HANDLE WITH CARE

Extreme Caution Should be Exercised with Rabbits

Wild rabbits should be handled with extreme care at every stage between field or forest and the dining room table," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, warns hunters and housewives as the rabbit hunting season gets under way. The rabbits that run wild in Maryland can provide good sport and delicious food without endangering health if the animals are handled with reasonable caution.

If a rabbit is diseased careless handling can cause tularemia—or rabbit fever. This communicable disease is transmitted from rabbits to human beings, usually through direct contact with the infected animal or with objects contaminated by the meat or fur. Each year enough cases of tularemia occur in Maryland to indicate that a considerable proportion of our wild rabbits may be infected and capable of giving this serious disease to human beings who handle them without due care.

The first precaution recommended is to take only apparently healthy rabbits that run away as the hunter approaches, for a cottontail without enough energy to dash for his life is probably sick. For the sake of his own health and that of his family the hunter should shoot only frisky rabbits.

Although all rabbits are not, of course, infected with tularemia, a sensible health precaution is to handle even apparently healthy rabbits as though they were believed to be possible sources of infection. Gloves, preferably rubber ones, should be worn when touching the rabbit, especially if there is even a small cut or scratch on the hands. Hands and gloves that have come into contact with the raw meat or fur should be kept away from the face, mouth and eyes. Gloves should be sterilized, refuse and paper that has touched the rabbit should be burned and the hands should be washed thoroughly as soon as the meat has been prepared.

Adequate cooking is a fine safeguard that should never be neglected. To destroy any disease germs that may be present the meat should be cooked at boiling temperature for at least twenty minutes—regardless of whether the rabbit is to be fried, stewed or made into a pie.

These precautions should enable Marylanders to enjoy their rabbit dinners without fear of disease. Any inconvenience that the recommended safety measures may cause is certainly offset by the advantage of being able to hunt and eat wild rabbits free from the fear of tularemia.

CARROLL COUNTY 4-H BOYS AND GIRLS EXHIBIT

At the Eastern Livestock Show at Timonium

According to J. R. Schabinger, thirty-eight 4-H Club Boys and Girls from Carroll County exhibited at the Eastern National Livestock Show which was held at Timonium Nov. 15 through the 20th. Fifty-one 4-H Club steers, 21 lambs, and 33 hogs were exhibited from Carroll County.

The Grand Champion 4-H Club Animal was owned and exhibited by Edward Derr, Jr., from the Sam's Creek Club. This Angus calf which he exhibited was won in the Calf Scramble which was held at Timonium in 1947. This is the first time that a calf won through one of these scrambles has ever been the top animal of the entire 4-H Club show. He competed with entries from several other states and there were 307 steers in this part of the show. In addition to winning top honors of the show, Ed. Derr also won the grand champion animal in the Wm. H. Srdlberg Class which is open only to 4-H boys who have fed steers for their first or second year. In this same class, Robert Bollinger from the Taneytown 4-H Club was awarded Reserve Champion. Out of the sixteen other prizes which were awarded in this class, Carroll County 4-H members received six which were as follows: Carl Close, Bachman's Valley Club, first; Robert Black, Manchester Club, second; John Robert Sterner, first, Manchester Club; Roger Beam, Hampstead Club, second; Wilson Lippy, Hampstead Club, second; Robert Bollinger, Taneytown Club, first, and Carroll Leister, Hampstead Club first.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The Taney Inn provided the place for another important meeting of the Taneytown Lions Club last Tuesday evening. The sound of the gong by the presiding officer, Merle S. Ohler, found Harry Reindollar comfortably seated at the piano to get the group off to a good start with the song service. Invocation was offered by Rev. Edmund P. Welker.

A delegation of guest from the Hagertown Lion Club was made up of Massey H. Rowe, Maurice R. Doenien, Bud Bryan and Albert T. Fiery. We considered it an honor in also having with us, as guest of Merwyn C. Fuss, our good State Patrolman Officer Potete who made some timely remarks. President Ohler announced a joint meeting with the Kiwanis Club for the 2nd Wednesday of December and also introduced Homer Y. Myers as a new member. Sec'y-Treas. Murray Baumgardner gave an interesting financial report. Lion Thomas in charge of affairs for our Amateur night program, reported things to be shaping up in good order for plenty of fine entertainment for all who plan to attend this grand show the night of December 2, at 8 P. M., in the high school.

