grease, or paint-soaked rags in metal covered containers. The object of the Maryland State Council of 4-H Clubs is to develop, strengthen, and correlate the work of older youth clubs and the collegiate 4-H groups. Eleven per cent of the farm fires are attributed to matches and smoking. Normally there is no advantage in keeping a lame hen for a second year, unless she is to be included in a breeding program. Most poultrymen like to give artificial lighting for their poultry flock after September 1. They usually extend the day to a 14 or 15 hour period. Seven of each one hundred farm fires are started by sparks on the roof. A spark arrester will make one's homes safer. Fall is a convenient time for applying lime to vegetable land. Market gardeners must observe cautions to avoid overliming fields in which certain crops are to be grown. A number of Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisors will be needed in Maryland by November 1. Those interested should plan to attend the training course given at the University of Maryland from October 11-23. Killing rats is a continuous campaign. Poison, traps and other preventive measures should be used from time to time. "The welfare of our people, the stability of our government, and the conservation of our soil are so irrevocably bound together that if the base of the structure—the soil—fails, the whole structure will fall."—Dr. H. C. Byrd, President, University of Maryland.