Merwyn C. Fuss, program chairman, introduced our guest speaker, Dr. R. P. Clinger, Westminster. Dr. Clinger's topic of discussion was "Sight Conservation and the Blind" which he stated takes in a very large field, as 85% of the total world population needs some form of eye correction. The four distinct types of eyes that need correction are: No. 1. Far sightedness, caused mainly by improper development of the eye. No. 2. Near sightedness. No. 3. Stigmatism. No. 4, a combination of Stigmatism and near sightedness or Stigmatism and far sightedness. Some diseases of the eyes, and one that is most prevalent in this part of the country, is Cataracts of which older people are mostly the victim. Surgical treatment is the best remedy for this which has been found to be nearly 100% satisfactory. There are 25 different types of Cataracts. Surprisingly as it may seem the main cause of cataracts is bright sunlight. One of the most serious of eye diseases and one that causes a great amount of blindness is "Glaucoma" caused mainly by a pressure on the eye from various eye trouble. Another disease is ulceration, caused mostly by foreign bodies entering the eye. Still another disease of the eye is hemorrhage which is the most difficult of all to counteract. Another main cause of blindness is from accidents. If you ever receive an injury of the eye do not waste any time in getting to your doctor. If this advice is always strictly adhered to many eyes, that are now lost, could have been saved. Color blindness is usually had from the time of birth and is not, as a rule, curable. But some color blindness is also caused by excessive smoking or alcoholism, which type is possibly curable. There are eight million forms of eye glasses that can be prescribed, most of which are a great help to most eye defects.

Dr. Clinger ended his speech with a question and answer program relating to the eyes and extending an invitation to attend the blind artist concert display at 8:15 P. M. December 3rd in the Westminster High School which is sponsored by the Westminster Lions Club. One of the main interest of all Lions Clubs is that of helping those that are blind and those who have defective eyes. A great work, along these lines, have been accomplished throughout the world by Lions Clubs everywhere.

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

My Prayer!
Oh! Supreme Ruler Since it was decreed in the dim unknown By Higher Powers than mine That a soul be given to me To hold in trust for a time, I humbly pray Thee grant— That I may never violate that sacred trust

But play the game of life With a zest that knows no flagging. Not with the reckless abandon of a gamester But with a prayerful heart And a conscientious spirit Ever looking to the rules of the game That I may be given common sense enough to refrain from abusing this wonderful body of mine And religiously observe The few simple laws of health which even the beasts of the fields have intelligence enough to respect. That I may appreciate this great beautiful world in which I live—the warm sunshine, the flowers, the blue sky, the trees, the pure air, and may the peace which emanates from them enfold and lift me from the sordid cares of life to a glad realization of my own greatness in Thee.

That I may accept my daily portion of tears and laughter, clouds and sunshine without a murmur never doubting the wisdom in back of it all.

That the finger of silence may be laid upon my lips when I'm tempted to utter any disparaging word against any of my fellow men for in my human blindness I am incapable of passing honest judgment.

That strength and courage may be given unto me to smile and hope when clouds hang dark and faith ebbs low and wait patiently for the inevitable turn of the tide.

And—most of all— if in the Path of Chance I should happen to meet a weaker brother bowed and discouraged with the cares of life, May I never be too busy or preoccupied with my own affairs to stop and offer a helping hand and a courageous word!

Amen!
Your OBSERVER.

LUMBER SCARCITY

A friend (brother-in-law) dealer in lumber, on a large scale, advised me that he must now import all his lumber from the Pacific Coast states—Oregon and Washington—and that he must pay freight—$100 per car load to get it and to reimburse himself he must pass the cost on to the consumer. No wonder buildings now cost so much. What an awful price to pay for the wanton destruction of lumber. Our ancestors, to clear land merely cut the timber and burned it where it lay.

In Northern Minnesota, where I once lived, also in Wisconsin thousands of acres were denuded of lumber, while no effort was ever made to reforest the place. Lumber companies were then offering that cut over land at $100 per acre with few or no takers.

In the Southland pine forests were alike depleted. Where turpentine was scarce the chemical companies were having the stumps removed and the turpentine extracted.

Mankind is finally learning that it don't pay to waste any useful product. W. J. H.

STRIKES AIN'T NO GOOD FOR NOBODY

It is easy to believe that the second Truman Administration will slow down on business controls and listen to the public demands for sane policies and legislation that should calm the perpetual rows that have for year disrupted the American economic situation. For instance, the corporate share of National income, before taxes, is up 13.7 per cent. Employees have lifted their National income sky-high. Strikes still muddle-up Uncle Sam—the same kind of strikes that F. R. D. won with a succession of shifts in his time. The Taft-Hartley Act corrects these unholy schemes for winning strikes, because the legislation legalizes amicable settlements, even to the point of providing ways and means by which individual workers and employers may carry their grievances to the courts and expect reasonable justice of all disputes.

In view of the facts it is safe to hope that any changes in the labor laws that are made under the leadership of President Truman will be improvements. That may mean corrections of the Wagner Act—and justice for the public. The principles embodied in the Taft-Hartley Act are sound sense.

Just as sure as you are born, our labor strikes are on the way out—because they "ain't no good for nobody." For instance, the present shipping strike will slow down the recovery of the Merchant Marine. It is featured in huge headlines as "the crime of the seas." The American shipping business was practically ruined before the blockade of the East Coast tied up ships on the high seas.

That strike calls for higher wages—which already has brought the American shipping business almost to the edge of total bankruptcy. Higher wages are, always followed by higher prices—and the total is the higher cost of living. That is inconsistency.—J. E. Jones.

WHO ELECTED HARRY TRUMAN

Ever since the election, some of the more prominent labor leaders have been claiming that the unions elected Mr. Truman. According to them, the biggest single issue was the Taft-Hartley Act.

That will take a good deal of proving to anyone who has made even a cursory examination of the final returns. Governor Dewey ran strongly in the industrial states, where the labor vote is proportionately largest, and carried most of them. The President, on the other hand, did extremely well in the agricultural regions where organized labor amounts to a small minority of the population.

Arizona provides the most interesting example. Mr. Truman carried it easily. Yet, at the same time, the voters approved a measure outlawing the closed shop. That certainly doesn't look as if the people want labor to hold the whip over the government or the people.

Mr. Truman does not owe his remarkable success to any group or any class. He wasn't elected by labor or capital or agriculture or any other segment of the nation. He was elected by the American people, and he is the President of all the people. He doesn't even owe allegiance to the Democratic leaders—most of them deserted him when they thought his cause was lost, and he won in spite of these unadmirable defections.

Harry S. Truman has a chance to go down in history as one of the great Presidents—as a man who, when the world was torn between slavery and freedom, stood staunchly for the liberties of mankind, and was too big to admit allegiance to special interests of any kind. The whole civilized world hopes that he may measure up to the enormous responsibilities that have fallen upon him. He has a chance now to rise above group prejudice or group selfishness.—Industrial News Review.

Why the Speed Queen is your "best buy!"

CONVENTIONAL
Most washers have a single-wall tub bolted down on a "pedestal" base.

SPEED QUEEN
The Speed Queen tub is nested inside a full-length steel chassis.

BOWL SHAPED TUB
Just as a mixing bowl mixes faster, so the Speed Queen bowl-shaped tub washes faster.

DOUBLE WALLS
Speed Queen's thermo tub keeps water hot longer — protects porcelain.

A double-wall Speed Queen costs less than most single-wall washers.

THESE four points are very definite, factual reasons why a Speed Queen is your best buy. Cleaner washings, shorter wash days, less hot water, less soap, practically no upkeep cost, lower purchase price — all add up to the most economical and satisfactory washer you can roll into your laundry! Yes, this combined efficiency and economy is why 1 1/2 million women throughout America are so satisfied with their Speed Queens! Come in and see the 1948 models

The Taneytown Brotherhood chorus will provide the music for the Christian Endeavor meeting to be held at the Keysville Lutheran Church, Sunday evening, Nov. 28, at 7:30. The Society is very anxious to share with the community their beautiful inspiration singing and urges everyone who possibly can to attend. Mr. Charles Conover president of the Society, will be in charge. CARD OF THANKS I wish to express by sincere thanks for the kindnesses shown me while a patient at the Warner Hospital Gettysburg, and since by return home. For your prayer, visits, gifts and the many cards, I say thanks. MRS. ROBERT STRICKHOUSER, Taneytown, Md. No. 2 CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce met in regular session with 30 members present, Pres., Merwyn C. Fuss, presiding. Minutes of the Oct. meeting were read and reported. Vice-Pres., David Smith reported work on the Christmas circular was progressing satisfactorily. That the Adult Party would be held Friday night, Dec. 17, at 9 P. M., in the High School Auditorium. The Kiddies Party will be held on Dec. 23, at 2 P. M. in the Earle Theatre. A special show will be arranged for the Kiddies and treats will be distributed by old Santa Parents are asked to bring their children to the Theatre but not to accompany them into the Theatre as this makes a shortage of room and deprives some of the Kiddies from attending. The Chamber of Commerce will have members in attendance at the party to look after the children. There will be a parade and official opening of the Christmas Season on the night of Dec. 10 when the lights will be turned on. The stores will be open every night from Dec. 10 and close at 6 p. m. on Christmas Eve. The Chamber will again make available to the merchants of the town tickets to be given away with purchases, for gifts to be distributed at the Adult Party, 18th. Election of officers for the coming year was held with the Secretary on motion passed by the body being directed to cast the ballot for the officers nominated at the October meeting. The ballot cast was for the following officers: President, Merwyn C. Fuss; Vice-Pres., Harvey Dougherty, David Smith; Sec'y, Bernard Arnold; Treas., Charles Arnold. Installation of officers will take place at the Dec. meeting. The following new members were accepted into membership in the Chamber: Charles B. Groat, Frederick Teeter, Chas. Choerton, Geo. H. Bingham, Jr., Donald Tracey, John A. Schwartz, Luther Rodkey, Elwood Frock, James S. Poteet, Donald Boone, Geo. Marquis, Wesley Shoemaker, Mauric Baizer, Harold W. Sauble, Louis B. The Pres. was also directed to appoint a committee to ascertain the nature of the meal to be served next year and suggestions in connection with the same. Daugherty to arrange for the collection of the same. Attorney Daniel Teeter, of Gettysburg, Pa., was presented by the President and gave a very interesting as well as informing lecture on "What is Communism." Refreshments were served. Maryland farmers can now report their 1948 conservation practices to their county Triple-A office and sign up for the 1949 program. The wise turkey breeder is planning for next year's flock by selecting high quality birds for his breeding flock. This should be done before marketing gets underway. Experts say that Americans have kept up meat consumption at the expense of livestock inventories. Entries in this year's Eastern National Livestock Show considerably surpass those of the first annual show last year. Now is the time to put many ornamental plants and shrubs to bed for the winter. Use a damp sponge to remove lint and dog hair from upholstered furniture. Science enters the grocery store and no longer will there be rancid potato chips, soda crackers and doughnuts. Two new anti-oxidants are now added to fats and oils during processing to make these culinary improvements possible and practical.

4-H CLUB NEWS On the evening of Nov. 22, 1948, the Taneytown Agriculture 4-H Club met at the home of George Amoss with 24 members and 8 guests present. We opened our meeting by saying our 4-H pledge. We then heard the reading of the minutes of our previous meeting. We had the election of officers for the coming year and they are as follows: Pres., Robert Bollinger; Vice-Pres., Robert Flicldinger; Sec'y., Betty Angell; Treas., Lester Bollinger; Reporter, Mary Null. Two donations have been made to our club Mr. Charles Poole gave us the chicken and he also paid to have the name of our Club engraved on the gavel which we won at our annual 4-H banquet. Mr. Hubert gave us a duck and he also gave a prize to the club member who sold the most tickets. The winner was Calvin Amoss. Several older club members have donated pigs to the following new club members: Herbert Klien, Chester white; Mary Klein, Chester white; Harvey Dickerson, Jr., Chester white; Charles Becker, Hampshire; Betty Angell, Hampshire. These club members are to raise the gilts and then return a pig to the owner. Mr. Schabinger our Assistant Co. Agent gave a talk on "Selecting a Dairy Calf for a Project." It was very helpful to all members but especially those who are planning to get a calf as their coming year project. Donald Bollinger gave a report of the Eastern National livestock show where several of our club members attended and did very well. Miss Julia Becker gave a report of our annual 4-H banquet. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were enjoyed by all. MARY NULL, Club Reporter. MARYLAND MUSINGS There is not a surplus pound of food in the world at the present time. The new poultry dressing plant at the University of Maryland will be used to develop methods of handling broilers to maintain high quality in the processing plant. Total farm expenses this year probably will be about 8 percent above 1947. Farmers costs in 1949, in spite of lower feed prices, will probably be about as high as this year. Use fresh crisp raw cabbage as a source of vitamin C. This is one of the best and generally least expensive vegetables furnishing this nutrient. The 42nd Corn and Small Grain Show will be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, January 10, 11, 12. Fewer animals are expected to be slaughtered in the first half of 1949 than in the first half of 1948. 4-H CLUB EXHIBITS (Continued from First Page) any one club, owned by five different 4-H club members, Carroll county placed first and ninth. BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS

The regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was held on Nov. 16th, in the Board offices in the City Hall. President Clyde L. Hesson presided. The Board gave approval to the list of bills submitted for the month and approved the minutes of the previous meeting. The Board considered reports from the superintendent regarding the completion of the Mechanicsville building and the various adjustments necessary in the conclusion of this contract. A report was given also regarding progress on the new colored consolidated school now under construction in Westminster. Certain items relating to transportation were disposed of at this meeting. Requests of certain county schools for assistance in library purchases were approved. The Board also considered various communications from the schools and other organizations throughout the county relating to various matters of administration. Certain details relating to changes in the original plans at the colored consolidated school were discussed and approved. A report was given on the status of fire insurance as applied to the present school buildings in the county.

Some time was devoted by the Board to a discussion of the problems confronting the Board in the providing of improved school facilities as a result of the favorable vote on the School Bond Referendum in the recent election. The Board is very appreciative of the fine display of public interest as shown in the referendum. Every effort will be made to expedite the planning and construction of buildings throughout the county as rapidly as such plans can be made and executed. The Board desires to express to all civic and school groups its appreciation for the support accorded the Bond Referendum. It is felt that much improvement will be possible throughout the county as a result of the public approval.

The Board conferred with a group interested in the improvement of recreational facilities in Westminster and considered several problems relating to the use of school buildings and grounds at various locations throughout the county. The Board received and accepted an invitation to be entertained by the Westminster High School at their annual Christmas dinner on December 7. The Board adjourned at 12:30.

FARM LAD THOUGHTS

While husking corn in the autumn field,
Flashing thoughts went through a little fellow's mind,
Of how he would spend Christmas holidays,
With all of his precious ample time
Speeding through his brain were carpenter thoughts,
Oh yes! a step ladder to make,
And other serviceable numerous items
That much time, they wouldn't take
But just then outburst Pa's thoughts
"I'll tell you what I'll suggest,
"That you do some work for me
I'm sure that will be best.

To help me put up a new fence,
You're just the lad to take,
Just forget about your absurd thoughts,
And don't let any more accumulate
Of course, the little fellows heart beat fast,
He just couldn't understand why
Every time his plans were demolished,
And he breathed a deep sigh.
And then to himself he thought,
To my Daddy, I'll drink a toast,
If we get snow for Christmas
So high you can't see a fence post.
CATHERINE KEILHOLTZ.

THANKS FOR THANKSGIVING

"For fun and friends and daily food;
For children—my beatitude;
For strength to meet life's sudden shocks;
For apple-boughs and hollyhocks;
For snow in winter, fairy lanes;
For peacefulness and growing pains
For books by poet, seer and sage;
For easy chairs and middle-age;
For embers on the hearth, for songs
For faith that triumphs over wrongs
For laughter and remembered pranks
For prayers at night—I give Thee thanks!"
—Mary Carleton Lord.

"Thank you, stars
That shine so bright.
Thank you, moon
For your silvery light.
Thank you, sun
For your warmth and cheer.
Thank you, Lord
For friends held dear.
Thank you, Father
In Heaven above—
For health, contentment,
Peace and Love.
And when ill fortune
Turns her face
To greet me
In the Market Place
May the Thanks I give
Help me to live.
And still say—"Thank you!"
—Sara F. Hills.

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord," exclaims the Psalmist. Our country acknowledges this God—and He has blessed us. Thanksgiving is a time for remembrance. It is also a time for anticipation. A time to look forward for opportunities to speak of the goodness of the Lord. The American people have always cherished a deep religious conviction that somehow this is God's country—from its beginning we have recognized God's leadership in the affairs of State. In the strength of this persuasion our two great National Documents—the Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution of the United States were written. "We hold these truths to be self-evident," says the Declaration, "that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." It is not without significance that the Christian name of the great discoverer of America was "Christopher," which means "The Christ Bearer."

After we have thought about our National blessings, let us recount a few of our personal and family blessings. We are given so much that we thank so little. Thanksgiving means also not only being thankful but feeling thankful. Without the latter the former is weak. As a people we must become thanks-conscious. The spirit of thanksgiving must issue from the heart to give genuine expression in song and praise. The heart will respond when it breathes the Pilgrim's atmosphere.

The primary purpose of Thanksgiving is not to sample turkey and cranberry sauce but to give praise and adoration to the Giver of these Thanksgiving Day provisions. The greatness and the goodness of the Lord are acknowledged in many Psalms of the Bible. When there is an impression of these qualities of the Lord, expressions of thanksgiving will issue forth of their own accord. What do I have to be thankful for? you may ask. Well, first ask, what do I deserve? They ask yourself, what do we have that many other nations of the world do not have? By way of comparison and contrast, a new light will fall upon you, and a new valuation will possess your mind and heart. Such a survey will give you a general idea for what you should be grateful.

"Give thanks, O heart, O soul,
As the bright year doth roll
To a perfect end, like a perfect scroll
Lord, Life is good!"

Cut worn bed sheets into pillow slips and use the original hems. (If fabric is scorched while ironing, remove the scorch stain immediately with diluted peroxide.)

Warmth may cause canned food to lose quality. Hot pipes behind a wall sometimes make a shelf or closet too warm for storing food. Store canned food cool and dry.

It's been revealed that women are more sensitive than men in distinguishing between the four basic tastes: sweet, sour, salt and bitter. According to taste studies made at Drexel Institute over 50% of the men like slightly sour foods.

In rainy weather, an inverted glass placed over salt container will prevent salt from clogging.

SHOOT STORY
The Lucky Prize
 By MARION WALLS

FRED slapped the water from his hat, carefully removed his rubbers before stepping inside on the immaculate floor. It was good to be home, to be facing a relaxed evening while the storm slashed the outside world.

"Allie?" he called. The muffled reply sounded like: "where else would I be, but in the kitchen?"

Pushing open the door, Fred sniffed appreciatively and kissed his wife. "Apple pie! Hmmm. The boys home yet?" he inquired, glancing at the headlines.

"Ralph is. But Jack won't be home—they're having some kind of banquet at school."

Allie observed: "It's too bad they have such a bad night for the bingo party."

"Hmmm . . ." The pie smelled delicious. . . . Apprehension gripped him. "What bingo party?"

Ralph barged in and his mother gave the boy an amused glance. "Your father has the queerest memory. If it were a wrestling match or a ball game—" Looking at Fred: "The bingo party I bought the tickets for last Monday. We have to go tonight."

He hedged. "Why do we have to go? You bought the tickets, that was the main thing they were interested in."

"But I like to play!" he insisted. "They have the grandest prizes—and you know how lucky I am!"

Thinking of the warmth, the unread magazines, Fred reflected unhappily that Allie might be lucky, but he most certainly was not.

For Fred it was a particularly dull evening. He got no pleasure at all from pushing little wooden squares around on a piece of cardboard, and certainly no material gain came his way. Empty-handed, after two hours of tiresome effort, he looked across the room to find Allie triumphantly gathering up a set of glass ash trays and a string of plastic measuring spoons.

"I told you I was lucky!" she crowed, ignoring Mrs. Deerfield who was struggling past her with a set of glass crystal boudoir lamps.

ALLIE chattered happily all the way home; the rain had stopped and a half moon was struggling to come through the clouds. "Of course, we had plenty of ash trays, but they'll save me the expense of buying something the next time I entertain the club."

As they rolled into the drive Fred saw people standing on their porch. "Gosh—Allie—look! Do you suppose there's been a fire?" He slammed on the brakes.

"Oh, Mrs. Jemison!" That was Mrs. Haggerty who lived next door. "Oh—if you'd been home!"

Apprehension gripped him.

"What happened? Is it the—is it the boys?" began Allie fearfully.

"It's the phone! The Lucky Number program! They called your number and if you'd been home they were going to give you a thousand dollars! I beat on your door, thinking maybe you didn't hear—"

"No," said Allie, slowly. . . . "We weren't at home tonight." With head high, she marched past into the house.

Fred put away the car. A thousand dollars, just for staying at home, being comfortable! Going in the house, he didn't bother to wipe his feet. Allie was in the living room, the prizes nowhere in sight.

"Luck always hits twice," she said loudly. "Even lightning hits twice in the same place sometimes. Why, some people say what happens once will happen three times . . . you can't tell, can you, Fred?"

"Nope," he grunted, easing out of his shoes.

Allie leaned forward eagerly. "We'll stay home every night—maybe they'll call again—they could do it, couldn't they, Fred?"

He thought of the happy evenings at home which now confronted him. "Why sure they could!" he agreed heartily. Again: "Sure it could happen again!"

He reached for a magazine, leaned back. He didn't know when a thousand dollars he hadn't gotten had ever bought as much.

PURINA LAYENA CHECKERS

FOR EXTRA EGGS

Yes, give your laying flock the extra feed needed for extra production. Regardless of what mash you're using—"Top-feed" Purina Layena Checkers.

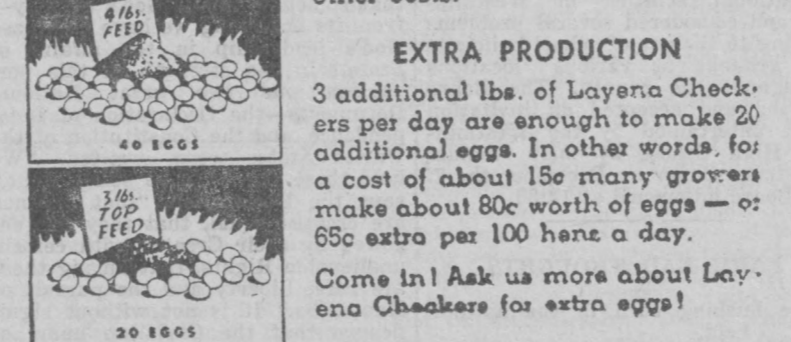

Since most hens do not eat enough mash "top feeding" Layena Checkers gets more quality mash into the hens and helps make 'em lay more eggs. Easy and economical, too!

SEE HOW "TOP FEEDING" GIVES YOU DOUBLE OR TRIPLE PROFIT OPPORTUNITIES FROM 100 HENS

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Isaiah 5:1-7; Matthew 13:31-33, 44-46; Luke 10:25-37; 15:3-32.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Matthew 13:10-16, 51-52.

God's Story-Teller

Lesson for November 28, 1948

"TRUTH in a tale," it is said, "will enter in at lowly doors." The greatest truth of the entire Bible does not come to us in the shape of an essay but of a story—the story of Jesus.

"The gospel did not appear on the editorial page but on the news pages." Many people can understand essays; millions more can understand a story. Jesus himself, when he gave the world his message, used stories to do it. We are told that he never made a talk to the people without using a parable. The parables of the Bible are simple stories, often no more than a sentence long.

They are all alike in this: Whatever the story may be, there is more in it than meets the eye. Parables were not a form of entertainment; they were a way of teaching.

No Cause Is Lost

SOMETIMES the teller of a parable would explain what he meant, as Isaiah does with his little song of the vineyard. Sometimes, and most often in Jesus' case, the meaning is so plain that only a very stupid person could miss it.

Matthew arranges several of Jesus' parables in pairs; one of these is the twin story of the mustard seed and the yeast in the meal (Matt. 13:31-33). Both mean the same thing, and both are so obvious that Jesus did not think it necessary to explain them.

The Kingdom of Heaven—the ideal world, the world as God intends it to be—is a living thing, a growing thing, something at first small, almost invisible. But it will grow; you cannot stop it.

So the ideal world, the Kingdom of Heaven, (Jesus hints) is not an artificial thing, it cannot be constructed by blueprints. It has to follow the course of living things. It does not come all of a sudden, it grows very quietly. You might not see the seed in the ground, but the farmer knows it is there.

Pearl of Great Price

SOMETIMES two or three of Jesus' parables are like a musical theme with variations. The twin stories of the pearl worth more than the jeweler's whole collection, and of the treasure hidden in the field, are very much alike, yet just a little different in meaning.

Both tell us that the Kingdom of God is more valuable than anything else on earth; indeed, it includes everything else of value. But the stories are different. One tells of a man who was looking for something, the other tells of a man who was surprised by finding something.

Once a Chinese gentleman became dissatisfied with his inherited Confucianism, and set out to find a better religion. For years he shopped around, never finding what he needed. He left Christianity to the last, for in his section of China only coolies and peasants were Christians. But when he began to make friends with some real Christians, he was overjoyed. This was what he had been looking for. This was the pearl of great price.

On the other hand, a drunken sailor, certainly not looking for religion, wandered one night into a Salvation Army meeting. They could do nothing with him, but before they dragged him off to the lodging-house one of them slipped a bit of paper into his pocket. The next morning, cold sober, wondering where he was, he put his hand into that pocket and pulled the paper out. On it were penciled three words: God loves you. It hit him right between the eyes; and he became a Christian. That was the "treasure hid in the field."

How Far Will Love Go?

JESUS' contemporaries told parables too, but they have all been forgotten. Jesus' parables are incomparable, unforgettable, immortal. If Jesus had been known for nothing else, he would have been remembered for the four stories of the Good Samaritan, the Lost Sheep, the Lost Coin, the Lost Son.

These all have much the same point. "Lost" does not mean hopelessly doomed. How many persons we give up as hopeless! But God never gives up any one. A "lost" person is one whom God is seeking.

Oil and Mold

Apostles of government ownership of business agree sometimes that private management can do better with little things. When it comes to filling prescriptions, mending shoes or making clothespins, they admit, private operators may be more efficient. Not so with the big stuff, they argue; coal, iron, oil, railroads are different. These just beg for bureaucratic bossing.

Of course big industries are more interesting to politicians because they employ large numbers of people and affect the daily lives of millions more. The fact remains however, that government can and does make mistakes in the operation of big industries. Moreover, appropriate encouragement from government in relatively small enterprises has been known to result in much good.

Significant Decisions
Since government enterprises tend ultimately to become monopolistic, mistakes in them can be far more fateful than private blunders. Our government made two important decisions in 1942 which illustrate the case perfectly. One, to take a speculative flyer in Arctic oil, has cost American taxpayers 300 million "good-bye" dollars already. The other decision had to do with penicillin.

Penicillin is a drug, a mold extract that most people know less about than they do about gasoline. Some perfectly astounding cures are being worked with it, including cure of meningitis. It was discovered by an English scientist, Sir Alexander Fleming, in 1929 but production was tedious, slow and costly and consequently few sufferers were helped by it for 13 years.

In Mass Production
By 1942, our first war year, some American capitalists had taken a hand with marked success. The product was costing $20 a bottle then, and the average patient required three bottles. Government authorities realized that war would create a need for it so they guaranteed a large market and provided capital for mass production. History will record the splendid results.

With the government's big purchase of this successful item, volume production started. Now there are 20 factories. The largest cost more than 3 1/2 million dollars but penicillin is costing less than $1 a bottle, $3 per treatment. Many lives have been saved and more will be. Mankind will be healthier and happier. Government encouragement of this business proved wise and beneficial.

Smell of the Yukon
How different was the Canol oil venture. The Army drilled wells on the Mackenzie river, built a 27-million-dollar refinery at White Horse and tied into Fairbanks, Alaska, with 1,000 miles of pipeline. Nothing was gained. Gasoline from the white elephant plant at White Horse costs 26c a gallon. Oil companies can ship a better product there from the states for 18c. The venture has been abandoned.

The Canol experiment failed. Very apparent obstacles made the operation too costly. Known sources of supply are better and 300 million dollars of taxpayers' money is gone. Government's support of one beneficial drug can't justify its management of big business. What official, spending public money, is cautious and thorough like a private investor with his own money? Never has government management achieved the efficiency of American private management.

Well Occupied

While recovering from tuberculosis in a sanatorium, this patient is learning a new skill. Christmas Seal funds help support rehabilitation services to aid tuberculous patients obtain useful employment upon their medical discharge from the hospital.

Come and Get It

Six miles from Boise, Idaho, off U. S. highway 30 on the Boise river was a little doll that rascals favored in the 60's as a goldup spot. An east-bound stagecoach from Boise was stopped by a lone highwayman here and, as the bandit struggled to make off with the heavy strongbox and its $50,000 in gold, a sharp-eyed passenger nailed him with a pistol shot. The wounded bandit hit for the brush, lugging the loot, and disappeared. The next day, however, he was found dead by a posse—but he had buried the gold somewhere nearby. It has never been found to this day.

Answer That Christmas Seal Letter

ALL THEY ASKED WAS AN EVEN BREAK

Building a new country was not easy. But there were men and women willing to turn their backs on a safe life, and their faces toward new frontiers. All they asked was an even break.

Free enterprise is another way of saying "an even break." Free enterprise is the basic American principle of vision and personal initiative. Just give an American an even break—a chance to get ahead—and he'll go on from there.

But when government goes into business, in competition with its own citizens, the American ideal of an even break is destroyed. For government in business grants itself special privileges that are denied to people in business.

Take government-owned power systems, for example. They pay few, if any, taxes; often get money from the U. S. Treasury at little or no interest; make up losses out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

On the other hand, America's business-managed power companies are on their own. They pay their full share of taxes, fair interest on the money they borrow. It's a tribute to American self-reliance that taxpaying, self-supporting companies supply over 4/5 of the enormous amount of electric power this country depends on... at the lowest possible cost.

There are still new frontiers in electric living to be opened. And businessmen can do the job better than bureaucrats.
